THE

A JOURNAL DEVOTED TO

SPORT, SHIKAR, NATURAL HISTORY

TRAVEL, THE TURF,

GARDEN, ATHLETICS, WHIST,

CHESS, &c

BOOK NO. 608

VOLUME III

From May 1903 to October 1903.

Calcutta:

PUBLISHED BY THE PROPRIETORS, W. S. BURKE & Co., AT 8, HARE STREET.

1903.

CALCUTTA.

PRINTED AT THE EDINBURGH PRESS:

47, BENTINCK STREET.

ZOOLOGICAL

Acc-no - 602

Date - 15/12/06

INDEX TO VOL. III.

A

AMERICAN SPORT—
A Big Jack Rabbit drive, 316.

ATHLETICS—
Booms in Pedestrianism, 17.
Middlesex Regimental Sports, 90.
The Bombay Gymkhana, 362.

ATHLETIC NOTES—
4, 28, 51 74, 103, 128, 154, 178, 202, 226, 251, 274, 299, 322, 344, 371 395, 419, 444, 466, 489, 510, 534, 559, 581, 601.

B.

BADMINTON—
Poona Tournament, 339, 506.

BOWLS—
Calcutta Golf Club 122.
Howrah B. C. vs. C. Golf C., 46, 94.
Howrah Bowling Club, 146.
"We'll play at Bowls,' 174.

BOXING—
Boxing in Bangalore 21.
Boxing at Secunderabad, 22.
Poona Tournament, 91, 122.
South India A A. Competition, 220, 241.
South India A. A. Tournament, 550, 576.

C.

CARDS—
24, 48, 70, 124, 148, 198, 270, 318, 340, 438, 462, 484, 506, 554, 576, 600, 626.

CHESS—
24, 48, 70, 96, 124, 148, 198, 246, 270, 318, 340, 366, 438, 462, 484, 506, 530, 554, 576, 600, 626.
Staunton Chess Club, 24, 48.

CORRESPONDENCE—
Albinism in the Common Heron, 184.
Animal Cannibalism, 206.
Barking Deer Horns, 80.
Big Game Grounds in Bengal, 161.
Best Night Sight, The, 279.
Bridge Query, 325, 446, 514.
Bird Nomenclature, 399.
Big Pintail, A, 539.
Crocodiles, 161.
Common Kite, The, 303, 325, 399.
Cricket Query, 348.
Critic Criticised, A, 348, 492.
Curlews and Snipe, 446.
Calcutta Tramways, The, 471.
Dorking Cross for Jungle Fowl Hen, 33.
Do Butterflies Migrate 303.
Destruction of Game in Assam, 374.
Dwarfing of Horses, 586.
Early Snipe, 230, 422.
Few Notes on Snipe, 132.
Good Dog wanted, 107.
Game Sanctuaries, 399.
Game in the Sunderbunds, 587.
Himalayan Forest Fires 206.
Habits of the Nilgai, 279.
Hyderabad Game Laws, The, 279.
Henley Regatta, 471.
Identification of Species, 107, 206, 257.
Imported Fowls, 132.
Indi Ambulantes, 303.
India without Elephants, 374.
Information wanted, 422.
Kashmir Snow Pigeon, 184, 303.
Late Snipe, 57, 80.
Lofting the ball in Hockey, 57.
Late Stay of Shelldrake in Tirhoot, 184.
Lord Roberts on Riding, 539.
Notes on the Snow Pigeon, 279.
Night Shooting, 348.
Poultry Breeding Improvement, 108.
Projected Walks to Barrackpore, 161.
Pool Query, 230.
Proposed New Service Rifle, The, 302.
Racing Query, 132 564.
Snipe Shoot, An Easter Monday 9,
Sea Trips, 257.
Storm in a Tea Cup, 280.
Suggested Night Sight, 325.
Ticks in Dogs, 80.
Two Sporting Queries, 107
Tennis Query, 132.
The Salween, 161.
Talk on Tongas, A, 422.
Walking Record, A., 257.
Whist, 132.
Whist Query, 132, 206.
What are Vermin, 446.

CRICKET—

In Bombay—
Bombay Gymkhana vs. Colaba Garrison, 217.
Bombay Gymkhana vs. R. A. & N. Staffords, 268.
Bombay Gymkhana vs. Hindu Gymkhana, 339.

CRICKET—Contd.
Bombay Gymkhana vs. Baronet C. C. 363, 624.
Bombay Gymkhana, Reserves vs. Baronet C. C. Reserves 363.
Bombay Gymkhana vs. Elphinstone Coll, 412.
Baronet C. C. vs. Bombay Gymkhana and Visitors. 412.
Bombay Gymkhana vs Parsee Gymkhana, 436.
Bombay Gymkhana Reserves vs. Baronet C. C., 436.
Bombay Gymkhana vs. B., B. and C. I. Ry., 481.
Bombay Gymkhana vs. Hindu Gymkhana, 503.
Bombay Gymkhana Reserves vs. P. W. D., 217.
Byculla Club vs. Bombay Gymkhana, 504.
Bombay Gymkhana vs. Poona Gymkhana, 501.
Civil vs. Military, 389.
Civil Service vs. Ganeshkhind, 459.
Dharwar vs. Bellary, 314.
Elephinstone Coll vs. Poona Gymkhana, 136.
Garrison Officers vs. 21st Bombay Infantry, 217.
Government Telegraph vs. R. A, 363.
Government House vs Mr. Patell's XI., 527.
North Staffords vs. Bombay Gymkhana Reserves, 339.
Nagpur Gymkhana vs. Secretariat C. C., 363.
Poona Gymkhana Fixtures, 18
Poona Gymkhana XI. vs. XV. 217.
Poona Gymkhana vs. Ammunition Factory 242.
Poona Gymkhana vs. Nizam's C. C. 242.
Poona Gymkhana vs. Head-quarter Offices, 242
Poona Gymkhana vs. A. V. School, 338.
Poona Gamkhana vs. Telugu Club
Poona Gymkhana vs. the Buffs, 33
Poona Gymkhana vs Baronet C. C. 362.
Poona Gymkhana vs. Bishop's High School, 389.
Poona Gymkhana vs. Bombay Hindus, 436.
Poona Gymkhana vs. Poona Young Cricketers, 460.
Poona Gymkhana vs. Poona Hindus, 481.
Presidency vs. Parsees, 389 (Bombay).
Presidency vs. Parsees (Poona), 527.
R. G. A. Colaba vs Buffs, 436.
The Buffs vs. 52nd Light Infantry, 362.

In Calcutta—
Customs A. C. vs. Town Club, 624.
S. James C. C. vs. R. G. A., 624.

In England—
Arthur Shrewsbury, 92.
An Olla Podrida, 528.
Cricket Chirps from home, 18, 91.
Cricket at Home, 482.
English Cricket Chat, 217, 242.
Interview with Mr. K. J. Key, 67.
Interesting Cricket Facts, 575.
Late Major Samuel Evan Butler, 92.
The M. C. C. team, 551.

In Madras—
Bangalore Gymkhana vs. Survey of India, 599.
M. C. C. vs. Engineering College, 389.
M. C. C. vs. Presidency College, 625.
Mercantile vs. the World Madras), 551.
Ootacamund Gymkhana vs. Durham L. I., 68.
Ootacamund Gymkhana vs. Visitors, 91.
Ootacamund vs. Coimbatore, 144.
Over 30 vs under 30 (Bangalore), 501.
Residents vs. Visitors (Yercaud), 68.
R. A. and R. E. vs. Best of Gymkhana (Bangalore), 482.

In the Mofussil—
Belgaum vs Dharwar. 599.
B. N. Railway vs. Royal Scots, 599.
Combined Schools vs. Darjeeling Station, 217.
Chakrata vs. Mussoorie, 575.
Mussoorie vs. Oak Grove school, 91, 173.
Mussoorie vs. Combined Schools, 119.
Mussoorie vs. Bhurtpore, 242.
Naini Tal vs Ranikhet. 144.
Nagpur Gymkhana vs. Bilaspur, 436.
Nagpur Gymkhana vs. Royal Scots, 459.
Nagpur Gymkhana vs. Kamptee Gymkhana, 501.
Nagpur Gymkhana vs. Kamptee Modi C. C., 599.
Nagpur vs. Kamptee, 624.
Station C. C. vs. North Point C. C. (Darjeeling). 18.
Simla vs. Plains, 172.
Simla Averages, 269.
The Year's Centuries, 18.

CYCLING—
Cycling in England, 18, 44, 90, 144, 172, 196, 242, 268, 292, 314, 337, 388, 481, 550, 574, 598.
Cycle Racing in Bangalore, 172.
South India Cycle Races, 277.

F.

FISHING—
Care of Tackle 538.
Common Sense in Fishing, 107.
Eastern Fishing for the Poojahs, 491.
Mascalonge, The. 295.
Success in Angling 586.
Trip to the Torsa River, 159.

FOOTBALL—

In Bombay—
Bombay Presidency vs. All India, 483.
Bombay Gymkhana Rugby Tournament, 504, 552.
The Harris Tournament, 575.

In Calcutta—
Calcutta League Fixtures, 19.
Calcutta vs A and S Highlanders, 45.
Calcutta Referee's Association, 120.
Calcutta vs Casuals, 363.
Calcutta vs. Ballygunge, 363, 436.
Calcutta vs. City, 363, 436.
Calcutta vs. Mr. Gardiner's, XV, 390.
Calcutta vs. Customs, 412.
Calcutta vs. United Services, 412.
Calcutta B vs. Customs, 436.
Calcutta B vs. Armenian Club, 460.
Casuals vs. City, 412.
C. F. C. Place Kicking Competition, 460.
Dalhousie vs. A. and S. Highlanders, 19.
Dalhousie vs. Calcutta, 45.
England vs. Scotland, 460.
Football in Rangoon, 219, 413.
Indian Football Association, 120.
I. F. A. Shield, 293, 314 338, 363.
Notes and Comments, 69, 93, 120, 145, 173, 197, 218, 243, 269, 293, 315, 338, 363, 412, 436, 460, 482, 505.
Rugby Senior Challenge Cup, 460, 482, 504.
The League 68, 92, 119, 141, 173, 196, 218, 243 269.
The Trades' Cup, 315.

In Madras—
Madras Rugby Tournament, 528, 551.

In the Mofussil—
Murree Tournament, 93, 120, 145.
The Durand Tournament, 483, 504, 528.
The Year's Tournaments, 19.
Walter Locke Shield, 528.

G.

GARDEN, THE—
Darjeeling Flower Show, 47.
Gardening for May ,24.
Gardening in Midnapur, 70, 246, 270, 318, 390.
The Orchid Jungle, 340.

GENERAL NOTES.—
6, 31, 54, 76, 105, 129, 155, 180, 203, 252, 300, 322, 346, 372, 396, 420, 444, 467, 489 511, 535, 560, 582, 605.

GOLF—

In Bombay—
Bombay Golf Club, 146, 174, 244, 315.
Golf at Poona, 219, 269, 294, 315, 364, 390, 413, 437, 460, 483.
The Nasik Week, 505, 528.

In Calcutta—
Calcutta Golf Club, 45, 121, 174, 244, 293.
Calcutta Ladies' Golf Club, 244.

In Madras—
Bombay Medal, 219.
Bangalore vs. Madras, 437.
Col. Pope's Cup, 552.
Captain's Prize, 599.
Golf at Ootacamund, 174.
Handicap Foursomes, 69.
Montaly Medal, 19, 244, 437.
S. Thomas' Mount vs. Madras, 437.
The Guindy Cup, 269, 437.
Vizianagram Cup, 338.

In the Mofussil—
Calcutta Silver Medal at Rangoon, 219.
Calcutta Medal at Colombo, 244.
Golf at Karachi, 121, 219, 339, 390, 487, 460, 552.
Golf at Gulmarg, 269, 294, 315, 361, 390.
Upper India Amateur Tournament, 437.

H.

HOCKEY—

In Bombay—
Aga Khan Tournament, 93, 121.

HOCKEY—Contd.

In Calcutta—
Calcutta vs. S. James, 20.
R. I. R. vs. Rangers, 20.
Ranchi vs. Dalhousie, 20.
Ranchi vs. Seebpore, 20.
R. I. R. vs. S. James, 20.
S. James vs. Ranchi, 20.

In the Mofussil—
Bechtler Cup, 576, 599.
Dalhousie vs. Nawab of Dacca's Household, 528.
Hockey at Bangalore, 127.
Madras Hockey Tournament, 316, 339.
Notes and Comments, 20.

HORSE—THE Origin of the Arab Horse, 279.

HUNTING—
Ootacamund Hounds, The, 44, 66, 89, 119, 143, 196, 266, 292, 313, 411, 434, 458, 481, 503, 550, 598.
Poona and Kirkee Hounds, 216, 241, 266, 292, 318, 337, 360, 388, 411, 434, 458, 481, 503, 526, 598.
The Last Run of the Season, 90.

K.

KENNEL—THE
Teaching a Retriever, 600.
Vaccination and Immunisation of Dogs against Distemper, 438.

L.

LAWN TENNIS—

In Calcutta—
Calcutta C. C. Tournament, 45.
C. C. C. vs. Saturday Club, 174, 197.

In Bombay—
Bombay Gymkhana Tournament, 46.
Bombay Gymkhana Handicap Tournament, 146.
Poona Tournament, 330, 364.
Poona Open Tournament, 484, 506.

In Madras—
Kashmir Championship Tournament, 174.
Ootacamund Tournament, 20.
Tournament at Lucknow, 460.

LEADING ARTICLES—
America Cup, The, 453.
Betting Systems, Latest Thing in, 99.
Betting as a Crime, 149.
Breeding, 367.
Calcutta Monsoon Races, 507.
Doping, 601.
"Extinct" Species, 1.
Experiments in the Feeding of Horses, 485.
Football in Calcutta, 272.
Fox-terrier Type, 295.
Flat racing in England, 1903, 415.
Fox Terrier Puppies, 439.
Football Reform, 531.
Fresh Air vs. Heat in Menageries, 577.
Horse of the Future, The, 271.
Kennel Club and Increased Taxation, 49.
London Zoological Society, 176.
Lawn Tennis at Home and Abroad, 221.
Mice and Men at the Zoological Society, 222.
More of Uganda, 341.
Opportunities and Proficiency, 25.
Pioneers of Travel and Natural History, 71.
Progressive Motor, The, 175.
Protective Resemblance, 199.
Professional Cricketer, The, 391.
Sporting Pictures at the Royal Academy, 72.
Training and Condition, 125.
World on Wheels, 247.
Wild White Cattle of England, The, 555.
"Zebroids" for Transport purposes, 319.

LONDON WEEK BY WEEK—
6, 31, 55, 77, 105, 129, 155, 180, 204, 227, 252, 276, 300, 322, 346, 372, 396, 420, 445, 467, 489, 511, 536, 560, 583, 606.

N.

NATURALIST THE—
Animals Fear of Death, 23.
Birds, Women and Men, 44.
Birds of Lucknow, 95, 245, 529.
Bombay Natural History Society, 316, 529.
Breeding of Button Quail in Captivity, 600.
Fading Rhinoceros, 124.
Fertile Hybrids in Birds, 600.
Habits of the Hoolock, 554.
New Monkey, 124.
Indian Snipes, The, 147, 339.
Indian Branch of the Society for the Protection of Birds, 230.
Imported Poultry for India, 438.
Long Tailed Japanese Fowls, 124.

NATURALIST THE—Contd.
Meeting of the London Zoological Society 69, 147, 215.
Stray Notes, 22, 124, 389.
The Home of the Tiger, The, 554.

P.

PIGSTICKING—
Pigsticking Anecdotes, 195.
The Last Boar, 513.

POLO—

In Bombay—
Poona Junior Tournament, 434, 458.
Poona Open Tournament, 526.

In Madras—
Ootacamund Tournament, 66, 90.

In Calcutta—
Bangalore Tournament, 459.
Bangalore Tournament, 361.
Beresford Tournament, 121, 143.
Bellary Skittle Tournament, 292, 314.
Burma Polo Association, 44.
Gulmarg Tournament, 459.
Lucknow Tournament, 459.
Polo at Bangalore, 216 241.
Quetta Tournament, 503, 526.
The Year's Tournaments, 17.
The Measurement of Ponies, 111.

POETRY—
The Mosquito, 366.

Q.

QUOITS—
Calcutta Golf Club Tournament, 488.

R.

RACING—
Is the Havelock Course a fast one? 362.
Jockey Club and the Starting Gate, 216.
Poona Racing Season, The, 613.

RACKETS—
Calcutta Racket Club, 576.
Poona Open Tournament, 219.

REVIEWS—
After Ibex, 32.
Anne Judge Spinster 421.
Animals of no Importance, 512.
Bridge Topics, 277.
Chota Nagpore, 254.
Coming of the Colonist, 512.
Cricketer in India, A, 581.
Count Zarka, 581.
Gold Wolf, The, 581.
Horsewoman, The, 56.
Land of the Black Mountain, The, 254.
Memsahib's Book of Cookery, 130.
Market Garden Crops, 373.
New Health Primer, 130.
Pocket Atlas, 421.
Prince of Sinners, A, 581.
Service and Sport on the Tropical Nile, 158.
Sportsman at large, 255.
Selection of the Piano, The, 421.
Secret Way, The, 421.
Story of Notation, 421.
Sport on the Blue Nile, 563.
Terriers, 56.
"Zoos" of Europe, The, 8.

ROWING—
Calcutta Rowing Club, 67, 90, 388, 527.
Lucknow Annual Regatta, 503, 527.
Madras Boat Club, 412.
Regatta at Naini Tal, 67, 144.

RIDING—
Buffalo Bill on the Art of Riding, 94.

S.

SHIKAR—
After Cave Tigers in China, 182.
Adventures in the Santhal Hills, 301.
A Pleasant Ten Days, 191.
Back into Kashmir over the Zoji Lal, 302.
Bombay Shikar Rules, 585.
Christmas Week in the Terai, 131.
Dead Elephant, A, 132.
Eka Fire An, 196.
Elephants Dancing Ground An, 468.
Elephant Catching 35 years ago, 537.
Few Days' Shooting in an Eastern District, 373.
First Day of the Season The, 421.
Incidents of Ibex Shooting, 158.
Imported Feathered Game of the Nilgiris, 225.
Jottings from Junglypore, 158, 181, 205.
Leopard and a Lad A., 197.
Leaves from my Diary 323, 347, 397.
Nilgiri Game Association, 159.
No. 1 Refuge House, 229.
Nilgiri Game and Fish Preservation Association, 256, 422.
Ovis Sharpeyer or the Stalk that failed, 253.
Reminiscences of South African Shikar, 563.
Shooting Reminiscences, 301.
Sport in the Himalayas, 512.
Sporting Herd, A, 584.
Sunday Shoot, A, 607.
Tigers in the Central Provinces, 57.
Two Firsts of September, 277.
Under the Plum Trees, 79.
Village Tiger, A, 182.
With Canoe and Rifle in the Shan States 7, 32, 56, 78.
Winding up the Season, 228.
Whitsuntide Shoot, A, 278.
Western Boats in Olden Days, 446.

SHOOTING—
Calcutta Revolver Club, 33, 160, 302, 348, 398, 471.
Cordite Cartridge pressure in the Tropics, 256.
Concerning Shot Sizes, 471.
Hints to Beginners, 538, 563, 586, 607.
Holland's new Nitro Paradox, 513.
Mysore Game and Fishing Preservation Society, 374.
New Single Trigger Mechanism, 160
New Cordite Rifle Cartridge, A, 183.
Rifle for the new Express Cartridge, The, 206.
Special Cordite for Tropical Countries, 279.
Saucer Club, The, 348.
Trap Shooting at Ootacamund, 230.

SHOWS—
Bangalore Horse and Dog Show, 364
Gulmarg Horse and Dog Show, 506.
Lucknow Horse Show, 625.
Murree Horse Show, 506.
Murree Fifth Dog Show, 413.
Ootocamund Horse Show 95, 123.
Simla Horse and Dog Show, 147.

SPECIAL TELEGRAMS—
Ascot Stakes, The, 150.
A. A. A. Championship, 223.
Brighton Cup, The, 320.
Cambridgeshire, The, 602.

SPECIAL TELEGRAMS—Contd.
Chester Cup, The, 2.
Champagne Stakes, The, 440.
Cesarewitch, The, 556.
Caulfield Cup, The, 578.
Derby, The, 73.
Duchess of York Plate, The, 150.
Doncaster Cup, The, 464.
Duke of York Stakes, The, 556.
Eclipse Stakes, The, 272.
French Derby, The, 72.
Great Jubilee Handicap, The, 26.
Grand Prix, The, 126.
Gold Vase, The, 150
Gold Cup, The, 176.
Goodwood Plate, The, 296.
Goodwood Cup, The, 320.
Great Northern Leger, The, 368.
Great Ebor Handicap, The, 392.
Gimcrack Stakes, The 417.
Great Yorkshire Handicap, The, 464.
Hardwicke Stakes The, 176.
Henley Royal Regatta, 248.
July Stakes The, 200.
Jockey Club Stakes, The 532.
Liverpool Cup, The, 296
Manchester Cup, The, 126
Middle Park Plate, The, 578.
Newmarket Stakes, The, 26.
Northumberland Stakes, The, 177.
One Thousand guineas, The, 2.
Oaks, The, 100.
Prince of Wales's Stake, The, 150
Princess of Wales's Stakes The, 222.
Prince Edward Handicap, The 508
Royal Hunt Cup, The, 150.
Stewards' Cup, The, 296.
St. Leger Betting, 117.
St. Leger The, 440

SPORT IN ENGLAND—
12, 41, 63 85, 114, 137, 165, 191, 211, 235, 261, 285, 308, 331, 356, 385, 406, 429, 454, 476, 498, 521, 546, 570, 592, 622.

SPORTING NOTES—
3, 26, 50 73, 100, 126 151, 177, 200, 228, 248, 272, 297, 320, 342, 368, 392, 417, 441, 461, 486, 508, 532, 557, 578, 602.

SPORT
[illegible]lery Aquatic Sports, 95
[illegible]eling Gymkhana, 69
G[illegible] Week in Palmaner, 413
M[illegible]as Police Sports, 576
R[illegible]. Sports at Kirkee, 244
Sk[illegible]le Gymkhana in Bangalore, 625.
3rd Bombay Cavalry Gymkhana, 413.

SWIMMING—
Calcutta Swimming Club, 22, 46, 95, 123, 146, 198, 220, 294, 316, 364, 390, 483.
Water Polo, 198.

STORY TELLER THE—
A Change of Identity, 365, 414.
A Little Dope, 484.
A Deal in Elephants, 506.
A Shattered Eden, 530.
Native Superstitions, 23, 46, 70.
Running Rein's Derby, 148.
Smith, Jones and Robinson, 461.
The Pixie Cross, 124.
The Spoofing of Gurrumpore, 215.
The Enchanted Hill, 294.
The Wrong Corps 317.
The Plunger, 340.

T

TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE—
Gold Claim Pegging, 94.
Weeks Tramp on the Nepal Frontier Road, 626.

THEATRE, THE—
The Dandy Fifth, 270, 530.

TURF, THE—
Bangalore Races, 112, 260, 283.
Bangalore First Extra, 352.
Bangalore Second Extra, 452.
Calcutta Course Chat, 330, 352, 380, 404, 475.
Calcutta Trainers' Lots, 331, 353, 380, 476.
Calcutta Monsoon Races, 351, 378, 402, 496, 517.
Calcutta Monsoon—Form at a glance, 520.
Colombo Monsoon Meeting, 113, 136.
Colombo August Meeting, 379, 403.
Darjeeling Sky Races, 112.
Darjeeling Sky Races, 544.
Dehra Autumn Sky Races, 543.
Dibrugarh Sky Meeting, 113.
Gymkhana at Ootacamund, 233.
Gymkhana at Quetta, 261.
Gymkhana at Mysore 452.
Karachi Gymkhana, 233
Karachi Second Gymkhana 404.
Lucknow Paperchase Races, 210.
Lucknow Third Open Gymkhana, 60.
Lucknow Fourth Open Gymkhana, 234.
Lucknow Fifth Open Gymkhana, 453.
Lucknow Autumn Sky Races, 612.
Maheshwar Sky Meeting, 37.
Meerut Fifth Open Gymkhana, 37.
Mysore Races, 164, 188, 210.
Mysore Gymkhana, 234.
Murree Sky Races, 452.
Meerut Sixth Open Gymkhana 475.
Meerut Seventh Open Gymkhana, 591.
Ootacamund Races, 36.
Ootacamund Gymkhana Races 84.
Ootacamund Hunt Races, 520, 545.
Pachmarhi Gymkhana Races, 164.
Poona Trainers' Lots, 404, 497, 545.
Poona First Extra 306, 329.
Poona Second Extra, 329.
Poona Third Extra, 352.
Poona Fourth Extra, 378.
Poona Fifth Extra, 379.
Poona Sixth Extra, 403.
Poona Seventh Extra, 427.
Poona Eighth Extra 427.
Poona Ninth Extra, 451.
Poona Tenth Extra 495.
Poona Races and Steeplechases, 496, 518, 542, 568.
Poona and Kirkee Fox Hounds Point to Point Races, 569
Poona Race Form at a Glance, 611.
Poona Eleventh Extra, 590.
Poona Twelfth Extra, 591.
Pachmarhi Gymkhana Races, 592.
Quetta Spring Meeting, 83, 111.
Quetta Autumn Meeting, 497, 519.
Rangoon Spring Meeting, 12.
Racing in South Australia, 136, 191.
Rangoon Third Extra Sky Meeting, 306.
Racing in Australia, 38, 306, 330, 404, 427, 497, 569.
Simla Summer Races, 83, 111.
S. M. Race Club Summer Sky, 84.
Simla Open Gymkhana Races, 136.
Singapore Meeting, 164.
St. Leger Entries, 285.
Secunderabad Races, 380.
Shillong Races, 569.
Tollygunge Club Gymkhana 188, 260, 452.
Umballa 9th Station Gymkhana, 84.
Umballa 1st Open Gymkhana, 612.

WALKING—
A Calcutta Match, 214.
Long Distance Walking, 197.

YACHTING—
Yachting in Japan, 146.
Yachting in Bombay, 625.

TO PIGSTICKERS.

JUST TO HAND

THE FIRST CONSIGNMENT OF

BALDOCK'S PATENT KNIFE SPEAR

(INVENTED AND PATENTED BY Major BALDOCK, MERWARA BATTALION)

A PERFECT WEAPON.

No Pigsticker should be without one. Fitted in leather sheath, Rs. 15 each.

SOLE MAKERS & AGENTS:

WALTER, LOCKE & Co., Ld., Locke Buildings, Calcutta.

LONDON & LANCASHIRE
LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

HEAD OFFICE:—
LONDON: 66 and 67, CORNHILL, E.C.

CALCUTTA BOARD OF DIRECTION:

T. Fraser, Esqr., Manager, Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China.
E. H. Elles, Esqr., Messrs. Pigott Chapman & Co.
Alex. Forsyth, Esqr., Messrs. Graham & Co.

NEW BUSINESS, 1901.

SUMS ASSURED, £727,196. NEW PREMIUMS, £30,088.

The Net Premium Income is now £264,482, and the amount of £101,760, as the result of the past year's working, has been added to the Funds, which now stand at £1,629,502.

New policy holders participate in the large proportion of 90 % of the entire profits of the Company.

Applications for Agency invited. Special Terms.

APPLY TO—
Messrs. GRAHAM & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.
9, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

BANK OF CALCUTTA,
LIMITED.

CAPITAL.

Subscribed	Rs.	15,00,000
Reserve Fund...	,,	15,00,000
Uncalled Capital	,,	5,00,000

DIRECTORS:

Mr. D. YULE, Messrs. ANDREW, YULE & Co.
,, R. J. P. THOMAS, Messrs. THOMAS & Co.
,, NORMAN McLEOD, Messrs. McLEOD & Co.
,, D. KING.

CREDITS granted on approved Security, and every description of banking business transacted.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened and 2 per cent. per annum allowed on the daily balances.

FIXED DEPOSITS received at the following rates of interest:—

On Deposits fixed for 2 Years	5½	per cent.	per annum.
,, ,, ,, ,, 1 Year	5	,,	,,
,, ,, ,, ,, 6 Months	4½	,,	,,
,, ,, ,, ,, 3 ,,	4	,,	,,

The Bank offers special facilities and advice to Constituents as to the purchase and sale of all Indian Securities, particularly the Shares and Debenture Stocks of Jute, Cotton, Tea, and Miscellaneous Industrial Concerns.

The Bank is prepared to guarantee the principal and interest of Debentures on its approved list on terms which may be ascertained on application. Absentee shareholders' and investors' interests carefully watched.

Orders executed on the London Stock Exchange through London Branch.

For further information apply to—

CALCUTTA, 7th April, 1902. D. KING, Agent.

LONDON BRANCH:—19, GREAT WINCHESTER STREET, E. C.

THE STANDARD
LIFE ASSCE. CO.

Revenue	£1,300,000
Bonus Declared	£7,000,000
Accumulated Funds... ...	£10,300,000
Claims Paid	£21,000,000

For Forms, Prospectuses, etc., apply to
DOUGLAS STEWART, Secretary,
STANDARD BUILDINGS,
CALCUTTA.

GRINDLAY & CO., CALCUTTA.
GRINDLAY, GROOM & CO., BOMBAY.

BANKING.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened. | FIXED DEPOSITS received.
HOME AND FAMILY REMITTANCES made.

INVESTMENTS.

INFORMATION given regarding share market.
PURCHASES and SALES effected.
Grindlay's Monthly INDIAN INVESTORS' GUIDE supplied gratis.

PASSAGES.

HOMEWARD PASSAGES booked without charge.
PASSAGE CIRCULAR, complete list of sailings supplied gratis.

PACKAGES.

SHIPPED, cleared and forwarded.

THOS. COOK & SON
Bankers, Passenger & Forwarding Agents.

PASSAGES PROMPTLY ENGAGED by P. & O. Mail and all other Steamers, including non-Liners. Free of Charge or Commission.

Special Attention given to the selection of Berths and Social Grouping of Passengers.

Through Tickets issued available from any Railway Station in India to all parts of the Globe.
Continental Travelling Tickets issued, allowing breaks of journey at all places of interest.
Passengers with Cook's Tickets met and assisted at all Chief Ports and Cities.
Reduced Rates to Railway employés Planters, Family Parties, and Missionaries.
Outward Passages engaged and Tickets supplied from any part of the World to India.
Hotel Coupons available at over 2,000 Hotels.
Reduced Fares for Military Officers, Government Officials, and Missionaries to Europe and China and America.
Baggage received, shipped and cleared on arrival.
Packages received and forwarded at favourable cargo rates.
Life and Accident Insurance Policies issued, also baggage, &c., insured.
Drafts, Circular Notes and Letters of Credit issued for the use of Travellers in all parts of the World.
Sovereigns, Bank Notes, and Foreign Money bought and supplied.
Current Accounts kept, and Interest allowed when the Credit balance does not fall below Rs. 1,000.
Deposits received, Rate of Interest on application.
Interest, Pay, and Pensions collected and every description of Banking and Money Agency transacted.
Handbook of information sent free on application.

CALCUTTA, 9, Old Court House Street. | BOMBAY, 13, Esplanade Row.

RANGOON AND COLOMBO.

3 SUCCESSIVE VICEROYS.

CALCUTTA AERATED WATER CO.,
BY APPOINTMENT TO
H. E. LORD CURZON.
WATERS DELIVERED IN CALCUTTA FREE.
H. BALLIN,
Manager.

COCKBURN & Co.
— OF —
LEITH AND LONDON.
(ESTABLISHED 1796.)
WELL MATURED
HIGHLAND WHISKIES,
Of the highest class and most delicate blending.

Star Label	Rs. 34	per dozen.
Imperial Crown Label ...	,, 38	,,

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & Co.,
SOLE AGENTS,
1, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

NORTHERN ASSURANCE COMPANY.
ESTABLISHED 1836.
FIRE AND LIFE.

Capital	£3,000,000
Accumulated Funds	£5,698,300

OFFICES.

Head Office:—LONDON, 1, Moorgate Street
Branch:—CALCUTTA, 101, Clive Street.
Fire and Life Insurance effected on the most favourable terms.
GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & CO., (Secretaries.)
101, Clive Street, Calcutta.

THE INDIAN FIELD.
8, Hare Street, Calcutta.

THURSDAY, 7 MAY 1903.

"EXTINCT" SPECIES.

THE report, based apparently on reliable authority, that passenger pigeons in small numbers have twice been observed by different naturalists at two separate districts of Ontario, gives us one more hint of the necessity for prolonged delay ere we take it upon ourselves to add a species of bird or beast to the list of those extinguished. The case of the American passenger pigeon (Ectopistes migratorius) is, we must admit, peculiar. Fifty years ago the name of the bird was a synonym for incalculable numbers: it was on the same footing, one may say, as the locust and the "sands of the sea." Alexander Wilson, the famous American naturalist, described a breeding place of this pigeon personally known to him in Kentucky: the tract of wood patronised by the pigeons was forty miles long and several miles in breadth: "almost every tree was furnished with nests wherever the branches could accommodate them;" and the appearance of the young squabs was the signal for the people to assemble from miles round, who came to camp in the vicinity, to cut down the nest-bearing trees and collect the young; while hogs on the ground and vast numbers of birds of prey collected to batten on the unfortunate nestlings. So lately as 1881 there existed in Michigan a passenger pigeon nursery eight miles long and a mile broad; but the records kept by Mr. L. H. Smith of Strathroy, Ontario, show that by the year named an enormous diminution in numbers had occurred; the annual decrease was very marked during the seventies and of recent years most naturalists have been content to relegate this pigeon to the list of extinct species.

The exertions of man may be held in a measure accountable for the destruction of the bird, for we must regard the depredations of hawks and their allies as a natural check on undue increase: but in a vast continent, which for the most part is but thinly populated, human agency cannot be held wholly accountable for it, even though we read of schooners being laden with the young squabs for carriage to New York and other centres of population. Many authorities believe that the disappearance of the birds is due to their being overtaken while on migration flight by fog or snowstorm: but this theory is not quite easy of acceptance. If we are right to picture the whole mass of individuals that make up the species—if all the passenger pigeons that ever existed dwelt in one vast flock and migrated as one bird, then we can accept the disaster theory: otherwise it becomes necessary to assume a series of fogs and, or, snowstorms occurring at such times and such places as to intercept the various migrating bodies to work their undoing. It would seem, however, that whatever the causes or forces which reduced the immense flights of passenger pigeons nearly to extinction, a few still survive and the species may, therefore, in course of time, recover its quantity to some extent. None of the columbidæ err on the side of profusion in family, and such recovery, if it takes place at all, must necessarily be slow.

The case of the passenger pigeon would seem to be on much the same footing as that of the American bison: for years, once the great herds had been destroyed, entirely by man in this instance, the species was popularly held to be extinct; a few individuals saved from the holocaust and harboured chiefly in great parks and reserves, were regarded with sympathetic curiosity as the last lingering representatives of a doomed race. Then, as the interest stimulated by report of extinction gradually spread into remote corners, the scientific men working in their studies began to hear from herdsmen, cowboys and others whose lives lay in the wilds that the bison still existed: that he had changed in some cases his habit of life and, avoiding the open, was become a dweller in the woods, where safety lay from the only foe he had to fear. Unless we are mistaken too, small herds of bison were reported as living in the prairies in undisturbed corners of the most thinly populated States. It is impossible that the bison can ever resume the place he once occupied: for obvious reasons he must go to the wall, for there is no room for him and civilisation together. There is no reason however why he should not continue in existence if afforded a fair chance: it is true that the reduction of a species below a certain minimum involves extinction sooner or later; but it is astonishing at how low a point that minimum may be maintained or, to put the same thing in another way, how long the last remnant of a species may be preserved. We have an excellent sample of this in the English wild cattle, small herds of which are still in existence at Vaynol, Hamilton, Chartley and Chillingham. These herds, numbering probably in the aggregate 250 individuals, represent a species against which war was declared by agriculture perhaps 800 years ago. Cattle do not reproduce their kind with conspicuous rapidity, and the survival of a remnant, close in-breeding notwithstanding, proves how enduring is the vitality of a species. We may regard the Chillingham cattle as a species for our present purpose as the herds have been so scrupulously excluded from outside crossing.

ZOOLOGICAL GARDEN Calcutta ALIPORE Acc. No. 602 15/12/06

We cannot satisfy ourselves that any accepted authority ever pronounced the square-lipped rhinoceros (R. simus) extinct: and indeed, when we consider the enormous area at the animal's disposal, he were a bold man who ventured to assert that none of the species survived because a period of years had passed without a specimen being brought to bag. Whatever the "Foundation of Belief" the fact remains that when Mr. Coryndon in 1894 took a couple of skins to England and made them over to Rowland Ward to be mounted the event created something like a sensation in the natural history world and R. simus received the welcome due a beast called back from the grave. Since then, various sportsmen have secured examples, Major St. Hill Gibbons, the well-known traveller, being, if we are not mistaken, the last to take home a skin.

For many years the so-called "Maneless Lion of Guzerat" was supposed to be numbered with beasts that were. That the lion in question is not maneless and was not peculiar at any time to Guzerat are mere details of no particular interest: but they held to emphasise the circumstance that when a fog of misconception grows up about any animal that fog or mist of distortion clings to it with singular tenacity. This species, in defiance of the popular verdict of extinction, remains in the land of the living, or to be more precise in the Gir Forest of Kathiawar. Seventy or eighty years ago they were numerous in all the wilder parts of the province. In the sixties they were occasionally killed about Mount Abu, Gwalior, Goona, and even within a hundred miles of Allahabad, so said a correspondent of our London contemporary, Land and Water, writing in August 1896; and the writer appeared to know what he was talking about. At that time the "lion area" had become very circumscribed and the Gir Forest is accepted as its only stronghold. Much to the credit of the Junagadh Durbar orders were issued protecting the lions absolutely for a period of six years: this "close season" expired only last year, and we have not heard what results have attended this endeavour to preserve the remnant of the species, for remnant we fear it must be considered though not without hopes that it may prove once more the adage concerning "threatened men" which applies equally to threatened species.

Regarding the verdict "extinct" from a practical standpoint we are quite sure it has beneficial results to the creature so described. Let the voice of authority proclaim a species rare or on the point of vanishment and at once a premium is put on the death of the rarity. Ninety men out of a hundred (we might say ninety-nine perhaps without overstatement) shoot a rare animal or rare bird for no other reason in the world than that it is rare; and the report that a rarity has been seen will bring the hungry collector to the spot, eager for his prey. Dub a species extinct and the remnant is comparatively safe, inasmuch as reports that an example has been seen are not readily credited. Incredible as it seems to planters and others in certain districts of India, the idea that "the Indian elephant is on the verge of extinction" is widely cherished in England and in quarters which should be much better informed the truth that elephants are numerous enough, in places, to be a serious nuisance has not yet penetrated.

Special Telegrams.

THE CHESTER CUP.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Chester Cup (handicap)—Of 2,550sovs. (a Cup value 50sovs. and the remainder in specie), by subscription of 25sovs. each, 15sovs. ft. or 5sovs. only if declared; second to receive 300sovs. and the third 200sovs.; winners after 12th March at noon, of the Two Thousand Guineas or One Thousand Guineas Stakes at Newmarket in 1903, or a handicap value 500sovs. 14lbs, of a handicap value 300sovs. 7lbs extra. Old Cup Course (nearly two miles and a quarter). (46 subs, 12 of whom declared.)—Closed 3rd February.

A Champion Prize Cheshire Cheese, of the value of 5sovs. will be given to the owners of the first, second, and third horses respectively.

Lord George Thursby's b c VENDALE, by The Bard—Water Lily, 4yrs, 6st 11lbs, Trigg 1

Mr F Alexander's b c THROWAWAY, by Right-away—Theale, 4yrs, 7st 5lbs, Hardy 2

Duke of Portland's ch c CARO, by Carbine—Nenemoosha, 4yrs, 7st, Griggs ... 3

Lord Howard de Walden's b c St. MACLOU, by St Simon—Mimi, 5yrs, 9st 5lbs ... 0

Mr Reid Walker's b g TEMPLEMORE, by St Hiliare—Little Widow, 5 years, 8st 5lbs 0

Mr J Collins's b c CARABINE, by Carbine—Saintfield, 5yrs, 8st 4lbs 0

Baron de Forest's b c LOGNES, by Simonian—Barcarolle, 4yrs, 7st 9lbs 0

Lord Carnarvon's b c PREEN, by Sheen—Coquette, 4yrs, 7st 2lbs 0

Sir E Vincent's ch f PARODY, by Avington—Portree, 4yrs, 6st 5lbs 0

Mr Arthur James's br c SHELLMARTIN, by Florizel II—Bentesta, 4yrs, 6st 11lbs ... 0

„ L de Rothschild's b f VENUS, by St Simon—Lady Loverule, 4yrs, 6st 3lbs ... 0

„ S Platt's b f MONITRESS, by Trenton—Lady Detective, 4yrs, 6st 9lbs ... 0

„ R Croker's br c LIQUIDATOR, by St Frusquin—Eau d'Or, 4yrs, 6st 6lbs ... 0

Mr A Stedall's br c GRAND DEACON, by Freemason—L'Excepcion, 5yrs, 6st 4lbs ... 0

Mr R C Thompson's ch c LEVIATHAN, by Isinglass—Galiana, 5yrs, 6st 0lb ... 0

(Winner trained by W. Dyke, Cranborne, Dorset.)

Betting: 10 to 1 against Vendale.

Won by one length; three lengths between second and third.

Previous Winners.

Year.	Winner.	Time.	Jockey.
1877	Mr F Gretton's Pageant	6 7 10	... Glover (10)
1878	Mr F Gretton's Pageant	a 8 12	... T Cannon (10)
1879	Lord Dupplin's Reefer	4 7 1	... Luke (10)
1880	Mr Lde Rothschild's Fashion	3 6 5	... Graves (10)
1881	Sir J D Astley's Windsor	4 6 6	... Weston (10)
1882	Ld Rosebery's Prudhomme	5 8 4	... Lemaire (7)
1883	Mr Lde Rothschild's Bisert	3 6 4	... S Loates (6)
1884	„ C J Merry's Havock	6 7 10	... C Wood (11)
1885	„ H B Craig's Merry Prin	5 7 3	... S Loates (7)
1886	Duke of Beaufort's Easte Emperor ...	5 8 2	... G Barrett (9)
1887	Mr Somers's Carlton	4 7 11	... G Barrett (10)
1888	„ J G Homfray's Kinsky	a 8 12	... Watts (12)
1889	„ B Maple's Mill Stream	6 7 4	... T Loates (11)
1890	„ S J Baker's Tyrant	5 7 0	... Chandley (10)
1891	„ Baron Hirsch's Vasistas	5 8 3	... G Barrett (12)
1892	„ C Perkin's Dare Devil	4 7 5	... Mullen (9)
1893	„ C Perkin's Dare Devil	5 8 1	... Fagan (8)
1894	Lord Penrhyn's Quæsitum	4 8 0	... T Loates (11)
1895	Capt Machell's Kilsallaghan	5 7 9	... Finlay (16)
1896	Mr Dobell's The Rush	4 8 5	... O Madden (11)
1897	„ R Lebaudy's Count Schomberg	5 8 10	S Loates (12)
1898	Mr Pack's Up Guards	6 13	S Chandley (16)
1899	„ Teddy's Uncle Mac	5 7 7	F Finlay (13)
1900	„ C A Brown's Roughside	a 7 5	... J T Sloan (14)
1901	„ Lorillard's David Garrick	4 8 10	... L Reiff (16)
1902	„ J Collin's Carabine	4 7 5	... M Aylin (16)

THE ONE THOUSAND GUINEAS.

London, Friday, 1st May 1903.

The One Thousand Guineas Stakes—Of 100 sovs. each h. ft. for three-year-old fillies, 9st. each, the owner of the second to receive 400 sovs., and the owner of the third 200 sovs. out of the stakes; R. M.—76 subs. Closed 5th November, 1901.

Lord Falmouth's b f QUINTESSENCE, by St Frusquin—Margarine, 9st, H Randal ... 1

Prince Soltykoff's b f SUN ROSE, by Sheen—Unia, 9st, W Halsey 2

Prince W Raphael's ch f SKYSCRAPER, by Velasquez or Ayrshire—Chelandry, 9st, D Maher 3

Mr J R Keene's ch f DAZZLING, by St Leonards—Splendour, 9st 0

Mr J Musker's br f BARONESS LA FLECHE, by Ladas—La Fleche, 9st ... 0

Major Eustace Loder's b f HAMMERKOP, by Gallinule—Concussion, 9st ... 0

Sir J Blundell Maple's ch f KITTYWICK, by Childwick—Kate Miller, 9st ... 0

Mr L Brassey's b f RED LILY, by Persimmon—Melody, 9st 0

Mr P P Gilpin's b f STAR OF THE SEA, by Gallinule—Ethel, 9st 0

Sir J Blundell Maple's b f GIRLIE, by Royal Hampton—Minting Queen, 9st ... 0

Sir W Brodrick Cloete's ch f GUIGNE, by Cherry Tree—Sigh, 9st 0

Lord Alington's ch f YOU GO OFF, by Sir Hugo—Fuse, 9st 0

(Winner trained by J. Chandler, Lambourne.)

Betting: 15 to 8 agst. Baroness La Fleche, 9 to 4 Skyscraper, 4 to 1 Quintessence; 20 to 1 Sun Rose.

Won by a length and a half; two lengths between second and third.

Pedigree of the Winner.

QUINTESSENCE (B. 1900).

Margarine (2) (B 1887)	St. Frusquin 22 (Br 1893).	Galopin 3 (B 1872)	Vedette (19 (Br, 1854)	Voltigeur (2) Mrs Ridgway
			Fling Duchess (B 1853.)	Fg Dutchman 3 Merope
		St. Angela (B 1865)	King Tom 3 (B 1851)	Harkaway (2) Pocahontas
			Adeline (B 1851)	Ion (4) Little Fairy
	Isabel (Ch 1879)	Plebian 11 (B 1872)	Joskin (5) (Br 1856)	West Australian 7 Peasant Girl
			Queen Elizabeth (Ch 59)	Autocrat (1) Bay Rosalind
		Parma (Bl 1864)	Parmesan 7 (Br 1857)	Sweetmeat 21 Gruyere
			Archeress (B 1858)	Longbow 21 Tingle
Margarita (B 1873)	Petrarch 10 (B, 1873)	Ld. Clifden (2) (B 1860)	Newminster 8 (B 1848)	Touchstone 14 Beeswing
			The Slave (B 1852)	Melbourne (1) Volley
		Laura (B 1860)	Orlando 13 (B 1841)	Touchstone 14 Vulture
			Torment (Br 1850)	Alarm 19 Dau of Glencoe
	St. Simon 11 (B, 1881.)	The Duke 12 (B 1862)	Stockwell 3 (Ch 1849)	The Baron 24 Pocahontas
			Bay Celia (B 1851)	Orlando 13 Horsey
		Tasmania (Br 1854).	Melb'rne (1) (Br 1834)	Hmpy Clinker 3 Dau of Cervantes
			Daughter of (Bl 1846)	Picarwon (4) Bonny Bonnet

Winners since 1875.

Year.	Winner.			Jockey.
1875	Lord Falmouth's b Spinaway, by Macaroni	47	6	... F Archer
1876	Count Lagrange's ch Camelia, (a) by Macaroni	55	13	... Glover
1877	Lord Hartington's b Belphœbe, by Toxophilite	84	19	... H Jeffery
1878	Lord Lonsdale's ch Pilgrimage, by The Earl or The Palmer	89	9	... T Cannon
1879	Lord Falmouth's b Wheel of Fortune, by Adventurer ...	84	8	... F Archer
1880	Mr T E Walker's b or br f Elizabeth, by Statesman	71	10	... C Wood
1881	Mr W S Crawfurd's ch f Thebais, by Hermit ...	90	13	... Fordham
1882	Mr W S Crawfurd's ch f St Margeruite, by Hermit —	60	6	... C Wood
1883	Mr C J Lefevre's b f Hauteur, by Rosicrucian	57	9	... Fordham
1884	Mr Abington's b f Busybody, by Petrach	62	6	... T Cannon
1885	D of Westminster's ch f Farewell, by Doncaster ...	64	16	... G Barrett
1886	Duke of Hamilton's b f Miss Jummy, by Petrarch ...	57	10	... Watts
1887	D of Beaufort's ch f Reve d'Or by Hampton	62	12	... C Wood
1888	Mr Douglas Baird's b f Briarroot, by Springfield ..	65	14	... Warne
1889	Mr Vyner's b f Minthe, by Camball	48	14	... J Woodburn
1890	Duke of Portland's b f Semolina, by St Simon ...	66	10	... J Watts
1891	Mr Noel Fenwick's b f Mimi, by Barcaldine	78	12	... F Rickaby

1892	Baron de Hirsch's br f La Fleche, by St Simon	74	7	...	G Barrett
1893	Sir J B Maple's ch f Siffleuse, by Saraband ...	75	11	...	T Loates
1894	Duke of Portland's b f Amiable, by St Simon... ...	66	13	...	Bradford
1895	Mr Fairie's b or br f Galeottia, by Galopin	84	15	...	F Pratt
1896	H R H The Prince of Wales's br f Thais, by St Serf ...	91	19	...	J Watts
1897	Lord Rosebery's b f Chelandry, by Goldfinch	84	9	...	J Watts
1898	Sir J B Maple's b f Nun Nicer, by Common	89	15	...	S Loates
1899	Lord W Beresford's b f Sibola by The Sailor Prince ...	70	14	...	Sloan
1900	Mr Leonard Brassey's b f Winifreda, by St Simon ...	81	10	...	S Loates
1901	Sir J Miller's b f Aida, by Galopin	82	15	...	Maher
1902	Mr R S Sievier's b f Sceptre by Persimmon	102	14	...	Randall

(a) Ran a dead heat with Enguerrande for the Oaks, and divided stakes.

OURSELVES.

THE INDIAN FIELD enters upon the second year of its existence with this issue. We have strenuously endeavoured to carry out the programme we set before us when we started, and our subscribers' list and advertising connection justifies us in believing that we have not failed. We take this opportunity of thanking all who have contributed to our success so far, and the many friends who have expressed their congratulations on the first anniversary of our birthday. Our brethren of the Fourth Estate have gone out of their way to say kind things about us, as thus :—

To-day our popular sporting contemporary, The Indian Field, celebrates the anniversary of its first birthday. Twelve months ago, to-day, this enterprising journal was launched on the sporting public of Calcutta under the ægis of Mr. W. S. Burke, whose connection with the Asian for several years will hardly be forgotten by devotees of the turf, the rod and the gun.

Started on a basis of pure speculation, within the space of a brief twelve-month The Indian Field has developed into what we may safely say without being invidious one of the leading sporting journals of the East. A glance at a recent copy of the paper is enough to convince the most pessimistic of speculators that it has before it a rosy future and has panned out handsomely. The motive power responsible for this unprecedented forging ahead, the hand that has carefully and judiciously controlled the helm and led popular sentiment in the matter of sports has been that of Mr. W. S. Burke whose personality in the Metropolis is recognised by the public whether sporting or otherwise.

We offer our contemporary our warmest congratulations. For the trend of the organ in the matter of veracity, accuracy of detail and distaste for the methods of the Yellow Press have appealed to us very forcibly, and we have no doubt that with these characteristics The Indian Field will find a tenfold popularity.—Englishman.

To-morrow, 1st May, will be the first anniversary of our newest sporting contemporary, The Indian Field, edited by Mr. W. S. Burke, and I am sure all who know the paper and its owner will heartily wish them both many happy returns of the day. Mr. Burke's energy and perseverance are things to admire, and in common with many more of his friends, I hope that they have met with all the reward that they have certainly merited. The Indian Field has kept its end up in contest with two elder and powerful rivals, though it must at the same time be said that the rivalry is of a healthy and generous sort, as all games of the sort ought to be. I trust that The Indian Field (not its working proprietor) will go on increasing in size and stature, and that when the next May Day comes we shall still find it and W. S. B. flourishing like a brace of green bay trees.—I. D. News.

THE "INDIAN FIELD."—This excellent sporting journal, which has made rapid progress under the experienced control of Mr. W. S. Burke, celebrates its first anniversary to-day. The first few months of the existence of a new journal is always a critical period, but The Indian Field has successfully survived the trials of its early career, and it may be confidently anticipated that, under its present management, it will continue to grow in popular favour and to merit the support of the sporting community.—Statesman.

On 1st May 1902, was offered to the Indian public, a new sporting paper, The Indian Field, edited by Mr. W. S. Burke, who had for many years been associated with the Asian, and who had brought that paper to a very high state of efficiency, the new venture came into being under the most favourable auspices. During the past year the progress of The Indian Field has been followed with the greatest interest, not only by Mr. Burke's many friends, but by every lover of sport in India. The result, it is hardly necessary to say, is that The Indian Field has worked its way to the front with extraordinay facility.—Indian Daily Telegraph.

Many happy returns of last Thursday to our junior contemporary, The Indian Field. It was the first anniversary of Mr. Burke's plucky venture.—Indian Planters' Gazette.

The Indian Field is just celebrating the first anniversary of its birthday. Although only twelve months ago since it made its bow to the public, the Field has established itself as the leading sporting paper in India, and its able and popular editor and proprietor, Mr. W. S. Burke, is to be congratulated most warmly on the great measure of success which has attended his venture. A really good sporting paper was a felt want, and the manner in which Mr. Burke has supplied that want has given satisfaction throughout sporting circles in India.—Advocate of India.

"INDIAN FIELD."—Yesterday, our new Calcutta sporting contemporary—Indian Field—celebrated its first birthday anniversary—and its talented and spirited proprietor has, without question, a good deal to be congratulated upon, in connection with his undoubted and splendid success. He was faced in his start by many stubborn obstacles, and by formidable rivalry, from journals of standing; but with steady and determined energy and perseverance, he continued his toilsome march to prosperity, and has now achieved it to an extent that relieves his mind of all concern for his future. Our contemporary is a safe and careful writer, of pronounced literary ability, and it is not too much to hope for his intelligence and energy, a career marked by happy fluctuations. For a long future of usefulness, enlivened by financial and journalistic success, he has our best wishes. There is no sporting authority, we learn, that can equal The Indian Field of No. 8, Hare Street, Calcutta.—Bengal Times.

Sporting Notes.

FIRST entries for the Mysore meeting are good on the whole, though for the Arab events they are poor. More entries are expected, especially from Poona. In the country-bred races two out of three have not filled according to the rules; but as there are some four ponies running in each it is as well to let them stand and see what Mysore-bred ponies like those from the Kungal farm can do against one from the other side.

Our Bangalore correspondent writes :—The Bangalore Gymkhana meeting arranged for Thursday, 30th April, fell through owing to paucity of entries. Why? The station is absolutely teeming with ponies. Can polo have anything to do with it? Will not owners race their polo ponies? It assuredly cannot do them any harm from a polo point of view to race them occasionally.

That the above can hardly be the cause for the regrettable effect, is partly shown, however, by the fact that two sporting little impromptu sweepstakes were run off on the Bangalore race-course on the evening of the 30th April, one open to polo ponies and the other to all comers. The first was won by Mr. Anketell-Jones' China, with Captain Tatam up, and the second by Mr. Waterhouse's beautiful little mare Flight well ridden by her owner.

There was also a half-mile match between Mr. Kidd's Red Gauntlet (Captain Tatam) and Mr. Saunders' Lascar II. (owner). Red Gauntlet won comfortably by three lengths, but something had gone wrong with the loser's saddle which was slipping back and he hardly seemed able to do himself justice at the finish. A trotting match between Captain Claridge's Bumble and Mr. Kidd's Lady Michael, which the latter won by four lengths, brought a very pleasant little afternoon to a close, but the start in this latter event was a very bad one, and the winner most sportingly insisted on considering the match off and trotting it over again. This will shortly be done.

The first Gymkhana of the Simla season was brought off at Annandale on the 2nd instant when the Viceroy's Staff entertained a large number of friends at lunch at the new club. The Gymkhana was a great success and thoroughly enjoyed by a large attendance. There was a field of ten for the first event, the Novice Stakes, R. C. race for ponies 14 hands and under that have never won a race value Rs. 50. Colonel Baring's Dingo won with Captain Peacock's Autralia next. The second event, hitting a polo ball round a post was won by Colonel Baring, Mr. Mant taking second honours. The Trotting Race for Ladies round the course produced ten competitors and was won by Miss Harkwell, with Mrs. Hitchins second. Fifteen couples competed in the fourth event, a ladies' nomination. Lady to throw a polo ball to gentleman, who catches it while galloping and throws it in a bucket. Captain Wigram and Mrs. Birdwood beat Lord Suffolk and Miss Ibbetson for first place.

The Poona Open Polo Tournament has been fixed for the 15th, 16th, 19th and 24th September.

Little Tom Melsom, the Newmarket jockey, who is now in Poona, has been engaged to ride by Lieut. W. Hamar Bass, 10th Hussars, the owner of Sceptre.

Mr. A. W. A. Plâté appears to have caught the recored trout in the lake at Nuwara Eliya on the 23rd ultimo. It was a brown trout and weighed 10lbs. 9¾ ounces, length 27¼ inches and girth 17⅜ inches and was in splendid condition.

A Mahableshwar correspondent writes under date the 1st instant :—

Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Northcote gave a garden party on the 27th ultimo. It was attended by all the principal people of the station. There was plenty of amusement—badminton "putting," and an enjoyable little gymkhana.

The entries for the coming races have proved fairly satisfactory, and the course during the last few mornings has presented quite an animated appearance. There are a good many animals at exercise and their work is being watched with interest. Amongst the owners Captain C. F. Greville holds a fairly strong hand with Leader, Hoosainee, Scattercash, Hermione and Maori Girl. Captain Balmain, who became the owner of Lady Dean, just before her last win at Kirkee on the 25th of last month, has also old Expert and that grand looking pony Jessoor, who, however, has so far failed to fulfil the high opinion formed of him when first he landed on these shores.

Major Edwards, one of the oldest riders on the Bombay side, has two very fetching animals in Quickstep and Daimya.

Colonel Eccles is sending up the speedy Lady Betty, Rocket and Pomfret. The Reverend, belonging to Mr. MacSwiney, and Mr. Cooper's Duldul, who finished third in the last Army Cup, are looking fit.

Influenza is very prevalent among horses at Ootacamund just now, and in Madras coughs and colds are reported to be epidemic.

The Hon. Mr. A. A. Apcar has bought Great Scot, an Australian three-year-old of great promise and some performance.

The following paragraph about the starting gate, culled from a home exchange, does not, fortunately, describe with any accuracy the working of the gate in India. Says the writer :—"One drawback to starting with the machine which has not up to the present been sufficiently insisted upon is the circumstance that the majority of the horses jump off sideways. It thus happens that 'cannons' are of frequent occurrence, and some day one of these may lead to a fatality. At Leicester the other day young Cole, a son of the Exton trainer, was knocked off his horse by a rival competitor, and in the event of a jockey getting 'hung up' in the stirrup under such conditions it is easy to guess what would happen. The fact is, of course, that horses cannot start properly when standing, and unless some method can be perfected of walking them up to the webbing, accidents of a more or less serious nature are certain to continue to happen."

An Open Gymkhana Meeting is advertised by the Lucknow Executive for the 16th instant.

Lucknow will soon say good-bye to the 5th Dragoon Guards, who are under orders for South Africa. They are a fine sporting lot and will be much missed in the station.

Our Poona correspondent writes :—We are getting through the hot weather marvellously well. When we feel inclined to criticize the thermometer we read of Calcutta heat with its attendant terrors of sunstroke and apoplexy and console ourselves. Our gallant gunner friends at Kirkee too have helped to while away the time with their little Gymkhana meetings, admirably managed and a great success in every way, and it is certainly a most healthy spirit of the times to see so many G. R's. "taking silk," even if the skill displayed is possibly not quite of the very highest order. The true sporting spirit is, however, undoubted and the quality of ponies distinctly above the average of Gymkhana race meetings.

Several men and a few ponies are starting for Mahableshwar's heights for the sporting little race meeting which is one of the leading features of the Olympian week, and those keen spirits who have not had enough of it go on from there to Belgaum for the small meeting which is a relic of former greatness, of days when some Judge Macpherson was, I am told, a power in the land of the Southern Mahrattas.

It is a remarkable thing what food for reflection is afforded to the ordinary lay public by the erudite proceedings of City Fathers in all parts of the world. The mere perusal of their wit and wisdom is oftentimes an education in itself. Sipping knowledge from my Local Thunderer as I sipped my morning tea I naturally perused with interest the wisdom of the Solomons who rule cantonment affairs. One of the subjects was the time-honoured one of taxation and an honourable member with a grand originality suggested that race-horses though stabled outside cantonment limits are "constantly being taken up and down the roads in cantonments" and that consequently it was hard they should not pay a tax. Another distinguished member endorsed the idea. The one he

A DELICIOUS SMOKE
SPENCER & CO., LD.,
MADRAS.

TORPEDOS SPECIAL.

MILD WITH
PLEASANT AROMA.
OBTAINABLE FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

considered was aggravated from the fact that many of these horses were ridden along the rides in cantonments and when one went out riding "the chances were that one of these animals would be met backing along sideways into you until you had a toss." "Backing along sideways" is good. Another injustice to oppressed Ireland! I don't know much of the mysteries of racing and race-horses, but with the utmost deference to the opinions of our local law-maker it seems to me that racing and race-horses must bring such a flood of wealth into Poona cantonments that the triviality of a petty taxation on them might well be ignored, and if the horsemanship of the Poona public is at such a low ebb that they cannot pull the correct rudder string at the critical moment and steer away from the wicked race-horse "backing along sideways" then (as an unbiased devotee of the gentle bike) I cannot help thinking that it is the sadly unaccomplished equestrian so graphically described and not the poor race-horse that is the real source of danger to the public and should in consequence be doubly taxed. It did not therefore surprise me inordinately when I read a little lower down that the question "was then allowed to drop!"

Admirers of the gentle art of self-defence are anticipating a great intellectual treat between the 18th and 23rd of May, when in the Annual Boxing Competition the chivalry of the officers, N.-C. O's and men of the Regular Army, Navy, Marines and Volunteer Corps in India will have an opportunity of proving their claims to championship honours. Arrangements are in the skilled hands of Captain Lewis and prospects of a large entry are at present most flattering. It is earnestly to be hoped that there will be no difficulty in obtaining a thoroughly competent referee, without which the chance of a completely successful issue is always hazardous, and thoroughly competent referees like poets are born, not manufactured. Captain Gordon, who is an ideal one (referee, not poet,) is unhappily, I believe, not available, the sea claiming his services. It is also devoutly to be wished that the officers' competitions will not absolutely collapse for want of sufficient entries, as was the case last year.

The following ominous warning has graced our daily news sheet:—

NOTICE.

Will the person who has decoyed away and tied up a white long haired terrier bitch with brown ears and one brown eye, answering to the name of "Vic" let her loose to save further unpleasantness.

SHYLOCK.

No alternative suggestion, be it noted, of "Lost" or "Strayed" and a discreet fencing with the usually accepted third possibility. No reflection on the fidelity of the loved Vic with the one brown optic "Decoyed away and tied up" is the accusation. Shylock, as of old, claims his bit of flesh and one can only trust that he will recover it without the spilling of one drop of blood. But the reference to "further unpleasantness" scarcely breathes of peace.

Mr. W. Hawkins, the well-known and deservedly popular horse importer of "Kia Ora," Garden Reach, Calcutta, left for New Zealand on Tuesday last and expects to be back again with another big shipment in November.

Our Lucknow correspondent writes:—The only event likely to be of any interest to your readers this week is the third paperchase, which came off on Thursday. The field was not as good as usual, owing to the absence of the officers of the 5th Dragoon Guards. Still there must have been about a score ready to do their best to overcome the various difficulties provided for their discomfiture by Major Fanshawe, who made the course. Among those I saw were Mrs. John Jackson, Mrs. Ryves, Miss Williams, Miss Porter, Captain Davis, and Messrs. Fremantle, Jackson, Johnson, Meadows, Montgomery, Robinson, Smithe, Stanley and Story. The course was an excellent one, with some rather ticklish jumps; the wind, too, rendered the task of the riders none the easier. Eventually Mr. Montgomery came in first, a couple of fences ahead of everybody else. After the run, the Officers, R. A. Mess, were "At Home," and the long drinks were by no means unwelcome.

Though not concerned with matters commercial, we heartily congratulate those who have so pluckily carried out the sugar-growing industry in Tirhoot to a successful conclusion. Planting cane means more pigs; prosperity spells more planters; and while Western India has lately been moaning over the decadence of "sticking" the triumph of the men of Ottur will go far towards reviving sport in the Garden of Bengal. Once more we may hope to witness gatherings equal to those of forty years ago; even the crumbling vats in Lower Bengal that some one wrote about lately may rise Phœnix-like from their ashes, though in a different form, and the sport be reinstated in all its pristine glories.

A correspondent writes to the Madras Mail on the subject of "hares and plague" as follows:—

"Can any of your sporting readers inform me whether they have ever known hares to be affected with plague? On this property, up till very recently, hares were numerous, but lately it is hard to see one. Almost all have disappeared. I have come across several dead ones lately, but as they were partly eaten, I attributed their death to wild dogs or jackals. In course of conversation with a coolie, he told me he had found two dead hares yesterday. They too were partly eaten. I mentioned this again later on to other coolies, and one of them told me he had also come across several. He also cautioned his coolie bearers against partaking of hares they found dead, although they might look fresh, when found; for, said he. 'you'll find buboes on their neck, their mouths more or less filled with blood, and their eyes blood-shot.' He had, he said, partaken of the first hare that he found, but a few days afterwards had been attacked with fever, and had also had a slight attack of plague. I wonder if anyone else has had the same experience."

M. Paul Belloni Du Chaillu, the discoverer of the gorilla and the pigmies, and one of our most brilliant Equatorial African explorers, died at the end of last month. Besides his fame as a scientist and traveller he will long be remembered as the author of some of the most charming books on travel ever written.

We are glad to hear that Mr. C. M. Moore, whose encounter with a bear we reported in our last issue, has made an unusually speedy recovery and is now practically out of the doctor's hands. Apparently the mauling he received was not so bad as it was at first represented to be.

Last week Mr. Collins of the Neduvattam quinine factory in the Nilgiris had a piece of luck which seldom falls to sportsmen in spite of the best of bundobusts. On the 30th ultimo, a pony was missed by an employée of the factory and on enquiry it was said to have been carried off by a tiger. Mr. Collins followed up the tracks and in the jungle discovered four tigers making a meal of the missing animal. He put in three shots out of a single barrel ·400 cordite rifle and secured three of the tigers—a splendid feat.

A special general meeting of the Colombo Turf Club is to be held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, when Mr. F. C. Allen will propose that the report of the Sub-Committee upon the adoption of the Calcutta Turf Club Rules be confirmed, with the exception of the portion relating to rules of measurement, and that in the opinion of the meeting the Calcutta Rules of Measurement be also adopted, power being given to the Stewards to make such alterations as may be obviously necessary to suit local conditions and that the Secretary be directed to print the Rules forthwith.

Mr. Leslie Porter, Commissioner of Lucknow, has just returned from a successful shoot in Nepal, his bag including six tigers, two leopards and a bear.

An underhand chopping match between E. R. Terry, of New South Wales, and R. Featherstone, of the West Coast, took place in Tasmania on 21st ultimo. The contest was for £25 aside, through 18-inch blocks. Featherstone was favourite. At the word "Go" Featherstone was the first to strike wood, and was also the first to turn. Eventually he won by two blows. Terry had the misfortune to overbalance, and thus lost time, but to compensate for this Featherstone had to return to his opening scarf before severing his block. Time—1min. 47⅕secs.

Athletic Notes.

THE Poona Boxing Tournament promises well: entries are very good and with Major-General Burnett and Captain Lewis on the spot, its success seems to be assured. A beginning will be made on the 18th instant.

Our Bombay correspondent writes:—Some excellent racing was witnessed in connection with the weekly races held on Saturday by the Royal Bombay Yacht Club. As per usual, the programme comprised three events—during the past month or two the races for ships' boats have always fallen through owing to the fact that the Indian Defence Squadron has been abandoned, and there being only one ship of the East Indies Squadron (H. M. S. Pomone) at present in Bombay harbour. An exceptionally fresh breeze was blowing on Saturday, which gave the hard breeze boats an opportunity of showing their merits. The first race started at 2-45, when six yachts of the "A" class went away well together, the course being to South Karanja Buoy, on which mark Forella had a good lead, followed by Sapphire, Turquoise, and Stella together. In the beat to Sunk Rock, Forella maintained her lead. Melody's foresail blew away shortly afterwards, also carrying away her main sheet block stop, and she consequently had to retire from the race. The Stella on this beat carried away her bobstay which naturally considerably handicapped her for the remainder of the race. The corrected times of finishing were as follows:—Sapphire (4mins. 53secs. handicap), entered by Capt. R. S Muter, R E., and Mr. R. H. H. Hopkins, 1 hr. 47mins. 10secs.; Turquoise (4min. 53secs.), Mr. C. A. R. Crommelin, 1hr. 47mins. 22secs.; Nanta (16mins. 35secs.), Commander Beauchamp, R.I.M., 1hr. 47mins. 40secs; Forella (scratch), Mr. C. T. R. Scovell, 1hr. 49mins. 4secs.; and Stella (3mins. 54secs.), Col. H. W. Boyd, I.M.S., 1hr. 51mins. 4secs. The "B" class race started at 3 P. M., the order of crossing the line being:—Mannikin, Pixie, Sayonara, Trixie, and Janetta. The first mark was Tucker Benson, which was first rounded by the Pixie. A heavy broken sea was here experienced, which was rather too much for the Sayonara, who gave up. In the beat to the N.-W. Red Channel Buoy Janetta passed Pixie and Trixie, but carried away her bobstay. In spite of this, however, she succeeded in rounding the Red Buoy one minute ahead of Trixie and three minutes before Pixie, Mannikin following five minutes behind. There was no further change in the order, and the corrected times of finishing were as follows:—Janetta, entered by the officers of the Royal Engineers, 1hr. 42mins. 49secs.; Trixie, Mr. A. M. Monteath, 1hr. 44mins. 36secs; Pixie, Mr. E. R. Smetham, 1hr. 50mins. 2secs; and Mannikin, officers of the Royal Artillery, 1hr. 57mins. 17secs. In the Tomtit class race, which started at 3-15, there were only three competitors. The Tomtit was first over the line, followed by Lapwing and Meg. Rounding Sunk Rock Tomtit still maintained the lead, Meg being close behind, and Lapwing following a minute afterwards. Owing to the roughness of the sea the course to South Karanja Buoy proved a somewhat trying one to these small boats which rolled very heavily in the cross-swell. That mark was rounded without change in order and the times of arrival home were:—Tomtit, Dr. F. M. Gibson, 4hr. 54mins. 15secs; Meg, Mr. C. H. Byrne, 4hrs. 56mins. 4secs; and Lapwing, Mr. E. C. Richards, 4hrs. 50mins. and 6secs. There was a special race on Wednesday for yachts with Y. R. A. time allowances. Four boats were entered, but of these one, the Forella, did not start. The race, which was started at 2-15, was over a course of nearly sixteen miles, the wind being from W. S. W. and fresh to light in strength. The following are the corrected times of finishing—Sapphire (6mins. 48secs.), entered by Capt. R. S. Muter, R.E., and Mr. R. H. H. Hopkins, 2hrs. 55mins. 28secs.; Melody (15mins. 30secs.), Mr. Bernard Triggs, 2hrs. 57mins. 9secs.; and Turquoise (3mins. 45secs.), Mr. C. A. R. Crommelin, 2hrs. 57mins. 55secs.

I am glad to be able to state that good progress continues to be made with the scheme for sending a team of Native Indian cricketers to England next year. The question of finances promises to be easily settled, and what is of most importance at the present moment is to ensure that the team shall be thoroughly representative. Mr. F. E. Lacey, the Secretary of the M. C. C., has written to the Committee saying he will have much pleasure in bring-

SPENCER'S

No. 1, 4½ ins. long, Rs.16 per 1,000.
„ 2, 4 „ „ „ 15 „ 1,000.
„ 3, 3½ „ „ „ 14 „ 1 000.

JAVAS

SPENCER'S
OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

ing the matter before his Committee, and adding that he may with confidence say that they will welcome a visit from native cricketers of India, and will be prepared to do anything they can to contribute to its success. Then Lord Harris, who always took a warm interest in native cricket during his term as Governor of Bombay, has sent the Committee a long letter in which he says:—"You may be perfectly certain that I will do my best to help you, and if it can be done I shall be delighted to see the team over here, if for no other reason because you have been able to sink caste and religious differences, and therefore, able to get together, or, I hope so, the best team possible." H. H. the Aga Khan, with his customary liberality, has promised the handsome sum of £350 sterling towards the Guarantee Fund in addition to which H. H. the Maharajah of Mysore, Sir Dinshaw Petit, Bart, Mr. Dinshaw Bomanjee Petit, Mr. J. N. Tata, and others have all promised subscriptions as well as large sums towards the Guarantee Fund. From this it will be seen that the scheme has thoroughly "caught on," and barring any untoward and unforeseen circumstances the proposed tour will certainly be carried out. The services of B. Jayaram and A. H. Mehta will, it is firmly believed, be utilised in all the matches, and there are good hopes of including K. S. Ranjitsingji in the team for the more important matches.

Hockey is now in full swing in Bombay, and judging by the large number of spectators who line the Cooperage of an evening, the popularity of the game appears to have in no way diminished—in my opinion it seems to be on the increase. From Mr. P. J. Arnot, the Honorary Secretary of the Aga Khan Tournament, which will start on 18th May, I learn that the tournament of 1903 promises to in no way fall short of those of previous years. It will be remembered that last year the Cup was won by the Shropshire Light Infantry from Poona, but they will be unable to compete this year, having proceeded to England. Quite a number of friendly games have been played during the past week. A night or two since the Cathedral "Old Boys," who, I understand, intend making a big effort to regain the Aga Khan's Cup this year—they won it in 1901—met a team of the Bombay Gymkhana, who have at last turned out. It cannot be said, however, that the team which the latter put in the field was by any means a representative one, and the wonder to me is that they were not beaten by a bigger margin than four goals, by which their opponents won. In the first half the game was fairly evenly contested, the "Old Boys" crossing over with a lead of one goal to nil. In the second moiety, however, the boys had all the best of matters, and eventually run out winners by four goals to nil. Another very interesting game was that between the "Old Boys" and the North Staffordshire Regiment, who appear to be a very good sporting lot. When the whistle sounded half-time the "Old Boys" were leading by three goals to one, but after changing ends the soldiers were responsible for some excellent play, and were frequently on the attack. In the end, however, the "Old Boys" won by five goals to four.

A most promising shot-putter has been discovered in America. This is what a Yankee paper says of him:—

"A phenomenal shot-putter has been unearthed at Harvard, and his prowess at propelling the 16-pound iron sphere has set partisans of the track team at Cambridge wild with joy. The new heavy-weight tosser is Frank P. Schoenfuss, a junior, and formerly of Roxbury Latin School. Even before entering Harvard Schoenfuss showed his adaptability as a weight-thrower, but since being coached by John Graham he has shown greater improvement. In an unofficial trial a few days ago the embryo champion sent the 16lb. ball the grand distance of 44ft. 6ins. These figures easily eclipse the former Harvard record held by Chester Robinson. The best inter-Collegiate record is 44ft. 3ins. by Fred. Beck, of Yale—figures which seem to be easily at the mercy of the Harvard man, if everything about him proves to be all right. He has nearly three months to practice for the I.C.A.A.A.A. Championship and should he improve with the progress which has marked his work since he came to Cambridge there is no knowing how far he will send the 16lbs. on 30th May. The addition of Schoenfuss to the Harvard team will strengthen her where she was supposed to be lamentably weak."

It will be noticed that the writer speaks of Schoenfuss propelling the 16lb. iron sphere. This is wrong, because in the States they use a leaden implement. He is also described as "the new heavy weight tosser," and as "a weight thrower." The 16lb. shot is not a heavy weight, and "throwing weights" is altogether different from putting a shot.

We give elsewhere full details of the recent Boxing tournament at Bangalore, which was a most pronounced success.

The Calcutta Swimming Club opened its season last Friday evening with the two lengths Novices' Handicap, which was won by Mr. A. S. B. Siddons. Full details will be found in the usual place.

We are glad to find that entries for the forthcoming Calcutta Rowing Club Regatta are good; there are now three crews in for the Class Fours, five crews for the Two Pairs and we shall not be surprised if the entries for the Junior Sculls are bigger than they have ever been. There has not been very much practice yet, but we shall doubtless see the various crews hard at it between this and the 23rd instant.

We are indebted to the Honorary Secretary of the Calcutta Football League for a complete list of the season's fixtures, which we publish in our issue of to-day.

Private Andrews, of the Essex Regiment, issues a boxing challenge, to all South India, twenty-five rounds, bar Gunner Lacey of the 58th Battery, R.F.A. Andrews is an excellent man, but was not fit at the boxing competition.

Our Hockey readers will be interested to know that the Captain of the English International Hockey team, J. W. Horne, was born in Calcutta and is the son of Mr. J. Horne, well known in Calcutta commercial circles. He went home when a little fellow, hardly able to see over the top of a Hockey stick, but the questionable disadvantage of being born in the tropics has not prevented him from being Captain of the Cambridge Hockey team in 1902, and successfully captaining the English International team against Wales, Ireland, and Scotland this year.

A copy of the Calcutta Football League Handbook, a neat little booklet, well turned out by the Edinburgh Press, has been sent us by the Honorary Secretary, Mr. E. E. Rope. The book gives us a list of the Committee, rules of the League competition, its results since 1898, laws of the game, a plan of the field and the League fixtures for 1903. The price of the book to the general public is four annas.

Just as we go to press we hear that the 79th R.G.A. have scratched from the Calcutta League; but as the Y.M.C.A. will now come in and take over all their fixtures, the fixture card will not be entirely upset.

Our Bombay correspondent writes:—There was a capital breeze blowing on Saturday when the Royal Bombay Yacht Club carried out three races under excellent conditions. The class A handicap was over a 9½ mile course and Mr. C. A. R. Crommelin's Turquoise was first, 19 seconds ahead of the Sapphire, owned by Captain R. S. Muter and Mr. R. H. H. Hopkins, whilst Mr. Bernard Triggs sailed the Melody into third place. In the class B race over 7·1 miles, the Janetta, from scratch, sailed by Royal Engineer Officers won easily, Mr. A. M. Monteath's Trixie being second and Mr. C. G. Nomico's Sayonara third. The Tomtits had a 5·7 mile course and Mr. C. H. Byrne's Meg beat Dr. F. M. Gibson's Tomtit by a minute and a half.

JAMES PYMM.
TURF ACCOUNTANT,
5, Wellesley Place, Calcutta.
Established 1890.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BEER.
ASK FOR PABST BEER
Sub-Agents.
A. H. WHEELER & Co., Bombay.
SPENCER & Co. Ld., Madras.
MURRAY & Co. Ld., Lucknow.
G. F. Kellner & Co., Calcutta and Branches.
DAVENPORT & Co., Calcutta,
Sole Agents & Importers.

T. Assheton-Smith, M.R.C.V.S. (Lond.),
SPECIALIST IN THE TREATMENT
. . OF . .
TROPICAL DISEASES
. . OF . .
THE HORSE AND DOG.
184, Dharamtala Street, Calcutta.

EROOM & CO.,
CALCUTTA.

The N.-W. Soap Co., Ld.,
CALCUTTA & MEERUT,
MANUFACTURE
Three Leading Lines in Soap.
MOLINE
PERFECT FOR THE TOILET.
ELYSIUM
BEST FOR HOUSEHOLD USE.
AURORA
FAMILY TOILET, CHEAP & GOOD
ALSO
BEST CANDLES.
ASK THE MERCHANT
With whom you deal for these Articles

AN EXCELLENT SMOKE
. . WITH . .
DELICATE AROMA.
OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.

GOLD MOHUR BOUQUETS

SPENCER & CO., LD., Madras.
Factory: Dindigul.
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

General Notes.

CAPTAIN LYGON, who left for England last week, has been succeeded as A.-D.-C. to the Governor of Madras by Mr. Thompson, R.A., from St. Thomas' Mount.

Owing to the spread of plague this year Government has acquiesced in the decision of the executive of the Calcutta Municipality not to decrease the plague staff in Calcutta at present.

We are glad to hear that Mr. W. H. Cobb, to whose accident while pigsticking we referred in a recent issue, has recovered sufficiently to be able to proceed to Bombay en route for England.

Calcutta has been submerged in a heat wave for several days; the temperature has been over 107° in the shade, the highest point reached at this season of the year for some considerable time.

Mr. Clarence Kirkpatrick, a pleader, has brought a summons against Mr. Pike, late Editor of the Morning Post, for defamation by furnishing the report of the case of the Delhi Cotton Mills, published in the Pioneer of the 24th April.

Another water famine seems to be threatening Simla owing to the failure of the winter snow and rain; let us hope the monsoon will arrive early, as predicted, and avert a repetition of the discomfort which is still vivid in the memory of many good Simlaites.

Lieutenant-Colonel A. C. Yate has gone to Simla under orders from the Military authorities. Luckily for him the Afghans did not make him the subject of one of his own Ambulance lectures. He has been told to submit a report which many people await with interest.

Bombay lost an old and prominent resident last Saturday in the death of Mr. C. W. L. Jackson, clerk of the Insolvency Court. He was going home for his health, which had been in a precarious state for some time, but died immediately after being placed on the steamer.

Madam Agnes Freid, the Californian nightingale, is now in Simla, where she intends giving some concerts. Madam Freid has a great reputation in America as a dramatic soprano and is now touring in the East. She has met with great success in Southern India, appearing before Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Ampthill, the Maharajah of Mysore and several other distinguished personages.

The general rejoicings in France over the visit of King Edward to Paris have found a mild reflection out here. Pondicherry, Karikal and Mahé were en fete last week, while our neighbours at Chandernagore indulged in a spontaneous exhibition of good will towards England, in which everybody in the settlement, from the school girls to the soldiery and the fishermen to Monsieur le Gouverneur, took part.

There was considerable excitement in the Patiala Jail last week. Some of the prisoners surprised the head warder and having pinioned him brought him down. A general skirmish followed between the escaping prisoners and the guards, resulting in two of the jail birds being shot. The Inspector-General of Police, Mr. Warburton, was soon on the spot and having recaptured the escaped prisoners, restored order.

Mr. C. S. Murray, C.I.E., District Superintendent of Police, died of heart failure at the ball held at the Amusement Club, Darjeeling, on the 4th instant, after the Flower Show. Mrs. Murray was at the dance. The deceased had taken an active part in the arrangements for the Flower Show and seemed to be in the best of health. The Law Courts and Clubs were closed and current social engagements were postponed. The funeral was on Wednesday and was attended by His Honor and Staff and all Civil officers.

The Darjeeling Flower Show, held on the 4th instant, was a great success, the exhibits being good and well arranged. There was a large number of visitors including H. H. the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Bourdillon. The Band of the West Riding enlivened the proceedings. The principal prize winners are: J. Morganstein, for the best show of plants: R. D. Mackie, for best rose of show and orchids and best cactus: Misses Walsh and Marindin, prize for children's arrangements of flowers: Mrs. Searight, for a lovely basket of roses; Miss Wernicke, for a fine bouquet of red roses; and Mrs. Sarman, first in table decoration.

Full report in our next issue.

London Week by Week.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Friday, 17th April 1903.

AFTER one tantalising glimpse of spring we have got the winter back again; an overdue instalment of January, which is destroying our flowers and tempers and making things generally unpleasant. Monday, the Bank holiday, brought a snowstorm as a gentle reminder to those who snatched at the beginning of the cricket season at the Oval that the second week of April is better suited for football than the summer game. Wednesday night brought frost and six inches of snow was reported from Scotland. People who went out of town for Easter have come back growling to their own firesides to growl more loudly at the convention which requires house painting and cleaning to be done at this time of year: a process which involves open windows and no fires with the temperature at 30 degrees or thereabouts and half a gale blowing from the north. For myself I have put my foot down upon that annual curse they call spring cleaning. I have no objection to spring cleaning in the summer or autumn while I am away. The sharer of my sorrows points out that spring cleaning must be done when winter is over: whereto I reply that when she is sure winter is over she shall spring-clean. Can she answer for it that this year's Derby shall not be run in a snowstorm? No. Then until the last possible snowstorm is over it is manifestly impossible to assert we are clear of winter. She yields to this argument. I can never be sufficiently thankful for that snowy Derby day: it is a pillar of strength in the maintenance of domestic comfort: and I live in hopes of a snowstorm being soon vouchsafed us in Goodwood week.

* * * * * *

Concerning matters domestic, I have been watching with unsympathetic interest the progress of an experiment made by adventurous neighbours. The Great Servant Difficulty lay so heavily upon them that at last they embarked on the experiment some few other people have tried—Lady Servants, two of them, who undertook to do all the work of their small house. It is interesting. B. was delighted with them at first (and certainly the young lady who plays at "Home parlour maid" is very nice looking), but he seems to be discovering drawbacks in ratio with their stay; if I happen ever to smoke a pipe with B. at any time its even betting that he or Mrs. B. opens the door "because Miss Mary must be tired with so much running about." B. is a neat man, but he couldn't bear the idea of a lady blacking his boots; he tried it himself, but fell back next day and ever after on the shoe black at South Kensington Station or the Temple. Then a Lady couldn't carry the coals upstairs so B. helped till the luminous idea of getting in a boy for a couple of hours every morning struck him and solved at a stroke that difficulty and the boot cleaning business.

* * * * * *

The B.'s are quite satisfied with Miss Mary (they call them "Miss"), B. particularly so—she really is a pretty girl—but I hear murmurs about the cooking. It seems that if Miss Jane had known what the interior of a fowl was like she would never have taken up the job: and B. is eloquent on the money he has had to spend on "Kitchen truck" since she came. Their Lady Servants are become the B.s' one topic of conversation, Jane's appetite, Mary's eyelashes (Mrs. B. doesn't encourage B. to enlarge on this), their little treats, their sitting room furniture: the propriety of letting Mary use the piano (B. Aye: Mrs. B. No; self-appealed to as arbitrator): should B. take off his hat to them if he meets them out? These matters will settle themselves in time perhaps, but an unforeseen difficulty has just arisen. Can Mrs. B. go away to Ireland for a fortnight leaving B. alone with those two—meaning that one? It is a delicate case; and has been complicated by B.'s unsolicited promise to "keep Miss Mary up to the mark in her dusting."

Professor Fleming has been conducting a series of experiments with the view of ascertaining whether there be truth in the objection that the "bellow of a Marconi shore station" will smother the cry of a ship in distress signalling Marconi-wise to the shore. It was only reasonable to suppose that a "wave" powerful enough to find its way in intelligible shape across the Atlantic would play havoc with the weaker wave cast upon the mercy of the air by a ship: but the experiments, most carefully made by cross-messages from stations quitting waves, one 280 times stronger than the other, prove that the more powerful waves do not in the least impair the weaker that come in their way. The more we learn about the Marconi system the more mysterious do its ways become: but Professor Fleming's experiments are a great score for the serograph, or whatever you please to call it.

* * * * * *

Mr. George J. Henderson's statement that a Universal Language is coming within the sphere of practical things, and that Hindustani, which has made itself the lingua franca of 300 millions in the East, is "a very good type of the sort of language which many people in Europe are finding more and more necessary," opens up a world of interesting possibilities. Are we to adopt the vernacular as our daily speech, to be understanded of all men? Will it be taught in our wonderful Board Schools? Say Editorjee, what is "Pipar! Latess' 'deeshun!" in the vernacular: or "H'áll the winnurs!"? Methinks I hear the dustman pleading in fluent Urdu (Essex accent) with the cook (South Irish accent) to bring me the subscription book for the "Day in the Country" collection made by the member of his useful if soiled fraternity. Joy! A silver lining appears. We adopt the lingua franca of the East and the habitual speakers thereof adopt us! We shall have our Bengali and Madrasi servants to replace English State-educated incompetence. Let Hindustani (jungle pattern) forthwith come first on the curriculum of the elementary Board Schools.

* * * * * *

Of dramatic news there is little this week, but what there is has interest. Miss Ellen Terry made her début as managerss on Wednesday at Mrs. Langtry's theatre, the Imperial. The piece she has selected for her new enterprise is Ibsen's "The Vikings," period tenth century, scene Island of Helgeland (?): tone strenuous, not to say quarrelsome. There is heaps of bloodshed. Viking society was much in the habit of conveying hints with the spear and contradicting error with the battle axe; and before the curtain falls there is every indication that the Helgeland undertaking profession is in a fair way to fortune. The play is impressive in a melodramatic way and has more interest than such far-fetched historico-legendary things can generally boast. We are in the atmosphere of muscular virility: the gentleman who can hit hardest is the best man; hence the action hinges on the prowess of Sigurd the strong, Sea King (Mr. Oscar Asche) and Gunnar, a yeoman. Gunnar would marry Hiordis (Miss Ellen Terry), but her virgin bower was guarded by a white bear, and Gunnar was not partial to shikar. So Sigurd, the strong and obliging, slew the bear, and Gunnar took the credit of the achievement and married Hiordis. The truth comes out some years after at a party given by Hiordis and everybody who respect himself lays down his spoon and fork and starts in with his battle axe—Viking manners really left much to be desired.

* * * * * *

Hiordis, who has been boasting about the strength and courage of her husband as proved by his slaughter, she has supposed, of the white bear, has no weapons, so she goes way from the table to manufacture bow and arrow to kill Sigurd, the object being apparently to make Gunnar the strongest man in Helgeland by the Arcadian process of elimination, for Sigurd it appears was really the only man she ever loved. Sigurd tells Hiordis that she is the only woman he ever loved, and she would have eloped with him had Sigurd not developed a sense of propriety much in advance of his age and declined. So Hiordis shoots him to the end that they twain may reign as King and Queen in Vallialla: Sigurd baulks her by professing Christianity while he his dying: and Hiordis to avoid "a single life" in Vallialla drowns herself. The play stops there for the sufficient reason that most of the players are dead by this time. The piece—or Miss Ellen Terry—was very well received; the staging and dressing alone justified a cordial reception, but the part of a loud-mouthed virago does not

SPENCER'S CIGARS ARE OBTAINABLE AT MESSRS. BEWLAYS'.
Establishments 49, 74, 77 & 156, Strand, W.C.; 143, Cheapside, E.C.; 55, Queen Victoria Street, E.C.;
5, First Avenue Hotel Buildings, Holborn, W.C.; and 90B., Regent Street, London, W.

BY SPECIAL ROYAL WARRANT.

To His Majesty The King and Her Late Majesty Queen Victoria.

DEWAR'S

THE ONLY

SCOTCH WHISKY DISTILLERS

DIRECTLY REPRESENTED

IN THE EAST.

Why pay Middlemen's Profits when you can purchase from Direct Producers at bedrock prices.

NOTE.— All Whisky Bottled under Bond IN SCOTLAND under Government Supervision.

FOR FULL PARTICULARS APPLY

DIRECT BRANCH

OF PERTH HOUSE,

10, Hare Street, CALCUTTA.

LARGEST SALE

OF ANY

Scotch Whisky in the World.

best suit the most popular of actresses, and I have never liked Miss Ellen Terry so little.

* * * * * *

Having regard to the monstrous deficiencies of our educational methods from the 'Varsities down to the Kindergarten it is truly wonderful that our country manages to get along at all. I am moved to this reflection by perusal of much-animated correspondence which has been flooding the papers—somehow one never hears the subject discussed at the club or dinner table—and from which it appears our methods are, and always have been, radically wrong. The general complaint is that youth, heedless, ill taught youth, contrives to leave school, public or private, with his ability for forgetting what he has learned better developed than anything else. He emerges free from the clinging taint of Latin and Greek, innocent of French and German, a child in English composition and arithmetic and with his mind a blank concerning History, Geography and Science: the supposition being that his poor father has paid heavily to have all these things rubbed into him. The writers of newspaper letters want this changed, "reformed" is the proper word: they want Modern Methods substituted: I don't glean what Modern Methods are exactly, but gather that that way lies regeneration, a New Manhood and a noble contempt for such vanities as athletics and games. What do the reformers want? We seem to be at the top already among the nations and the best of everything is good enough for most of us. It never seems to strike these ardent souls with their craving for educational betterment that far more depends on the horse than the stable. They say that we are falling behind in commerce. Well? I know an old gentleman at this hour who is enjoying a self-made income of between £60,000 and £70,000 a year. He never writes a note without a pocket dictionary at hand and couldn't tell you offhand when William the Conqueror came over to save his fortune, but if I wanted sound advice on any practical affair of life, I would go to him rather than to all the dons and school men in England in conclave assembled.

* * * * * *

There are signs in the London streets that the day of the lighter draught horse is passing. Coming home late from the theatre a few nights ago I was struck by the number of carts piled high with vegetables bound for Covent Garden market which were drawn by baby traction engines in place of horses. Many of these carts come from the outer suburbs of London and make nightly journeys of from 12 to 15 miles into the heart of the town, and are no doubt better served by engines than horses. I am bound to say that they are better behaved than motor cars: they are neither noisy nor evil smelling, and their pace is not four miles an hour. A motorist assure me a day or two ago, by the way, that the great obstacle to the general adoption of these economities, is the fact that the annual cost of upkeep is very little short of the original cost of the car: what with tyres, petrol, wages and other expenses his £500 car costs him about £450 a year!

ONLOOKER.

Review.

THE "ZOOS" OF EUROPE.

MR. C. V. A. PEEL conceived the idea of making a tour of all the Zoological Gardens in Europe and this book is the result of his enterprise. The warning conveyed in his preface, that inasmuch as these institutions are much alike, and monotony of description is therefore unavoidable, would hardly be needed by the least thoughtful reader; but when Mr. Peel tells us that the "chief thought that has occurred to me as the result of my tour is that we in England take little interest in the breeding and acclimatization of wild animals" as compared with the Germans, he prepares us for more information on this head than his pages afford. His silence is no doubt due to the fact that the German language is a closed book to him; what he acquired through the eye is excellent, discriminating, and well considered; but his ignorance of the language explains his silence on an important feature of zoological gardening, if we may use the expression. He learned various things which he has set down for the guidance of those who will be guided. The care with which nearly all Continental directorates endeavour to attract the public, for example, is well worthy of consideration: money, money, money is the foundation stone of zoological enterprise! and if concerts and amusements bring grist to the mill in the first place the cash taken at the gates goes to improve the collection and the housing of beast and bird. Perhaps the new régime promised at Regent's Park will see something more done in this direction: it is idle to say, as the narrow-minded say, that Zoological Gardens are "not the place" for music and café chantant; we hear the same objection to the side shows which draw the public to the great agricultural shows which the sterner among the brethren insist should not be "degraded" even by the performances of a band.

In regard to the housing of animals Mr. Peel has some interesting and very valuable remarks to offer. The experience of Continental zoological gardeners demonstrates that even for tropical animals fresh air is a far more important matter than heat, once the strangers are become acclimatized: when we hear of monkeys playing on the snow and thriving we recognise that a close vitiated atmosphere is not the ideal climate for beasts which are liable to lung diseases.

It is curious to hear that though public generosity is so freely displayed towards zoological gardens on the Continent "great cruelty is inflicted by underfeeding these large pachyderms, some of the elephants being wretchedly thin and emaciated. In one case an Indian elephant was receiving four pounds of wheat cake only a day. No wonder he had turned into the savage brute he was." Mr. Peel does not mention what ration of hay was given besides this four pounds a day, which would hardly satisfy a large and hungry English navvy.

Of all the gardens visited by the author the Jardin d'Acclimatation at Paris is directed on the most catholic lines. The scope of its utility travels far from zoological education but the existence of the riding school is perhaps a natural and practical outcome of the collection of horses and ponies, 250 in number, which represent half the breeds of the world. Dogs of various breeds stand there for service and a good business is done in puppies, as is also the case in domestic and ornamental fowls. The Antwerp Zoo, which possesses a huge collection of birds makes, as we happen to know, a large profit on the sale of specimens. The German Zoo keeper appears to be as objectionable a character as the German official in any other department. On several occasions Mr. Peel's camera was taken away from him and impounded for reasons know only to the keeper himself. Possibly the author omitted to try the effect of backsheesh. Where he was allowed to use his camera he made excellent use of it and obtained some admirable pictures.

He deals with the historical side of his subject in many cases, and it is noteworthy that some of the most flourishing Continental gardens owe their origin to the enterprise of some individual animal lover who began his collection unaided. The history of the Paris collections is necessarily the most eventful in view of the siege during the Franco-German war which forced the Parisians to eat the inhabitants of the gardens. Elephants, camels, giraffes, hippos, lions, bears and antelopes—everything that could be eaten was killed and lion and hippo meat among others sold at 25 francs the pound.

The book may be a little disappointing to the scientific man, but it serves a useful purpose in giving the average reader a very good idea of the extent and management of Continental zoological collections.

The Zoological Gardens of Europe. By C. V. A. Peel. F. E. Robinson & Co.

Shikar.

WITH CANOE AND RIFLE IN THE SHAN STATES.

I.

IN 189—I determined to make a combined exploring and shooting trip on the Salween river, and endeavour to navigate it from its upper waters to the place where it enters the sea at Moulmein.

I was aware that the journey had been done before, partly by boat and partly by land, and from my own previous experience of the river—which although nearly impassable in the rains, and difficult at all seasons, owing to falls and rapids—I did not think it would offer any insuperable hindrances to the success of my plans.

My original intention was to take boat at a spot some miles north of T—— ferry, and thence to make the journey down stream; but as I learnt that villages were very scarce along the banks north of T——, I eventually decided to make the shorter journey starting from the ferry itself. This change of plan was of less importance as the more difficult and to me more interesting portion of the river lay south of this point.

In May I started for T—— and arrived there without incident and at once set about getting a canoe or native dug-out suitable for my purpose.

I found nothing at the village itself that exactly suited my requirements, for although there were several boats there, I judged them either too large and cumbersome, or else too small and frail for a journey of this duration and for the passage of rapids that we might have to negotiate.

The headman of the village very readily accorded me assistance in the matter, and declared that he could obtain a canoe of the right sort if I would wait a few days while he sent down stream to another village to procure it. This I readily agreed to, and as he promised the boat would be ready on a certain day, and the two boatmen that I required also prepared for me, I decided to make a short march on the western bank of the river and spend these days at a spot I know of, where sambhur were unusually plentiful. My only anxiety was to get fairly started before the rains should commence and the river rose, but there was at present no appearance of the monsoon and so I was not disturbed at this short delay.

I had with me a Burman boy and an Indian cook as my only servants, but I had also a very good Karen shikari, who had served me in various capacities for some years, and who had proved himself a good tracker and was moreover, a very useful man, being acquainted with many of the dialects of the country, and being able, as well, to turn his hand to almost anything, from cleaning a pony to cooking a dinner. He had at one time been employed as a Government interpreter on some of the many military operations in Upper Burma, but apparently found private service more remunerative and more congenial. These three then I took across the river, and after a march of about ten miles we reached the sambhur ground that I had previously visited. We had a somewhat tiring march as the road was up hill for a good deal of the way, and the sun was powerful at this season of the year even in the hills. We had a walk all the way too, and I missed my pony, which I had sent back from T——, on arrival there, as I did not expect to want him again till after the completion of my projected tour.

On arrival at our destination, which was a small hill village of some half dozen houses only, inhabited by Shans, I at once summoned the headman and told him I wanted accommodation for self and servants for a few days. In this country, it must be remembered, it is quite possible to do without tents, for every village, however small, possesses its "zaiat" or traveller's rest-house, and though sometimes small and often delapidated these rest-houses are quite capable of affording one shelter at night.

On this occasion the headman appeared eager to help me and shortly conducted me to a newly-built rest-house just outside the village, which I saw at once would suit me admirably, and which the headman even improved for my use by hanging up purdahs and screens and arranging a bath-room with matting walls.

As soon then as my coolie transport came in, we settled down for a two or three days' stay, and as it was too late to go out that day, I instructed my shikari to go and prospect the country and look for tracks while I myself, after a rest until the extreme heat of the day was past, took my gun to see if a few jungle-fowl or partridge could be obtained as an addition to the larder.

I got two or three partridge, but no jungle-fowl, and on my way back in the evening my Karen overtook me, and informed me he had come on two or three small herds of sambhur, all does, but had not seen any stags. He had found tracks, however, of the latter and he believed we should have sport the following day.

We started early next morning commencing by moving along to the foot of some low hills where the jungle was of high trees and open in places. We found tracks of sambhur fairly plentiful here, but saw nothing, and therefore commenced to climb the hills to reach the place where the shikari had met with the does on the previous evening. After going for two or three hours we came on a herd of three does feeding, and spent some time watching them in case there should be a stag lying down anywhere in their vicinity. We could not discover any signs of one, however, so we again moved on. Towards midday we made a halt for a couple of hours, as the heat was becoming trying. We had come on tracks of what appeared to be a good stag about an hour previously and had been following them up. We had lost them again, however, on some stony ground and so we thought a rest advisable before making a new effort.

We halted for a couple of hours and then made a fresh start. We hit off the sambhur's tracks again very shortly and followed them for some considerable distance. At length after topping a slight rise, from which a view could be obtained of the ground ahead, we suddenly came on to the stag. Fortunately he was standing with his head turned from us and at a distance of about 100 yards, otherwise he would probably have seen us as soon as we did him. Owing to his position, however, I could not get a good shot, and as both the shikari and I had dropped at once into the grass, we remained there concealed until he should turn round. To my annoyance, however, he commenced to move slowly away, never offering a shot. He was a fine animal and was carrying a good head and therefore I did not wish to run a risk, but endeavour to get a fair shot later. We followed up slowly after a little, but lost sight of him. However the shikari again spotted him at some little distance. We determined now to move round and head him as he was only going slowly: for a little further on we saw he would pass into a small gorge in the hills. I therefore left the shikari to watch him and myself made a detour so as to head him. I was quite successful in this and obtained a position on the side of the hill where he must pass. Shortly he came into view, still moving along and grazing at times. I waited until he was only thirty yards from me, when he stood a moment giving me an easy shot, and I dropped him with one barrel of my double ·303 behind the shoulder. My shikari came running up soon after the shot and told me that a second stag had gone off also, just as I fired, that had been lying down in the grass. It was too late in the day to do any more, and so after covering over the dead sambhur with branches to keep away vultures, we started back for camp, intending to send out coolies to bring in the head and meat on the morrow.

Next morning, taking coolies with us, we led them to the place where the deer was, and left them there with instructions to cut up and carry in the deer. We ourselves, the shikari and I, moved on and picked up the tracks of the other stag he had seen the previous day. They led us a very long way without affording us any view of the animal, and at length as we were at a considerable distance from home, we had to knock off and return.

On arrival in camp just about dusk I was met by a coolie bringing a letter from the headman of T——, in which he said that my boat would be ready for me in two days. As this letter had been written the previous day, I thought it advisable to move back to T—— on the following morning as I was anxious to waste no time in setting off on my river trip, so as to avoid being caught by the commencement of the rainy season in the hills.

Consequently we marched next morning, and reached T—— in about three hours after a fairly early march, for it was nearly all down hill this time. We found the river had risen slightly, but nothing of any consequence, but owing, no doubt to some rain in its upper waters. The headman at T—— informed me that these small rises were frequent at this time of year but were never of any great extent until the regular rains set in about June.

FLOR DE SUMATRA
SPENCER & Co. MADRAS
OBTAINABLE
. . FROM . .
ALL RESPECTABLE
DEALERS.
TORPEDOS.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS
in CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY
OAKES & Co.
FLOR DE SUMATRA
SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

On the evening of my return I heard that my boat had come and so I determined to make a start the following afternoon. I went down to the river bank to inspect the craft, and found she was very well suited to my purpose. She was a strongly built canoe made in the usual native dug-out fashion, but broader in the beam than most of them She could accommodate six men easily I found and that would be our number, including me, the shikari, two servants and the two boatmen.

Some of my stores I got on board at once, while the two boatmen set to work to erect a mat covering near the stern to shelter us, the passengers, in case of rain, or to give us a place to sleep in, should we pass the night on the boat. It was my intention, however, to land each evening, if possible, near some village on the banks, where local supplies of fowls and vegetables might be obtained.

All being ready we made a start about 10 A.M. the following day and pushed out into the stream. I was glad to find that the craft was not a crank one, and, loaded down as she was with men and stores, appeared to be very steady even in the strong current of the river.

We soon shot out of sight of the ferry leaving the obliging headman waving us farewell on the shore, and turning a bend of the river, we were fairly embarked on our journey.

The stream runs here at least some 5 or 6 miles an hour, and so practically no paddling was necessary on the rowers' part. All they had to do was to keep the boat straight and maintain a sharp look out at the bends of the river, for although the stream was deep here, and no rocks or snags appeared during our first day's journey, at each bend there were very strong eddies and backwaters, so that it required no little skill and occasionally hard paddling on these occasions to keep the head of the canoe straight with the current and prevent her being whirled round. For about two hours we continued our progress without incident. Frequent turns and changes in the river's course kept the men employed, but occasionally a fairly long reach would give us time to observe the country we were passing through, which was very limited in extent, however, being confined to a view of the high wooded banks on either side with an occasional glimpse of higher ground beyond or of hill peaks in the distance. SALWEEN.

(To be continued.)

Correspondence.

All MSS. should be addressed to the Editor.
The writer's name and address are required with every communication.
Letters and enquiries from anonymous correspondents will not receive attention.
Under no circumstances are questions answered by post.
Correspondents whose questions remain unanswered will please understand that we are unable to give them the information asked for.

AN EASTER MONDAY SNIPE SHOOT.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—Reading over the last issue of the Indian Field I was much interested in the letter contributed by that good sportsman "Raoul" re "Late snipe;" the following may also interest a few of your numerous readers.

During Easter week S. and C. C. very kindly invited me to a quail shoot which was to take place on Easter Monday within easy reach of Calcutta. Now, being well acquainted with the religious tendencies of these two sabbatarians, I had some doubts as to their turning up at 6 A.M. at the rendezvous; however being a lover of the sport, I tumbled out of bed at 5 A.M., got into my shooting togs and outside of a couple of poached eggs and a cup of tea, and drove over to meet my two friends; I was accompanied by a friend new to the game, but a willing and companionable pupil. Arriving at the house at 5-45 we found sub bund, sahib eshleep! Ultimately C. C. awakened to the fact first that it was daylight, then Easter Monday, then that both he and S. had forgotten all about the shoot and that he "really could not go" as he had been to a very late service with S. the night previous! but would we join him in an iced one (so early). Well we did; then not to lose such a day and knowing that most if not all of the business houses were closed and holidays scarce, my pupil and I started for a seven-mile drive. I had made no arrangements for a shikari, and was not quite sure where to find quail, so got out at an old snipe ground that I have known for years. We soon found some willing coolies, who swore that there were a great number of Khada Kuncha Patie (Bengali for snipe à la Josh Billings) quite near. Relying on "Raoul's" book which I swear by, I told these gentlemen they were "Irish harps" when almost immediately a small boy shouted "mar," but he wanted me to shoot one of those grey legs or stints, explaining that many sahibs shoot this kind of snipe. I explained as forcibly as I could in my best Bengali, that I did not want this kind. Then another coolie, less dense than most, said he knew where there were about ek coorie (twenty) snipe of the tek kind. I followed him, and to my great surprise and greater delight, I heard the welcome "stek." and my right barrel dropped my first Easter Monday fan tail. My pupil was so surprised at my energy that he left me, saying he was going off on his own and would shoot a few grey legs as he could see them sitting, and he went. To make a long story short, by midday I had bagged fifteen couple of snipe, all fantails, in first-class condition and as afterwards it proved, did not eat at all fishy. I did not notice anything extraordinary about their coloring, nor did it strike me that they were in any different dress to other snipe shot earlier in the year. These were all flushed from old paddy fields with from two to eight inches of water.

The day was a hot one, and the joy to get back with an unexpected bag and to meet a full peg with a full soda and a big lump of ice, only those who know can appreciate. S. and C. C. still regret their religious tendencies on that particular Easter Sunday. TILLICK.

MONTAGUE R. MURRAY & CO.,

TAXIDERMISTS,
HARDA (G. I. P. RY.)
Central Provinces.

Shooting Trophies of all kinds artistically set up at moderate prices. European supervision, best materials, skilled labor, prompt attention to orders.

Shooting-Parties - -
Supplied with Camp Equipage, Commissariat &c.
Young Sambhur, Chetal and Hyenas for Sale.

Safe, Simple and Economical.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

THE Security is unsurpassed, the funds being now over Two Millions Five Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling, and claims to Four Millions Seven Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling have already been paid.

CITY OF GLASGOW LIFE ASSURANCE CO.,
5, LYON'S RANGE, CALCUTTA.
ESTABLISHED 1838.

R. B. RODDA & Co.,
PRACTICAL
GUNMAKERS,
[Established 72 years.]
2, WELLESLEY PLACE, CALCUTTA.
Illustrated Catalogue Post Free.

GREENER'S CORDITE
'310 BORE RIFLE,

Unequalled for Black Buck, Markhor, &c.
No. 1. Quality, Cash ... Rs. 60
No. 2. " " " 80
No. 3 With Tangent peep sight, &c. ... ... " 105

WESTLEY RICHARDS.
"SHERWOOD."
300-BORE CORDITE RIFLE.
No. 1. Detachable Barrel and fore end, hand removable action and indicator, fitted with patent pivot, wind gauge, backsight, sighted to 300 yards. ... Rs. 100
No 2. Fixed Barrel and action ordinary tangent sight ... " 80

LYON & LYON,
GUN-MAKERS, CALCUTTA.

GREAT JUBILEE HANDICAP.
NEWMARKET STAKES.

Starting Price Commissions executed on principal English races.

A list of probable Starters and Jockey will be sent post free to any part of India on receipt of address.

For S. P. rules, code, principal fixtures, &c., &c, apply to—

BEATTIE BROS.,
Watson's Hotel, Bombay.
Telegrams:—"Beattie, Bombay."

LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP CUP CONTEST, at Srinagar, on 1st June. Apply to—
General Honorary Secretary.

Ballistite.
THE KING OF
SMOKELESS POWDERS
Smokeless—Waterproof—Odourless.

Nobel's New "Nile"
Snipe Cartridge.
A High Class Smokeless Cartridge at the price of ordinary Black Powder, Colour Maroon.

Gauge.	Length	Powder	Shot.
12-bore.	2½ inches.	25 Grains.	1 oz.
	Per 100.	Per 500.	Per 1,000.
	Rs. 9-0.	Rs. 43-0.	Rs. 84-0

RETAILED BY ALL GUNMAKERS.
WHOLESALE OF
GILLANDERS ARBUTHNOT & CO.,
AGENTS.

The Calcutta Tramways Co., Ld.

FOR SALE.

The opening of the Company's system by Electric Traction has released a number of serviceable C.-B geldings suitable for Phaeton, Trap, and Hack work generally: amongst them are also a number of good saddle horses.

The horses can be seen at any time during the day at the Company's Chowringhee Depot, 1, Russa Road, on application to the European Foreman in charge.

MARTYN WELLS.
MANAGING AGENT.

CALCUTTA, 15th April 1903.

200 Pictures of the Delhi Durbar,
Handsomely bound in Vellum.
10 Rupees only.
Third Improved Edition.

Contains all the chief events, elephant procession, 29 pictures, proclamation, opening exhibition, review of retainers, grand review, sports, fireworks, principal camps, Church service, etc., etc.

The Press says: "For cheapness and excellence combined it is unsurpassed." "Purchaser obtains very full value."
"Comprises an extremely varied and well chosen selection."
WIELE & KLEIN, Madras, Official Photographers to the Durbar Exhibition.

CALCUTTA POLICE OFFICE.
Notification Under Sec. CII, Act IV of 1866 & Sec. XLII Act II of 1866.

Dogs found straying in the streets of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta, from 23rd April 1903 to 24th August 1903, will be destroyed.

CALCUTTA. 21st April 1903. } R. A. D'O. BIGNELL, Commissioner of Police.

The ABBEY IMPROVED CHILLED SHOT Co., Ld.
HEAD OFFICES:
22, Dean St., Newcastle-on-Tyne.
For finish and penetration Sportsmen say
IT HAS NO EQUAL.
Importers when sending Indents
ASK FOR
THE ABBEY IMPROVED CHILLED SHOT MAKE
Our output of Chilled Shot exceeds the combined output of Chilled Shot of all other shot Companies in Great Britain.
N.B.—Please note that this Company has no connection with the so called Newcastle Chilled Shot Company which has gone into liquidation.

GULMARG TOURNAMENTS COMMENCE.
Golf Challenge Shield for Ladies and Gentlemen, 17th to 22nd August; Polo Shield 24th to 29th August. Apply to—
General Hony. Secy., Srinagar.

THE RANKEN HELMET.

Registered No. 386596.

Made of compressed cork, covered Grey Felt, not affected by rain, as durable as three pith hats, smart appearance, good ventilation and protection.

Price, Rs. 21-0. Cash Rs. 19-0.

Or with Plain Grey Silk Pugree, Rs. 24-0. Cash Rs. 21-0.

—:o:—

RANKEN & Co.,

Calcutta, Simla, and Lahore.

Pure Yalumba

Wines

South Australia.

BURGUNDY

CONTAINS

Natural Iron.

FIRST PRIZE

10,000 galls.

—:o:—

CLARET

Sound, Pure and Wholesome.

FIRST PRIZE

15,000 galls.

From all Leading Merchants

S. SMITH & SON

Yalumba Vineyards,

Adelaide, South Australia.

DARJEELING

COOCH BEHAR ESTATE.

To let with immediate occupation the following houses situated n the best part of Darjeeling.

	Rent per month.
Altamont Villas No. I ...	175 0 0
Hermitage	216 0 0
Ridge No. II	140 0 0
The Lounge	100 0 0

WM. HAROLD EDWARDS, Manager,
COOCH BEHAR ESTATE, Darjeeling

Manton & Co.

HOLD A LARGE STOCK OF

TENNIS BATS

BY

SLAZENGER

AYRES

HOLDEN

AND SALTER.

Weights 12½ to 14 ozs.

AYRES'

TENNIS BALLS,

Rs. 10-8 per doz.

ADDRESS:

13, Old Court House Street,
CALCUTTA.

HOWRAH FLOUR MILLS CO., LD.,

Ramkistopur, Howrah.

CRUSHED FOOD

FOR

HORSES & CATTLE

Fresh Bran, Oats, Gram,

AND

Flour of all qualities.

ANDREW YULE & Co.,

Managing Agents,

7, Clive Row, Calcutta.

F. CHAPMAN & Co

"TATTERSALLS,"

No. 1, Bhowanipore Road.

Arrived per S S Euryalus well-matched pairs, hacks, hunters, polo ponies from 12-2½ to 14-1; also 6 well-performed race ponies imported by the well-known shippers.

Mr. "Billy" Griffiths.
Mr. W. Burgess.
Mr. H. Smith.
Mr. P. Gilder.

Every trial given to intending purchasers by the undersigned.

F. CHAPMAN & Co.

J. F. SNUGGS & Co.,

Established 1870.

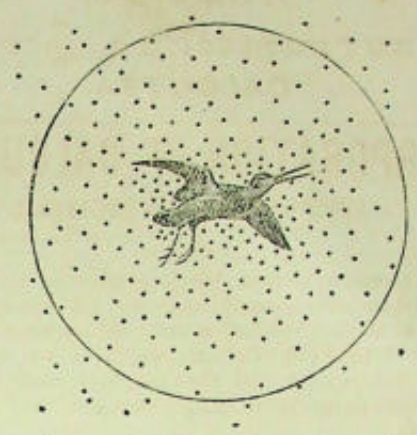
TAXIDERMISTS & TANNERS

TO H. M.'s IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT, HARDA, C.P

For further particulars apply to us; or our only Agents:

Messrs. GORDON & Co., 37, Apollo Street BOMBAY,

where Trophies of every description are for sale also we can supply our Firm's ponies, carts, etc., to Shooting Parties.



ESTABLISHED 1870.

KASHMIR CHECK PUTTOOS

EFFECTIVE, durable and inexpensive, for shooting, cycling and golfing suits.

Obtainable through
A A's or COCKBURN'S AGENCY,
Srinagar, Kashmi.

WILDFOWLER CARTRIDGES.

Facsimile-circle 22 inches diameter at 35 yards. Number of pellets in circle 237, killing circle 33. This diagram represents the shooting of any good choke-bore gun with our WILDFOWLER Cartridges loaded with 42 grs. Amberite, 1⅛ oz. No. 8 shot.

Lucknow prices, rail freight being taken into consideration, are identical with those charged by the leading Calcutta Gunsmiths.

—:o:—

MURRAY & Co.,

LIMITED,

LUCKNOW.

M. BURKE,

JOCKEY and TRAINER,

Late of Straits Settlements,

Is open to an engagement as private trainer or to take charge of horses. Best references. Address—c/o Manager, The Indian Field, CALCUTTA.

"TAXIDERS PRESERVATIVE POWDER."

5 lbs. tin Rs. 3, 10 lbs. tins Rs. 5 (V. P. charges extra.) The only safe and effectual preparation for preserving skins and heads of animals, whether Pachyderms, Great Mammalia or Reptiles with instructions in skinning, etc.

Apply to—TAXIDERMISTS,
C. SWARIES & Co.,
15, Mohamed Crescent's Lane, Calcutta

WILLIAM RUTLEDGE.

NATURALIST,

DEALER IN WILD ANIMALS,

Birds, Dogs, Poultry, &c.,

38, SOUTH ROAD, ENTALLY, CALCUTTA.

"PIGSTICKING,"

A SET OF FOUR PICTURES

1 THE MEET 3 THE SPEAR
2 THE BURST 4 THE KILL

BY ALBERT DUBUS

Every Sportsman should possess a set. The finest work of the kind ever offered to the public.

Rs. 8 per set, unmounted.

Apply Manager—"THE INDIAN FIELD,"
CALCUTTA.

THE ORIENTAL GAS Co., Ld.

GAS COKE.

Reduction in Price.

The Oriental Gas Company, Limited, have resolved to reduce the price of the Coke produced at their works from 1st April 1903, and until further notice as follows:—

1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the Town Area at (6 annas per maund) ... ... Rs. 7-8-0

1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the Suburban Area ... ... Rs. 7-12-0

All Coke sieved through a ¾ inch mesh.

Gas Coke is Smokeless and Cleanly and Superior to any solid fuel for domestic purposes.

All complaints about Coke or demands for pice custom (dustoorie) should be made direct to the Manager.

N.B.—The carter must be relieved of his load within an hour of his arrival, after 4 annas per hour will be charged for unnecessary detention.

GAS WORKS, SEALDAH,
Calcutta, 22nd April 1903.

D. COATS NIVEN,
Manager.

BREAKWELL & Co

COACH BUILDERS,

171-2-4-5-6,

Dhurrumtollah Street,

CALCUTTA.

CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA.

APPOINTMENT OF ENGINEER.

The Commissioners of the Corporation of Calcutta are prepared to receive applications for the appointment of Engineer to the Corporation under section 63 of Act III. (B.C.) of 1899 (The Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899.)

The Act requires that the Engineer shall devote his whole time to the duties of his Office and must reside in Calcutta.

The appointment is subject to the approval of the Government of Bengal and will be for a renewable term of five years. The incumbent is liable to removal during his term of office for misconduct, or for neglect of, or incapacity for, his duties by a resolution of the Corporation in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners voting have voted.

The salary of the appointment is fixed at (Rs. 2,500) two thousand five hundered per month (inclusive of all allowance) rising by annual increments of Rs. (100) one hundred per month as follows :—1st year Rs. 2,500, 2nd year Rs. 2,600, 3rd year Rs. 2,700, 4th year Rs. 2,800, and 5th year Rs. 2,900. The maximum salary of the appointment is Rs. 3,000 a month.

Applications, which should be accompanied by copies only of testimonial and certificates of age and physical fitness, should be addressed to the Secretary, Calcutta Corporation, and should reach him not later than the 15th June, 1903.

The selected candidate will be required to join in Calcutta on or before the 1st January 1904.

FRED GAINSFORD,

Secretary to the Corporation of Calcutta.—

Dated 24th April, 1903.

Notice.

The Calcutta Tramways Co., Ld.

RESERVED CARS.

A limited number of Reserved First Class Cars can now be arranged for; for information as to rates, etc., apply to

1, RUSSA ROAD, NORTH, } MARTYN WELLS,
Bhowanipore, 1st May, 1903. } Managing Agent.

HOCKEY.

THE AGA KHAN TOURNAMENT.

The Aga Khan Tournament this year will start 18th May. Entries close on Saturday, 9th May.

Drawing will take place at the Gymkhana on Monday, the 11th May, at 6 P.M., and all teams entered are invited to send a representative.

Entrance Subscription Rs. 10.

The WINNERS are entitled to hold the CUP for one year in India.

Entries should be sent as soon as possible with fee to the undersigned.

Rules 1902-1903. P. J. ARNOT,

Hony. Secy. for Hockey, Bombay Gymkhana

FOR SALE.

Lucy Gliters, Ch. W. M., 14-1½, C. T. C. life, aged 9, winner Calcutta Paperchase Average Cup 1903, 11 places 12 runs, runner up 1902, perfect ladies' hack, believed thoroughly sound. Price Rs. 1,500.—Apply to—

DR. HOSSACK,

47, Park Street, Calcutta.

FOR SALE.

Leopard skins, cured, dressed, head stuffed and mounted on cloth. Complete @ Rs 35 each.

Two pairs of Buffalo horns with skull mounted on shield, @ Rs. 40 and 25 each

Apply to—

J. HENRY & Co.,

THE "TAXIDERMY HOUSE,"

Bowbazar P.O., Calcutta

Calcutta General Printing Company,

(THE EDINBURGH PRESS),

WITH WHICH ARE INCORPORATED

WHITEAWAY'S PRESS, THE STAR PRESS and THE CALCUTTA CENTRAL PRESS,

Are now in a position to undertake printing orders of every kind, and to any extent. All work done under skilled and experienced supervision.

D. L. MONRO, Managing Partner.

C. J. A. PRITCHARD, Joint-Manager.

47, Bentinck Street, CALCUTTA.

ECONOMISE NERVE TISSUE

By using Our

Section of Steel Rim and Rubber Tyre.

RUBBER CARRIAGE TYRES.

We stake our faith in Tyres of this brand which are all guaranteed for one year. Many of the leading Coachbuilders use them exclusively. Prices and particulars free on application to

W. H. THORNS & Co.,

15, HORNBY ROW,* BOMBAY.

CHAMPION & CO.

Have left for Europe and will return to Calcutta for the 1st Extra Meeting in December.

The Turf.

INDIAN RACING FIXTURES.

NAME OF RACES.	Month.	Date.	For Prospectus see page.
S. M. Summer Sky (Belgaum)	May	14 16 & 18
Dibrugarh	,,	26
Simla Summer	,,	26, 28 & 30	476
Ootcamund ...	,,	5, 7 & 9
Mahableshwar Sky ...	,,	5, 8
Lucknow Open Gymkhana ...	,,	16
Darjeeling	,,	28 & 30
Mysore	June	16, 18 & 20
Bangalore	July	14, 16 & 18	574
Poona Races & Steeplechases	Sept.	24 26 28 30
		Oct. 3 5 & 10	522
Simla Autumn ...	Oct.	6 & 8
Simla Gymkhanas ...	May	2 9 & 16
Ditto ...	June	13 20 & 27
Ditto ...	July	4
Pachmari	Early June
Lucknow Autumn Sky ...	Oct.	22, and 24	575
Umballa Autumn ...	Nov.	3, 5 & 7
Lucknow Autumn (Army Cup)	,,	26
Meerut Autumn ...	,,	12, 14 & 17
Lucknow Autumn ...	,,	24, 26 & 28
Calcutta First Extra ...	Dec.	12
,, Second Extra ...	,,	19
,, First Meeting ...	,,	24 25 29 & 31
,, Second Meeting ...	Jan.	16 & 23
Tollygunge Steeplechases ...	,,	2 & 9
Calcutta Third Extra ...	,,	30
,, Fourth ,, ...	Feb.	6

CLOSING DATES OF ENTRIES.

LUCKNOW AUTUMN SKY ...	First ...	... 1st Sept.
	Second ...	... 15th Oct.
SIMLA SUMMER ...	Third ...	... 15th May.
MAHABLESWAR SKY ...	Second ...	... 8th ,,
CALCUTTA FIRST EXTRA ...	...	... 8th Dec.
CALCUTTA SECOND EXTRA ...	...	... 15th Dec.
CALCUTTA RACES FIRST MEETING	First ...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second ...	... 1st Dec.
CALCUTTA RACES SECOND MEETING	First ...	... 1st Dec.
	Second ...	... 9th Jan.
	Third ...	... 16th Jan.
TOLLYGUNGE STEEPLECHASES 1ST DAY	First ...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second ...	... 1st Dec.
TOLLYGUNGE STEEPLECHASES SECOND DAY	First ...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second ...	... 2nd Jan.
POONA	First ...	... 4th Augst.
	Second ...	... 25th ,,
	Final ...	... 8th Sept.
CIVIL SERVICE CUP ...	Second ...	... 1st July.
	Third ...	... 16th Sept.
	Fourth ...	... 1st Dec.
	Final ...	... 20th Jan.
BANGALORE	First ...	... 1st June.
	Second ...	... 20th June.
	Third ...	... 1st July.
MYSORE	Second ...	... 15th May.
	Third ...	... 1st June.
LUCKNOW AUTUMN ...	First ...	... 15th Aug.
	Second ...	... 1st Oct.
	Third ...	... 14th Nov.

INDIAN SPORTING FIXTURES.

POLO.

SIMLA TOURNAMENT	Begins 1st June
POONA OPEN TOURNAMENT	...Sept. 15th, 16th, 19th & 24th
GULMARG POLO TOURNAMENT ...	24th to 29th August.

ROWING.

CALCUTTA R. C. SECOND REGATTA	... 23rd May.

CRICKET.

SIMLA V OUTSTATIONS ...	... May 27th & 29th

THE HORSE.

OOTACAMUND HORSE SHOW ...	... May 22nd & 23rd.
SIMLA HORSE AND DOG SHOW ...	... June 6th.

SPORTS.

OOTACAMUND SKITTLE GYMKHANAS	May 12th & June 15th, 27th
SIMLA VOL. SPORTS	... May 23rd.

FOOTBALL.

DURAND TOURNAMENT, SIMLA ...	... 14th to 25th Sep.

HOCKEY.

BEIGHTON CUP	... Now on.
AGA KHAN TOURNAMENT ...	... Begins 18th May

GOLF.

VIZIANAGRAM CUP	... Begins 5th May
GULMARG TOURNAMENT ...	17th to 22nd August

BOXING.

POONA BOXING TOURNAMENT —	... 18th and 23rd May

SWIMMING.

CALCUTTA S. C.

TWO LENGTHS HANDICAP ...	... 8th May.
THREE LENGTHS HANDICAP ...	... 22nd May.
DITTO FINAL HEAT AND PLATE DIVING ...	29th May.

ENGLISH RACING FIXTURES.

Kempton Park Great Jubilee Handicap (1¼ miles) ... — ...	Saturday, May 9
Newmarket Stakes	Wednesday, May 13
The Derby (1½ miles)	Wednesday, May 27
The Oaks (1½ miles)	Friday, May 29
Prix du Jockey Club (French Derby) (1½m)	Sunday, May 31
Manchester Cup (1½ miles)	Friday, June 5
Duchess of York Stakes, Hurst Park (1½m)	Saturday, June 13
Grand Prix de Paris (1 mile 7 furlongs) ...	Sunday, June 14
Ascot Stakes (2 miles)	Tuesday, June 16
Prince of Wales's Stakes (1 mile 5 furlongs)	Tuesday, June 16
Gold Vase (2 miles)	Tuesday, June 16
Royal Hunt Cup (7 furlongs 166yds) ...	Wednesday, June 17
Gold Cup (2½ miles)	Thursday, June 18
New Stakes (5 furlongs 136yds) ...	Thursday, June 18
Hardwicke Stakes (1½ miles)	Friday, June 19
Nothumberland Plate (2 miles) ...	Wednesday, June 24
July Stakes, Newmarket (5 fur 142 yds) ...	Tuesday, June 30
Eclipse Stakes (1½ miles)	Friday, July 17
Liverpool Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs) ...	Friday, July 24
Stewards' Cup, Goodwood (6 furlongs) ...	Tuesday, July 28
Goodwood Plate (2 miles)	Wednesday, July 29
Goodwood Cup (2½ miles)	Thursday, July 30
Brighton Cup (1½ miles)	Wednesday, Aug. 5
Great Northern Leger (1 mile 5 furlongs)	Wednesday, Aug. 19
Great Ebor Handicap (1½ miles) ...	Wednesday, Aug. 26
Gimcrack Stakes (6 furlongs)	Thursday, Aug. 27
Great Yorkshire Handicap (1 m 6 f 132 yds)	Tuesday, Sep. 8
Champagne Stakes	Tuesday, Sep. 8
The St. Leger (1 mile 6 furlongs 132 yds.)	Wednesday, Sep. 9
Doncaster Cup (about 2 miles) ...	Friday, Sep. 11
Prince Edward Handicap (1½ miles) ...	Saturday, Sep. 26
Jockey Club Stakes (1½ miles)	Thursday, October 1
Duke of York Stakes (1½ miles) ...	Saturday, Oct. 10
Cesarewitch Stakes (2 miles 2 furlongs) ...	Wednesday, Oct. 14
Middle Park Plate (6 furlongs) ...	Friday, October 16
Cambridgeshire Stakes (1 mile 1 furlong) ...	Wednesday, Oct. 28.
Dewhurst Plate (7 furlongs) ...	Thursday, Oct. 29
Lincoln Autumn Handicap (1½ miles) ...	Tuesday, Nov. 10
Liverpool Autumn Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs)	Friday, Nov. 13
Manchester November Handicap (1½ mile)	Saturday, Nov. 28

ENGLISH SPORTING FIXTURES.

Royal Military Tournament ...	15th May.
Golf Open Championship	11th June.
Oxford vs. Cambridge (Lord's) ...	2nd July.
Amateur A. A. Meeting	4th July.
Gents vs. Players (Lords)	6th July.
Henley Regatta	7th July.
Eton vs. Harrow (Lord's)	10th July.
Gents vs. Players (Oval)	10th July.
Rugby vs. Marlborough (Lord's) ...	29th July.
R. Y. S. Regatta	4th August.
America Cup First Race — ...	20th August.
Dublin Horse Show	25th August.
Stanley Cycle Show	20th November.
Cattle Show (Agr. Hall)	7th December.

CONTENTS.

LEADING ARTICLE—Extinct Species 1
SPECIAL TELEGRAMS 2
SPORTING NOTES 3
ATHLETIC NOTES 4
GENERAL NOTES 6
LONDON WEEK BY WEEK 6
REVIEW 8
SHIKAR 8
CORRESPONDENCE 9
THE TURF.—Indian Racing Fixtures: Closing Dates of Entries; Indian Sportin Fixtures; English Racing Fixtures; English Sporting Fixtures; Rangoon Spring Meeting 12
SPORT IN ENGLAND 12
POLO 17
ATHLETICS 17
CYCLING 18
CRICKET 18
FOOTBALL 19
GOLF 19
HOCKEY 20
LAWN TENNIS 20
BOXING 21
SWIMMING 22
THE NATURALIST 22
THE STORY TELLER 23
THE GARDEN 24
CHESS 24
CARDS 24

THE INDIAN FIELD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The absence of any notice to discontinue the Paper at he expiry of the pertod subscribed for will be considered as an intimation to renew the subscription, which will be charged accordingly.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Rs. 22 per annum or with mofussil postage ...		Rs. 25	0
„ 12 for 6 months	„ „ ...	„ 14	0
„ 6 for 3	„ „ „ ...	„ 8	0

Single copy eight annas.

To avail themselves of the benefits of the Advanc Rates subscribers must pay—

Annual Subscriptions	...	Within 2 months.
Half-yearly do.	...	Do. 1 month.
Quarterly do.	...	Do. 1 fortnight

RATE of SUBSCRIPTION with FOREIGN POSTAGE

Payable in Advance.

For twelve months	...	£1 15 0
„ six months	...	£1 0 0

RATES FOR CASUAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rs. 2-8 per inch for the first four insertions.

Rs. 1-4 per inch for subsequent insertions.

Ten lines to the inch.

W. S. BURKE & Co., Proprietors.

8, Hare Street, CALCUTTA.

SOLE ADVERTISING AGENT IN ENGLAND

FOR "THE INDIAN FIELD."

Mr. L. J. JARVIS.

"Granville House" Arundel St. Strand.

LONDON.

"PERFECTION" WHISKY,

The most popular drink of the day,

RS. 34 PER DOZEN,

USED IN THE

ARMY AND NAVY.

As there are other Brands of Whisky sold under the name of "PERFECTION," please see that you get

D. & J. McCALLUM'S

In Mallet-shaped Bottles, sealed with their sea

SOLE AGENTS:

KRIEG & Co.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

8, Hare Street, Calcutta.

RANGOON SPRING MEETING.

STEWARDS:

R. G. P. P. McDONNELL, ESQ. | W. H. A. ST. J. LEEDS, ESQ., I. C. S.

CHAN TOON, ESQ. | J. W. DARWOOD, ESQ.

G. B. H. FELL, ESQ., I. C. S. | CHAS. STEWART, ESQ.

Hony. Secy.—CHAS. STEWART, ESQ.

Judge.—CAPT. E. ECCLES.

Clerk of the Course.—A. BLAKE, ESQ.

Clerk of the Scales.—

Starters { J. W. DARWOOD, ESQ. / VETY-CAPT. W. STEVENSON.

Hony. Vety. Surgeon.—G. W. MCARTHUR, ESQ.

Official Time-keeper.—A. G. DUBERN, ESQ.

Fourth Day, Saturday, 2nd May 1903.

THE extra day's racing was brought off in cool weather, but there was not a very large attendance. Fields were fair and the racing of good class. It was a favourites' day, the popular fancy winning in four out of the six races. The Bookies did badly over the last race owing to Tsain Tin's disqualification.

TOM-THUMB HANDICAP.—Rs. 200. A handicap for Burma ponies 12-2 and under. Distance—5 furlongs.

Major Cox's Tsundee Mai, 9st	...	 1
Maung Po Chone's Tsaw Mai, 8st	...	 2
Oge Maung's Beryl, 10st	... ...	 3

Three ran.

BETTING: 5 to 1 on Tsundee Mai; anything the rest.

Won easily by three lengths; same distance between second and third

THE VETERAN HANDICAP.—Rs. 200. A handicap for all ponies imported under the Griffin scheme, 14 hands and under. Distance—½ mile.

Mr Aldworth's Rownuck, 8st 11lbs	...	 1
Tin Tin's Tsain Tin, 9st 7lbs ...	...	 2
Mr Wahab's Zernigar, 9st ...	...	 3

Seven ran.

BETTING: Evens Zernigar, 2 to 1 agst. Tin, 4 to 1 Rownuck.

Won by a neck; a length between second and third.

THE MEDIUM HANDICAP.—Rs. 300. A handicap for ponies 13-2 and under. Distance—7 furlongs.

Mr Bham's Edith, 12-0 ...	...	 1
„ Chin Tsong's Little Sarah, 10st 3lbs ...		 2
Major Cox's Nonpareil, 8st 9lbs	...	 3

Four ran.

BETTING: 6 to 4 on Nonpareil, 3 to 1 agst Edith and Little Sarah.

Won by two lengths easily; one length between second and third. Time—1min. 43⅗secs.

THE SYDNEY HANDICAP.—Rs. 200. A handicap for the new batch of Griffins imported in March 1903, 14 hands and under. Distance ½ mile.

Maung Tsoe Min's Tsain Chit, 10st 9lbs ...		 1
Mrs Doo's Star of Burma, 9st ...	...	 2
Yeo Eng Pwa's Mah Hla Glay, 10st	...	 3

Eight ran.

BETTING: Evens Tsain Chit, and 6 to 1 against Star of Burma.

Won by half a length; one length between second and third.

THE SHWAY DAGONE HANDICAP.—A handicap for "Indo-Burman" ponies 13-0 and under. Distance—3 furlongs.

Maung Pe's Aung Ban, 12st ...	...	 1
Maung Bah In's Ke Ke Gyi, 9st 2lbs	...	 2
Mr Aldworth's Thainden, 7st 11lbs	...	 3

Eight ran.

BETTING: 6 to 4 against Aung Ban, 3 to on 1 Ke Ke Gyi, and 4 to 1 Thainden.

Won by a length; the same distance; between second and third.

THE GIANT HANDICAP.—Rs 200. A handicap for ponies, 14-0 hands and under. Distance—5 furlongs.

Dr Blake's Brownie, 9st ...	...	 1
Mr Bham's Edith, 11st 7lbs ...	...	 2

Six ran.

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Brownie, 3 to 1 agst Edith, and 6 to 1 Tsain Tin.

Tsain Tin won this race from Brownie by a length, but was disqualified being a quarter pound over weight.

Sport in England.

(FROM OUR OWN SPORTING CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Friday, 17th April 1903.

THE TURF.

OF the thousand and one holiday attractions arranged for the pleasure-seekers of London on Easter Monday, none holds a higher place in the esteem of that vast sport-loving community than Kempton Park. The picturesque riverside enclosure is a safe draw for the masses, and the outlook being propitious this morning, they began to flock towards Sunbury in their thousands from an early hour. The number who availed themselves of the special service of trains by the South-Western Railway showed no falling off, whilst a host of the searchers after novelty patronised the more circuitous and enjoyable route by the new electric tramway system via Hampton. The upshot was that the rings and enclosures were packed long before racing began, whilst the crowd that lined the rails across the far side of the course and wandered about the Park at will was of prodigious dimensions The weather was an incongruous admixture of winter and spring, driving showers of sleet and snow occasionally rendering matters uncommonly trying for the onlookers. The keen northerly wind was genially tempered by a glorious sunshine during the greater part of the afternoon, however, and the sport was full of life and incident from start to finish.

THE QUEEN'S PRIZE (handicap)—Of 1,325 sovs. New Jubilee Course (one mile and a quarter).

Sir J Thursby's b h Fighting Furley, by Colorado—Bay Celia, 6yrs, 7st 9lbs (inc 7lbs ex)	Trigg 1
Lord Dunraven's b c Morganatic, 4yrs, 6st 7lbs	Plant 2
Capt Laing's br h Padlock II, 5yrs, 7st 9lbs	Hardy 3
Duke of Westminster's Cupbearer, 4 yrs, 7st 11lb	Watts 0
Mr H I Higham's Royal George, 5yrs, 8st 11lb (car 8st 2lbs)	K Cannon 0
Mr J Gubbins's Port Blair, 4 yrs, 8st ...	J H Martin 0
Sir J Blundell Maple's Nabot, 4 yrs, 7st 11lbs	W Lane 0
Lord Farquhar's Pellison, 6 yrs, 7st 4lbs ...	H Aylin 0
Mr G Parrott's Lord Carbine, 4 yrs, 7st 4lbs (car 7st 6lbs)	O Madden 0
Lord Howard de Walden's Glass Jug, 4 yrs, 6st 13lbs	Miller 0
Mr W Raphael's St Uncomber, 4 yrs, 6st 10lbs	Rule 0
Mr L de Rothschild's Pom Pom, 4 yrs, 6st 5lbs	Griggs 0

(Winner trained by Duke, at Cranborne).

BETTING: 7 to 2 agast Fighting Furley 5 to 1 Pellisson 11 to 2 Lord Carbine, 6 to 1 Cupbearer, 8 to 1 Pom Pom, 10 to 1 Glass Jug, 100 to 8 Nabot, 100 to 8 Padlock II, 100 to 7 Royal George, 100 to 7 Morganatic, 100 to 6 St Uncomber, 20 to 1 Port Blair (o).

Royal George led the parade from Port Blair, Fighting Furley, Nabot, padlock II., with Morganatic and Pom Pom bringing up the rear, and they cantered to the post in much the same order. There was very little delay before Mr. Coventry despatched them, the first to break the line being Nabot, who dashed away with a clear lead of Lord Carbine, Morganatic, and Fighting Furley with Pellisson next in front of Royal George, Padlock II. being the whipper-in for half a mile, when Lord Carbine joined Nabot, with Morganatic and Fighting Furley in close company. Turning into the straight Nabot was completely done with, and Fighting Furley took up the running followed by Morganatic, Lord Carbine, Pellisson, and Cupbearer, and, remaining in the van for the remainder of the journey, won easily by three lengths; a length separated the second and third. Cupbearer was fourth, Lord Carbine fifth, Port Blair sixth, Pellisson seventh, Royal George eighth, and Nabot last.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS

LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.

Durable and deliciously fragrant.

LEMON AND DUNSTALL,

1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA.

THE RENDLESHAM TWO YEAR OLD STAKE—Of 238 sovs; colts 8st 12lbs, fillies and geldings 8st 9lbs. Five furlongs.

Mr L de Rothchild's ch f Catgut, by Lactantius—Catkin, 8st 9lbs ...	K Cannon	1
Mr H Lindemere's b f Mrs Hawkins, 8st 9lbs	M Cannon	2
Mr H Combe's b f Imago, 8st 9lbs ...	Maher	3
„ S Darling's Bungebah, 8st 12lbs ...	J H Martin	0
Major Edwards's Volar, 8st 12lbs ...	P Purkiss	0
Mr R H Henning's Portman, 8st 12lbs ...	McNaughton	0
„ R H Henning's Accroc, 8st 12lbs	Elliott	0
„ E Carlton's Myrtis, 8st 9lbs ...	C Leader	0
„ G Edwardes's Kolmia, 8st 9lbs ...	Randall	0
Sir J Blundell Maple's Royal Request, 8st 9lbs	W Lane	0
Mr R Sherwood's Mitrahineh, 8st 9lbs ...	I. Sherwood	0
Capt F Forester's Musk Rose, 8st 9lbs ...	B Dillon	0
Mr C Wood's Wizard, 8st 9lbs ...	O Madden	0

(Winner trained by Watson at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 13 to 8 agst Catgut, 3 to 1 Imago, 8 to 1 each Myrtis and Royal Request, 10 to 1 each Mrs Hawkins and Wizard, and 100 to 8 any other (offered).

Won by a neck; four lengths divided second and third. Volar was fourth, Mitrahineh fifth, Halmia sixth, Bungebah seventh and Wizard last. Time—1min. 4⅗secs.

The few survivors of the old school of sportsmen whose season terminates with the Houghton Meeting, and who do not emerge from their retirement until the Craven Meeting lures them once more to the head-quarters of the Turf, console themselves with the idea that it is their privilege to enjoy a wholesome immunity from the worst rigours of early spring. Theoretically they have the best of matters, but there has been a hitch in the meteorological arrangements this time, and the wintry winds and belated snowstorms which are the usual accompaniments of sport at Lincoln and Liverpool have been held over until the middle of April A biting northerly wind rendered the conditions under which the Newmarket campaign of 1903 was initiated anything but congenial, and racegoers have experienced few colder days throughout the entire winter A keen frost during the night was succeeded by showers of snow which fell at intervals in the morning, and, though the solar rays were pleasantly warm, they were not in sufficient evidence to raise the temperature to any appreciable extent.

THE FIRST YEAR OF THE FORTY-FOURTH NEWMARKET BIENNIAL STAKES—Of £768 10s., for three-year-olds; colts 9st, fillies and geldings 8st 10lbs; with penalties and allowances. R. M. (one mile).

Sir E Cassel's ch c Sermon, by Friar's Balsam—Listen, 9st 5lbs ...	Halsey	1
Mr Douglas Baird's b c Martinet, 8st 7lbs	K Cannon	2
Sir E Vincent's b c Donatello, 8st 7lbs ...	J H Martin	3
Mr R H Henning's Jennico, 9st 5lbs ...	Lyne	0
„ L Brassey's Bayona, 8st 10lbs ...	Hardy	0
Lord Cadogan's Bassoon, by Trenton—Simoom, 8st 7lbs	Maher	0
Lord Farquhar's Gilbert Orme, 8st 7lbs ...	H Aylin	0
Duke of Portland's De Witt, 8st 7lbs ...	M Cannon	0
Sir R Waldie Griffith's Eriestane, 8st 3lbs	W Lane	0
Prince Soltykoff's Paregoric, 8st 7lbs ...	O Madden	0

(Winner trained by Mr F. Lambton, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 11 to 10 agst Martinet, 6 to 1 De Witt, 7 to 1 Sermon 8 to 1 each Paregoric and Bassoon (Simoomcolt), and 100 to 8 any other (offered).

Won by four lengths; two lengths separated second and third, Time—1min. 40⅘ secs.

THE CRAWFURD STAKES—(handicap)—Of 385 sovs. Brethy Stakes Course (6 furlongs).

Sir J Blundell Maple's ch h Lord Bobs, by Bend Or—Silver Sea, 5yrs, 9st 11lb ...	W Lane	1
Sir E Cassel's b or br g Speculator, 4 yrs, 6st 8lbs	Miller	2
Sir J Miller's b h Cossack, 5 yrs, 9st 4lbs...	Maher	3
Mr L de Rothschild's Kunstler, 5 yrs, 7st 11lb (inc 10lbs ex)	Watts	0
Mr J Hammond's Burses, 4yrs, 7st 5lbs ...	J H Martin	0
Prince Soltykoff's Leisure Hour, aged, 7st 4lbs	Hardy	0
Count Lehndorff's St Briavels, 4yrs, 6st 9lbs	Trigg	0
Mr W C Whitney's Pan Michael, 3yrs, 6st 5lbs	Griggs	0
Lord Dunraven's Salute, 3yrs, 6st 5lbs ...	Plant	0
Mr T Simpson Jay's St Gerald, 3yrs, 5st 9lbs	Layburn	0

(Winner trained by W. Waugh, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 3 to 1 agast Kunstler, 100 to 30 Burses, 4 to 1 Speculator, 8 to 1 Cossack, 10 to 1 each St Briavels and Salute, and 100 to 7 any other (offered).

Won by a neck: a head divided second and third. Pan Michael was fourth, Leisure Hour fifth, Kunstler sixth, and St Gerald last, except Burses and Salute, who took no part in the race. Time—1min. 14⅘secs.

THE FITZWILLIAM STAKES.—Of 515 sovs, for two-year olds; colts 8st 12lbs, fillies and geldings 8st 9lbs. Rouse Course (5 furlongs).

Mr D Baird's b c Mousqueton, by Carbine—Musa, 8st 12lbs. ...	M Cannon	1
Mr C D Rose's b c Serpolet, 8st 12lbs ...	S Loates	2
„ C S Newton's ch c by Enthusiast—Miss Ellison, 8st 12lbs	Maher	3
Sir R Waldie Griffith's c by St Frusquin—Wedding Bell, 8st 12lbs	J H Martin	0
Mr L de Rothschild's St Felix, 8st 12ls ...	K Cannon	0
His Majesty's Plombieres, 8st 9lbs. ...	Jones	0
Count de Berteux's Majorca, 8st 9lbs ...	Hardy	0
Sir J Blundell Maple's Stately Lady, 8st 9lbs	W Lane	0

(Winner trained by H. Enoch, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 9 to 4 each agst Wedding Bell colt and Stately Lady, 4 to 1 Mousqueton, 8 to 1 Majorca, and 10 to 1 any other (offered).

Won by three lengths; a length and a half separated second and third. Time 1min. 2⅘secs.

At headquarters just now the weather is the all-absorbing topic of conversation, and rightly so. The conditions in the neighbourhood of Newmarket early this morning were almost Arctic, and man and beast alike seemed to cringe before the icy blast that swept the Heath with razor-like keenness. Well may Huggins's gardener have doubted the evidence of his own eyes when he found his thermometer recording 16 degrees of frost during the night. The garden is in an exposed position, but at Exning, in a more sheltered locality, 15 degrees of frost were recorded, verifying the accuracy of the Heath House reading, and from Mildenhall came news of frozen taps and ice half an inch thick in the farmyards. These are not the normal accompaniments of sport under Jockey Club Rules, and, in addition to the physical discomforts engendered thereby, the responsibilities of trainers are increased tenfold. There was a modicum of sunshine during the day, but it barely sufficed to counteract the sting of the boisterous north wind, and it snowed heavily for the last hour of racing Only a few enthusiasts gathered round the ringside at Park Paddocks to assist at the sale of the horses in training of the late Mr. Forrest Tod. Nor was the attendance in the Rowley Mile enclosures by any means representative, but fields again ruled large, and some capital sport was witnessed.

THE WOOD DITTON STAKES—Of 342 sovs, for three-year-olds; colts 8st 12lbs, fillies and geldings 8st 9lbs; winners extra. D. M. (one mile).

Sir J Blundell Maple's b f Girton Girl, by Royal Hampton—Lady Wrangler, 8st 9lbs	W Lane	1
Mr L de Rothschild's b c Gourgaud, 8st 12lbs	K Cannon	dead
Lord Durham's b f Caparison, 8st 9lbs	Watts	heat.
Lord Howard de Walden's Spinning Minnow, 8st 12lbs	M Cannon	4
Mr E Lamp's g by St Angelo—Doncaster Belle, 9st 2lbs	O Madden	0
His Majesty's Email, 8st 12lbs	H Jones	0
Mr E Carlton's Ariosto, 8st 12lbs	C Leader	0
Mr J. R. Keene's Flying Prince, 8st 12lbs,	Lyne	0
Mr W C Whitney's White Webbs, 8st 12lbs	J. H. Martin	0

(Winner trained by W. Waugh, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 9 to 4 agst Flying Prince, 3 to 1 Spinning Minnow, 6 to 1 Girton Girl, 7 to 1 Doncaster Belle gelding, 10 to 1 Gourgaud and 100 to 8 any other (offered).

Won easily by two lengths from Gourgaud and Caparison, who ran a dead heat for second place.

THE BABRAHAM PLATE (handicap)—Of 480 sovs Last mile and a half of the Cesarewitch Course.

Sir E Vincent's ch f Parody by Avington—Portree, 4 yrs, 6st 13lbs	Tree	1
Mr L Brassey's b c Alderman, 3 yrs, 6st 3lbs	Knott	2
Sir M Fitzgerald's b f Happy Match 4 yrs, 6st 8lbs	Plant	3
Lord Durham's Mardonius, 5 yrs, 7st 8lbs	Watts	0
Duke of Portland's Mannlicher, 5yrs, 8st 4lbs	Hardy	0
Mr J Musker's McYardley, 5 yrs, 8st	O Madden	0
„ Douglas Baird's Marmelo, 4 yrs, 7st 11lbs	J H Martin	0
„ Mr L de Rothschild's Pom Pom, 4 yrs 6st 8lbs	C Loates	0
Sir J Blundell Maple's Glorious Uncertainty, 4 yrs, 6st 7lbs (car 6st 9lbs)	Miller	0
Mr J W Larnach's Tingewick 3 yrs, 6st 5lbs	McGough	0

(Winner trained by R. Day, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 100 to 30 agast Alderman, 4 to 1 McYardley, 6 to 1 Mardonius, 7 to 1 each Pom Pom and Glorius Uncertainty, 8 to 1 Mannlicher, 10 to 1 Parody, and 100 to 7 any other (offered).

Won easily by a length; four lengths separated second and third. Time—2mins 37secs, Marmeld broke a fetlock joint and was subsequently destroyed.

There was little or no improvement in the weather at Newmarket to-day, and when racing was resumed with the Second Welter Handicap, snow was falling heavily, whilst there was a biting northerly wind. Of course, many declined to see the meeting out, and the proceedings were lacking in life. Grateley had a big plunge on General Cronje for the first event, and after a desperate race he won by a short head. A terrific snowstorm was raging when Coal Sack won the Biennial Stakes. Details:—

THE BENNINGTON STAKES—Of 50 sovs each, h ft, for three-year-olds. D M. (one mile).

Sir J Miller's Rock Sand, by Sainfoin—Roquebrune, 9st 4lbs	J H Martin	1
Sir E Cassel's Love Charm, 8st 4lbs	Halsey	2
Mr L Brassey's San Terenzo, 8st 11lbs	K Cannon	3

(Winner trained by Blackwell).

BETTING: 5 to 1 on Rock Sand, 5 to 1 agst Love Charm, 20 to 1 San Terenzo (offered).

They ran as placed throughout. Rock Sand winning by a length; bad third.

THE CRAVEN STAKES—Of 500 sovs added to a Sweepstakes of 10 sovs each for starters; second to receive 50 sovs; for three-year-olds. An M. (one mile 22 yards).

Sir E Vincent's Countermark, by Worcester—Asay, 8st 13lbs	W Lane	1
Mr W C Whitney's Pan Michael, 8st 5lbs	J H Martin	2
Lord Derby's Gay Gordon, by St Frusquin—Broad Corrie, 8st 5lbs	D Maher	3
Mr J Musker's William Rufus, 9st 13lbs	O Madden	0
Mr L Brassey's Saltpetre, 8st 5lbs	K Cannon	0
Lord Dunraven's Morgendale, 8st 5lbs	Croft	0
Sir Waldie Griffith's Omar Khayyam, 8st 5lbs	F Hardy	0
Mr T Leader's North River, 8st 5lbs	C Leader	0
Duke of Portland's Brauneberg, 8st 5lbs	M Cannon	0

(Winner trained by R. Day).

BETTING: 5 to 1 agst Countermark, 9 to 2 Pan Michael 20 to 1 Gay Gordon.

FOOTBALL

ASSOCIATION RULES.

THE LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP.

DIVISION 1.

DERBY COUNTY vs. SHEFFIELD WEDNESDAY.—There were 10,000 spectators on the Baseball Ground on Saturday, the 11th instant, the weather being fine at starting, though a few smart showers fell towards the close of the game. Davis had sufficiently recovered from the injury he had sustained in the International match on the previous Saturday to be able to play, but Bloomer was an absentee from the Derby side, having been kicked on the ankle at Newcastle on Good Friday—an injury that may possibly keep him out of the final next Saturday. Wednesday had the benefit of the wind in the first half, but they failed to make much use of it, and after seventeen minutes' play they had the misfortune to lose the services of Davis, through the latter's ankle giving way. Derby afterwards played finely and had more of the play than their rivals. Boag once failed to reach a centre from York, but later on he sent in a splendid shot that Lyall saved in fine style. Five minutes from the interval, however, some capital work by the Derby right wing resulted in Boag getting in a capital shot which Lyall failed to clear, and which with some assistance from Richards passed into the net. The second half was chiefly remarkable for the extraordinary persistency with which Sheffield tried to equalise. Fryer had quite as much work to do as Lyall, and more than once it appeared as though he would be beaten. The visitors throughout this half played only one back, and this quite upset the calculation of the Derby forwards, who were given offside again and again. The Derby men, it should be added, played in red shirts, it having been arranged that they shall don that colour next Saturday, whilst Bury play in blue. Result: Derby County, one goal; Sheffield Wednesday, none.

BOLTON WANDERERS vs. SUNDERLAND.—This important match was played at Bolton on Saturday, the 11th instant, and proved a capital attraction, fully 14,000 being present. The visitors won the toss, and were helped with a strong wind. Hogg early on became dangerous, but Brown kicked strongly, and for a time the home team had the best of matters, Marsh and Greenhalgh going very close. Try as they would neither side could make an impression, and the score-sheet at the interval was blank. Resuming, with the same advantages that the visitors enjoyed in the first half, the home team made matters warm for Sunderland, and White, with a magnificent shot, beat Doig all the way. Not content with this, they again pressed strong, and Marsh, after trying on several occasions to get through, eventually scored a lovely goal, and a fine game ended in a win for Bolton by two goals to love.

SHEFFIELD UNITED vs. GRIMSBY TOWN.—The Sheffield United Club placed in the field for its last home match on Saturday, the 11th instant, the same team as had beaten Notts County the previous day, save that Lang, the latest acquisition from Barnsley, took the outside right position. Grimsby had Gardner away in addition to Hall, and Appleyard has been transferred to Newcastle for £400, so that he also was missing from their ranks. There were about 9,000 people present, the weather being beautifully fine and pleasant, Grimsby won the toss, but throughout the game could make but little headway, and before a quarter of an hour had elapsed Archie Needham headed past Whittaker, and so put on the first goal. Right up to the interval Grimsby were seldom dangerous, and at that stage the United led by one goal to love. The opening of the second half saw Brown score in the first half-minute, and again United were much more dangerous than their rivals. Before the end Brown put on a third with a superb shot, and Sheffield United won by three goals to love.

NEWCASTLE UNITED vs. BURY.—These clubs met at Newcastle on Saturday, the 11th instant, in gusty weather and before 18 00 spectators. Newcastle had Turner at outside right, vice Roberts, who on Friday sprained his thigh against Derby County. Newcastle opened strongly, but the Bury forwards were in great form and troubled the Newcastle defence greatly. The shooting all round, however, was but moderate several good chances being missed, Wood and Leeming being the chief offenders. Eventually Templeton broke away and centred. McColl from the ruck shot in, but the ball rebounded and Turner, meeting it, banged it into the net. Newcastle had the better of the game until the interval and led by a goal to love. In the second half play was even, and Newcastle, against the wind, almost scored by McColl and Templeton, whilst at the other end Kingsley saved miraculously whilst lying on the goal-line. The "Shakers" put forth a big effort towards the close, but Newcastle defended well, and just on time Turner who had been limping badly, brought Monteith to his knees. Final: Newcastle United, one goal; Bury none.

WOLVERHAMPTON WANDERERS vs. NOTTS FOREST.—Playing at home on Saturday, the Wanderers beat the Forest by brilliant football, and it was only the excellence of Linacre in the visitors' goal that prevented a larger score than two to one. Starting splendidly the Wolves opened the scoring through Haywood, after five minutes' play. Wooldridge and Smith then had points disallowed, but Fellows added a second and legitimate goal. The Forest improved, and Sugden reduced the lead a few minutes before the interval. In the second half the Wanderers again had nearly all [illegible] play, but nothing further was scored, owing to Linacre's brilliant defence

LIVERPOOL vs. ASTON VILLA.—On Saturday at Liverpool the above clubs were well represented, and a fairly good game under adverse weather conditions resulted in favour of the home team by two goals to one. Liverpool had to face the wind at the start, but they kept the Villa out by capital defence. Platt being particularly good. The home team subsequently became very aggressive, both Raybould and Goddard scoring goals before the interval. In the second half the Villa lost chances through weak play in front of goal, their shots being ill-directed. At length a penalty kick against Glover ena led McLuckie to score, the result being: Liverpool, two goals; Aston Villa, one.

NOTTS COUNTY vs. STOKE.—After drawing at Sunderland on Friday, toke on Saturday, gave a vastly different display at Nottingham, and were badly beaten by three goals to none. Two changes were made in the Stoke team, while Pennington reappeared in goal for Notts. After the County had appealed in vain for a penalty kick Humphreys opened the scoring for them, this being the only goal of a moderate first half. Weak forward play rather spoiled the closing stages but Humphreys obtained a second goal for Notts, and Green added a third from a penalty kick.

MIDDLESBROUGH vs. BLACKBURN ROVERS.—At Middlesbrough, on Saturday, the home team beat the Rovers with unexpected ease by four goals to none McAulay opened the scoring from a penalty kick, while Cassidy added a second goal before half-time from a pass by A. Robinson. Despite the capital defence of Crompton in the second half, Robertson twice broke through and scored, Middlesbrough thus claiming a very handsome victory.

RECORD TO SATURDAY, 11TH APRIL (INCLUSIVE).

	Plyd.	Won	Drn	Lost.	Pts.	Goals For	Goals Agst.
Sheffield Wednesday	33	18	4	11	40	51	35
Sunderland	31	15	9	7	39	47	29
Sheffield United	33	17	5	11	39	56	40
Liverpool	31	15	4	12	34	64	48
Stoke	31	14	6	11	34	43	35
Derby County	31	16	2	13	34	47	39
W Brom Albion	31	15	4	12	34	49	47
Aston Villa	29	14	3	12	31	46	37
Bury	31	14	3	14	31	47	40
Notts County	31	12	7	12	31	49	43
Wolvrhmptn Wnd	31	13	5	13	31	46	51
Notts Forest	32	12	7	13	31	43	45
Everton	32	12	6	14	30	43	44
Middlesbrough	30	13	3	14	29	36	41
Newcastle United	31	12	4	15	28	37	48
Blackburn Rovers	32	10	5	17	25	38	62
Grimsby Town	32	8	8	16	24	41	58
Bolton Wanderers	32	8	3	21	19	37	69

DIVISION 2.

LEICESTER FOSSE vs. WOOLWICH ARSENAL.—Of the 10,0 0 spectators who witnessed this match at Leicester on Saturday, nearly one half were supporters of the Arsenal team, who had the satisfaction of applauding a 2—0 victory. Play in the first half was very interesting, each side being dangerous in turn. The Gunners, however, showed much the better combination. Coleman, the inside right, directing several capital shots to Ling, which the home keeper successfully dealt with. Corners were forced by both sides nearing the interval, but nothing tangible resulted, and half-time arrived without a score. Soon after resuming a foul by Rouleston on Briercliffe inside the penalty line gave the Arsenal an opportunity, but Jackson kicked straight to Ling, who had little difficulty in clearing. A spell of even play, by no means devoid of interest, ensued. Occasionally the Fosse pressed, but they were by no means smart in front of goal, and the ball was seldom past the opposing backs. Once Simpson, on the left wing, made a brilliant effort on his own, but the shot went wide from short range. This was really Fosse's best opportunity, for the Arsenal afterwards renewed their attack with great vigour. Another foul by Rouleston on Briercliffe led up to an onslaught on the home goal, and the ball being sent across to Coleman, who scored with a beautiful oblique shot well out of Ling's reach. In the next few minutes the bulk of the home defence rested upon Ling, who came out of a trying ordeal with credit, shots high and low being capably dealt with. At length after a couple of brilliant saves in succession, he conceded a corner from which Gooing headed through. Woolwich continued to hold the whip hand, and was never seriously threatened. Result: Woolwich Arsenal, two goals; Leicester Fosse, none.

RECORD TO SATURDAY, 11TH APRIL (INCLUSIVE).

	Plyd.	Won.	Drn.	Lost	Pts.	Goals For	Goals Agst.
Manchester City	33	24	4	5	52	92	29
Small Heath	32	23	3	6	49	72	32
Woolwich Arsenal	33	20	7	6	47	66	30
Bristol City	32	15	8	9	38	55	38
Chesterfield	31	13	8	10	34	64	47
Manchester United	30	13	7	10	33	46	35
Preston North End	31	13	7	11	33	54	38
Burslem Port Vale	31	12	7	12	31	54	60
Barnsley	29	12	6	11	30	50	44
Lincoln City	32	12	5	15	29	46	49
Burton United	31	11	6	14	28	39	55
Glossop	32	11	5	16	27	40	54
Blackpool	33	8	10	15	26	42	58
Gainsboro' Trinity	30	10	5	15	25	36	57
Leicester Fosse	31	10	5	16	25	41	65
Doncaster Rovers	32	9	6	17	24	35	68
Burnley	33	6	8	19	20	30	74
Stockport County	32	6	5	21	17	34	73

IMPORTANT RESULTS.

THE LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP.—DIVISION 1.

	G.		G.
Wolverhampton Wndrs	2	bt Notts Forest	1
Derby County	1	bt Sheffield Wednesday	0
Middlesbrough	4	bt Blackburn Rovers	0
Sheffield United	3	bt Grimsby	0
Newcastle United	1	bt Bury	0
Bolton Wanderers	2	bt Sunderland	0
Liverpool	2	bt Aston Villa	1
Notts County	3	bt Stoke	0

DIVISION 2.

Woolwich Arsenal	2	bt Leicester Fosse	0
Burton United	3	bt Gainsborough Trinity	0
Manchester City	2	bt Blackpool	0
Small Heath	12	bt Doncaster Rovers	0
Preston North End	3	bt Manchester United	1
Barnsley	2	bt Bristol City	0
Chesterfield	1	bt Lincoln City	0
Burnley	3	bt Stockport County	2
Burslem Port Value	1	bt Glossop	0

THE WESTERN LEAGUE.—DIVISION 1.

Reading	1	bt West Ham United	0
Queen's Park Rangers	1	bt Bristol Rovers	0

THE SOUTHERN LEAGUE.—DIVISION 1.

Portsmouth	4	bt Brentford	0
New Brompton	3	bt Tottenham Hotspur	0
Luton	3	bt Wellingborough	1
Northampton	2	bt Swindon	0

DIVISION 2.

Fulham	7	bt Grays United	0

THE SCOTTISH CUP.—FINAL TIE.

LONDON LEAGUE.—DIVISION 1.

Clapton Orient	2	bt Tottenham Hotspur Res	0
†Glasgow Rangers	1	dr Heart of Midlothian	1

† At Glasgow.

THE MIDLAND LEAGUE.

Lincoln City Reserves	5	bt Leicester Fosse Res	1
Whitwick Whitecross	6	bt Gainsboro' Trin Res	1
Sheffield Wednesday Res	3	bt Derby County Res	0
Grimsby Reserves	1	dr Barnsley Reserves	1
Newark	4	bt Sheffield United Res	0
Walsall	1	dr Hinckley	1
Burton United Reserves	3	bt Denaby	0

SCOTTISH INTER-CITY LEAGUE.

St Mirren	1	bt Dundee	0
Hibernians	2	bt Celtic	1

LONDON LEAGUE.—DIVISION 1.

Queen's Pk Rangers Res	1	bt Clapton Orient	0
Woolwich Arsenal Res	4	bt Leyton	1

DIVISION 2.

Walthamstow Town	4	bt Child's Hill Imperial	2

SOUTHERN SUBURBAN LEAGUE.

Dulwich Hamlet	1	dr Wandsworth	1

THE NORTHERN LEAGUE.

Middlesbrough Res	2	bt West Hartlepool	0
Stockton	4	bt Scarborough	0
Sunderland Reserves	11	bt St. Augustine's	0
South Bank	1	bt Stockton St. John's	0
Crook	2	bt Grangetown	1

WEST YORKSHIRE CUP.—FINAL.

Altofts	1	dr Mirfields	1

SOUTHPORT CHARITY CUP.—SEMI-FINAL.

Skelmersdale United	0	dr Southport Central	0

BIRMINGHAM AND DISTRICT LEAGUE.

Small Heath Reserves	1	bt Worcester City	0
Aston Villa Reserves	12	bt Ironbridge	0
Crewe Alexander	5	bt Dudley	0
Coventry City	2	bt Wolverhmpn Wndrs	1
Kidderminster H	4	bt Stafford Rangers	1
Wellington	2	bt W Brmwch Albion Res	0
Druids	0	dr Shrewsbury Town	0
Halesowen	1	bt Stoke Reserves	0
Brierly Hill Alliance	0	dr Stourbridge	0

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.—DIVISION 2.

Falkirk	4	bt Motherwell	2
Arthurlie	3	bt Hamilton Acads	2

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA.

PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS
OBTAINABLE FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.
GOLDMOHURS.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS in CALCUTTA: Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.
PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

OTHER MATCHES.

Civil Service ...	...	2	bt	Budapest Torna	... 1
War Office ...	...	5	bt	Guernsey Island	... 1
Shepherd's Bush	...	3	bt	Oxford City	... 1
London Caledonians	...	2	bt	Casuals ...	... 2
Kettering ...	...	2	dr	Scottish Amateurs	... 0
Corinthians ...		2	bt	Southampton	... 0
Clapton ...	...	5	bt	King's Lynn	... 0
Brighton Railway	...	3	bt	West Croydon Res	... 0
Millwall ...	...	1	bt	3rd Lanark...	... 0
Newportonians	...	3	bt	Lymington A.	... 0
Old Tollingtonians	...	1	bt	Bexhill ...	... 0
Godalming ...	...	3	bt	Beddington Corner	... 2
Edmonton Woodgrange	...	4	bt	Alston Works	... 2
West Croydon ...	...	4	bt	Grenadier Guards	... 1
Willesden Town	...	9	bt	Luton Reserves	... 0
Plashet ...	...	0	dr	South Borough	... 1
Deal Cinque Ports	...	5	bt	Raveley ...	... 0
Hunstanton ...	...	1	bt	Kestrel ...	... 1
G E R Mechanics	...	3	bt	Boleyn Castle	... 1
Buckenham ...	...	2	bt	Chesham Generals Rs	... 1
Reigate Priory...	...	10	bt	Bows Park ...	... 0
Watford ...	...	7	bt	Darlington ...	... 0
Brighton and Hove	...	4	bt	Bedford Queen's	... 2
Godalming ...	...	0	bt	Beddington Corner	... 0
Woking ...	...	7	bt	Weybridge ...	... 2
Addlestone ...	...	4	bt	Royal Berks	... 2
Ventnor ...	...	3	bt	Hornsey United	... 1
H M S Excellent	...	3	bt	Ryde ...	... 1
R M A Portsmouth	...	3	bt	Field Artillery	... 1
Farnham ...	...	3	bt	Aldershot Town	... 0
Haverhill ...	...	8	bt	Saffron Walden	... 2
Aberdare ...	..	3	bt	Upton Park	... 0
Banbury Harriers	...	3	bt	King's Sutton	... 0
Ramsgate St George	...	4	bt	London Caledns Res	... 2
S E College ...	...	2	bt	St Lawrence	... 0
Henley ...	...	7	bt	Marlow Wanderers	... 1
Hailsham ...	...	1	dr	Croydon Wanderers	... 1
Ipswich ...	...	3	bt	Lynn ...	... 2
Harwich ...	...	4	bt	Finchley ...	... 2
Leytonstone ...	...	3	bt	Deptford Town	... 1
Southport Central	...	2	bt	Everton ...	.. 1
Maidenhead Norfolkians	...	1	bt	Maidenhead...	... 0
Wycombe Wanderers	...	4	bt	London Welsh	... 1
Yarmouth R A	...	5	bt	Yarmouth Swifts	... 1
Maldon ..	...	9	bt	Eton Mission	... 2
Old Holloway Collegians	...	3	bt	Walton Town	... 2
Lowestoft ...	...	7	bt	C E Y M S ...	... 0
Kirkley ...	...	4	bt	Halesworth ...	... 1
Southampton League	...	4	bt	Bournemouth League	... 2
Clapton (A) ...	...	5	bt	Colchester Town	... 2
Porth ...	...	1	dr	West Norwood	... 1
Ayr ...	...	2	bt	Kilmarnock	... 0
Thornerbank ...	...	3	bt	Johnstone ...	... 0
Alloa Athletic ...	...	5	bt	Stenhousemuir	... 2
Royal Albert ...	...	1	bt	Albion Rovers	... 0
Beith ...	...	3	bt	Cartvale ...	... 1
Orion ...	...	3	bt	Cowdenbeath	... 1
Dundee Wanderers	...	3	bt	Forfar Athletic	... 1
St Johnstone ...	...	1	dr	Aberdeen ...	... 1
Dunfermline Athletic	...	0	dr	Adventurers	... 0
Victoria United	...	2	bt	East Stirlingshire	... 0
Wells City ...	...	1	dr	London Devonians	... 0
Clapton ...	...	5	bt	Yarmouth ...	... 0

RUGBY RULES.

MIDLAND COUNTIES JUNIOR CUP.—FINAL.

	G.T.			G.T.
†Moseley (A) (11) ...	1	2	bt Stratford (A) (4) ...	1 0

†At Leicester.

OTHER MATCHES.

Swansea (28)	...	6	0	bt Barbarians	... 0 0
Devonport Albion (19)		2	3	bt Old Mercht Tlrs (4)	... 1 0
Newport (22)	...	2	4	bt Rockcliff (3)	... 0 1
Mountain Ash (26)	...	4	3	bt London Welsh (5)	... 2 0
Cardiff (13)	...	2	1	bt Hartlepool Rovers	... 0 0
Northampton (11)	...	2	1	bt West Hartlepool (7)	... 2 0
North of Ireland (8)	...	1	1	bt Birkenhd Park (3)	... 0 0
Bedford (11)	...	2	1	bt Olney (3)	... 0 1
Neath (6) ...	...	0	2	bt Aberavon (4)	... 1 0
Gloucester (11)	...	1	2	bt Penygraig	... 0 0
Stroud (22)	...	—		bt Abergavenny (3)	... 0 1
Exeter M	...	0	0	dr Leicester	.. 0 0
Bristol (9)	...	2	0	bt Cheltenham (3)	... 0 1
Twickenham (11)	...	—		bt Hammersmith (A)	... 0 0
Bridgwater (34)	...	5	3	bt London Devonians	... 0 0
Torquay Athletic (31)	...	5	2	bt Civil Service (11)	... 2 1
Wimbledon (12)	...	—		bt Mr Gunnery's XV (9)	—
Llanelly (20)	...	1	5	bt Lydney ...	... 9 0
Westoe (6) ...	...	0	2	dr Durham City (5)	... 0 2
Taunton (18)	...	—		bt Penylan (7)	... 1 1
Furness (11)	...	1	2	bt Malone (3)	... 6 1
Plymouth (17)	...	—		bt Bristol Wanders (15)	—
Carlisle (3) ...	...	0	1	bt Whitehaven (3)	... 0 1
Castleford (23)	...	1	6	bt Tudhoe (3)	.. 0 1
Bath (24) ...	...	0	8	bt Knowle ...	... 0 0

CRICKET.

SURREY vs. LONDON COUNTY C.C.—Played at the Oval on 13th, 14th, and 15th April.

For various reasons Surrey were unable to put anything like their best team in the field, among the absentees being Abel, Richardson, E. M. Dowson, Brockwell, Stedman, and H. D. G. Leveson-Gower, while of course V. F. S. Crawford will now no longer be included in the eleven. As usual Dr. Grace managed to get together a powerful team, and he introduced B. Jaya Ram, the Indian batsman, to first-class matches. The weather was entirely unsuitable for cricket, being cold and cheerless in the extreme, but for all that some five thousand people were induced to watch the game on the Bank Holiday. The feature of the day, and indeed of the match, was the use of the gauge by Titchmarsh, the umpire at the pavilion end, who tested the bats of several players on their arrival at the wicket. Those of Sewell and Board were the only ones challenged which would not pass muster at the first time of asking; indeed, it was not until Sewell produced his third bat that the umpire was satisfied. The two players, instead of being disconcerted by the incident, proved the largest run-getters on the side. Although W. L. Murdoch, Jaya Ram, and Braund were all disposed of for small scores, the Doctor himself played a very pretty innings, while the pair named greatly distinguished themselves. In partnership, after coming together when five wickets had fallen for less than a hundred, they put on 127 runs in about an hour and a half. Sewell was the hero of the day, and played the best innings of his career as a first-class cricketer. Last year he occasionally showed clearly enough that he was a fine player, who only wanted a little good fortune to come to the front, and it may be hoped that this good fortune will not be wanting to him in the future. He certainly has the makings of a fine cricketer. The only Surrey bowler who met with marked success was Hayward, but bowlers were decidedly handicapped by the cold weather. Snow fell during the London County innings, and caused a cessation of play for about ten minutes. At the end of the day London County had completed a first innings of 267, while Surrey had made 32 1or the loss of a wicket. On Tuesday Hayward and Hayes quickly settled down to their work, and the Surrey score progressed steadily. Both players exhibited fine cricket, Hayward's display being a very meritorious one considering the earliness of the season. Several of his strokes were quite reminiscent of the form he showed in 1899, in which year he scored over a thousand runs by the end of May. His capital all-round cricket, indeed, was quite the most gratifying feature of the match from a Surrey point of view. His score of 107 was composed of two 5s, eleven 4's, eight 2's, and thirty-seven singles, there not being, curiously enough, any 3's. Walker, Jephson and Lockwood all scored well, and when the last Surrey wicket fell the home team held an advantage of 118 runs on the first innings. Odell bowled capitally throughout, his performance being really better than his analysis would lead one to suppose. His success certainly promises well for Leicestershire cricket during the coming season. With a somewhat heavy balance against them, London County commenced their second innings on the evening of the second day. At the drawing of stumps, both Murdoch and Jaya Ram had been disposed of for trifling scores, and the outlook for the visitors was certainly not a bright one, especially as Braund would be unable to bat. Still, the fact that W. G. was yet undefeated, was a comforting reflection. Yesterday the Doctor played a great innings for 81, at a time when nobody else could make any serious stand against the Surrey attack. It was difficult, as one watched his display, to realise that thirty-nine years had passed since he played his first match—for the South Wales Club—on the Oval. The collapse of the side, for collapse it may be called, despite the fact that the total reached 183, placed the result of the match beyond doubt, for Surrey, being set only 66 runs to win, made light of the task and obtained the number for the loss of two wickets. Murdoch's success—somewhat unexpected, be it added—as a bowler at quite the end of the match caused much amusement, and to nobody more than to Murdoch himself, who appeared extremely gratified at his feat.

LONDON COUNTY C. C.

1st Innings.			2nd Innings.
W G Grace, b Lees ...	43	c Hayward, b Headfield ...	81
W L Murdoch, c Strudwick b Hadfield	9	b Headfield	9
B Jaya Ram, c Hayes, b Hadfield	5	c Headfield, b Lees ...	3
Braund, c Holland, b Davis	11	absent, ill	0
N F Norman, c Hayes, b Davis	0	b Hayward	7
Sewell, c Davis, b Hayward	90	c Lockwood, b Headfield	18
Board, c Strudwick b Lees	59	c Strudwick, b Lees ...	17
Vine, b Hayward ...	26	c Hayes, b Davis ...	30
J G Hirsch, b Hayward ...	0	run out	0
W W Odell, not out ...	7	c Lees, b Hadfield ...	0
P R May, b Hayward ...	0	not out	7
B 14, l-b 3	17	B 9, l-b 2	11
Total	267	Total	183

SURREY.

1st Innings.		2nd Innings.
Hayward, b Vine ...	107
E Wiltshire, c Hirsch, b Braund	0	b Murdoch	13
Hayes, c Sewell, b Odell ...	51	not out	43
Holland, b Odell ...	17
Lockwood, b Odell ...	36	not out	1
Lees, lbw, b Odell ...	13
L Walker, c Vine, b May	54
Davis, c and b Odell ...	8	st Board, b Odell ...	1
G H Hadfield, c Braund, b Odell	10
D L A Jephson, not out ...	47
Strudwick, c Board, b Vine	12
B 22, l-b 8 ..	30	B 8, l-b 1	9
Total	385	Total (2 wkts)	67

LONDON COUNTY.

	1st Innings. O.	M.	R.	W.	2nd Innings. O.	M.	R.	W.
Lockwood ...	7	0	27	0
Hadfield ...	19	4	68	2	26	3	61	4
Lees ...	27	3	71	2	29·3	10	54	2
Davis ...	15	1	64	2	13	3	27	1
Hayes ...	1	0	8	0
Hayward ...	32	0	11	4	10	2	30	1
Holland ...	3	1	6	0

SURREY.

	1st Innings. O.	M.	R.	W.	2nd Innings. O.	M.	R.	W.
Braund ...	17	1	57	1
Odell ..	42	10	117	6	5	0	27	1
Vine ...	36.4	4	99	2
May ...	15	4	57	1	2	0	5	0
Hirsch ...	3	0	20	0
Grace ...	1	0	5	0
					Sewell	4	1	10	0
					Jaya Ram	4	0	12	0
					Murdoch	1.1	1	4	1

PEDESTRIANISM.

There was a record attendance—fully 6,000 persons—at the Tee-To-Tum Grounds, Stamford Hill, on the 1th instant, when a meeting promoted by the London Sports Syndicate was held, and a capital afternoon's sport was witnessed, the entries being exceptionally large and the competition keen throughout. The principal event was a Ten-mile Championship, and in this twenty of the leading "pros," including Fred. E. Bacon, Len Hurst, Bob Hallan, Sergt. F. Moore, G. Thomas, and C. W. Hart took part. The race was run at a capital pace, made in the early stages by Thomas, Moore, Bacon, Hurst, and Oliver alternately, but at the finish Thomas completely outpaced Bacon, and won easily. As a man remarked, quoting a famous statesman, it was not the first time a Frenchman ran away from an English soldier, but, all the same, the plucky visitor, who is built on fine lines, was given quite an ovation when he finished. No less than 120 competitors competed in the 100 Yards and 71 in the Mile, the cycle and other events also filling well. Throughout the management was excellent, and the best order prevailed on the ground, where a good band discoursed a choice selection of music, whilst an additional feature was the presence of a substantial ambulance corps, whose services, fortunately, were not required. The officials were: Referee, Mr R. P. Watson; starter, Mr. G. Thurling; handicapper, Mr. F. Moore; marksmen Messrs C. Westhall and W. S. Clifton; lap scorer, Mr. J. Palmer. Details:

£10 100 Yards All-England Handicap (first prize £7, second £2, third £1) (120 entries).—Winners of heats: W. Bell, Bermondsey; A. Impey, Holloway; H. Whiting, Wandsworth; W. Fenn, Old Ford; W. Bradshaw, Smith-field; F. Palm, Clapham; H. Donald, Bow; A. E. Coppard, Brighton; W. Payne, Old Ford; M. Johnson, Edmonton; J. Stuttle, Bow; E. C. Hearn, Highgate; W. Chuck, Stratford; J. Beldom, Bow; and H. West, Hackney. Second round.—Winners of heats: Whiting, Donald, Stuttle, and Hearn. Final heat: Donald, 14½ yards start, 1; Stuttle, 6½, 2; Whiting, 13½, 3; Hearn, 12½, 0. Won a good race by a yard. Time, 10⅘secs.

Two-Mile Bicycle Handicap (twenty entries).—Heat 1: E. Eginton Croydon, 70 yards start, 1; A. Taylor, Notting Hill, 70, 2. Won easily. Heat 2: G. Flint, Croydon, 160 yards start, 1; A. Norris, Holloway, 170, 2. Won by sixty yards. Final: Flint, 1; Taylor, 2; Eginton, 3. Won by half a lap; five lengths between second and third.

One Mile Handicap.—E. Hall, Camberwell, 180 yards start, 1; W. Swan, Catford, 115, 2; T. Clark, Stratford, 155, 3. Thirty-eight competed. Hall quickly took the measure of his opponents, and, sailing away with a good lead, was never approached, winning at the finish by thirty yards; ten yards between second and third.

Three-mile Championship Bicycle Race (for bonâ-fide newspaper carriers).—A. Taylor ("Echo"), Notting Hill, 1; E. Botting ("Echo"), Hornsey, 2; H. Smith ("Star"), Peckham, 3. Six started. Won, after a capital race, by half a wheel; a good third.

Mile Bicycle Handicap (boys under 15 years).—H. Fold (10 years), Islington, 160 yards start, 1; A. Egington (13), Croydon, 6, 2; J. James (15), Holloway, 3. Ten started. Won easily by forty yards; fifteen yards between second and third.

300 Yards Handicap (71 entries).—Winner of heats were: A. Galvan, 38 yards start; H. Whiting, 38; M. Johnson, 40; P. Stephens, 34; H. Ward, 16; F. Palm, 48; W. Chuck, 31; and J. Watson, 71. Final: H. Whiting, 1; M. Johnson, 2; W. Chuck, 3. Won, after a capital race, by half a yard; same between second and third.

Sack Race.—W. Hoyle, Manchester, 1; G. Gowler, Waltham, 2.

Obstacle Race.—F. Parkes, Holloway, 1.

Ten-mile Professional Championship of the World; first prize £20, second £4, third £2. A further prize of £15 was offered if the ten-mile record (51mins 6secs.) was broken. Sent away to a capital start, the pace was made for fully half the journey by Thomas, Bacon, and Olliver, Stell and Hurst being in their wake. At the end of the sixth mile the issue rested between the Frenchman, Thomas, Fred Bacon, and Olliver. The latter was done with in the ninth, and entering on the tenth Thomas drew away from the English champion and increasing his lead each lap, won by seventy yards; about the same distance separating second and third at the finish, when the order was: G. Thomas, Paris 1; Fred E. Bacon, 2; Tom E. Olliver, Sussex, 3. Twenty started. The times of the respective leaders were: One mile. Moore, 5mins 10secs; two, Thomas, 10mins 30secs; three, Olliver 15mins 55secs; four, Bacon, 21mins 6secs.; five, Thomas 32mins 38secs; seven, Bacon, 38mins 2secs; eight, Thomas, 43mins 29secs; nine, Thomas, 49mins. 10secs; and ten, Thomas, 54mins. 31secs.

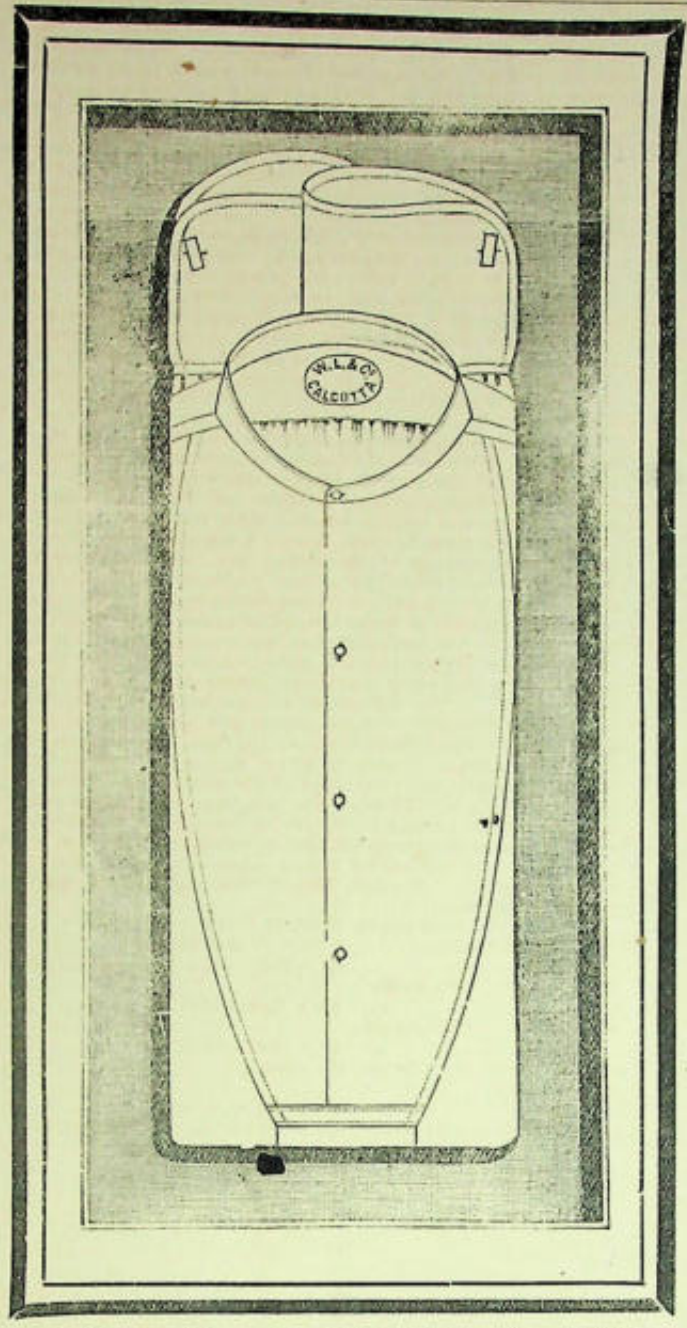
BOXING.

The Birmingham Sports Syndicate scored a big success on the 13th instant, when a fine crowd witnessed some exciting work at the Warwickshire Horse Repository, Hill Street, Birmingham. An exceptionally strong card had been arranged by Mr. W. Jenkins, and, thanks to the admirable management of this gentleman, and his Lieutenant, Mr. H. E. Cleveland, the arrangement left absolutely nothing to be desired. The chief items were a fifteen-round contest for £100 aside, and a purse, between Matt Precious and Earnest Godwin, and one of twenty rounds, in which Eddie Connolly of New Brunswick, was opposed to Pat Daley, of London. Precious fought in his best form and, very aggressive, he kept Godwin going all the way, and finally won a hard, if rather awkward, set-to on points. The bout between Connolly and Daley also went the full length. In this the hitting was of a most punishing character throughout. Connolly was particularly aggressive, while Daley showed marked cleverness and cunning. There was not a moment's delay from start to finish, and finally at the end of a great set-to, Connolly gained a hard-earned victory. The officials were: Referee, Mr. G. T. Dunning (The Sportsman); timekeeper, Mr. H. E. Cleveland; while Mr. Frank Egerton was at his old post as M.C. The gloves used were by F. H. Ayres. Details:

The programme opened with a six-round contest between Fred Hickling (Birmingham) and Ike Bradley (Liverpool). After a lot of cautious sparring the local man got a good left to work, and found his mark half a dozen times without eliciting a reply. Bradley, who was at a disadvantage in the matter of height, repeatedly fell short with his left, but his right wanted a deal of watching, as he put something behind it. In the second round, also, there was more sparring than serious work, but at the next meeting the men got going, and Hickling drove his left straight home to some purpose. The fourth round proved to be the best so far, for Bradley bundled into his man in fine style and fought him all round the ring, Hickling being down when the gong went. The visitor again forced the business in Round 5, and although the Birmingham man stuck to his task very gamely to the end there was only one man in it, and Bradley won pretty comfortably.

MATT PRECIOUS AND ERNEST GODWIN.—This was a fifteen three-minute round contest for £100 aside and the Midland Sporting Syndicate's purse of £50. Godwin was seconded by Owen Moran, Jockey Saunders, Jem Gough, and Harry James, Jabez White, Alf. Robb, and Cockney Watson officiating in a similar capacity for Precious. Although he scaled only half a pound less than his opponent, Precious looked light in comparison, but both men were evidently in fine condition. It was a very tame opening, for there were not half a dozen blows struck in the first three minutes. When they faced for the second time both men were very wary, and almost invariably they clinched after striking. Godwin seemed the stronger man, but Precious soon demonstrated that he had lost very little of his old-time skill. A bad mistake by Precious at the opening of the third round gave Godwin a good chance, but he was slow, and Precious had recovered himself in an instant. A smashing left staggered Precious, but he immediately rallied, and, catching Godwin with the right, sent him to the floor. Godwin although dazed was soon on his feet again, but Precious followed up his advantage, and time came opportunely for his opponent. A very fine round followed, Precious damaging Godwin's prospects consider-

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA.



Flor de Sumatra Brand
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROOM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

BEACONSFIELDS.

Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

HAVE - - - YOU - - - - TRIED THIS SHIRT?

BEST VALUE IN INDIA AT THE PRICE.

THE 'PARAGON,'
LINEN FITTED SHIRT

For Day or Evening Wear

One, two or three Studholes.

Well Fitting
Durable and Comfortable.

PRICE
Rs. 32-0
per dozen.

Sample Shirt at Dozen Price.

WHITEAWAY, LAIDLAW & Co., CALCUTTA.

ESTABLISHED 1847. ESTABLISHED 1847.

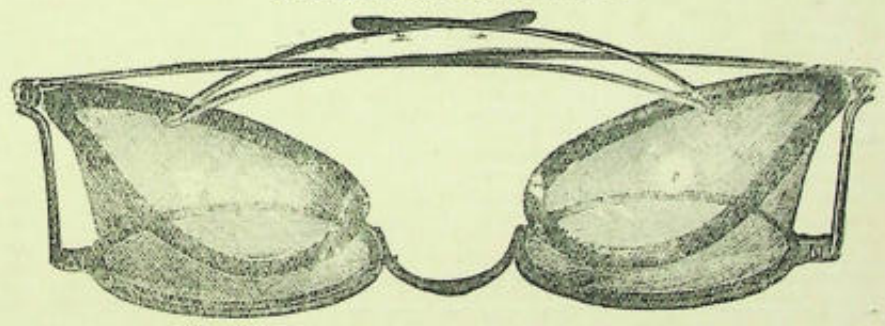
HAROLD & CO.

. . SOLE AGENTS FOR . .

JOHN BRINSMEAD & SONS.

By Royal Warrant to H. M. The King.
By Royal Warrant to H. M. The Queen.

NEW MODEL PIANOS.



The perfection of tone, touch and durability
Manufactured specially for India and extreme climates
In solid Chippendale Mahogany of unique and artistic design.

Upright Grand, Iron Frame, full trichord ... ... Rs. 1,000
Cottage, Iron Frame, full trichord ... ... „ 850-0

Other Pianos by the leading English and Continental Makers.
Particulars and Prices on application.

HAROLD & Co., Calcutta.

JAMES MURRAY & Co.,
CALCUTTA.

Eye-Preservers.

Close-fitting, velvet edged or plain, full Gauze, with fine "optical" flat parallel glasse Neutral, Green or Blue—

	Rs. As.
Best Steel Frames	10 0
Best Nickel	12 0
High-finish Silver	16 0

"D" Shape Preservers, fine "optical" parallel glasses, Neutral, Green or Blue, and with Curl, Straight, or double Arms—

	Rs. As.
Strong Steel Frames, from	4 8
Light do., highest finish, from	10 0
Highest finish Nickel from ... ... Rs. 7-8 to	10 0
Do. Silver	16 0

Blue or Smoke-tinted Glass with Power can be fitted in any Eyepreserver frame at a little extra cost.

EVERY DAY MENUS

— BY —

W. S. BURKE.

Editor of the "INDIAN FIELD."

Rs. 2 per copy.

Messrs THACKER SPINK & CO., CALCUTTA.

— OR —

The Manager, the "INDIAN FIELD."

CALCUTTA.

A very Popular
MESS AND CLUB
WHISKEY IN WOOD.

JOHN HOPKINS & Co.'s OLD SCOTCH
Per Gallon Rs. 13-8.
GUARANTEED 5 OVER PROOF.

Supplied in - - -

Original Hogsheads and Quarter Casks.

DEVEREUX & Co., Ld. Wine Merchants and Mess Agents,

4, BANKSHALL STREET, CALCUTTA; ALSO AT BOMBAY AND LONDON.

Pianos

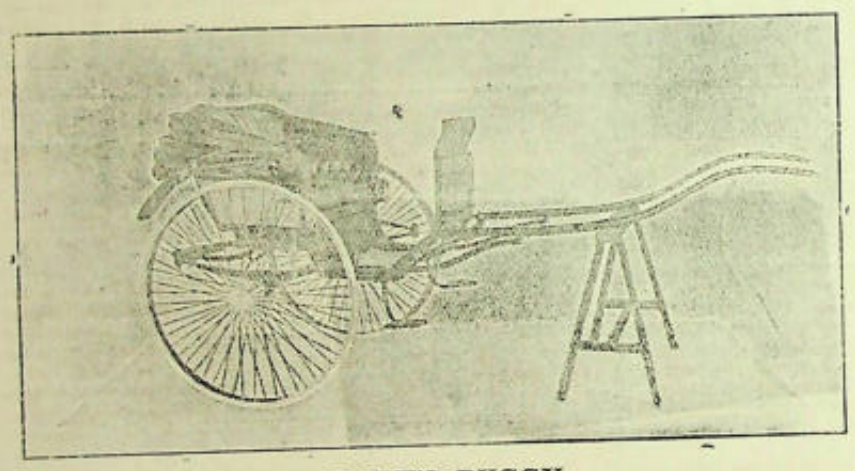
Now being returned from hire, most of them being brand new, are offered at special low prices.

Pianolas

A fresh shipment of these excellent Piano players just received.

Call or write for prices and particulars.

T. E. Bevan and Co.,



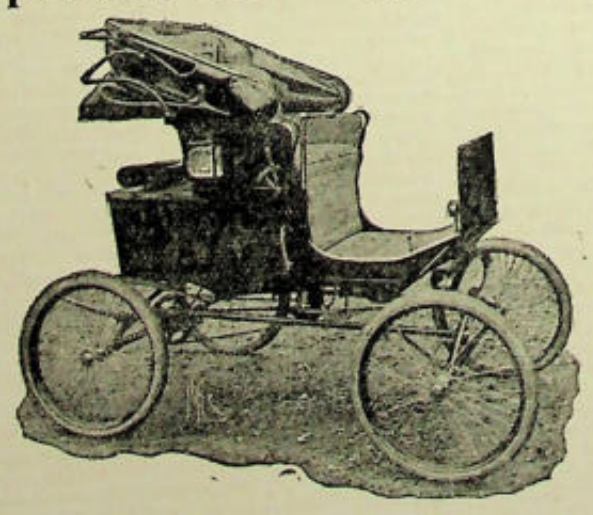
CALCUTTA.

STEUART & Co., Calcutta.

ESTABLISHED 1775.

COACH BUILDERS

TO HIS EXCELLENCY LORD CURZON.



LADY'S BUGGY.

THE

MOTOR TRANSPORT & SUPPLY Co.,

Importers and Suppliers of

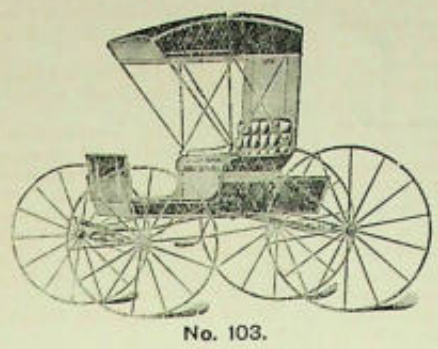
Heavy Steam Transport Vehicles of all descriptions.

All types of Motor Cars.

Particulars and Estimate from the Agents:—

SHAW WALLACE & Co.,

Green Street, BOMBAY.



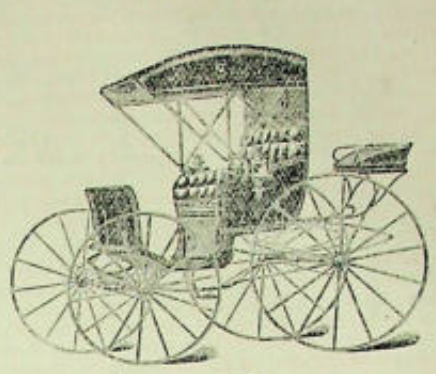
20, Strand Road, CALCUTTA.

CORTLAND

AMERICAN CARRIAGES.

Especially designedfor Indian Use.

VERY LIGHT WEIGHT, GREAT COMFORT, EASY DRAUGHT.



No. 103.

Spring Buggy.

A popular Buggy for general use, strong and elegant. Has room for carrying parcels. Fitted with waterproof rubber hood and side curtains.

Price as shown	28	Guineas.
Best lock-socket Lamps	2	,,
Syce seat and step	3	,,

No. 576.

"Princess" Three Spring Phaeton.

A very high class vehicle for Ladies and general use. Trimmed best dark green broadcloth. Has best leather hood and side curtains. Has rumble for servant. Painted dark green.

Price, including lamps, 55 Guineas.

No charge for cases or packing.

DELIVERED TO DOCKS IN LONDON.

Bankers:—London and County Bank, Covent Garden.

Illustrated Catalogues and every information post free from the Makers.

CORTLAND WAGON Co.,

Henrietta Street, Covent Garden, LONDON, W.C.

Cable Address:—"Eligible, London."

KEMP'S

Protumen REGISTERED

FROM THE

PUREST ENGLISH MILK.

Protumen is an admirable food for those working with the brain, and whose business requires nourishment; also for sufferers from wasting diseases: it being readily assimilated, sustaining and restorative. Pamphlet free. As. 8, Re. 1-0 and Rs. 2-0.

KEMP & CO., LIMITED.,

ELPHINSTONE CIRCLE,

BOMBAY.

ably by some wonderful rights. Still, there was very little between the men at the end of the fourth round. The next meeting was of a give-and-take character, but there was too much holding. Matt continued to have the better of the exchanges, his superior experience standing him in good stead. When they came up for the seventh round Precious fell down in the corner, and Godwin was loudly cheered for a sportsmanlike act in helping his opponent to rise. When they got at it again both received steadiers simultaneously, though Godwin's left under the eye shook Precious up a bit. Godwin at the next meeting forced the pace all through, with the result that Precious lost ground, and was also cautioned by the referee for using his forearm. Precious was the cleverer at the tenth meeting, and got in some beautiful straight lefts. Godwin's supporters appealed for a foul for a throw, but as it was probably Godwin's own fault for leaning, the referee ignored the claim. Very determined was the work in the eleventh. Blow after blow on the body distressed Godwin a good deal. Matt continued the same tactics with good effect, but when they came up for the thirteenth time he varied the proceedings by swinging both hands heavily to the face. The closing stages were simply an effort on the part of Godwin to escape a knock out, and it was marvellous how he escaped. He did avoid this, however, as much by his own gameness as by Precious's over-anxiety, but he lost on points, the victory of Matt being immensely popular.

EDDIE CONNOLLY (CANADA) vs. PAT DALY (LONDON.)—This was a contest of twenty three-minute rounds for £100 aside and the Midland Sports Syndicate purse of £50. Connolly was seconded by Jabez White, Alf. Robb, Billy Branson, and Darkey Edwards, and in Daly's corner were Maurice Greenfield, Harry Brodigan, and Dick Golding. The men immediately got to work Daly rushing the Canadian to the ropes. Connolly soon extricated himself, and brisk fighting was seen to the end of the round. There was a lot of fighting in holds at the next meeting, and neither man was seen to great advantage. The American showed much better form in Round 3, and cautious sparring and clinching were the principal features of the next turn, though there could be no doubt about the men being in grim earnest. Similar tactics were pursued for a time at the next meeting, but then Connolly, slipping Daly when the latter rushed wildly fought him to the ropes and seemed certain to put the Londoner out. This was Connolly's round beyond all question. The Canadin forced matters at the next meeting, but he did not follow up the advantages he gained, preferring to lean on his opponent. A bit of open work at the end of the seventh round very near brought the proceedings to a close, for a blow under the heart and a swing on the jaw caused Daly to totter in the corner. He slipped round, however, and the men were hugging each other when time was called, Connolly missed another chance in the eight round, and was not boxing quite up to his best form. Daly finished this bout very weakly and possibly time prevented Connolly giving him his quietus, and Eddie increased his lead at the next meeting. In both the tenth and eleventh rounds the gong brought Daly welcome relief. He came up fresh, but half-way through the twelfth round it was Connolly's lack of coolness alone which prolonged the contest, for Daly lay helpless across the ropes for a second or two. In the next round Connolly appealed for the verdict on the ground that Daly had gone down without a blow but the referee allowed the contest to proceed. Daly was very fortunate to last this round out. From now to the end it was only a question of how long Daly could last, but although obviously outclassed he stayed on gamely to the very last much to the surprise of the on lookers. No contestant ever fought a losing battle more gallantly than Daly did and when the referee gave the Canadian the verdict the game loser was not forgotten by an appreciative audience.

ATHLETICS.

ANERLEY B.C. SPORTS AT THE CRYSTAL PALACE.

The opening meeting of the season of the Anerley Club at the Crystal Palace on the 13th instant produced capital sport, and in spite of the unfavourable weather there was a good attendance, 30,000 spectators at one time watching the proceedings. A fine performance was accomplished by A. S. Ingram in both the half-mile handicap and the five-mile scratch race, which events he secured by good judgment and riding. Results :—

100 YARDS FLAT HANDICAP (OPEN).—Final Heat: W. J. Combe, Cambridge H., 9 yards start, 1; P. Viner, Kennington H., 8½, 2; E. H. Club, Kensington A.A., 3, 3. Won by inches only, others close up. Time—11⅕secs.

HALF-MILE CYCLE HANDICAP.—Final Heat: A.S. Ingram, Polytechnic C C., 5 yards start, 1; H. J. Harding Polytechnic C C., 40, 2; E. G. H. Albury, Polytechnic C.C., 55, 3; A. E. Greenwood Loughborough C.C C., 85, 4. Won by barely half a wheel; a wheel divided second and third. Time—1min 4⅖secs.

ONE MILE CYCLE HANDICAP (OPEN).—Final Heat: E. G. H. Albury, Polytechnic C. C., 110 yards start, 1; M. P. Howell, Southorn C.C., 125, 2; F. Milner, Rodney C. C., 150, 3; L. Drake, North Surrey C. C., 170, 4. Albury won a good race by a yard; two yards between second and third. Time—2mins. 12⅕secs.

880 YARDS FLAT HANDICAP (OPEN).—Final heat: A. H. West, St. Mary's H., 88 yards start, 1; R. G. Pace, Cambridge, 75, 2; G. W. West, St Mary's H., 65 yards, 3; G. McIntyre, Baroda A. C., 87, 4. West got the best of a fine finish and won by three yards; same distance between second and third. Time—2mins. 3⅕secs.

FIVE MILE CYCLE SCRATCH RACE (OPEN).—Preliminary heat of two miles.—Heat 1: A. S. Ingram, Polytechnic C. C., 1; F. Crowly, Anerley B. C., 2; J. Tucker, Gainsford Wheelers, 3. Won by a length. Time—5min. 23⅗secs. Heat 2: H. D. Buck, Anerley B. C., 1; G. J. Calder, Polytechnic C. C., 2; A. E. Highmore E. N. C. Progressive C. C., 3. Won by a yard. Time—5mins. 2⅗secs. Heat 3: G. H. Bailey, Polytechnic C. C. 1; H. J. Harding, Polytechnic C. C., 2; E. G. H. Albury, Polytechnic C. C., 3. Harding went for the lap prize up to the last lap, when Bailey got by, the last-named winning by a foot; a yard between second and third. Time—4mins. 56⅕secs. Final Heat: A. S. Ingram, Polytechnic C. C., 1; H. D. Buck, Anerley B. C., 2; F. G. Crowly, Anerley B. C., 3; G. J. Calder, Polytechnic C. C., 4. Harding made most of the running up to the last lap, when Buck shot out and looked a good winner. Ingram, however, with Crowly hanging on, made another fine effort and won cleverly by two lengths; a length between second and third. Time—12mins. 27⅗secs.

THE WEASEL.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA

Polo.

THE YEAR'S TOURNAMENTS.

The following are the results of the important tournaments played in India from 1st May 1902 to 30th April 1903 :—

OOTACAMUND TOURNAMENT.—Won by Wellington Gymkhana Team.

BERESFORD CUP TOURNAMENT, (Simla).—Patiala 1st team beat 19th B. Lancers by 4 goals and 8 subsidiaries to 2 subsidiaries.

BELLARY GYMKHANA TOURNAMENT.—1st Madras Lancers beat Bellary Gymkhana by 5 goals and 2 subsidiaries to 2 goals and 2 subsidiaries.

BANGALORE POLO TOURNAMENT.—Hyderabad Imperial Service Lancers beat Bangalore Gymkhana by 12 goals 4 subsidiaries to nil.

THE GULMARG TOURNAMENT.—4th Dragoons beat Kashmir A Team by 2 goals and 5 subsidiaries to 1 goal.

POONA JUNIOR TOURNAMENT.—3rd Bombay Cavalry beat 1st Bombay Lancers by 3 goals 1 subsidiary to 1 goal 1 subsidiary.

POONA OPEN POLO TOURNAMENT.—Mahableshwar Wanderers beat Bombay Gymkhana by 13 goals 7 subsidiaries to 4 subsidiaries.

MYSORE DUSSERAH POLO TOURNAMENT.—Mysore Imperial Service Lancers A team beat Mysore Imperial Service Lancers B team by 11 goals 2 subsidiaries to 1 goal 1 subsidiary.

MOZUFFERPORE POLO TOURNAMENT.—Won by the Serrayah team.

CALCUTTA MONSOON TOURNAMENT.—Calcutta Polo Club beat the 93rd Highlanders by 1 goal to 4 subsidiaries.

MEERUT TOURNAMENT.—Poona Horse beat 15th Hussars by 5 goals to nil.

BANGALORE TOURNAMENT.—Carabiniers beat Queen's Own Sappers and Miners by 1 goal to nil.

SIRDAR NARAIN SINGH'S TOURNAMENT.—5th Dragoon Guards beat Lucknow Gymkhana by 3 goals 3 subsidiaries to 2 goals 3 subsidiaries.

INDIAN ARMY CUP.—The Poona Horse beat 18th Bengal Lancers by 4 goals 4 subsidiaries to 3 goals 1 subsidiary.

INTERNATIONAL TOURNAMENT AT DELHI.—Ulwar beat Jodhpore by 7 goals and 5 subsidiaries to 2 goals.

CONNELL CUP TOURNAMENT.—14th Bengal Lancers beat Royal Scots Fusiliers by 14 goals 8 subsidiaires to 1 subsidiary.

EZRA CHALLENGE CUP TOURNAMENT.—Freebooters beat Rawdon Street Chummery by 4 goals 5 subsidiaries to 1 subsidiary.

LUCKNOW TOURNAMENT.—15th Hussars beat Royal Horse Guards by 2 goals 2 subsidiaries to 1 goal 1 subsidiary.

INFANTRY TOURNAMENT.—Queen's Regiment beat 2nd Goorkhas by 2 goals and 1 subsidiary to 1 goal 1 subsidiary.

THE MADRAS NOVICES' CUP.—Venkatagiri beat Gymkhana A team by 4 goals and 2 subsidiaries to 3 goals 1 subsidiary.

PUNJAB CHALLENGE TOURNAMENT.—Queen's Regiment beat 24th Regiment by 1 goal and 4 subsidiaries to 1 goal.

PUNJAB FRONTIER FORCE TOURNAMENT.—2nd Punjab Cavalry beat 5th Punjab Cavalry by 5 goals and 3 subsidiaries to 3 goals.

Athletics.

BOOMS IN PEDESTRIANISM.

IT seems probable, thanks to the fine feat which was accomplished the other day of walking from the Westminster Clock Tower to the Brighton Aquarium, 52½ miles in less than eight and three-quarter hours, that road pedestrianism may come into vogue again as a form of athletics. At any rate, 1st May which is a Stock Exchange holiday, will see 107 aspirants to pedestrian fame, all of them stockbrokers, plodding the weary way of the Brighton road. Prizes and time medals await the more athletic members, while a dinner has been arranged at Brighton for the survivors on the evening of the race. The promised contest takes us back to the good old days when the cinder-path was unknown, and walking races on the "hard, high road" between amateurs alone, and amateurs and professionals were very popular. The sport fell into disrepute mainly through the ill-doings of professionals, but now that it is being taken up by men who earn their livings in other ways, it should come back into public favour.

There has been a regular history of pedestrianism ever since the Restoration, but it would prove tedious to attempt a list of the crack short and long distance performances of all the famous "peds." However, at the present juncture, some particulars of the most celebrated road-walkers and their most notable exploits may not come amiss. Foster Powell (1734-1793) is one of the earliest athletes of whom we possess any authentic records, and he was rightly regarded as the greatest pedestrian of the century In 1773 he walked from London to York and back in six days; in 1787, from Canterbury to London Bridge and back (109 miles) in 23hrs. 50mins.; in 1788 he repeated the York trip in 5 days 19hrs. 15mins.; in the following year he again did it in 5 days 16hrs. 10mins.; and in July 1792, he accomplished it for the fourth and last time in 5 days 13hrs. 35mins. It is hardly strange that so great a performer should have excited immense interest, and so popular was he personally that he was often welcomed back to London by huge crowds. It is said, too, that he never benefited to the extent of more than £10 by any of his achievements. In the spring of 1793, so desirous were people to have a sight of him that he was engaged at Astley's Amphitheatre for twelve nights, when he exhibited his pace in a small circle. A few weeks later he died, never having recovered from the effect of his last great walk to York and back. Most of Powell's feats were, however, eclipsed by that remarkable man, Captain Barclay Allardice, commonly known as Captain Barclay (1779-1854), whose most noted achievement was walking one mile in each of 1,000 successive hours. This feat he performed at Newmarket from 1st June, to 12th July 1809. Though he had not trained himself regularly, he was so little exhausted that five days later he started for the Walcheren expedition in perfect health. He had previously accomplished many remarkable feats. In 1801 he had gone 110 miles in 19hrs. 27mins. in a muddy park; in 1802 he walked 64 miles in 10hrs.; in 1805 he walked 72 miles between breakfast and dinner; and in 1808 he accomplished the following marvellous feats of endurance: Starting at 5 A.M. he walked 30 miles grouse-shooting dined at 5 P. M., and walked 60 miles to his house at Ury in 11hrs., after attending to business walked 16 miles to Lawrence Kirk, danced at a ball, returned to Ury at seven A. M. and spent the next day partridge-shooting, having travelled 130 miles and been without sleep for two nights and three days. Captain Barclay stood 6 ft. in height and was a very handsome man. He was the beau ideal of a good sportsman, soldier, and country gentleman, and a fine rider to hounds. What makes his pedestrian achievements the more remarkable are the facts that his methods of training were crude in the extreme and his costume as uncomfortable as could well be imagined by the modern athlete, consisting as it did of thick lambs'-wool stockings, knee-breeches, a coat with a high collar, and a stock wound round the neck! Of course, Barclay's feat of walking 1,000 miles in 1,000 hrs., has since been surpassed, though it was not equalled till Richard Manks performed it at Sheffield in 1850. In 1877, however, William Gale walked 1,500 miles in 1,000 hrs. at Lillie Bridge; and from 20th November, 1880, to 1st January, 1881, attempted to walk 2,500 miles within the same period, but only accomplished 2,405¼ miles. Then two lady pedestrians have successfully competed for what is generally known as the "Barclay record," namely, Miss Richards, who walked 1,000 miles in 1,000 hrs., 18th May to 29th June, 1871, and Miss Bella St. Clair, who walked 1,000 miles in 950 hrs., 25th July et seq. 1876.

It is curious to note how the popularity of pedestrianism has run in cycles, so to speak. Captain Barclay's performance gave a great fillip to the sport, and from 1809 to 1827 walking and running matches for wagers of considerable sums were of weekly occurrence. Nearly all, certainly all of the first-class competitors during that period were Army men: namely, Captains Aiken, Azar, Acres, Howe, Hewetson, Parker, Thomson, and Welsham; and Lieutenants Farman, Halifax, Groats, and Warren. From 1827, however, the amateurs suddenly disappeared, and pedestrianism, left exclusively to professionals, suffered a severe slump. Another boom cropped up between the years 1840 and 1852, and the amateurs rose up again. It was the late "forties" which produced that splendid all-round athlete, Charlie Westhall, who, though a professional, was a gentleman of birth and education. Westhall—his real name was Hall—was the inventor of the modern system of training, being the first to prove the rottenness of the ancient empirical system, with its constant purgings, emetics, and lack of proper nourishment. Westhall was unsurpassed for all-round excellence. What other man has accomplished such very divers performances as running 150 yards in 15 seconds, a quarter of a mile in 49 seconds, and a mile in 4mins. 28secs., besides walking 21 miles in 2hrs. 59mins. 1 sec., on Newmarket Heath, on 20th, February 1858? All four being, one must bear well in mind, the best recorded when they were made. Although all of them have been surpassed, one cannot ask a man to do more than be the best of his kind.

There was a renewal of public interest in pedestrianism in the "sixties," due to the visit of "Deerfoot," a Seneca Indian, who walked and ran in test matches against English "peds." In 1864 the walking championship proper was instituted as a 7-mile race, and one of the first champions was T. G. Chambers, whose time was 28 seconds under the hour. This is nothing startling, but Chambers was not only a "ped," he was the finest rower and sculler of the day as well. It is not our intention to give a history of the walking championship, the distance of which was reduced to 4 miles in 1894. Passing mention, however, must be made of the race of 1851, which witnessed the sensational defeat of Merril, the Yankee crack, by an unknown lad named Raby, who wore him down at 5 miles. As during that season the Americans had carried all before them on the Turf, the victory was all the more appreciated by the largest attendance on record of 10,000 spectators.

Before the close of the "sixties" pedestrianism had again gone under, and its next revival was the work of the late Sir John Astley. Sir John discovered in E. P. Weston an American of extraordinary powers, whose walking was very peculiar and hardly fair "heel and toe." He offered to match him against any man breathing, to walk six days and nights, for £500. The challenge was taken up by Dan O'Leary, of Chicago, and the match came off at the Agricultural Hall in April, 1867. On the last day, when the contest was at Weston's mercy, the latter turned soft, and refused to get out of bed. Sir John threatened to throw cold water over him, whereupon he burst out weeping. So O'Leary won, though fearfully knocked up, having walked 520 miles against Weston's 510 miles.

When "The Mate" returned from paying the winner, he found Weston running round the track, pushing the roller in front of him, and keeping time to the music of the band!

Sir John next organised a six days and nights' "Go-as-you-please" contest, for a championship belt. Seventeen entered, and O'Leary won again by sheer gameness, just exceeding his previous record of 520 miles. There was another contest in October, 1878, which was won by W. Corkey, with 521 miles. Mrs. Corkey never left her spouse day or night, and was always ready to hand him a basin of tee-broth. The happy couple did the last few laps arm-in arm together, to the tune of the "Conquering Hero."

In the spring of 1879 Sir John sent over to America, to bring back O'Leary's belt, another find of his, a lad named Rowell. Rowell succeeded, and netted £5,000 for himself, which was a pretty good haul for a man who had seldom had two sovereigns to rub against each other. In February, 1880, the belt was won by Blower Brown, doing 553 miles. Blower was a bricklayer, and his backer was a quaint old "ped." by name John Smith. But Blower was lazy, and his backer knew only one way of making him buck up, viz., to shout out, "Yes, Blower shall have a barrel of beer all to himself if he wins." The effect was magical, but the shout was kept for emergency Extraordinary interest was taken by the public in these long distance performances, both in London and New York. They were kept up annually till December, 1888, when G. Littlewood, at New York, claimed to have walked 623¾ miles in six days and nights, but on this side of the water no one ever felt satisfied as to the correctness of the scoring.

The return to the road, which is now booming afresh, is much to be commended. In an ordinary walking handicap the public are treated to an exhibition in which more than half the competitors are in ridiculous and contorted attitudes. Naturally spectators are more inclined to laugh than to admire, and to denounce the contest as spurious. On the other hand, in roads races, the doubtful goers are conspicuous by their absence, as nothing but genuine road-walking will pay; hence such contests afford fine exhibitions of power and endurance. The Brighton road has ever been a course upon which the enthusiastic exponents of different methods of progression have eagerly exhibited their prowess, pedestrians in particular finding it very alluring. In 1881 the record from Westminster Clock Tower to Brighton Aquarium, 52¼ miles, stood at 9hrs. 48mins.; in 1886 it was reduced to 9hrs. 25mins; in 1897 to 8hrs. 56mins. 44secs., and a couple of weeks ago to 8 hr. 44 min.

A laughable incident in connection with a recent London to Brighton match was provided by a Danish "ped." named Jensen, who walked with the butt-end of a revolver peeping out his of hip pocket. The other competitors were not a little uneasy concerning Jensen's intentions, and kept him at a safe distance. However, it turned out that Jensen carried the weapon in case he should be attacked by wolves, being under the misapprehension that the Brighton road traversed a wild and savage country.—Sporting Sketches.

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

FLOR DE SPENCER.

Head Office: Madras
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co

Cycling.

CYCLING IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Friday, 17th April 1903.

"FOOLS rush in where angels fear to tread" might aptly be applied to a large proportion of wheelmen. Not, be it understood, in an angelic sense, but in the way the majority of cyclists take risks that other traffic on the road would avoid. We have always upheld that the yearly total of cycling accidents might be considerably reduced if only cyclists exercised reasonable care and commonsense in riding, and this contention is fully confirmed by our observations this Easter. The way cyclists cut through traffic, heedless of the treacherous state of the tram-lined roads over which they pass, and the fact that should a slip occur they could not possibly clear themselves of the traffic, is hair-raising to the onlooker. Then again, the favourite habit with some cyclists of hanging on to motor cars provides a large element of danger in the event of the car suddenly slowing, besides being a great nuisance to the occupants of the car.

Another fruitful source of accident, is the negligence of some riders to properly equip their machines with efficient brake-power, or in some instances to dispense with a brake altogether. So frequently do we hear of serious and fatal accidents occurring to brakeless riders that one wishes for legislation making it compulsory for all cycles to be fitted with reliable brakes. It is necessary, for apart from the risk such riders run in regard to their own safety, they also prove a danger to other users of the road. A fatal accident recently befel a miner who lost control of his machine when descending a hill near Eastwood, Notts. Certainly the unfortunate rider had a brake fitted to his machine, but it was an inadequate one, applied by pulling a string away down beneath the saddle. It was whilst fumbling for this string that his front wheel either ran into a rut or struck a stone, and the rider was thrown with great force against the shaft of a passing cart, receiving fatal injuries.

In the Isle of Man cyclists are permitted to ride on the footpaths providing they are not within a mile of any town or within a hundred yards of a pedestrian. This liberty is greatly enjoyed by the Manx cyclists and has certainly helped the trade in the Island to a very large extent, whilst very little interference with pedestrian's rights have ever happened by reason of the permission. But a member of the Onchan village commissioners, at a recent meeting, proposed that the Insular Legislature be requested to amend the Local Government Act so as to prohibit cyclists from using the paths under any conditions. Why he made the proposition no one seems to know, and it is doubtful whether he had any further reason than that it was the fashion with English local councils to have a smack at cyclists on every available occasion, and why should the little Isle of Man lag behind? However, his colleagues were not of his frame of mind, and when the proposition was put to the meeting it met a most decisive death.

The distinction of holding the first road record of the 1903 season, stands to the credit of Lionel Martin and T. H. B Vade-Walpole, members of the Bath Road C. C. On April 11th they established an unpaced tandem bicycle record for the journey from Edinburgh to York, which they covered in 12 hours 17 mins. The standard time fixed by the Roads Record Association was 13 hours, so the riders were well inside. We are given to understand that unpaced road rides will receive a large amount of attention this year, several well known road riders having their eyes on record rides at their favourite distances.

The Easter holidays gave convincing proof of the sustained interest taken in cycling by the large majority of the public. At the great railway termini, the number of cyclists with their machines, bridging the first portion of their tour by means of the train, was as large as ever, and the actual number on the roads must have surpassed the total of any previous Easter. Barring a rather strong and cold wind, Easter provided perfect cycling weather; the roads were in applepie order and little or no rain fell to interfere with riding. The various cycle race meetings, too, which were held throughout the country, appear to have passed off satisfactorily, good gates being the order of the day. At the Crystal Palace, at the opening meeting of the season of the Anerley B. C., thirty thousand persons are said to have been watching the racing.

Just now the burning question amongst motor circles is the question of identification of cars. The committee of the Automobile Club is in favour of some system of identification with removal of the speed limit. A small section of members are under the impression that Parliament will consent to the removal of the speed limit without means for identification. A ballot of the members is to be taken on the subject. Unless means are provided for the registration and identification of cars, so that law breakers can be dealt with, there is little doubt of the House refusing to raise the speed limit.

The fund for the improvemnt of the Gordon-Bennett course in Ireland has reached nearly £1,000 to date, but it is estimated that considerably over that amount will be required. With regard to the side-shows of the automobile fortnight in Ireland the Dunlop Tyre Company have offered a 200-guinea challenge cup for some important event to take place in the Phœnix Park, Dublin.

Dog lovers are raising an outcry, and very properly, too, against the "murder" of their pets by motorists. On the other hand, cyclists have their grievances against dog owners in that they (the riders) are frequently brought down by dogs rushing across the road in front of their wheels. Of late several very serious accidents have been caused by retrievers and collie dogs rushing aimlessly across the highway, and in each case the cyclist has had no redress for his personal injuries. People who own dogs which are given to this rushing about, should remember the poor cyclist as well as fear the motorist. There is a very sagacious animal in Brighton which apparently takes a canine delight in suddenly dashing after a rider, walking into any passing cyclist's front wheel, and bringing the unhappy rider down heavily. Having effectively completed his fell purpose, the animal squats down deliberately in the middle of the road, and slobbers with pleasure at the result of his charge. Has Brighton no kindly-disposed automobilist who will put a wheel over this brute!

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA.

Cricket

CRICKET IN DARJEELING.

STATION C. C. vs. NORTH POINT C. C.—The above teams met last Thursday, the 30th ultimo, on the College grounds—the match ending in an easy win for the boys. The following are the scores:—

STATION C. C.

Capt Travers, b C Rayneau	16
Capt Welch, c Stubbs, b Helps	6
Lieut G R Hartley, b Helps	0
Capt Umfreville, b Helps	9
Capt Turner, run out	21
Mr McDonald, c Stubbs, b Ryan	13
Maj Wimberly, b Ryan	1
Mr G Dobbin, not out	30
„ Walker, c Bryan, b Ryan	12
„ Dudley, c Martini, b Helps	6
„ J Ellis, b Rayneau	9
Extras	22
Total	145

NORTH POINT C. C.

F Martini, c Umfreville, b Dudley	39
P Gahan, b McDonald	10
L Bryan, not out	45
R Paterson, b Dudley	12
C Stubbs, c Hartley, b Dudley	3
F Helps, c Hartley, b Dudley	9
W Jones, b Dudley	6
S Lawton, not out	3
L McCoy, C Rayneau, F Ryan — Did not bat
Extras	29
Total for 6 wickets	156

BOWLING ANNALYSIS.

STATION C. C.

	O.	R.	W.
F Helps	16	22	4
R Paterson	7	29	0
C Rayneau	11	48	2
F Ryan	9	15	3

NORTH POINT C. C.

	O.	R.	W.
Mr McDonald	9	41	1
Lieut G R Hartley	13	25	0
Capt Umfreville	9	23	0
Mr Dudley	12	38	5

POONA GYMKHANA CRICKET.

The following are the Cricket Fixtures of the Poona Gymkhana for the ensuing season:—

JUNE.
25—XI vs next XV at Poona.
27—United Head-Quarter Offices.
JULY.
2—Nizam Cricket Club.
16—Oxfordshire Light Infantry.
17 and 18—Bombay Hindu Gymkhana at Bombay.
25—Combined Poona Colleges at Poona.
30—The Buffs.
AUGUST.
3 and 4—Baronet Cricket Club at Poona.
7 and 8—Bombay Gymkhana at Bombay.
10 and 11—Presidency Test Match at Bombay.
13, 14 and 15—Presidency Match at Bombay.
21 and 22—Bombay Hindu Gymkhana at Poona.
28 and 29—Elphinstone Cricket Club at Poona.
SEPTEMBER.
17 and 18—Bombay Gymkhana at Poona.
21, 22 and 23—Presidency Match at Poona.

THE YEAR'S CENTURIES.

The following centuries were made from 1st May 1902 to 30th April 1903.

* Signifies "not out."

NAME.	PLACE.	MATCH.	SCORE.
Capt G H Neale	Peshawar...	Queen's Regiment vs Gordon Highlanders ...	267
Capt E Challenor	Madras ...	Ceylon vs Madras Presidency	216
J D Guise ...	Calcutta ...	Ballygunge vs Mr W A Miles' Team ...	213
Capt Greig ...	Bombay ...	Bombay Presidency vs Authentics —	204
G. H. S. Hayward	Peshawar...	Authentics vs Peshawar	203*
F H Hollins ...	Madras ...	Authentics vs Madras ...	185*
G Akers-Douglas	Calcutta ...	Capt Wigram's XI vs C C C	172
G Reaks ...	Calcutta ...	B and G C C vs Medical College ...	171
Capt J G Greig...	Poona ...	Poona Gym. vs Baronet C C	157
T H Hechle ...	Calcutta ...	Capt Wigram's XI vs C C C	154
W Hawkins ...	Naini Tal...	Ranikhet vs Naini Tal ...	148
A Lewty ...	Calcutta ...	Telegraph C C vs Caledonia C C... ...	144
Hamid ...	Lucknow...	Aligarh College vs Mahomed Bagh Club ...	143
T J Portman	Lahore ...	Lahore vs Rawalpindi ...	143
Capt J G Greig...	Bombay ...	Bombay Gym. vs Poona Gymkhana —	143
H H Hornby ...	Rawalpindi	Authentics vs Northern Punjab	143
F H Hollins ...	Bombay ...	Authentics vs Hindus ...	141
Lieut Collins ...	Bellary ...	School of Musketry vs Bellary	139
Captain Parry Crooke ...	Nagpur ...	The World vs C P Commission	135
Abid ...	Lucknow...	Aligarh College vs Mahomed Bagh Club ...	128
C C Fink ...	Lahore ...	Mian Mir vs N W Railway
Lce. Corpl. Lewis	Madras ..	Ceylon vs Madras Mofussil	126
C L Burns ...	Bombay ...	Bombay Gym. vs Cathedral High School ...	125*
Capt. G. H. Neale	Peshawar...	Authentics vs Peshawar	124
M C Gibb ...	Dharwar ...	Dharwar vs Hubli ...	122
J A C Forsyth ...	Ahmedabad	Ahmedabad vs Abu Road C C	122
M Quiterio ...	Calcutta ...	Ballygunge vs Mr F B P Wood's XI ...	121
F H Hollins ...	Secunderabad ...	Authentics vs Secunderabad	121
T.Curtis Hayward	Calcutta ...	Capt Wigram's XI vs C C C	121
F H Hollins ...	Peshawar...	Authentics vs Peshawar	120
H G Bignell ...	Peshawar...	Queen's Regiment vs Gordon Highlanders ...	120
H Cheetham ...	Bombay ...	Byculla Club vs Bombay Gymkhana ...	120
H C Sparke ...	Lahore ...	Mian Mir vs N W Railway	119
Capt McEwan ..	Secunderabad ...	Authentics vs Secunderabad	119
Lieut Birkett ...	Lahore ...	1st Royal Sussex vs Lahore	118
S R Hignell ..	Calcutta ...	C C C vs Captain Wilson's XI	118
Major C W Field	Poona ...	Poona Gym. vs Nizam C C	117
D D Kanga ...	Bombay ...	Authentics vs Parsees ...	116
K J Key ...	Cawnpore	Authentics vs Cawnpore	116
Rev R M Kirwan	Chakrata...	Chakrata vs Royal Welsh Fusiliers	115
Capt R T Marsden	Kolar ...	Bangalore vs Kolar Gold Fields ...	114*
Lieut Furber ...	Poona ...	Officers and Sergeants vs Rest of Regt Shropshire L I	113
Lieut Davson ...	Coimbatore	Trichinopoly vs Coimbatore	113
Capt Barlow ...	Naini Tal...	Ranikhet vs Naini Tal ...	112
H H Hornby ...	Calcutta ...	Authentics vs Calcutta C C	111
R H Raphael ...	Bombay ...	Authentics vs Parsees ...	111
P J Chinoy ...	Poona ...	Poona Gym. vs Elphinstone C C	110
W G Poole ...	Kolar ...	K G F C C vs Madras C C	110
Capt C Wigram	Calcutta ..	C C C vs Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders ...	110
Capt C Wigram	Calcutta ...	Calcutta C C vs West Ridings C C ...	110
T C Stafford ...	Calcutta ...	Olympian vs Caledonians	109*
H W Dwane ...	Dharwar ...	S M Ry Club vs Civilians	108*
S Batliwala ...	Poona ...	Poona Gym. vs Elphinstone C C	106
R A Date ...	Bombay ...	Hindu Gymkhana vs Elphinstone C C ...	106
J Ballantyne ...	Calcutta ...	Olympian vs Rangers ...	105
S Boo ...	Calcutta ...	Ballygunge vs St James' C C ...	105*
R A Williams ...	Bombay ..	Bombay Presidency vs Authentics —	105
B Jayaram ...	Kolar ...	Bangalore Gym. vs Gold Fields	104
T G M Harris ...	Poona ...	Poona Gym. vs Bishop's High School ...	104
R H Dewing ...	Bangalore...	Madras C C vs Bangalore	103
Major G H Hazleton ...	Poona ...	Poona Gym. vs Royal Scots	103*
E Danks ...	Nagpur ...	The World vs C P Commission	103
E H Christensen	Calcutta ...	Caledonia C C vs West Ridings C C ...	103*
Mustafa Hussain	Lucknow...	Bharatpur vs Lucknow Gymkhana ...	102
W T Stonor ...	Kolar ...	Bangalore vs Kolar Gold Fields	101*
A DeRozario ...	Mian Mir...	Mian Mir vs N W Railway	101*
Capt Travers ...	Calcutta ...	Caledonia C C vs West Ridings C C ...	101*
W Stuart ...	Simla ...	Outstations vs Simla ...	101
Dr Pavri ...	Poona ...	Poona Parsees vs Shropshire L I	100
Capt J G Greig...	Poona ...	Ganeshkhind vs Kirkee...	100
C A Kincaid ...	Rajkote ...	Gymkhana vs High School	100
G Akers-Douglas	Calcutta ...	F H Stewart's XI vs Olympian C C ...	100
G H Simpson-Hayward ...	Allahabad	Authentics vs United Provinces ...	100

CRICKET CHIRPS FROM HOME.

The Bangalore batsman, B. Jayaram, has now played three innings in England and has scored 118, 5 and 3. The first innings was for London County vs XVI of Sydenham and District and though he gave chances his century was nevertheless a fine display, if against not quite class bowling. At the Oval it was quite another case. He was playing against Surrey on their own dung hill in bitterly cold weather before a Bank Holiday crowd and small wonder his batting was a failure. Stiff frosts every night of the match, bitter nor'-easters each day varied by snow and sleet showers are hardly fair conditions for a South Indian born cricketer to show his worth in. Had he had the advantage of residence in Northern India, where he would have experienced frost and perhaps snow, before coming to England the case would have been differents but, taken any way you choose, conditions could not have been more unfavourable for Jayaran to shine. He will yet do so over here since W. G. Grace does not say of a cricketer "He's a good one" as he did to the writer of these chirps without meaning it. The Evergreen is not prone to wasting words in praise of players.

Writing of the Evergreen—as in respectful jest some cricketers call Dr. Grace—here he is in the midst of inclement weather scoring more runs than any one else on his side and more than any one in the match who batted twice. 43 and 81 were his figures and he watched the ball as carefully and correctly as ever. It was most amusing to read in the Daily Telegraph on Thursday morning that he would have done better to "have played back

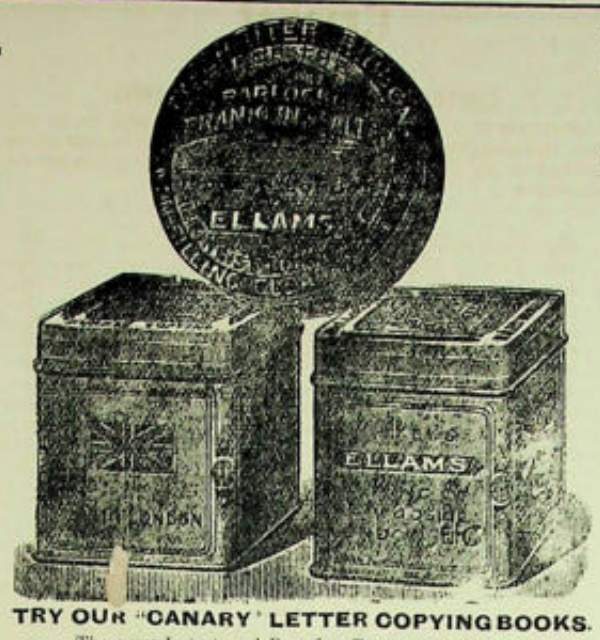
FREE DRAWING.
FULL FLAVOUR.
MANUFACTURED BY
SPENCER & CO., Ld., Madras.

JAVA DAWSON.

OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.
Sole Wholesale Agents in
CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

ELLAMS TYPEWRITER RIBBONS.

For all Machines and in all Colors.



They are in tin boxes, reeled.

THEY WRITE CLEARLY.

Copy strongly and last well.

Rs. 2-0 Cash.

	Cash Price.
Machine Brushes	Rs. 0 14 each.
Type "	" 1 2 "
Oil Cans	" 1 0 "
Oil	" 0 14 p. bot.
'Fono" Note Books	" 0 8 each.
" Pencil (Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons) ...	" 0 2 "
" " " " " " ...	" 1 4 doz.
Dixon's "Stenographer" Pencil. A beautiful Pencil and strongly recommended ...	" 0 3 each.
" " " " " ...	" 2 0 doz.

TRY OUR "CANARY" LETTER COPYING BOOKS.
The very Latest and Best for Typewritten letters.
Quarto, 500 pages, Rs. 3-8 Cash.

ELLAMS TYPEWRITER CARBONS.

The most brilliant colors ever seen

Do not stain the fingers, give the best work.

ROYAL-PURPLE, SKY-BLUE, VELVET-BLACK.

Per Box of 100 sheets.

Rs. 9-8 Cash.

	Cash Price.
Erasers. Best	Rs. 0 6 each.
" Ordinary	" 0 4 "
"Clinch" Paper Fasteners do not tear the paper (Sample free)	" 1 4 p. box.
Ellams Letter Copier prevents blurring when press copying typewriting ...	" 9 8
"Fox" Copyholder is a great assistance to the operator. Can be attached to any Typewriter	" 9 0 Cash.

WRITE FOR PARTICULARS OF THE LIGHT RUNNING "FOX" TYPEWRITER, THE BEST.

TRAILL & CO., THE CHEAPEST HOUSE IN INDIA FOR STATIONERY AND PRINTING. Calcutta.

than forward" on several occasions. Possibly the binoculars from the Press Box made the wicket out to be a slow one—or on the slow side. Whereas, as both W. G. and D. L. A. Jephson told me, it was as fast as ever any August wicket. It is also interesting to note that all reports of the match, certainly the majority any way, were the result of as "viewed from the Press Box," not one of the knights of the pencil braving the elements to obtain whatever information even a cursory examination of the wicket might have afforded them.

There were two other successes in the match: the one anticipated, the other as pleasant as it was unexpected. On such a wicket it was certain that Hayward would do well. That is, as certain as ever aught in cricket is. Barring a hot chance to Sewell at second slip off P. R. May (who ought to be Blued at Cambridge this year) when his score was 63 and another sharp one in the nineties to W. L. Murdoch at square leg close in Hayward batted perfectly for 107—the first first-class century of the season. The unexpected was a 90 from E. H. D. Sewell, who went in fourth wicket down with the London County score just over 70, and added just under 130 with Board, the Gloster stumper, for the sixth wicket. Sewell gave no vestige of a chance or uppish stroke until at 75 Hayes let him off, with a very sharp chance at short slip. When 90 he played three or four overs without scoring and paid the penalty in having a go at an off ball from Hayward that swung away a little in the semigale that was blowing. As he scored 95 the previous Saturday in the same match wherein Jayaram scored 118, Sewell was within a few runs of starting his season with two consecutive hundreds. The Essex President, C. L. Green, and Secretary, O. R. Borrodaile, watched the innings, but before Sewell commenced batting W. G. Grace had told them that in his opinion Sewell was always one of the first six cricketers in Essex. In the second innings he got 18 and was just settling down when he cut the longest of long hops straight into Lockwood's hand at deep point thirty yards from the wicket, the ball never rising higher than the shoulder.

The opening of Sewell's innings may become historical as his was the first bat to be objected to on account of extra width. Considering this of sufficient interest to readers in India, I gleaned the following facts from him, and others concerned. He went in with this year's bat that he had practised with a dozen times and used in the match at the Palace. Titchmarsh was the umpire through whose gauge this bat failed to pass. Sewell returned to the Pavilion and borrowed a bat which also refused to allow the gauge, meanwhile W.G had tried the first bat and his gauge "passed" it right enough, but, to satisfy the umpire, some 'shaving" was resorted to and the first bat eventually played with. After scoring 90 the same bat refused the gauge again!—and had to be re-shaved ere the second innings was ventured upon. Board was also "sent back" for a second bat. With regard to these cases of objecting it is worth while recording as a fact that neither W. G.'s, W. L. Murdoch's nor B. Jayaram's bats were subjected to the gauge and all three batted prior to Sewell. As a fact also W.G.'s bat easily "passed" the gauge [as Sewell played his first two overs with it] but Jayaram's bat, after he was dismissed for 5, would not "pass" the gauge. For the greater part of the match the respective dressing rooms of amateurs and pros resembled, as much as anything else, a carpenter's shop!

There has been a deal of comment in all the papers concerning this gauging incident and doubtless good will come of it in the shape of some registered form of gauge since all the gauges now in use do not agree—which fact spells trouble sooner or later.

One other fact about this historical match remains to be noted and that is that the wicket was the regulation size for the first time for who shall say how many years—and it not only was so but looked so.

By medical advice C. B. Fry has to refrain from all literary work for some little time and may not even turn out in Sussex's earlier matches.

How's That.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS

LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.

Durable and deliciously fragrant.

LEMON AND DUNSTALL,

1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA

Football.

THE YEAR'S TOURNAMENTS.

The following are the results of important tournament, played in India from 1st May 1902 to 30th April 1903 :—

MURREE TOURNAMENT.—S. W. Borderers beat E. Lancashire by 2 goals to 1.

CALCUTTA LEAGUE.—Won by K. O. S. Borderers, with 26 points :—

Teams.	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Drawn.	Pts.	Goals For.	Goals Agst.
K. O. S. B. ...	16	12	2	2	26	54	13
93rd	16	11	2	3	25	37	10
79th	16	8	5	3	19	24	26
Calcutta ...	16	8	6	2	18	25	18
Howrah ...	15	6	5	4	16	20	16
Rangers ...	16	6	6	4	16	21	18
Dalhousie ...	16	4	7	5	13	12	30
Barrackpur ...	15	2	11	2	6	10	38
Y. M. C. A. ...	16	0	13	3	3	4	38

I. F. A. CHALLENGE SHIELD.—93rd Highlanders beat Dalhousie by 3 goals to nil.

MADRAS R. A. FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT.—"L" Battery R H. A. beat 55th Battery R. F. A. by 3 goals to nil.

CALCUTTA RUGBY SENIOR CUP.—Welsh Regiment beat C. F. C. by two goals and a try to a try.

THE DURAND FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT.—Hampshire Regiment beat East Lancashire Regiment by two goals to one.

BOMBAY ROVERS TOURNAMENT.—Cheshire Regiment beat West Yorks by 1 goal to nil.

MADRAS RUGBY TOURNAMENT.—Welsh Regiment beat Madras by 1 goal and 3 tries to nil.

THE SANDHURST TOURNAMENT.—Welsh Regiment, w.o.

THE HARRIS TOURNAMENT.—Royal Scots beat Cheshire Regiment by 2 goals to nil.

UPPER BURMA ASSOCIATION TOURNAMENT.—Mandalay Gymkhana beat the Buffs by 2 goals to 1.

THE ARMY TOURNAMENT (at Delhi).—Gordon Highlanders beat Royal Irish Rifles by 3 goals to nil.

MURRAY CHALLENGE CUP TOURNAMENT.—Royal Highlanders beat Royal Irish Rifles by 1 goal to nil.

MADRAS TOURNAMENT.—Lincolnshire Regiment beat Royal Warwicks by 1 goal to nil.

FIRST P. V. R. TOURNAMENT.—Gordon Highlanders beat King's Royal Rifles by 3 goals to nil.

R. A. BENGAL ASSOCIATION CUP.—79th Co. R. G. A. beat 24th Field Battery R. A. by 3 goals to 1.

CALCUTTA FOOTBALL LEAGUE.

FIXTURES FOR 1903.

To be played on the ground of the first named Club, with the exception of those marked a, which will be played on Calcutta neutral ground.

Sat	May	16th	Calcutta ...	a	Rangers
"	"	"	Dalhousie ...	"	Burn's A C
"	"	"	Howrah ...	"	K O S B
"	"	"	93rd Hdrs ...	"	79th R G A
Mon	"	18th	Barrackpore R A ...	"	Rangers a
Tues	"	19th	Burn s A C ...	"	Calcutta
Wed	"	20th	Rangers ...	"	Dalhousie
"	"	"	79th R A ...	"	Howrah
Thurs	"	21st	Barrackpore R A ...	"	93 Hdrs
Sat	"	23rd	Calcutta ...	"	K O S B
"	"	"	79th R A ...	"	Dalhousie
"	"		Howrah ...	"	Burn's A C
"	"	"	93rd Hdrs ...	"	Rangers
Tues	"	26th	Howrah ...	"	Barrackpore R A
"	"	"	Calcutta ...	"	93rd Hdrs
Wed	"	27th	K O S B ...	"	Dalhousie a
"	"	"	Rangers ...	"	Burn's A C
Thurs	"	28th	79th R A ...	"	Barrackpore R A
Sat	"	30th	Dalhousie ...	"	Calcutta
"	"	"	Rangers ...	"	Howrah
"	"	"	Burn's A C ...	"	79th R A
"	"	"	K O S B ...	"	93rd Hdrs
Mon	June	1st	K O S B ...	"	79th R A
Tues	"	2nd	Barrackpore R A ...	"	Burn's A C a
"	"	"	93rd Hdrs ...	"	Dalhousie
Wed	"	3rd	Howrah ...	"	Calcutta
"	"	"	Rangers ...	"	79th R A
Thurs	"	4th	Barrackpore R A ...	"	K O S B
Sat	"	6th	Dalhousie ...	"	Howrah
"	"	"	K O S B ...	"	Rangers a
"	"	"	Burn's A C ...	"	93rd Hdrs
"	"	"	Calcutta ...	"	Barrackpore R A
Tues	"	9th	Burn's A C ...	"	K O S B
"	"	"	Dalhousie ...	"	Barrackpore R A
Wed	"	10th	79th R A ...	"	Calcutta
"	"	"	93rd Hdrs ...	"	Howrah
Sat	"	13th	Rangers ...	"	Calcutta
"	"	"	Burn's A C ...	"	Dalhousie
"	"	"	K O S B ...	"	Howrah a
"	"	"	79th R A ...	"	93rd Hdrs
Mon	"	15th	K O S B ...	"	Barrackpore R A
Tues	"	16th	Calcutta ...	"	Burn's A C
Wed	"	17th	Dalhousie ...	"	Rangers
"	"	"	Howrah ...	"	79th R A
Thurs	"	18th	93rd Hdrs ...	"	Barrackpore R A
Sat	"	20th	K O S B ...	"	Calcutta a
"	"	"	Dalhousie ...	"	79th R A
"	"	"	Burn's A C ...	"	Howrah
"	"	"	Rangers ...	"	93rd Hdrs
Tues	"	23rd	Barrackpore R A ...	"	Howrah a
"	"	"	93rd Hdrs ...	"	Calcutta
Wed	"	24th	Dalhousie ...	"	K O S B
"	"	"	Burn's A C ...	"	Rangers
Thurs	"	25th	Barrackpore R A ...	"	79th R A
Sat	"	27th	Calcutta ...	"	Dalhousie
"	"	"	Howrah ...	"	Rangers
"	"	"	79th R A ...	"	Burn's A C
"	"	"	93rd Hdrs ...	"	K O S B
Mon	"	29th	79th R A ...	"	K O S B
Tues	"	30th	Burn's A C ...	"	Barrackpore R A
"	"	"	Dalhousie ...	"	93rd Hdrs
Wed	July	1st	Calcutta ...	"	Howrah
"	"	"	79th R A ...	"	Rangers
Sat	"	4th	Barrackpore R A ...	"	Calcutta a
"	"	"	Howrah ...	"	Dalhousie
"	"	"	Rangers ...	"	K O S B
"	"	"	93rd Hdrs ...	"	Burn's A C
Mon	"	6th	Barrackpore R A ...	"	Dalhousie a
Tues	"	7th	K O S B ...	"	Burn's A C a
Wed	"	8th	Rangers ...	"	Barrackpore R A
"	"	"	Calcutta ...	"	79th R A
"	"	"	Howrah ...	"	93rd Hdrs

PREVIOUS LEAGUE CHAMPIONS.

	Points.
1898 Gloucestershire	... 24
1899 Calcutta F C	... 17
1900 Royal Irish Rifles	... 26
1901 Royal Irish Rifles	... 28
1902 K O S Borderers	... 26

DALHOUSIE vs. ARGYLL AND SUTHERLAND HIGHLANDERS.—The Dalhousie opened their season last Saturday with the above match. There were many new players in both teams, but the soldiers were better represented and eventually won by three goals to nil. Montgomery was responsible for two of the points and Jardine for the third.

Golf.

GOLF IN MADRAS.

MONTHLY MEDAL.—The first qualifying round was played on the Island on the 28th ultimo, and of the eleven players who returned scores Mr Balston heads the list with 44—7=37. Mr Taylor Mitchell also qualifies for the finals with 46—6=40 The following are the scores in order of merit :—

C. R. T. Balston ...	...	...	44-7 37
W. Taylor Mitchell ...	...	...	46-6=40
W. A. Beardsell ...	...	...	48-7=41
D. Annan ...	...	...	46-3=43
F. M. Robinson ...	...	...	47-4=43
W. R. Carruthers ...	...	...	49-6=43
F. H. Longhurst ...	...	...	49-3=46
A. Chatterton ...	...	...	53-6=47
H. K. Beauchamp ...	...	...	58-9=49
Comdr. W. Mitchell ...	...	...	55-4=51
Colonel T. Pope ...	...	...	60-6 54

FULL FLAVOURED.

MADE SOLELY FROM THE BEST INDIAN TOBACCO.

SPENCER & Co., Ld.,

MADRAS.

SIESTAS.

Made in three sizes.

Extras 6 ins. long, Rs. 20 per 1,000.

No. 1, 5 " " " 15 " 1,000.

" 2, 4 " " " 14 " 1,000

FACTORY: DINDIGUL. S. INDIA.

Hockey.

THE BEIGHTON CUP.

THIRD ROUND.

ROYAL IRISH RIFLES vs. RANGERS.—These teams met once more on the 29th ultimo and the game resulted in a win for the military team by four goals to nil. The Rangers were without Lees, whose loss was keenly felt. Play was fast and even during the first period, both goals being visited in turn, but towards the close of the half the Rifles got away and Pte. Burns put the ball through. On changing ends the local team seemed to fall off and, in spite of smart resistance offered by Russell and Schumacher, supported by Clarke and Walker, the visitors got through their defence and added three goals to their score. Burns, McCormick and Lieutenant Biscoe being credited with the points. The Rangers were unable to score and the match ended as stated. Teams.—

R. I. RIFLES.—Edmondson, goal, Hannah and Kendrick, backs; Captain Charlie, Russell, and Lieutenant Kirkwood, half-backs; Burns, Lieutenant Biscoe, Lieutenant Lanyan, Rowan, and McCormick, forwards.

RANGERS.—Gasper, goal; E. Russell and Schumacher, backs; Clarke, Warden, and Walker, half-backs; G. Russell, Cuthbert, Templeton, Whitie and Pell, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. M. Remfry, Y. M. C. A.

CALCUTTA vs. ST. JAMES'.—Played on the 29th instant on the Calcutta ground, and resulted in a win for the school by a goal to nil. The game was a very even one and up to the last few minutes looked as if it would end in a draw, but Walkem got away with a capital run and found the net. During the first half play was very even and the interval arrived with no score. On crossing over the visitors did most of the attacking, but they lost several good openings by passing instead of shooting when in the circle. Towards the end of the game Walkem scored for St. James, and though Calcutta worked hard they were unable to equalise and the visitors won a close game by a goal to nil Teams:—

CALCUTTA.—King, goal; Miles and Gardiner, backs; E. Walker, Pierson and Main, half-backs; C. O. Walker, Gould, H. Sherman, Horncastle and Sidey, forwards.

ST. JAMES'.—Jewell, goal; Boo and C. Adams, backs; Durnford, B. Hollow, and R. Adams, half-backs; Walkem, McCready, Hailes, D. O'Sullivan and Duff, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. M. Remfry, Y. M. C. A.

RANCHI vs. DALHOUSIE.—A fine game was witnessed on the 29th ultimo between the above teams, the venue being the Rangers ground. The visitors were as strong as they were a couple of years ago and gave a fine exhibition of Hockey. They started by attacking and gave the local team's back division plenty to do; Sadhu eventually breaking through their defence and putting the ball through. They continued to press for the remainder of the period but could not beat the Dalhousie halves who were in great form. Soon after resuming one of the Ranchi men got a nasty knock on the mouth and had to be carried off the field. The Dalhousie made the most of the advantage, but they were unable to pass Nehemiah, who saved all the shots sent in in grand style and the game ended in a win for the visitors by a goal to nil.

SEMI-FINALS.

RANCHI vs. SEEBPORE.—These teams met on the Rangers' ground last Saturday and a grand game was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators. Both teams played their hardest and a fine exhibition of Hockey was given. The Seebpore team had the best of the first half and combined rushes by the forwards, well fed by the back division, took the game into the visitors' quarters. The Ranchi men only once got within shooting distance of the Seebpore goal, but Showers relieved smartly. The local team continued to press, and in spite of a good defence by the Ranchi backs, of whom Sharan was most conspicuous, Nyss got through and netted the ball. Crossing over with the lead Seebpore renewed the attack and Nyss once more found the net, but was ruled off side. The visitors now bucked up and Nirmal equalised. The college seemed to go to pieces at this juncture, missing several good chances through over eagerness. Ranchi played steadily and Nirmal scored again. The boys were unable to get another goal and Sadhu adding a third point, Ranchi ran out victors by three goals to one. Teams:—

SEEBPORE COLLEGE.—Plye, goal; Fox and Showers; half-backs, P. Street, Lewty and Brown; half-backs; H. Street, Apear, Lawton, Ansell, and Nyss, forwards.

RANCHI.—Nehemiah, Goal; Edwards and Iri, backs; Sulliman, Sharan, and Boos, half-backs; Dodd, Pritram, Rev. Whitley, Sadhu, and Nirmal, forwards.

ROYAL IRISH RIFLES vs. ST. JAMES'.—Played on the Calcutta ground on the 2nd instant. The match was considered an easy thing for the holders, but St. James' had the better of the game and a hard match ended in a pointless draw. The Rifles started off by forcing two corners without result and then the school went away and good combination was shown among the forwards. Edmondson had to save on several occasions and had it not been for his fine goal-keeping St. James' would certainly have won. The interval arrived with no score, and on resuming play ruled very even for a time. Several players on both sides were very excited and the referee had to penalise for fouls. Then the school took the ball down and the soldiers had to concede two corners, but they were not turned to account, and the match ended without either team scoring.

These teams met for the second time on the 4th instant before an immense crowd of spectators and the school gained a popular victory by four goals to two. The game opened with very even play, neither side getting much advantage, then St. James made a fine attack and Walkem put in a hard shot from a mêlée and drew first blood for the boys. On starting once more O'Sullivan got possession and going away with a splendid run, beat Edmundson with a great shot amidst loud applause. The Rifles bucked up at these reverses and forced a corner without result Another corner was conceded to them a little later, from which Lieutenant Wallace scored. The soldiers kept up the attack and just before the interval Rowan equalised, crossing over with the score two goals each. The local team opened the attack and Macready found the net, registering St. James' third goal. They continued to press and then O'Sullivan got away with another fine run and evading the goal-keeper, who rushed out to save, banged the ball into the net. The soldiers played up hard trying to equalise, but in spite of a fierce attack on the school goal they were unable to score and the game ended in a win for St. James as stated. Teams:—

ST. JAMES'S SCHOOL.—Jewell, goal; Boo and C. Adams, backs; Dunford, Hollow, and R. Adams, half-backs; Walkem, Macready, Hales, O'Sullivan, and Duff, forwards.

ROYAL IRISH RIFLES.—Edmundson, goal; Hendrick and Hannah, backs; Captain Charlie, Russell, and Lieutenant Kirkwood, half-backs; Burns, Lieutenant Biscoe, Lieutenant Wallace, Rowan, and McCormick, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. M. Remfry of the C. F. C.

THE FINAL.

ST. JAMES vs. RANCHI.—Played on the Calcutta ground last evening and, as was to be expected, the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. There was a huge crowd of spectators and the game was keenly watched. The Ranchi men went away from the start and carried operations into their opponents' quarters, the forwards playing in splendid style. Then St. James rushed down and forced a corner, but to no effect. the visitors getting possession and after repeated attempts a neat pass from the left in the Jacobites' circle gave Daud his chance and he banged the ball into the net. They continued to press and the first half ended with the Ranchi men leading and having had much the best of matters. On resuming St James played up splendidly and kept the ball in the Ranchi half, bombarding their goal, but not being allowed to get through. A fine run by Sadho gave Whitley an opening, but Jewell saved in marvellous fashion. The local team kept up the pressure and a fine shot was just saved by Whitley. Play now ruled very even. but towards the end St. James went away with a rush and time was called with the Boys still pressing, the Ranchi men winning the match and the cup by one goal to nil. After the match Mrs. Ashton presented the cup to the winners.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

THE concluding stages of the Cup competition have supplied some desperately hard fought games, and judging from the large crowds which have turned out to witness the matches, public interest in Hockey seems to be on the increase. The success which attended such teams as St. James, Seebpore, Rangers and Dalhousie no doubt acted as an incentive to their supporters to take a more active interest in their doings, which may account for the large attendances during the past week.

The first meeting between the Rangers and Rifles produced an even and exciting game during the first half of which both sides attacked in turn, the interval being reached without any score having been registered. In the second period, however, the Rangers had most of the game and should have won, but their left wing was decidedly weak, as neither White nor Pell were playing up to their usual form and their efforts were consequently spasmodic and lacked combination. Shortly after the interval a combined rush of the Irish forwards proved successful, as after Gasher had saved a hot shot from Biscoe, without however being able to clear, Rowan obtained possession and succeeded in rushing the ball into the net. He, however, got a nasty cut over his eye, but pluckily resumed playing after being attended to. This reverse caused the Rangers to play harder than ever, and hereabouts the game became very exciting though somewhat rough. Russell was noticeable for some excellent dashes along the touch-line, in which he was well backed up by Cuthbert, and they were at last rewarded with a score, although an extremely lucky one, Charlie putting the ball through his own goal in an effort to clear. Nothing further occurred and the game ended in a draw of 1 goal all. Warden at half-back was a tower of strength to his side, his hitting was very powerful and he showed coolness and resource in breaking up the combination of the opposing forwards. Biscoe and Rowan were the pick of the Rifles' front rank, and Edmonson in goal played up to his usual standard.

It was distinctly hard lines for the local team that they had to take the field without Lees in the re-played tie against the Rifles on the day following the first meeting of the teams, but Russell made a very efficient substitute, and Lees' inclusion could not have made much difference to the ultimate result. The first half of the game was fairly even, at the interval the score was only 1 goal in favour of the Rifles, but after the re-start the men from Fyzabad infused a considerable amount of dash into their play, which, with the Rangers going from bad to worse as the match progressed, resulted in the visitors putting in three more goals and thus winning the match by 4—0.

The meeting of Seebpore and Barrackpore in the third round of the competition resulted, as was expected, in a victory for the College team, who scored three times without response from their opponents. At the commencement of the game the Barrackpore men went off with a rush and infused an amount of dash and energy into their play that augured well for their ultimate success, but they were unable to pierce the boys' steady defence and half time arrived without any score being registered to either side. On changing ends, however, the superior combination and condition of Seebpore told the inevitable tale and they netted three times before the whistle sounded for a cessation of play. For the losers Arnold and Smith were most conspicuous, whilst Lawton and Nyss were the pick of the College team. Considering that Barrackpore are a newly formed combination they did exceedingly well to get as far as the third round, and will no doubt give a still better account of themselves next year.

Dalhousie gave their most sanguine supporters a pleasant surprise by the excellent game they put up against Ranchi, who only beat them by a goal to nil after an open and exciting match. The Ranchi forwards, who were well served by their half-backs, used their great pace with excellent effect and they undoubtedly did most of the pressing, but the stubborn defence of the local team was impervious to all attacks until just before the interval, when Sadhu found the net and thus scored what eventually proved the only goal of the match. Towards the close of the game both Affleck and Echlin tested the Ranchi goal-keeper Nehemiah, but had no difficulty in saving, as both shots lacked sting. The Dalhousie team have no reason to feel otherwise than satisfied with their displays this season, as after starting the competition in very shaky fashion against Burns, they have improved in every subsequent game and have only just been knocked out by a side which, I think, will eventually prove to be the ultimate winners of the Cup.

A more inglorious display than that given by Calcutta in their match against St. James in the third round it would be impossible to conceive, and it is difficult to find a reason or excuse for the poor form shown by the entire team, with one or two notable exceptions. We again reiterate our opinion that the omission of Dunn from the back division was a blunder on the part of those who were responsible for it and we think that subsequent events have proved that had Gardiner displaced Main or Walker and Dunn been retained in his old position, it would have strengthened the team in both the back and half-back divisions.

Perhaps the poorest display was given by the forwards, who appeared to have no notion of combining or taking passes, and who moreover repeatedly missed hitting the ball altogether. Sherman was the best of the front rank, but he was neglected by his wing men and consequently had few opportunities.

Pearson, who played a good game, was the only one of the half-backs who was of the slightest use to his side, and consequently Gardiner and Miles were continually called upon to save and they both got through a tremendous amount of work satisfactorily, but undoubtedly the excellent defence of King in goal was the one redeeming feature of the match, as he saved several stinging shots splendidly.

St. James played a poor game and one far below their usual standard, and it was only well on in the second half that Walkem scored for them. Macready and O'Sullivan were prominent for individual brilliancy, but there was too much hard hitting, and Boo and Adams defended well on the few occasions they were called upon.

Ranchi and Seebpore met in the semi-final on Saturday, on the Rangers' ground, and after a well contested game the Mission team proved victorious by three goals to one. although Seebpore were leading at half time by a goal to nil, and had the boys kept heir heads during the exciting play which took place on the second half, they would probably have made a still closer fight, but the general-ship of the Ranchi team was very fine and never did an opportunity present itself without it being turned to account. Seebpore did most of the pressing at the commencement of the game, but the Ranchi defence, in which Sulliman was most conspicuous, was very sound and it was nearing the interval before Street ran down and passing across to Nyss, the latter beat Nehemiah with an oblique shot. After change of ends there was only one team in it, and it was not long before that speedy and dangerous forward, Sadhu, had scored twice and Dadel followed shortly afterwards with a third goal. Seebpore pulled themselves together somewhat after this, but it was too late and so the visitors qualified for the final by 3 to 1.

After having all the best of a drawn game against the Rifles on Saturday, the St. James' team met and defeated the visitors from Fyzabad by 4—2, and thus qualified to meet Ranchi in the final. The replayed tie on Monday furnished an excellent display of good Hockey and was fought out in a thoroughly sportsmanlike spirit by both teams. Undoubtedly the better side won, as St. James played a magnificent game from start to finish, and after the interval simply made rings round their opponents After scoring two goals in rapid succession the School team fell off for a time and the Irishmen took advantage of this to bring the scores level, but their efforts appeared to have taken a good deal out of them, as after change of ends they were hardly able to raise a gallop, and St. James, adding two more goals, won the match as stated.

For the losers Edmonson in goal, and Biscoe and Charlie played best; for St. James all were good, but Macready especially played brilliantly throughout.

Ranchi won the Cup last evening, beating St. James by 1 goal to nothing, after as fine a game as one could wish to see. Congratulations to our doughty visitors, whose win was completely deserved and extremely popular. They are real sportsmen and, led by the Rev. E. H. Whitley, they form a combination that would shine in any company out here or at Home. And so adieu to Hockey till next hot weather.

SHINTY.

THE YEARS RESULTS.

The following are the results of the important tournaments played in India from 1st May 1902 to 30th April 1903:—

THE BEIGHTON CUP TOURNAMENT.—(Calcutta) Royal Irish Rifles beat Calcutta F C by 2 goals to 0.

THE AGA KHAN TOURNAMENT.—(Bombay) Shropshire L I beat R A by 3 goals to 1.

THE MADRAS TOURNAMENT.—Durham L I beat Madras C C by 3 goals to 1.

THE MURREE HOCKEY TOURNAMENT.—South Wales' Borderers beat Cameronian Highlanders by 4 goals to nil.

THE POONA TOURNAMENT.—Royal Scots beat Warwicks by 4 goals to nil.

DELHI CORONATION HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNAMENT.—33rd Punjab N I beat 22nd Bombay N I by 4 goals to 1.

ALL-INDIA HOCKEY TOURNAMENT.—Royal Irish Rifles beat Royal Scots Fusiliers by 3 goals to nil.

Lawn Tennis.

OOTACAMUND TOURNAMENT.

GENTLEMEN'S CHALLENGE SINGLES.

Mr. Nicholas beat Capt. Swan 6—5; 6—2.

L. Homan beat W. B. Greenwell 3—6; 6—4, Greenwell retired.

Final.

B. Fewkes beat Homan. 6—2; 6—0; 6—3.

GENTLEMEN'S HANDICAP SINGLES.

Zemindar of Shergada beat A. J. Verini (—15) (Scr) 6—0; 7—4.

Zemindar of Telaprole (+½ 15) beat W. A. Turner (Scr) 6—0; 6—2.

Capt. Milner (+½ 15) beat C. A. Payne (Scr) 6—2, 6—0

H. Collyer (Scr) beat D. W. Patrickson (Scr) 6—3; 6—2.

C. A. Innes (—15) beat F. Hannyngton (Scr) 6—3; 6—1.

Capt. Milner (+½ 15) beat Zemindar of Telaprole (+½ 15) 6—3; 6—2.

Zemindar of Morungapuri (—15) beat Zemindar of Badagada (—½ 15) 6—1; 6—2.

C. A. Innes (—15) beat H. Collyer (Scr) 6—4; 6—3

Zemindar of Shergada (—15) beat Capt. Milner (+½ 15) 6—2; 6—4.

GENTLEMEN'S OPEN DOUBLES.

L. Homan, W. B. Greenwell beat Shergada, Marungapuri 6—2; 6—3.

B. Fewkes, Nicholas beat S. L. Wace, Capt. Swan 6—3; 8—6.

Final.

B. Fewkes, Nicholas beat Homan, Greenwell

GENTLEMEN'S HANDICAP DOUBLES.

Marungapuri, Shergada (—15) beat W. A. Turner, A. N. Collyer (+½) 6—2; 6—3.

C A Innes, F Hannyngton (Scr) beat C A. Payne, Telapole (Scr) 6—1; 6—3.

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

QUILL SPECIAL REEDS.

Head Office: MADRAS.
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta:
MESSRS. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

BOOKS! BOOKS!!

MUDIE'S LIBRARY, EXPORT DEPARTMENT.

BOOKS FOR OFFICERS' CLUBS AND PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

SELECTED FROM

Mudies' clearance Catalogue (100 pages) to the value of £20 and upwards will be forwarded Freight Free to any seaport in India, China, and Japan.

The Clearance Catalogue contains Popular Works of TRAVEL, SPORT, HISTORY, BIOGRAPHY, SCIENCE and FICTION.

Small parcels of books can be sent by Parcel Post at Current Rates; larger consignments are packed in tin-lined cases, and shipped as freight, per steamer or sailing vessel. Lined cases supplied at moderate charges and insurances effected at current rates.

All leading periodicals obtainable, New or Second-hand.

Illustrated and other newspapers supplied on subscription payable in advance.

All List of Books and Magazines on sale sent post free to any address an application.—

MUDIE'S LIBRARY, 30-34, New Oxford Street; London,

ENGLAND.

ZOOLOGICAL GARDEN Kolkata 700027 MORE

Acc. No - 6972 15/12/06

C. A. Innes, F. Hannyngton (Scr) beat C. Morrison, Badagada (+15)
6—2; 6—3.

Final.

C. A. Innes, F. Hannyngton (Scr) beat Zem. Marangapuri, Zem. of Shergada (—15) 6—4; 6—0.

LADIES' HANDICAP SINGLES.

Miss Morgan (—15) beat Miss Moore (+⅝)
4—6; 6—2; 6—2.

Miss F. Marriott (—15) beat Mrs Wormald (Scr)
6—3; 6—2.

Miss F. Marriott (—15) beat Mrs. Magrath (+⅝)
6—0; 6—1.

Miss Morgan (—30) beat Miss K. Moore (+⅝)
6—2; 6—3.

Final.

Miss F. Marriott (—15) beat Miss Morgan (—30)

LADIES' CHALLENGE SINGLES.

Miss Fisher vs. Mrs. Wormald
Mrs. Wormald Scratched.

Miss F. Marriott beat Miss Low

Miss F. Marriott beat Miss Moore
6—0; 6—0.

Miss F. Marriott beat Miss Fisher
6—0; 6—0.

LADIES' HANDICAP DOUBLES.

Mrs. Bayley, Miss Breithaupt (—15) beat Mrs. Magrath, Miss R Moore (Scr)
7—5; 6—1.

Miss Searle, Miss N. Marriott (Scr) beat Miss B. Hannyngton, „ Fisher (Scr)
6—3; 6—1.

Miss Searle, Miss N. Marriott (Scr) beat Miss Hannyngton, „ Keeling (+½15)
6—1; 7—5.

Miss Searle, Miss N. Marriott (Scr) beat Miss Bagley, „ Breithaupt (+15)
2—6; 7—5; 6—2.

Miss Moore, Miss F. Marriott (—15) vs. Mrs. Weir, „ Marjoribanks. (—½ 15)
Mrs. Weir and Mrs. Marjoribanks scratched.

Miss Moore, Miss F. Marriott (—15) beat Miss Richelman, „ W. Breithaupt (+30) 6—3; 6—0

Miss Morgan, Miss Marriott (—½ 30) beat Miss Carter, „ Crowdy (Scr)

Miss Morgan, Miss Marriott (—½ 30) beat Miss Carter, Miss Crowdy (+15)

Miss Moore, Miss F. Marriot (—15) beat Miss Morgan, Miss Marriott (—½30)
6—3; 2—6; 6—3.

Final.

Miss Searle, Miss N. Marriott (Scr) beat Miss Moore, Miss F. Marriott (—15)
6—4; 1—6; 8—6.

MIXED DOUBLES (OPEN.)

S. L. Wace, Miss Anderson beat McLennan, Miss. F. Marriott
6—2; 6—4.

Capt Swan, Miss Marriott beat Capt. Lygon, Miss Moore
6—2; 6—0.

Final.

S. L. Wace, Miss Anderson beat Capt Swan, Miss Marriott
6—2; 6—2.

MIXED DOUBLES (HANDICAP.)

Capt. Lygon, Miss Moore (+⅝) beat McLennan, Miss N. Marriott (+⅝)
4—6; 6—4; 6—2.

C. Morrison, Miss Morgan (—½ 30) beat H. N. Collyer, Miss F. Marriott (Scr)
6—4; 6—5.

Capt. Milner, Miss Fisher (Scr) beat C. A. Innes, Miss Stevenson (Scr)
6—2; 6—2.

Capt. Swan, Miss Marriott (Scr) beat S. L. Wace, Miss Anderson (—15)
6—1; 6—3.

Capt. Lygon, Miss Moore (+⅝) beat Capt Milner, Miss Fisher (Scr)
6—0; 6—3.

Final.

Capt. Lygon, Miss Moore beat Capt. Swan, Miss Marriott (Scr)

Boxing.

BOXING IN BANGALORE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

THERE is no doubt that the British Soldier is fond of using his fists and seeing his comrades use them, and that would be a bad day for the old country on which this predilection died out. Anything more successful, more orderly or in every way characteristic of the British love of fair play than the opening night of the boxing competition in Bangalore on the 28th ultimo cannot well be conceived. And in this connection it is only fair that a special compliment should be paid to the troops in the station. Three batteries of Artillery—the 12th and 58th R. F. A. and "G" Battery R. H. A; the Essex Regiment, and the 6th Dragoon Guards had representatives competing, and there can hardly have been less than a thousand soldiers present, to say nothing of civilians. And yet ebullitions of feeling were very rare, and only required a word of admonition from the judges to die away at once. It speaks very well for the British soldier that he can see his comrade fairly beaten with an unprejudiced mind, and as one who knows him. I may say that the number of "nature's gentlemen" who exist in the ranks would surprise some of the carping critics who consider the British Army to be a "brutal and licentious soldiery."

Having thus bestowed a well deserved encomium upon the audience of the evening of the 28th instant, it is time to proceed to the competitors. The prizes it may be mentioned are really handsome, Rs. 75 going to the winner of the heavy weights and the other prizes in proportion. Proceedings opened with a bout in the light weights between Corporal Bartley, Essex Regiment, and Gunner Chapman, "G" Battery R. H. A.; but as each event is described in its place, it will perhaps be unnecessary to say more here. Undoubtedly the best two bouts of the evening were those between Private Sutton, Essex Regiment, and Dr. Cook, "G" Battery R. H. A.; and Bombardier Gibson, 12th Battery R. F. A., and Private Andrews, Essex Regiment. Captain Claridge, 3rd Madras Lancers, acted as referee, and the judges were Messrs. Grove, Heath, Ker and O. St. M. Jones. A just provision so ordered it, that none of these officers should judge a bout in which one of their own men was concerned, and indeed the judging was excellent, nearly all the verdicts being received with loud applause. There was lots of room in the compound in Trinity Road where the ring was erected. Sergeant-Major Sorby, R. A., who, by the way, has boxed amongst the heavy weights at the Agricultural Hall, acted as time-keeper, and everything went off without the least hitch. All the events consisted of three 2-minute rounds, with one minute between rounds. Events and results :—

LIGHT WEIGHTS.

Corporal Bartley, Essex Regiment, beat Gunner Chapman, "G" Battery R. H. A.

1st Round.—The gunner stood well over the Essex man and made the most of his reach, but Bartley boxing cleverly had none the worst of some light exchanges following on sparring for an opening. He got home on the body several times just before the round closed, and went to his corner with points in hand.

2nd Round.—Throughout the round the exchanges were heavy, but t could not be said that either had the best of it.

3rd Round.—Bartley now forced the fighting and playing well with both hands on the head and body repeatedly scored. His ducking out of danger was also clever and there was no doubt as to the verdict at the finish.

Private Sutton, Essex Regiment, beat Driver Cook, "G" Battery R. H. A.

1st Round.—Both went for one another like men, and the fighting was rapid and heavy. Sutton with a straight punch on the nose brought Cook to the boards, but the gunner was up at once and was quite with his opponent for the remainder of an excellent round, which evoked loud applause.

2nd Round.—The infantry man rushed at once, almost upset his opponent for a second time, but Cook seemed very fit, and when they went to their corners, he had, if anything, the best of another really good round.

3rd Round.—Cook forced the fighting hard, rushing the Essex man all over the ring. The latter, however, kept his head and allowed his opponent to fight himself to a practical standstill.

Then Sutton went in and scoring freely with left and right, easily obtained the verdict.

A BYE.

Corporal Lee, Essex Regiment, vs. Gymnasium Instructor Hayes, Essex Regiment.

(Throughout three rounds, Lee did his best, but the Instructor who is a marvellously well built man for his weight, was palpably playing with him, and again and again could have punished his opponent severely when he only put in light taps.)

HEAVY WEIGHTS.

Private Lumsden, 6th Dragoon Guards beat Corporal Taylor, Essex Regiment.

1st Round.—Lumsden adopted a crouching attitude whilst the Essex man stood up in orthodox style. The Carabineer went in, and followed a straight left on the nose with a regular rib-binder with the right. Taylor fought mostly on the defensive, and although much the prettier boxer he seemed to make little or no effort to score.

2nd Round.—Lumsden again went in, and Taylor fought away from him. The difference in weight was very apparent as the men quartered round the ring, and Lumsden had added points to his score as the round closed.

3rd Round.—The Carabineer—shorter in the reach—was all round his opponent trying to get in, but Taylors' long reach stood him in good stead, and towards the end of the round he scored repeatedly with straight lefts and half-hooks.

Deciding Round.—The judges ordered another round, and Lumsden seemed very much blown. Had Taylor gone in, he might have won the bout, but he had apparently a wholesome respect for his opponent's weight and still fought away. Verdict for Lumsden.

Private Tye, 6th Dragoon Guards, beat Gunner Smith, 12th Battery R. F. A.

1st Round.—The Dragoon rushed at once, and knocked his man on to the ropes, where a clever duck got him out of difficulties. There was not much science about the fighting, and the referee several times ordered the men to break away. Nothing to choose.

2nd Round.—Tye got well home on the mark and then rushed the gunner all over the ring. Using both hands freely although taking punishment in return he had, if anything, the best of a well-fought round.

3rd Round.—Tye twice got in right swings on the ribs, and although the Artillery man boxed in the pluckiest manner, he had all the worst of it, and the judges' awardquite rightly went to the Dragoon. This was the only decision of the night which was received with mixed demonstrations.

A BYE.

Corporal Taylor, Essex Regiment, vs. Gunner Acreman, 12th Battery R. F. A.

Throughout the three rounds Taylor was not clever, but he pursued the same defensive tactics as in his former fight, and whilst keeping his opponent well off, he seldom scored himself.

MIDDLE WEIGHTS.

Bombardier Gibson, 12th Battery R. F. A., beat Private Andrews, Essex Regiment.

1st Round.—This was undoubtedly the fight of the evening. Gibson has a tremendous reputation in Bangalore, having some time ago beaten that excellent fighter Gunner Lacey, of the 58th Battery R. F. A., in a fight to a finish. Andrews is supposed to be about the best man in the Essex Regiment, but he hardly seemed fit, and was a bit blown at the finish, although he had some 10lbs. the pull in the weights.

Gibson feinted continually with the left, and twice got home on the side of the head with the right. There was no weight behind the blows however, and an easy round left Gibson with only a little the best of things.

2nd Round.—Andrews had all the worst of the exchanges, but he stopped his opponent several times with straight lefts, and counted well. Towards the end of the round the artilleryman twice swung the right on the head with good effect.

3rd Round.—Gibson all over his opponent, who though boxing pluckily, and in desperate earnest was not clever enough. The verdict could only go one way, but there was some talk afterwards of a fight to a finish. I understand that Gibson is prepared to make a match under these conditions after the Poona boxing competition is over.

Gunner Lacey, 58th Battery R. F. A., beat Gunner Church, 12th Battery R. F. A.

Lacey, who is well-known in Bangalore boxing circles, set about his man at once, and scored a knock-down in the first twenty seconds. Subsequently he got in a tremendous right-handed punch near the heart, and Church lay on the boards. As the tenth second was counted he made a plucky effort to rise, but could not keep his legs and Lacey himself carried him to his corner amidst loud applause.

FEATHER WEIGHTS.

Bombardier Stead, 12th Battery R. F. A., beat Corporal Butcher, Essex Regiment.

1st Round.—An uneventful round, the Essex man doing little, but keeping out of distance. Stead, although he was repeatedly short, was the cleverer at the end of the round.

2nd Round.—This round saw the gunner forcing the fighting, but Butcher nothing loth was always with him, and had little the worst of a rapidly fought round.

3rd Round.—Stead opened the ball with a straight left on the nose, and then staggered the Essex lad with a right swing on the side of the head. From this to the finish he had the best of matters, and the verdict in his favour was well received.

A Bye.

Driver Neat, "G" Battery R. H. A., vs. Private Cox, 6th Dragoon Guards.

Both men looked very big for feather weights, but as all competitors had been strictly weighed there could have been no mistake. Neat boxed marvellously well, and showed some of the best form of the night. The Dragoon boxed pluckily, but was never in it with his opponent so far as scientific fighting went.

SECOND DAY.

The second night's boxing was again a brilliant success, and all the finals produced good contests. In the heavies Tye must have been considerably lighter than his opponent—Lumsden—but he had the longer reach and was certainly the prettier boxer. Had one of Lumsden's right swings gone home the affair would probably have been finished, but Tye although always willing enough to force the fighting evidently recognised this danger, and repeatedly ducked cleverly out of reach. The middle weights produced not only the finest fight of the evening, but the spirit in which the men fought was beyond all praise. Some twelve months or more ago, Gunner Lacey of the 58th Battery was beaten in a fight to a finish by Gunner Gibson of the 12th Battery, and these two men came together again in the final for the middle weights last night. From start to finish it was a case of hard punching and clever fighting, but even so they were perfectly good tempered and when Lacey got the verdict, Gibson went straight across the ring and shook hands heartily, both winner and loser being loudly applauded. In the final for the light weights, Corporal Bartley of the Essex Regiment at first appeared to have all the best of his comrade Private Sutton, but the latter boxed in very determined fashion and seemed the harder getting his man on the ropes and punishing him severely in the third round when Bartley retired. As regards the feather weight final there was only one in it from the start. Stead was plucky, but Neat, boxing in most attractive style, and getting a lot weight behind his blows, drove the 12th man all over the ring and in the second round twice knocked him clean under the ropes. Stead then retired recognising that he had no chance. With regard to the officers' bouts they were both interesting, Mr. Ker of the Carabineers beating Mr. Heath, 3rd Madras Lancers, whilst Mr. O. St. M. Jones, the Carabineers, beat Mr. Groves, R.F.A. Finally a collection was made to supply a purse for a fight to a finish between Private West, Lincolnshire Regiment and Private Melrose, Essex Regiment. The latter was much the elder man and was palpably out of condition, but the manner in which he took punishment was almost ludicrous, no amount of punching seeming to affect him in the least. West was very keen and wostrying all the time Melrose ducking very cleverly, but in the fifth round he was too much blown to continue the contest, and his second chucked up the sponge.

All the finals consisted of five rounds, the last of which was a four-minute round. Mr. Anketell-Jones of the Carabineers acted as referee, the judges were the same as only the opening night, and Sergeant-Major Sorby again held the watch. The lighting was very much improved and the whole affair has been a most successful athletic function.

Events and results :—

Heavy Weights—Semi Final.

Private Lumsden, "The Carabineers," beat Gunner Acreman, 12th Battery R.F.A.

1st Round.—Practically consisted of sparring, both appearing unwilling to go in. There were some demonstrations of disapproval at the end of the round.

2nd Round.—Much livelier. After a few rapid exchanges, Acreman slipped down, and was subsequently upset by a straight left on the nose. After some sparring, Lumsden again went in and scoring well on the body had decidedly the best of matters when they went to their corners.

3rd Round.—Lumsden drove the left heavily on the throat bringing Acreman down. The latter rose at once and tried a right swing, but was short. Sparring was proceeding when time was called. Verdict for Lumsden.

Officers' Competition.

Lieutenant Ker, "The Carabineers" beat Lieutenant Heath' 3rd Madras Lancers.

1st Round.—Heath was clever and quick on his legs, but his opponent had the advantage in both weight and reach. He did not appear to be hitting very hard however, and there was not much to choose at the end of the round.

2nd Round.—A repetition of the first round, with the exception that Ker seemed to take matters rather more seriously. He had the best of it at the finish.

3rd Round.—Ker won. He was not to be denied and hard as Heath tried he could not keep away from his opponent's tremendous height and reach. Hard fighting took place towards the end, but the verdict could only go one way.

Middle Weights—Final Bout.

Gunner Lacey, 58th Battery R. F. A. beat Gunner Gibson 12th Battery R. F. A.

1st Round.—Lacey appeared considerably the bigger man and stood over his opponent, but as a matter of fact, Gibson was the heavier of the two by eight pounds, scaling 10st. 11lbs, to his opponent's 10st. 3lbs. The man have met before and the greatest interest was manifested in the fight.

Lacey rushed at once and Gibson ducked cleverly, but the 58th man twice got home on the face without a return. Gibson then scored with the left on the neck and the right on the ribs, but Lacey boxed in the most aggressive style, and seemed very confident.

2nd Round.—Gibson somewhat flushed, but Lacey apparently quite cool. He swing a heavy right on the side of the head, but in attempting to repeat the performance, was steadied with a beautiful straight left on the throat. Even exchanges marked the rest of the round. Just before time was called, the 58th man got well home on the mark, but was countered heavily on the nose, and both men were loudly applanded as they went to their corners.

3rd Round.—Both smiling, Lacey as usual led, but Gibson was clever and got out of distance. Sparring was followed by several feints on the part of Lacey, but the 12th man would not be drawn, and Lacey swung the right without effect, getting in a light left on the nose as the round closed.

4th Round.—Lacey jabbed the left twice on the face without a return and and then missed a right hand swing, Gibson countering on the mark. In-fighting followed, of which the 12th man has decidedly the worst end of the stick.

5th Round.

5th Round.—The men shook hands and sparring was followed by Lacey landing lightly on the mark. He rushed, but was well stopped, and towards the finish Gibson scored three or four times on the face and neck without a return. Both were distressed, Lacey being if anything the more blown of the two, but he had established a good lead and the verdict in his favour was greeted with loud applause. At the same time Gibson had fought an excellent fight, and the applause was renewed in his favour.

Light Weights—Final Bout.

Private Sutton, Essex Regiment, beat Corporal Bartley Essex Regiment.

1st Round.—Bartley the taller and if anything the cleverer boxer, but Sutton was very determined, and had a wear-and-tear look which argued well for his chance. Both went at it hammer and tongs during the first round, Bartley sending his man to the boards with a vicious upper-cut. Sutton was groggy for a moment but recovered as the round progressed, and there was little to choose at the end of the round.

2nd Round.—Sutton very business-like, but Bartley boxed smartly and seemed to have the best of it. There was little weight behind his blows however until he again got in an uppercut which caused Sutton to shake his head and look serious. Both fought desperately hard, but somewhat wildly, repeatedly hitting out of distance.

3rd Round.—Sutton the fresher, although the Corporal several times scored lightly. Towards the end of the round Sutton rushed his man on to the ropes where he was obviously in difficulties and was severely punished on the head and body. He went to his corner palpably all but out, and his second threw up the sponge.

Officers' Competion.

Lieutenant O. St. M. Jones, "The Carabineers," beat Lieutenant Groves, 58th Battery R. F. A.

1st Round.—Jones adopted the crouching attitude so well-known in America, whilst Groves stood up with his left well out. Jones did most of the leading, and was the cleverer in a well contested round.

2nd Round.—Practically a repetition of the last round, with most of the fighting in favour of the Carabineer officer.

3rd Round.—Groves improved considerably, and scored well on the head and neck, towards the end of the bout. The judges decision, however was quite rightly in favour of the dragoon.

A Bye.

Private Tye, "The Carabineers, vs. Private Thorpe, the Carabineers."

Three fairly good rounds, in which Thorpe had none the worst of it Tye however was naturally not distressing himself, with the .final for the heavy weights in front of him.

Feather Weights—Final Bout.

Driver Neat, "G" Battery R. H. A. beat Gunner Stead, 12th Battery R. F. A.

1st Round.—Neat at once forced the fighting and although Stead met him pluckily he was never in it with his opponent for strength. Moreover, Neat ducked very neatly, was quick on his legs and good with both hands. The round was all in favour of Neat.

2nd Round.—Stead seemed weak, and Neat going in with much determination drove him all round the ring, and on to the ropes. He got in a half-hook, followed by a right swing which knocked Stead clean under the ropes and almost off the platform. He rose plucky but shaky, only to be again sent to the boards by a punch on the mark, and wisely retired. Neat impressed me as a wonderfully good little man, and I expect to hear more of him.

Heavy Weights—Final Bout.

Private Tye, "The Carabineers," beat Private Lumsden, "The Carabineers."

Lumsden was palpably the heavier and was evidently going for a knock-out. He swung the right with terrific force several times, but Tye was alive to the danger and with clever duckings and good head-work kept out of reach. Lumsden beginning to tire, Tye went in at once, and boxing well with both hands had all the best of a well-fought round at the finish.

2nd Round.—Tye forced the fighting at once and making the most of a long reach, rushed Lumsden about the ring. After a minutes fighting Lumsden, who hardly seemed fit, began to tire fast, but towards the end of the round he freshened up and got home some body blows which caused his opponent to pause and look very serious.

An abscess having burst on Lumsden's left fore-arm, however he had perforce to retire.

Fight to a Finish for a Subscription Purse.

Private West, Lincolnshire Regiment, beat Private Melrose, Essex Regiment.

1st Round.—West quite a lad scaled 10st. 2½lbs and Melrose, 10st. 4lbs. The former rushed at once and began to punish his opponent on the head and neck, but Melrose, who is a well-known fighter, albeit somewhat of a veteran, seemed to care very little, only shaking his head once or twice, and hardly troubling to guard his opponent's blows. West certainly ahead on points.

2nd Round.—Heaving exchanges. Melrose got in a right-handed punch in the ribs which caused the youngster to look very sick and for a moment he seemed almost out. Melrose however did not follow up his advantage and West recovering by degrees had made honours fairly easy when the round closed.

3rd Round.—West with a right swing, brought Melrose to the boards. He rose blowing freely and West went in with both hands, trying to finish the affair, but the elder man was to clever, and repeatedly ducked out of danger.

4th Round.—Melrose making an effort, forced the fighting for half-a-minute, but died away again and it was evidently the youngster's fight when they went to their corners.

5th Round.—Melrose palpably done, but cleverly ducking out of danger as West rushed and swung. He managed to avoid much damage, but retired at the end of the round.

In conclusion, it may be said that this very successful boxing competition has been principally brought about and carried out by Mr. O. St. M. Jones, Mr. D. Ker, and Mr. Anketell-Jones of the Carabineers, Captain Claridge of the 3rd Madras Lancers, Mr. Heath of the same regiment, and Mr. Groves, R. A. Commanding officers in the station have also been kindness itself in affording assistance, and the men of the various corps in Bangalore have shown that as a whole they are worthy of such indulgences. May the competition only be the first of many similar ones.

BOXING AT SECUNDERABAD.

Perhaps the best boxing show ever witnessed in Secunderabad came off on Wednesday at the Lincolns Regimental Recreation ground. The Lincolns have a club called the "Sphinx" Boxing Club, which has for its aim, in particular, the laudable object of teaching the young soldier the use of his fists, and, judging from the excellent display the Lincoln novices gave in their competition, the club is certainly making itself "felt" in this garrison.

A huge and unprecedented crowd of fully two thousand filled the spacious enclosures and at 9-30 General Sir George Pretyman, C. M. G., General Officer Commanding, and his staff, Major R. Haig, First Assistant Resident, and most of the officers in the garrison, arrived as guests of Colonel Curry, D. S. O., the Commandant of the Regiment.

There were in all 26 fights, and each and every one having its own individual interest. The programme commenced at 9 P.M. and the last bout was finished at 2 A.M., all the officers staying to the very end.

The keenest event of the evening was a slashing fight between two admitted rivals, Gunner Seaman and Driver Freeman, both of the 23rd Battery B. F. A. These two men on entering the ring were perfect pictures of physique, but the loser (Freeman) left it beaten in the seventh round with his face in a perfect pulp. The oldest stager present declared he had never seen anything like it before, and the Referee remarked that no man in the garrison could have stood the punishment Freeman did. Seaman followed his man round the ring from the very commencement, and it was nothing short of miraculous that it took him seven rounds to finish his opponent off. The floor was simply carpeted with blood.

The Heavy Weights Garrison Competition final ended in favour of Smith, the All-India Champion of 1901, who had little difficulty in knocking out Clayton in the second round. Smith seems fit for anything now and has quite recovered in health. He was never in better trim and great things are expected of him at Poona in May, where he has entered for the Army Competitions. Clayton once the "Cock of the Walk" in Secunderabad must now take a very back seat. Even in his bout with Lance-Corporal Temporal, a youngster and hitherto a dark horse, he was beaten in the extra round ruled by the Referee in the Middle Weights.

Bolton in the Light Weights made a very good show and an easy win. The fact of his being an Instructor in the school accounts for his premier position as a local light weight.

Lieutenant Ross of the Hyderabad Contingent made an excellent referee and Lieutenant O. C Todd (School of Gymnastic) and Acting Quarter-Master Sharpe (Gymnastic Staff) were Judges. Sergeant-Instructor Wogan, to whom practically all the credit of the organization must be given, was Timekeeper and M. C.

We are promised another show in June, and if it is anything like this one, then the aims and objects of the "Sphinx" Boxing Club will be evinced in distinct contrast to other regiments who lack anything approaching so useful an institution as the Lincolns maintain.

RESULTS.

Heavy Weights.—Garrison Competition.

Clayton	beat	Greeetham.
Smith	"	Broughton.
Final—Smith	"	Clayton.

Middle Weights.—Garrison Competition.

Final—Broughton	beat	Deacle.

Light Weights.—Garrison Competition.

Final—Bolton	beat	Massum.

Feather Weights.—Garrison Competition.

Final—Garleston	beat	Bluck.

Bantam Weights.

Flynn	beat	Small.

Novices' Competitions.

[Open only to members of the Lincolns (Sphinx) Boxing Club.]

Middle Weights.

Carter beat Mellors ; Cousins beat Lake ; Final—Smith beat Carter.

Light Weights.

Mather beat Smith : Moss beat Wright ; Doy beat Lee ; Stowe beat Foster.

Semi-Finals—Moss	beat	Mather.
" —Doy	"	Stowe.
Finals—Doy	"	Moss.

Feather Weights.

Clarke	beat	Whitechurch.
Marshall	"	M. Smith.
Clarke	"	Bradshaw.
Finals—Clarke	"	Marshall.

Ten-Round Contest.

Gunner Seaman (23rd Battery R. F. A.) beat Dr. Freeman (23rd Battery R. .F A.)

Swimming.

CALCUTTA SWIMMING CLUB.

THE Calcutta Swimming Club inaugurated their racing season last Friday with a two lengths Novice's handicap. Only five competitors faced the starter and the results were as follows.—

		Start.	Nett time.
1	A R B Siddons ...	... 14 secs	55½
2	C G F Allan ...	... 7 "	51
3	J Keith-Sim ...	... 5 "	53
4	K M Kennedy ...	... 2 "	50½
5	J E Murphy ...	... scratch	not taken.

The next event will be a two lengths club handicap on Friday 8th current.

The Naturalist.

STRAY NOTES.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing in Nature Notes, asks the following question :—" Is there a breed of cats which possess six toes (i.e., five toes and a kind of thumb), each armed with strong claws? In the village of Hathersage (Peak District, Derbyshire), a woman has two large cats, half-sisters, one a tortoiseshell, the other light tan, with feet as described. I have never before seen such, and suppose they must belong to a particular breed. I am told that wild cats and other small wild animals nearly extinct in England are still to be found in the woods which clothe the moors in sheltered depressions." We should say the cats referred to are mere freaks, the result of sexual selection. We do not think any real wild cats exist in England now, but it is said that there are still a few in the wildest parts of Scotland. The so-called wild cats are merely the progeny of domestic cats which have taken to the woods and wastes.

Under the heading "windbags as danger signals and life buoys" Mr. Pycroft in Knowledge gives an interesting descriprion of those curious fishes, sometimes caught in the Karachi harbour, which blow themselves out into a ball. He says:—"The expedient of baffling their would-be devourers by inflating the body with air is a device practised by the globe-fishes of the tropical Atlantic and Indian Oceans. These extraordinary creatures, when hard pressed by some hungry shark, and not too far from the surface

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

MAYOS.

Head Office: Madras.
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta :
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD VALUE IN

HOT WEATHER SHIRTS.

Cawnpore Twill Tennis Shirts Rs. 15 per doz.
(Best Quality.)

G. E. H. Cellular Tennis Shirts Rs. 21 per doz.

G. E. H. Cellular Neglige Shirts Rs. 27 per doz.

Longcloth Office Shirts Rs. 24 per doz.

GREAT EASTERN HOTEL Co., Ld.,
CALCUTTA.

SPECIALITIES IN WHISKIES.

"BEEHIVE" BRAND,
Rs. 25 per dozen.
303 SPECIALITY,
Rs. 30 per dozen.
707 SPECIALITY,
Rs. 35 per dozen.

SAMPLE CASES OF WHISKIES.
To enable our customers to make a choice from our stock of Whiskies and to judge of their characteristics we shall be happy to put up one bottle of any six different Brands, and charge for them at the nett cash rate per dozen with special discount of ½ per cent.

"AULD" SCOTTIE
Rs. 32-8 per dozen.
"NECTAR,"
Rs. 41 per dozen.
"GLENLIVET,"
Rs. 36 per dozen.

☞ 10 % Discount for Cash.

Great Eastern Hotel Co., Ld., Calcutta.

rush up, and thrusting the mouth beyond the water, draw sufficient air into the gullet to inflate the body to such an extent that the fish-like form is exchanged instanter for that of the globe, from which they take their name. This done, they perforce "turn turtle" and float at the surface with the inflated belly well above the water. By this means, like the flotsam of the sea, they are blown along for great distances, the projecting portion of the body catching every breeze that blows, and thus eventually they reach a place of safety. Not always, however, do they escape the fate they flee from, for it occasionally happens that some more than usually greedy shark swallows them, as the sturgeon did Hiawatha. No friendly sea-gulls, however, are at hand to effect a rescue, so the globe-fish, left to his own resources, promptly gnaws a hole through the walls of his prison, and, escaping, leaves his misguided enemy a mere lump of carrion. It seems that when too far from the surface to gain the much desired light cargo of air, the globe-fish effects the necessry distension of the body by taking in great gulps of water. Probably only certain forms of globe-fish can be thus swallowed, for it should be mentioned that the skin of some species is armed with enormous bony spines, so numerous as to form a complete investment for the body.

An interesting theory regarding the singing of birds has been recently advanced, and appears to be well founded. It is said that young birds, hearing the sound of their parents' song while in the nest, retain the memory of the notes, and, when the spring arrives, they endeavour to, and by practice succeed in, reproducing the song. Daines Barrington states that, if a bird is not to have any of the notes of its species, it must be taken from the nest when it is only a day or two old. He tells of a goldfinch thus taken and reared in Radnorshire, which had not a single goldfinch note, but which had picked up the whole repertoire of a wren that frequented the garden where the cage was hung. Daines Barrington himself educated a young robin under a very fine nightingale. The nightingale, however, went out of song when the robin had been learning less than a fortnight, and the latter's song became three-fourths nightingale and one-fourth that of no particular species.

The question whether carrion birds discover their food by means of scent or sight is discussed in the Yorkshire Weekly Post and a correspondent remarks: "I recollect having read of some experiments Darwin made with the South American eagle, to try and find out if this bird located its carrion food by the sense of smell or of sight. He came to the conclusion that it was solely by means of the latter, and describes how an eagle had failed to discover bad meat which was wrapped in paper and placed quite near it. Well, a short time ago a cow managed to enter the small outflow tunnel from our turbine, and there it died. We were very much troubled with the fearful stench, and, after examining the drains, discovered the dead cow, which with no little difficulty was removed and buried. I noticed that whilst the bad smell existed the "urubus," or carrion crows, were continually hovering about the place, instead of stolidly sitting in rows on the trees near the slaughtering place, as is their custom. Now, they must have been attracted solely by the smell as the carrion was completely out of sight, some distance up the tunnel, the very mouth of which is covered with bushes. I should like to know if any other carrion-eating birds are guided by their sense of smell.' We believe it has been pretty conclusively proved that vultures, eagles, condors, and most soaring birds of prey discover their food by means of sight, and close observation of animals gifted with a keen scent, which they from a lofty height observe smelling out dead animals. We are inclined to believe that ravens, crows, magpies, jays, and such birds have considerable smelling powers.

THE ANIMAL'S FEAR OF DEATH.

In a recent number of that very interesting journal The Field Naturalists' Quarterly Mr. W. J. Long asks the interesting question, "How do the Animals Die?" and answers it out of a wide experience of the lives and habits of birds and beasts. "Quietly, peacefully, nine-tenths of them," he replies, and he gives instances of the deaths of animals which he has himself witnessed. His is a view which most of us would like to accept, and the case he makes out is certainly strong. He has seen an eagle die in the solitudes of American mountains. He heard the scream of the great bald eagle—Cleplahgan as the Indians call him—one day as he sat in his shelter of boughs and bark, and ran out to see what Cleplahgan was doing. The great eagle was wheeling in small erratic circles over the mountain-top; presently the circles narrowed, the eagle twisted round, and came rushing down aslant with stiff, outspread wings. His eyes were half closed, and his head was drooping, but he managed to veer away from a tall bare tree that blocked his path, vanishing silently into the great woods below. Mr. Long followed, and found him lying dead. To have seen such a sight as that is certainly an experience which can have come to few field naturalists. Perhaps Mr. Long's second instance is representative of a commoner experience. Near a little spring running behind Mr. Long's tent in the woods Mr. Long one day saw a woodwarbler. He had noticed it before, flitting silently about the underwood; but it had become gentler and more fearless. It allowed him to take it in his hand and dozed contentedly on his finger, only opening its eys wide when he brought it water. The next next day Mr. Long found [redacted] dead, hanging head downward from a root. "These two," Mr. Long writes, "are but types of the death that goes on in the woods continually"; and we do not know that there is much to be said against this view, to which we believe most field naturalists would assent. The writer remembers the case of a family of robins which managed to establish themselves in the affections of the tenant of a cottage in Buckinghamshire. Grandfather, father, and son have all held the same position in the establishment; they have assumed it to be their right in the winter to fly to the dining room window and ask for bread, and when, in the summer, tea has been brought out of doors, to sit in convenient places on the rim of a milk jug or the edge of a plate of bread and butter, and to take what they please from the table. Both grandfather and father are now dead, and the son alone remains, to become a father, it is hoped, this year. But the death of both these robins must surely have been painless. Both were alive and apparently happy one day, if rather dilapidated in looks and seemingly a little blind; both were found dead the next morning. Had they not probably died in their sleep? Mr. Long makes the comment on the two deaths of animals which he mentions, that the only exception to the rule of the death that goes on continually in the woodlands is this: that "they were seen by too inquisitive eyes. The vast majority steal away into the solitudes they love and lay them down unseen, where the leaves shall presently cover them from the sight of friends and enemies alike." We see few wild animals die, but from what we can gather the animal's death is a very quiet thing, more like sleep than the "passing" which is dreaded by mankind.

Does the wild animal fear death? It would look as if in some cases it must. The fox, for instance, hunted for fifteen miles across country; or the deer, sprung suddenly upon by the panther; or the partridge, cowering at the swoop of the hawk. But Mr. Long answers, is such a death painful, and do wild animals fear it? He instances the parallel case of human beings who have been mauled by beasts of prey. Livingstone, for instance, "who lay under the paw of a lion, with his shoulder crushed and his arm gashed with seams that he carried to his grave, felt no pain and did not even know that he had been hurt." The spring of a savage animal, it was Mr. Livingstone's experience, brings with it a merciful numbness which kills pain; the instinct of the attacked man is simply to lie still. The pain comes afterwards, no doubt, if he survives, but if the man is killed it is doubtful if he feels it. Similariy with soldiers on the field of battle. Men have been known to be mortally wounded and yet not to fall, or even to know that they were wounded until the rush of the charge was over. If it is true of man that he does not feel pain, that he is numbed into apathy under such conditions, must it not be even truer of animals, who have not man's power of imagination?

But if animals die painlessly in these violent moments, still must they not fear death when it comes to them slowly, as, for instance, in the case of animals which die of cold or hunger? Mr. Long thinks not. Birds which are frozen to death die in a sleep which the cold brings over them. As to hunger, "long before pain comes, a dozy lassitude blunts the edges of all feeling"—which is the experience of men who have gone days without food. We believe it to be true, as Mr. Long holds, that we have "curious, foolish conceptions of animal death as a tragic, violent thing." We measure animals' feelings by our own; yet there is no justification for the idea that animals think about death beforehand, which alone might be supposed to suggest a fear of death. Rather death comes to animals heralded merely by a feeling of discomfort. They realise that their desires have suddenly changed, and their instinct is to get away from those who feel differently from them. Death comes to them, perhaps, with a mild feeling of wonder; they do not understand why they no longer wish to eat and drink with their fellows. But when they lie down to die it is not with fear: it is with a desire, which cannot bring unhappiness, for sleep.

The Story Teller.

NATIVE SUPERSTITIONS.

I.

NO nation in the world, not even the highest in the scale of civilization, can escape the charge of being superstitious, how then can we blame the poor ignorant native of Bengal when we ourselves are not free from the same fault?

It is in some measure due to our unsympathetic attitude towards their little beliefs and prejudices that the average European is so unpopular. As often as not it costs us nothing to fall in with these little odd ways, but of course at times they do clash with duty, when they must go to the wall. par example, the other day I had to fix the hearing of a revenue case, the opposite party was the local Raja, whose manager after objecting to every available day proposed by me, on the score of pressure of business, finally objected to it being put down on a Thursday, as it was an unlucky day, and I hear that should the matter be decided against his master's interests he will make it a ground of appeal, and this is one of the leading spirits of the district! An ex-editor of a native paper, a Congress-wallah and a so-called progressive.

* * * * * * * *

We have all heard of the sea-serpent, but very few know his winter address, and would be surprised to hear it is in the Chittagong Hill Tracts.

There is a hill, a few miles above Poang's Hat, on the right bank of the Sungoo, down whose sides can be seen miles off a gigantic zig-zag scar or track. Local tradition has it, that it is caused by a monster snake. "In bulk as huge, as whom the fables name of monstrous size."

It lies dormant all the winter months in a cavern at the summit of this hill, whence issuing once a year as the weather grows warm, it closes the cavern's mouth with a huge rock no creature but it can move, and making a bee line for the coast plunges into the sea, there to disport itself, and swallow whales and such like small fry, till the shortening days warn it that it is time for its annual snooze, when it retires again to its cavern, and entering carefully, blocks up the door with the aforementioned rock. How's this for high? Between this hill and the nearest sea there are in two or three places, curious nullahs, in the flat ground, and gashes through the intermediate hills which are pointed out as caused by this same monster. All this may seem very absurd to us, but it is not a whit more so than the so-called Devil's dykes and causeways to be found scattered all over England.

* * * * * * * *

There is another hill of interest in the Tracts of which I may perhaps write more another day, known to the Mughs as Bauda, but to the Mros, as Kamong, Klyong, Mrodáng. A rather small hill like a truncated cone, not far from the abandoned station of Ruma. It is said that when the supreme Government of the land goes to war, sounds as of artillery, big guns, and small, and even volleys of musketry are heard from it. I myself can vouch for the sounds about Majuba Hill time as can many others. No one can ascend it: something it is said always happens to prevent it. Whether this is so or not I cannot say, but this I know, H. of the Police and I vowed a vow to get to the top of that hill. Time after time we planned expeditions to it, but they were always prevented some how; important orders; or sickness overtook us, or news of a party of Lushais loafing about. Once we even got within a few hours' march of the hill, and fever struck us both down and we had to be carried back. We both left the district soon after, but H. declared he would not be beaten, and took leave to return and go up that hill.

Well, he got his leave, but on the eve of it became so ill he had to go to Ceylon, where he died. Curious how all this supports native superstition. "Oh just a coincidence" perhaps some of my readers may remark. Just so, and I leave it at that.

Many generations ago three Mughs started to go up the hill, but two returned and they were dumb and white-headed. Though the jumeeah will roam the jungles at its base, they would sooner face a dozen tigers than ascend it.

* * * * * * * *

Talking of tigers, he is naturally enough the centre of numerous superstitions, though not so many as one might expect. The Lushais beyond regarding him as the Creator's watch-dog, and as such not to be interfered with, have not many ideas about him. But the other tribes of the Hill Tracts have many and various. In common with the natives of several other districts of Bengal, many of them do not care to use its name. Often have I been told that a seeal or a geedhur, or a janwar had made a kill, but after sundown they will not even say so much. The tiger or leopard is always referred to as "it." The same caution is exhibited amongst some tribes in naming a snake, they will call it "lut" or cane, or even a string, or a rope. I was once very nearly bitten by a Bungarus faciatus, not understanding their idioms. I had shot a bird which had fallen into a bush, the man with me went to get it, but came back without it, saying, "Lut (i.e. climbing plants, such as canes, wild creepers, and so on) hai saheb." Thinking he was too indifferent and fearing the bird which was only wounded might get away, I was about to push into the bush, when the man stopped me only just in time, for there coiled up partly on the bush and partly on the ground was a Bungarus faciatus.

* * * * * * * *

I remember once losing a grand chance at a Rhino, because I unwittingly did an unlucky thing. Khubber had been brought in to the village I happened to be putting up at of one in a stream about five miles off, and away I started with two or three villagers.

It was quite a new country to me and I was entirely dependent on them for guidance. We came upon his fresh tracks and all was going well, when we happened to come to a stream, on the dry bed of which I was the first to notice an unusually large pug mark of a tiger, waiting for the others to come close I pointed to the mark with the muzzle of my rifle, remarking casually, "Pretty biggish bagh that."

"Oh, Sir, what have you done," exclaimed the villager, "we cannot go on now."

"Why, what on earth is the matter," said I. "Huzoor, to touch the foot prints of a tiger with a weapon is to challenge it to a fight, in which one man will be surely killed. We will go back. It is a bad omen."

Nothing I could do or say would induce them to remain, much less to go. And as I was alone, that is without any tracker or orderly, I had perforce to return, for it is an easy matter to get lost in that virgin jungle.

* * * * * * * *

Most of us know the various magical properties attributed to the different parts of a tiger. His liver eaten conduces to bravery, his whiskers in an amulet secures one against the evil eye, while another part if properly cooked and eaten cures impotency and so on. But what I fancy very few have heard is, that the little rudimentary collar bones secure to the happy possessor the unalienable affection and absolute fidelity of his wife, such is the Mro belief. I once thought of starting a limited company for the sale of them, there is considerable money in the idea no doubt, for millionaire prices could be charged, but I lacked the pluck to face the armies of disappointed hubbies should the magic fail to work, and, moreover, I doubt if all the tigers in Bengal would meet the demand of even a couple of hill stations, or plains ones either for the matter of that, besides it does not do to thwart the little affectionate impulses of a "burra mem" even though they happen to stray out of bounds.

To dream of a tiger is, according to Qunemi, Mugh, and Banjogi ideas a certain sign of very hot dry weather, while in Mro belief the dreamer will have a numerous offspring.

* * * * * * * *

In many of the aboriginal tribes of the jungles of Bengal and Assam, there is a belief that once an animal has been mauled by a tiger or leopard it is sure to be killed by it eventually. Personally I cannot affirm that this is an idea to trust to, for I have at times tied up a tiger-mauled animal as a bait, but no janwar ever came to it; at the same time I can bear in mind several instances when the heathen triumphed. One was a very curious one. It happened away back in 1872 on one of the tea gardens of Cachar, not a hundred miles from "Lalang." The Manager's pet heifer was seized by a tiger which was driven off it by the coolies; it was pretty badly mauled; and when its owner undertook to doctor it the Naga coolies laughed; they declared it was no use; the cow would certainly die from tiger bites. At first we did not understand, but at last they spoke out. "Oh yes, the powers of the Saheb-logue were great, no doubt they could cure the animal, but even though quite recovered a tiger would kill it sooner or later." Well, it was cured, and some months after a tiger made a night attack on the garden cattle-pen, but was driven off with shouts and firebrands, the only animal touched was this identical heifer. Of course the coolies remarked on it, but that was nothing to the way they chortled when some weeks later the animal was killed by a tiger. The herdsman declared that the animal was in the middle of the herd as he was driving them home. Stripes bounced bang through the others and seized this one. As there was no one to contradict him he was very safe in saying so.

Closely allied to the last belief is the disinclination some natives have to lend a young buffalo, or cow, or even a goat to be tied up as a kill. I have over and over again tried to get the loan of an animal for a bait, times and again I have fixed the price of a tie up, it has been agreed to, but when I came to suggest that if I returned it safe and sound the deal was off and the owner would repurchase it, to this there was always a flat refusal.

"You see, Huzoor," I was generally told, "even if it has not been hurt, still it has been offerd as a sacrifice to the striped ones, and shall they not eat of their own? It would always be unlucky."

So as a general rule a purchase outright had to be made.

POLITYE.

(To be continued.)

The Garden.

GARDENING FOR MAY.

THROUGHOUT this the most trying month for the flower garden in Bengal nothing much can be recommended beyond the free use of water, between sunset and sunrise, in the open. Where such coarse reeds as eka and null can be had the compound would cost little to cover completly in; in fact converted into a shaded shed like the trellis work under which the betel vine is grown that is when the aspect is exposed to the full blaze of the sun, though in many gardens the shade thrown by the house on the eastern ground will be sufficient to preserve all tropical flowers from scorching. Of course there are many flowering shrubs that will stand and benefit by full exposure to the sun's rays, but all the more delicate will show the benefit of protection, especially such as can be treated in the jardiniere or pot stands. Rose trees require a good deal of attention for the next six weeks, syringing with lime water. (The Field recommends that in which fir and pine droppings have been steeped) at least twice a week will free them from both aphides and their milkers, the small red ant, as also mosquito blight. In the hills the beautiful prototypes of an imported European flower will be approaching their prime, but parasites being more plentiful here than in the temperate zones insecticides should be freely resorted to. Very little stimulants, are needed now as which manures we recommend in the spring months should be making themselves felt. Violets, mignonetts, verbenas—we write of hill gardening—should be thinned out to allow the roots full play without which the perfume of the blossoms suffers, lavender also should have at least a clear three inches even if it is grown for home distillation or merely for scenting clothes and linen in almirahs, but as ladies are chiefly confined to the house at this season they may well relieve the monotony in extracting scent from these three sources, as also from any others we have from time to time drawn attention to. Though such common European flowers as snapdragon, wall flower, hollyhock come to perfection in our hill gardens the banks and hedges on the lower hill furnish numberless hybrids of these that may well be brought in and added to the collection. A very common ground orchid usually prolific in pollen is worth propagating for this purpose—the arundini bambusefolia. It is as well to mark down for seed collecting many plants on the lower hills, such as the gigantic hyacinths and that beautiful creeper the globba spatulata which anywhere above 2,000 feet attains double the dimensions it exhibits in the low country: much the same applies to all convolvuli. The orchids in bloom in the plains will be saccolabium, arides, moschatum, teres, the ground ones the cylogenes, and other bulbous ones, but these must be well attended to in the matter of keeping the axils freely washed.

VEGETABLES—In the plains this month being mostly confined to the native varieties need little reference to, but in the hills the busy time will have commenced and except within the rainbelt the whole of the European kinds can be taken in hand though great vigilance is requisite in regard to the tuberous ones, such as turnips, carrots, etc.; ground grubs hatching out with the returning heats of summer. Country potatoes can be put down in the usual fashion, but the recently introduced kidneys, or as they are generally called—new—will come on best on ridges running north and south, while as soon as the stem appears flooding between the rows will promote growth without inducing rot as watering from the top is likely to do. Peas and beans for the first crop should be sown, while to secure a constant supply rows can be put down weekly. The strawberry beds will benefit by a layer of well pulverised stable manure thinly scattered over them, though where that from the fowl house or dovecot is available it will prove more effective. Where the common hill fruit (strawberries) have been grown and the crop exhausted, after apportioning off sufficient for propagation, the beds can be sown with earth nuts anywhere between 2 and 4,000 feet, but these must receive the full benefit of the sun as the little tuber is essentially a tropical one, though, given sufficient heat, recent experiments shew, it attains perfection about the altitude mentioned. If peaches have been thinned out as we recommended the crop ought to promise well and though too early for grafting or layering the twigs selected for these operations should be now marked down in the event of an early setting in of the rains. Figs need dusting with either sulphur, lime or ashes while where feasible the vines should be covered in with wire or twine netting from birds, or that destructive nuisance up-country the flying fox: a good thick dressing of wood ashes, round the stems will prevent ants climbing up, though where crude petroleum is to be had that will be found more effective but must be discontinued when the fruit begins to ripen. Figs seldom need thinning out, but occasionally double fruit will appear when one should be sacrificed. This removal of superabundant fruit is nowhere more required than in the case of the papya, but the mali cannot be made to understand it. The general treatment of fruit trees must depend on the rains setting in.

HORTICUS.

Chess.

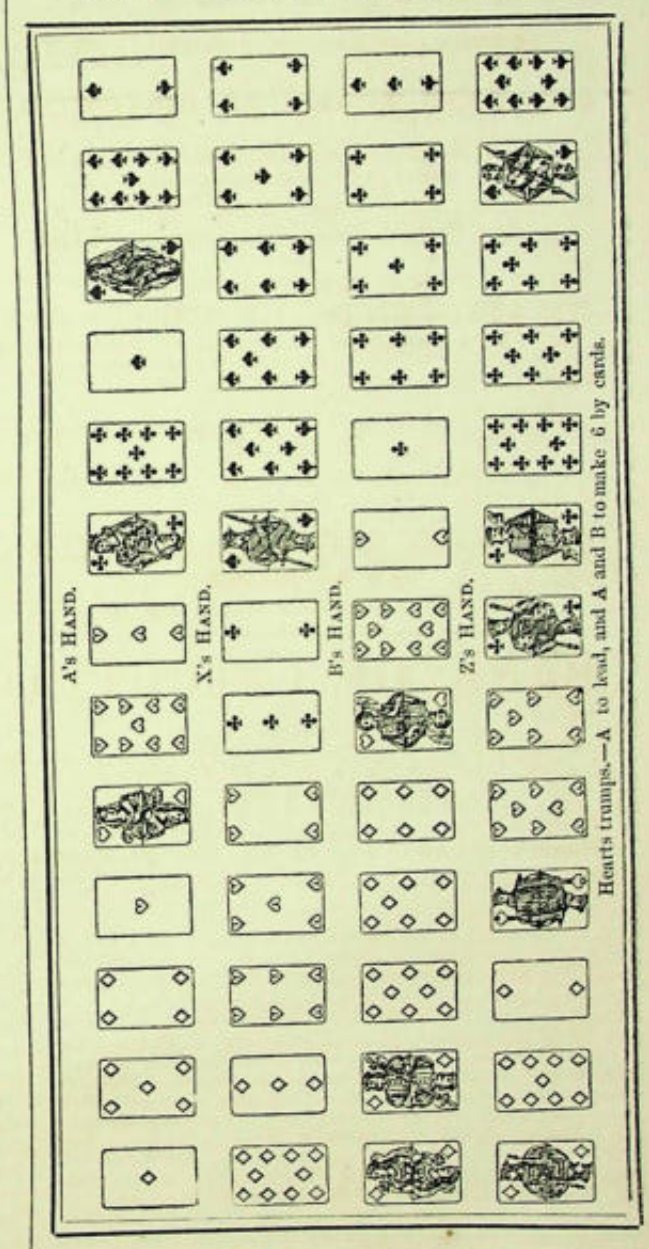
SOLUTION TO PROBLEM No. XVII.

White.	Black.
1. K to Kt 4	1. B to B 8
2. B to Kt 5	2. B takes B
3. R takes R	3. Kt takes R
4. K takes B	4. Anything
5. Kt mates

THE STAUNTON CHESS CLUB. CALCUTTA.

MEMBERSHIP GAME.

Opening, Irregular.



Frere. White.	Pearse. Black.
1. P—K 4	1. P—K 4
2. Kt—K B 3	2. Kt—Q B 3
3. B—B 4	3. P—K R 3
4. Kt—Q B 3	4. Kt—K B 3
5. P—Q 4	5. P×P
6. Kt×P	6. Kt—K 4
7. B—Kt 3	7. B—Kt 5
8. P—B 4	8. Kt—B 3
9. P—K 5	9. Kt—K 5
10. Castles	10. Q Kt×Kt
11. Q×Kt	11. B—B 4
12. Kt×Kt	12. B×Q ch
13. K—B sq	13. Q—R 5
14. B—Q 5	14. P—Q 3
15. P×P	15. P—B 3
16. B—Kt 3	16. P—K B 4
17. Kt—Kt 3	17. B—B 3
18. R—K sq ch	18. K—B sq
19. B—Q 2	19 B—Q 2
20. P—B 4	20. B—Q sq
21. P—B 5	21. P—Q Kt 3
22 B—B 3	22. P×P
23. R—K 6	23. Q×P
24. B×P ch	24. K×B
25. Kt—R 5 ch	25. K—B sq
26. Kt×Q	26. B×R
27. Kt×B ch	27. K—K sq
28. Kt×P	28. B—Kt 3
29. R—K sq ch	29. K—B sq
30. Kt—K 6 ch	30. K—Kt sq
31. Kt—B 7 ch	31. K—R 2
32. R—K 7 ch	32. K—Kt 3
33. Kt×R	33. R×Kt
34. P—Q 7	34. R—Q sq
35. B—K 6 ch	35. K—Kt 4
36. R×K 7	36. K—B 3
37. R—B 7 ch	37. K—K 4
38. P—K R 3	38. P—K R 4
39. R—B 7	39. P—R 5
40. B—B 2	40. K—B 3
41. B—Kt 3	41. K—Kt 3
42. R—B 7	42. B—Q 5
43. P—Kt 4	43. P×P
44. R—B 4	44. R×P
45. R×P ch	45. K—B 3
46. R×P	46. B—K 6
47. R—K 4	47. R—K 2
48. R×R	48. K×R
49. B—R 4	49. P—B 4
50. B—Kt 5	50. K—B 3
51. K—Kt 2	51. K—Kt 4
52. B—B 4	52. K.—R 5
53. P—Kt 3	53. B—Q 5
54. B—K 6	54 K—Kt 4
55. K—B 3	55. B—Kt 8
56. K—K 4	56. B—B 7
57. K—Q 5	57. K—B 5
58. K—B 6	58. K—K 4
59. B—B 4	59. K—Q 5
60. K—Kt 5	60. K—B 6
61. K—R 6	61. K—Kt 5
62. K×P	62. K—R 6
63. K—R 6	63. K×P
64. P—Kt 4 ch	64. K—Kt 7
65. P—Kt 5	65. K—B 6
66. B—K 6	66. K—Q 5
67. P—Kt 6	67. B—Kt 6
68. K—Kt 5	68. K—K 4
69. B—Kt 4	69. K—B 3
70. K×P	70. K—Kt 4
71. K—B 6	71. K—R 5
72. K—Q 7	72. B—K 4
73. K—K 8	73. B—Kt 6
74. P—Kt 7	74. B—Kt sq
75. K—Q 7	75. B—Kt 6
76. B—B 5	76. B—B 5
77. K—B 8	77. B—Kt 6
78. P—Kt 8, Queens	78. B×P
79. K×B	79.

On his 79th move the Black King can go towards King Rook square, forcing a draw because he cannot be mated in that position. This game is chiefly noticeable for the ingenuity with which White, after losing his Queen, succeeded in equalizing.

Cards.

WHIST.

DOUBLE DUMMY PROBLEM NO. IX.

POLICIES ISSUED

BY THE

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE CO.

Combine Life Insurance and Investment.

A security for family or estate and a provision for old age.

WRITE FOR PARTICULARS AND FOR

15 or 20 year · sample policy to

RESIDENT MANAGER,

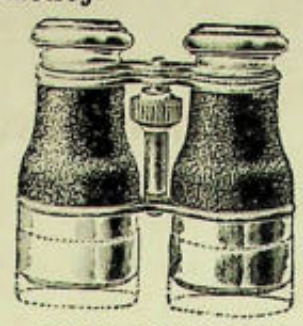
8, Old Court House Street,

CALCUTTA.

BINOCULARS.

A CHEAP LINE—A REAL GOOD ARTICLE.

Splendid workmanship, Grand Value for Money.



THE "CURZON."

Fitted in Solid Leather Case, Rs. 25-0 each.

THE "RAGLAN."

Fitted in Solid Leather Case, with Sling, Rs. 28-0 each.

THE "YORK."

A Wonderful Glass, in Leather Case, Rs. 32-8 each.

Above Glasses are made with Aluminium Mounts.

SPECIALLY LIGHT, STRONG AND EFFECTIVE.

Write for our list of other kinds of BINOCULARS.

WALTER LOCKE & Co., Ld., Locke Building, Calcutta.

LONDON & LANCASHIRE

LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

HEAD OFFICE:—

LONDON: 66 and 67, CORNHILL, E.C.

CALCUTTA BOARD OF DIRECTION:

T. Fraser, Esqr., Manager, Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China.
E. H. Elles, Esqr., Messrs. Pigott Chapman & Co.,
Alex. Forsyth, Esqr., Messrs. Graham & Co.

NEW BUSINESS, 1901.

SUMS ASSURED, £727,196. NEW PREMIUMS, £30,088.

The Net Premium Income is now £264,482, and the amount of £101,760, as the result of the past year's working, has been added to the Funds, which now stand at £1,629,502.

New policy holders participate in the large proportion of 90 % of the entire profits of the Company.

Applications for Agency invited. Special Terms.

APPLY TO—

Messrs. GRAHAM & CO.,

GENERAL AGENTS.

9, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

BANK OF CALCUTTA,

LIMITED.

CAPITAL.

Subscribed	...	Rs. 15,00,000
Reserve Fund	...	,, 15,00,000
Uncalled Capital	...	,, 5,00,000

DIRECTORS:

Mr. D. YULE, Messrs. ANDREW, YULE & Co.
,, R. J. P. THOMAS, Messrs. THOMAS & Co.
,, NORMAN McLEOD, Messrs. McLEOD & Co.
,, D. KING.

CREDITS granted on approved Security, and every description of banking business transacted.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened and 2 per cent. per annum allowed on the daily balances.

FIXED DEPOSITS received at the following rates of interest:—

On Deposits fixed for	2 Years	5½	per cent. per annum.
,, ,, ,, ,,	1 Year	5	,, ,,
,, ,, ,, ,,	6 Months	4½	,, ,,
,, ,, ,, ,,	3 ,,	4	,, ,,

The Bank offers special facilities and advice to Constituents as to the purchase and sale of all Indian Securities, particularly the Shares and Debenture Stocks of Jute, Cotton, Tea, and Miscellaneous Industrial Concerns.

The Bank is prepared to guarantee the principal and interest of Debentures on its approved list on terms which may be ascertained on application. Absentee shareholders' and investors' interests carefully watched.

Orders executed on the London Stock Exchange through London Friends.

For further information apply to—

CALCUTTA, 7th April, 1902. D. KING, Agent.

LONDON BRANCH:—19, GREAT WINCHESTER STREET, E. C.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSCE. CO.

Revenue	...	£1.300,000
Bonus Declared	...	£7,000,000
Accumulated Funds	...	£10.300,000
Claims Paid	...	£21,000,000

For Forms, Prospectuses, etc., apply to

DOUGLAS STEWART, Secretary,

STANDARD BUILDINGS,

CALCUTTA.

GRINDLAY & CO., CALCUTTA.
GRINDLAY, GROOM & CO., BOMBAY.

BANKING.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened. | FIXED DEPOSITS received.
HOME AND FAMILY REMITTANCES made.

INVESTMENTS.

INFORMATION given regarding share market.
PURCHASES and SALES effected.
Grindlay's Monthly INDIAN INVESTORS' GUIDE supplied gratis.

PASSAGES.

HOMEWARD PASSAGES booked without charge.
PASSAGE CIRCULAR and complete list of sailings supplied gratis.

PACKAGES.

SHIPPED, cleared and forwarded.

THOS. COOK & SON

Bankers, Passenger & Forwarding Agents.

PASSAGES PROMPTLY ENGAGED by P. & O. Mail and all other Steamers, including sou-Liners. Free of Charge or Commission.

Special Attention given to the selection of Berths and Social Grouping of Passengers.

Through Tickets issued available from any Railway Station in India to all parts of the Globe.
Continental Travelling Tickets issued, allowing breaks of journey at all places of interest.
Passengers with Cook's Tickets met and assisted at all Chief Ports and Cities.
Reduced Rates to Railway employés, Planters, Family Parties, and Missionaries.
Outward Passages engaged and Tickets supplied from any part of the World to India.
Hotel Coupons available at over 2,000 Hotels.
Reduced Fares for Military Officers, Government Officials, and Missionaries to Europe via China and America.
Baggage received, shipped and cleared on arrival.
Packages received and forwarded at favourable cargo rates.
Life and Accident Insurance Policies issued, also Baggage, &c., Insured.
Drafts, Circular Notes and Letters of Credit issued for the use of Travellers in all parts of the World.
Sovereigns, Bank Notes, and Foreign Money bought and supplied.
Current Accounts kept, and Interest allowed when the Credit ... does not fall below Rs. 1,000.
Deposits received, Rate of Interest on application.
Interest, Pay, and Pensions collected and every description of Banking and Money Agency transacted.
Handbook of information sent free on Application.

CALCUTTA, 9, Old Court House Street. | BOMBAY, 13, Esplanade Row.

RANGOON AND COLOMBO.

3  SUCCESSIVE VICEROYS.

CALCUTTA AERATED WATER CO.,

BY APPOINTMENT TO

H. E. LORD CURZON.

WATERS DELIVERED IN CALCUTTA FREE.

H. BALLIN,
Manager.

COCKBURN & Co.

— OF —

LEITH AND LONDON.

(ESTABLISHED 1796.)

WELL MATURED

HIGHLAND WHISKIES,

Of the highest class and most delicate blending.

Star Label	...	... Rs. 34 per dozen.
Imperial Crown Label	...	,, 38 ,,

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & Co.,

SOLE AGENTS,

1, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

NORTHERN ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1836.

FIRE AND LIFE.

Capital	£3,000,000
Accumulated Funds	£5,698,300

OFFICES.

Head Office:—LONDON, 1, Moorgate Street
Branch:—CALCUTTA, 101, Clive Street.

Fire and Life insurance effected on the most favourable terms.

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & CO.,

(Secretaries.)

101, Clive Street, Calcutta.

THE INDIAN FIELD.

8, Hare Street, Calcutta.

THURSDAY, 14 MAY 1903.

OPPORTUNITIES AND PROFICIENCY.

THE news that a Swiss team of riflemen have accepted the invitation of the National Rifle Association to take part in the Bisley programme next July has more interest than would attach to the acceptance of a similar invitation by any other European team. It is generally acknowledged that the Swiss are the finest marksmen in Europe—which means in the world—and their methods and achievements are invaluable texts in the mouths of those who are content to study the uppermost surface of affairs. For years past certain writers have held up the Swiss peasant as the shining example for the Briton to follow; cheerfully oblivious of the vast differences which exist between the circumstances and surroundings of each. The amusements of a people are in a large measure determined by its opportunities. The assertion bears so striking a resemblance to a truism that we feel an apology is due for it, but the most obvious of facts are not infrequently overlooked; and the conditions under which the Alpine Swiss peasantry live help to explain why they excel as rifle shots. Given residence in a most thinly populated region where it takes half-a-day or more to assemble a dozen neighbours for any purpose whatever, and the ordinary amusements of the people, if they have any, will be found such as are suitable for two or three to share and which one can practice alone. And when we consider the features of the Alpine region, a world of clearest atmosphere and long distances, where a patch of flat ground as big as a croquet lawn is a rarity, target shooting suggests itself as about the only form of amusement open to a rational people who are subject to military service and are encouraged to perfect themselves in the use of their weapons.

Did the Swiss peasant's conditions of life lend themselves to large gatherings at short notice, as in an English village where the sight of a man setting the stumps brings out the young male population to pick sides for an evening game of cricket, it is reasonable to suppose that Switzerland would be the home of games and such forms of athletics as commend themselves to a hardy and active race. It happens that the nature of a great part of the country does not lend itself to the maintenance of villages, that the dwellers in the mountains lead lives of comparative isolation and by result the men make their own a form of amusement which need not depend on numbers. We find much the same condition of things in those parts of Norway which are thinly populated. Target shooting is the orthodox Sunday amusement of the men, varied by dancing. Other occupations are regarded as secular and therefore unsuitable for the day of rest. We do not know that the Norwegians have any very remarkable reputation as rifle shots; Norway is a poor country and has nothing to fear from enemies within or without, hence military service, which to the large majority means militia training of the mildest, does not press hardly upon the people, and no particular encouragement is given to rifle practice. Norway for this reason affords a better illustration of our argument than does Switzerland; the people are left more to their own devices, and they make what they can of their opportunities. A vast proportion of the country resolves itself into an endless series of natural rifle ranges in the long and deep valleys which are barren of cultivation and afford no pasturage for cattle. A stimulating factor in Norwegian rifle practice may be discovered in the quantity of game in the country; perhaps it were more accurate to say "quantity of animals," for the Norwegian farmer does not, as a rule, shoot for pleasure, and practically any beast, whether a flesh-eater or consumer of grass, is to be reckoned as a foe.

Looking elsewhere in European countries for rifle shooting as a national amusement, we find it in the Austrian Tyrol, where target practice is perhaps more elaborately organised as a pastime than is the case in any other country, save perhaps Switzerland. Here again we have the conditions of life which appear to us to explain the popularity of the amusement in mountainous and thinly populated countries. The same is to be observed in the more sterile provinces of the German Empire. It is the custom of the writers who hold up the Swiss and Tyrolese peasantry as noble examples of patriotic fervour to attribute their assiduous practice on the ranges to an inflexible sense of duty towards their country and a constant sense of their responsibility as units in her defence. We venture to assert that the affection for the rifle displayed by these estimable people has in it no more patriotic feeling than has the young Britishers' affection for cricket or football. If there be one country in Europe which, without fear of consequences, might disband its forces and turn its barracks into hotels for the remunerative accommodation of foreign tourists, that country is Switzerland. As an armed State it is insignificant, though we acknowledge with gratitude and respect the value of the lessons our own gunners like those of others nations have learned from Swiss artillerymen in handling mountain guns; their skill in this matter is proverbial. But Switzerland, by virtue of its cosmopolitan character as the play-ground of Europe, and for other reasons, political as well as physical, is the last country in Europe that need concern itself with military efficiency; but if it seem good to the Republic to exercise her children in arms she is no loser by it. Norway stands on the same footing as Switzerland in this respect; her disagreements with her yoke-fellow Sweden are not likely ever to become so acute as to lead to an appeal to arms, and the geographical situation of Scandinavia lends her a blessed immunity from complications with other States.

If we need proof that rifle shooting is what we represent it to be, an amusement which takes a foremost place in the pastimes of people because the circumstances of their lives offer peculiar facilities for that, and very great drawbacks to any other, and owes nothing to patriotic instincts whose lack is a reproach to ourselves, we may profitably glance at the usages of countries where patriotism runs at the highest. Nowhere is it more conspicuous than in France; but if rifle shooting is a popular amusement in France, we must confess that we have never heard of it.

The French have, or believe they have, the best possible reasons for maintaining military efficiency at the highest possible pitch: the annual expenditure on her army is enormous: the suspicion with which she regards her next door neighbour is sleepless; but we do not find that assiduous rifle practice by the peasantry is an outcome of these facts. One reason may be that the French peasant associating rifle practice with the cordially hated term of compulsory service, abjures all things savouring of militarism with scrupulous care after he returns to his farm. Another and more tangible reason is that France is about the most highly and generally cultivated country in the world and that space for rifle ranges is more difficult to find even than in England. The vivacious Frenchman, moreover, finds his pleasure in more sociable amusements which a denser population and more accessible neighbours enable him to indulge. The same holds good of Belgium, a country which carries far more inhabitants to the square mile than any in Europe and where there is no lack of patriotic feeling: we are not aware of any noteworthy love of target practice in King Leopold's dominions.

Desirable as is widespread proficiency with the rifle, we fail to see how real expertness is ever to be attained by the mass of English peasantry, for the obvious reason that ranges in convenient proximity to villages are practically impossible to come at. There is nothing whatever in rifle shooting that makes it obnoxious to any but the constitutionally indolent man who has reached his acme of bliss when he lies on his back with his hat over his eyes. On the contrary target practice should commend itself to men who have been engaged in physical labour for ten hours per day: to stand, kneel or lie at the butts is an occupation which does not severely tax muscles craving relaxation, and we are quite sure rifle practice would find few objectors on this score. What stands in our way as a nation is nothing more nor less than the lack of opportunity due to density of population and absence of waste or mountain lands suitable for safe ranges. We may bear in mind that in the middle ages our forefathers who achieved fame for their skill with the long bow owed, it cannot be doubted, a vast deal of that skill to the regular Sunday archery meeting, which was for so long an institution of English village life. Did the rifle require a range no longer than the bow, a race of riflemen would have succeeded the old race of bowmen.

Special Telegrams.

THE GREAT JUBILEE HANDICAP.

The Seventeenth Year of the Kempton Park Great "Jubilee" Handicap of 3000sovs. (2,800sovs. in specie and 200sovs. in plate or specie, at the option of the winner), by subscription of 5sovs. each if struck out, if left in a further subscription of 20 sovs., and an additional subscription of 20sovs. for starters; second to receive 200sovs. and the third 100sovs.; winners (selling races excepted) after 2nd April, at noon, 3lbs., of any race value 400sovs. 5lbs., twice of 400sovs. or once of 1000sovs. 10lbs. extra. New Jubilee Course (one mile and a quarter). (63subs., 25 of whom declared).—Closed 6th January.

LONDON, Saturday, 9th May 1903.

Mr A P Cunliffe's b c YPSILANTI, by Galore—Stefanette, 5yrs, 8st 6lbs, Dillon... 1
Mr George Faber's b c DUKE OF WESTMINSTER, by Orme—Gantlet, 4yrs, 7st 11lbs, Hardy 2
Mr E De Blaskovit's b c HAZAFI, by Orwell—Ollyan Ninesby, by Buccaneer (bred in Hungary), 4yrs, 7st 9lbs, Lane ... 3
Mr H J Higham's b c ROYAL GEORGE, (h b) by Royal Sovereign—Queen Ann, 5yrs, 8st 6lbs 0
Mr Ephrussi's ch c ALENCON, by Chairon—Artemis, 4yrs, 8st 3lbs 0
Mr M Caillant's b f REINE DES FLEURS, by Bruce—Delusion, 5yrs, 8st 2lbs ... 0
Mr T Simpson Jay's ch c FLORIFORM, by Florizell II—Maid of Athol, 5yrs, 8st 2lbs 0
Mr Richard Croker ch c RODRIGUE II, by Lutin—Rose of York, 4yrs, 8st 2lbs ... 0
Sir E Cassel's br c HANDICAPPER, by Matchmaker—Agnes Osborne, 5yrs, 7st 11lbs... 0
Mr J Lewis's br c VALIANT, by Ladas—Surprise-me-Not, 4yrs, 8st 11lb ... 0
Sir E Vincent's b c PISTOL, by Carbine—Wenona, 4yrs, 8st 11lb 0
Lord Carnavon's br c ROBERT LE DIABLE, by Ayrshire—Ross Bay, 4yrs, 8st ... 0
Mr T Corns's ch c RIGHTFUL, by Rightaway—Repletion, 4yrs, 7st 3lbs ... 0
Mr T R Keene's b c KEARSAGE, by Kingston—Flying Squadron, 4yrs, 7st 3lbs ... 0
Mr S Darling's ch c FERMOYLE, by Florizel II—Deception, 4yrs, 6st 12lbs ... 0
Mr W M G Singer's b c BELIVOR TOR, by Wolf's Crag—Belle Haine, 4yrs, 7st 11lb 0
Mr L Brassey's br f BLACK FANCY, by Ladas—Black Duchess, 4yrs, 6st 13lbs ... 0
Mr Arthur James's b c MABON, by St Serf—Eisteddfod, 3yrs, 6st 12lbs ... 0
Mr G A Prentice's br c PEKIN, by St Simon—Lady Yardley, 4yrs, 7st 9lbs ... 0

(Winner trained J. Fallon at Netheravon, Wilts.)

BETTING: 7 to 2 against Ypsilanti.

Won by a length and a half; six lengths between second and third.

PREVIOUS WINNERS.

Year.	Winner.	ys.	st.	lb.	Jockey.
1887	Mr H T Barclay's Bendigo	a	9	7	J Watts (18)
1888	,, Vyner's Minting	5	10	0	F Webb (19)
1889	Gen Byrne's Amphion ...	3	7	1	Bradbury (16)
1890	Sir T Mackenzie's The Imp	3	6	1	R Chaloner (17)
1891	Col North's Nunthorpe ...	5	9	0	M Cannon (19)
1892	Mr A Kilsyth's Euclid ...	3	7	4	G Brown (21)
1893	,, Houldsworth's Orvieto	5	9	5	M Cannon (11)
1894	Sir Wm Throckmorton's Avington	4	8	1	Calder (20)
1895	Mr T Worton's Victor Wild	5	8	4	W Bradford (18)
1896	,, T Worton's Victor Wild	6	9	7	W Bradford (15)
1897	,, A F Calvert's Cwyd ...	6	7	5	N Robinson (14)
1898	,, R Walker's Diana Forget	6	7	7	N Robinson (16)
1899	Lord W Beresford's Knight of the Thistle ...	6	8	4	J T Sloan (17)
1900	Mr L Neuman's Sirenia ...	5	8	6	F Rickaby (20)
1901	,, G Edwardes's Santoi ...	4	8	9	F Rickaby (22)
1902	,, Higham's Royal George	4	6	9	F W Hardy (17)

THE NEWMARKET STAKES.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

THE NEWMARKET STAKES—Of 30sovs. each h. ft., with 2,000sovs. added, for three-year-olds; colts 9st, fillies 8st 11lbs; the second to receive 10 per cent. and the third 5 per cent. upon the whole stake, and the nominator of the winner to receive 300sovs., the nominator of the second 200sovs., and the nominator of the third 100sovs., out of the stakes; A.F. 179 subs., 47 of whom declare ft. Closed 4th December 1900.

LONDON, Wednesday, 13th May 1903.

Sir D Cooper's b c FLOTSAM, by St Frusquin—Float, Maher 1
Mr Arthur James's b c RABELAIS, by St Simon—Satirical, K Cannon ... 2
Lord Derby's b c GAY GORDON, by St Frusquin—Broad Corrie, Aylin ... 3
Mr Dogulas Baird's b c MARTINET, by Martagan—Silence 0
Mr J Best's ch c COUNTERMARK, by Worcester—Assay 0
Mr J E Platts' ch c SIZERGH, by Kendall—Primrose 0
Sir J Blundell Maple's br c MERRY SAINT, by St Serf—Mereden 0
Lord Farquhar's b c ST EVREMONDE, by St Frusquin—Ejector 0

(Winner trained by G Blackwell, at Beverley House, Newmarket.)

BETTING: 6 to 5 on Flotsam.

Won by a length; two lengths between second and third.

PREVIOUS WINNERS.

1889	Donovan (17)	1897	Galtee More (6)
1890	Memoir (12)	1898	Cyllene (11)
1891	Mimi (12)	1899	Dominie II (9)
1892	Curio (11)	1900	Diamond Jubilee (6)
1893	Isinglass (7)	1901	William the Third (7)
1894	Ladas (5)	1902	†Fowling Piece (10)
1895	The Owl (7)	†Ard Patrick came in first but was disqualified.
1896	Galeazzo (15)

OURSELVES.

SOME MORE PRESS OPINIONS.

Last week, on the occasion of the anniversary of our birthday, we had the pleasure to reproduce some of the kind and flattering things said of use by our contemporaries: we have since received a great number of private letters on the subject and from brother journalists further congratulations which we are proud to reproduce below.—

About this time last year we hailed, with pleasure, the advent of a new Indian sporting paper, the Indian Field, which we stated at the time would be gladly welcomed by the large army of sportsmen to be found all over the Indian Empire. Judging from the ubiquity of the paper—for it is now to be found in every Club, Mess, Library, and Hotel in this country—it is evident that the welcome accorded to the Indian Field has really been more hearty, even, than our friendly good wishes dared allow us to hope for; as most of our readers no doubt know, by this time, it is the most complete sporting weekly now extant in the East. It was one year old on Friday last, the 1st May, and we are sure our readers will join us in wishing many, many happy returns of the day to the Indian Field and continued good luck to the real sportsman who runs it.—The Lake Zephyr.

The Indian Field celebrated its first anniversary on the 1st instant. Mr. W. S. Burke is to be congratulated upon the success which has attended his plucky venture, and we wish our contemporary all success in the future.—Madras Mail.

The Indian Field.—The 1st of May was the first anniversary of this journal, which has soon forged its way ahead, and become the leading sporting journal of India. Its popular editor, Mr. W. S. Burke, has received the best congratulations possible on his enterprise and its success. His journal is now known and recognised as a sporting authority of the most reliable kind all over the Peninsula. We heartily congratulate Mr. Burke on the first anniversary of the Indian Field.—Deccan Herald.

Mr. W. S. Burke's welcome sporting weekly, the Indian Field, has just celebrated its first anniversary. We offer our congratulations and wish its plucky Editor more power to his elbow—Ceylon Independent.

Sporting Notes.

IN connection with the race for the Wellington Cup, run for on the second day of the recent Wellington Meeting, it will be remembered that an objection was lodged against the winner, Capt. Swan's Viking, on the ground that the starting declaration was made too late for the horse to be allowed to run. The matter was referred to the Stewards of the C. T. C. who have declared Viking to be the winner.

The dates secured for the Dibrugarh races are the 2nd, 4th and 6th February 1904. We shall publish the prospectus later on. Meanwhile we are in a position to say that the executive, following out the progressive policy which has marked racing in these parts of recent years, have decided to cater for the general public as well as for sportsmen of the district. There will be two 13-3 races each day which should induce sportsmen from Bengal and elsewhere to go up, and there will also be 12-3 races to suit Cachar and Sylhet racing men. In other respects every effort will be made to offer attractive programmes for each day.

Lieutenant W. Hamar Bass, of the 10th Hussars, the owner of Sceptre, left for England by last mail.

Entries for Simla Summer Races promise good sport. The bookmakers, considering the charges too high, have decided not to attend the meeting, we believe; but the totalisator will be on hand as usual.

The prospectus of the Bangalore Polo Tournament, just issued, fixes alternate dates with the big race meeting in August. The trophy is the Challenge Cup presented by the Maharajah of Mysore last year, which was won by a team of the Hyderabad Imperial Service Lancers. Entries close on 15th July.

Large entries and a big attendance were the features of the very successful Gymkhana held at Simla on the 9th instant. There were five events and proceedings opened with a race for all Arabs and C.-B. ponies 14-1 and under, that have never won a race value Rs. 10 or under, catch-weights over 11-0, distance 600 yards. Mr. Ogilvy's Corn Cobs was first with Captain Wigram's Wain Fleet close behind. The Wand Race for gentlemen was the next item—first past the post touching least number of wands to win. Twelve competed, Colonel Kennard winning. The Affinity Stakes, in which ladies were to tilt and gentlemen to tent peg with a sword, produced seventeen couples and was won by Colonel Kennard and Mrs. Buck. The fourth event was for ladies. To pick five polo balls off posts one by one and place them separately in one bucket. No dismounting or picking up balls from the ground allowed. Most balls in the bucket to win. Miss Colvin was first out of a field of twelve, beating Miss Yielding and Mrs. Buck in the final. There were no less than twenty-two couples for the Board School Stakes which closed the programme. Gentlemen gallop to ladies with letters in an envelope from which they form a word. Lady writes word down on slip of paper, encloses it in envelope and gives it to gentleman who gallops back to winning post. First past post with correct word wins. The slip to be signed by both parties. Lord Suffolk and Mrs. Morgan were first, Colonel Morgan and Miss Jackson second.

Our Bangalore correspondent writes:—There is not much to add to my telegraphic comments on the first entries for the Mysore races, or the prospects for that meeting. Some well-known horses and ponies are to be seen on the race-course daily, but on the whole the class of the animals which will run at Mysore cannot be said to be very high, and unless the second and final entries alter the card considerably, winners should not be difficult to find. Colonel Desaraj Urs' horses are sure to be dangerous, and old Leonidas looks and moves so well that he will even now be worth watching.

Many were the encomiums I heard passed the other morning on a new one of this popular and sporting owner, and I may say a few more words about him when I have made enquiries. Little Minimus also looks well and fit and should be there or thereabouts in his events, but it is yet somewhat early days to prophesy.

The entries for the next Bangalore Polo Tournament, which will be held early in August next, close on the 15th July, the conditions being much the same as have obtained in former years. The tournament is open to teams from any regiment, Battery, Corps or Gymkhana in India; R. A., R. E. or Native Infantry Regiments in one station being allowed to combine to form a team with the proviso that such team shall not contain more than two players who have played in a winning team in any first-class tournament. The tournament will be held under the rules of the Indian Polo Association, and the present holders of the Cup presented by H. H. the Maharajah of Mysore, are the Imperial Service Lancers, Hyderabad.

Master Willie in covering five furlongs in 56⅘secs. in the Great Surrey Handicap at Epsom (as per details in our London Letter) put up a new record for that distance on English race courses. The previous best time, 57⅕secs., was made by Othery, and, by a coincidence, it was in the corresponding race in 1898 that Othery made her record.

The Pachmari Gymkhana Races have been fixed for the 2nd and 4th proximo. Five races will figure on each day's card and good sport is anticipated. The first entries close on the 20th instant and the second entries on the 27th instant.

Appended is the list of the principal winning jockeys on the flat in England, compiled up to 17th April:—

	Mounts.	Lost.	Won.
Lane, W ...	... 72	55	17
Watts, J E	... 63	49	14
Halsey, W	... 57	45	12
Madden, O	... 75	64	11
Maher, D ...	... 47	37	10
Trigg, C ...	... 58	49	9
Cannon, K	... 37	31	6
Miller, T L	... 39	33	6
Plant, J ...	... 44	38	6
Knott, H ...	... 21	16	5
McCall, G	... 27	22	5
Hardy, F W	... 48	43	5
Heppell, T	... 14	10	4
Martin, J H	... 54	50	4

We give in our Turf columns, details of some of the principal races at the recent Australian Jockey Club Meeting which will be interesting to Indian readers by reason of the forward running of the Hon'ble Mr. A. A. Apcar's new horse Great Scot, who ran second to Abundance in the A. J. C. St. Leger, and second to The Victory in the Cumberland Stakes, having started second favourite in both races.

In our London Sporting Letter this week we give details of the City and Suburban and the Great Metropolitan which latter, as our Special Telegram informed us last month, had to be run twice owing to the horses having gone the wrong course the first time and Wavelet's Pride won on both occasions. This unique development naturally caused an immense amount of interest and discussion and has served as a warning to Clerks of Courses, for the Stewards—Mr. Leonard Brassey, Mr. Arthur James, and Mr. Leopold de Rothschild (acting for Lord Durham)—inspected the course, and finding that it was not properly marked, decided to fine the Clerk of the Course £50.

They raced in under arctic conditions the week the last mail left England. At Epsom the weather was bleak and wintry enough; but at Newmarket it snowed heavily and the Forty-third Newmarket Biennial was run in a blinding storm, of which Sporting Sketches reproduces a very good photograph.

The English polo team who go over to America to play against the representatives of the Stars and Stripes consists of Messrs. Rawlinson, Freak, W. Buckmaster and one other as yet unselected. They sail for America in August.

Captain Eccles of the Irrawaddy Flotilla Company, well known in Burma racing circles, met with a serious accident last Monday in Rangoon. While being driven along the Strand Bank his tiffa gharry horse shied and rolled with the gharry over the embankment Captain Eccles in attempting to jump out fell underneath the gharry and broke his ankle bone.

While fully admitting the nutritive properties of cotton cake for general stock feeding, those employing it should be careful to see that the seed is thoroughly freed from the minute particles of fibre ere being put into the mill. These accumulate in the intestines, adhering to the walls, so setting up congestion, while coarse grass or the "trash" of sugarcane are forced through in the natural order. Cattle and even the omnivorous pig frequently die mysteriously when fed on cotton seed, death being attributed to some undefined disease, but examination of the carcase of a more than ordinarily good cow in the Tipperah district, fattened on cotton seed, disclosed the true cause. It is much better to purchase the seed from the churka-wallahs' submitting it to singling in an oil drum for a few minutes, over a quick enough fire without causing exudation of the oil; this obviates all danger and the seed can then be crushed either in a denkie or the usual roller stone grain mill, merely breaking it up for food. The cake as prepared retaining a greater proportion of oil than that vended from the big factories must for obvious reasons be but sparingly given to horses; intact it lays on fat too rapidly. For cattle for slaughtering, and pigs even, the proportion of lightly crushed cotton seed should not exceed one-quarter of other food.

Mr. Porter, Commissioner of the Lucknow Division, had good sport in a recent shooting trip in Bengal. The bag including six tigers, a bear and two leopards.

A cow that gives fifty tons of milk in eight years is more than a useful sort. In the County Gentleman to hand this week there is a picture of an exceedingly ugly specimen of a female bovine yclept "Grace" and this is what the letterpress says about her:—

Everyone knows Dutch cheeses, but the famous Dutch cows which produce the raw material are not so familiar to us in this country. The Dutchman's hard-won pastures are too precious to be grazed by inferior kine, and his jealous care of cattle and polders has developed a race of cows which for the quantity of milk they produce are unrivalled throughout the world. Some authorities even aver that a Dutch cross in days gone by did much for the milking powers of our own dairy Shorthorns; and whether this be so or not, there is no doubt that at the present day the big black-and-white cows are great favourites with certain of the Kent and Essex dairymen. Their yield of milk is probably about double that of an average cow, but even among Dutch cattle Mr. Neame's "Grace" is a most distinguished animal, for within less than eight years she yielded no less than 11,300 gallons, or about 50 tons of milk!

It is true she is scarcely a beauty, in spite of her name, but she is twelve years old, and although she has averaged sixteen quarts of milk daily for the last eight she still looks the picture of health. She was born in Holland and brought to England in 1889. A cow which has been famous in her native land sometimes resents her change of residence and never does so well afterwards; but "Grace" has more than fulfilled her early promise, for Mr. Neame has about fifty cows, either Dutch or Dutch Shorthorn crosses, in his herd, and none of them equal to old "Grace."

The largest panther shot in the neighbourhood of Secunderabad for some years fell to Lieutenant-Colonel R. D. Longe, of the Middlesex Regiment, on the 4th instant. He was out shooting with Lieutenant McDonald and pitched his camp close to where the animal had been doing a lot of damage. All arrangements were made and a bait tied up. After a wait of half an hour the panther appeared and when about to spring was shot through the heart by the Colonel.

Some capital sport was had at Ellichpur on the 3rd instant when seven officers of the Hyderabad Contingent indulged in a pigstick. The runs were splendid, and four boars were accounted for after a game and desperate fighting. A fifth was also started, but got away into thick cover.

An American sportsman, travelling in Austria, has been struck by the way they shoe horses in that country and writes as follows on the subject to an American paper:—

One morning soon after our arrival in Vienna, with a bunch of fifteen choice trotting bred American horses, the necessity of visiting a horse-shoer became apparent. Asking one interpreter where we could send the horses to have them properly shod, he replied with a look of anxious inquiry, as though doubting the "Americaner's" sanity, "Why, you don't send them; I'll arrange it for you by about the day after to-morrow." (It always takes until about the "day after to-morrow" to get to a man in Vienna.)

On the morning named a man came to our stables armed with a jacknife and a pocket full of twig clippings about a foot in length. These twigs were divided up in bunches containing four each ornamented by the smith with hieroglyphics indicating the particular horse to be measured by those particular twigs. In this manner twelve bunches of twigs were prepared. Then the horses were led out, one at a time, and the four hoofs measured, each foot having three measurements taken of it, viz., length, greatest width and width at heel. These measurements were carefully noted by notches cut in the twig and the first act was complete, the blacksmith departing with promise to return the next morning.

In this connection it is proper to say that none but common horses are taken to a blacksmith shop

A DELICIOUS SMOKE.
SPENCER & CO., LD.,
MADRAS.

TORPEDOS SPECIAL.

MILD WITH
PLEASANT AROMA.
OBTAINABLE FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

in Vienna, the blacksmith coming to the stable to do all the work for gentlemen's drivers, coachers, and the like.

As per promise the man was on hand the next morning, bringing his outfit with him tied up in a piece of cloth. This outfit consisted of some grease for the hoofs, some putty or glue to finish off with, a paring knife, an old style buttress, a rasp and one of the most unwieldy and ungainly looking hammers I ever saw. He was accompanied by a strong man as helper, who brought the new shoes, a packet of nails and a three-legged stool-like arrangement for a foot rest for the horse.

The assistant held the horse's foot while the smith nailed on the shoe, taking a position beneath the horse's belly and working in the direct opposite way to that employed by a blacksmith in the United States, while fastening on the front shoes. There was no fitting by hot irons—the shoes were made to fit, and fit they did, too. The nails driven in and clinched, the foot was then placed on the rest and held there by the helper. Here the finishing was done, the whole work being rapidly and deftly performed.

The figures showing the mortality among human beings from wild beasts and snakes in 1901 were the highest ever reported from the Central Provinces. Those for 1902 show a substantial reduction in the deaths caused by wild animals from 795 to 513, but the reported mortality from snake-bite has risen to 1,304, the highest figure yet reported. The total mortality reported from these two causes in 1902 was 1,817, a figure which has not been exceeded in any year except 1901. The districts in which most human beings were killed by wild animals were Raipur, Chanda and Sambalpur.

At Dukhrain in the Western Doon last week, eight spears, the guests of that good sportsman Mr. Ouseley, had a most successful day's sport. The bag consisted of five boar and a hog deer secured after most enjoyable runs in splendid country. Sportsmen of the Doon owe the warmest thanks to Mr. Ouseley for the revival of hog hunting in the district.

First entries for the Mysore Races are published in our issue of date; second entries close to-morrow.

We publish to-day the first entries for the Civil Service Cup of 1904 and the Army Cup of this year. The former has drawn fourteen entries, including Housemaid II, Bess, Jilt, Not Yet and Tyrant; and the latter has, so far, no less than twenty-three, of whom but two—Sadoon and For Ever—ran last year. The second entries close (for both races) on the 1st July.

So far thirteen regiments have subscribed towards the Army Cup, the total on the 1st instant being Rs. 550.

News reaches us from Poona of the death of the well-known jockey, Mahomed Walad Hussein, who used to ride under the name of Soda. He was exercising a horse on the Poona course on the morning of the 6th instant when the animal bolted, and being unable to keep it under control, Soda endeavoured to get off. He fell, fracturing his skull and injuring his side. He was conveyed to the Sassoon Hospital, but died on the way.

We regret to hear that H.H. the Maharajah of Mysore was thrown from his pony while playing polo at Ootacamund on the 6th instant. He was picked up unconscious, but it seems his turban broke his fall to a great extent and recent reports pronounce him to be recovering from the effects of the shock.

With deep regret we announce the death, as the result of a shikar accident, of that fine young officer and keen sportsman, Mr. C. A. Pelham Rogers, Assistant Commissioner of Chanda, and one of the best. We learn that he was out after a tigress at a place called Bomragarh, 120 miles out of Chanda, and wounded the animal on the 22nd April. It escaped for the time, but Mr. Rogers, continuing the pursuit, came across it again on the 24th, when it charged him. He hit it twice, the ·450 cordite rifle he was using smashing both its jaws, but the beast nevertheless made good its charge and got him down, clawing him badly on the head, arm and leg. His native attendant, hoping to save his master, fired, but unfortunately hit Mr. Rogers with a solid bullet, which passed through his leg high up. He was brought back to Chanda, where he arrived on the 28th April, in a very serious condition, and on the 1st May he sank under his injuries. Mr. Rogers had just six years' service in the country, and was an officer for whom there seemed every reason to anticipate a bright and distinguished career.

The inhabitants of villages near Kulathapuday and travellers on the Panalore-Trivandrum road have recently been greatly troubled by a rogue elephant. The animal is particularly vicious and roams at large terrifying people on the highway by chasing them. A reward has been offered for his destruction, but there is a risk of killing the wrong animal, as there is some difficulty in obtaining information concerning its correct dimensions, marks and personal features, without which identification might be the reverse of easy.

In the death of Mr. L. F. Pereira the Calcutta Turf Club loses a first-rate servant. As Assistant Secretary he rendered valuable service and whether in the office or at the gate on race days he will be missed by many. He died last Friday after a long illness.

BEHAR NOTES.

Mr. W. Marsham is not leaving for South Africa as has been stated; he is at present stopping in the district as he has decided to take up indigo-planting again.

Mr. A. Garrett has left Mozufferpore, having been made Collector at Hajshaye. He will be greatly missed in and around Mozufferpore, for he is a keen sportsman and has made himself very popular while he has been in the district.

Mr. J. A. Wilson has been appointed Manager of the Pupri estate, in addition to his work as Manager of the Doomera concern.

The continual strong west winds have been answerable lately for a large number of fires in Behar. A short time ago a thrashing machine and a large amount of oats were destroyed by a fire at Turcoleah Factory in Champaran; while a still more serious fire, at Seeraha, last week completely destroyed the sugar godown, and the whole of the sugar there.

There was a parade meet in Mozufferpore on the 27th, 28th, and 29th of last month. On the morning of the 27th, "A" Troop paraded at Secundrapore, under the command of Captain J. A. Wilson, and were inspected by Colonel J. Hodding, C.I.E., A.-D.-C. Some twenty men were on parade, and the troop went through the morning's work smartly and well. There was polo on the polo ground in the afternoon, and in the evening there was a very pleasant little concert at the Station Club. The next day there were parades again in the morning, and a Gymkhana was attempted in the afternoon, the strong west winds, however, making a complete failure of it, for the fiery blast that blew across Secundrapore smothered everybody with dust that appeared on the scene. Some twenty to thirty Volunteers sat down to a troop dinner at the Planters' Club in the evening, which was a great success. On Wednesday, the 29th, "A" Troop ran off their Chart and Compass race, and the little meet wound up with a dance at the Club. This dance was one of the most pleasant hot weather dances Mozufferpore has had for some years. The floor was excellent, and the supper arrangements everything that could be wished, and notwithstanding the heat dancing was kept up until past 3 A.M.

Beauty

Iclima Fluor Cream is unrivalled for preserving the skin in hot climates from sun burn, prickly heat insect bites, and all irritations Deliciously perfumed with a pure flower scent sold by the Army Navy Co operative Stores.

Iclima, 142, Gray's Inn Road, London, W.

Athletic Notes.

A general meeting was held at the Marylebone Cricket Club on the 6th instant, when the proposal for the widening of the wicket was brought forward. The proposal failed to secure the requisite majority of votes, as we foreshadowed in a recent leading article on the subject.

It may be of interest to some to read a description of H.H. the Aga Khan's new motor car. The car is a Pugot four-cylinder motor, of sixteen horse-power, capable of developing 22 horsepower on the brake. With petrol fuel it can run without difficulty up to forty-five miles an hour if required. The car is mounted on four large pneumatic tyres, is splendidly upholstered with green leather, has complete glass dust screens, easily adjusted water-power curtains round the sides, and four large lamps, two acetylene and two kerosine. The top is glass heavily framed, so that luggage can be placed there. It can pull up in its own length, and it seats four comfortably.

The cricket match between M. C. C. and ground and Notts had to be abandoned owing to rain. Warwickshire beat Surrey on the 7th instant by 186 runs.

The match, between Surrey and Hampshire, to have been played on the 9th instant, had to be abandoned owing to rain.

The Boer is a firm believer in the advantage of exercise, though his ways are different to ours. One favourite form is pole-climbing, says a correspondent of the Gymnasium Magazine. This consists of having one arm tied behind the back and swarming to the top of the pole with the aid of the legs and the free arm. It sounds simple, but it is not half so simple as it seems. Another is throwing the hatchet, or axe, to be more correct. An ordinary wood-chopping axe is used for this. This is swung round the head until it reaches a sufficient momentum, when it is released. The man who throws the farthest does not of necessity win, as it is necessary that the blade should bury itself in the earth on reaching its destination. It requires a considerable amount of skill to accomplish this. Another kind of amusement is spade racing. The men stand with one foot on either side of an ordinary spade, grasping the top of the handle between the hands. At the signal they start forwards by a series of jumps. If a man's foot leaves its proper place he is disqualified. There is no more severe strain on the muscles of the leg than this. The distance for such a race as this is generally 20 paces.

Hill racing is a favourite pastime with the young Boers. The steepest hill in the neighbourhood is selected. A man stands at the top of this, with outstretched hands, the competitors have to run up the hill, circle round the signal man, and return to the starting point. The manner in which the men negotiate boulders and other obstacles in their upward and downward flight is surprising. The Boer is gifted with wonderful endurance. At long distances he could hold his own with any, but he would not stand any chance with our men at sprint racing, as he lacks the necessary speed.

Our Bangalore correspondent writes:—The late boxing tournament here, which was such a conspicuous success, is likely to produce more functions in connection with the manly art in Bangalore. Private Andrews, of the Essex Regiment, who was beaten by Gunner Gibson of the Essex Regiment in the semi-final for the middle-weights, issues a comprehensive challenge to fight anyone in Southern India for twenty-five rounds, bar only Gunner Lacey of the 58th Battery, R.F.A., who beat Gibson in the final for the middle, weights. Gibson, it is understood, is likely to take up the challenge after the Poona Competition, and in the meantime Gunner Lacey of the 58th Battery will supply particulars to anyone who cares to apply for them.

It is a somewhat curious position for Lacey. Although he most deservedly got the verdict in the final for the middle-weights during the late competition, he is considerably the highest of the three men and only boxed 10st. 3lbs. when he won here. Gibson's

SPENCER'S

No. 1, 4½ ins. long, Rs.16 per 1,000

„ 2, 4 „ „ „ 15 „ 1,000.

„ 3, 3½ „ „ „ 14 „ 1 000.

JAVAS

SPENCER'S

OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:

Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co

weight is about 10st. 11lbs. and Andrews scales some half-stone heavier. He was palpably not fit in the late competition and should be an awkward antagonist when properly trained. Another winner in the past tournament who should do well at Poona is Neat of "G" Battery, R.H.A. He won the feather-weights in most determined style, Stead of the 58th Battery being quite unable to stand before him in the final, and I have already stated it as my opinion that he was almost the best class boxer on the platform here.

It is also likely that in the early part of next month, and shortly after the Poona tournament, another competition will take place here, which will be open to the Madras Army. The events will be of the usual order if the tournament becomes an accomplished fact, prizes being given for heavy, middle, light and feather weights, and if sufficient entries come in it is possible that something in the way of a challenge belt to be held for a year by the champion of the Madras Army, with the usual condition of retention if won three times, may be provided. Lieutenants Ker and O. St. Michael Jones of the 6th Dragoon Guards, Captain Claridge of the 3rd Madras Lancers, and Lieutenant Groves, R.A.; besides Sergeant-Major Sorby of the R.A. staff are interesting themselves much in the matter, and it is to be hoped that they will meet with the success they deserve.

The unfortunate cyclists of Bombay, European and native, are being persistently raided by the Police lately, charged with not carrying lights or bells and with scorching. We have occasional cases of the kind in Calcutta, but in Bombay they are brought up before the beak in batches and dealt with much in the same way as the night cases.

The Lomax vs. Calcutta Tramway Company case has attracted attention at home. The Field, in its issue of the 18th April, writes.—"In Calcutta it appears that tramway companies have progressed further than similar concerns in this country, inasmuch as they are prepared under certain conditions to carry bicycles. A curious lawsuit has arisen out of this practice. A passenger took a ticket for himself and his bicycle, and, leaving it on the platfrom at the end of the car, went himself to sit inside. There were some natives also standing on the platfrom, and on its journey the bicycle slipped off into the road and was irretrievably damaged. The owner of the machine instituted an action in the Calcutta Small Cause Court against the company on the ground that they were common carriers and were responsible for its safe keeping. The action, however, broke down on the ground that the company were not common carriers, that they printed on the bicycle tickets an express declaration that the machines were carried at owner's risk, and that the plaintiff had to thank his own negligence in leaving the machine unattended when he might have stood by it on the platform. It certainly seems reasonable that, as the company had no special provision for bicycles and had no staff to handle them, they should not be made liable for the carelessness of a bicyclist in leaving his machine in so dangerous a position and unattended. We mention this case because it has often been suggested that tram companies in this country might allow passengers to take bicycles on to the platforms of the cars, an idea that has always seemed to us to be open to great objections. Without special contrivances for stowing bicycles they would always be in danger, and even if such arrangements were made we do not suppose that they would ever be used to a profitable extent."

In the May number of the Royal Magazine there appears an interesting article on table cricket. It is illustrated by some particularly good photographic reproductions of Dr. Grace batting, and Mr. G. W. Beldam bowling. We append an extract describing the modus operandi:—

Seated at the head of a medium-sized table was the Doctor, in front of him an oblong board covered with green cloth, about four feet in length by three wide. At each end three small stumps were set into the board, and dotted round the field were some eight or nine odd little fielders of gauze and wire.

I took careful note of my great opponent's position as he took centre. The bat was eight inches long, of peculiar shape, about two-thirds handle to one-third bat. It is used in a back-handed fashion, as if one were playing the left-handed game. The Doctor held it quite perpendicularly, between the thumb and fore-finger with some little support from the second finger; in fact, except for the angle, pretty much in the same way as the average person handles a pen.

At the bowling end I found myself in sole charge of an elaborate machinery consisting of a two-inch powerful coil spring mounted on a wooden block. Outside the board was a slide six inches in length over which the block ran easily, thus allowing the spring catapault to be shifted three inches from the centre, to right or left, thus enabling the bowler to bowl over or round the wicket at his end of the board.

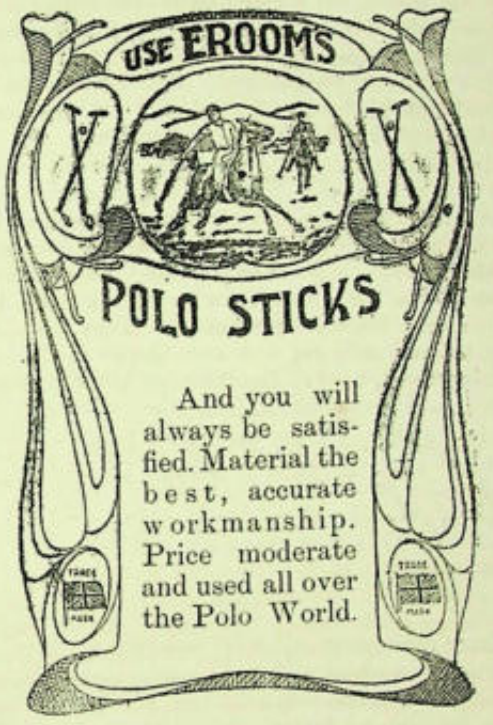
On the top of the wire coil was a little ring into which I placed a small guttapercha ball and let fly, as I thought, dead on the middle stump. This ball did not go far, but collided violently with the stumps set at the bowler's end, partly for ornament's sake, and partly, no doubt, to exact an extra amount of skill on the part of the bowler when delivering from behind the wicket.

Having learnt that this loss-shot meant a run for the Doctor I reserved centre balls till a more convenient season, and took up a position a couple of inches to the right of the wicket.

I was soon to find that the little catapult required handling with considerable skill, for the next ball was a full pitch and went clean over the batsman's head. Mr. Weintraud obligingly recovered it from a remote corner of the room, for which service the Doctor claimed four runs. This forfeit, I was told, would be inflicted as often as I repeated the offence of bowling off the table.

In bowling it has been found possible to put a very formidable break on the ball. This is done by giving the spring catapult a half turn in the socket. Then, instead of pulling straight back as in ordinary bowling, the spring should be bent sideways. Thus the ball is made to strike on the side of the wicket, instead of immediately in front of it, and if the shot is properly judged, the ball takes a sharp angle in the direction of the stumps, in a very disconcerting manner for the batsman. The spring catapult can, of course, be turned to right or left, the breaks being made at either side of the wicket accordingly. Considerable practice is necessary to make a good break bowler, and there is much room for individual cleverness. A good man is able to put on breaks at almost every conceivable angle, and the standard of batting is naturally proportionately raised.

The Doctor takes quite a boyish delight in the new game, and his sons and other well-known cricketers are no less enthusiastic.



Our Bombay correspondent writes:—In view of the Aga Khan Hockey Tournament commencing on the 18th of this mouth, a lot of practice has been going on in Bombay during the past week or so, in addition to which one or two interesting friendly games have been played. A very good game was that played an evening or two since between the Bombay Gymkhana and the North Staffordshire Regiment, who, in my opinion, won't be far out of the running for the Cup, as they are able to put a decidedly good team in the field. In the match in question play opened promisingly for the Gymkhana, who scored the opening goal of the match. After this, however, the soldiers had rather the best of matters, and, principally due to the good work of their forwards, were leading at half-time by three goals to one. The second moiety was very evenly contested, the Gymkhana showing decidedly better form than I expected them to do. The only score was another goal to the Staffords, who were thus left winners by four goals to one. The same evening the Cathedral "Old Boys" beat the Government Telegraph Department team by two goals to one.

As to the forthcoming Tournament, Mr. P. J. Arnot, the energetic Honorary Secretary, tells me that excellent entries have been received—last year they numbered thirteen, while this year twenty teams have entered. The entry is, I understand, a record one, and the arrangements being well in hand, there is every promise of a very successful

JAMES PYMM.
TURF ACCOUNTANT,
5, Wellesley Place, Calcutta.
Established 1890.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BEER.
ASK FOR PABST BEER
Sub-Agents.
A. H. WHEELER & Co., Bombay.
SPENCER & Co. Ld., Madras.
MURRAY & Co. Ld., Lucknow.
G. F. Kellner & Co., Calcutta and Branches.
DAVENPORT & Co., Calcutta,
Sole Agents & Importers.

T. Assheton-Smith, M.R.C.V.S. (Loud.),
SPECIALIST IN THE TREATMENT
. . OF . .
TROPICAL DISEASES
. . OF . .
THE HORSE AND DOG.
184, Dharamtala Street, Calcutta.

EROOM & CO.,
CALCUTTA.

The N.-W. Soap Co., Ld.,
CALCUTTA & MEERUT,
MANUFACTURE
Three Leading Lines in Soap.
MOLINE
PERFECT FOR THE TOILET.
ELYSIUM
BEST FOR HOUSEHOLD USE.
AURORA
FAMILY TOILET, CHEAP & GOOD
ALSO
BEST CANDLES.
ASK THE MERCHANT
With whom you deal for these Articles.

AN EXCELLENT SMOKE
. . WITH . .
DELICATE AROMA.
OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.

GOLD MOHUR BOUQUETS

SPENCER & CO., LD., Madras.
Factory: Dindigul.
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

tournament. The following teams will take part :—

1—Royal Scots.
2—Bo. Gymkhana.
3—19th Bo. Infantry.
4—The Buffs.
5—Education Society.
6—North Staffords.
7—The Pioneers.
8—R. A., Colaba.
9—1st Infantry Hyderabad C.
10—Band Team, 2nd Oxford L. I.
11—Cathedral Old Boys, "A" Team.
12—Cathedral Old Boys, "B" Team.
13—Elphinstone College Gymkhana.
14—20th Bo. Infantry.
15—62nd Battery, R. F. A.
16—Govt. Telegraph Rec. Club.
17—17th Bo. Infantry.
18—21st Bo. Infantry.
19—Esplanade Wanderers.
20—"F" Company, The North Staffords.

It will be noticed that our old friends the Royal Scots again intend being with us, despite the fact that they have been shifted from Poona to Kamptee. Last year's winners, the Shropshire Light Infantry, will not be with us, however, they having proceeded to England.

During the past fortnight or so we have had any amount of lawn tennis at the Gymkhana, the annual handicap tournament being in progress. For the singles there were twenty-three entries, while the doubles attracted an entry of eleven. In the doubles Messrs. Bromley and Reid (+15½) Jacob and Crichton (+15), Ross and Reid (−30) and James and Moore (+½15) got into the semi-final, the first and last-named pairs having drawn byes. Some fairly good play was witnessed in the semi-finals, and no fault could be found with the Committee's handicapping, which seems to have given complete satisfaction. The meeting of Messrs. Bromley and Reid with Messrs. Jacob and Crichton was very interesting. In the first set the first-named pair won by six games to four, but Jacob and Crichton won the second and third 6—2, 6—2, and thus qualified to meet Messrs. Reid and Ross in the final, the latter having beaten Messrs. James and Moore 6—4, 6—4. The final was played off yesterday (Saturday) afternoon and an interesting game was witnessed by a fair attendance of spectators. Of course Jacob and Crichton held a big advantage with their handicap of +15 to their opponents' − 30, but the latter made a very plucky fight of it. They had, however, to eventually retire beaten, Jacob and Crichton winning 6—2, 6—4. The "singles" tournament has made good progress during the past week, but several games yet remain to be played. Messrs. Rumboll (−15) and Cheetham (−15½) have both reached the semi-final round, while Messrs. Caine (−½15), W. Reid (−30), Morgan (−¼15) and Coombs (+¼15) have yet to play off their ties in the second round.

Three races were sailed off yesderday (Saturday) afternoon in connexion with the Royal Bombay Yacht Club, there being a fresh W. S. W. breeze early in the afternoon, which, however, fell off somewhat towards the finish. The Ships' Boat Race, which was timed to start at 2-30 P. M., was not held owing to the fact that there was only one entry, that of the P. and O. Caledonia's 28-foot cutter, and under the rules there must be at least three entries or there will be no race. It is a great pity that more interest is not taken in these races by the large number of steamers in the harbour, and it is to be hoped that next season the merchant vessels will take the matter up, as owing to the removal of the Naval Defence Squadron, the entries from the Navy must necessarily be reduced. The second race arranged for was that of the "B" class yachts, for which there were five entries, viz., Trixie (6mins. 36secs.) entered by Mr. A. M. Monteath; Janetta (scratch), Officers of the Royal Engineers; Cock of the North (9mins. 54secs.), Capt. E. Gordon; Sayonara (13mins. 12secs.), Mr. C. G. Nomico; and Dalriada (26mins. 24secs.), Capt. J. B. McFadyen. The starting gun was fired at 2-45, the Janetta being the first to get over the line. The course was first round the South Karanja Buoy, and the yachts made a pretty sight, all being well together. The Dalriada, however, soon followed a different course from all the others, and had taken the precaution to have two reefs in. Near the South Karanja mark there was rather a high sea which made the smaller boats rather wet. On the return from South Karanja to the Committee vessel the wind was on the beam, and the yachts ended the first round in the following order :—Trixie, Janetta 20secs. later, Sayonara and Cock of the North being well together at 2mins. 29secs. and 2mins. 38secs., respectively, after Trixie. The Dalriada gave up, and did not complete the first round. The race eventually resulted in Sayonara obtaining the first prize, saving her time by 51secs., and the second prize was won by Trixie. The corrected times of finishing were as follows :—Sayonara, 1hr. 57mins. 28secs.; Trixie, 1hr. 58mins. 19secs.; Cock of the North, 1hr. 59mins. 41secs.; and Janetta, 2hrs. 7mins. 52secs. The total length of the course was just over thirteen miles.

The "A" Class Race, for which there were three entries, was started at 3 P.M. The Melody (Mr. Bernard Triggs) taking her time allowance of 7mins. 50secs. in hand, crossed the line punctually to time, and was followed by the Sapphire (Capt. Muter and Mr. Hopkins) and Turquoise (Mr. Crommelin), both of whom were scratched at 3hrs. 7mins. 50secs. The Sapphire took the weather berth and sailed very close to H. M. S. Pomone, the Turquoise taking a northerly course apparently to allow for the ebb tide. The Melody was the first to round the South Karanji Buoy, followed by Sapphire who had gained considerably on her. On the return course close to the Committee vessel, the Sapphire overhauled the Melody, the first round ending as follows :—Sapphire, Melody (26secs. later), and Turquoise (1min. 9secs. later). This order was maintained to the North Karanja Buoy, but Turquoise soon overtook Melody, and thence back to the finish proved an interesting beat to windward, though the strength of the wind was failing. The Sapphire won by 2mins. 3secs. from Turquoise, who found herself in difficulties owing to having to go about when close to the Committee vessel. Melody finished 7mins. 40secs. later, having met with several accidents. The length of the course was 11·2 miles. The last race to start was the Tomtit Class Race at 3 P.M., there being three entries—Tomtit (Dr. F. M. Gibson), Meg (Mr. C. H. Byrne) and Lapwing (Mr. E. C. Richards.) The Lapwing was first over the line, followed in order by the Tomtit and Meg. As in the other races, the South Karanja Buoy was the first mark, and this was rounded in the following order :—Tomtit, Meg, and Lapwing, this order being maintained throughout the remainder of the race, and the Tomtit eventually winning from the Meg by 39secs., the Lapwing finishing last, being 8mins. 5secs. behind the winner.

We draw the attention of members of the Calcutta Rowing Club to the advertisement appearing in our Sporting columns to-day. So far matters connected with the forthcoming regatta seem to be shaping for success and, to judge by the activity at Kidderpore every evening, the members seem to have caught some of the enthusiasm of the committee which, as we all know, is unbounded.

The decay of the bicycle club, writes "Babylonian" in The Field, began with the introduction of the safety bicycle. It is true that the stigma placed upon the high bicycle by this choice of name for its future supplanter was not altogether merited, and especially on the "rational ordinaries" with the liberal rake of their forks, and their relatively large back wheels, the danger of the high seat was more apparent than real. Apparent it certainly was, and for this reason, nervous parents who had hitherto anxiously sought to checkmate any aspirations on the part of their sons towards the possession of bicycles, cheerfully wrote cheques for the purchase of safeties. Long before the end of the eighties the safety bicycle had developed into a practicable and reliable machine, and the growth of the pastime was steady and regular. The adherents of the old high bicycle began at the beginning of the nineties to find themselves outpaced both on road and path, especially in view of the fact that the high machine, on which the utmost possibilities of fast pedalling had already been reached, did not gain by the introduction of pneumatic tyres commensurately with the safety, to which they added in effect several inches of gear for the same exertion of pedalling.

To the clubs the first effects of the innovation of the dwarf machine was an inflation of numbers. There is no one so eager as the novice to enrol himself in clubs for the promotion of his sport. But this temporary plethora of members was their undoing. Repairing shops sprang up in every town, and there were few men who did not reckon among their acquaintances others who made congenial companions for bicycle rides. The attractions of the club run became less and less. The journey across the suburbs to the rendezvous was found irksome, and the strictest of clubs ultimately conceded that their members might, if they pleased, find their own ways to the destination of the run. Even then the club run continued to decline, for the chief attraction of bicycling was the great mobility which the rider possessed, and, once the fascination of the open road has entered into a man he is reluctant to sacrifice his liberty to ride where he will to an obligation to tie himself to a given spot, even to partake in the most sociable of gatherings. This decadence of the club feeling was long anterior to the boom in bicycling that marked the later nineties, though it was this that finally decided the question that there was no need for clubs for the average bicyclist.

The decisive factor was the general entry of women into bicycling. Members of clubs now found that they were expected to act as knights errant to their womenkind. The clubs attempted to meet the situation by holding ladies' meets, and even by admitting lady members. The compromise was an unsatisfactory one. The destination of the run had necessarily to be at no great distance, and this at once alienated the hard riders. Indeed, when a leading London bicycle club was reduced to holding a meet at Kew, the absurdity of the situation became apparent. On the other hand, men who escorted ladies from choice rather than duty, not unnaturally inclined towards secluded spots rather than to large gatherings.

The fact, of course, is that, in view of the disparity of strength and staying power between the two sexes, the sport of bicycling cannot, except in rare instances, be followed for its own sake by both in company, and bicycle clubs obviously cannot maintain a stable existence except for the pursuit of the sport as such. The number of men who regard bicycling in this way is, it must be admitted, exceedingly small in relation to the thousands who ride bicycles. As might, therefore, have been expected, the only clubs which display vitality are those which, like the Bath Road, avowedly devote themselves to hard riding. But there are few nowadays who attain such proficiency that they have to join clubs to meet their equals, and for this reason the old bicycle club has become almost an anachronism.

A meeting was held at the C. V. R. Head-quarters last Tuesday to discuss the formation of a Referees' Association. Mr. N. G. Pritchard was in the chair and there was a good attendance of representatives of the important Football Clubs in Calcutta. Among those present were Capt. Cureton (K. O. S. B's), Messrs G. W. H. Batho and L. McMillan (Rangers), E. Walker and R. A. Maunder (C. F. C.), M. Remfry, R. Remfry, O. W. Sykes (Y.M.C.A.), E. E. Rope (C. F. League), N. S. Williams (Medical), D. Walker and J. Greig (Dalhousie), W. Milstead and J. Staynor (Armenian College), V. Curties (Howrah United), Sergt. Wallace (93rd Highlanders), Messrs. A. Mukerjee and K. Mitter (Sova Bazar), N. R. Bhuttacharjee (Sporting Union), N. Ismail (Mahomedan Sporting), and Sen Gupta (Town Club).

Mr. Pritchard opened the meeting by saying that he had sent round notices regarding the proposal now on hand and had received names of members from nearly all the local clubs who were desirous of joining the association. Mr. M. Remfry then put the objects of the association before the meeting i.e., that the association should train members as referees and provide qualified and competent members to act in that capacity. He proposed that all members before being eligible as referees should have to pass an examination in theory and practice. Mr Pritchard seconded the proposal and it was carried unanimously.

Mr. Milstead then proposed that a Sub-Committee be elected who should draw up rules and hold the examinations, which proposal was carried unanimously.

Mr. Pritchard proposed that the Sub-Committee should consist of five members, three to form a quorum and with power to elect in place of absence of one of their numbers, and the result of the voting was that Messrs. Batho, M. Remfry, Pritchard, Rope and Greig were elected. It was next decided that the Sub-Committee should appoint referees for the League matches and later on for the I. L. A. Shield matches, to both of which bodies the Referees' Association was to be affiliated. It will be necessary to hold another meeting at an early date to arrange further details.

We congratalate Mr. Norman Pritchard and those who have supported him on the success of his efforts to give Calcutta something it has long needed; it only remains for those concerned to make the association the useful and influential body it ought to be.

The final in the Quetta District Annual Hockey Tournament was played at Quetta on the 4th instant between No. 8 Mountain Battery R G. A. and the 13th Bombay Infantry. The gunners were the better team and ran out winners by 5 goals to 1.

SPENCER'S CIGARS ARE OBTAINABLE AT MESSRS. BEWLAYS'.
Establishments 49, 74, 77 & 156, Strand, W.C.; 143, Cheapside, E.C.; 55, Queen Victoria Street, E.C.;
5, First Avenue Hotel Buildings, Holborn, W.C.; and 90B., Regent Street, London, W.

General Notes.

RAIN has fallen at Midnapur in some quantities and more is expected.

Lord Kitchener concluded his tour on the 9th instant, arriving in Simla with his staff on that date.

His Excellency the Viceroy will give a dinner to old Etonians at the Viceregal Lodge, Simla, on the 4th proximo.

We have to acknowledge the receipt, from Messrs. Phelps & Co., Calcutta, of a copy of the March number of that artistic, sartorial journal Fashion.

At the annual sale of boxes of the Simla Amateur Dramatic Club on the 8th instant the results were poor, only Rs. 7,000 being realised, against Rs. 11,000 last year.

While we in Calcutta are gasping for rain, Cherrapoonjee, the wettest corner of His Majesty's dominions, had no less than 73 inches of rain during the week ending the 30th April.

The river Cossye at Midnapur is cutting away its northern bank to such an extent as will necessitate the Bengal-Nagpur Railway bridge being extended another one if not two spans. This may cause some delay to the coal train from Jheria when the line is fully opened.

We are informed that a native Deputy Magistrate at Midnapur is being prosecuted for calling a witness a soor in open court. Had this been a European every Vernacular paper in Bengal would have been full of the circumstance. Where is their sense of justice in keeping this dark?

Mymensingh, on the 7th instant, was devastated by one of those terrific tornadoes peculiar to Eastern Bengal. It lasted barely ten minutes, but uprooted many hundreds of trees, blew away whole villages like paper and feathers, laid waste expensive fruit and vegetable cultivations and killed many people and cattle.

Intending exhibitors at the Simla Fine Arts Exhibition this year may be interested to know that there are twenty-seven prizes offered for competition, including three medals, and money prizes aggregating to the value of Rs. 2,180. The prospectus is now ready, and can be obtained from Major M. Cowper, Honorary Secretary.

We have to acknowledge the receipt of an extremely novel little publication by Mr. Dan Morrison of Calcutta. The book is written in Urdu and is a very useful guide to cutting and the sartorial art. It is profusely illustrated with diagrams and ought to be of the greatest assistance to the durzee for whose edification it is published. The language is of the simplest possible so as to appeal to the average tailor who is able to read Urdu. Mr. Dan Morrison is to be congratulated on his progressiveness: henceforth by the aid of this handy little book the "verandah cut durzee made" garment need have no further terrors for us.

We are indebted to the courtesy of our esteemed neighbour and contemporary The Englishman for a copy of the first part of Industrial and Commercial Bengal, an illustrated publication dealing with the chief industries and the enormous commerce of this Presidency. The letterpress is very carefully arranged, brought absolutely up to date and made interesting to the general reader quite apart from its value to those who are more specially interested in it. Beginning with an historical retrospect, which takes us back to the days of "John Company Bahadur," we go on to a Statistical Review of Bengal, some general information about Calcutta and then proceed to details regarding our most important mercantile houses, all of which are profusely illustrated. Most of these pictures are in the best style of process block work, but we may select for special mention those dealing with the several palatial blocks of business premises erected in Calcutta of recent years. We congratulate The Englishman on this new and popular departure.

A very painful occurrence took place at Kalka last week, writes the Simla News, in connection with a lady who had been bitten by a dog at Lucknow. The medical authorities at Lucknow advised her husband to take her up to Kasauli at once, together with the dog. On arrival at Kalka, the lady and her daughter went into the refreshment room to breakfast, while her husband went to the dog-box to take the dog out. The dog was moaning and whining and was pronounced by those present to be rabid, but the owner had it chained up on one side of the platform. He went into breakfast, and while there, the dog broke his chain and chased the passengers about the platform, but fortunately did not succeed in biting anybody. It was eventually shot by the police. The report of the gun so alarmed the lady that she got hysterics, and it was a long time before she recovered. The body of the dog was taken by the travellers to Kasauli, so that the medical officer might pronounce whether it was a true case of rabies or not.

London Week by Week.

(From Our own Correspondent.)

Friday, 24th April 1903.

REPORT has it that this is to be a great season on the river; and probably report will prove right as it is an open secret that the Court will spend much time at Windsor and that the King has in view a regular series of water picnics and kindred entertainments. The result, so say the agents, has been an unprecedented rush for houses on the river; I inferred from one of the fraternity that the letting value of a cow-shed anywhere between Lechlade and Hampton Court was something fabulous. The boating business is looking up too, more especially that department which inflicts motor launches upon an inoffensive community.

* * * * * *

With the recent memory of snow storms and frosty nights and the convincing presence of abominably cold east winds it is difficult to realise that we are on the brink of another season. Yet to-day is first Varnishing day at the Academy, and the opening of the Academy is held by many to be the official opening of the London season. The "Water Colours" opened last week and members of the R. S. of P. W. C. must have been delighted by the appreciation displayed by an opulent public. No fewer than one-fifth of the pictures exhibited were bought on the opening day. It would seem that the water colour industry is looking up.

* * * * * *

Publication of the text of the Convention made between the Ottoman Government and the Anatolian Railway Company for construction of a line from Konia to Bagdad, Busreh, and other points on the Persian Gulf had promised something like a sensation. There had been some talk about the support our Government would give the scheme and the likelihood of their transfer of the Indian mail contract to the A. R. C. from the P. and O. Company; and when the Convention disclosed particulars of the scheme it was obvious that Germany meant to "boss" the business. The financial arrangements alone did not justify this. The Company, essentially a German corporation, and the Ottoman Government are going—perhaps better to say were going—to subscribe each 10 per cent of the initial share capital of 15 million francs; and the Company with that generosity which so often accompanies uncertainty concerning profits, was going to invite foreign capitalists to subscribe the remaining 80 per cent. Neither financially nor politically can the opportunity be described as golden, and everyone is relieved to know this morning that Mr. Balfour's Government has declined it with thanks: so there won't be much coin forthcoming from the city for this great enterprize.

* * * * * *

There is no reason, if you think of it, why the mail contract should be transferred from the Brindisi route to the projected line which will be an extension of the Smyrna-Konia Railway now existing. If the railway ever is completed, now no British capital is to be had, it won't be finished for fifteen years or more, pace the Convention which stipulates for a completion of a single line in eight years. During the last twenty years, as Sir Thomas Sutherland points out, a week has been knocked off the duration of the Bombay-Brindisi-London route: and it is quite on the cards that the next fifteen years will see a considerable further reduction. How long it will take to travel from say Paris to Bombay viâ Constantinople and Busreh you can make your own estimate and compare that with the present passage viâ Brindisi. But in estimating, have it in mind that the officials of the railway are to be Turks—vide Convention. I greatly admire the Turk for his private virtues, but as an official he does not excel; and to trust him with a train and a time-table is to presuppose a regard for the flight of time which is nearly as remote from the mind of the Turk as from that of a broody hen.

* * * * * *

Subjecting the Bagdad Railway scheme to the grim unsparing light of figures, it is difficult to believe that it will ever have other than a paper existence under the present plan. Look here: the "initial capital" is to be 15 million francs, of which 12 millions were to be got from London financiers: the cost of the first 125 miles of the line is estimated at over 50 million francs; and the Company is bound to spend four million francs on erecting military posts "recognised to be necessary by the Ottoman Government." What has Russia got to say to that? Well, let it pass; but of your love for me I charge you not tarry till a Bagdad Railway shall bring you home.

* * * * * *

The "Delhi Durbar" is to be reproduced at the Royal Military Tournament with the assistance, among other "supers" of four elephants and two camels. Some 350 men, details from British and Native Regiments, are to take part in the show; the arena won't hold any more. While very conscious of the utility of this annual show as a stimulus to recruiting, I believe that the result of the Royal Military Tournament each year is to bring a small wave of recruits to the sergeants who lie in wait. I cannot help wondering what the sowars who come over here for the purpose think of it. With all indulgence and the best wishes in the world for the soldiers' charities that benefit, the show is not one that harmonises with a moderate conception of the dignity of the British Army; and this year's programme promises something more like a high-class circus than ever.

* * * * * *

The chief dramatic event of the week hardly comes within the scope of these notes, it being the commencement of Mr. Benson's season at Stratford-on-Avon to celebrate the Shakespeare week. He began with "Hamlet" and played before a full house, but there be those who say that Miss Corelli, or her campaign against the Carnegie Free Library scheme, is attracting more attention than the memory of Shakespeare or the celebrations of his birthday. Miss Corelli suffers from the fact that she is not a native of Stratford and local opinion resents the intrusion of the lady as a slur upon Stratfordians. Miss Corelli is at pens drawn with the authorities and does not appear to be getting the best of it; but the battle gives prominence to a name whose owner can endure anything but neglect, so she is doubtless happy. The "Light that Failed" has been transferred to the New and is going strong. I have not seen the piece again, but am told that Mr. Forbes Robertson has contrived to improve his reading of a part that seemed beyond improvement. That most popular of comic operas "The Country Girl" has been revised, which no doubt means a new lease of life for a play which has already reached a robust middle age: and "Monsieur Beaucaire" was performed for the 200th time at the Comedy this week.

* * * * * *

I forget whether I have said anything about the trouble at Stratford-on-Avon. Certain local leaders want to pull down some cottages close to Shakespeare's birthplace to erect that free library the profuse Mr. Carnegie "donated" to the town: and others object, partly on the ground that the most elegant of Free Libraries would be an incongruous neighbour of the birthplace and spoil its old world setting, and partly because of the risk of fire.

* * * * * *

Clifford's Inn, the quaint and grimy old group of buildings that slumbers in the back water at the corner of Fleet Street and Fetter Lane, is in the hands of the auctioneers. The last time the old hall of the Inn was opened to the public, so far as my memory goes, was when the Benchers lent it to Mr. M'Cormick for an exhibition of the pictures he painted when with Sir Martin Conway's Himalayan expedition: the utility of the buildings is as a straw

OBTAINABLE FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

TORPEDOS.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS in CALCUTTA: Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

compared with the value of the site. Its antiquity, however, rouses ire at the project of selling the ground: Clifford's is the oldest Inn of Chancery and dates back to the 14th century, so is worth preserving as a monument. It must be confessed that the scheme of using the proceeds for "legal education" does not seem to justify the step; more education for incipient lawyers is hardly a crying need.

* * * * * *

The Mystery of Radium, Editorjee, lies heavy upon my conscience, for that I have wilfully shunned mention of the great discovery to the injustice of your readers and the neglect of the duty of a Looker-on. In point of fact I have been looking on: have read in a humble spirit of enquiry all the letters of all the scientific men whence the merest glimmer of light might be gleaned; but the more I read the less I understand it: and I cannot help feeling that there are quite a number of people in precisely the same case. Professor Johnson Stoney's last utterance is the last straw: "The Energy of a Molecule," he says, "consists of two parts—its energy as a missile travelling forwards, and the energy of the events that go on within it. This latter part of the energy may undergo change during the flight." This dictum settles the question so far as the mere lay mind is concerned, it is bad enough to have to consider molecules in a dynamic spirit; but if we have got to take into account the energy of the events that disturb their interior economy, I respectfully move that we postpone discussion till Radium comes within the sphere of applied science.

* * * * * *

Of course you heard by wire of the disaster to Shamrock III. Ill luck seems to dog Sir Thomas Lipton with his Shamrocks, and the hearts of them at Lloyds who insure his vessels must be heavy within them. The first Shamrock came to grief during her trials as to her rigging: then we had the mishap to Shamrock II which might have cost us the life of the King: and now the third Shamrock is dismasted in much the same way; a bolt of the weather rigging having yielded to the strain. But why do I babble of these matters? Without doubt your capable sporting correspondents write of them.

* * * * * *

The death of General Macintyre at Fortrose last week removes one whose name will live long in the memory of sportsmen in the East. Everyone has read his "Hindu Koh" and "Wanderings and Wild Sports." He saw his full share of service in those "little wars" which are the making of so many good soldiers in India, and won his V. C. in the 1871-72 Looshai expedition, promotion came to him rapidly, for he was only 51 when he retired as Major-General in 1880. Leaving the service he settled in Ross-shire and amused himself with gun and rod to his own pleasure and with his pen to that of others.

* * * * * *

Mrs. Humphry Ward is quite up to her usual mark in Lady Rose's Daughter. Her characterisation leaves much to be desired (she never did shine at creating people of flesh and blood, distinct and individual who live and convince you) but she has worked out a good idea and the story takes hold. Lady Rose's Daughter suffered from the circumstance that her parents omitted the matrimonial service, but she is a young woman of much strength of character and magnetism and, accepted as the companion of a great lady who runs a salon in London, contrives to make herself the centre of it. The story hinges on the jealousy of the great lady and Lady Rose's Daughter's banishment and subsequent trials. One complaint I always have against Mrs. Humphry Ward: her people are so much cleverer than she is that she cannot keep up with them: she never repeats their penetrating remarks, their searching, illuminating comments on the affairs of the day. We see the looks of appreciation on faces of the hearers, but we don't hear the wisdom or the wit that raised them. 'Twas ever thus: Robert Elsmere you may recollect was in the habit of exhibiting his discriminating intelligence by making memorable observations: his creatress says so: but she never repeated them in print.

* * * * * *

We move in the Very Best Society with Lady Rose's Daughter: Mrs. Humphry Ward is at home there. Her swells are neither sticks nor stage nobility but well bred people of the world. Which suggests the reflection that manners in what calls itself and is called smart society do not improve. To be smart you have still to ignore all the rules your nurse taught you in the nursery: you must wear both elbows on the table at meals and it is good form to curl your left arm round your plate to get your glass without moving your elbow: you may gnaw chicken's bones held in your fingers, both hands preferred: you shouldn't look at the person you are speaking to: its better form to turn your back and address him as if you were a convicted pick pocket under unwilling cross-examination: and if the fellow answers you without a long pause and in a civil tone you know at once he has no pretensions to smartness. The rules of smart society are wisely framed to conceal if necessary the fact that you had no bringing up to speak of, which is at once thoughtful and wise considering what composes smart society.

ONLOOKER.

Review.

AFTER IBEX.*

MAJOR NEVILLE TAYLOR has produced a slight but exceedingly readable account of a five months' trip in the Wardwan district some eight years ago. Anxious to get the best ground he made an unusually early start and that after a winter of exceptional severity; and the three days' snowstorm which occurred during the close of March did nothing to lighten the task of crossing the pass from Cashmere. Once on his ground the author was in a position to appreciate the joys of sport on the Himalayas in the avalanche season; and had he been guided by a less experienced man than his shikari Lassoo, it is quite possible that this book would never have been written. As the record of a first experience in hill sport, Major Taylor's book is particularly helpful and suggestive; the author remarks that he found difficulty in obtaining from better-informed brother officers information concerning the conditions under which hill sport is obtained "partly because sportsmen are as a rule better narrators of incidents than exponents of theories, and partly because they seem to be incapable of grasping the extent of the questioner's ignorance" We may suggest that Major Taylor might have found enlightenment in any one of a dozen informing books on the subject, but [illegible] that pass; his book, brief as it is, leaves nothing unsaid that will be helpful to the beginner who intends to put in his leave on ibex ground; and this is due to the fact that everything was new to him and, being new, worth recording He appears to have been fortunate in his shikari and his men generally; and what is more knew how to treat them and get the best and most willing service; to his own energy and keenness, combined with the loyal zeal of his men he got more sport than many a new hand can look back on. He knew nothing about the business when he started, but his ignorance was largely discounted by the fact that he knew he had everything to learn; hence with a good sense that deserves all praise he put himself entirely in the hands of his shikari as soon as he found he was a man to be trusted.

Ibex shooting in April is not a sport that can be recommended to any but those whose muscles and nerves are of the best. The snows are breaking up and add another peculiarly insidious danger to those of mountaineering at a later season. Members of the party had some narrow shaves during their expeditions, but there were no serious mishaps, and among the trophies was a good forty-inch head. Perhaps the book is less worthy of commendation as a record of sport pure and simple than as a picture of life in the hills: so regarded it is more than excellent; vivid, well proportioned and entertaining. The author's remarks on the habits of ibex, taken at first hand from his own observation and from the shikari Lassoo, are well worth close study by all who would follow in his footsteps. There are some good illustrations from photographs.

*Ibex shooting on the Himalayas. By Major Neville Taylor. Sampson Low & Co, Ld., London.

Shikar.

WITH CANOE AND RIFLE IN THE SHAN STATES.

II.

AFTER we had been going for about two hours without incident, we reached the small village from which my canoe had been obtained, so my boatmen informed me. It was a very small place, of only some half dozen houses, and the inhabitants were apparently fishermen, for the most part, for we saw some nets near each of the houses. They were also engaged in boat-building, for we saw an unfinished one in course of construction on the bank.

As it was now noon we pulled in to the bank here, in order to let the boatmen and servants get some food, and I strolled up the bank and interviewed one or two of the villagers. They seemed curious to know my object in going down stream and one of them—who spoke Burmese well, although a Shan—informed me that I could not go the whole way by boat owing to rapids. This coincided with information I had previously received.

On setting out again, after about an hour and a half or two hour's travelling, we came to the junction of another river with our own on the right side. This I believed to be the Wam Choung or Pun Choung, for falls of some size occurred on it just above the junction, and I knew by report that this river possessed falls of this nature. It joins the Salween from a northerly direction and brings a considerable body of water into it.

We shot past the junction, the boat rocking considerably in the conflicting currents, and for some little distance sped on at increased speed. A slight increase in the breadth of the river, however, again reduced the speed and we continued at about our former rate.

The banks had been so far high and rocky, although in places a shelving beach was visible of quite 50 yards in width. This would be all covered, however, when the big rise took place, for we could see the high water mark right upon the precipitous banks above.

We had not seen any game to speak of as yet. On one occasion—just near the junction of the Pun Choung—we had come on a school of otters frisking and fishing from a rock near the shore, but on spying the boat they had dived and disappeared under an overhanging bank. Occasionally I saw one of the large species of toucan, or hornbill, common to these parts, larger by far than the usual black and white bird, and with brilliant yellow wings and crest, with the curious horny excrescence on the upper mandible, also of a brilliant yellow colour

Several of these could be seen at times flying from one bank to the other.

Towards the afternoon we began to look out for a convenient halting place for the night. It was not possible to put in to the bank at any desired place, but a suitable landing place had to be got. I also wished if possible to reach some village and make my stay there, both in order to obtain daily supplies and to make enquiries as to the sport in the neighbourhood. For it was my intention, in the event of reaching any really good shooting ground, to make a stay of a day or two there before proceeding further. On this day, however, no village came in sight, and towards evening we were obliged to stop and so selecting the best landing place that offered we pulled into the shore, and getting out, dragged the boat up a little distance and made preparations to remain there the night.

On the following day we made an early start and found the first portion of our journey easy going, the river running here swiftly and smoothly between its high banks. The boatmen informed me, however, that at some distance further down we should come to rather a difficult rapid with rocks in the middle of it. However, as this would not be for some hours yet it was not of immediate importance. As we were moving smoothly and silently along, I noticed several jungle fowl at various places on the banks. Getting the boatmen to approach one side a little closer I got a shot at two close together. One I bowled over, and the other I got also as he rose on the shot. We had to pull in to the bank to retrieve them, but this did not cause much delay and we were shortly again under weigh. A little further down we came round a corner on three deer drinking on the bank. They had dashed into the jungle, however, before I could see what sort they were, but it struck me they were sambhur—a stag and two does, and my boatmen declared this was so.

About midday we reached the vicinity of the rapid, and at some distance ahead white water could be seen where rocks broke the surface. We proceeded now more cautiously, getting in close to one bank so as to avoid the main force of the current.

The boatmen, however, judging by the height of water and their former experience of the place, assured me we should have no trouble, as this rapid was not a difficult one except when the river was very low.

They, however, kept the boat close to the bank until the head of the rapid was reached, and then pushing boldly out took the main passage between some sunken rocks and the farther bank, skilfully guiding the boat and controlling her movements admirably. For about 100 yards we shot down with ever-increasing speed, but at that point three rocks lay right in our course and we had to cross the stream obliquely to avoid them. The boatmen paddled frantically for some twenty strokes, and we shot across, to find ourselves safely through and in smooth water again drifting downwards in our usual silent manner with the roar of the rapids in our rear.

This first passage of a rapid impressed me with the skill of my boatmen, and I felt assured that the headman had not deceived me in telling me they were experienced men. I learnt, later however, that this was mere child's play compared to some of the larger rapids.

We carried on for several miles till evening with only one halt of an hour at a convenient beach. Before it was dusk we noticed a small village some distance to our front and not far from the left bank. At this place then I decided to halt for the night and so we pulled in to the shore.

As it was only about 5 o'clock I went off to the village, taking my Karen with me. The people were astonished at our approach, and several women and children made a hurried flight into their houses. The Karen, however, called to a man he saw—a Shan—and soon we had established amicable relations, and on enquiry we were told that game was somewhat plentiful in the neighbourhood, but, as it appeared, there was no one of the villagers in possession of a gun. The man said that a "mohso," or hunter, from another village sometimes came and got deer for them and he proposed to fetch him for me. As this would have entailed a longer stay than I wished to make, I told him it would not matter, but that he could himself come out on the next day and show us the ground, and we would endeavour of ourselves to find sport.

I accordingly arranged that the canoe should go on at daybreak to a spot ten miles further down, where a small stream joined the river, and there wait for me, and myself

PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS
OBTAINABLE .. FROM .. ALL RESPECTABLE DE ALERS.
GOLD MOHURS.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS in CALCUTTA: Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.
PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

with the shikari and the villager shoot down to this place, and rejoin the boat there.

This being settled I strolled down stream along the bank by myself for a mile or so, until it began to grow dusk, and was just about to return when I saw a barking deer emerge from the jungle and step down to the water's edge to drink. I knelt down and fired, and the deer dropped where he stood, half in, half out of the water. After pulling him up the bank a bit, I started off, and on reaching the village sent to bring him in, and presented him to the headman, who was very pleased with the gift, and renewed his promises of showing me sport the following day. We moved off soon after daybreak next morning, after seeing all the kit and servants embarked in the canoe. My Karen accompanied me, as did also the Shan headman. I was carrying my double ·303 only, as, from all accounts, I expected to come across only deer. We left the river and moved inland eastwards, and then again turning south followed the line of some rising ground. Jungle fowl were plentiful here, for we saw several, and heard many more crowing and clucking in the surrounding jungles; but I did not want to shoot any, for fear of frightening deer should there be any about. After going some way we reached a salt-lick, and the Shan guide told us he had constantly come on sambhur and barking deer here. Sure enough only a few hundred yards beyond it a sambhur stag dashed out of a small clump of jungle as we approached, and crossing right in front of us made for the high ground. I got a nice shot at him as he was passing over an open and level bit, about 50 yards from me, but hit him too far back and failed to stop him, although he swerved at the shot and was making up hill when I fired again, this time into his back as he was ascending. The bullet struck him just at the junction of neck and back and brought him down on his knees, and he never moved again. The head was a fair one, and so I directed the guide and shikari to take it off, which they did without much delay. The carcase I presented to my guide and we left it there for him to cut up later: I had quite enough venison from the barking deer shot the previous evening, a haunch of which I had reserved for myself and men and, moreover, sambhur flesh is not appetising, being coarse and stringy, although highly prized by the Shans.

A couple of miles further we came on a lot of tracks of deer, but could not spot any although they had been here recently, from the appearance of the tracks. We had no time to follow them up as they had moved off, and so we continued our course again towards the river. On arrival at the place arranged, we found the boat already there, and the boatmen coming towards us, informed us that just as they were pulling in to the bank they had seen a bear—a large one so they said—moving up from the river to the jungle. They pointed me out his tracks on the sand, and leaving them there I hurried on at once with the Shan and my tracker, to follow up the beast and, if possible, get a shot at him, for I did not think he could have gone far.

His tracks led away from the river and towards a nullah of no great size, and on arrival at it I saw that it was not improbable he was in there still, as there was some cover there, but none beyond for some distance. Going then to its further end I directed the two men, when I was in position, to hurl stones in and endeavour to drive out the animal. This they did, and out came brute towards me, looking vicious at seeing his way barred. I fired and hit him and he stood up preparatory to going for me as I thought, but I gave him my left barrel in the chest just below the white semi-circle, and he tumbled over, to rise no more, although I had to give him another shot at close quarters to settle him.

I was somewhat surprised to see a bear about at this season, for they do not usually appear much until the rains have set in. He was of the Malayan species, with shortish coat and therefore not much of a trophy, but I had his skin taken off and kept it as a memento of the incident.

This took some time, and on reaching the boat I found the servants having their food, so we did not start for an other hour but then set out after presenting the Shan guide with a douceur which, in addition to the deer flesh he had got already, seemed to make him very happy.

On pushing out again we continued our journey down stream till evening without seeing any more game, and disembarked at dusk for the night at a convenient sandy spot, there having been no village passed during the afternoon.

The next three days of our voyage were quite uneventful. No villages were seen, although we passed a "kodan," or ferry, where a small hut, the residence of the ferryman no doubt, occupied one bank. We also met a boat being towed up stream by two men, who told us that some miles below was a large rapid that we could not pass. We did not come to this on that day, however, but on the following one, after a few hours' travelling, we came to where the river narrowed somewhat, and heard the roar of breakers in front of us.

As my boatmen told me that we were now approaching the rapid, I directed the boat to be put into the bank, and disembarking, the boatmen and I walked down stream until the head of the rapid came in view. On reaching this we saw that the boat could not possibly pass it in safety if loaded up, for it was a mass of rocks with a swift current dashing over them. The boatmen said it continued like this for nearly a mile and then again lower down there was another rapid as long, if not longer. They said that by unloading the boat they could get it down the slack water near the bank, but that it would take a couple of days or more.

This being so I decided to march overland along the bank to the spot where we could again re-embark, and therefore, with the Karen and my two servants, left the river, and struck off on the right bank in a south-westerly direction. We carried food enough for three days with us and did not doubt we should get some game also.

SALWEEN.

(To be continued.)

Shooting.

CALCUTTA REVOLVER CLUB.

The second monthly prize meeting was held at Milton Park yesterday afternoon. The shooting was with the left hand, and the range 20 yards. The first Prize was won by Mr. J. K. Chase and the Nursery prize was won by Mr. M. Mertig. The following are amongst the best scores returned:—J. K. Chase, 32: H. Hobbs, 31; E. Thompson, 30: M. Mertig, 31.

Correspondence.

All MSS. should be addressed to the Editor.
The writer's name and address are required with every communication.
Letters and enquiries from anonymous correspondents will not receive attention.
Under no circumstances are questions answered by post.
Correspondents whose questions remain unanswered will please understand that we are unable to give them the information asked for.

DORKING CROSS FOR JUNGLE-FOWL HENS.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—With regard to Kuki's difficulty in this matter, detailed in the Indian Field for 2nd April 1903, page 542, I should be inclined to risk the cross, in spite of the Dorking's weight. It would be a good alliance as the greater size of the Dorking cock and the superior hardihood of the jungle hen, would make a good alliance. All chickens possessing the characteristic fifth toe of the Dorking should, however, be killed off, as this deformity should not be allowed in a strain bred for practical purposes; it is usually correlated with a tendency to "bumble-foot." Ship's people do bring out European fowls now, and the results of their speculations can be obtained from Mr. W. Rutledge, advertising in the Indian Field.

Another good cross for the jungly would be the Minorca, as this breed is a very good layer.

That small hens can and will mate with large cocks was proved to me many years ago, when I took much interest in watching the inmates of a yard of very varied poultry. The master cock, a great half-bred Spanish with huge spurs, was always attended by some little Bantam hens only, who neglected the neat little Bantam cocks, and a very handsome light built mongrel bird coloured like the jungle-cock. Yet the addresses of the great black cock evidently were rather painful to these little hens, who could easily have escaped his attentions had they desired. Of course in such a case the cock should have quite the full number of hens allowed him, and a good many eggs might be expected to be unfertile.

F. FISN.

MONTAGUE R. MURRAY & CO.,

TAXIDERMISTS,
HARDA (G. I. P. RY.)
Central Provinces.

Shooting Trophies of all kinds artistically set up at moderate prices. European supervision, best materials, skilled labor, prompt attention to orders.

Shooting-Parties - -
Supplied with Camp Equipage, Commissariat &c.
Young Sambhur, Chital and Hyenas for Sale.

Safe, Simple and Economical.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

THE Security is unsurpassed, the funds being now over Two Millions Five Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling, and claims to Four Millions Seven Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling have already been paid.

CITY OF GLASGOW LIFE ASSURANCE CO.,
5, LYON'S RANGE, CALCUTTA.
ESTABLISHED 1838.

R. B. RODDA & Co.,
PRACTICAL
GUNMAKERS,
[Established 72 years.]
2, WELLESLEY PLACE, CALCUTTA.
Illustrated Catalogue Post Free.

BREAKWELL & Co
COACH BUILDERS,
171-2-4-5-6,
Dhurrumtollah Street,
CALCUTTA.

CHARLES LANCASTER,

Gunmaker by Royal Warrants to H.M. the King,
H.I.M. the German Emperor,
H.R.H. Prince Christian,
H.I.H. The Grand Duke Vladimir,
H.R.H. The Duke of Orleans. &c., &c.,

AWARDED SIXTY FIRST-CLASS PRIZES, MEDALS, AND DIPLOMAS.

Latest Productions in Single or double Barrel HIGH-VELOCITY RIFLES, for Smokeless Powders and Cupro-Nickel expanding or Solid Bullets, in ·256, ·303, ·370, ·400, and ·450 calibres.

Specially recommend. The "Ross" straight-pull Magazine Rifle, with controlled Platform for stalking or big game.

In ·256, ·275, ·303, ·370, & ·400 calibres, from £15, £20, and £25.

MANNLICHER-SCHONAUER, MAUSERS, &c.
MAGAZINE PISTOLS, AND REVOVERS
ALWAYS IN STOCK.
The "Harris" Rifle Magazine, also "Ross Lifter" for Bolt Rifles.

ROOK, RABBIT, & TARGET RIFLES.

With Hammer, £5 net.
Ditto Hammerless, £12 net.
B.L. ·22 Miniature Rifles for Target Shooting, from 18s.
Cartridges, 1s. 3d. per 100.
Sportsmen at home or abroad should ask for Special Cartridge List giving
"PRICES AT A GLANCE."
"CLAY" PIGEON TRAPS,
Complete £1 12s. 6d.
Targets, 4s. 6d. per 100, or 500 Barrel 17s. 6d. Suitable Cartridges with Smokeless Powder for "Clay" Bird Shooting, 85s. and 75s. per 1000, delivered free by goods train for cash with order.

"PYGMIES" 2in. CARTRIDGES, 8s PER 100

Charles Lancaster still maintains his position as expert Gunfitter and Coach. Attendance and Lessons given by Experts at his Private Shooting Grounds, near Willesden Junction, N. W.

Single and Double Trigger Try Guns.
TOWER FOR "HIGH BIRD" PRACTICE

"THE ART OF SHOOTING."

Sixth and Popular Edition, 2s. 6d.; postage 6d. extra.

SECOND-HAND GUNS.

Guns by other makers taken in exchange or altered to fit if necessary.
ILLUSTRATED PRICE LIST AND ESTIMATES FREE.
Kindly quote this paper and state requirements.

PRIVATE SHOOTING GROUNDS,
NEAR STONEBRIDGE PARK, N. W.
Frequent Trains to Willesden Junction from all parts.

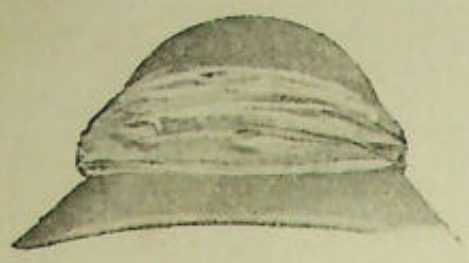
151, NEW BOND ST., LONDON, W.
ESTABLISHED 1826.

THE DERBY.
THE OAKS.

Starting Price Commissions executed on principal English races.

A list of probable Starters and Jockey will be sent post free to any part of India on receipt of address.

For S. P. rules, code, principal fixtures, &c., &c, apply to—



BEATTIE BROS.,
Watson's Hotel, Bombay.
Telegrams:—"Beattie, Bombay."

LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP CUP CONTEST, at Srinagar, on 1st June. Apply to—

General Honorary Secretary.

THE RANKEN HELMET.

Registered No. 386596.

Made of compressed cork, covered Grey Felt, not affected by rain, as durable as three pith hats, smart appearance, good ventilation and protection.

Price, Rs. 21-0. Cash Rs. 19-0.

Or with Plain Grey Silk Pugree,
Rs. 24-0. Cash Rs. 21-0.

RANKEN & Co.,

Calcutta, Simla, and Lahore.

Pure Yalumba

Wines

South Australia.

BURGUNDY

CONTAINS

Natural Iron.

FIRST PRIZE

10,000 galls.

CLARET

Sound, Pure and Wholesome.

FIRST PRIZE

15,000 galls.

From all Leading Merchants

S. SMITH & SON

Yalumba Vineyards,

Adelaide, South Australia.

FOR SALE.

D.-B. 12 Gauge Hammerless Gun, Alexander Henry's best make, Damascus barrels, automatic top safety, cocking indicators fitted with intercepting bolts and fence to action, beautifully engraved and well balanced, in solid leather case with necessary implements. Price Rs. 400.

D.-B. 12 Gauge Hammerless Gun, by Army & Navy, Siemens steel barrels, Anson & Deeley action top, lever, automatic top safety, Webley's screw top grip fitted with intercepting bolts, weight 5lbs. 8oz., built for lady, well balanced, good as new, in solid leather Hurlingham case. Price Rs. 250.

S.-B. Mannlicher Sporting Rifle, pistol grip, sighted to 100, 200 and 300 yards, bead foresight, fitted with safety, weight 7lbs., in solid leather with brass corners, necessary implements, and as good as new, cover and sling. Price Rs. 180.

Apply to—
MAJOR SHAKESPEAR,
2nd Gurkhas, Dehra Dun

Manton & Co.

HOLD A LARGE STOCK OF

TENNIS BATS
BY SLAZENGER
AYRES
HOLDEN
AND SALTER.
Weights 12½ to 14 ozs.
AYRES'
TENNIS BALLS,
Rs. 10-8 per doz.

ADDRESS:
13, Old Court House Street,
CALCUTTA.

HOWRAH FLOUR MILLS CO., LD.,

Ramkistopur, Howrah.

CRUSHED FOOD
FOR HORSES & CATTLE
Fresh Bran, Oats, Gram,
AND
Flour of all qualities.

ANDREW YULE & Co.,
Managing Agents,
7, Clive Row, Calcutta.

F. CHAPMAN & Co

"TATTERSALLS,"

No. 1, Bhowanipore Road.

Arrived per S S Eurylus well-matched pairs, hacks, hunters, polo ponies from 12-2½ to 14-1; also 6 well-performed race ponies imported by the well-known shippers.

Mr "Billy" Griffiths.
Mr W. Burgess.
Mr. H. Smith.
Mr. P. Gilder.

Every trial given to intending purchasers by the undersigned.

F. CHAPMAN & Co.

J. F SNUGGS & Co.,

Established 1870.

TAXIDERMISTS & TANNERS
TO H. M.'s IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT, HARDA, C.P

For further particulars apply to us: or our only Agents:

Messrs. GORDON & Co., 37, Apollo Street
BOMBAY,

where Trophies of every description are for sale also we can supply our Firm's ponies, carts, etc., to Shooting Parties.

ESTABLISHED 1870.

KASHMIR CHECK PUTTOOS

EFFECTIVE, durable and inexpensive, for shooting, cycling and golfing suits.

Obtainable through
A A's or COCKBURN'S AGENCY,
Srinagar, Kashmi.

Ballistite.

THE KING OF
SMOKELESS POWDERS

Smokeless—Waterproof—Odourless.

Nobel's New "Nile"
Snipe Cartridge.

A High Class Smokeless Cartridge at the price of ordinary Black Powder, Colour Maroon.

Gauge.	Length	Powder	Shot.
12 bore.	2½ inches.	25 Grains.	1 oz.
Per 100.	Per 500.	Per 1,000
Rs. 9-0.	Rs. 43-0.	Rs. 84-0

RETAILED BY ALL GUNMAKERS.

WHOLESALE OF
GILLANDERS ARBUTHNOT & CO.
AGENTS

GREENER'S CORDITE
.310 BORE RIFLE,

Unequalled for Black Buck, Markhor, &c.
No. 1. Quality, Cash ... Rs. 60
No. 2. " " " 80
No. 3 With Tangent peep sight, &c. ... ... " 105

WESTLEY RICHARDS.

"SHERWOOD."
300-BORE CORDITE RIFLE.

No. 1. Detachable Barrel and fore end hand removable action and indicator, fitted with patent pivot, wind gauge, backsight, sighted to 300 yards. ... Rs. 100
No 2. Fixed Barrel and action ordinary tangent sight ... " 80

LYON & LYON,
GUN-MAKERS, CALCUTTA.

"PIGSTICKING,"

A SET OF FOUR PICTURES

1 THE MEET 3 THE SPEAR
2 THE BURST 4 THE KILL

BY ALBERT DUBUS

Every Sportsman should possess a set. The finest work of the kind ever offered to the public.

Rs. 8 per set, unmounted.
Apply Manager—"THE INDIAN FIELD,"
CALCUTTA.

THE ORIENTAL GAS Co., Ld.

GAS COKE.

Reduction in Price.

The Oriental Gas Company, Limited, have resolved to reduce the price of the Coke produced at their works from 1st April 1903, and until further notice as follows:—

1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the Town Area at (6 annas per maund) ... ... Rs 7-8-0
1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the Suburban Area ... ... Rs 7-12-0

All Coke sieved through a ¾ inch mesh.

Gas Coke is Smokeless and Cleanly and Superior to any solid fuel for domestic purposes.

All complaints about Coke or demands for pice custom (dustoorie) should be made direct to the Manager.

N.B.—The carter must be relieved of his load within an hour of his arrival, else 4 annas per hour will be charged for unnecessary detention.

GAS WORKS, SEALDAH, Calcutta, 22nd April 1903.

D. COATS NIVEN,
Manager.

The Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta.

Issue of Rs. 34 lakhs Four Per Cent. Debentures repayable in Thirty years.

TENDERS are invited for a loan of 34 lakhs of Rupees upon Debentures bearing interest at 4 per cent. per annum, to be issued under the provisions of Act III of 1890 (B. C.), to provide funds for the purpose of carrying out certain works connected with the Port of Calcutta sanctioned by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, which loan, and the interest thereon, will be a charge on the property of the Commissioners, and of the tolls, dues, rates, rents and charges leviable under the Calcutta Port Act.

2. The Debentures will be for sums of Rs. 100 each, or multiples of Rs. 100 as may be desired, made payable to order and carrying interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum payable half-yearly on the 15th day of June and the 15th day of December, at the Bank of Bengal, upon presentation of the Debentures. The first payment of interest will be made on the 15th December 1903.

3. Provision is made for a sinking-fund of such an amount, invested half-yearly, as will be sufficient to liquidate the debt in thirty years.

4. Two per cent. of the amount tendered for to be paid at the time into the Bank of Bengal, Head Office or Branches, to credit of the Commissioners, and the balance on the 15th June 1903, from which date interest will run. The deposit of two per cent. will be returned if an allotment be not made, and it will be forfeited if an allotment, after being made, be not fully taken up by the 15th June 1903. In case a less number of Debentures is allotted than is applied for, the excess of the deposit will be applied in, or towards payment of, the balance due upon such number as may be alloted.

5. Tenders, made out in forms to be obtained at the Commissioners' Office and from the Bank of Bengal, Head Office or Branches, will be received by the Secretary to the Commissioners up to noon of Monday, the 8th June 1903, accompanied by a receipt from the Bank of Bengal for the deposit above named. A separate tender should be made for each rate offered.

6. The tenders will be opened by the Commissioners in Meeting on Monday, the 8th June 1903.

R. A. DONNITHORNE,
Secretary.

Dated the 7th May 1903.

CALCUTTA ROWING CLUB.

REGATTA.

Saturday, 23rd May 1903.

Members desiring tickets of invitation for their friends wil kindly apply for them not later than the 20th instant to the—

HONY. SECRETARY, C.R.C,
8, Hare Street, Calcutta

FOR SALE.

Lucy Gliters, Ch. W. M., 14-1½, C. T. C. life, aged 9, winne Calcutta Paperchase Average Cup, 1903, 11 places 12 runs runner up 1902, perfect ladies' hack, believed thoroughly sound. Price Rs. 1,500.—Apply to—

DR. HOSSACK,
47, Park Street, Calcutta.

FOR SALE.

Leopard skins, cured, dressed, head stuffed and mounted on cloth. Complete @ Rs. 35 each.

Two pairs of Buffalo horns with skull mounted on shield, @ Rs. 40 and 25 each.

Apply to—

J. HENRY & Co.,
THE "TAXIDERMY HOUSE,"
Bowbazar P.O., Calcutta

M. BURKE,

JOCKEY and TRAINER,

Late of Straits Settlements,

Is open to an engagement as private trainer or to take charge of horses. Best references. Address—c/o Manager, The Indian Field, CALCUTTA.

"TAXIDERS PRESERVATIVE POWDER."

5 lbs. tin Rs. 3, 10 lbs. tins Rs. 5 (V. P. charges extra.) The only safe and effectual preparation for preserving skins and heads of animals, whether Pachyderms, Great Mammalia or Reptiles with instructions in skinning, etc.

Apply to—TAXIDERMISTS,

C. SWARIES & Co.,
15, Mohamed Crescent's Lane, Calcutta

WILLIAM RUTLEDGE.

NATURALIST,
DEALER IN WILD ANIMALS,
Birds, Dogs, Poultry, &c.,
38, SOUTH ROAD, ENTALLY, CALCUTTA.

GULMARG TOURNAMENTS COMMENCE.

Golf Challenge Shield for Ladies and Gentlemen, 17th to 22nd August; Polo Shield 24th to 29th August. Apply to—

General Hony. Secy., Srinagar

ECONOMISE NERVE TISSUE

By using Our

Section of Steel Rim and Rubber Tyre.

RUBBER CARRIAGE TYRES.

We stake our faith in Tyres of this brand which are all guaranteed for one year. Many of the leading Coachbuilders use them exclusively. Prices and particulars free on application to

W. H. THORNS & Co.,
15, HORNBY ROW,* BOMBAY.

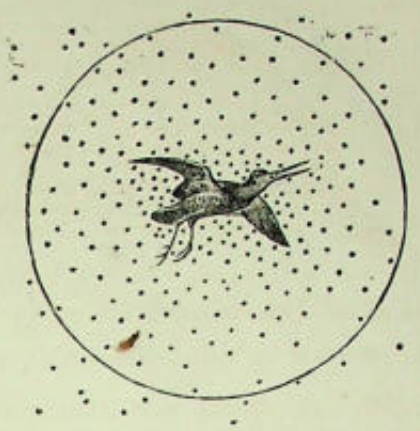
CHAMPION & CO.

Have left for Europe and will return to Calcutta for the 1st Extra Meeting in December.

The Turf.



INDIAN RACING FIXTURES.

NAME OF RACES.	Month.	Date.	For Prospectus see page.
S. M. Summer Sky (Belgaum)	May	14 16 & 18
Dibrugarh	,,	26
Simla Summer	,,	26, 28 & 30	476
Lucknow Open Gymkhana ...	,,	16
Darjeeling	,,	28 & 30
Mysore	June	16, 18 & 20
Bangalore	July	14, 16 & 18
Poona Races & Steeplechases	Sept.	23 26 28 30
		Oct. 3 5 & 10	574
Simla Autumn	Oct.	6 & 8	522
Simla Gymkhanas ...	May	16
Ditto ...	June	13 20 & 27
Ditto ...	July	4
Pachmari	June	2, and 4
Lucknow Autumn Sky ...	Oct.	22, and 24
Umballa Autumn ...	Nov.	3, 5 & 7
Lucknow Autumn (Army Cup)	,,	26	575
Meerut Autumn	,,	12, 14 & 17
Lucknow Autumn ...	,,	24, 26 & 28
Calcutta First Extra ...	Dec.	12
,, Second Extra ...	,,	19
,, First Meeting ...	,,	24 26 29 & 31
,, Second Meeting ...	Jan.	16 & 23
Tollygunge Steeplechases ...	,,	2 & 9
Calcutta Third Extra ...	,,	30
,, Fourth ,, ...	Feb.	6
Dibrugarh ...	,,	2 4 & 6

CLOSING DATES OF ENTRIES.

LUCKNOW AUTUMN SKY ...	First ...	...	1st Sept.
	Second ...	...	15th Oct.
SIMLA SUMMER ...	Third ...	...	15th May.
MAHABLESWAR SKY ...	Second ...	...	8th ,,
CALCUTTA FIRST EXTRA ...	...	...	8th Dec.
CALCUTTA SECOND EXTRA ...	...	...	15th Dec.
CALCUTTA RACES FIRST MEETING	First ...	...	2nd Nov.
	Second ...	...	1st Dec.
CALCUTTA RACES SECOND MEETING	First ...	...	1st Dec.
	Second ...	...	9th Jan.
	Third ...	...	16th Jan.
TOLLYGUNGE STEEPLECHASES 1ST DAY	First ...	...	2nd Nov.
	Second ...	...	1st Dec.
TOLLYGUNGE STEEPLECHASES SECOND DAY	First ...	...	2nd Nov.
	Second ...	...	2nd Jan.
POONA	First ...	...	4th Augst.
	Second ...	...	25th ,,
	Final ...	...	8th Sept.
CIVIL SERVICE CUP ...	Second ...	...	1st July.
	Third ...	...	16th Sept.
	Fourth ...	...	1st Dec.
	Final ...	...	20th Jan.
BANGALORE	First ...	...	1st June.
	Second ...	...	20th June.
	Third ...	...	1st July.
MYSORE	Second ...	...	15th May.
	Third ...	...	1st June.
LUCKNOW AUTUMN ...	First ...	...	15th Aug.
	Second ...	...	1st Oct.
	Third ...	...	14th Nov.
PACHMARHI	First ...	...	20th May.
	Second ...	...	27th ,,

WILDFOWLER CARTRIDGES.

Facsimile-circle 22 inches diameter at 35 yards. Number of pellets in circle 237, killing circle 33. This diagram represents the shooting of any good choke-bore gun with our WILDFOWLER Cartridges loaded with 42 grs. Amberite, 1⅛ oz. No. 8 shot.

Lucknow prices, rail freight being taken into consideration, are identical with those charged by the leading Calcutta Gunsmiths.

—:o:—

MURRAY & Co.,

LIMITED,

LUCKNOW.

The Calcutta Tramways Co., Ld.

FOR SALE.

The opening of the Company's system by Electric Traction has released a number of serviceable C.-B. geldings suitable for Phaeton, Trap, and Hack work generally: amongst them are also a number of good saddle horses.

The horses can be seen at any time during the day at the Company's Chowringhee Depot, 1, Russa Road, on application to the European Foreman in charge.

MARTYN WELLS.
MANAGING AGENT.

CALCUTTA, 15th April 1903.

---

200 Pictures of the Delhi Durbar,

Handsomely bound in Vellum.

10 Rupees only.

Third Improved Edition.

Contains all the chief events, elephant procession, 20 pictures, proclamation, opening exhibition, review of retainers, grand review, sports, fireworks, principal camps, Church service, etc., etc.

The Press says: "For cheapness and excellence combined it is unsurpassed." "Purchaser obtains very full value."

"Comprises an extremely varied and well chosen selection."

WIELE & KLEIN, Madras, Official Photographers to the Durbar Exhibition.

INDIAN SPORTING FIXTURES.

POLO.
SIMLA TOURNAMENT	... Begins 1st June
POONA OPEN TOURNAMENT	...Sept. 15th, 16th, 19th & 24th
GULMARG POLO TOURNAMENT ...	24th to 29th August.
ROWING.
CALCUTTA R. C. SECOND REGATTA	... 23rd May.
CRICKET.
SIMLA v OUTSTATIONS ...	... May 27th & 29th
THE HORSE.
OOTACAMUND HORSE SHOW ...	... May 22nd & 23rd.
SIMLA HORSE AND DOG SHOW ...	... June 6th.
SPORTS.
OOTACAMUND SKITTLE GYMKHANAS	May 12th & June 15th, 27th
SIMLA VOL. SPORTS	... May 23rd.
FOOTBALL.
DURAND TOURNAMENT, SIMLA ...	... 14th to 25th Sep.
HOCKEY.
BEIGHTON CUP	... Now on.
AGA KHAN TOURNAMENT ...	... Begins 18th May
GOLF.
GULMARG TOURNAMENT ...	17th to 22nd August
BOXING.
POONA BOXING TOURNAMENT ...	... 18th and 23rd May
SWIMMING.
CALCUTTA S. C.
THREE LENGTHS HANDICAP ...	... 22nd May.
DITTO FINAL HEAT AND PLATE DIVING	... 29th May.

ENGLISH RACING FIXTURES.

The Derby (1½ miles)	... ...	Wednesday, May 27
The Oaks (1½ miles)	... ...	Friday, May 29
Prix du Jockey Club (French Derby) (1½m)		Sunday, May 31
Manchester Cup (1½ miles)	... ...	Friday, June 5
Duchess of York Stakes, Hurst Park (1½m)		Saturday, June 13
Grand Prix de Paris (1 mile 7 furlongs)	...	Sunday, June 14
Ascot Stakes (2 miles)	... ...	Tuesday, June 16
Prince of Wales's Stakes (1 mile 5 furlongs)		Tuesday, June 16
Gold Vase (2 miles)	... ...	Tuesday, June 16
Royal Hunt Cup (7 furlongs 166yds)	...	Wednesday, June 17
Gold Cup (2½ miles)	... ...	Thursday, June 18
New Stakes (5 furlongs 136yds)	...	Thursday, June 18
Hardwicke Stakes (1½ miles)	... ...	Friday, June 19
Northumberland Plate (2 miles)	...	Wednesday, June 24
July Stakes, Newmarket (5 fur 142 yds)	...	Tuesday, June 30
Eclipse Stakes (1½ miles)	... ...	Friday, July 17
Liverpool Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs)	...	Friday, July 24
Stewards' Cup, Goodwood (6 furlongs)	...	Tuesday, July 28
Goodwood Plate (2 miles)	... ...	Wednesday, July 29
Goodwood Cup (2½ miles)	... ...	Thursday, July 30
Brighton Cup (1½ miles)	... ...	Wednesday, Aug. 5
Great Northern Leger (1 mile 5 furlongs)		Wednesday, Aug. 19
Great Ebor Handicap (1½ miles)	...	Wednesday, Aug. 26
Gimcrack Stakes (6 furlongs)	... ...	Thursday, Aug. 27
Great Yorkshire Handicap (1 m 6 f 132 yds)		Tuesday, Sep. 8
Champagne Stakes	... ...	Tuesday, Sep. 8
The St. Leger (1 mile 6 furlongs 132 yds.)		Wednesday, Sep. 9
Doncaster Cup (about 2 miles)	...	Friday, Sep. 11
Prince Edward Handicap (1½ miles)	...	Saturday, Sep. 26
Jockey Club Stakes (1½ miles)	...	Thursday, October 1
Duke of York Stakes (1½ miles)	...	Saturday, Oct. 10
Cesarewitch Stakes (2 miles 2 furlongs)	...	Wednesday, Oct. 14
Middle Park Plate (6 furlongs)	...	Friday, October 16
Cambridgeshire Stakes (1mile 1 furlong)	...	Wednesday, Oct. 28.
Dewhurst Plate (7 furlongs)	...	Thursday, Oct. 29
Lincoln Autumn Handicap (1½ miles)	...	Tuesday, Nov. 10
Liverpool Autumn Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs)		Friday, Nov. 13
Manchester November Handicap (1½ mile)		Saturday, Nov. 28

ENGLISH SPORTING FIXTURES.

Royal Military Tournament	...	15th May.
Golf Open Championship	...	11th June.
Oxford vs. Cambridge (Lord's)	...	2nd July.
Amateur A. A. Meeting	...	4th July.
Gents vs. Players (Lords)	...	6th July.
Henley Regatta	...	7th July.
Eton vs. Harrow (Lord's)	...	10th July.
Gents vs. Players (Oval)	...	10th July.
Rugby vs. Marlborough (Lord's)	...	29th July.
R. Y. S. Regatta	...	4th August.
America Cup First Race	...	20th August.
Dublin Horse Show	...	25th August.
Stanley Cycle Show	...	20th November.
Cattle Show (Agr. Hall)	...	7th December.

THE INDIAN FIELD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The absence of any notice to discontinue the Paper at he expiry of the pertod subscribed for will be considered as an intimation to renew the subscription, which will be charged accordingly.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Rs. 22 per annum or with mofussil postage	...	Rs. 25 0
„ 12 for 6 months	„ „	... „ 14 0
„ 6 for 3 „	„ „	„ ... „ 8 0

Single copy eight annas.

To avail themselves of the benefits of the Advanc Rates subscribers must pay—

Annual Subscriptions	...	Within 2 months.
Half-yearly do.	...	Do. 1 month.
Quarterly do.	...	Do. 1 fortnight

RATE of SUBSCRIPTION with FOREIGN POSTAGE

Payable in Advance.

For twelve months	...	£1 15 0
„ six months	...	£1 0 0

RATES FOR CASUAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rs. 2-8 per inch for the first four insertions.

Rs. 1-4 per inch for snbsequent insertions.

Ten lines to the inch.

W. S. BURKE & Co., Proprietors.
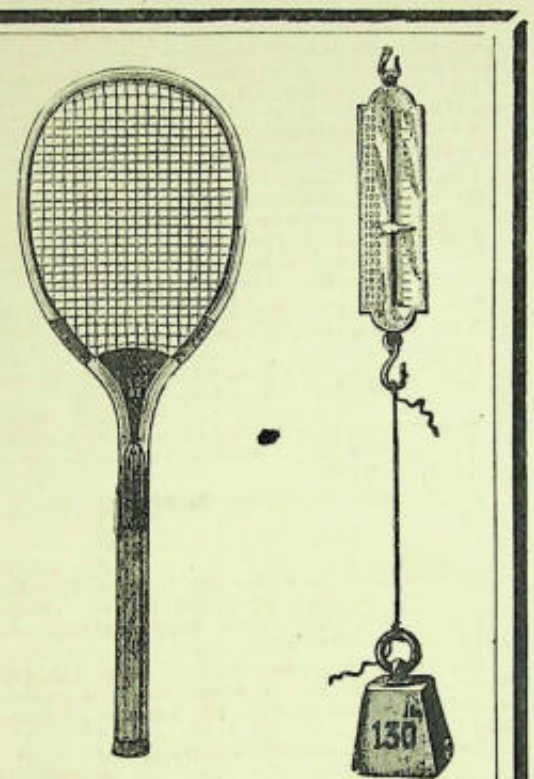
8, Hare Street CALCUTTA.

SOLE ADVERTISING AGENT IN ENGLAND

FOR "THE INDIAN FIELD."



Mr. L. J. JARVIS.

"Granville House" Arundel St. Strand.

LONDON.

CONTENTS.

LEADING ARTICLE—Opportunities And Proficiency	25
SPECIAL TELEGRAMS	26
SPORTING NOTES	26
ATHLETIC NOTES	28
GENERAL NOTES	31
LONDON WEEK BY WEEK	31
REVIEW	32
SHIKAR	32
SHOOTING	33
CORRESPONDENCE	33
THE TURF.—Indian Racing Fixtures; Closing Dates of Entries; Indian Sporting Fixtures; English Racing Fixtures; English Sporting Fixtures; Ootacamund Races; Mahableshwar Sky Meeting; Meerut 5th Open Gymkhana	37
RACING IN AUSTRALIA	38
ENTRIES FOR RACES	38
PONIES	41
SPORT IN ENGLAND	41
HUNTING	44
POLO	44
CYCLING	44
FOOTBALL	45
GOLF	45
LAWN TENNIS	45
BOWLS	46
SWIMMING	46
THE NATURALIST	46
THE STORY TELLER	46
THE GARDEN	47
CHESS	48
CARDS	48

The above weight represents strength of gut used in the manufacture of J. Salter & Son's Racket and Tennis Bats.

SALTER'S

RACKET RACKETS & BALLS, TENNIS RACKETS & POLO HEADS.

1st quality only.

May be obtained from the following firms :—
EROOM & CO., Calcutta.
WALTER LOCKE & CO., Calcutta, Simla, Lahore.
MANTON & CO., Calcutta.
WATTS & CO., Calcutta, Simla, Rangoon, Lahore.
MURRAY & CO., Lucknow, Karachi, Cawnpore, Naini Tal.
ROWE & CO., Rangoon, Mandalay, Moulmein & Bassein.
SPENCER & CO., Madras.
OAKES & CO., Madras.
TREACHER & CO., Bombay.
BADHAM, PILE & CO., Bombay.
GANDA SING UBEROI & CO., Sialkote.

J. SALTER & SON.
Manufacturers of Indoor and Outdoor Games and Sports,
ALDERSHOT, ENGLAND.

PILSENER BEER.

KRIEG'S

"SHIP" BRAND,

LIGHT & SPARKLING.

SPECIALLY SELECTED FOR INDIA

Rs. 4-8 per dozen quarts.

In Cases of 4 dozens.

KRIEG & CO.

WHOLE SALE AND RETAIL,

8, HareStreet, Calcutta.

OOTACAMUND RACES. 1903.

STEWARDS:

COLONEL J. P. GRANT. | CAPTAIN C. J. SWAN.
MAJOR W. M. CAMPBELL. | H. P. HODGSON, ESQ.
CAPTAIN R. H. A. FIFE | L. C. LIEBENROOD, ESQ.

Judge—COL. C. M. T. WESTERN, R.A.
Starter—W. O. HORNE, ESQ.
Clerk of the Scales—CAPT. S. S. BROWNE, R.A.
Honorary Secretary—H. IRWIN, ESQ., C.I.E.

First Day, Tuesday, 5th May 1903.

Tuesday saw a most lovely afternoon and there was a representative attendance at the Course, among the spectators being Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Ampthill, H. H. the Maharajah of Mysore, Sir George Wolseley, Sir Donald and Lady Robertson, and Sir David and Lady Barr, besides nearly all the social world of Ootacamund, and a large contingent from Wellington and Coonoor. Heavy rain fell on Monday night and as it was badly needed, no rain having fallen for over a week, the going was much improved thereby. There was a card of six events, and on the whole fields were larger than at Wellington and sport was good. Some of the finishes were quite exciting, particularly that between Hampton Court and Mary Jane, which resulted in a verdict of half a length over a distance of half a mile, and again in the Hunter's Cup Woodlands only a length winner from Harkaway over two and a quarter miles. The first race only brought out a field of two and was a walk over for Redoubt who led from start to finish and won by ten engths. In the Trial Stakes, five furlongs, there was a field of five Sardine set the pace to Yuletide followed by Mary Jane. Near the Old Pavilion, however, Yuletide assumed the lead, while Sardine dropped back third. Yuletide and Mary Jane were neck and neck coming into the straight, but the former held her own and won a good race by a length. Next came the Novice Stakes, which was voted good for Coree Belle. She made her own running after the corner, from Gaylad and Warrior and got home a comfortable winner by one length. The Club Stakes was contested by a field of four. It was impossible to tell who was winner as Mary Jane, Chemisette, and Hampton Court came together into the straight but McQuade most cleverly drove Hampton Court home to win by half a length, while three lengths divided Mary Jane from Chemisette. Six runners turned out for the race of the day, the Hunter's Cup, run over two and a quarter miles. In the first round Latchkey made running from Right Angle, with Pennant and The Cardinal in attendance, but on passing the Stand Woodlands got on terms and on the opposite side took the lead, Cardinal taking last place, at the half mile from home Woodlands was leading still, Harkaway second, while Latchkey and Pennant raced together from the Old Pavilion, and finished dead heat for third place. In the last race the Ladis' Purse for Arab ponies, Syndic lead all the way and won in a canter by ten lengths from Baby Boy, who was divided from Rupert by six lengths. Details :—

THE MYSORE CUP.—Rs. 500 and Rs. 100 to second if 5 or more enter. For horses Distance—1 mile.

Major Logan-Home's ch aus g Redoubt, 9st	McQuade	1
„ Harrison's b aus g Glenfield, 10st 3lbs	Meahjan	0

BETTING : 4 to 1 against Glenfield, 10 to 1 on Redoubt.
Won by ten lengths. Time—1min. 55secs. Totalizator paid Rs. 3.

THE TRIAL STAKES.—Rs. 200. For Ponies Maidens on 1st April 1903. Distance—5 furlongs.

Mr Pell-Irving's blk aus m Yuletide, 10st 13lbs	Owner	1
Major W M Campbell's ch aus m Mary Jane, 10st 11lbs	Capt Fife	2
Mr Allardice's gr aus g Sardine, 11st 4lbs	McQuade	3
Col W E G Forbe's ch a h Rufus III., 9st 4lbs	Owner	0
Capt C T Swan's b aus m Bessie, 8st 9lbs...	Gooloo	0

BETTING :—4 to 1 against Sardine, 6 to 4 Yuletide, 2 to 1 on Mary Jame, 2 to 1 on Rufus III., 4 to 1 on Bessie.
Won by one length ; three lengths between second and third. Time—1min. 11⅘secs. Totalizator paid Rs. 4.

THE NOVICE STAKES.—Rs. 200. For Horses Maidens on 1st January 1903. Distance—6 furlongs.

Major Harrison's b aus m Coree Belle, 9st	McQuade	1
Mr Colin Mackenzie's ch aus g Warrior, 8st 7lbs	Mr Liebenrood	2
Major J Vans-Agnew's blk aus g Gaylad, 8st 7lbs	Meahjan	3
Major Vigne's b aus m Lucy Glitters, 8st 7lbs (dec. 4lbs) ...	Thompson	0
Mr Lievenrood's br c b g Landwind, 6st dec. 1st 5lbs.	Gooloo	0

BETTING : 3 to 1 on Coree Belle, 2 to 1 against Warrior, 6 to 1 on Lucy Glitters, 6 to 1 on Gaylad, 8 to 1 on Landwind, Totalizator paid Rs 3. Time—1min. 23⅘secs.
Won by one length ; four lengths between second and third, ten lengths third and fourth.

THE CLUB STAKES.—Rs. 200. For Ponies. Distance—¼mile.

Major Harrison's b eb g Hampton Court, 9st 2lbs	McQuade	1
Major W M Campbell's ch aus m Mary Jane, 10st	Thompson	2
Capt Roome's br e m Chemisette, 9st 5lbs	Owner	3
„ Swan's b aus m Bessie, 8st ...	Gooloo	0

BETTING : 2 to 1 on Mary Jane, 6 to 4 on Chemisette, 2 to 1 on Hampton Court, 10 to 1 on Bessie. Totalizator paid Rs. 7 Time—53⅘secs.
Won by half a length ; three lengths between second and third.

THE HUNTERS, CUP.—Presented by H. E. the Governor Value Rs. 500 with Rs. 100 added from the Funds, and Rs. 200 to the second, also Rs. 100 to the thir if five or more enter.
For horses regularly hunted with a recognised pack of hounds. during the previous seasons subject to the approval of the Stewards. (The Master's Certificate of the pack hunted with, that the horse is duly qualified, must be produced). Distance—2¼ miles.

Capt Fife's b aus g Woodlands 11st 7lbs	Owner	1
Major Logan-Home's, br aus g Harkaway, 11st 7lbs	Capt Roome	2
Major W. M. Campbell's br aus g Pennant, 11st 7lbs	Owner dead heat	3
Mr. Liebenrood's ch aus m Latchkey, 11st 7lbs	Owner dead heat
Capt Fife's b aus g Right Angle, 11st 7lbs	Major Vigne	0
Capt Swan's ch aus g The Cardinal, 11st 7lbs	Owner	0

BETTING: 10 to 1 on Latchkey, 2 to 1 on Woodlands, 10 to 1 on Right Angle, 10 to 1 on Harkaway, 10 to 1 on Pennant 2 to 1 against The Cardinal. Totalizator paid Rs. 4. Time—4mins. 40⅘secs.
Won by a length ; twenty lengths between second and third.

THE LADIES' PURSE:—Rs. 200. For Arab Ponies Distance—1 mile.

Mr Sydenham's b a h Syndic, 9st 12lbs ...	McQuade	1
„ F Wormald's b a h Baby Boy, 12st ...	Capt Roome	2
Major Logan Home's ch a g Rupert 11st 13lbs	Capt Fife	3
Major Vigne's b a h Gentle James, 10st 11lb		0

BETTING: 10 to 1 against Baby Boy, 4 to 1 against Rupert, 5 to 1 against Gentle James 2 to 1 against Syndic. Totalizator paid Rs. 3. Time—2min. 4⅘secs.
Won by ten lengths six ; lengths between second and third.

Second Day, Thursday, 7th May 1903.

Racing to-day was entirely spoilt by the rain. The first two were run off in threatening weather and the rain came down in torrents just before the third race and converted the course, in a few minutes into a millpond and after the New Race it was decided to abandon the Ootacamund Cup and Substitution Pony Race to Friday

In the Rose and Crown Plate, which only drew a field of three, Dodo got away to a good start, but was soon distanced by Warrior, who kept the lead and won very easily by six lengths. In the Pavilion Stakes there were only three entries again Cardinal and Steelpen were pretty level to the corner, where the latter came away and the rest of the race was a procession. Steelpen winning by five lengths. In the last three furlongs Landwind came up wonderfully and it seemed as if he might get second place, but was eventually beaten by two lengths. The sloppy going in the Tally Ho Cup made a great difference and it was a surprise to most when Gadabout passed the post a winner. Five faced the starter in blinding rain and the discomforts of the riders were added to by a false start in which Gadabout got away and was not pulled up till he had completed the course. They eventually got away to a good start and passed the stand in the following order: Rupert and Rufus III, Bessie and Gadabout, Lady lying a good way behind. Almost immediately after passing the stand she fell, but her rider, Mr. Morey, was up again and finished the course coming in several hundred yards behind! A plucky performance in such a veteran rider, but if we might venture to say so a useless one. Opposite the stand Rupert was leading and kept his place to the half mile from home, when Gadabout, ridden by his owner on the sand track, came up and won by a length; Bessie ten lengths off third. There was some delay before the horses came out for the New Race, as it was hoped the rain might get lighter, but as this did not happen the mounting bell was rung. There were five starters for it. Syndic at evens was only third. Bahadur made his own running and won by two lengths, beating his stable companion Medoc. Details:—

THE ROSE AND CROWN PLATE.—Rs. 200, of which Rs. 50 to second. For bona fide hacks which have never won a race of any description and subject to the approval of the Stewards. 7 furlongs.

Mr Mackenzie's rn aus g Warrior, 12st	Capt Swan	1
Major Logan Home's b e m Dodo, 12st	Capt Fife	2
Mr S A Walker's ch aus g Chips, 12st declared 12-11.	Mr Handcock	3

BETTING: 4 to 1 agst Dodo, 4 to 1 on Warrior, 5 to 1 Chips. Totalisator paid Rs. 2-8. Time—1min. 41secs.

Won by six lengths; twenty lengths between second and third.

THE PAVILION STAKES.—Rs. 200. For horses. 1 mile.

Major Harrison's br aus g Steelpen, 9st 10lbs	McQuade	1
Capt Swan's ch aus g The Cardinal, 10st 7lbs, ...	Owner	2
Mr Liebenrood's b cb g Landwind, 6st 7lbs declared 6-11½, ...	Gooloo	3

BETTING: 3 to 1 agst The Cardinal, 2 to 1 on Steelpen, 10 to 1 Landwind. Totalisator paid Rs. 3. Time—1mn. 57⅕secs.

Won by five lengths; two lengths between second and third.

THE TALLY HO CUP.—Rs. 200 with Rs 100 to second if four enter.

Mr Liebenrood's b cb h Gadabout, 8st ...	Owner	1
Major Logan Home's ch a g Rupert 11st, declared 8-0½, ...	Capt Fife	2
Capt Swan's b aus m Bessie, 10st 7lbs ...	Owner	3
Mr Morey's ch aus m Lady, 11st -	Owner	3
Col W E G Forbes' ch a h Rufus III, 8st 2lbs declared 8-8, ...	Owner	0

BETTING: 2 to 1 agst Lady evens Rupert, 3 to 1 Bessie, 20 to 1 Rufus III, 10 to 1 Gadabout.

Totalizator paid Rs. 15. Time—3mins. 21secs.

Won by one length; ten lengths between second and third.

NEW RACE.—Rs 200. For Arab ponies. ½ mile.

Major Logan Home's b a h Bahadur, 10st 3lbs	Meahjan	1
Major Logan Home's ch a h Medoc, 10st...	Capt Roome	2
Mr Sydenham's b a h Syndic, 10st 7lbs ...	McQuade	3
Mr W W Philip's blk a g Zouave, 8st 4lbs	Gooloo	0
Mr Patrickson's g a h Pole Star, 8st, declared 9-3½	Mr Bell I Privng	0

BETTING: Evens Syndic, 3 to 1 agst Bahadur, 4 to 1 Medoc, 10 to 1 Zouave, 10 to 1 Pole Star.

Totalizator paid Rs. 4. Time—1min. 1⅕secs.

Won by two lengths; one length between second and third.

Friday, 8th May 1903.

The last two events on the card for the second day's racing came off this afternoon in fine weather, though the attendance was very small. The course had dried up in a wonderful manner and the going was simply perfect, neither of the favourites for the two races were successful. Viking surprised every one by winning the Cup for Captain Swan, while the favourite Redoubt came in a bad fourth. He did not run well, for just after passing the stand which he passed pulling hard, he seemed to die off and never got on terms again. The first race was the Substitution Pony Race, for which there were four starters. Chemisette made the running for Mary Jane and Yuletide as far as the three-furlong post, where Mary Jane took the lead and things looked hopeful for her backers, but coming round the corner into the straight Yuletide came away and won by two lengths. The Ootacamund Cup was not run in good time, two minutes and fifty-three seconds for a mile and a half. Prime made the running to the mile post, the favourte lying last and Viking third. At the mile Latchkey, Steelpen and Woodlands had the lead without much to choose between them. Prime coming back, they kept this order to the six furlongs from home, where Viking came up with a rush, assumed the lead and won by five lengths. Details:—

SUBSTITUTION PONY RACE.—Rs. 200. For ponies. ¼ mile.

Mr Bell Irving's blk aus m Yuletide, 11st	Owner	1
Capt Roome's br e m Chemisette, 9st 4lbs	Owner	2
Mr Allardice's g aus g Sardine, 9st 7lbs ...	McQuade	3
Major W M Campbell's ch aus m Mary Jane, 10st 3lbs	Capt Swan	0

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Yuletide, 4 to 1 agst Mary Jane, 8 to 1 Sardine, 4 to 1 Chemisette.

Won by two lengths; two lengths between second and third. Time—53secs.

THE OOTACAMUND CUP.—Rs. 1,000. For Horses. 1¼ miles.

Capt Swan's b aus g Viking, 10st 4lbs ...	Owner	1
Major Harrison's br aus g Steelpen, 9st 6lbs	Meajan	2
Capt Fife's b aus g Woodlands, 10st -	Capt Roome	3
Major Logan Home's ch aus g Redoubt, 10st 6lbs	McQuade	0
Mr Liebenrood's b aus m Latchkey, 8st 3lbs	Owner	0
Col Grant's b cb h Prime, 7st 12lbs ..	Gooloo	0

BETTING: 2 to 1 agst Redoubt, 5 to 1 Viking, 5 to 1 Woodlands, 5 to 1 Steelpen, 10 to 1 Latchkey, 4 to 1 Prime.

Won by five lengths; ten lengths between second and third, two lengths between third and fourth. Time—2min. 53secs.

Third Day, Saturday, 9th May 1903.

It was the generally expressed opinion that the third day's racing was the best sport of the meeting. The weather was charming and the attendance good, many Coonoor and Wellington people being present. The going could not have been better and it is pleasant to have to record that as on the first day we were free from accidents. On considering the starting Mr. Horne must be congratulated on the way he performed this difficult and often times thankless job. For the Stand Plate, which opened the programme, Yuletide was made favourite and she did not disappoint her backers as she won easily. Sardine made the running for three-quarters of the distance, Bessie second to the half mile from home, but here she was beaten and Yuletide coming up with a rush won comfortably. The Leonidas Purse was won by Gaylad, but should have been won by Viking whose rider came too late. It was a good race and exciting. A field of four faced the starter, Steelpen made the running for Corre Belle and Gaylad. Viking lying behind till the old Pavilion, where he closed up and was leading round the corner apparently with the race in hand, but Gaylad got on terms with him and won by a head. In the Eastern Handicap again Baby Boy should have won but his rider failed to land him a winner. Syndic made the running by a long lead and the top corner, but rounding the bend Rupert closed up and at the half mile was leading and kept his place to the corner into the straight, here Baby Boy got on terms and passed him easily, his rider considering the race now ceased riding, but Rupert putting on a spurt won by a length. A field of only three went to the post in the Kennel Cup, and of these Harkaway was a certainty. Pennant made the running for a mile and a half for Harkaway, Cowboy was nowhere in the race after the start. At the old Pavilion Harkaway came away and won as he liked. The Pony Consolation Race was a match between Chemisette and Bessie, the former led all the way, but was nearly collared in the straight by Bessie who closed up at the corner. She won, however, by a head.

The Horse Consolation Race was the last event on the card and there were four entries, Major Vans Agnew scoring another win with Gaylad, though Prime was the most generally fancied; he led from start to finish. Details:—

THE STAND PLATE.—Rs. 200. For ponies. 1¼ miles.

Mr Bell Irving's blk aus m Yuletide, 11st	Thompson	1
„ Allardice's g aus g Sardine, 9st 7lbs ...	McQuade	2
Capt Swan's b aus m Bessie, 7st 7lbs ...	Gooloo	0

Won by one length; twenty lengths between second and third. Time—2mins. 30secs.

THE LEONIDAS PURSE.—Rs. 200. For Horses. 6 furlongs.

Major Vans Agnew's blk aus g Gaylad, 8st 5lbs	Gooloo	1
Capt Swan's b aus g Viking, 9st 11lbs ...	Thompson	2
Major Harrison's br aus g Steelpen, 10st 11lbs	McQuade	3
Major Harrison's b aus g Corie Belle, 10st	Meahjan	0

Won by a neck; three lengths between second and third. Time—1min. 21⅕secs.

THE EASTERN HANDICAP.—Rs. 200. For Arab ponies.—1½ miles.

Major Logan Home's ch a g Rupert, 9st 12lbs	Meahjan	1
Mr F Wormald's b a h Baby Boy, 10st 7lbs	Capt Roome	2
„ Sydenham's b a h Syndic, 10st 7lbs ...	McQuade	0

Won by one length; three lengths between second and third. Time—2mins. 28⅖secs.

THE KENNEL CUP.—Rs. 200. For horses regularly hunted with a recognised pack of hounds during the previous seasons subject to the approval of the Stewards. 2 miles. G. R.'s only.

Major Logan Home's br aus g Harkaway, 11st 11lb	Capt Roome	1
Major Campbell's br aus g Pennant, 10st 5lbs	Capt Fife	2
Major Vans Agnew's b aus g Cowboy, 9st 11lbs	Owner	3

Won by three lengths. Distanced. Time—4mins. 9secs.

THE PONY CONSOLATION RACE.—Rs. 200. For ponies that have started and not won on first or second day during the present Ooty meeting. 6 furlongs

Capt Roome's br e m Chemisette, 10st 12lbs	Owner	1
Capt Swan's b aus m Bessie, 7st 4lbs ...	Gooloo	2

Won by a head. Time—1min. 29⅖secs.

THE HORSE CONSOLATION RACE—Rs. 200. For horses that have started and not won on first or second day during the present Ooty meeting. 6 furlongs.

Major Vans Agnew's blk aus g Gaylad, 9st 4lbs	Thompson	1
Col Grant's b cb h Prime, 8st 4lbs ...	Gooloo	2
Mr Liebenrood's ch aus m Latchkey, 9st 6lbs	McQuade	3
Capt Swan's ch aus g The Cardinal, 9st 12lbs	Owner	0

Won by one and a half lengths; one and a half lengths between second and third.

MAHABLESHWAR SKY MEETING.

FIRST DAY, TUESDAY 5TH MAY 1903.

RACING commenced this afternoon in pleasant weather. There was a large attendance, among whom were Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Northcote, and an attractive card of six races was offered. Favourites won in three of the races but there were some surprises during the afternoon. Figger's win in the World's Stakes and Vasco da Gama's victory in the extra race provviding no little excitement. Details:—

THE ALL COMERS POLO STAKES—Winner Rs. 49, second Rs 25. For all bona fide Arab and C.-B. Polo Ponies (certificate required at time on entry that they have been regularly played). Catch-weights over 11st. 2½ furlongs.

Colonel Eccles' ch cb m Lady Betty, 13-3½ 11st 0lb	Major Edwards	1
Lt-Col Reid's g a g Trout, 11st ...	Captain Casson	2
„ Reid's g a h Rolland, 11st ...	Mr Ponsonby	3
Capt Balmain's ch a h Expert, 13-3, 11st	Captain Hood	0
Lt-Col Reid's g a h Vasco da Gama, 11st...	Major England	0
Mr Lucas' g a h Baby, 11st	Owner	0

BETTING: 5 to 1 on Lady Betty, 5 to 1 against all others.

Won by two lengths confortably. Five lengths separated second and 3rd. Time—38secs.

THE MAHABLESWAR PURSE.—Winner Rs. 49; second Rs. 25. For English and Australian Ponies 13-3½ hands and under and Arab and C. B. Ponies 14-1 hands and under that have never started for a race value Rs. 50 or over previous to the Meeting. English and Australian 13-3½ hands to carry 12st. C. Bs. 14-1 hands 12st., Arabs 14-1 hands 11st. 5lbs W. for 1 5 furlongs.

Capt The Hon C F Greville's g a h Scattercash, 14-0, 9st 11lbs	Owner	1
Capt Hood's g a h Signaller, 14-0, 10st 7lbs	Owner	2
Maj Edwards' ch am g Quickstep, 13-2½ 10st 13lbs	Owner	3

BETTING: Evens, Scattercash and Quickstep: 4 to 1 agst. Signally.

Won easily by four lengths. Two lengths second and Time—1min. 15secs.

THE WORLD'S STAKES.—A handicap for all maiden ponies 14-0 and under.—4 furlongs.

Mr Cooper's br e g Fizzer, 13-2, 9st 11lbs...	Owner	1
Col Eccles' ch cb m Lady Betty 10st ...	Maj Edwards	2
Mr MacSwiney's b cb g The Reverend 14-0½, 9st 6lbs	Capt Casson	3
Capt The Hon C F Greville's b aus m Maori Girl, 14-0½, 12st 3lbs ...	Owner	0

BETTING: 5 to 4 on Maori Girl, Evens, Fizzer, 2 to 1 agnst. both The Reverend and Lady Betty.

Won by two lengths. The Reverend a poor third. Time—562 secs.

Major Edwards b a h Daimyo, 13-3½, 9st 9½lbs	Owner	1
Lt-Col Reid's g a g Trout 9st 12lbs	Major England	2
Mr MacSwiney's b cb h The Reverend, 14-0½ 11st 5lbs	Capt Casson	3
Mr Lucas' b a h Fallah 14-0, 10st 2lbs ...	Owner	0
Capt Hood's g a h Signaller, 14-0, 10st 7lbs	Owner	0

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Daimyo, 4 to 1 against The Reverend, 5 to 1 against the others.

Won by three lengths, from Trout. A neck separated second and third. Time—1min. ⅗secs.

EXTRA RACE—3 furlongs.

Lt-Col Beid's g a h Vasco da Gama, 10s ...	Capt Casson	1
„ „ g a h Rolland, 10st	Major England	2
Mr Luca's g a h Baby, 10st	Owner	3
Capt the Hon C F Greville's Salonica, 10st	Owner	0
Capt Davy's Scot, 10st	Mr Ponsonby	0

BETTING: Evens Salonica; 2 to 1 agst. Baby and Rolland, 3 to 1 Scot, 8 to 1 Vasco da Gama.

Won by three lengths; two lengths second and third Time—45 ⅘secs.

Second Day, Friday, 8th May 1903.

(By Special Telegram.)

The meeting wound up very successfully today and before another big attendance. Favourites did well and Col. Reid's stable with Trout scored two popular wins Details:—

THE POLO PONY HANDICAP.—Distance 2½ furlongs.

Col Reid's Trout, 11st	Capt Casson	1
„ Eccles' Lady Betty, 12st 7lbs ...	Major Edwards	2
Capt Balmain's Expert, 9st 10lbs ...	Capt Smacke	3

Also ran:—Rolland and Baby.

BETTING: 5 to 2 on Lady Betty, 2 to 1 agst Trout, 3 to 1 the rest,

Won by neck. Time—37⅕ sec.

THE KOLHAPUR STAKES.—1 mile.

Mr Cooper's Duldul, 11st 7lbs... ...	Owner	1
Major Edwards Daimyo, 10st 6lbs ...	Owner	2
Capt Greville's Hoosainee, 10st 4lbs ...	Owner	3

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Duldul, 6 to 4 agst Daimyo; 2½ to 1 Hoosainee.

Won by two lengths. Time—2mins. 5⅕secs.

THE HACK STAKES.—Distance—3 furlongs.

Major Edwards' Quickstep, 10st 9½lbs ...	Owner	1
Capt Greville's Maori Girl, 11st ...	Owner	2
Col Eccles' Pomfret, 11st	Capt Casson	3

Also ran:—Requite.

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Maori Girl; evens Quickstep; 5 to agst Pomfret; 7 to 1 Requite.

Won by three lengths Time—42 4-5secs.

Pomfret after the race bolted twice round the course with its rider.

THE PANCHGANI HANDICAP.—5 furlongs.

Col Reid's Trout, 10st;	Major England	1
Capt Greville's Scattercash, 10st 6lbs ...	Owner	2
Major Edwards' Daimyo' 10st 12lbs ...	Owner	3

Also ran: Fallah and Signaller.

BETTING: Evens Daimyo, each 2 to 1 agst Scattercash and Signaller; 3 to 1 Trout; greater odds the rest.

Won by a head. Time—1 min. 15secs.

THE CONSOLATION RACE.—Distonee—3½ furlongs.

Capt Greville's Hoosainee, 9st 13½lbs ...	Major Edwards	1
Mr MacSwiney's The Reverend, 9st 9lbs ...	Capt Casson	2
Capt Greville's Maori Girl 12st ...	Owner	3

Also ran:—Jessore.

BETTING: Evens on Maori Girl; 3 to 2 agst The Reverend, 2 to 1 Jessore; 3 to 1 Hoosainee.

Won by a length. Time—15secs.

MEERUT 5TH OPEN GYMKHANA.

STEWARDS:

COL. P. K. L. BEAVER | MAJOR LECKY, R H A.
„ G COCKBURN, D.S.O. 3rd Rifle Brigade. | CAPT. L. E. KENNARD. 15th Hussars.
MR. A. COURAGE, 15th Hussars.
Starter.—MR. J. N. BLAKE.

Saturday, 9th May 1903.

HORSE RACE.—Rs. 32 and Rs. 10 to second. For all horses that have never won a race of any description whatever. English and Australasians 11st 7lbs C.B's. 10st 7lbs Arabs 9st 7lbs. 1000 yards.

Major Williams' br aus g Russler King, 11st 7lbs	Mr Steele	1
Mr Heywood's b aus m Connie, 11st 7lbs...	Mr Bingham	2
„ Holford's br aus g Dick, 11st 7lbs ...	Owner	3
„ H W Bell's b aus m Baroness, 11st 7lbs	Mr Scott	0
Major Blakeney's ch aus m Lady Flo. 11st 7lbs	Owner	0

Won easily by three lengths; ten lengths between second and third. Time—1min. 3⅖secs.

THE POLO PLATE—Rs 32 and Rs. 10 to second. For all bonâ fide Polo Ponies that have never won a race of any descrip-

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA.

Flor de Sumatra Brand
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROOM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

BEACONSFIELDS.

Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

tion. Ponies 14-1 to carry 12st 7lbs W. I. C.-B's allowed 14lbs Arabs 21lbs. 2½ furlongs.

Mr Harris' g a g Abdullah, 9st 13lbs ...	Owner	1
Capt Gaussen's ch cb g Gulala, 10st ...	Owner	2
Mr Bingham's ch a h Messina, 9st 10lbs ...	Owner	3
„ Shawe's ch a p Dandy Dick, 11st ...	Owner	0
„ Prittie's ch a h Seablue, 10lbs 2lbs ...	Mr Holford	0
„ Bennet's b a p Desmond	Owner	0

Won by a length half ; length between second and third.

THE MEERUT PURSE.—Rs. 32 and 10 to second. for all Maiden ponies, Arabs and C.-B's. 14-1 and others ; 13-3½ to carry 11st 7lbs. W. I. Penalties—Winners once 4lbs, twice 7lbs., oftener 10lbs. 3 furlongs.

Mr. Bingham's g a h Euphrates, 9st 5lbs...	Owner	1
Major Lecky's ch aus m Biddy, 11st 7lbs...	Owner	2
Mr Bingham's b cb m Ruby, 10st 9lbs ...	Capt Gaussen	3
Col Beaver's ch a h Rob Roy, 10st 9lbs ...	Native	0
Col Beaver's b a h Bloodstone, 9st 11st —	Native	0
Mr Capoor's b cb g Dhariwal, 9st 5lbs ...	Kanhai	0

Won by a length and half easily ; half a length between second and third. Time—41 secs.

R. C. RACE —Rs. 32 and Rs. 10 to second. For all ponies 14-1 and under ; 14-1 to carry 12st. W. I. C.-B.'s allowed 21lbs., Arabs 14lbs. R. C.

Mr Lutchmi Narain's r aus g Grig, 10st 4lbs	Capt Gaussen	1
Jemadar Molem Singh's b aus g Queensland, 12st	Owner	2
Mr Capoor's ch a h Mango, 8st 3lbs ...	Kanhai	3
„ Prittie's' b w g Benjamin, 12st ...	Owner	0
„ Harris's b aus m Twice, 11st 11lbs ...	Owner	0
„ Holford's br w g Sailor, 11st 8lbs ...	Owner	0
„ Steele's b cb m Hottentot Lass, 10st 3lbs	Owner	0
Mr Shawe's ch cb m Goose, 10st 11b ...	Owner	0
Capt Bell's b cb h Durbar, 9st 6lbs ...	Owner	0

Won by two lengths ; ten lengths between second and third.

NOVICE STAKES.—Rs. 32 and Rs 10 to second. For Arabs and C.-B's 14-1 and under and others 14 hands and under, that have never won a race value Rs. 50 or over. Arabs and C.-B.'s 14-1 to carry 11st 7lbs other 14-0 to carry 12st. 4 furlongs.

W. I.
Mr Bingham's g a h Euphrates, 9st 5lbs ...	Owner	1
Mrs Lecky's b aus m The Dove, 12st ...	Major Lecky	2
Col Beaver's w a h Jalmood, 9st 8lbs ...	Native	3
Mr Lutchmi Narains g a g Grafton, 10st 6lbs	Capt Gaussen	0
Mr Norton's g a h Polar Bear, 9st 11lbs ...	Mr Steel	0
Col Beaver's g a h Punch Bowl, 7st 12lbs	Native	0

Won by two lengths easily a length between second and third. Time—56¾ secs.

N-C. O.'s RACE First Rs. 20 ; 2nd Rs. 10. For all ponies bona fide the property of N. C. Officers' of the Meerut Garrison and to be ridden by same. Catch weights over 11 stone 3 furlongs.

Farr Maj Smith's g cb h Hussars, 11st ...	Pte Bott	1
Sgt-Maj Ralston's ch cb h Catapult, 11st...	Sergt Miller	2
Pte Pope's b cb h Sloper, 11st... ...	Owner	3
Sgt Maj Collins' dk br cb h Netty, 11st ...	Cpl Banks	0
Sgt Deacon's b cb h Hoopla, 11st ...	Cpl Knight	0
Gunner Harris's ch cb h Feroze, 11st ..	Owner	0

Won by a length ; same distance between second and third. Time—45 secs. Feroze was left at the post.

Racing in Australia.

THE A. J. C. MEETING.

THE DONCASTER HANDICAP.

DONCASTER HANDICAP—Of 20sovs. each with 1,000 added ; second, 200 ; third, 100sovs. One mile.

Mr T Brown's ch f Rose Petal, by Grand Flaneur—Rose Clear, 3yrs, 7st 7lbs ...	McCrimmon	1
Mr F Foy's blk m Ban Ceontha, by His Reverence (imp.)—Gift of Gab, 4yrs, 6st 9lb, ...	Cornwall	2
Mr T F Scully's ch f Marvel Loch, by Lochiel—Marvelette, 3yrs, 7st ...	Hickey	3
Mr G A Cooper's b h Sir Leonard, 4yrs, 9st 10lbs	Cooper	0
Mr W Kelso's br g Purser, 6yrs, 8st 12lbs	Cleal	0
C Carlisle's br m Air Motor, 4yrs, 8st 11lbs	Osborne	0
Mr Jas Brennan's br m Pendant, 4 yrs, 8st 8lbs	Hood	0
J William's blk g The Idler, 5yrs, 8st 12lbs inc. 5lb penalty	J Barden	0
Mr Leslie Forest's b m Silver Ray, 6yrs, 8st 5lbs	Housman	0
Mr G Miller's ch h Contest, 4yrs, 8st	Scott	0
H Oxenham's b m Acrasia, 5yrs, 7st 10lbs	W H Smith	0
Mr J Baron's b h Simile (imp), 6yrs, 7st 11lbs	Lewis	0
„ T F Scully's blk g Argentum, 6yrs, 7st 7lbs	Turner	0
Mr W T Nolan's br h Nymagee, 4yrs, 7st 4lbs	W Brennan	0
Dr Fraser's b m Ambulance, 4yrs, 7st 4lbs	A Richardson	0
Mr M Thompson's ch m Australia, 4yrs, 7st 5lbs in 11b over	Brooks	0
Mr F Gaxien's ch f Gratia, 3yrs, 7st 11b	Bracken	0
„ J B Clarke's br f Milner 3yrs, 7st ...	Sutherland	0
„ W Duggan's br f Fungus, 3yrs, 7st	Golding	0
„ E Key's br f Fireclay, 4yrs, 6st 8lbs ...	Coughlin	0
„ R Wootton's br f Euston, 3yrs, 6st 7lbs	McLaughlin	0

BETTING : 4 to 1 agst Sir Leonard, 7 to 1 Rose Petal, 8 to 1 each The Idler, Australia, Marvel Loch, 15 to 1 each Contest, Air Motor, and Purser, 2 to 1 Acrasia, 25 to 1 each Gratia, Euston, Simile, 33 to 1 each Milner, Argentum, Ban Ceontha, and Fungus.

Won cleverly by a length from Ban Ceontha, who beat Marvel Loch by a head. Air Motor was fourth, and attended by Ambulance, Sir Leonard, Fireclay, Argentum, Idler, and Contest in that order, the last to finish being Euston, Silver Ray and Simile. Time—1min. 41¼secs.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCAS EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA

THE SYDNEY CUP.

THE SYDNEY CUP.—A handicap sweepstakes of 20 sovs. each with 2,000 sovs. added. Second, 3000sovs. ; and the third, 150 sovs.—2 miles.

Mr J Northern's Street Arab, by Jeweller—Pirouette, 5yrs., 6st 12lbs ...	Hickey	1
Mr J Brown's Patronage, 5yrs, 8st 4lbs ...	McCrimmon	2
Mr W H Mate's Bewitcher, 3yrs., 6st 7lbs	Aspden	3

Other starters—The Victory, 9-6, (Lewis) ; Cyanide, 9-0. (P. Housman) ; Sir Leonard, 9-0 (T. Woodgate) ; Great Scot, 8-12, (A. Richardson) ; Australian, 8-4 (Hood) ; Balfour, 8-3, (Scott) ; Patronus, 8-0, (W. H. Smith) ; Simile (imp.), 7-6, (Clark). fell ; Vocalist, 7-5, (C'Oonnor) ; Fairy Prince, 7-0, (Jennings) ; Australia, 6-11, (Hough) ; Gratia 6-11, (Bracken) ; Nymagee, 6-10, (W. Brennan) ; Ban Ceontha, 6-7, (Cornwell) ; Fireclay, 6-7, (Coughlin).

BETTING : 5 to 2 Patronage, 6 to 1 Great Scot, 9 to 1 Bewitcher, 12 to 1 each The Victory and Street Arab, 14 Ban Ceontha, 15 to 1 Vocalist 25 to 1 Australian, 33 to 1 each Cyanide, Sir Leonard, Patronus, Fairy Prince, Australian and Fireclay, 50 to 1 others.

Won by two lengths from Patronage, who beat Bewitcher by three lengths. Great Scot was a length away fourth, attended by Fairy Prince, The Victory, Ban Ceontha, and Cyanide. Then came a gap, after which followed Nymagee, Patronus, and Australia, with Australian last. Time—3mins. 31¾secs.

THE A. J. C. ST. LEGER.

A. J. C. ST. LEGER—Of 20 sovs. each ; with 300 sovs. added. For three-year-olds ; colts, 8st 10lbs ; fillies, 8st 4lbs ; second, 75sovs. ; third, 25sovs.—One mile and three-quarters.

Mr R Phillip's ch c Abundance, by Pilgrim's Progress (imp), Beanfeast(imp),	Jennings	1
The Hon. Agair Wynne's ch c Great Scot,	J Barden	2
Hon H Mossman's b c Balfour ...	Scott	3

BETTING : 7 to 4 on Abundance, 2 to 1 agst Great Scot, and 7 to 1 Balfour.

Great Scot jumped off in front, settling down at a solid pace, led down the staight and past the stand three lengths from Abundance, who was clear of Balfour. But a little later Balfour drew level with Abundance, and remained so to the mile and a quarter post. Then Abundance went after Great Scot, and catching him soon after passing Oxenham's, they travelled along the far side at a cracking pace, drawing away from Balfour at every stride. From this out the leading pair ran side by side until the half distance, when Great Scot got his head in front and appeared to win by a neck, with Balfour 15 lengths off, but the Judge gave his award in favour of Abundance. Time—3mins. 6½secs.

THE A. J. C. CUMBERLAND STAKES.

CUMBERLAND STAKES.—A sweepstakes of 10sovs. each, with 500sovs. added ; second horse 100sovs. and the third 50sovs.—2 miles.

Mr W Clarke's The Victory, by The Admiral—The Charmer, 4yrs., 9st ...	Lewis	1
Mr A Wynne's Great Scot, 3 yrs, 8st 2lbs	Jennings	2
„ Joseph Brown's Patronage, 5yrs, 9st 11lbs	Crimmon	3

Other starters—Cyanide 9-2, (P. Housman) ; Abundance, 8-2 (A. Richardson).

BETTING : 6 to 4 Abundance, 4 to 1 each Great Scot and The Victory, 9 to 2 Patronage. 20 to 1 Cyanide.

The field moved off slowly with Great Scotin front and The Victory last Great Scot passed passed the mile and a quarter post with a two lengths lead of Abundance and Patronage, but a little later Abundance went out after Great Scot, and drawing level near Oxenham's the two colts travelled abreast along the far side three lengths from Cyanide, who was clear of The Victory, while Patronage retired to the rear. At the half-mile Great Scot and Abundance were neck and neck in front, two lengths from Cyanide, who was a similar distance from The Victory, but Patronage was four lengths farther off. In much this order the field rounded the home turn, when the whip was drawn on Abundance, but the favourite cried a go after a few strides, and as Great Scot also shook off Cyanide immediately after he looked to have the race won, but when fairly opposite the St. Leger stand The Victory came out with a brilliant effort, and smothering Great Scot at the half-distance beat by three lengths. Patronage was a similar distance away two lengths in front of Abundance who ran out wide. Cyanide was last. Time—3mins. 33½secs.

Entries for Races.

LUCKNOW SPRING MEETING 1903.

THE CIVIL SERVICE CUP.—6 furlongs.

1ST ENTRIES CLOSED 1ST MAY 1903.

1	Mr W H Walmesley's	b aus m	Housemaid II,13-2½
2	Colonel Beaver's	br aus m	Bess, 13-3
3	Mr Austin's ...	b e m	Jilt, 13-3
4	Major T P England's	b aus m	Goodness, 13-3½
5	Mr W Bass's ...	ch e m	Lady Lane
6	Mr W Bass's ...	br e m	S T
7	„ Badger's —	br aus m	Kellar, 13-3½
8	Lieut-Colonel Hon'ble E Baring's ...	g e m	Slip Knot, 13-3
9	Major Berryman's	b or br e m	Silver II, 13-3
10	Mr H P Banker's	ch aus m	Litle Doris, 13-3½
11	„ Galstaun's	b aus m	Not Yet, 13-3½
12	Mr Galstaun's	bk aus m	Rosalea, 13-3½
13	Aga S Shah's...	b cb g	Tyrant, 14-1
14	Lieut-Colonel R G Jones'	g cb m	Pardon, 14-1

Second Entries will close on 1st July 1903.

L. M. DUNBAR, Captain,
Honorary Secretary,
Lucknow Races.

LUCKNOW AUTUMN MEETING, 1903.

THE ARMY CUP.—7 furlongs.

1ST ENTRIES CLOSED 1ST MAY 1903.

1	Capt W O Dawson's	g a h	Surgeon, 13-3½
2	Capt W O Dawson	g a g	Pat, 14-0½
3	Major Stisted's	b a h	Walrus, 13-3
4	Major Stisted's	g a h	Sorcerer, 13-2½
5	Major Stisted's	ch a h	Modesty, 13-0½
6	Capt Dunbar's	g a g	Victory, 14-0
7	Mr Maydwell's	g a h	Titus II, 13-3½
8	Capt Sloan Stanley's	g a h	For Ever, 13-3
9	Mr Cookson's...	ch a g	Chance, 13-2½
10	Capt Stratton's	b a h	Birdcatcher, 13-1½
11	Mr Baldrey's —	b a h	Shelter, 13-2½
12	Mr. Baldrey's	b a h	King Edward, 13-3½
13	Lieut-Colonel Hon'ble E Baring's ...	b a h	Peninsular II, 13-2½
14	„ ...	ch a h	Wavebeam, 13-1½
15	Capt E Harding Newman's	b a h	Hindustan, 13-2½
16	„ G A S Home's	ch a h	Sadoon, 14-0
17	Major C F Murray and Capt E Lloyd's ...	ch a h	Hamilton, 13-3½
18	Capt S Capper's	g a h	Cinque Ports, 13-3½
19	Mr W Bass's ...	b a h	Huddal, 13-2½
20	„ West's ...	—	Borderer
21	Hon H E Thellusson's	g a g	Charley II, 14-0
22	Mr H F Elgee's	g a g	St Gris, 13-3
23	„ D C Gilroy's	b a g	Grampy, 14-0½

Second Entries will close on 1st July 1903.

L. M. DUNBAR, Captain,
Honorary Secretary,
Lucknow Races.

MYSORE RACES.

First Day, Tuesday, 16th June, 1903.

THE ARAB PLATE.—1½ miles.

1	Mr R R S' ...	ch a h	Safaer
2	Lt.-Col J Desaraj Urs'	ch a h	Rubric
3	Lt.- Col A Sprot's	ch a h	Harefoot
4	Capt Thompson's	br a h	Pompom II
5	Mr S A Wahed's	b a h	Dib
6	Mr W F Wormald's	b a h	Babyboy

MACINTIRE PLATE.—6 furlongs.

1	Lt.-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b aus g	Trenton
2	Capt J Randall's	br aus m	Blue Blood
3	Dr Spooner Hart's	bk aus g	Oberon,
4	Mr A A Apcar's	br aus m	Sister

THE FARM STAKES.—5 furlongs.

1	Lt.-Col J Desaraj Urs'	ch cb g	Bellary
2	Lt.-Col R G Jones'	b cb m	St Clair
3	Mr Liebenrood's	b cb g	Landwind
4	Capt W J Tatam's	ch cb m	Filigree
5	Col J P Grant's	b cb h	Prime
6	H H Aga Khan's	br cb m	Evensong
7	Mr A A Apcar's	ch cb g	Phil

THE MEDIUM STAKES.—6 furlongs.

1	Lt. Col J Desaraj Urs'	b aus g	Minimus
2	The Kumara Raja of Pittapore's ...	b aus g	Shield
3	Major W M Campbell's	ch aus m	Mary Jane
4	Mr C P Graham's	ch aus m	Shot Silk
5	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	Rifleman
6	Mr A Sattar's ...	b aus m	Beccles

THE LILLIPUT PLATE.—6 furlongs.

1	Mr R R S' ...	b a h	Surjamal
2	Lt.-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b a h	Delight
3	Ditto	g a h	Ptarmigan
4	Mr E Sydenham's	b a h	Syndic
5	Mr R St. C Houston's	g a h	Dharwar
6	Mr S A Wahed's	b a h	Salvation
7	Aga S Shah's ...	b a h	Oriental
8	Mr O Dignum's	g a h	Defendant
9	Capt R M Bell's	g a h	Essex

Second Day, Thursday, 18th June 1903.

H. H. THE MAHARAJAH'S CUP—1 mile & 3 furlongs.

1	Mr R R S' ...	ch a h	Safaer
2	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	ch a h	Rubric
3	Ditto	b a h	Delight
4	Lt-Col A Sprot's	ch a h	Harefoot
5	Mr S A Wahed's	b a h	Dib
6	Mr W F Wormald's	b a h	Babyboy
7	Captain R M Bell's	g a h	Superb

THE DEWAN'S CUP—1½ miles.

1	Mr Liebenrood's	b cb g	Landwind
2	Col J P Grant's	b cb h	Prime
3	H H Aga Khan's	br cb m	Evensong
4	Mr A A Apcar's	ch cb g	Phil

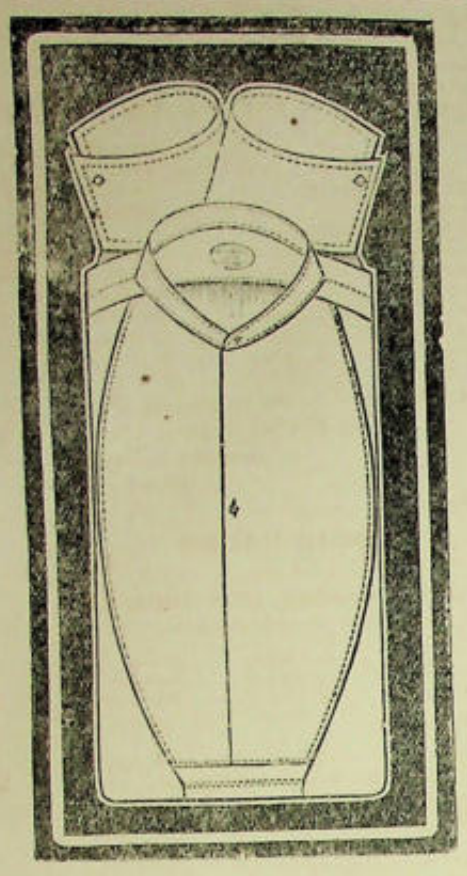
THE BIRTHDAY CUP—1½ miles.

1	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b aus g	Trenton
2	Major H C V Harrison's	ch aus g	Glenfield
3	Ditto	br aug g	Steelpen
4	Raja Venugopal Bahadur's	ch aus g	Jack O'Lantern
5	Lt-Col H Armstrong's	b aus g	Knight Templar
6	Capt C T Swan's	b aus g	Viking
7	H H Aga Khan's	br e g	Ayrdale
8	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	Wallgrove
9	Mr A A Apcar's	b aus g	Goldsmith
10	Ditto	b aus g	Malto
11	Mr N C Chowdhry's	ch aus g	Tecoota
12	Mr Biswas'	b aus g	Promontory

THE INSTALLATION CUP—7 furlongs.

1	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b aus g	Minimus
2	Ditto	br aus m	Acme
3	The Kumararajah of Pittapore's...	b aus g	Shield
4	Mr A P Symond's	bk aus m	Cleopatra
5	Major W M Campbell's	ch aus m	Mary Jane
6	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	Rifleman
7	Mr A Sattar's	b aus m	Beccles

THE STABLE CUP—5 furlongs.



1	R R S' ...	bk aus g	Dumbell
2	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	ch aus g	Leonidas
3	Ditto	b aus g	Red Coral
4	Major H C V Harrison's	ch aus g	DeWet
5	Ditto	b aus g	Steelpen
6	Raja Venugopal Bahadur's	ch aus g	Jack O'Lantern
7	Capt C T Swan's	ch aus g	The Cardinal
8	Capt J Randall's	br aus m	Blue Blood
9	Major J Vans Agnew's	b aus g	Corrie Roy
10	Mr R Anketell-Jones'	b aus g	Ombree
11	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	Wallgrove
12	Mr A A Apcar's	br aus m	Sister
13	Ditto	b aus g	Malto
14	Mr N C Chowdhury's	ch aus g	Tecoota
15	Mr Biswas'	b aus g	Promontory
16	Major F C Logan-Home's	ch aus g	Redoubt

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

FLOR DE SPENCER.

Head Office : Madras.
Factory : Dindigul, Southern India.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA :
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

WHITEAWAY, LAIDLAW & CO.

EVENING DRESS AND LOUNGE SHIRTS.

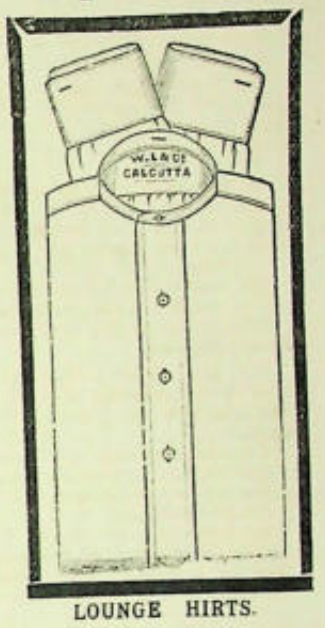
FIRST-CLASS MATERIALS.

Office Shirts, Rs. 17-8 & 25-8 per dozen.

For General Wear, Rs. 26-8 & 32-8 per dozen.

EVENING DRESS SHIRTS.

Extra light, Rs. 40-0 & 45-0 per doz.



G. P., Esq., writes from Hyderabad: "Thanks for Shirts which have proved very satisfactory; they are a good fit and remarkably cheap."

NEGLIGE LOUNGE SHIRTS.

White, Rs. 24-0, 29-8 and 36-0 per dozen.

Colored, over 10 new and fashionable patterns,

Rs. 2-14, 3-4 and 4-0 each.

LOUNGE HIRTS.

WHITEAWAY, LAIDLAW & CO., Calcutta.

ESTABLISHED 1847. ESTABLISHED 1847.

HAROLD & CO.

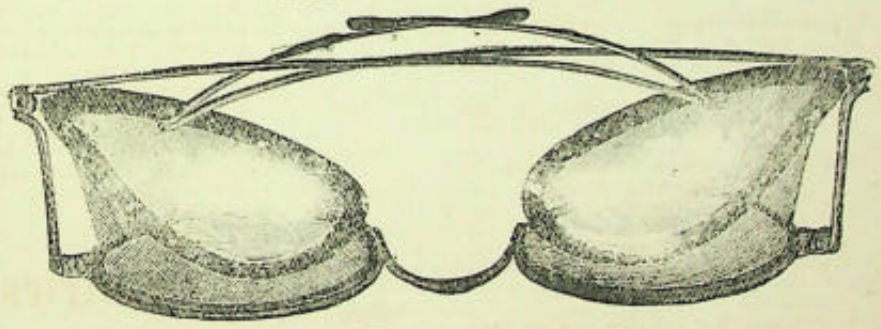
. . SOLE AGENTS FOR . .

JOHN BRINSMEAD & SONS.

By Royal Warrant to H. M. The King.
By Royal Warrant to H. M. The Queen.

NEW MODEL PIANOS.

The perfection of tone, touch and durability
Manufactured specially for India and extreme climates
In solid Chippendale Mahogany of unique and artistic design.



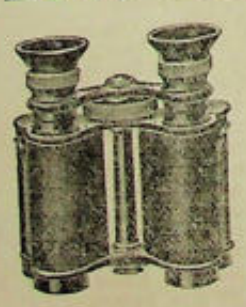
Upright Grand, Iron Frame, full trichord ... .. Rs. 1,000
Cottage, Iron Frame, full trichord ... ... „ 850-0

Other Pianos by the leading English and Continental Makers.
Particulars and Prices on application.

HAROLD & Co., Calcutta.

JAMES MURRAY & Co.,

CALCUTTA.



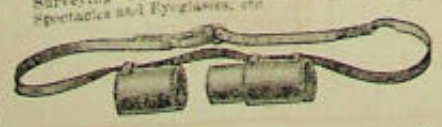
Eye-Preservers.

	Rs.	As.
Close-fitting, velvet edged or plain, full Gauze, with fine "optical" flat parallel glasses Neutral, Green or Blue—
Best Steel Frames	10	0
Best Nickel	12	0
High-finish Silver	16	0
"D" Shape Preservers, fine "optical" parallel glasses, Neutral, Green or Blue, and with Curl, Straight, or double Arms—
Strong Steel Frames, from	4	8
Light do., highest finish, from	10	0
Highest finish Nickel from ... ... Rs. 7-8 to ...	10	0
Do. Silver	16	0

Blue or Smoke-tinted Glass with Power can be fitted in any Eyepreserver frame at a little extra cost.

ROSS Ltd.

Manufacturing Opticians.
111, New Bond St. LONDON.
Established 1830.



TELESCOPES FOR LAND AND SEA.
Used by Naval and Military Officers and Yachtsmen in all parts of the World.

FIELD AND MARINE GLASSES.
Cannot be excelled for brilliance o definition. Prices low. Inspection invited.

PHOTOGRAPHIC CAMERAS.
And Apparatus. Complete outfits for every purpose. Quality guaranteed.

CATALOGUES, FREE BY POST.
Of Lenses, Field Glasses, Telescopes Surveying and Drawing Instruments, Spectacles and Eyeglasses, etc.

New Model Patent, Prismatic Binocular.
The Power of a Telescope in the Compass of an Opera Glass.

Contractor to H. M. Government.
Highest Awards at all Great International Exhibitions.

Sold by JOHN BLEES, Calcutta, Jubbulpore and Lahore. OAKES & Co., Madras. BARTON SON & Co, Bangalore. COOKE & KELVEY Calcutta, Simla and Lahore. TREACHER & Co. Ld., Bombay. ARMY & NAVY Co., Operative Society, Ld., Bombay and Calcutta. J. G. BECHTLER & Co., Allahabad and Mussoorie, and all Leading Opticians and Dealers.

A very Popular

MESS AND CLUB

WHISKEY IN WOOD.

JOHN HOPKINS & Co.'s OLD SCOTCH
Per Gallon Rs. 13-8.
GUARANTEED 5 OVER PROOF.

Supplied in - - -

Original Hogsheads and Quarter Casks.

DEVEREUX & Co., Ld.

Wine Merchants and Mess Agents,

4, BANKSHALL STREET, CALCUTTA; ALSO AT BOMBAY AND LONDON.

Pianos

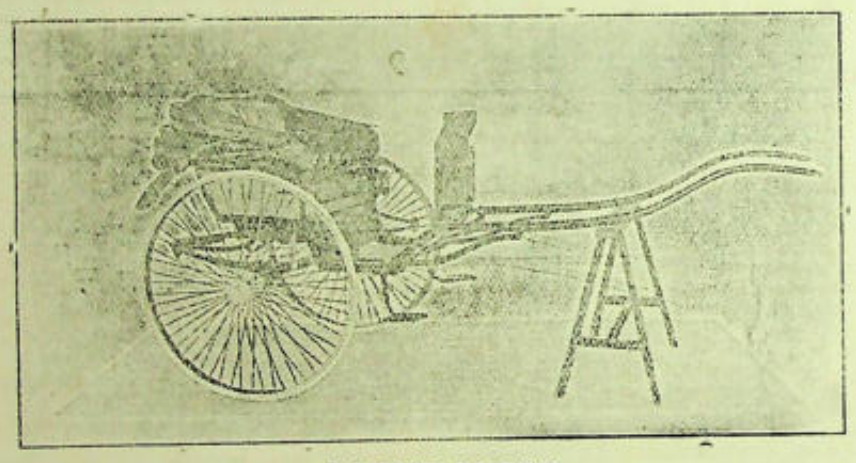
Now being returned from hire, most of them being brand new, are offered at special low prices.

Pianolas

A fresh shipment of these excellent Piano players just received.

Call or write for prices and particulars.

T. E. Bevan and Co.,



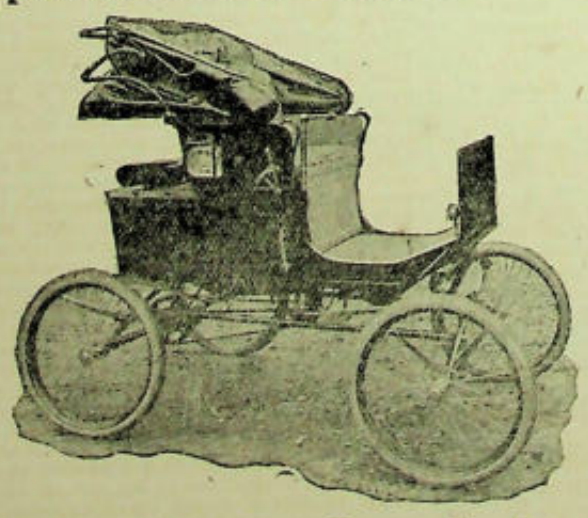
CALCUTTA.

STEUART & Co., Calcutta.

ESTABLISHED 1775.

COACH BUILDERS

TO HIS EXCELLENCY LORD CURZON.



LADY'S BUGGY.

THE

MOTOR TRANSPORT & SUPPLY Co.,

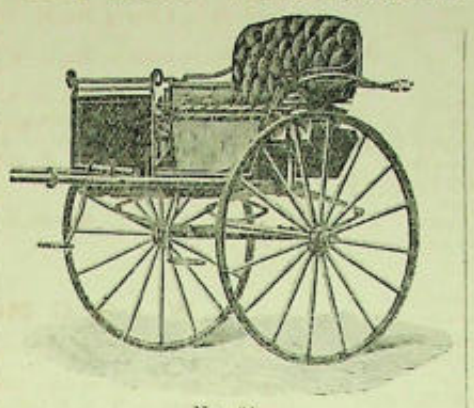
Importers and Suppliers of

Heavy Steam Transport Vehicles of all descriptions.

All types of Motor Cars.

Particulars and Estimate from the Agents :—

SHAW WALLACE & Co.,

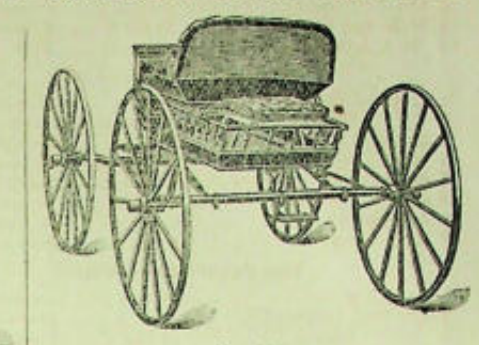


Green Street, BOMBAY.

20, Strand Road, CALCUTTA.

CORTLAND AMERICAN CARRIAGES.

Especially designedfor Indian Use.



VERY LIGHT WEIGHT, GREAT COMFORT, EASY DRAUGHT.

No. 64.

The "Henrietta" Car or Gig.

Light, strong, and very comfortable for one or two persons.
The balance is perfect, the riding easy.
A fine driving Gig; at a moderate price.
Trimmed Leather, and painted dark Green striped Carmine.
Specially adopted for rough roads and hilly districts.
Weight about 2¼ cwt.
Price, trimmed in Leather ... 25 Guineas.
Inclusive of Patent Lamps, Wings and Mat.
Suits horses 14 to 15¼ hands.

No. 096.

THE

"PLANTER'S BUGGY."

Especially designed for Indian and Colonia use. Is supplied in varnished natural wood Trimmed in russet leather, and with hood and side curtains. Has hind seat and step for Syce.

Price as shown ...	...	25 Guineas.
,, with russet hood	...	33 ,,
,, of Lamps extra	...	2 ,,
Pole with whippletrees, for pair horse extra ...	...	5 ,,

Suits horses 14 to 16 hands.

No charge for cases or packing.

DELIVERED TO DOCKS IN LONDON.

Bankers :—London and County Bank, Covent Garden.

Illustrated Catalogues and every information post free from the Makers.

CORTLAND WAGON Co.,

Henrietta Street, Covent Garden, LONDON, W.C.

Cable Address :—"Eligible, London."

Re. 1-12 per pot.

A triumph of Pharmaceutical skill. Of exquisite flavour, readily taken by everybody, and strongly recommended by the profession.

Sole Manufacturers :—

KEMP & Co., Ld.,

Elphinstone Circle, BOMBAY.

Third Day, Saturday, 20th June, 1903.

THE ARAB HANDICAP—9 furlongs.

1	Mr R R S' ...	ch a h	... Safaer
2	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	ch a h	Rubric
3	Lt Col A Sprot's	ch a h	... Harefoot
4	Capt Thompson's	b a h	Pompom II
5	Mr S A Wahed's	b a h	... Dib
6	Mr W F Wormald's	b a h	... Babyboy
7	Mr O Dignum's	g a h	... Defendant

C. B. HANDICAP—1 mile.

1	Mr Liebenrood's	b eb g	... Landwind
2	Col J P Grant's	b eb h	... Prime
3	H H Aga Khan's	br eb m	... Evensong
4	Mr A A Apear's	ch eb g	... Phil

THE ROYAL PURSE—1 mile.

1	Lt Col J Desaraj Urs'	b aus g	... Minimus
2	Ditto	br aus m	... Acme
3	Major H C V Harrison's	b eb g	... Hampton Court
4	Mr A P Symond's	bk aus m	... Cleopatra
5	Major W M Campbell's	ch aus m	... Mary Jane
6	Capt C T Swan's	b aus m	... Bessie
7	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	... Rifleman
8	Mr A Sattar's	b aus m	... Beeces

THE PALACE CUP—1 mile.

1	Mr R R S' ..	bk aus g	... Dumbell
2	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b aus g	Trenton
3	Ditto	ch aus g	Leonidas
4	Major H C V Harrison's	ch aus g	... Glenfield
5	Ditto	ch aus g	... De Wet
6	Raja Venugopal Bahadur's	ch aus g	... Jack O'Lantern
7	Capt F Jollie's	b aus g	... Best Shot
8	Lt-Col H Armstrong's	b aus g	... Knight Templar
9	Mr Liebenrood's	ch aus m	... Latchkey
10	Capt C T Swan's	b aus g	... Viking
11	Major J Vans Agnew's	b aus g	... Corrie Boy
12	Mr R Anketell-Jones'	b aus g	... Ombree
13	H H Aga Khan's	br c g	... Ayrdale
14	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	... Wallgrove
15	A A Apear's	b aus g	... Goldsmith
16	Ditto ...	b aus g	... Malto
17	Mr N C Chowdhury's	ch aus g	... Tecoota
18	Mr Biswas' ...	b aus g	... Promontory
19	Major F C Logan-Home's	ch aus g	... Redoubt

CHAMMUNDI STAKES—1 mile.

1	Mr R R S' ...	b a h	... Surjamal
2	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b a h	... Delight
3	Mr E Sydenham's	b a h	... Syndic
4	Mr R St C Houston's	g a h	.. Dharwar
5	Mr S A Wahed's	b a h	... Salvation
6	Aga S Shah's	b a h	... Oriental
7	Mr O Dignum's	g a h	... Defendant
8	Capt R M Bell's	g a h	... Essex
9	Ditto ...	g a h	... Superb

BANGALORE. H. DONNE, 1st May, 1903. Secretary, Mysore Races.

Ponies.

C. T. C. Measurements.

WELLINGTON.

THE following ponies were classed, aged and measured at Wellington, on 10th April 1903, by the Official Mensurer :—

Pony's Name.	Description.	Owner's Name.	Age.	Height.	Period.
Ambrosine	b aus m	Lt. G. W. F. Phillips	5	14-0	31st Mar. 1904.
Corbett ...	ch aus g	Lt. Hamilton Grace	Aged	14-0½	For life.
Countess..	b aus m	Lt.-Col. J. Desaraj Urs ...	6	14-0½	For life.
Darmali ...	ch a h	Capt C. H. Hopkins	Aged	13-3	For life.
Duchess ...	br aus m	Lt.-Col. J. Desaraj Urs ...	Aged	14-0	For life.
Freda ...	br e m	Mr. R. S. Kindersley ...	4	14-0	31st Mar. 1904.
Lancer ...	ch aus g	Lt.-Col J. Desaraj Urs ...	Aged	14-0½	For life.
May Yohe	b aus m	Lt.-Col. J. Desaraj Urs ...	4	13-3½	31st Mar. 1904.
Nishanbardar	bk aus g	Lt.-Col. J. Desaraj Urs...	Aged	14-1	For life.

BANGALORE.

THE following ponies were classed, aged and measured at Bangalore, on 15th April 1905, by the Official Measurer :—

Chance Shot	ch a h	Mr. R. Anketell Jones' ...	4	15-0½	31st Mar. 1904.
Defendant	gr a h	Mr. O. Dignum	6	13-3½	For life.
Duke, The	br aus g	Lt.-Col. J. Desaraj Urs ...	Aged	13-3½	For life.
Filigree	ch eb m	Capt W. J. Tatam	5	14 1	31st Mar. 1904.
Goldflow	b aus m	Mr A F. Bailey	Aged	14-2	For life.
Harefoot...	ch a h	Col Sprot ...	Aged	14-0½	For life.
Jordan ...	gr eb g	Mysore Gover. - ment Farm ...	4	13-3	31st Mar. 1904.
Lebanon ..	b eb m	Mysore Government Farm ...	4	14-1½	31st Mar. 1904.
Mool Maisie	ch e m	Mr. A. G. Gwyer	Aged	14-1	For life.
Nun Such	b aus g	Lt. D. Williams	6	14-0	For life.
Pardon ...	gr eb m	Lt.-Col. R. G. Jones	3	14-1	31st Mar. 1904.
Phil May	gr eb m	Mysore Government Farm ...	3	14-1½	31st Mar. 1904.
Pride O'Dharamtala	b aus m	Dr. Spooner Hart	Aged	14-1	For life.
Rabbit, The	gr sth afr g	Mr. A. G. Gwyer	Aged	14-0	For life.
Rifleman	b aus g	Dr Spooner Hart	4	14-2	31st Mar. 1904.
Roseleaf ...	dk gr aus g	Mr. T. G. Strickland's	6	14-0	For life.
Spring Wheat ...	br aus g	Mr. G. E. Rickett's	Aged	13-2	For life.

CALCUTTA.

THE following ponies were classed, aged and measured at Calcutta, on 28th April 1903, by the Official Measurer :—

Arizona, ...	b aus m	Messrs. A. Milton & Co.	... Aged	14-1	For life.
Cyclone ...	b aus g	Mr. J. White ...	6	14-0½	For life
Flush ...	gr aus m	Messrs. A. Milton & Co.	... 4	13-3½	31st Mar. 1904.
Hair Trigger	b aus m	Dr. Taylor ...	6	13-2	For life.
La-di-da ...	b aus g	Mr. M. M. Crawford	6	14-0½	For life.
Lady Froud	b aus m	Mr. J. White ...	5	14 0½	31st Mar. 1904
Lucy Grey	gr eb m	Mr. A. N. Das ...	6	14-0½	For life.
Mark	b aus g	Messrs. A. Milton & Co.	... Aged	13-3	For life.
Moonray	gr aus g	Mr. E. A. Woodhouse	... Aged	14-1	For life.
Sunbeam	ch aus g	Messrs. A. Milton & Co.	... 6	14-0½	For life.

W. I. T. C. Measurements.

BOMBAY.

THE following ponies were classed, aged and measured, by the Official Measurer, W. I. T. Club, at Bombay, on the 22nd April 1903.

Horse's Name.	Description.	Owner's Name.	Age.	Height.	Period.
Haydn ...	ch aus g	Mr. R. J. Hunter	8	14-0	For life.
La France	b aus m	Mr. Finch ...	6	14-0	For life.
Russley Rose ...	b aus m	Mr. Kelso ...	5	14-1	31st Mar. 1904.

POONA.

THE following ponies were classed, aged, and measured, by the Official Measurer, W.I.T. Club, at Poona, on the 23rd April 1903 :—

Goodness	b aus m	Major T. P. England	5	13-3½	31st Mar. 1904.
Lady Alys	b aus m	Capt. Lloyd ...	5	14-1	31st Mar. 1904.
Lady Lilian	b aus m	Surg.-General Price A. M. S.,	... 6	13-3½	For life.
Pomfret ...	b aus g	Col. Eccles ...	6	14-1	For life.
Sample ...	br eb m	Mr C. D. ...	4	14-0	31st Mar. 1904.
Vasco ...	g a h	Mr. C A. B. Beatty	4	13-3½	31st Mar. 1904.

Sport in England.

(FROM OUR OWN SPORTING CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Friday, 24th April 1903.

THE TURF.

THE semi-Arctic experiences of the 6th were more than enough for many of the visitors to head-quarters, who returned homewards the next day and it was before a diminished attendance that the reunion was brought to a close. The Craven Meeting of 1903 ended even worse than it had begun, and it will leave an indelible impression on the memories of those who either from choice or compulsion assisted at one of the most uncongenial gatherings of a long and varied series. Ushered in under abnormally cold conditions, the meeting was continued to the accompaniment of blinding snowstorms and a biting wind, and wound up amidst wintry environments. It was long after ten o'clock this morning before the snow which had fallen during the night disappeared from the shady side of the house-tops, and solid slabs of ice were still in evidence wherever the moisture had collected in puddles. True, the sun worked its way through the leaden canopy of snow-clouds in due course, but it only shone fitfully, and a series of terrific snowstorms swept over the Heath during the afternoon, the whole country being wrapped in a mantle of white by the time a move was made homewards.

THE CRAVEN STAKES—Of 525 sovs, for three-year-olds : colts 8st 10lbs, fillies 8st 7lbs ; with penalties and allowances. An M. (one mile 22 yards).

Sir E Vincent's ch c Countermark, by Worcester—Assay, 8st 13lbs ...	W Lane	1
Mr W C Whitney's b c Pan Michael, 8st 5lbs	J H Martin	2
Lord Derby's b c Gay Gordon, by St. Frusquin—Broad Corrie, 8st 5lbs ...	Maher	3
Mr J Musker's William Rufus, 9st 3lbs ...	O Madden	0
,, L Brassey's Saltpetre, 8st 5lbs ...	K Cannon	0
Lord Dunraven's Morgendale, 8st 5lbs ...	Croft	0
Mr T Leader's North River, 8st 5lbs ...	C Leader	0
Duke of Portland's Brauneberg, 8st 5lbs ...	M Cannon	0
Sir R Waldie Griffith's Omar Khayyam, 8st 5lbs	Hardy	0

(Winner trained by R. Day, at Newmarket).

BETTING : 6 to 4 agst William Rufus, 5 to 2 Countermark, 9 to 2 Pan Michael, 100 to 12 Brauneberg, and 20 to 1 any other (o).

Countermark jumped off in front of Saltpetre, Pan Michael, and Omar Khayyam, with Brauneberg and William Rufus in close attendance, and, holding the lead throughout, won easily by four lengths from Pan Michael, who took second place near the Red Post ; six lengths divided the second and third. Saltpetre was fourth, William Rufus fifth, Brauneberg sixth, North River next, and Omar Khayyam last.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA

THE SECOND WELTER HANDICAP—Of 147sovs. Dewhurst Plate Course. 7 furlongs.

Capt Bewicke's br c General Cronje, by Gallinule—Moira, 3yrs, 7st 6lbs ...	O Madden	1
Mr Heinemann's ch m Game Hen, 5yrs, 8st 4lbs	Trigg	2
Lord Howard de Walden's ch h Delacy 6yrs, 8st 8lbs	M Cannon	3
Mr H Heasman's Broadway, 4yrs 8st 11lbs	Halsey	0
,, H E Randall's Wild Apple, 4yrs, 8st 8lbs	Randall	0
Lord Cadogan's Viper, 5yrs, 8st 7lbs ...	Maher	0
Mr H Bonas's a N B. aged, 7st 8lbs ...	Watts	0
,, C Schlesinger's The Wyvern, aged, 7st 11lbs	Hardy	0
Col E W Baird's f by Ayrshire—Haresfoot, 3yrs, 7st	J Hunt	0
Mr L de Rothschild's Ballad, 3yrs, 6st 11lbs	Rule	0
,, J S Morrison's Sunburnt, 3yrs, 6st 9lbs	Knott	0
Sir M Fitzerald's Xyphion, 3yrs, 7st ...	Plant	0
Mr J D Wardell's New Century, 3yrs, 6st 9lbs	Miller	0

(Winner trained by J. Powney at Grateley.)

BETTING : 6 to 5 agst General Cronje, 8 to 1 each Game Hen, De Lacy, and Viper, 10 to 1 A.N.B., and 100 to 8 any other

Won by a short head ; three lengths separated the second and third Time—by Benson's chronograph, 1 min, 28⅘ secs.

THE SECOND YEAR OF THE FORTY-THIRD NEWMARKET BIENNIAL STAKES—Of £651 10s., for four-year-olds ; colts 9st, fillies and geldings 8st. 10lbs ; with penalties and allowances. Last mile and a half of T.M.M.

Prince Soltykoff's br or bl c Coal Sack, by Gold—Black Star, 8st (car 8st 11b) ...	Halsey	1
Mr J B Joel's b c His Lordship, 8st 11lbs...	Maher	2
,, A James's br c Shellmartin, 9st ...	H Jones	3

(Winner trained by Hammond at Newmarket.)

Coal Sack settled down favourite at 7 to 4 and 13 to 8, with 2 to 1 booked Shellmartin and 9 to 4 the third runner, His Lordship.

BETTING : 13 to 8 agst Coal Sack, 2 to 1 Shellmartin, and 9 to 4 His Lordship.

Coal Sack settled down with a clear lead of His Lordship, with Shellmartin last, and, making the whole of the running, won easily by six lengths : three lengths separated the second and third. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2min. 31secs.

Away back in the "forties"—it was in 1848, to be precise—the Great Metropolitan Stakes had to be postponed on account of snow. Not many days ago a recurrence of that catastrophe would have seemed well within the bounds of possbility, but happily the semi-Arctic experiences of the Craven week are over—for the time being, at any rate—and it was under fairly pleasant conditions that the Epsom Spring Meeting was ushered in to-day. Racing on the undulating Surrey Downs holds a high place in the affections of Londoners generally, and those who were present to day were privileged to take part in proceedings of historic interest, inasmuch as owing to a fiasco the Great Metropolitan Stakes had to be run twice over. Many of those who frequent Epsom affect the old-fashioned route by road necessitating an early start, which is vastly to their liking ; but the majority content themselves with the speedier but more prosaic journey by rail. With three different railway companies competing for their patronage, racegoers were overwhelmed with facilities for reaching their destination, and when the time came for opening the ball the attendance all round was found to be up to the average. A chill wind and absence of sunshine rendered winter overcoats still a very necessary article of attire, and though the course bore signs of having been well tended during the winter, and was covered with a plentiful crop of herbage, the surface had been parched up by the recent drought. Owing to the fact that the Great Metropolitan Stakes had to be run twice it was very late before the day's sport was brought to a close.

THE GREAT METROPOLITAN STAKES (Handicap)—Of 935 sovs. About two miles and a quarter.

Major J D Edwards's b h Wavelet's Pride, by Fernandez—Wavelet, 6 yrs., 7st 3lbs (inc 5lbs ex)	Hardy	1
Sir E Vincent's ch f Parody, by Avington—Portree, 4yrs, 7st (inc 5lbs ex) ...	Trigg	2
Mr C Russell's b f Florinda, by Florizel II—Wise Flower, 3yrs, 6st 7lbs (inc 10lbs ex)	Knott	3
Mr C T Pulley's Short Circuit, by Sheen-Illuminata, 4yrs, 6st 12lbs ...	Miller	4
Mr A Stedall's Grand Deacond, by Freemason—L'Exception 5yrs, 7st 4lbs (inc 5lbs ex)	J H Martin	0

The following did not go to the post a second time, but must be considered starters for the race :—

Mr H J King's Prince Florizel, by Polorizel II—Good Hope, 4 yrs, 8st ...	H Jones	0
Mr G A Prentice's Pekin, by St Simon—Lady Yardley, 4 yrs, 7st 12lbs ...	O Madden	0
Mr R Croker's Liquidator, by St Frusquin—Eau d'Or 4 yrs, 7st (car 7st 11b)	Watts	0
Mr T Jennings's Induction, by Victor Wild—Proposition, 4 yrs, 5st 11lbs ...	Dicker	0

(Winner trained by owner, at Ogbourne.)

BETTING : 7 to 2 agst Prince Florizel 4 to 1 Parody 5 to 1 Wavelet's Pride 6 to 1 Pekin, 8 to 1 Florinda 10 to 1 Short Circuit 100 to 8 Grand Deacon 20 to 1 any other (o.)

Liquidator was the first to leave the paddock, and was followed in the parade by Wavelet's Pride, Grand Deacon, Prince Florizel, Pekin, Short Circuit, Florinda, and Induction, with Parody bringing up the rear, the canter being led by Wavelet's Pride and Liquidator. It was 3-20 when the white flag was hoisted, and after a trifling delay Florinda settled down with a slight lead of Wavelet's Pride, Short Circuit, Prince Florizel, and Pekin, with Induction last, till turning out of the straight where Wavelet's Pride took a clear lead of Florinda, Prince Florizel, Short Circuit, and Parody. Half way round the loop Florinda lost her place, and Wavelet's Pride increased his lead to three or four lengths, his nearest attendants being Liquidator, Grand Deacon, and Prince Florizel till crossing the old course. Here Grand Decan ran wide and was followed by Induction and Parody Wavelet's Pride still being in the van, well clear of Liquidator and Prince Florizel, these being some way in front of Florinda, Short Circuit, and Grand Deacon. At the top of the hill Liquidator took second place, with Prince Florizel next, the others being tailed off, but neither could make any impression on Wavelet's Pride, who won easily by six lengths, half a length divided the second and third. Florinda was fourth, Parody fifth, Short Circuit sixth, Grand Deacon next and Induction last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 4mins. 9⅕sec. Trigg, the rider of Parody, claimed the race on the ground that the horses that finished in front of him went the wrong course. This was not disputed, and the stewards decided that the race should be run over again after the Banstead Plate.

FREE DRAWING.
FULL FLAVOUR.
MANUFACTURED BY
PENCER & CO., Ld., Madras.

JAVA DAWSON.

OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.
Sole Wholesale Agents in
CALCUTTA :
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

On going to the post a second time, when only Wavelet's Pride, Parody, Florinda, Grand Deacon and Short Circuit came under the starter's orders, the betting was as follows: 5 to 2 on Wavelet's Pride, 4 to 1 agst. Parody, and 100 to 8 agst any other (offered). The barrier twice refusing to act, Mr. Owen started the field with the white flag, and, after Wavelet's Pride had shown in front of Florinda for a few strides, the latter cut out the work at strong pace from Wavelet's Pride, Parody, and Short Circuit with Grand Deacon last till turning out of the straight. Here Parody went on from Florinda and Short Circuit, with Wavelet's Pride next, till crossing the Derby Course, Then Wavelet's Pride drew to the front and quickly established a six-length lead of Florinda, with Parody and Short Circuit next, and, making the remainder of the running, the favourite was eased inside the distance, with the result that Hardy was nearly caught napping and only won by a neck; a like distance separated the second and third Short Circuit was fourth and Grand Deacon tailed off. Time by Benson's chronograph, 4 mins 12⅕ secs.

THE GREAT SURREY HANDICAP—Of 430 sovs. 5 furlongs.

Mr A Cohen's b h Master Willie, by St David—Fraulein, aged, 9st 7lbs ...	Boardman	1
Mr R Fitz Gerald's b c Duke of Magenta, 4yrs, 7st (car 7st 11lb)	Watts	2
Mr A Stedall's ch m La Lune, aged, 8st 4lbs	O Madden	3
Mr H J King's Orchid, 5yrs, 9st 9lbs ...	H Jones	0
„ G Thursby's Indian Corn, 6yrs, 7st 10lbs	Trigg	0
Major Joicey's Sterling Balm, 4yrs, 8st ...	J H Martin	0
Sir E Cassel's Doctrine, 4yrs, 7st 11lbs ...	H Aylin	0
Mr E Dresden's Nahlband, 5yrs, 7st 9lbs (inc 7lbs ex)	Hardy	0
Sir E Vincent's Clairetta, 3yrs, 6st 10lbs (inc 7lbs ex)	Stewart	0
Mr Ed Lamb's Capot, 3yrs, 7st (inc 7lbs ex)	Plant	0
Duke of Devonshire's Lady Burgoyne, 3yrs, 6st 13lbs	Griggs	0
Mr W C Whitney's Ayrshire Beauty, 3yrs, 6st 8lbs ...	J Jarvis	0
Mr M Pizzey's Wolfshall, 3yrs, 6st 7lbs (car 6st 8lbs) .. -	Miller	0
Mr Jas Lowther's Blesilla, 3yrs, 6st 3lbs .	F Brown	0
Col H T Fenwick's Sea Log, 3yrs 6st 2lbs (car 6st 5lbs)	Knott	0
Mr J W Larnach's f by Deuce of Clubs—Ionia, 3yrs, 6st 2lbs ...	Laybourne	0

(Winner trained by H. Chandler, at Arundel.)

BETTING: 5 to 1 agst Indian Corn, 11 to 2 Duke of Magenta, 7 to 1 Orchid, 100 to 14 Wolfshall, 8 to 1 each La Lune and Sterling Balm, 100 to 8 each Master Willie and Capot, and 100 to 7 any other (offered).

Won by a length; two lengths separated the second and third. Indian Corn was fourth, Wolfshall fifth, Orchid sixth, Nahlband seventh, and Lady Burgoyne next, and Clairetta last. The time of the race was put back ten minutes. Time by Benson's chronograph, 56⅕secs.

Be the weather what it may, London invariably wears something of a holiday aspect on City and Suburban Day, and the denizens of the Southern suburbs were acquainted betimes this morning with the fact that something unusual was happening. Notwithstanding that the wind was bitterly cold, and boisterous to boot, a stream of vehicles, ranging from the lumbering four-horse brake packed with jubilant humanity to the smartly-equipped pony-trap, bright with feminine furbelows, began to flow southwards shortly after eight o'clock, and it is abundantly evident that the old-fashioned method of accomplishing the entire journey by road has not lost one whit of its popularity. The railway companies had to tell the usual tale of a long succession of special trains crowded to their utmost capacity, and though the meeting lacked the royal patronage extended to it a twelvemonth ago, it could hardly be asserted with any degree of confidence that there was any appreciable diminution in the attendance from that of First Principal's anniversary. The weather again fell far short of that usually associated with racing at Epsom towards the latter end of April. Fugitive gleams of sunshine illumined the scene at intervals, it is true, but they diffused little or no warmth, and the environments were neither congenial nor seasonable. Fields ruled large throughout the afternoon, no fewer than ninety-five runners taking part in the seven races, but backers of favourites did none too well, the big race in particular occasioning them serious disappointment.

THE CITY AND SUBURBAN HANDICAP—Of 1,675 sovs. About one mile and a quarter.

Mr Ephrussi's ch f Brambilla by Juggler—Brambling, 3yrs, 7st 11lb	Thompson	1
Mr E L Heinemann's ch m Valenza, by Winkfield—Bellinzona, 5yrs, 8st 4lbs...	O Madden	2
Mr E C Irish's ch h Over Norton, by Adieu—Lady Why, 6yrs, 9st 2lbs (inc 10lbs ex)	Maher	3
Sir E Vincent's Pistol, by Carbine—Wenonah, 4yrs, 8st 4lbs ...	Trigg	0
Mr H I Higham's Royal George (h-b), by Royal Sovereign—Queen Anne, 5yrs, 8st 13lbs	K Cannon	0
Lord Carnarvon's Robert le Diable, by Ayrshire—Rose Bay, 4yrs, 8st 3lbs ...	Watts	0
Capt Laing's Padlock II, by Prisoner—Padua, 5yrs, 8st 7lbs	F Hardy	0
Sir E Cassel's Handicapper, by Matchmaker—Agnes Osborne, 5yrs, 8st 8lbs	Halsey	0
Mr W Goodchild's Scullion, by St Florian \ Cinder, 5yrs, 8st 3lbs	J H Martin	0
Lord Ellesmere's Joshua, by Childwick—None the Wiser, 4yrs, 8st 2lbs ...	H Jones	0
Mr A M Singer's O'Donovan Rossa, by Donovon, dam by Barcaldine, 6yrs, 7st 11lbs	Mustow	0
Duke of Portland's Caro, by Carbine—Nenemoosha, 4yrs, 7st 13lbs ...	H Aylin	0
Mr R W D Jardine's Tar Brush, by Tarporley—Bruyere, 4yrs, 7st 8lbs ...	Miller	0
Mr W M G Singer's Gascony, by Kendal—Gas, 4yrs, 7st 12lbs	Beardman	0
Mr A Stedall's Rayleigh, by St Angelo—Chemistry, 4yrs, 7st 2lbs	Knott	0

(Winner trained in France.)

BETTING: 100 to 30 agst Robert le Diable, 6 to 1 Handicapper, 10 to 1 Brambilla, 10 to 1 Pistol, 100 to 8 Over Norton, 100 to 7 Valenza, 100 to 7 Tar Brush, 100 to 7 Padlock II, 100 to 6 Joshua, 100 to 6 Royal George, 25 to 1 Scullion, 25 to 1 Caro, 50 to 1 Gascony, 50 to 1 O'Donovan Rossa, 50 to 1 Rayleigh (offered).

Joshua was the first to leave the paddock, and he was followed in open order by Over Norton, Brambilla, Royal George, Rayleigh, Valenza, Pistol, Robert le Diable, Scullion, Caro, Padlock II., and Handicapper, the last trio being O'Donovan Rossa, Tar Brush, and Gascony. The canter was headed by Joshua, Royal George, Over Norton, and Brambilla It was twenty-one minutes after time before the white flag was hoisted, and a capital start was effected at 3-3s, the first to break the line being Valenza, on the inside, from Over Norton, Robert le Diable and Royal George, but, on settling down, Handicapper took second place behind Valenza with Robert le Diable and Rayleigh next, in advance of Royal George and Gascony, Tar Brush being next, whilst the last lot were Scullion, Over Norton, and Caro. So they ran to the top of the hill where Brambilla deprived Valenza of the lead, Handicapper and Pistol being in close attendance, whilst Robert le Diable and Handicapper headed the middle division and Over Norton was still the whipper-in, this being the order to Tattenham Corner, where Tar Brush took third place, with Robert le Diable, Handicapper, Joshua, and Over Norton in hot pursuit. Crossing the road, Brambilla was still showing the way to Valenza with Caro and Pistol next, in front of Over Norton, who was making up his ground hand over hand, but failed to get on terms with Brambilla and Valenza, who held their own to the end, the French filly winning by three-quarters of a length, with a like distance between second and third. Pistol was placed fourth by the judge; Caro was fifth, Padlock II. sixth, Robert le Diable seventh, Handicapper eighth, Tar Brush ninth. Joshua tenth, Royal George eleventh, Scullion twelfth, O'Donovan Rossa next, and Gascony last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2mins. 9secs.

THE HYDE PARK PLATE—Of 619 sovs, for two-year-olds; colts 8st 12lbs, fillies 8st 9lbs, with penalties and allowances. Five furlongs.

Lord Howard deWalden's b or br f Flying Footstep, by Galloping Lad—Kitty Grey, 8st 9lbs	M Cannon	1
Mr A L Duncan's b c Brioche, 8st 12lbs	Maher	2
Lord Rosebery's b f Chelys, 8st 9lbs	Watts	3
Mr H Lindemere's Mrs Hawkins, 8st 6lbs	K Cannon	0
Sir E Vincent's Black Peter, 8st 12lbs ...	Trigg	0
Mr A W Merry's c by Orvieto—Ishbel, 8st 12lbs	Halsey	0
Mr R Sherwood's Maldon, 8st 12lbs ...	Plant	0
His Majesty's Plombieres, 8st 9lbs	H Jones	0
Capt G Skeffington Smyth's Footprint, 8st 9lbs	H Aylin	0
Mr W C Whitney's f by Kingston—Ballyhoo, 8st 9lbs	J H Martin	0
Lord Falmouth's Serenade, 8st 6lbs ..	Randall	0

(Winner trained by Beatty, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 11 to 10 on Brioche, 7 to 1 agst Flying Footstep, 8 to 1 Mrs Hawkins, 10 to 1 Chelys, and 100 to 8 any other (offered).

Won by three lengths; a head divided the second and third. Time by Benson's chronograph, 58secs.

The programme for the Sandown Park Second Spring Meeting has once more undergone revison, and the tit-bits of the card have been more evenly balanced. In 1901 the Stud Produce Stakes, Tudor Plate, and Esher Stakes—the three "plums" of the fixture—were all clustered together in the first day's bill of fare, whilst a twelvemonth ago better counsels prevailed, and the Esher Stakes was relegated to the second stage of the entertainment. The arrangement on the present occasion, by which the valuable Stud Produce Stakes dominates the initial afternoon's proceedings and the other two important items constitute the attractions for the next day, is perhaps better still, tending as it does to a more equitable distribution of the prize money. Twelve degrees of frost during the night is hardly a fitting prelude to the enjoyment of outdoor sport, and, though the air in the afternoon was appreciably warmer than it had been before the mantle of rime which wrapped the Park in a snow-like mantle in the morning, it was decidedly chilly for the time of year. A goodly company congregated in the enclosures, and they were rewarded by witnessing a capital afternoon's sport the half-dozen events, of which the card consisted being stoutly contested, whilst backers of favourites had the best of their exchanges with the Ring.

THE TWICKENHAM HANDICAP—Of 439 sovs. One mile.

Mr W G Langland's b f Noblesse, by Rackburn—Noble Countess, 4yrs, 6st 9lbs...	Trigg	1
Mr J Buchanan's b f Sankence, 3yrs, 6st 4lbs	P Purkis	2
Mr F Bibby's br c Blue Peter, 4yrs, 7st 7lbs	Hardy	3
Mr A P Cunliffe' Merry Methodist, aged, 7st 11lbs	B Dillon	0
Mr J Lewis's Happy Slave, 4yrs, 8st 11b ...	K Cannon	0
Mr J Collins's Decave, 4yrs, 7st 13lbs (inc 12lbs ex)	W Lane	0
Mr G Cottrill's Debutante, 3yrs, 6st 7lbs...	A Young	0
Sir M FitzGerald's Happy Match, 4yrs, 6st 6lbs	Plant	0

(Winner trained by W. Nightingall, at Epsom.)

BETTING: 6 to 4 agst Noblesse, 3 to 1 Sankence, 9 to 2 Happy Match, and 10 to 1 any other (offered).

Won easily by four lengths; three lengths between second and third. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min. 46⅘secs.

THE SANDOWN PARK STUD PRODUCE STAKES—Of £1142 10s. for two-year-olds; colts 9st, fillies 8st 11lbs; with certain allowances. furlongs.

Mr L Brassey's b c Merryman, by Bay Ronald—Merry Miser, 8st 5lbs ...	Halsey	1
His Majesty's br c Perchant, 9st ...	H Jones	2
Mr L de Rothschild's b f Pieria, 8st 11lbs ..	K Cannon	3
Sir J Miller's Chanter, 8st 5lbs ...	Maher	4
Duke of Portland's c by Persimmon—Gay Duchess, 8st 5lbs	M Cannon	0
Mr Donald Fraser's Amour, 8st 5lbs ...	Randall	0
Mr W Brodrick-Cloete's Double Cherry, 8st 2lbs	Madden	0

(Winner trained by H. Sadler, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 7 to 4 agst Merryman, 9 to 4 Pieria, 4 to 1 Chanter 7 to 1 Perchant, 8 to 1 Gay Duchess colt, and 10 to 1 any other offered.)

Won by a length; four lengths divided the second and third. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min. 3⅘secs.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1 Clow...ughee, CALCUTTA.

FOOTBALL
ASSOCIATION RULES.

FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION CUP.

BURY vs. DERBY COUNTY.—The last act of another play has been performed, and the curtain has fallen on the triumph of Lancashire. The termination was sensational, the ending altogether different to expectations We had been led—both by public form and general opinion—to look for a close and exciting contest at the Crystal Place on Saturday, the 18th instant; instead we witnessed a one-sided game, a defeat of a most decisive character, a reverse which became as the second stage progressed a veritable rout. Luck was certainly not on the side of the losers, but, after making every allowance, the fact remains that Derby County found in Bury their masters, as they had in previous years in Notts Forest and Sheffield United, only that the fact was brought home with additional force. Prior to Saturday the record register for the Cup final was the 6—1 by which the Blackburn Rovers made a sorry example of Sheffield Wednesday at the Oval in the spring of 1890; but on the present occasion their near neighbours also subscribed half a dozen items, but without consoling award to the vanquished of even one point.

The game started five minutes before the advertised time, and, curiously enough, the Derby captain, on winning the toss, elected to face the wind. It is true that his side had the sun behind them, but this was not glaring enough to be of serious detriment to Bury, for whom Sagar kicked off. Desultory play marked the opening stages, although Plant and Sagar were quickly prominent, the latter sending in a capital high shot, only to be ruled off-side. Derby gained a little ground by having a couple of throws-in, but temporary pressure was relieved by Linsay kicking out. So far, the pace had been singularly slow, but matters livened up when Bury began to worry the Derby defence with long shots from all parts of the team. There was not much sting behind these efforts, but some were very awkward to deal with, while Methven had to be exceptionally smart to clear a header from Johnston. Considering the amount of pressure applied by Bury at this time, the Lancastrians were at fault in failing to press home their advantage Once, indeed, W. Richards lost a fine chance, for he tricked May, and raced Morris, only to make the fatal error of passing across to the left wing, when most favourably placed for shooting. Derby played in disappointing style from the start, and made only a few breakaways in the early stages The right wing was mainly responsible for these, Warrington so easily outshining his colleagues that he might have been more assiduously fed. As it was, Boag played mainly to his left wing, who could do nothing right. The bulk of Derby's attack were finely checked by McEwen whose tackling was brilliant, and placing more accurate than by any other defender on the field. Once, however the old Lutonian was beaten by York, who forced his way through and passed to Warrington, the latter sending a swift shot against the outside of the net. This was a rare piece of play, the like of which, unfortunately, was very seldom in evidence afterwards. Very prominent for Bury was Richards, at outside right After one spirited run he forced a corner off Morris, but the only outcome of this was a feeble shot over the goal line, finishing power still being lacking. A run by Derby's left and centre was spoiled by Boag passing too far ahead, and clean into Lindsay's feet. Off side spoiled an attack by the Derby right, the exchanges at this time time being of a more even nature, although Bury were invariably quicker on the ball. Morris tried a long shot, and at the other end Leeming sent wide of the mark, these incidents being followed by a couple of fouls against Derby, Morris and May being the delinquents, although not very serious offenders. From one of the free kicks, Fryer had to handle, while the second led to rather a poor shot by Sagar, who put the ball right across goal when close up. For a time the play was deadly dull the silence of the huge crowd being almost painfully impressive. The Derby halves took to skying the ball in quite useless fashion, although now and again May was responsible for some very smart tackling. Bury were penalised for a foul throw, and then the ball rolled harmlessly into Monteith's net after the whistle had blown for off-side. At length the disappointed and apathetic crowd were given something to shout about, for, twenty minutes from the start, Bury scored the first goal. Wood was responsible for the preliminary manœuvres, for he dribbled up-field, shaped as if he would pass to his outside man, but instead slung the ball across to the left wing. Here Leeming made a vain attempt to gather a centre that was a trifle too high for him, and the ball went out to Ross who, with a fastish, slanting, and rather low shot, had the satisfaction of beating Fryer. The Derby goalkeepr it might be stated, was none to quick in his effort to get at the ball. The Midlanders went away in good style after this reverse, but Boag fell at close quarters, and could not recover himself in time to accept a pass from the left. A dashing run by W. Richards made a second goal for Bury seem certain, but Sagar let a capital centre go by and Leeming shot from an offside position, Fryer on this occasion stopping the ball in brilliant style. Johnston was hereabouts very conspicuous at half-back for Bury, and he nearly succeeded with one of those "pot-shots" the Lancastrians are so fond of trying For a period of twelve minutes Derby was severely pressed, but, with Thorpe miskicking, welcome relief came, although Lindsay dashed up and easily robbed the Midhanders' left wing. At length, Derby raised a flicker of hope by a really smart bout of passing, in which Boag and Davis were very prominent. It ended in disappointing fashion, however, Worrington being given offside for impeding. Methven, who for once was quite outshining Morris, was deservedly cheered for taking the ball from Sagar's feet, as was Fryer for tipping a difficult long shot from McEwen over the bar. Two corners to Bury proved unproductive, while a series of long shots also came to nothing. The Bury full backs were evidently inspired with confidence, or greatly impressed with the weakness of the Derby forwards, for they played well up the field, and often close, on the half way line. McEwen once robbed Boag in smart fashion, but he followed this with a foul on Warrington. From the free kick Monteith handled, Warrington then shooting recklessly over. Warren also tried a shot, but as the interval approached Thorpe found his best form, and the Bury half-back line became much too good for the Derby attack. A duet by Leaming and Plant was cleverly stopped by Methven and then the Bury outside left made a wild pass in the direction of his full backs Twice Bury were pulled up for offside after which W. Richards forced a further corner off Morris. Shortly before half-time Derby made a gallant effort and a score seemed likely. Capital passing led to Boag getting an opening, but the Derby centre was fouled by Lindsay. Succeeding the free kick, taken by May, Lindsay let the ball go between his legs. It appeared a fatal mistake, for Monteith had no chance. Ross, however, dashed into goal and made a most sensational clearance from under the bar. This was rather hard lines for Derby, for had G. H Richards made the best of a fine opportunity following the free kick, a score would have been certain. As it was, the interval arrived

FULL FLAVOURED.
MADE SOLELY FROM THE BEST INDIAN TOBACCO.
SPENCER & Co., Ld.,
MADRAS.

SIESTAS.

Made in three sizes.
Extras 6 ins. long, Rs. 20 per 1,000.
No. 1. 5 „ „ „ 15 „ 1,000.
„ 2. 4 „ „ „ 14 „ 1,000
FACTORY: DINDIGUL. S. INDIA.

TO ALL BUSINESS MEN!

Why not be "Up to Time" as well as "Up to Date"?

TIME IS MONEY! AVOID DISPUTES!

"FACILE" TIME-STAMP.

(AN ENGLISH INVENTION.)

Impresses the TIME and DATE in an instant, as shewn in the figure, in a perfectly readable manner on a single Clock Dial.

TIME EVERYTHING IN YOUR BUSINESS, COMING IN OR GOING OUT, WITH THIS MACHINE!

By its means the exact moment of the receipt or despatch of telegrams, letters, or other documents parcels, calls, orders, &c., or the exact time of concluding any bargain is recorded. It is, therefore, almost a necessity to Solicitors, Merchants, Stockbrokers, and Forwarding Agents, and in fact, to all business men to whom Time means Money.

An addition to modern Office Appliances, Is Self-inking. Is the most useful and remarkable novelty ever placed before the commercial world.

The name of the Firm using it may be had in combination, and a revolving bar with such words as Received, Despatched, Posted, &c, is provided.

Secure Rapid and certain Reference, and Impress Accuracy on Everything in your Business.

THIS MACHINE JUSTLY HOLDS THE PREMIER POSITION FROM ITS SIMPLICITY, UTILITY AND ELEGANCE.

Supplied to H. M. Covernment Offices; the Asylums Boards; the London Vestries! Great Central Railway, &c., &c.

TRAILL & Co., SOLE AGENTS, CALCUTTA.

with Bury holding an advantage well merited on the run of the play, the half-time score being :—

Bury	...	One goal
Derby County	...	None

A sweeping and pretty run by the whole of Bury's front rank was the first feature of the second half, and this Sagar wound up with a fine shot against the bar, Fryer hitting the ball away as it descended. Leeming followed with a wide shot, and Bury maintained a heavy pressure, being rewarded after three minutes with a second goal. Unfortunately a bad accident to Fryer accompanied this performance, for the Derby custodian came out to meet Sagar, and arrived just too late to prevent a score. The pair collided heavily and both were hurt. Play had to be temporarily stopped while Sagar had a knee attended to, and Fryer's injured thigh was doctored. Sagar resumed after three minutes, but Derby had to play a man short for about eight minutes, Morris going into goal, and Methven being alone at back. Bury were frequently offside after this, but, with eleven minutes of the second half gone, goal number three accrued. This was a rather tame affair, for Morris was beaten in coming out to meet Wood, who had dribbled finely down field, and Leeming shot over his head into the net. A sympathetic crowd loudly cheered Fryer, who pluckily resumed after this. Barely a minute had elapsed after his reappearance, however, when, following a dive down to stop a shot by Thorpe, he was beaten by Wood, who, with a high shot, scored the fourth goal. Derby could scarcely raise a gallop at this juncture, and were hopelessly beaten. With evident pain and difficulty Fryer pushed away a high shot from Wood, and this was followed by a spurt by the Derby left, the resultant centre being badly missed by the other forwards. The second half had progressed twenty minutes, when Derby's misfortunes were added to in the way of yet another goal—the fifth. Morris was largely responsible, for he was seen to be limping at this time, and, in the stead of clearing, he made a weak square kick, the ball untimately going out to Plant, who scored with one of the best (if not the very best) shots of the match. At this stage Fryer retired for good, and disappointed Derby supporters were seen to be wending their way out of the ring in shoals. Morris once more had to keep goal, and again one-back tactics were indulged in. Only three minutes elapsed, however, before Bury set up a record for the Cup competition by making their total six goals to none. This time it was Leeming who kempted Morris out of goal, and with a soft and simple "snick-kick" the forward named tapped the ball into the net. The whistle was kept fairly busy after this owing to frequent offsides against Bury. The leaders did not now appear to make very strenuous efforts to score, but for the most part they busied themselves in keeping their record intact. Derby, more particularly through the agency of their left-wing, made a few creditable expiring efforts. Once, indeed, Monteith handled from a centre in rather clumsy fashion. A header by Leeming against the Derby bar nearly brought about a seventh goal for Bury, some amusement then being caused, by Morris coming a long way out and picking up the ball, several of the players having seemingly forgotten that he was for the time being the goalkeeper. A moment or two before the whistle finally sounded Derby forced a corner, and from this May made a splendid shot, which whizzed past the posts a trifle wide. This was practically the end, "time" subsequently being signalled with Bury possessors of the Cup for the second time in their career, having equalled the performance of Preston North End by going through the competition without losing a goal.

RESULT.

Bury	...	Six goals
Derby County	...	None

THE SCOTTISH CUP.

HEART OF MIDLOTHIAN vs. GLASGOW RANGERS.—In the history of this present season's competition for the Scottish national trophy, the drawn game has bulked largely, and the struggles which took place in the earlier rounds between Celtic and St. Mirren and Dundee and Hibernians have now their counterpart in the ultimate stage, as the undecided match which was replayed at Celtic Park, Glasgow, on Saturday the 18th, was once more closed with honours easy. This failure on either side to bring the game to a definite issue at not only the first but at the second time of asking, is infrequent in the annals of the competition. There were over 20,000 spectators present when the Rangers set off against a slight breeze. In view of the perfect condition prevailing—an ideal day and turf inclined to be fast—the chances of the ex-League champions were decidedly the rosier, but only at rare intervals in the opening half did they touch that standard of excellence which so ensured them a safe passage through the semi-final round, when their friends the Celtic went under. By contrast, the representatives of the East showing good football all over, specially at halfback, forced the pace to its fullest. For the major portion of the initial period they could safely lay claim to the better share of the exchanges. Forward, however, they were not too well served. There was a lack of well-directed and purposeful effort when nearing goal, which made itself evidently wild kicking and general inaccuracy in moments when a little care might have brought about the desired result. Still, the Heart's front line bore the ordeal of comparison with the Glasgow Rangers' quintette, though containing three Internationalists, well, and the play of the Ibrox forward rank was not by any means what it ought to have been. Crossing over as they began, on even terms, the opponents developed a faster game, with which the change of Speedie from inside right to partnering A. Smith had not a little to do Many good chances went abegging this half, and many capital shots, going straight to the mark, met the lucky accident which prevented their finding the net. Both sides improved on their previous exhibition, and the whole of the second "45" was fought out on the keenest and evenest lines. Towards the close the Hearts maintained a steady pressure on he opposing stronghold, which, however, held out to the end time being signalled without a score having accrued to either side,

LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS.

DIVISION 1.

RECORD TO SATURDAY, 18TH APRIL (INCLUSIVE).

	Plyd.	Won.	Drn	Lost.	Pts.	Goals For	Agst.
Sheffield Wednesday ...	34	19	4	11	42	54	36
Sunderland ...	33	16	9	8	41	51	35
Sheffield United ...	34	17	5	12	39	58	44
Aston Villa ...	32	17	3	12	37	54	40
Stoke ...	33	15	6	12	36	45	37
Notts Forest ...	34	14	7	13	35	49	47
Liverpool ...	32	15	4	13	34	64	49
Derby County ...	32	16	2	14	34	48	42
W Brom Albion ...	32	15	4	13	34	50	50
Wolvrhmptn Wnd ...	32	14	5	13	33	48	51
Everton ...	34	13	6	15	32	45	47
Bury ...	31	14	3	14	31	47	40
Middlesbrough ...	32	14	3	15	31	40	44
Notts County ...	34	12	7	15	31	41	49
Newcastle United ...	33	13	4	16	30	40	51
Blackburn Rovers ...	34	12	5	17	29	44	63
Grimsby Town ...	32	8	8	16	24	41	58
Bolton Wanderers ...	34	8	3	23	19	37	73

DIVISION 2.

RECORD TO SATURDAY, 18TH APRIL (INCLUSIVE).

	Plyd.	Won.	Drn.	Lost	Pts.	Goals For	Agst.
Manchester City ...	34	25	4	5	54	95	29
Small Heath ...	33	23	3	7	49	72	35
Woolwich Arsenal ...	34	20	8	6	48	66	30
Bristol City ...	33	16	8	9	40	56	38
Manchester United ...	32	15	7	10	37	52	36
Chesterfield ...	33	14	8	11	36	66	39
Preston North End ...	33	13	9	11	35	55	39
Barnsley ...	32	13	7	12	33	55	49
Burslem Port Vale ...	33	12	8	13	32	55	62
Lincoln City ...	34	12	6	16	30	46	53
Burton United ...	33	11	7	15	29	39	56
Glossop ...	33	11	6	16	28	42	56
Gainsboro' Trinity ...	33	11	6	16	28	40	58
Blackpool ...	34	9	10	15	28	44	59
Leicester Fosse ...	34	10	8	16	28	41	65
Doncaster Rovers ...	34	9	7	18	25	35	72
Stockport County ...	34	7	6	21	20	38	77
Burnley ...	34	6	8	20	20	30	74

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

RECORD TO SATURDAY, 18TH APRIL (INCLUSIVE).

	Plyd.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Pts.	Goals For	Agst.
Southampton ...	30	20	8	2	48	83	20
Reading ...	30	19	7	4	45	72	30
Portsmouth ...	30	17	7	6	41	69	32
Tottenham Hotspur ...	28	14	7	7	35	47	28
Bristol Rovers ...	30	13	8	9	34	46	34
New Brompton ...	28	10	10	8	30	35	34
Northampton ...	30	12	6	12	30	39	48
Millwall ...	28	13	2	13	28	50	36
West Ham United ...	29	9	10	10	28	34	47
Queen's Pk Rngrs. ...	30	11	6	13	28	34	42
Luton Town ...	30	10	7	13	27	43	44
Kettering ...	29	7	11	11	25	32	40
Swindon Town ...	28	9	7	12	25	36	45
Wellingborough ...	29	10	3	16	23	35	56
Watford ...	29	6	4	19	16	34	85
Brentford ...	30	2	1	27	5	16	84

IMPORTANT RESULTS.

THE FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION CHALLENGE CUP. FINAL TIE.

		G.		G
†Bury ...	...	6	bt Derby County	... 0

†At the Crystal Palace.

THE LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP.—DIVISION 1.

Notts Forest ...	...	1	bt Liverpool ...	... 0
Stoke ...	...	2	bt Bolton Wanderers	... 0
Blackburn Rovers	...	3	bt Newcastle United	... 1
Aston Villa ...	...	4	bt Sheffield United	... 2
Sheffield Wednesday	...	3	bt West Bromwich Albn	... 1
Everton ...	...	2	bt Notts County	... 0
†Sunderland ...	...	2	bt Middlesbrough	... 1

†At Newcastle.

DIVISION 2.

Manchester United	...	2	bt Burslem Port Vale	... 1
Stockport County	...	1	dr Preston North End	... 1
Glossop ...	...	2	dr Barnsley ...	... 2
Doncaster Rovers	...	0	dr Leicester Fosse	... 0
Chesterfield ...	...	1	bt Burton United	... 0
Bristol City ...	...	1	bt Gainsborough Trinity	... 0

THE SOUTHERN LEAGUE.—DIVISION 1.

Portsmouth ...	...	1	dr Warford ...	... 1
Reading ...	...	1	bt Queen's Park Rangers	... 0
Luton ...	...	4	bt West Ham United	... 0
Swindon ...	...	3	bt Brentford ...	... 0

MIDDLESEX JUNIOR CUP.—FINAL TIE.

†Hanwell Old Nationals	...	2	bt Harrow Bygd. O.B.'s	... 1

†At Southall.

THE LONDON LEAGUE.—PREMIER DIVISION.

Millwall ...	...	2	bt Woolwich Arsenal	... 0

DIVISION 1.

Queen's Park Rangers	...	2	bt Leyton ...	... 1

DIVISION 2.

G. W. Railway	...	3	bt Hendon ...	... 2
Fulham ...	...	3	bt Wandsworth...	... 0

THE MIDLAND LEAGUE.

Doncaster Rovers Res	...	2	bt Leicester Fosse Res	... 0
Burton United Reserves	...	3	Chesterfield Reserves	... 2
Grimsby Town Reserves	...	4	bt Derby County Res	... 0
Hinckley ...	...	4	bt Gainsbro' Trinity Res	... 0
Parnsley Reserves	...	1	dr Walsall ...	... 1
Whitwick White Cross	...	2	bt Newark ...	... 0
Denaby United	...	6	bt Worksop ...	... 1

THE LANCASHIRE LEAGUE.

Darwen ...	...	2	dr St Helen Recreation	... 2
Barrow ...	...	4	bt Rochdale ...	... 0
Southport Central	...	3	bt Rest of League	... 1

THE SCOTTISH CUP.—UNDECIDED REPLAYED.

FINAL TIE.

†Glasgow Rangers	...	0	dr Heart of midlothian	... 0

†At Celtic Park.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.—DIVISION 2.

Falkirk ...	...	4	bt Hmltn. Academicals	... 2
Motherwell ...	...	2	dr East Stirlingshire	... 2

OTHER MATCHES.

Devonshire ...	...	5	bt Cornwall ...	... 1
Eastbourne ...	...	2	bt The Casuals ...	... 0
Woodford ...	...	1	bt Sittingbourne	... 0
Beddington Corner	...	3	bt Lucerne ...	... 2
Wanstead ...	...	2	bt Willesden Town	... 0
Hampstead Reserves	...	3	bt Guildhall ...	... 0
Carshalton St. Andrew's	...	1	bt Carshalton Park	... 0
Raveley ...	...	2	bt Ealing Swifts	... 0
Aberaman ...	...	2	bt Cardiff ...	... 1
Basingstoke ...	...	3	bt Aldershot ...	... 1
Hove Park ...	...	3	bt Hove ...	... 1
Kirkley ...	...	3	bt Beccles ...	... 1
Ilford ...	...	10	bt Chesham Town	... 0
Melville ...	...	3	bt Alexandra Park	... 1
Brixton ...	...	6	bt Redhill ...	... 0
Newhaven ...	...	1	bt Eastbourne Old Town	... 0
Littlehampton...		1	dr Bognor ...	... 1
St Leonards ...	...	2	bt Hastings ...	... 0
Crawley ...	...	1	bt Hayward's Heath	... 0
Wycombe Wanderers	...	3	bt Southall ...	... 2
Ramsgate Town	...	3	bt Whistable ...	... 0
Maidenhead Norfolkians	...	5	bt Reading Biscuit Fctry	... 2
Wolverhampton Wanderers		3	bt St Mirren ...	... 2
Partick Thistle	...	2	dr Albion Rovers	... 1
Broxburn ...	...	1	dr Alloa Athletic	... 1
Renton ...	...	3	bt Vale of Leven	... 2
Kilbarchan ...	...	3	bt Royal Albert ...	... 1
Stenhousemuir	...	4	bt King's Park ...	... 1
Airdrieonians ...	...	2	bt Port Glasgow Athletic	... 0
Beith ...	...	1	bt Kilwinning Eglinton	... 1
Lochee United	...	1	dr Cowdenbeath	...

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS

LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.

Durable and deliciously fragrant.

LEMON AND DUNSTALL,

1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA

RUGBY RULES.

IMPORTANT RESULTS.

YORKSHIRE CUP.—FINAL TIE.

Castleford (5)	...	0	2	dr Skipton (5)	...	0	2

At Harrogate.

DURHAM SENIOR CUP.—FINAL TIE.

		G.	T.			G.	T.
Sunderland (8)	...	2	0	bt West Hartlepool(5)	...	1	0

At South Shields.

OTHER MATCHES.

Northampton (14)	...	1	3	bt Olney ...	...	0	0
Neath (11)	...	1	2	bt Cardiff ...	...	0	0
Newport (17)	...	1	4	bt Leicester	...	0	0
Devonport Albion (16)		3	1	bt Catford Bridge (8)	...	1	1
Barnstaple (6)	...	0	2	bt Plymouth (3)	...	0	1
Llanelly (24)	...	3	3	bt Bristol ...	...	0	0
Penarth (20)	...	3	2	bt Gloucester (3)	...	0	1
Exeter (13)	...	2	1	bt Pontrypridd (3)	...	0	1
Cheltenham	...	4	0	bt Stroud (3)	...	1	0

BOXING.

JABEZ WHITE (BIRMINGHAM) vs. SPIKE SULLIVEAN (AMERICA).

For the second time in his career Spike Sulivan, of Boston U. S. A., has had to strike his flag to Jabez White, of Birmingham, England. Nine months back the men clashed in a fifteen-round contest at head quarters, which White won rather cleverly on points. Last night the men met again in the same ring under similar conditions, saving that the stake-money at issue was doubled. Spike, as was anticipated, improved on his first display, and more than once the Midlander was rather hard pressed. In every way the contest was in advance of the one fought out in June last. The result, however, was the same, and no good and impartial judge could grumble at the decision given to the Englishman. From first to last the bout was brimful of incident, and, despite the pace at which the men fought, either retained a dangerous hit to the finish, which caused interest to be maintained until the final sound of the gong. Sullivan took the ring as he said he would—far stronger than was the case in the initial encounter. White, too, looked at his best, and naturally he stood up with all the confidence born of previous success. From the outset the cleverness of the Englishman was very apparent. White has, perhaps, never boxed with more skill and cleverness than he did last night, and certainly, so far as this side is concerned, Sullivan surpassed his previous efforts in the ring. It was a case of science on the part of White against dogged pluck and untiring strength and energy on the part of Sullivan. Always in front of a man cleverer than himself, the Irish-American fought and fought in the hope of eventually wearing down his opponent by superior power and his persistent attack. White's straight left-handed jabs he set at naught. They only made him smile and come for more. So willing was the visitor and so gamely did he take what was sent him that at one time it appeared just on the cards that the stronger man might win. White was hard pressed in the eighth and tenth rounds, and hereabout in some distress. Throughout a bustling set to, however, he never once lost his form and wonderfully clever with his foot work and possessed of more speed than his opponent, White in the end gained a hard-earned, yet thoroughly well-deserved victory. As we have said, Sullivan boxed from beginning to end with all the grit and go for which he is noted. In White, however, he tackled the best man he has ever fought in the Old Country, and bearing in mind that he has twice stayed the full course with Jabez, Spike must not take his second defeat too much to heart. He was cheered at the close as loudly as the winner.

The American was first to enter the ring, but was followed immediately afterwards by White, the pair at once shaking hands in the most cordial manner. Sullivan was seconded by Jack Palmer, Jack Kingsland, and Ben Jordan, whilst White had as attendants Eddie Connolly (fresh from his victory over Pat Daly), Billy Plimmer and Alf. Robb, the once well-known cyclist. The gloves were donned immediately, and after the conditions of the match had been explained all was ready for the contest. It should be stated that when Sullivan doffed his coat it was seen that he was wearing a handsome green silk sash, tasselled with gold, and on which were painted a harp shamrocks, this being a present from his backer. When they faced nothing was done for fully half a minute, White, the first to lead, then missing with the left. Three times they clinched and brought warning cries from the referee, after which Spike put the left on the body, the Brum replying with the right between the American's eyes, and, following him into the corner, where he landed with both hands on the jaw, causing Sullivan's head to go back. Out of the breakaway White then dashed the left on to the forehead, following it with a hook left on the jaw, corners being called with White a leader on points and Sullivan having landed very few blows. Facing next time, White was again first home with a hard, straight left on the jaw, following which Sullivan feinted, and drawing White's head, put on a left hook, but with little power behind it. Afterwards he managed to put a hard right on the body, the first good blow he had landed. So far it had been a clever contest, the head and footwork of both men being very neat to watch. To the end of the round they were level. In the third White was again first to strike, the left going on the jaw, but then to the call of time he appeared to hang off and allow his opponent to do the leading. Now and again he slipped himself and endeavoured to get on a hard left, but failed and when Spike tried a hot blow he found that his opponent was extremely clever in getting out of danger. In the fourth White showed excellent form, for he appeared to land on the American with his left hand when he liked. Four times within the space of half a minute he put it on to Sullivan's jaw, but as there was little power behind it no harm was done, and Spike, "chippy" as ever, smiled all the while. In the next Spike showed his real form for the first time, opening with a hard left on the jaw, and following it with a smashing right on the body. This appeared to take a deal of the wind out of the "Brum's" sails, as for a time White could do little. The American quickly noted this, repeatedly measuring his man with the left and trying to bring the right home on the jaw, but to no purpose, Jabez being too clever. After a quiet opening in the sixth round White appealed for a low hit. Then he attempted a heavy left on the face, which, luckily for Sullivan, glanced off his cheek, for otherwise there would have been no more boxing between them for at least that night, the exchanges to the end of the round being very light. Early in the seventh the pair went in for some determined hitting, Sullivan showing that his left hand was useful when he tried to use it. Afterwards, however, White played the careful game, and appeared to be taking a breather. In the eighth came a piece of exciting work for Sullivan, perceiving an opening half a minute before the finish, hooked a hard right on to White's left eye, which caused his opponent to blink and be in difficulties until the end of the round, when his left optic had to be attended to. In the ninth the work was rather quiet, Sullivan finding it impossible to follow up his very damaging hit of the previous round by another, grand generalship by White alone preventing this. In the meanwhile White recovered to such an extent that when they faced next time, so far as condition goes, they were level. The tenth was the most exciting round of the match, for Sullivan, starting with a hard right and left on the body, succeeded it by a strong right on the jaw, which again put his opponent in difficulties. Going after his man, and by every move on the board, Sullivan tried to trick him and land a winning blow, but here the cleverness of White came in, as, notwithstanding being much the worse for wear, he was able to evade his opponent, and, although receiver-general, stand his ground to the end. White partially recovered during the interval but still lacked power when they faced for the eleventh. In this they both took matters easily, except for a few rushes, which were ineffective. In the twelfth the Brum kept his left hard going in fine style, and appeared to have quite recovered his form, this being particularly noticed in the next, when he landed splendid right and left hands on to Sullivan's head. In the fourteenth Sullivan went in with his arms revolving like a windmill. He twice put the left on to White's face, but the Brum was always doing as much as his opponent, and in the last scored nearly all the points, for Spike boxed badly; in fact, tried a number of wild, but not clever rushes, that usually favoured White, who boxed as steadily as ever to the finish of a splendid bout, when he was awarded a thoroughly-deserved victory.

RACQUETS.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS' CHAMPIONSHIP.

FINAL TIE.

HARROW (HOLDERS) vs. RUGBY.—The large and commodious gallery overlooking the match racquet court at the Queen's Club, West Kensington, was crowded to its utmost capacity yesterday afternoon, when Harrow and Rugby met for premier honours. In the result, the Harrow pair who had been coached under the careful eye of "Judy" Stevens, once again carried off chief honours. To those who watched the competition from the start the victory of the Dark Blues came as no surprise, as throughout the couple have shown wonderfully consistent form, and thoroughly deserved their win. The officials were Mr. F. Dames-Longworth (referee), Messrs. M. C. Kemp and H. K. Foster (umpires), and C Holden (marker) Result:—

Harrow (holders) (G. M. Philips and L. M. McLean) beat Rugby (K. Powell and K. M. Agnew) by four games to love (15—4, 15—13, 15—12, and 15—0).

Hands were very small in the opening game, the Rugby boys being frequently put out without scoring, but in the second the Harrow lads, with sequences of aces that never exceeded four, gained victory by 15—13. At the third meeting Philips, playing in wonderfully fine form, added half a dozen aces, and ultimately reached 10—0. Powell had Agnew, however, played up in plucky fashion and made it "eleven all." In a ding-dong finish, however, Harrow went out at 15—12. Philips scored the winning ace, and on continuing his hand in the fourth game he proved in such magnificent form that he ran clean out, eight of the aces being by service, so that the Harrovians won easily, as stated. Time of match, 42mins.

At the close, Mr. F. Collings, representing Messrs. Prossers of Pentonville-road, N., presented the winning couple with a silver-mounted racquet each.

THE WEASEL.

Hunting.

THE OOTACAMUND HOUNDS.

IF there is any truth in the saying about wet weather and good sport coming together, we ought to have begun the season badly. Since the season opened we had not had more than a couple of showers and the downs are in the condition one expects to find them in, in December and January, hard, slippery and dry as dust. When it rains the turf is moist and springy and the scent invariably holding. Jacks, however, seem to be more plentiful than I have known them for several seasons past, and this of course promises well for a good year. We can hardly be said to have dropped into our regular routine as hounds have not been out above half a dozen times and the first advertised meet of the season was held at Golf Corner on Monday, 4th May, at 6-30 P.M. Quite a crowd assembled. Their Excellencies the Governor and Lady Ampthill, who are regular followers, were present, also H. H. the Maharajah of Mysore, Sir George Wolsely, the Maharajah of Vizianagram, Colonel Cunliffe, Major and Mrs. Vans Agnew, Major and Mrs. Georges, Major and Miss Clark-Kennedy, Mrs. Patchell, Major Campbell, Captain Matthews, Misses Irwin, Miss Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Horne, Mrs. Dopps, Miss Sinclair, Mrs. Grath, Colonel Branfoot, Miss Fisher who was given the brush, Miss Bright, Major Logan Home, Mr. Mackenzie, Captain Smith, Captain Milner, Mr. and Mrs. Mullaly, Major and Mrs. Giffard, Mr. Diebenrood, Mr. Smythe, Captain Patrickson, Mr. Thorne, and about thirty others. It was an excellent morning for hounds, for after a short and fast run from Jackal Covert to Baikie Wood hounds hunted in covert for over three-quarters of an hour and finally killed their jack in the open as he was seeking refuge in Dreadnaught, a small covert of wattle. Nothing more was done as the morning was too hot and Sunny and the ground is dry as a bone.

Thursday, 6th May, turned out a very poor scenting day: the rain which fell on the preceding afternoon on some parts of the downs, left the particular piece of country we hunted over, so the ground was dry, though at the start, as hounds were coming to the meet they picked up a line, but were not allowed to hunt. From the meet at Brooklands Captain Fife, the Master, proceeded to show the covert of the same name. This covert has a great reputation for holding jacks and did not disappoint us this morning as a brace or more were on foot directly hounds were put into Covert. The field blind to their own interests galloped wildly round and completely circled the covert, thereby making it impossible for a jack to break. Hounds eventually pulled down the jack in covert: he turned out to be little more than a cub. Though several coverts were visited after this scent was so poor hounds were unable to hunt so that by 9-30 hounds were taken back to kennels.

PYKARA.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA.

Polo.

BURMA POLO ASSOCIATION.

C. T. C. CERTIFICATES.
REPUDIATED.

A GENERAL Meeting of the Burma Polo Association was held at Maymyo Club on Saturday, the 2nd May. The following gentlemen were present: Major Strickland, Major Gordon, Major Taylor, Captain Pearce, Captain Annesley, Captain Johnson, Captain Elliott, Captain Purvis, Mr. Gabbett, Mr. Algie, Mr. Darwood, Mr. Hutchinson, Mr. Gardener, Mr. Waterfield, Mr. Macfarlane, Mr. Stanbridge, Mr. Armstrong, and Mr. Fell, Honorary Secretary.

The minutes of the meeting held at Mandalay on the 28th December, 1902, were read and confirmed.

A motion proposed by Mr. Forteath and seconded by Mr. Jardine was put to the meeting, viz., "That certificates of height given under the C. T. C. rules of racing shall hold good for tournaments under the B. B. A." Major Strickland proposed, and Mr. Macfarlane seconded, an amendment to this proposal, viz., "That no racing certificate of any sort shall be accepted by the B. P. A." The amendment was put to the meeting and carried unanimously. Mr. Forteath's proposal was therefore negatived.

Proposed by Major Strickland and seconded by Major Taylor:—"That the Committee of the B. P. A. shall appoint an Official Measurer at such times and places as may be considered necessary, and that he be empowered to grant certificates of height, either for one year or for life as the case may be, irrespective of the question whether the pony measured is about to be played in a tournament or not. That the Measurer shall have power to reject any pony which in his opinion is unfit to play or has been improperly prepared, and that a pony so rejected shall not be allowed to come up for measurement again under the B. P. A."

The proposal was carried.

Proposed by Mr. Darwood and seconded by Mr. Gabbett "That the Committee of the Burma Polo Association be authorized to purchase a measuring standard." Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

Cycling.

CYCLING IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Friday, 24th April 1903.

FROM one or two articles we have read in the cycle press, one is led to believe that there is a certain section of wheelmen playing up to the reputation of Oliver Twist by asking for "more." The most decisive advantages cyclists have gained as the result of the labour of the joint committee appointed by the National Cyclists' Union, Scottish Cyclists' Union and the Cyclists' Touring Club, in the reduction of fares on the railways and acceptance of responsibility by the companies, should, one would have thought, suffice the greed of the most avaricious cyclist, but there are some who now they have secured their desire in the above direction, seek for a reduction in cloak-room fees. The trouble arises because at a certain London station the cloak-room fee is sixpence, instead of fourpence usually charged for a bicycle for two days. Is the question worthy of further discussion? How many wheelmen in the course of a year make use of a cloak-room? Note one in a thousand, and this being so the controversy in the papers is not worth the space it occupies.

The Spring cycle trade has been exceptionally brisk in all centres of the cycle industry, showing an improvement on last year's output, which in turn topped the total of previous years. Before the recent Easter holidays, special trains were run nightly North and South from Coventry, carrying consignments of cycles to all parts of the country. A rough estimate of the number of machines despatched, gives the total as 2,600, an increase of 1,000 over the returns of Easter last year.

The rider just taking to cycling, is frequently heard to complain of the hard work involved in driving a cycle and the "dead-tired" feeling which comes over his legs after a spin of some fifteen or twenty miles. To these we would give a word of encouragement and a little advice as to how best to overcome the feeling of weariness. In the first place, every novice experiences the same feeling, it is simply the sudden employment of muscles that have previously laid dormant, and which naturally ache when first put to work. The best thing to do when first taking up cycling, is to ride short distances frequently, gradually increasing the journeys to fifteen or twenty miles at a stretch. There is always a tendency to over-do cycling and against this the novice must guard. If a day's journey of eighty or a hundred miles is to be taken, the rider should get fit by taking evening runs of about twenty miles. Runs of this distance for a week or two before the longer journey will put the rider in good condition.

There is a bicycle mystery at Dover. A short while ago, two boys arrived at Dover Castle with a high grade bicycle for General Sir Leslie Rundle, which, they said, had been handed to them by a gentleman to deliver, the gentleman having given them two shillings for their trouble. The General knew nothing about the bicycle. In the afternoon two other boys called at the Castle, stating that a gentleman had asked them to call for the bicycle and take it to him at the Burlington Hotel. Enquiries were made at the hotel, but the gentleman could not be found and although the boys were closely questioned no light could be thrown on the mystery. General Rundle sent the bicycle to the police station to await an owner.

The executive of the Cyclist' Touring Club might well ask themselves the question as to why they should spend money in erecting danger-boards, if cyclists so often disregard them. During the course of the years, several accidents are usually reported caused through loss of control on hills where danger boards exist. The roll for 1903 has already been started by a party of cyclists on tour to Ipswich. A warning board stands at the top of Gun Hill, Dedham, but the cyclists, disregarding the notice proceeded to descend. A member of the party lost control at a point where there is a sharp bend in the road, and at the foot of the hill was thrown right through a cottage window, receiving such injuries as to render him unconscious for the long space of twelve hours.

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

QUILL SPECIAL REEDS.

Head Office: MADRAS.
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta:
MESSRS. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

SURPLUS BOOKS.

Many Thousand Surplus Copies of Books always on sale (second-hand).
Also Books specially bound in Half Pig-skin, selected from the works of popular Authors, suitable for Garrison Libraries.
High-class Selections of the newest Books made for Libraries and Officers' Book Clubs.
All the Leading Periodicals obtainable, new or second-hand.
Newspapers supplied on Subscription, payable in advance.
All Lists of Books and Magazines on Sale—sent Post Free on Application.

MUDIE'S LIBRARY,

30-34, New Oxford Street, London.

One of those deplorable highway assaults on cyclists which now and again take place in this quiet country of ours, as a reminder to reformers that their work of civilizing the dregs of the populace is still incomplete, occurred in Cheshire, when a wheelman was set upon by three roughs, and besides being brutally treated, robbed of all his possessions. The wheelman, a groom in the service of Colonel Walker, was cycling home late at night when the three men attacked him by kicking him off his machine. We are glad to learn that the miscreants who were returning from the Tarporley races, have all been captured by the police, who upon hearing of the assault immediately pursued them in a trap.

The Dean of Norwich has a very high opinion of the style and grace of lady cyclists, since, when speaking at a recent meeting, he is said to have remarked that he had hardly ever seen a lady upon a bicycle who did not present to his eyes at least a type of dignity and grace, and how to do the best thing with the least possible friction to other people. The reverend gentleman must have peculiarly accommodating eyes, for although we admit that some of the fair riders are uncommonly graceful when riding, a good proportion of them are—well, just a little awkward.

As a pastime, motor cycling is now firmly established, and the number of enthusiasts are sufficiently numerous to warrant a paper solely devoted so their interests, and to the special subjects concerning them. The new paper, The Motor Cycle, solely devoted to motor cycling, is therefore very welcome. In its early days motor cycling was regarded as a special branch of cycling or motor carring; but it has developed with such rapidity that it is impossible to adequately deal with in a cycle or motor car publication, as there are numerous people within the ranks of motor cyclists who are not much interested in the "pushbike," and who are quite aware that the motor car, even in its most inexpensive form, is entirely beyond their reach from a monetary point of view. The first issues of The Motor Cycle are excellent, and augur exceedingly well for the new paper. We wish it all success.

It is quite expected, though not absolutely certain, that the King will witness the Gordon-Bennett race on the occasion of his forthcoming visit to Ireland. In any event Royalty will be represented by the Lord Lieutenant, who recently requested Mr. R. Wallace and Mr. Orde to wait upon him in order that they might lay before him details of the arrangements for the Irish Fortnight, and particularly of the Gordon-Bennett race. At the interview Lord Dudley made the interesting announcement that he intends witnessing the start and finish of the race from the Automobile Club's enclosure on the course. He also intimated his intention of giving a garden party on Saturday, 4th July at the Viceregal Lodge, in the Phœnix Park. The official support that is being given by the Irish Government to the Gordon-Bennett race will conduce considerably towards securing a successful event.

Football.

FOOTBALL IN CALCUTTA.

DALHOUSIE vs. CALCUTTA.—These teams met on the Dalhousie ground last Saturday and a fast and even game resulted in a draw of one goal each. The home forwards ran down from the kick off, but the Calcutta backs relieved and Stewart and Fyfe brought the ball into the home territory. Stewart kicked it out and the home team took up the attack, Buckley having to save on two occasions. They then forced a corner, and though Echlin placed well Calcutta got away. Bushby relieved and the home forwards attacked obtaining another corner. They continued to press and from a mêlée Stimson scored. After the interval the visitors began to play up and several combined runs were made. V. Sherman put the ball through on one occasion but was ruled offside, the home team got away from the free kick and Echlin sent in a hard shot which Buckley saved Calcutta again attacked and Pyper was tested twice before V. Sherman scored the equalising goal. The game ruled very even to the end, the resent in a draw as stated. Teams :—

DALHOUSIE.—Pyper, goal; Margrett and Bushby, backs; Morrow, Phelps, and Dalling, half backs; Echlin, Rosser, Watts Stewart, and Stimson, forwards.

CALCUTTA.—Buckley, goal; Stevens and Dennis, backs; Maunder, Crawford and V. Sherman half-backs; H. Sherman, Gould, Birkmyre, Fyfe, and Stewart, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. Walker, D. F C.

CALCUTTA vs. A. and S. HIGHLANDERS.—Played on the Calcutta ground on the 12th instant, the game resulting in a draw The Highlanders were undoubtedly the better team and had it not been for the splendid goal-keeping of Buckley Calcutta would have lost the match. The visitors started the game with a rush to the Calcutta twenty-five and though it was stopped they soon returned and a hard shot by Jardine was saved. The home team then put in some good work, Sherman getting away, but his shot failed. The soldiers came down again, but offside against them gave Stewart a chance and he forced a corner The Calcutta goal was then besieged, but Buckley saved in grand style and Cooper getting away passed to Fyfe, who scored for the home team. Both goals were attacked in turn and it was not long before Lambie put the ball through for the Highlanders equalising the score. On resuming after the interval the military team seemed to have the best of matters and several shots were sent in, all of which the home custodian managed to save. The Calcutta forwards then took the ball down, but it was returned and a scrimmage in front of the home goal followed, the pressure being relieved by offside against the visitors. The Calcutta forwards again ran down and Cooper and Stewart put in a couple of hard shots which Coventry saved The Highlanders then attacked and when time was called were still pressing. The game ending as stated in a draw of one all. Teams :—

CALCUTTA F C.—Buckley, goal; Todd and Denniss, backs; Maunder, Crawford and Gillespie, halves; V. Sherman, Cooper, Birkmyre. Fyfe and Stewart, forwards.

93RD HIGHLANDERS.—Coventry, goal; Wallace, and Mulholland, backs; Auchinvale, McGowan and Mowat, halves; Lockhart, Lambie, Jardine, Montgomery, and Hogg, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. Batho, Calcutta Rangers.

CALCUTTA GOLF CLUB.

FOURSOMES COMPETITION.

This tournament has just been conducted on the Maidan links and as usual provided a good deal of interest, the result being in considerable doubt throughout The handicapping worked out very well, and many of the couples proved remarkably well matched, halved games being quite common The winners eventually turned out to be Messrs. E. J. Wright and E. A Wild, who had a handicap of two strokes on the nine holes, and who beat Messrs A. Duff and H. R. D Munn (handicap 5) by 3 up and 1 to play after a good and close game on Saturday afternoon last Ties were 9 holes each in the preliminary rounds, and 18 as usual in the final, and the results of the various matches will be found below.

FIRST ROUND.—Mr G Harvey and Mr R Lean (2) beat Mr J Laidlaw and Mr R W Hutchinson (3) by 4 up and 1 to play.

Mr C Little and Mr H P M Rae (1) beat Mr W T Reid and Mr E L Maples (4) by 3 up and 1 to play.

Mr G P Harris and Mr E Watson (4) beat Mr H B Pike and Mr W D Cowan (4) scratched

Mr T Drimmie and Mr J M Annan (2) beat Mr G W Walker and Mr J H Hechle (1) by 2 up and 1 to play.

Mr D A'Cuthbert and Mr H E Chappel (4) beat Mr J R Boyes and Mr H W Dick (4) by 1 up after a tie

The following had byes :—Mr C P Lomax and Mr W Abernethy (4). Mr C Engel and Mr A D Wilson (4). Mr A Duff and Mr H R D Munn (5). Mr J Parrott and Mr E A Woodhouse (4). D K Hall and Mr T B Peterkin (1). Mr J A Robertson and Dr W Forsyth (3) Sir Allan Arthur and Mr D Drimmie (4). Mr E A Lyon and Captain J M Burn (2). Mr E A Wild and Mr E J Wright (2). Mr A M Urie and Mr O W Williamson (1). Mr F H Stewart and Mr E S Ezekiel (2).

SECOND ROUND.—Mr C Engel and Mr A D Wilson (4) beat Mr C P Lomax and Mr W Abernethy (4) by 2 up and 1 to play.

Mr A Duff and Mr R D Munn (5) beat Mr J Parrott and Mr E A Woodhouse (4) by 2 up and 1 to play.

Mr D K Hall and Mr T B Peterkin (1) beat Mr J A Robertson and Dr W. Forsyth (3) by 4 up and 2 to play.

Mr G Harvey and Mr R Lean (2) beat Mr C Little and Mr H P Rae (1) by 3 up and 2 to play.

Mr G P Harris and Mr E Watson (4) beat Mr T Drimmie and Mr J M Annan (2).

Mr D A Cuthbert and Mr H E Chappel (4) beat Sir A Arthur and Mr D Drimmie (4) by 1 up

Mr E A Wild and Mr E J Weight (2) beat Mr E A Lyon and Captain J M Burn (2) by 3 up and 2 to play.

Mr F H Stewart and Mr E S Ezekiel (2) beat Mr A M Urie and Mr R W Williamson (1), scratched

THIRD ROUND.—Mr A Duff and Mr H R D Munn (5) beat Mr C Engel and Mr A D Wilson (4) by 2 up and 1 to play.

Mr G Harvey and Mr R Lean (2) beat Mr D K Hall and Mr T B Peterkin (1) by 3 up and 1 to play

Mr D A Cuthbert and Mr H E Chappel (4) beat Mr G P Harris and Mr E Watson (4) by 3 up and 2 to play.

Mr E A Wild and Mr E J Wright (2) beat Mr F H Stewart and Mr E S Ezekiel (2) by 3 up and 2 to play.

FOURTH ROUND.—Mr A Duff and Mr H R D Munn (5) beat Mr G Harvey and Mr R Lean (2) by 3 up and 1 to play.

Mr E A Wild and Mr E J Wright (2) beat Mr D A Cuthbert and Mr H E Chappel (4) by 2 up.

FINAL.—Mr E A Wild and Mr E J Wright (2) beat Mr A Duff and Mr H R D Munn (5) by 3 up and 1 to play, on 18 holes.

A special general meeting of members was held at the Pavilion on Friday, 8th May Mr. J. G. Dickson, captain of the club, being in the chair, to elect an Honorary Secretary and Treasurer in succession to Mr. A. M. Urie, who has gone home under doctor's orders. After some discussion Mr. T. Drimmie undertook the duties of Honorary Secretary and Mr. T. B. Peterkin those of Honorary Treasurer until the end of the current season.

Lawn Tennis.

CALCUTTA C.C. TOURNAMENT.

We give below the results of this annual competition which has just been concluded on the Club courts in the Eden Gardens Messrs J. Harvey and F. C. Danger eventually proved to be the winners and their success was very popular, especially as Mr. Harvey has taken much trouble in superintending the lawn tennis arrangements at the club this season. Both have improved their game very considerably of late, and they had no difficulty in disposing of their various opponents, though their opponents in the final, Messrs R. A. B. Reynolds and R. C Allen made a good fight against them in the first set. Scores :—

FIRST ROUND.

F C Danger I Harvey	(+15) beat	W H Michael H E Olphert	(scr) 6-3, 0-1
A Hinds A Preston	(owe 15-3) beat	W C Dennis A Willis	(+15-3) scratched

The following had byes :—J. H. Hechle and T. Curtis Hayward (owe 15), E. Zimmerman and W. G Stewart (owe 3-6/15), H. A. Danks and H. M. Given Wilson (plus 2-6/15), A E. Danks and E. Walker (plus 15), E. A. Wild and C. M. Bassin (plus 15-2), R. Connew and M. J. Berry (scratch), F. P. B Wood and H. A. S. Evatt (plus 15), H. V. Low and T. R. Theakston (plus 3-6, 15), M. R. Quin and G. S. E Colville (owe 15, 3), T. A. Magnus and G. L. le Sueur (plus 15), R. A. B. Reynolds and R. C. Allen (scratch), F. W. Smyth and R. Smyth (plus 3-6, 15), F. H. Stewart and T. B. Peterkin (plus 2-6, 15), and A. Birkmyre and R. B. Wilson (plus 15-2).

SECOND ROUND.

Hechle Curtis Hayward	beat	Zimmerman W G Stewart	6-4, 6-3
A E Danks Walker	beat	H A Danks Given Wilson	6-2, 6-3
Wild Bassin	beat	Connew Berry	6-1, 6-3
Harvey Danger	beat	Wood Evatt	6-2, 2-6, 6-4
Hinds Keston	beat	Low Theakston	—
Colville Quin	beat	Magnus Le Sueur	6-2, 6-2
Reynolds Allen	beat	F W Smyth R Smyth	6-0, 6-2
F H Stewart Peterkin	beat	Birkmyre R B Wilson	6-4, 4-6, 5-3 5-7, 6-3, 6-4

THIRD ROUND.

A E Danks Walker	beat	Hechle Curtis Hayward	6-4, 6-4
Harvey Danger	beat	Wild Bastin	6-4, 6-2
Colvile Quin	beat	Hinds Preston	4-6, 6-2, 6-3
Reynolds Allen	beat	F H Stewart Peterkin	6-1, 6-3

FOURTH ROUND.

Harvey Danger	beat	A E Danks Walker	6-3, 6-0
Reynolds Allen	beat	Colville Quin	6-0, 6-4

FINAL.

J Harvey F C Danger	(+15) beat	R A B Reynolds R C Allen	(scratch) 8-6, 6-0

BOMBAY GYMKHANA TOURNAMENTS.

The Doubles Tournament ended on Saturday 8th May in a win for Messrs. Jacob and Crichton as per full details below :—

H'cap.

Francis and Caine ...	+	½	15	Bye	Bromley and Reid	Jacob and Crichton 4-6 ; 6-2 ; 6-2	Jacob and Crichton 6-1 ; 6-4.
Bromley and J. Reid	+	15	½	Bye
Powell and Hart ...	+	½	15	Jacobsand Crichton 6-4 ; 3-6 ; 4-6.
Jacob and Crichton	+		15		Jacob and Crichton 6-3 ; 6-3.
Kast and Coombs ...	+	½	15	Thomson and Cheetham 3-6 ; 3-6 ; 6-1.
Thomson and Cheetham...	...	—	30
R Reid & Innes-Ker	+	½	15	Harrington & McCausland 6-0 ; 6-3.	Ross and Reid 6-4 ; 0-6 ; 6-3	Ross and Reid 6-4 ; 6-4.
Harrington and McCausland ...	Scr.			Bye.
Ross and W Reid ...	—		30		James and Moore 6-5 ; 6-4.
James and Moore ...	+	½	15	Bye.
Rumboll & Thomas	—		15	Bye.

Bowls.

Howrah Bowling Club vs. Calcutta Golf Club.

The third match of the series was played between these two clubs on the Howrah green last Saturday, and again the Calcutta men met with a severe defeat. Mr. Drimmie's rink made a great struggle, and Mr. Hannah's rink also did fairly well, and would have done better had their skip been in his usual good form, but the Howrah men all round were too good for their opponents ; and it behoves the latter to make an effort to get together a repesentative team on Saturday week when the Howrah bowlers will come across the water to try conclusions once more on the Calcutta green. Results.

Howrah Bowling Club.		Calcutta Golf Club.
		Rink No. 1.
W W Shanks		Dr Forsyth
H Oxford		W Ross Smith
L McLaren		W T Reid
		W S G C Dickson
J M Gilmour (Skip)	... 17	(Skip) ...	... 4
		Rink No 2.
J M Macfarlane		J R Stewart
J D Ness		N Mitchell Innes
T Maxwell		J G Hewit
J Patrick (Skip)	... 19	G S Hannah (Skip)	... 14
		Rink No. 3.
G D Gray		John Smith
R Russell		D Drimme
M M King		W D Steven
R Spiers (Skip)	... 17	T Drimmie (Skip)	... 15
Total ...	... 53	Total ...	... 33

Majority for Howrah—20 points.

Swimming.

THE CALCUTTA SWIMMING CLUB

Friday May 8th 1903.

THE Calcutta Swimming Club held a two lengths handicap on 8th Friday instant, when some very good racing was witnessed, and considering that it was the first race of the season the handicappers are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts. Thirteen competitorrs faced the starter and results were as follows :—

		First Heat. Start.	Nett Time.
1	K M Kennedy	... 5 secs	51¼ secs
2	F T Blockley	... 12 „	59 „
3	A L Cox ...	... 9 „	57 „
4	A E B Siddons	... 6 „	54½ „
		Second Heat.
1	C W L King	... 8 secs	53 secs
2	H M Sherman	... scratch	45½ „
3	H G Remfry	... 13 secs	60 „
4	J M Pannan...	... 17 „	not taken
5	L H Whelan...	... 17 „	did not finish
		Third Heat.
1	J Chaplin ...	... 16 secs	60¾ secs
2	G Brown ...	... 5 „	50 „
3	H L Harvey	... 7 „	53½ „
4	W S J Willson	... 10 „	56½ „
		Final Heat.
1	J Chaplin ...	... 16 secs	61 secs
2	C W L King ...	... 8 „	53½ „
3	K M Kennedy	... 5 „	not taken

The next event will be a three lengths (100 yards) handicap to be held on Friday, 22nd current.

The Naturalist.

BIRDS, WOMEN AND MEN.

THE speakers at the Birds Protection Society's twelfth annual meeting, held in London, did not in course of their remarks cover any very novel ground—it would indeed be surprising had they been able to adduce any new arguments—but more attention than it has heretofore received was bestowed on the East Indian plumage trade. Lord Curzon's action in checking this trade, coupled with the enhanced interest in this country awakened by the Durbar, was perhaps answerable for the preference given ; but inasmuch as this trade is organised and, we may suppose, profitable it was inevitable that the speakers should tread heavily on somebody's corns and rouse the victim to reply. The Society by its speakers and pamphlets appeal to women to make an end of the fashion of wearing feathers on the familiar pleas that it encourages and stimulates cruelty and decimates the bird population in the interests of unthinking vanity. The appeal touches one Harold Hamel Smith on the tenderest point, the pocket, and he gives his reply to the world through the London papers. We have no great admiration for the fashion of wearing plumage in hats, but recognising that there are two sides to every question we are disposed to give Mr Smith an indulgent hearing : he says that he is a member of the firm which "practically started this trade in East Indian birds and has been 40 years engaged in it :' and he defends the industry on the ground that "there is nothing objectionable or really cruel in it." It must be allowed that Mr. Smith and those who think with him can make out a very fairly good case to support their views ; put in the fewest possible words they argue that it is as permissible to kill a bird for its plumage as to kill it for its flesh, and he were a brave advocate who should urge that there is more cruelty in killing the bird for one purpose than in killing it for the other Cruelty, as we venture to think, should be measured in this case by the degree of pain inflicted : and if the Society for the Protection of Birds wish to prove that the trade should be stopped in the interest of humanity they must in consistency prove that a bird shot for its plumage suffers more than it would do if shot for food. We fear that were this the only narrow issue involved the Society's case would be a bad one. It is, however, not the only issue involved : the Society bases its main attack on the ground that certain species, more particularly we believe the familiar paddy bird, are killed by the native feather collectors during the breeding season when the adornments of the bird are at their best development : and that the killing of these entails the starvation of nestlings. This is an argument that cannot well be disposed of offhand : to arrive at the real truth we must have two sets of facts before us ; one, which the ornithologist could supply, to tell us (a) at what season of the year the plumage of brightly coloured birds in demand for the market is at its best ; and (b) how long that plumage is worn ; or in other words, what proportion the nesting and rearing season bears to the whole period during which the plumage is at its best. The other set of facts must come from the wholesale plumassiers who receive the feathers and prepare them for shipment ; they could tell us in which months of the year they receive the largest and best (from their point of view) consignments of feathers from their local agents. If those who are engaged in the trade wish to undermine the weightiest argument brought by the Society against their industry they will set themselves to tabulate returns and show that the killing of adult birds does not involve as a direct and immediate result the death from starvation of nestlings. The Society's spokesmen make the slaughter of parent birds their trump suit and heretofore nobody has come forward to correct or contradict them.

Mr. Smith is silent on this point ; we do not suggest for a moment that his silence is due to knowledge that the breeding season is the killing season par excellence ; it is very possible that although engaged in the feather industry he is no naturalist and is not informed concerning the inter-relationship of breeding and plumage development. He takes up another line of defence. He says that the natives destroy the birds to save their paddy and wheat crops from depredation: that they eat the bodies and profit further by selling the skins. This is the defence of a practical man : nobody will deny that the depredations of such birds as the green parakeets are serious in the ripening grain ; the bird scarers' office as harvest time draws near is no sinecure. We are not greatly concerned to know what becomes of the birds which the native shoots or traps in defence of his crops. The ryot's existence is not one of luxury at the best of times : and if he eats the meat of his victims and further realises a few pice by the sale of their skins we can only say we are very glad to hear it and sympathise with him if the prohibition of the feather trade has contributed to reduce his pitifully small means of livelihood. Mr. Smith must not, however, ask us to believe that this defence holds good for all plumage birds ; we are accepting it for grain and fruit-eating genera, but we must ask for some other defence in the numerous cases of birds which live on animal matter, on the lower forms of life which are detrimental to the crops. The Aryan brother does not, we apprehend, exercise a nice discrimination in the matter, more especially when the skin of a useful species is equally with that of a harmful species a marketable asset The question in fact is less simple than either the Society for the Protection of Birds or the spokesmen of the plumage trade would have the world believe ; it is on the other hand a very complex one involving many considerations and practical interests, and deserves closer investigation than it has received. It would be an impossible task to teach the natives of all parts of India which birds are useful to him and which harmful ; nor would the birds profit much by his knowledge if it could be drilled into him : but it would be possible to deal with the matter at the other end of the business and discriminate between feathers, which may be exported as those belonging to injurious species, and others which may not form an article of commerce, as belonging to beneficent species. Check the export trade in the latter class of plumage and the step will in course of time make itself felt among those who collect for local agents.

With the wider issues opened out by the much debated question of "murderous millinery" we have little inclination to deal here. The point raised by Mr. Smith concerning the propriety of killing pheasants, partridges and even the domestic animals for the table is too academic to touch. It is, as we have suggested, permissible to argue that if humanity permits the deprivation of life for one purpose it is illogical to object to it for another : the defenders of the fashion of wearing feathers for decorative purposes might go a step further perhaps and argue that it is more pardonable to gratify an æsthetic taste by wearing pretty feathers than to gratify a gross appetite by eating pheasants or other game birds ; but into these questions we do not go : they may be decided to the satisfaction of one party or the other, but no decision will lead to practical results. one way or the other. The most glaring want of logic in this connection, to our mind, lies in the denunciation of the feather industry by people who in their own persons advertise the fur industry. We should like to know whether the Duchess who adressed the Society's meeting in the interests of the pretty birds wore on the occasion a sealskin coat, a jacket trimmed with chinchilla, whether she had on a set of priceless sables, a caracal coat—or what : also what proportion of the ladies present wore furs ; and whether those furs were worn because they are beautiful and becoming or because the textile industries of the twentieth century have failed to produce a material warm enough to wear during a very mild English winter. We heard much concerning the decadence of the fur seal "fisheries" a few years ago : but unless memory plays us very false nothing was said about the inhumanity of driving seals by the score to convenient spots to club them over the head preparatory to flaying. The seal industry is an important one and will continue to be so while sealskin maintains the popularity it has enjoyed for generations : and the Commission appointed to visit the Islands in the Northern Pacific went about their business with the object of rescuing an industry from the perilous state to which excessive killing had reduced it. In the name of elementary consistency therefore let us see the feather trade, in so far as this country is concerned, put on a basis beyond the reach of unreasonable sentiment and hysterical denunciation. Prohibit, if it be thought desirable, the export of skins and feathers of birds beneficial to agriculture, as trade produce ; but discriminate between these and the skins of birds whose numbers and tastes are detrimental. The interests of mankind must come first despite the shrieks of those well-meaning people who range themselves always on what they call "the weaker side" wholly regardless of practical considerations. Mundane affairs are guided not by the heart but by the head.

Oo Saik.

The Story Teller.

NATIVE SUPERSTITIONS.

(Continued from page 23.)

AS children at home we have heard of the jackal as the lion's provider, and out here we have its counterpart, according to popular superstition, in the Fisow, Phéow, or as the Mughs call it the Khé-wá-gyá. Eighteen years or so ago, I wrote about this in one of the Calcutta papers. During the seventies controversy waxed high as to what animal it was that made this cry. One party declared it was some peculiar animal as yet undiscovered ; another party asserting that it was the ordinary jackal startled by the proximity of stripes or spots, while a third maintained with equal certainty that it was a jackal gone mad, or suddenly startled by anything. A mass of evidence collected from my friends, men whose veracity is undoubted, as well as my own experiences have proved conclusively that any sudden close danger will cause the common jackal to emit this call, but that they will not keep it up for very long unless caused by the presence of one of the larger felines.

There is, however, another point which requires clearing up. I have heard the cry where there were no jackals within fifty or sixty miles, in fact where they had never been known. What caused it then? Well, I have brought up some two or three tiger cubs and several leopard cubs, and my experience is that they make a variety of noises, and though I have not heard them make this noise exactly, still I have heard something like it, but not loud enough to be heard for any distance. These two last facts confirm my belief that the Phéow call is given both by jackals when started and by tigers and leopards. I know of no sound so weird or creepy, not even the call of "Shere Khan" himself.

I have often heard it as I lounged in my easy-chair after dinner. There may have been one or two packs of jackals, some far, far off, some quite close making night noisy with their howls, barking deer, or a night bird might have been adding to the concert, dogs might have been barking, but as that call rang out on the night all was hushed, the jackals howl in mid-crescendo and the dogs yelp. The silence was always sudden and awful, and then the wailing cry would wander about, now here, now there, now quite close in front of one, now seemingly miles off behind, till one felt that it was a veritable lost spirit bewailing its lost opportunities. It is this very rapid change of place that adds to its weirdness, for no animal could move about so quickly, yet never more than one is heard at the same time.

* * * * * *

The Mugh's yarn is that once upon a time (to begin in the orthodox manner) the Khé-wá-gyá and the tiger were not only firm friends, but related, for the former used to call the latter "uncle," and many a day's good hunting, and many a mighty feast, on juicy buck or rich fat pig had they together, but, alas, adversity tries us all, and a time came when game grew so scarce that they had not dined, save on frogs and lizards for some days, their feeble limbs could barely support their shrunken bodies, so they resolved to attack man, and to do so entered at night a mango tope near a village and there decided to wait for day, but they were very much afraid having heard of the many wiles of man.

To make all safe the tiger pointed out a thick trunked tree, and said "Nephew, nothing can be done till morn when the two-legged ones will come forth of their habitations. Let us sleep a little while we wait, it will still our hunger ; the place is dangerous, who can say what may come upon us as we rest. So I propose that we lie down under the tree with our hind quarters to it, I facing one way, you the opposite, then nothing can harm us." To this the Khé-wá-gyá agreed and so they settled down for the night.

The pangs of hunger for some time, however, prevented the nephew from sleeping, but just as he was dozing off he drowsily thought he was really hungry enough to eat a bit even of Uncle Tiger, and directly after he "thunk." 'Suppose uncle is hungry enough to eat me." All chance of sleep fled at the idea. Gazing upwards the nephew saw a horizontal branch above him, the end of which came near the ground. Uncle was asleep, at least his deep snores seemed to proclaim that fact. So under cover of the sound the nephew crept out to the end of the branch, jumped stealthily upon it, and crawled silently up it, till he came just over the place where he had formerly been, and there he lay crouched along the branch all alert. Presently uncle's snores stopped, a dead leaf crackled, a black moving shape loomed through the darkness, and there was a sudden spring on to the Khé wá-gyá former bed Spell bound at the treachery of his relation the Khé-wá-gyá had kept very still up to then, but horror triumphed and he gave vent for the first time to that weird wail which fate had decreed he should for all time use to warn creatures of a tiger's proximity.

* * * * * *

Another superstition concerning tigers which I first heard in Cachar, was that tigers or leopards would sit near a village and imitate an infant crying, in order to entice any unwary person out to look for the supposed child If anyone was foolish enough to be so enticed, needless to say they were promptly turned into a dinner for Stripes.

It is singular, though, in other districts where man-eaters are prevalent no such superstition is as far as I have been able to find out, current, neither is any such trick alleged against "Stripes" or "spots," yet there is a very similar superstition spread over the length and breadth of Bengal, and that is that "Demons" or "Rakhus" will often at dusk imitate a babe crying outside a village, and carry off and devour anyone foolish enough to be so enticed.

Both these yarns are curiously like the German legends of wehr-wolves and their tactics. Whether or no it is a true bill against "Stripes" is a moot point, yet I have met Europeans who assert that they have heard these cries, and I have certainly heard them twice myself, but caused by what I could not prove. It was then that I heard of the superstition, and so far I can affirm no child caused the sound, though it sounded exactly like one.

On the other hand, no one who accompanied me to look about was made a meal of, so I am not in a position to affirm that a feline did make it.

This much, however, I do know, the larger cats emit many more sounds than they are given credit for, and I myself am personally convinced that they have considerable ventriloquistic powers.

I would like very much to hear from any one who could give me any authentic instances of the kind

The matter is one of great interest. I am not alone in my opinion, for the father of the Calcutta Zoo, the late Mr. Schwendler, was fully convinced that the lynx had such powers and was inclined to believe it possible that the tiger had.

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

MAYOS.

Head Office: Madras.
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India

Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta :
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD VALUE IN

HOT WEATHER SHIRTS.

Cawnpore Twill Tennis Shirts Rs. 15 per doz.
(Best Quality.)
G. E. H. Cellular Tennis Shirts Rs. 21 per doz.
G. E. H. Cellular Neglige Shirts Rs. 27 per doz.
Longcloth Office Shirts Rs. 24 per doz.

GREAT EASTERN HOTEL Co., Ld.,
CALCUTTA.

SPECIALITIES IN WHISKIES.

"BEEHIVE" BRAND,
Rs. 25 per dozen
303 SPECIALITY,
Rs. 30 per dozen.
707 SPECIALITY,
Rs. 35 per dozen.

SAMPLE CASES OF WHISKIES.
To enable our customers to make a choice from our stock of Whiskies and to judge of their characteristics we shall be happy to put up one bottle of any six different Brands, and charge for them at the nett cash rate per dozen with special discount of 5 per cent.

"AULD" SCOTTIE
Rs. 32 8 per dozen.
"NECTAR,"
Rs. 11 per dozen.
"GLENLIVET,"
Rs. 36 per dozen.

☞ 10 % Discount for Cash.

Great Eastern Hotel Co., Ld., Calcutta.

Who that has lived in Assam or Burma does not know the "Gecko." I do not refer to the small house lizard common all over Bengal, but to those big fellows measuring anything from six inches to a foot in length, who are gorgeously speckled like a trout, and whose call of "gecko" (generally reiterated seven times, and ending in a gurgle of sensual satisfaction) can in the jungles be heard a quarter of a mile off. These gentlemen swarmed in some bungalows in Assam, Cachar the Chittagong Hill Tracts, and Burma, and proved a great nuisance, as they frequently dropped from the roof at night in their efforts to catch moths. So in the Tracts we generally kept a hog spear handy to stick any appearing on the rafters of the roof. To kill one, however, in Cachar is considered extremely unlucky as the belief is that one of the household will surely die within the year if one be killed in a house, and I have heard, though I would not vouch for the story being true, that a planter was left servantless for some time on account of his having slain a gecko in his house.

A much more widely spread belief is that they are poisonous. I have frequently heard them called "Bis Kopra" or "Bis Cobra," and Cacharis and all the Tract tribes as well as Bengalis have assured me that they are as deadly as Naya Tripudians himself. This, however, is quite a mistake, their bite is no worse than that of a non-poisonous snake, and this I have proved frequently, for I have seen one or two persons bitten by them. My dogs have been bitten over and over again, and no ill effect has ensued.

They are very pugnacious. I used to catch them for the Calcutta Zoo. I found, however, that the smaller ones vanished. Dr. Anderson refused to believe they were cannibals: all I can say is that the smaller ones disappeared, and they could not have got out of the box. On one occasion I had one placed on the tennis ground in front of "Spot," a Gordon setter, the dog naturally sniffed after it as it tried to retreat, and the next instant it had faced round and was hanging on to dog "Spot's" nose with its teeth, and what was more it did not let go at even when the dog had rubbed its head from its body

It requires a quick hand and a sharp eye to stick a "gecko," but a young policeman with whom I used to chum, used to kill time fishing for them A thin bamboo long enough to reach to the rafters a fine line about a foot long ending in a small hook, or even a bent pin to which was attached a strong winged moth (generally tied with thread under his belly) was all that was needed: this dangled near a rafter, so that the moth could bump against or settle on the rafter, and would often secure a bite.

* * * * * *

Most of us are acquainted with the humble bamboo choonga; however for the benefit of "new chums" I may say that it is just a joint cut off a bamboo, the open end sliced off at a convenient angle for drinking out of. Most useful are they when hot and thirsty, whether on the trail or march, one comes across a stream in the jungle. I had often noticed how very careful my people were to split them up directly after drinking, and one day pointing to a very large mound of old split up choongas, used by former passers by, I told my Mugh and Chuckma coolies that they were very wasteful. I said:—"To-day, for instance, each of you cut a choonga for himself, you have used fifteen when two or three would have sufficed." They appeared horror struck

"Huzoor," they replied, "why should we bewitch one another? The Forest saheb will not mind for three or four bamboos, no, nor for ten or twenty."

That night as we lay blinking at our camp fire, which blazed cheerily in front of our hastily built shelter of bamboos and plaintain leaves, I got at the whole idea.

"Protector of the Poor," said my headman, "It is bad to allow any one to drink from a choonga after you Hence we at once split it up. If we did not destroy it and perchance another drank after us we would severely be smitten with stomach-ache, and if the second drinker knew the first and while drinking wished him, evil, then surely would the first get cholera or seriously ill and probably die. Who can tell what evil wishes he may have, so to be safe, we destroy the choonga."

This explanation only makes the matter doubly curious, for they have no objection to allowing others drinking after them from any ordinary vessel. I had often served them out a dram of rum one after the other from the same glass. Perhaps it was held that the spirit killed the microbe of the evil wish, doubtless in some instances it does.

* * * * * *

On one occasion I was the lucky spectator of the nuptial rites of a pair of Dhamons or common water snakes; half their bodies were held erect like a cobra about to strike. Their heads being at least three feet from the ground as they swayed and twisted together, in what was evidently meant to be amatory dalliance. Trying to get near to them, I was stopped by one of my baboos, "Too much dangerous, sir, one is cobra. I was quite close enough to be sure that he was wrong, and to convince him I tried to kill both. Unfortunately one escaped, and the baboos could not be convinced. "Sir, the Dhamon is the husband of the cobra: he is always male, cobra is always female.

Subsequent enquiries in many districts have shown that the general native belief is that the cobra is the female of the Dhamon. The native of Bengal is not strong in Natural History, but a more keen observer of human nature does not exist. Noting at times the deadly effect of the female tongue, and being a bit of a cynic withal, he has considered it but proper and fitting to assign that sex to the cobra, the most lethal of all reptiles. Anyway thinks he if it is not so, it ought to be so in which view even Solomon backs him up when saying, "The poison of asps is under thy lips."

* * * * * *

Have you ever shot a langoor monkey? Well, if you have, you are bound to go mad, at least many Brahmins will tell you so. Why this special punishment should be meted out to the slayer of the Cebidæ is obscure, and there appears no reason for it, but a native will argue that there is as much reason in that as in hanging a man because he has committed murder

The Johnnie who remarked that the worst use you could put a man to was to hang him, had not heard of the Police Commission.

* * * * * *

I had been many years in India before I made the aquaintance of the Tree frog (Hydra Arboreana). Though I had been in districts where he resided I do not think that blame can attach to either of us for this, for though always most anxious to meet him, it was but proper that I should first pay my respects to the Commissioners, Collectors and Judges, so to speak, of the jungle world before I could look up the smaller gentry. He on his part is naturally of a retiring disposition, in this respect he conspicuously differs from our seniors in the service and he is shy with strangers Indeed his modesty is so great that it at times impels him to take the colour of his surroundings and hence it was that we had never met for years.

When I was introduced to him he was wearing a browney greenery coat of no dominant color, a "Vicar of Bray" cum "Micawber" article, nothing decided in itself, but waiting for something to turn up.

Well, I turned up, and wishing to get a decided opinion from him, I placed him amidst the leaves of a red coleus. He is evidently a man of the world, and amiable withal, liking to be in harmony with those about him, for he shortly turned a dull red. Many people, especially in Assam, how old-fashioned they must be, do not cotton to such changes; yet unlike most turn-coats he is a gentlemanly little fellow, despite his flightiness for really how else can you describe his movements. One second he is on the ground, and the next he is perched on the top of your door, or on the reflector of your wall-lamp. His feet are built on the vacuum principle and this enables him to stick on glass or any smooth surface

"It is only a corpse that has no enemies" as the Mro proverb has it, and so not even this retiring little beastie escapes the voice of calumny. In some districts he is accused of causing sudden death to anyone he touches, but the more prevalent idea is that like the owl and raven of Western superstition he is not the cause of death, but merely that sable-winged angel's "avant courrière." I have seen a servant turn green, and go as near fainting as a native can out of the witness-box, because one had jumped on him, while he was obeying my orders to remove it from my bed-room.

Had the matter ended there I would not have minded so much, but his numerous female relations, including his wife, turned up that afternoon, and assaulted me with loud upbraidings for having caused the death of their beloved one (who at that time was serenely filling up my lamps in the butti khana.) His wife, who for my sins happened to be not only above the average of comeliness, but was in an obstrusively advanced stage of delicate health, of which she seemed rather proud than otherwise, was loudly demanding buckshees to pay for the funeral they all expected in the near future.

Into the middle of this Babel of lituperation and funereal howls, up drove our Judge's wife. I heard afterwards it was to ask me to fill up an unexpected vacancy at her table that night.

Scattering the crowd of females that clustered in my portico she pulled up just in time to hear the black but comely one shout:—"And who then should provide for the unborn one, if not you, who?"

When the lady's eye fixed her, noted her condition, noted too my evident embarrassment, and wrongly interpreting it, she merely ejaculated in a tone that would have frozen a gallon of whisky, "Mr. B." and drove off without another word, throwing such a glance of contempt at me and the woman, such as outraged Juno herself could not have surpassed.

I was unaware of what the head and front of my offending consisted. It must be something terrible I thought that could induce Mrs. Judex to drive up to my door merely to throw my own frozen name like a snow ball at my head. The best thing I could do I thought would be to go to the club early and scout for news, so off I went with a bunch of my most choice roses.

I have often found flowers useful in obtaining little confidences from ladies. As I drove up to the front verandah the elder ladies stiffened in their chairs and cut me dead. The younger married ones and girls rather hastily and confusedly trooped off with red faces to an imaginary game of Badminton before I could descend from my trap.

A set of Tennis was just over and the men coming our way were laughing fit to split, while Judex shouted "Hi B I want a talk with you," and the irrepressible A.D.S. of Police called out, "Oh you naughty, naughty man."

This evidently was too much for some of the Badminton players, and the ladies dissolved into a side verandah, while I was hustled into the bar; and the charge quoted to me, namely, that my inhumanity was only equalled by my immorality, and both were unbounded.

When I next regained consciousness I was rapidly gulping down neat whiskeys, liqueurs, vermouths, and sherries in flabbergasted impartiality, and it was some time before I could put the true facts forward.

As far as Mrs. Judex went it was all of no avail, even though I sent the woman and her husband to explain for themselves. Woman like she never forgave me for the mistake she herself had made.

My friend the tree frog however, like Gallio of old, cared for none of these things, and innocent of harmful intent, sang his evening psalm of praise in my verandah.

Was it not Tennyson who said "We are but children of a larger growth;" if not, it was someone else.

Well, when it comes to matters of religious belief, no matter who or what we are, we out—infant the child in our credulousness.

POLITYE.

(To be Concluded.)

The Garden.

DARJEELING FLOWER SHOW.

COMMITTEE:

E. H. Walsh, Esq., C.S.
Major Prain, I.M.S.
Babu Dooly Chund.
Rev. T. E. F. Cole.
F. Trafford, Esq.
R. D. Mackie, Esq.
J. W. Lace, Esq.
Conservator of Forests.
A. Price, Esq.
Rev. V. Naish, S.J.
B. B. Osmaston, Esq.

SUB-COMMITTEES:

SOUTH.
C. R. Newton, Esq.
W. Weston, Esq.
J. S. Cruickshank, Esq.

EAST.
J. L. Lister, Esq.
A. Shannon, Esq.
F. A. Wearing, Esq.

NORTH.
F. A. Müller, Esq.
J. Stolke, Esq.
W. J. Ager, Esq.

DARJEELING.
Dr. Seal, M.R.C.S.
F. B. Baker, Esq.
E. A. Wernicke, Esq.

D. S. Murray, Esq., Hon. Treasurer.

The Curator, Botanic Gardens. } Joint Hon. Secretaries.
G. L. Searight, Esq. }

Monday, 4th May 1903.

THE long drought we have been experiencing this year though disastrous to tea, has not apparently had any effect on the flowers that bloom in the spring, for the show just held has in no sense been inferior to its predecessors His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Bourdillon returned from Kalimpong in time to be present at the opening, and the large number of people who attended included almost everyone in the district, the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway running a special train for the occasion. The Lieutenant-Governor's Prize was taken by Mr. F. Morganstin, the Steward of the Amusement Club, with a tastefully arranged and well-assorted group of flowering plants and foliage, while the most important ladies' prize—the most artistic arrangement of flowers for a dinner table, was secured by Mrs. Samman, with a very fairy-like creation in poppies and sweet pea. There were many competitors for this prize, and most of the arrangements were so pretty and artistic that the judges had to solicit the aid of the Committee in awarding the prizes. Mr. H. R. Mortime secured 10 prizes in 11 exhibits in the Fruit class and it may be added that these were all grown on the Singtom Tea Estate, the exhibits from which have always been of high-class variety. The prizes were on a liberal scale so that the disappointments must have been few. The Band, of the Duke of Wellington's Regiment played some happy selections during the afternoon, and the refreshments under Mrs. Jones' capable management were done full justice to. The following were the awards :—

DIVISION A.

Special Prizes. Collections of plants in pots.

Presented by H. H. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Open to residents in the Darjeeling District only.

Class No. 1.—A silver medal for a tastefully arranged group of well-grown plants, including flowering and foliage.

1st Prize Mr. F. Morganstin.
2nd „ „ F. Chamberlain.
3rd „ „ R D. Mackie

Open to all comers.

Presented by H. H. The Maharajah of Cooch Behar.

Class No. 2.—A silver medal for the best collection of specimen foliage and flowering plants, 12 plants.

1st Prize Mr. J. Stocke.
2nd „ „ F. Chamberlain.

Presented by H. H. The Maharajah of Burdwan.

Class No. 3.—A silver medal for the best collection of specimen foliage or flowering plants, 6 plants.

1st Prize The Loretto Convent.
2nd „ Mr. F Stolke.

Presented by A. Earle, Esq.

Class No. 4.—A silver medal for the best group of ferns and foliage plants.

1st Prize Mr. J. Stolke.
2nd „ „ F. Morganstin.

Presented by Major Dyson, I.M.S.

Class No. 5.—A silver medal for the best group of Cinerarias.

1st Prize The Loretto Convent.

Presented by F.-A. Möller, Esq.

Class No. 6.—A silver medal for the best collection of Cacti in flower, 6 plants.

1st Prize Mr. Claud Bald.
2nd „ Mrs. Tevi Kerr

Presented W. A. Inglis, Esq.

Class No. 7.—A silver medal for the best collection of bulbous plants in bloom, 6 pots.

2nd Prize Mr. J. Stolke.

Presented by R. D. Mackie, Esq.

Class No. 8.—A silver medal for the best collection of not less than 6 kinds of Annuals in 12 pots.

1st Prize. Mr. F. Morganstin.
2nd „ The Loretto Covent.

Presented by C. J. H. Allen, Esq.

Class No. 9.—A silver medal for the best collection of not less than 6 kinds of Perenniials, in 12 pots.

2nd Prize Mr. F. Morganstin.

Flowers in pots. Open to all comers.

Class No. 10.—Best Sweet Pea, 3 pots.
1st Prize The Loretto Convent.
Class No. 11.—Best Cinerarias, 3 pots.
1st Prize The Presbytery.
2nd „ The Amusement Club.
Class No. 12.—Best Calceolarias, 3 pots.
1st Prize The Loretto Convent.
2nd „ The Presbytery.
Class No. 13.—Best Geraniums, 3 pots.
1st Prize St. Joseph's College.
2nd „ Mr. R. D. Mackie.
Extra „ „ A. Price.
Class No. 14.—Best Pelargoniums, 3 pots.
1st Prize Mr. R. D Mackie.
2nd „ St. Joseph's College.
Extra „ Mr. Fritz Wernicke.
Class No. 16.—Best Pansies, 3 pots.
2nd Prize Mr. F. Chamberlain.
Class No. 17.—Best Asters, 3 pots.
2nd Prize Mr. F. Morganstin.
Class No. 18.—Best Stocks, 3 pots.
1st Prize Mrs. Gwilt.
Class No. 19.—Best Petunias, 3 pots.
1st Prize Mr. A. Price.
2nd „ „ R D Mackie.
Extra „ „ Claud Bald.
Class No. 20.—Best Aquilegias, 3 pots.
1st Prize Mr. F. Chamberlain.
2nd „ „ F. Morganstin.
Class No. 21.—Best Maiden Hair Ferns, 3 pots.
1st Prize Mr. J. Stolke.
2nd „ „ H. R.Mortimer.
Extra „ „ Claud Bald.
Class No. 22.—Best Roses, 3 pots.
1st Prize Mr. R. D Mackie.
2nd „ The Loretto Convent.
Class No. 23.—Best Cacti, 3 pots.
1st Prize Mr. F. A. Möller.
Class No. 25.—Best specimen of any flowering Perenial.
1st Prize Mrs. E A. Wernickie.
2nd „ Mr. G. L. Searight.
Class No. 26.—Best Amaryllis, 3 pots.
1st Prize Mr. F. A. Wearing.
Class No. 27.—Best specimen Fern.
1st Prize Mr. Claud Bald.
Class No. 28.—Best Fuchsia, 3 pots.
1st Prize Mr. F. Morganstin.
2nd „ „ R. D. Mackie.

DIVISION B.

CUT FLOWERS.

Special prizes, open to all comers.

Presented by C. R. Marindin, Esq., C. S.

Class No. 29.—For the most artistic arrangement of flowers for a dinner table.

1st Prize Mrs. Samman.
2nd „ „ Wearing.
3rd „ „ D. L. Fancis.
4th „ „ Shannon.

Presented by The Raj Kumar of Kakina.

Class No. 31.—The most artistic arrangement of flowers in a vase, basket or bowl.

1st Prize Mrs. Searight.

Class No. 32.—The best bouquet, bridal or ball.

1st Prize Miss Wernicke.
2nd „ „ Wearing.

Class No. 33.—The most artistic arrangement of flowers in a vase, basket or bowl, to be competed for by children, under 12 years age.

1st Prize Miss Madeline Walsh.
2nd „ „ Dolly Marindin.
3rd „ „ Tiny Walsh.

Special prizes for Malies.

Class No. 34.—Best arranged vase of flowers.
1st Prize The Presbytery Mali
2nd „ The Loretto Convent Mali.

Class No. 35.—Best arranged bouquet of flowers.
1st Prize The "Colinton" Mali.
2nd „ The Nawab's Mali.

Class No. 36.—Best arranged buttonhole.
1st Prize The Loretto Convent Mali.
2nd „ "The Shrubbery" Mali.

Ordinary Prizes, open to all comers.

Presented by E. H. Walsh, Esq., C.S.

Class No. 37.—For a collection of annuals, 6 different kinds.
1st Prize Mr. F. Chamberlain.
2nd „ E. A. Wernicke.
H. C. The Loreto Convent.

Presented by J. Stolke, Esq.

Class No. 38.—For a collection of Perennials, 6 different kinds.
1st Prize Mr. F. Chamberlain.

Presented by His Grace Archbishop Meuleman.

Class No 39.—For a collection of Roses, four dissimilar kinds.

1st Prize Mr. E B. Wernicke.
2nd „ „ F. Chamberlain.

Class No. 40.—For Four Tea or Noisette Roses.

1st Prize Mr. R. D. Mackie.
2nd „ Mr. Umfreville.

Class No. 41.—For four H. P. Roses.

1st Prize Mr. F. Buckley.
2nd „ Mrs. Umfreville.

Class No. 42.—For three Marechal Niel Roses.

1st Prize Mr. R D. Mackie.
2nd „ St Joseph's College.

Class No. 43.—For the best Rose in the Show, taken from stands 39, 40, 41, 42, 60, 61, 62 and 63.

1st Prize Mr. J. Stolke.

Class No. 44.—Best Pelargoniums, 6 trusses.

1st Prize Mr. F. Buckley.

Class No. 45.—Best Geraniums, 6 trusses.

1st Prize Mr. A Price.

Class No. 46.—Best Cannas, 6 trusses.

1st Prize Mrs. E. A. Wernickie.

Class No. 47.—Best collection of Pansies, 20 flowers.

1st Prize Mr. C. J. H. Allen.
H. C. „ F. Chamberlain.

Class No. 48.—Best collection of Phlox, 12 trusses.

1st Prize Mrs. Alex. Shannon.

Class No. 49.—Best collection of Petunias, 12 flowers.

1st Prize Mr. F. Buckley.
H. C. „ A. Price.

Class No. 50.—Best collection of Pinks and Carnations, 12 flowers.

1st Prize Mrs. Teviot Kerr.

Class No. 51.—Best collection of Mimulas, 12 flowers.

1st Prize Mr. A. Price.

Class No. 52—Best collection Poppies, 12 flowers.

1st Prize Mrs. E. H. Walsh.
H. C Mr. A. Price.

Class No. 53.—Best collection of Verbenas, 12 trusses.

1st Prize Mrs. Teviot Kerr.

Class No. 54.—Best collection or Sweet Pea, 20 blooms.

1st Prize Mr. C. L. Searight.
H. C. Mrs. E. A Wernicke.

Class No. 55.—Best collection of Aquilegias, 12 flowers.

1st Prize Miss Webb.

Class No. 56.—Best collection of Arum Lilies, 6 flowers.

1st Prize Mr. F. Chamberlain.

Class No. 57.—Best collection of Bulbous flowers, 12 blooms.

1st Prize Mrs. Teviot Kerr.

Open to all outside the 6-mile limits only.

Presented by A. Wernicke, Esq.

Class No. 58—For a collection of annuals, 6 different kinds.

1st Prize. Mrs. Teviot Kerr.

Presented by F. Chamberlain, Esq.

Class No. 59—For a collection of Perennials, 6 different kinds.

1st Prize Mrs. Teviot Kerr.

DIVISION C.

EUROPEAN VEGETABLES.

Open to all comers.

Presented by J. W. Lace, Esq.

Class No. 64.—For the best collections of Vegetables, not less than 9 kinds.

1st Prize Mr. R. D. Mackie.
2nd „ „ H. R. Mortimer.
3rd „ „ W. G. Judge.

Class No 65.—For the best collections of Vegetables, not less than 5 kinds. Exhibitor not to compete for No. 64.

1st Prize. Mr. E. A. Wernicke.
2nd „ „ C. C. Robson.
3rd „ Mrs Gwilt.

Class No. 66.—Best Artichokes, 6 heads.

1st Prize Mr. H. R Mortimer.
2nd „ Mrs. Gwilt.

Class No. 67.—Best Broad Beans, 15 pods.

1st Prize Mr. H. R. Mortimer.

Class No. 68.—Best French Beans, 25 pods.

1st Prize Mrs. Gwilt.
2nd „ Mr. H R. Mortimer.

Class No 69.—Best Beet Roots, 6 roots.

1st Prize Mr. Claud Bald.
2nd „ „ R. D. Mackie.

Class No. 70.—Best Brussels Sprouts, 3 plants.

1st Prize Mr. Claud Bald.

Class No. 71.—Best Cabbage, 3 heads.

1st Prize Mr. F. A. Wearing.

Class No 72.—Best Cauliflower, 3 heads.

1st Prize Mr. R. D. Mackie.

Class No. 73.—Best Carrots, 6 roots.

1st Prize Mr Claud Bald.
2nd „ „ Rivers Smith.

Class No. 74.—Best Celery, 3 heads.

1st Prize Mr. C. C. Robson.
2nd „ „ H. R. Mortimer.

Class No. 76.—Best Leeks 6 roots.

1st Prize Mr. Claud Bald.
2nd „ Mrs. Gwilt.

Class No. 77.—Best Cos Lettuce, 3 heads.

1st Prize Mr. E B. Wernicke.

Class No. 78—Best Cabbage Lettuce, 3 heads.

1st Prize Mr. E. B Wernicke.

Class No. 79.—Best Onions, 6 heads.

1st Prize Mr. H. R. Mortimer.
2nd „ Mrs. Alex. Shannon.

Class No. 80.—Best Peas in pod, 25 pods.

1st Prize Mr. Claud Bald.
2nd „ „ R. D. Mackie.

Class No. 81.—Best Potatoes, English, 12 tubers.

1st Prize Achoo Sirdar.

Class No. 82—Best Turnips, 12 roots.

1st Prize Mr. Alex. Shannon.
2nd „ „ H. R. Mortimer.

Class No. 83.—Best Tomatoes, 6 fruits.

1st Prize Mrs. Alex. Shannon.

Special Prizes for Natives.

Class No. 85—Best collection of European Vegetables grown in exhibitor's garden.

1st Prize Mr. Rivers Smith's Mali.
2nd „ Achoo Sirdar.

Class No. 86—Best collection of Indigenous Vegetables grown in exhibitor's garden.

1st Prize Achoo Sirdar.

DIVISION D.

Open to all comers.

Class No. 87.—Best collection of Fruits
1st Prize Mr. A. R. Mortimer.
2nd „ Mrs. Gwilt

Prizes of Rs. 3 and 2 are offered for the Class No. 88.—Best dish of Strawberries.

1st Prize Mr. F. Wearing.
2nd „ „ H. R. Mortimer.

Class No. 89.—Best dish of Rhubarb, 3 sticks.

1st Prize Mrs. Gwilt.
2nd „ Mr. Claud Bald.

Class No. 90.—Best Pine-apples 3 fruits.
1st Prize Mr. H. R. Mortimer.
2nd „ „ Claud Bald.

Class No. 91.—Best dish of Oranges, 6 fruits.

1st Prize Mrs. Gwilt.
2nd „ „ H. R. Mortimer.

Class No. 92.—Best dish of Papaya, 3 fruits.

1st Prize Mrs. Gwilt.
2nd „ „ H. R. Mortimer.

Class No. 93.—Best dish of Teparies, 25 in their coats.

1st Prize Mr. Rivers Smith.
2nd „ „ H. R. Mortimer.

Class No. 94.—Best dish of Lemons and Limes.

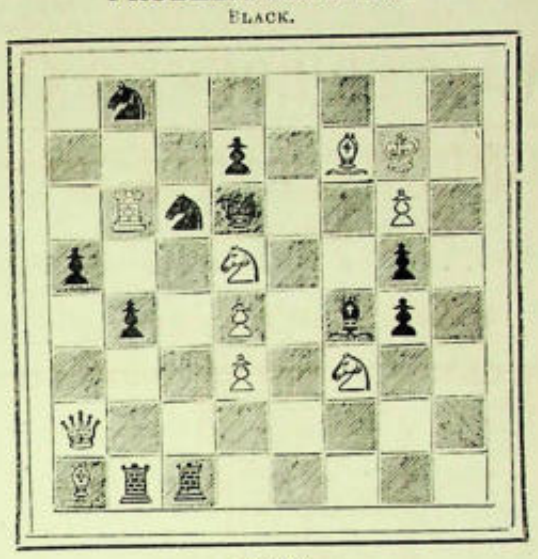
1st Prize Mr. H. R Mortimer.
2nd „ Mrs. Gwilt.

Class No. 95.—Best Comb of Bananas or Plantains.

1st Prize Mr. H. R. Mortimer.
2nd „ Achoo Sirdar.

Class No 96.—Best Pomaloes 1 fruit.

1st Prize Mr. H. R. Mortimer.



Class No. 97.—Best Granadilla, 6 fruits.

1st Prize Mrs. Gwilt.
2nd „ „ H R. Mortimer.

Chess.

PROBLEM NO. XVIII.

BLACK.

WHITE.

White to play and mate in four moves.

THE STAUNTON CHESS CLUB, CALCUTTA.

MEMBERSHIP GAME.

Opening, Evans Gambit declined.

	Euler. White.	Churchill Shann. Black.
1.	P—K 4	P—K 4
2.	Kt—K B 3	Kt—Q B 3
3.	B—B 4	B—B 4
4.	P—Q Kt 4	B—Kt 3
5.	B—Kt 2	P—Q 3
6.	Castles	Kt—K B 3
7.	P—Q 3	B—Kt 5
8.	P—K R 3	B—K R 4
9.	P—Q B 3	Q—Q 2
10.	P—Q R 4	P—Q R 3
11.	Kt—Q 2	Kt—K 2
12.	Q—K 1	Kt—Kt 3
13.	Kt—Kt 5	Kt—B 5
14.	B—Q 4	P—K R 3
15.	P × P	P × Kt
16.	P × Kt	Kt × P ch
17.	K—R 2	B—K 7
18.	P × P	Castles (Q R)
19.	P × R & Queens	R × Q
20.	Q × B	Kt × P ch
21.	K—Kt 3	R—R 6 ch
22.	P × R	Q × P mate

After Whites 15th more. P × P his game was practically hopeless. The Evans declined often leads to a difficult game for White.

Cards.

SOLUTION TO DOUBLE DUMMY PROBLEM NO. IX.

1. A leads Ace of Spades.
2. A leads two of Spades; B trumps.
3. B leads Knave of Hearts. If Z covers, A plays Ace and returns small one for B to get lead with ten of Hearts. If Z does not cover, the trick remains B's and then,—
4. B leads Queen of Diamonds. Here again Z may or may not cover. If he does, A plays Ace and returns small one. If he does not, then,—
5. B leads ten of Hearts. A takes.
6. A leads third round of trumps.
7. A leads Ace of Diamonds.
8. A leads five of Diamonds; won by Z, who must lead Clubs; whereupon A and B make (9—13) two tricks in Clubs, two in Diamonds, and the last trump.

POLICIES ISSUED
BY THE
NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE CO.
Combine Life Insurance and Investment.

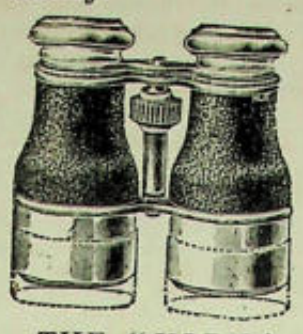
A security for family or estate and a provision for old age.

WRITE FOR PARTICULARS AND FOR
15 or 20 year sample policy to
RESIDENT MANAGER,
8, Old Court House Street,
CALCUTTA.

BINOCULARS.

A CHEAP LINE—A REAL GOOD ARTICLE.

Splendid workmanship, Grand Value for Money.



THE "CURZON."

Fitted in Solid Leather Case' Rs. 25-0 each.

THE "RAGLAN."

Fitted in Solid Leather Case, with Sling, Rs. 28-0 each.

THE "YORK."

A Wonderful Glass, in Leather Case, Rs. 32-8 each.

Above Glasses are made with Aluminium Mounts.

SPECIALLY LIGHT, STRONG AND EFFECTIVE.

Write for our list of other kinds of BINOCULARS.

WALTER LOCKE & Co., Ld., Locke Building, Calcutta.

LONDON & LANCASHIRE

LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

HEAD OFFICE:—

LONDON: 66 and 67, CORNHILL, E.C.

CALCUTTA BOARD OF DIRECTION:

T. Fraser, Esqr., Manager, Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China.
E. H. Elles, Esqr., Messrs. Pigott Chapman & Co.
Alex. Forsyth, Esqr., Messrs. Graham & Co.

NEW BUSINESS, 1901.

SUMS ASSURED, £727,196. NEW PREMIUMS, £30,088.

The Net Premium Income is now £264,482, and the amount of £101,760, as the result of the past year's working, has been added to the Funds, which now stand at £1,629,502.

New policy holders participate in the large proportion of 90 % of the entire profits of the Company.

Applications for Agency invited. Special Terms.

APPLY TO—

Messrs. GRAHAM & CO.,

GENERAL AGENTS,

9, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

BANK OF CALCUTTA,

LIMITED.

CAPITAL.

Subscribed	Rs.	15,00,000
Reserve Fund...	,,	15,00,000
Uncalled Capital	,,	5,00,000

DIRECTORS:

Mr. D. YULE, Messrs. ANDREW, YULE & Co
,, H. B. MCINNES, Messrs. J. THOMAS & Co.
,, NORMAN McLEOD, Messrs. McLEOD & Co.
,, D. KING.

CREDITS granted on approved Security, and every description of banking business transacted.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened and 2 per cent. per annum allowed on the daily balances.

FIXED DEPOSITS received at the following rates of interest:—

On Deposits fixed for 2 Years 5½ per cent. per annum.

,, ,, ,, ,, 1 Year 5 ,, ,,
,, ,, ,, ,, 6 Months 4½ ,, ,,
,, ,, ,, ,, 3 ,, 4 ,, ,,

The Bank offers special facilities and advice to Constituents as to the purchase and sale of all Indian Securities, particularly the Shares and Debenture Stocks of Jute, Cotton, Tea, and Miscellaneous Industrial Concerns.

The Bank is prepared to guarantee the principal and interest of Debentures on its approved list on terms which may be ascertained on application.

Absentee shareholders' and investors' interests carefully watched.

Orders executed on the London Stock Exchange through London Branch.

For further information apply to—

CALCUTTA,
7th April, 1902.

D. KING, Agent.

LONDON BRANCH:—19, GREAT WINCHESTER STREET, E. C.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSCE. CO.

Revenue ...	... £1,300,000
Bonus Declared	... £7,000,000
Accumulated Funds ..	... £10,300,000
Claims Paid	... £21,000,000

For Forms, Prospectuses, etc., apply to

DOUGLAS STEWART, Secretary,

STANDARD BUILDINGS,

CALCUTTA.

GRINDLAY & CO., CALCUTTA.
GRINDLAY, GROOM & CO., BOMBAY.

BANKING.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened. | FIXED DEPOSITS received.
HOME AND FAMILY REMITTANCES made.

INVESTMENTS.

INFORMATION given regarding share market.
PURCHASES and SALES effected.
Grindlay's Monthly INDIAN INVESTORS' GUIDE supplied gratis.

PASSAGES.

HOMEWARD PASSAGES booked without charge.
PASSAGE CIRCULAR and complete list of sailings supplied gratis.

PACKAGES.

SHIPPED, cleared and forwarded.

THOS. COOK & SON

Bankers, Passenger & Forwarding Agents.

PASSAGES PROMPTLY ENGAGED by P. & O. Mail and all other Steamers, including non-Liners. Free of Charge or Commission.

Special Attention given to the selection of Berths and Social Grouping of Passengers.

Through Tickets issued available from any Railway Station in India to all parts of the Globe.
Continental Travelling Tickets issued, allowing breaks of journey at all places of interest.
Passengers with Cook's Tickets met and assisted at all Chief Ports and Cities.
Reduced Rates to Railway employés Planters, Family Parties, and Missionaries.
Outward Passages engaged and Tickets supplied from any part of the World to India.
Hotel Coupons available at over 2,000 Hotels.
Reduced Fares for Military Officers, Government Officials, and Missionaries to Europe viâ China and America.
Baggage received, shipped and cleared on arrival.
Packages received and forwarded at favourable cargo rates.
Life and Accident Insurance Polices issued, also baggage, &c., insured.
Drafts, Circular Notes and Letters of Credit issued for the use of Travellers in all parts of the World.
Sovereigns, Bank Notes, and Foreign Money bought and supplied.
Current Accounts kept, and Interest allowed when the Credit balance does not fall below Rs. 1,000.
Deposits received, Rate of Interest on application.
Interest, Pay, and Pensions collected and every description of Banking and Money Agency transacted.
Handbook of information sent free on application.

CALCUTTA, 9, Old Court House Street. | BOMBAY, 13, Esplanade Row.

RANGOON AND COLOMBO.

POLICIES ISSUED

BY THE

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE Co.

Combine Life Insurance and Investment.

A security for family or estate and a provision for old age.

WRITE FOR PARTICULARS AND FOR

15 or 20 year sample policy to

RESIDENT MANAGER,

8, Old Court House Street,

CALCUTTA.

COCKBURN & Co.

— OF —

LEITH AND LONDON.

(ESTABLISHED 1796.)

WELL MATURED

HIGHLAND WHISKIES,

Of the highest class and most delicate blending.

Star Label ... ... Rs. 34 per dozen.
Imperial Crown Label ... ,, 38 ,,

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & Co.,

SOLE AGENTS,

1, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

NORTHERN ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1836.

FIRE AND LIFE.

Capital £3,000,000
Accumulated Funds £5,698,300

OFFICES.

Head Office:—LONDON, 1, Moorgate Street.
Branch:—CALCUTTA, 101, Clive Street.

Fire and Life Insurance effected on the most favourable terms.

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & CO., (Secretaries)

101, Clive Street, Calcutta.

THE INDIAN FIELD.

8, Hare Street, Calcutta.

THURSDAY, 21 MAY 1903.

THE KENNEL CLUB AND INCREASED TAXATION.

THE recent action taken by the Kennel Club in England to increase taxation in the matter of fees for registration and Licensed Shows has provoked a cry of indignation which is more than a mere storm in a tea-cup. And apart from the small interest in the subject which may be provoked in those Anglo-Indians who exhibit in a small way at home during periods of leave, the question possesses some importance for the affiliated institution in this country, the Northern India Kennel Association. Without entering into details, it may be briefly said that the Kennel Club found it necessary to increase the taxation of the past to meet its increased expenses and to cover the deficit which has hitherto obtained. The question was discussed in committee and the new rules issued as a mandate without any reference to the Fancy at large. The opposition contend that the increased fees are uncalled for, that they are likely to lead to a loss rather than to increase of receipts, that the Club's methods are extravagant and wasteful, that its operations conducted on sound business principles would render further taxation unnecessary, and that the fanciers of the country should be represented on the governing body which is now a self-elected institution and in no way representative of the mass of those on whom the success of dog shows so largely depends. The feelings of the opposition party are now well known, they have proclaimed their views with no uncertain tone, their opinions have been published in full, and the kennel papers are crowded with letters expressing individual ideas. But the Kennel Club has so far maintained a dignified silence, all endeavours to provoke a reply have proved as ineffectual as the eye of Mr. Bumble on the late Mrs. Corney. Meanwhile, speaking in a small way, the position is sufficiently serious, and the results of the conflict will be awaited by all concerned with the keenest interest.

It is hoped that it will be possible to effect some sort of compromise. Our own sympathies lie mainly, if not entirely with the Kennel Club. Dealers may say what they please, but any serious damage to the prestige of the governing body, to say nothing of its overthrow, would entail such a blow to the Kennel interests of the country that they might never recover. The very idea of an opposition Kennel Union must fill every amateur with dismay. Even the professional element cannot hope to benefit by it in the long run, and it would do well to remember that the frogs in Æsop were exceeding wise and would not venture into the well although they longed to drink. It was doubtless desirable in an important measure of this kind that the Kennel Club should have consulted its Council of Representatives, but that cannot now be helped. If the matter of methods and expenses now receive the strictest scrutiny with a view to arriving at the minimum taxation possible to meet the needs of the institution every reasonable person should be satisfied. On this point, from the information afforded by the published balance sheet, it is impossible to give an opinion of any value, but there is no reason to suppose the Club would be averse to consider any representation temperately worded and framed in that spirit of courtesy due to a body which has done such admirable work in the past. The committee is composed of men beyond reproach, in whom the public have confidence, who have utilised their valuable time and have been considerably out of pocket in consequence of expenses incurred in the management of Kennel affairs, and their overthrow can only be attended by dire results. A few matters of detail may be wrong, but there are ways of approaching these matters, and in this world we have often to be content to see many things continue wrong which cannot be righted without a greater wrong.

The exhibitors in England may be divided into the two main classes, the amateur and the professional; and the amateur class is subdivided into the amateur with a pronounced and steadfast hobby and the mere casual exhibitor. To the amateur, exhibiting does not pay. A few men, possessing talents which would have brought them to the front in any class of life, may have acquired such a world-wide reputation that they are not greatly out of pocket by the amusement; but such men will always be few and far between. The ordinary amateur has to pay, and often to pay heavily, for his frolic. It is only because he is a man of means that he can afford to exhibit to any extent. These remarks do not apply to the casual exhibitor, who, perhaps keeping a dog or two, only exhibits at infrequent intervals in a very small way, possibly because a show is held at his very door, and who is as pleased with a commendation for his small outlay as the large exhibitor with a championship and a fifty guinea challenge cup. The professional is on a wholly different footing; he has to make his ventures pay or adopt another walk in life. His aim is to buy cheap and sell dear, to travel about the country picking up bargains, to sweep the small shows of the country with a select string, and possibly to add to his income by judging or journalism. Windfalls will not always be to his hand, his main profits will lie in the multiplicity of his transactions. It may be a consideration to him whether he has to pay a shilling or half-a-crown for his registration, but eradicate the Kennel Club and the amateur exhibitor and where will he be? He is not altogether in love with the large amateur exhibitor who can so often beat him at his own game, but the small, the casual exhibitor in the aggregate is not an unimportant consideration to him. He has little to fear from the competition of exhibitors of this class, while their entries and other indirect receipts due to their entries swell the fund from which he draws his income. He affects commiseration with the casual exhibitor who, he thinks, may not be sufficiently keen to show often under the increased taxation rules; but under a professional management and reduced fees it is doubtful whether the casual would consider his position improved. In short, clear the field of amateurs and the professional will find himself thrown wholly into competition with brother professionals, life will be harder, the decreased source of income will render profits smaller, and it is difficult to see what he has to gain. The more he can encourage amateur exhibitors the better for him. The overthrow of the present amateur dynasty of management can only be his loss. This does not mean that the body should necessarily lie still under the weight of real or supposed grievances, let the members by all means unite in their efforts to obtain a proper and due recognition of their interests, but let those efforts be peaceable, constitutional, and undisguised, the very fact that confidence is not withdrawn from the Kennel Club will lead, more than anything else, to that confidence not being misplaced.

The case of the Northern India Kennel Association is not a parallel one, there may be, however, certain lessons to be learnt. The Association has no paid Secretary, it has been guided by men, mainly by one man, for the pure love of the thing. Its expenses have been light, but as its operations extend, expenditure will increase. The more it endeavours to promote shows, the greater the need of more than moral support. The fees have been very low, they may have to be raised, but the management would be well advised to "gang warily." Shows have never been self-supporting in India, the gate money is always very poor, they have only been possible by the generosity of the sporting public. There is no professional element, but there are the large and the casual exhibitors. The latter are often very unreasonable. They will often not care to give more than fifty rupees or so for a dog and yet they are surprised if they do not win against those who may have given as many pounds. For their outlay, their wins may be just as considerable, and they have the advantage of being able to breed at a moderate fee from the best imported stud animals whose price they would themselves never pay, but they are apt to forget such considerations. The large and consistent exhibitor is the backbone of shows, but he cannot afford to disregard the casual. Entries in India can never be numerically very strong and they are a very important feature. Shows not being self-supporting, an appeal is necessary to the sporting instincts of the public. Men will give a donation when they will object to high direct taxation. If the taxation is so high that the casual exhibitor does not think it worth while to enter, his withdrawal will mean also a starved subscription list. The position is a very difficult one and the administration can only aim at attaining that juste milieu between the two parties which will best lead to the furtherance of kennel interests in the country.

Sporting Notes.

TWO "big" horses with a certain reputation to sustain are at present acclimatizing in Poona. The handsome chestnut English horse Presbyterian looking all the world over like a 15st. Leicestershire hunter or a Grand National winner is under the care of that careful and justly popular trainer Charles Bleach, while the well-known Australian sprinter Milos, lately imported by "Mr. Kelso," has been placed under the charge of the owner's Zoroastrian compatriot Byramjee. The horse certainly looks like travelling, but whether, so far as India is concerned, he will be a Milos or only a three-quarter mile 'oss yet remains to be seen. Many a brilliant reputation suffers by a sea voyage!

The horse has unhappily inaugurated his Indian career with a tragedy. While doing slow work on the course this week he began to get the upper hand of his rider, the well-known riding boy Mahomed Soda who, used as he has been all his life to little Arabs, apparently lost his head and finding the big horse getting away with him foolishly attempted to throw himself off, and on the railing side, with the result that he fell on the wood head first fracturing his skull and dying before he could be carried to hospital—poor fellow. The horse luckily was recaptured uninjured. But considering the hundreds of horses, some with none too sweet a temper or gentle a mouth that go careering round Indian race-courses with half educated riding lads it is marvellous how few such accidents do occur in the course of the year.

A Mahableshwar correspondent writes:—It is not in mortals to command success or large entries in a hill station gymkhana; but, with the limited materials at his disposal, Captain Greville deserves all praise for the most enjoyable little race meeting he so successfully directed with characteristic cheerfulness in spite of a somewhat disheartening paucity of entries. Three ponies, in a field of six, belonging to one owner tends to dull the glamour of any wild excitement. Scattercash, lately purchased by Captain Greville, is steadfastly belying his name and followed up his maiden success at Kirkee by winning at Mahableshwar and it was only getting shut in on the second day that prevented the little grey performing the hat trick. Duldul naturally had little difficulty in winning a brace of races, but an Army Cup candidate seems a little out of place perhaps running among such small fry. Much was expected of Major Edward's Quickstep, and it was not a very encouraging performance for the little close up South African to be defeated by a couple of Arabs on the first day though it atoned for this by a win on the second day. Colonel Reid won with two of his trio, Vasco da Gama at eights winning a three furlong scurry somewhat unexpectedly by three lengths on the first day, while Trout, who could in the first day get no nearer than two seconds, rose to the occasion by two firsts on the second day. The second was a very lucky one as Scattercash was catching him at every stride and failed to make up ground lost by being shut in, by a short head only. The weather was delightful, Captain Greville's arrangements admirable, all Mahableshwar's chivalry and beauty were present and the little meeting was thoroughly enjoyable.

The Gymkhana at Simla on the 16th instant was a pronounced success. There was a large attendance, including the Viceroy, Lady Curzon and Lord Curzon, and each of the five events produced large entries. The opening event, the Khachchar National, provided much amusement. Competitors to ride once round the course over four flights of hurdles on mules with blankets instead of saddles. Open to Officers of Jutogh garrison. Zebras barred. Three competitors fell off near the winning post, Captain Jephson coming in first. The next event to hit four polo balls in a row at rest 20 yards apart. The first two balls by backhand strokes (near and off-side) through one set of goal posts. The second two balls by forward strokes (near and off-side) through a second set of goal posts. One mark each goal hit. Three marks for pace. This proved an easy win for Colonel Baring from fifteen competitors. The Not-at-Home Race was run off in three heats. Gentleman and lady to ride in pairs. Gentleman first to dismount, then take ladies' visiting card and place it in boxes at intervals round the course. First past the post with cards and all boxes wins. Captain Wigram and Miss Teague met Colonel Kennard and Mrs. Buck in the final, the former winning after a good race. Sixteen ladies competed for the Wand Race, Miss Teague just beating Mrs. Atkinson in the final by a narrow margin. The last event was a Ladies' nomination in which Gentlemen were to ride at full gallop past their nominatrix and throw a tennis ball, which she had to catch. Two marks for pace. Twenty-one couples entered. The throwing and catching were both indifferent. Mrs. Muspratt-Williams was the only lady who caught the ball thrown by her partner, Captain Turner, in each run. Lord Suffolk and Miss Jackson were second with one point.

Having been asked to give my views on Polo in India, writes "Player" in the last number of Baily's Magazine, it has first to be divided into two parts, viz., English and Native, as the two cannot be compared: the majority of the best native teams so out-class the ordinary English team that it is hardly possible to handicap them together at the present moment. There is no doubt that polo, from a regimental point of view, in India, is not as good now as it used to be, as there is no really first-class English polo team in India at the present moment that has the slightest chance of defeating the best native team, viz., the Maharajah of Alwar's team. Of course the war in South Africa has been a great detriment to polo in English regiments, some of the regiments having only returned shortly from South Africa, and others still having members of their teams away on staff billets out there; but this cannot be said about the 4th Dragoon Guards and 15th Hussars, who were not out in South Africa and have been in India several years. The English team which Captain FitzGerald of the Blues took out consisted of three members of their regimental team at home and one other member of the regiment, and they were in the final for the Lucknow Cup, and were only defeated by the 15th Hussars, the winners of the Inter-regimental Tournament this year and last, by one goal. This form does not say so very much for Indian regimental polo, as a team coming out to India for the cold weather only has a lot to handicap it, buying ponies, different grounds, and many other minor items; therefore they cannot possibly be expected to be as good as teams quartered out in India. We shall live in the hopes of some day soon seeing a regimental team good enough to take on the best native teams and defeat them. We shall also look forward, some day in the near future, to seeing a really representative Indian native team playing against a really representative English team, one which has played together as a team for some time, and not individual players collected together at the last moment, as happened in the matches against America. We must meet the Indian team half-way in seeing that the grounds are not overwatered; and we must also help them in the way of getting the very best ponies to be procured in England, which will be the hardest thing to do, owing to the English ponies not being so well broken as the ponies they have been used to play on in India. I think the best English team, if it is really carefully selected by the Hurlingham or Ranelagh Committee, and not left to a few polo players who consider themselves the only judges of polo, but are really only a mutual admiration society, would on a well-watered ground generally defeat the best Indian team, but I think on a real hard ground the Indian team would more often beat the English team. Of course I am allowing for the Indian team coming over early in the season and obtaining plenty of practice, their ponies having already been bought and fit to begin play in the middle of April. If only these matches can be brought off it will be a red-letter day in the annals of polo. Looking at polo and comparing it with polo of the bye-gone days, one sees more players, more grounds, and more general enthusiasm about the game; but alas! it is sad to say it, do we find either in England or India the same brilliant players as in the olden days? Certainly not in England, and it is very doubtful if we do in India. Where are the rising Dokuls, Hurjis, Sir Pertabs in India, and the Peats, Watsons, &c., &c., coming on in England?

A Reuter's telegram announces the death at Newmarket of John Dawson, the doyen of English trainers.

A case, involving a claim for £4,500, in which the Gaming Act has been successfully pleaded, has just been decided at home before Mr. Justice Phillimore. Mr. Charles Somers, a commission agent, carrying on business at 61, Regent-street, W., brought an action against Mr. Harry Freeman, a gentleman of independent means, residing at Plas-newydd, Usk (Mc n.). to recover a sum of £4,517, of which £4,462 was the blance of an account, extending over several years, for wagers on horse races made between the plaintiff and the defendant, while the remainder of the claim was for money alleged to have been lent by plaintiff to the defendant. With regard to the £4,462 the defendant pleaded the Gaming Act, and as to the remaining £55 he had paid £5 into Court, and alleged that that was the only money he had ever borrowed from the plaintiff. The plaintiff was represented by Mr. Montagu Snearman, K. C., and Mr. Macoun (instructed by Mr. C. F. A.

Edmonds), and defendant by Mr. Rowlatt (instructed by Messrs. Gustard and Bodington, of Usk). It was stated in evidence on behalf of the plaintiff that the defendant was a brother of Mr. John Freeman, lately a trainer of racehorses in Italy and Belgium, by whom he was introduced to the plaintiff in or about 1895. The plaintiff gave evidence proving the various items of money lent, and it was not disputed that the large amount of £4,462, the balance of the racing account, was correct. As to the latter amount, the defendant simply relied upon the Gaming Act, and it was further admitted by Mr. Freeman in course of cross-examination that he was a steward of a race meeting. The defendant's plea of the Gaming Act on the larger amount of £4,462 proved successful, and with regard to the other £55 the jury returned a verdict for £32 money lent, while the Judge awarded costs on the County Court scale.

Sid White, brother of J. and W. White, the well known jockeys, arrived in Calcutta last week, coming up from Australia by the steamer Eurgalus. He rides on the flat and also over country and can go to scale at 8st. 6lbs.

The following is a list of the principal winning jockeys on the flat at home, compiled from March 23rd to April 24th:—

	Mounts.	Lost.	Won.
Lane, W ...	... 93	67	26
Watts, J E ...	... 88	70	18
Halsey, W ...	... 76	62	14
Madden, O ...	... 98	86	12
Maher, D ...	... 56	45	11
Trigg, C ...	... 79	68	11
Miller, T L ...	... 50	42	8
Cannon, K ...	... 51	43	8
Boardman ...	... 16	10	6
McCall, G ...	... 40	34	6
Plant, J ...	... 52	46	6
Hardy, F W ...	... 65	59	6

An uneventful week apportions to your hapless own correspondent the thankless task of manufacturing literary bricks without the aid of gossipy straws, writes our Poona correspondent. One therefore as a matter of course turns for succour to the subject which—like the weather to the world at large—is the all-absorbing subject to the sportsman, namely, the noble animal the horse. A well known gentleman farmer at home once declared that no man had any pretence to breeding pigs unless he could with pleasure and without weariness stand looking for half an hour at a well-shaped hog. A true lover of horses would look at the paltry limit of thirty minutes almost in the light of an insult to his devotion and admiration when intent on the beauties of a blood racehorse.

And no one, however little gaiety is going on in Poona just now, need ever be dull with all the racing stables at his disposal and the courteous trainers are I am sure I may safely say only too pleased to show their priceless wares to any one taking an intelligent interest in them. Old Andrew Clarke who has I am assured been in Poona since the beginning of all time and can still bring his charges fit to the post with the best of modern trainers is in his old quarters at Wanowrie, while Charles Bleach, now rising high in popularly as a trainer, is in his last year's establishment at Ghorpuri. The astute "Tommy" Tingey has his valuable string near the Mounted Infantry lines, while the Zoroastrian artist Byramjee is back in his out-of-the-way hamlet behind the Veterinary School. I hear of the attractions of Poona tempting a fashionable trainer and his string from Bangalore and indeed with the attractions of three tracks provided by Mr. Cecil Gray it is not to be wondered at. Naturally nothing but slow work is being indulged in saving for a few ardent young sportsmen who had Mahableshwar and now have Belgaum sheering sheds wherein to fleece the golden lamb—or be themselves shorn.

One naturally sympathizes with a brother sportsman in distress. It is consequently with pain that I read of two Aryan brethren, lately victims to the lack of sympathy of an unsympathetic Police and an indiscriminating Magistrate. The worthy sportsmen having had on the quiet a little rough up between their respective fighting bulls, failed to consider as final the decision of the referee and straight put put up their mawleys "on their own." At this period the Police, disappointed no doubt at not having been invited to the sporting encounter or chagrined peradventure at the event having been successfully brought off without the customary Police interference (and a brace of bulls take a big cock pit!) stepped in and the majesty of the law ordained that my brother sports should enrich His Majesty's revenue to the tune of five sheckels each. Cheer up Babajee. Buck up Mahader. A bull fight and a friendly set-to (and with mittens off too) was cheap at the price.

There are no signs of the hounds yet Colonel Sherringham and his pack are still at some neighbouring hill station to avoid the heat, and no wonder. A doggy friend of mine who knows the difference between a hound and a hedgehog tells me he caught a passing glimpse of the new draft in Bombay on their way up and that from what he saw they seemed a level, though so far as he could remember a slightly smaller lot than last year's lot. It is a moot point what class of hound is best for the Poona country. Some mantain the small ones as less likely to cut their feet to pieces over the stones. Others are all for the big ones on the time honoured principle that a good big 'un is better than a good little one, and, without knowing much of hound affairs, it seems to me that a big strong hound is likely to be the better able to negociate the mixed country of plain and hill ranges they have to hunt their jacks over. The best of sport to them.

The hippopotamus is becoming a nuisance on the White Nile and other African rivers in consequence of the great increase in the number of these animals. By the International Convention which was signed in London three years ago it was agreed that only limited numbers should in future be killed, while the destruction of females, when accompanied by their young, and also of the young hippos themselves, was absolutely prohibited. Now, however, the head of the Game Preservation Department in the Soudan urges that less protection should be afforded to the hippopotamus, and Lord Cromer, in his recent report, says he can bear ocular testimony to the swarms of hippos abounding in the White Nile. Colonel Sparkes, in his report on the Bahr-el-Ghazal province, goes even further, and suggests that in certain districts they should be treated as vermin and shot at sight. A letter from East Africa says that a hippopotamus at Mutungo wantonly attacked a boat containing seven Bagandas, three of whom were drowned, while quite recently a Berthon boat was attacked and sunk, the mails and two rifles being lost, and the occupants had a near squeak for their lives.

The British Consul in Northern Siam states that elephant stealing was very prevalent during 1901, and still continues to be a great loss to both companies and foresters. Regulations were in 1897 made by the British and Siamese authorities jointly with a view to the repression of this class of crime. Definite rules were made for the purchase and sale of elephants, and imposing penalties on all persons in possession of elephants unprovided with sale papers executed under certain fixed conditions before the proper local authorities. The number of elephants owned by British foresters stolen during the year on the Salween side cannot have been less than 30, and on the Meping side not less than 20, representing a loss, approximately, of Rs. 125,000 (£8,300). In no single instance has the assistance rendered by the Siamese officials led to the discovery of the elephants stolen, or of the thief. In short, recovery, when effected, has been due to the activity and energy of the British forester himself, or of the search parties sent out by the British companies in whose employ the forester is. The British firms and foresters have done all they can on their part. The sales of elephants were less numerous than in 1900. Prices, though showing a downward tendency, still remained preposterously high, and good big workers were scarce.

Mrs. F. E. Lemon, Honorary Secretary of the Society for the Protection of Birds, writes that some few years ago letters on the subject of artificial plumes, particularly imitation ospreys, appeared in the newspapers. At that time, she says, plumassiers, drapers, and milliners declared that the plumes they sold were artificial, though the late Sir William Flower pointed out that they were "unquestionably genuine." Mrs. Lemon states that representatives of the society now find that the genuine article is still being supplied in far greater numbers, though, to overcome the scruples of tender-hearted women, the plumes are declared to be artificial. "Apart," she adds, "from the aspect of the matter which especially concerns us—the continued cruel war of extermination against beautiful and innocent bird life—it is melancholy to think that truth and honesty are so little regarded by the trade." In connection with this subject the organ of the society states that the number of packages of "osprey" or heron plumes and of bird of paradise skins offered for sale by auction at the London Commercial Sale Rooms during 1902 were—osprey packages, 1,608; birds of paradise, 19,552. A package of osprey feathers varies in amount from two or three to over one hundred ounces; but a careful computation shows the average to be about thirty ounces to the package. This gives a total of 48,240 ounces, and, on the received estimate that four birds are required to yield one ounce of plumes, we have a total of 192,960 birds killed in the breeding season to furnish one year's feather sales. Of the birds of paradise, 13,992 were catalogued as females.

A correspondent writes:—The annual reports now coming in from the several districts where carnivora most do congregate impels one either to infer that wild animals exhibited a most remarkable fecundity in the breeding season 1901-02, or else improved communications between the police stations and villages brought more accidents to light than usual. Over 1,800 human beings and 14,00[illegible] head of cattle falling victims to claws, teeth or fangs in one province alone is not pleasant to contemplate. Tigers it seems are not the worst sinners in this respect, as no less than 70 per cent. of the tale is debited to leopards, while hyenas, wolves and wild dogs seem to have had a high old time of it. Raising the reward for the destruction of leopards from Rs. 10 to 20 is hardly adequate when the proportion of damage inflicted by this wildest of the felidæ is considered, and though from the character of the country, with its jumble of rock and forest, the task would be an onerous one it is surely time to organise something like a systematic drive in such places as Sambalpur and Chanda. Single shikaris or small parties have tried in vain, while the longer exterminating measures are delayed these destructive brutes go on increasing and multiplying in number, besides getting bolder and bolder from impunity. Unfortunately in the infested districts under notice it is well nigh impossible to employ elephants, so the war, if entered upon, must be carried out on foot, while the numerous hiding places render hunting still more difficult. Repugnant as it may be to the genuine sportsman the loss of human life makes resort to any dodge for circumventing the enemy justifiable, and as the places wherein leopards love to lurk are far enough removed from habitation electricity could be brought into play for his benefit; a network of wires stretched for some miles in a semi-circle and the country beaten up towards it ought to account for a few, while there is generally sufficient water power available to drive the generator and the plant could be moved from time to time. Neither of the larger cats move far afield from the scene of their depredations and the enclosure of a square mile of the likeliest lairs in the immediate neighbourhood could be rapidly and safely accomplished. True there would be many a scatheless slip through, or over, the wire, but a good many once a noisy enough crowd behind induced him to rush upon his fate would come in contact with the death dealing metals, and it would go hard if one or two could not be secured at each foray in this manner. The "tie up" or even kill, whether human or brute, could be covered by a light crinoline connected with a battery a mile away and this should prove effective, while the result would at the same time be communicated by wire; or prowlers might be bured to their doom by telephone, a good bleating goat ba-a-ing into the receiver while the distributing instruments at the opposite end could be environed by charged wires or furnished with some other device. Sitting up over bait or prowling after a much cuter prowler than oneself, is unsatisfactory work under prevailing circumstances in the three divisions adverted to. It is no use employing a picket where an army corps is required. [M'yes. Why not lay the scheme before Mr. Marconi ED.]

It is announced that an international shooting match will take place at Budapesth next month under Royal patronage. The chief conditions are that the contest is confined to young men born since 1st January 1880, and Army rifles and ammunition must be used. The Egyetemi Athletikai Club have the management of the proceedings.

A DELICIOUS SMOKE.
SPENCER & CO., LD.,
MADRAS.

TORPEDOS SPECIAL.

MILD WITH
PLEASANT AROMA.
OBTAINABLE FROM
ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

News reaches us from Secunderabad of the death of Major C. H. Binsteed of the 1st Madras Lancers, who died at Rajahmundry on the 14th instant of remittent fever, contracted while out tiger shooting. Major Binsteed held his first commission in the Oxfordshire Light Infantry and joined the Indian Army (Madras Staff Corps) in October 1883. He attained the rank of Major in July 1901.

The reappearance in England of that hardy annual the Pistols Bill has moved a writer in The County Gentleman to remark that the Bill is principally aimed not so much against pistols, which are very little in demand in this country, but againt revolvers of the variety which sell for a few shillings, and bear a foreign proof mark. These latter weapons are the majority of those found in the hands of boys and burglars, as well as with respectable citizens stowed away in repositories as protection against midnight attacks. Looking to the small amount of pistol shooting indulged in throughout Great Britain, the roll of accidents by the careless use of pistols is a long and serious one. Madmen or drunkards, whenever the idea occurs to them, can purchase for a few shillings the means of dealing death all round before they take their own lives; and youngsters, on the other hand, forget that the pistol is a much more dangerous weapon than gun or rifle, and inexperience leads them too often to fatal accidents that occasion lifelong regrets. They have to be protected against themselves.

It is somewhat strange that pistol shooting, as a sport, has never become popular in England. In America there are numerous pistol and revolver shooting clubs flourishing, and well supported, where the standard of efficiency reached by the members is very high. Competition in revolver shooting with us is almost entirely confined to the Bisley meeting, where, in years gone by, Mr. Walter Winans showed what could be done with the revolver. It is said by those who are experts that there is much more difficulty in mastering the revolver than there is in the case of the rifle, there being more of the personal element involved with the shorter arm. The Remington target pistol, again, is a very accurate weapon that is very popular in America for short ranges, and affords a great amount of recreation, even to crack shots.

In truth the Englishman has never taken kindly to pistols, whether single shot or magazine weapons as arms of precision for competition and recreation and yet, as we have said, there is a greater difficulty in acquiring skill in pistol than in rifle shooting, while the opportunities for practice with the former are illimitably greater than with the latter, seeing that a pistol or revolver range is easily made at any suburban or country residence, where the occupiers could obtain very enjoyable amusement and acquire great skill in pistol shooting at very slight expense.

The second entries for the Mysore Meeting are most satisfactory. Every race has filled, including the three countrybred events. Racing in this class is always interesting, but up to date has been hardly a success as a separate class. Twelve entries have been obtained for the Maharajah's Cup, thirteen for the Birthday Cup, nineteen for the Stable Cup, twenty-one for the Palace Cup and there are several entries from Western India. The separation of Arabs and countrybreds is evidently a step in the right direction. A successful meeting at Mysore seems assured.

Athletic Notes.

OUR cricketing readers will be interested to learn how much the recent exploits of the Oxford University Authentics on their Indian tour have been appreciated among their colleagues, and that their energetic Honorary Secretary has succeeded in arranging a fixture for them against the 'Varsity at Oxford on 1st, 2nd and 3rd June. The idea is that the Authentics should be represented by as many of the team which visited India as possible, but so far as we can see H. B. Chinnery, R. H. Raphael, G. H. Simpson-Hayward and R. A. Williams are all likely to be absentees, and it is more than probable that the match will resolve itself into practically Oxford University—Past vs. Present, as all the prominent Dark Blue cricketers of the past fifteen years or so figure on the Authentics' member roll. In any case the game should prove a good one and arouse plenty of interest.

The Spring Meeting of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club, St. Andrew's, was held on the 5th and 6th instant, and we may therefore very shortly expect to hear the pronounncement as to the standardisation of the golf ball. General opinion, as voiced by Mr. Horace Hutchinson writing in Country Life, is apparently that the time is not yet ripe for it, and we hardly think that it is likely to be adopted in spite of the attitude taken up by the professional, especially as we hear that J. H. Taylor, certainly the most representative man of his class with club and pen, has recanted from his sworn allegiance to the "Guttie" and been using a "Haskell" in his last two or three public matches.

Worcestershire beat Sussex on the 13th instant by 163 runs.

Warwickshire and Surrey drew on the same date.

Leicestershire was beaten by Lancashire by 108 runs, and the match beaten Notts and Derbyshire ended in a win for the former by six wickets.

THE MOTORIST'S SOLILOQUY

(With Apologies to the Late Prince of Denmark).

To stop, or not to stop; that is the question:
Whether 'tis wiser for a guiltless driver
To halt, when ordered by officious sergeants,
Or to protect himself from future trouble
By just ignoring them? To halt; to tip;
No more. And by a tip to say we stop
That summons for exceeding legal speed
That flesh is heir to! 'Tis a consummation
Devoutly to be wished. To halt—to tip—
To tip—and then be fined! Ay, there's the rub;
For in a court of law there are imposed
Such awful penalties on motorists
That give us pause. There's the respect
That makes us anxious to observe the law,
For who would bear the tedious procedure,
The sergeant's tales, his witness's untruths,
The quips of rural Bench, the mis-read law,
The insolence of office, and the spurns
The patient motorist from reporters takes,
When he could easily prevent them all
With his top speed? Why, who would ever stand
The weird decisions of the Reigate Bench,
But that the dread of something worse than this—
The numbering scheme to label every car
And give the police more scope, puzzles the will,
And makes us rather bear those ills we have,
Than fly to others that we know not of?

—St. James's Gazette.

Who has not often seen the fair sex wrestling with a refractory tyre? A tyre that possesses special advantages for ladies is the Dunlop beaded edge. It can be detached and attached with wonderful ease and rapidity. In fact, the merest novice would not find the slightest difficulty in manipulating it. A capital plan which we have tried with invariable success is, when a puncture occurs, to pass the hand along the outside of the tyre, when the puncturing object will in all probability be located. All that is then necessary is to detach the tyre at the point of perforation, repair, and replace the cover.

Occasionally cycle tyres should be removed (about every 1,000 miles) and given a bath of French chalk. It is surprising the wonderful amount of buoyancy it imparts to a dead running tyre. The chalk should not be used too lavishly, however, lest it may work into hard lumps, and stick to the fabric of the tyre. Just a thin film of chalk is sufficient.

Football hath its W. G. no less than cricket, observes a writer in a home paper. Only in this case he is not a W. G., but a Kinnaird. What the champion is to the summer game, Lord Kinnaird was, and is to the winter sport. He has an unequalled record. How many of those who dined with him the other night, one wonders, recalled the fact that the President of the Football Association was for over 20 years one of the most notable figures on the playing field, as he has ever since been in the Council Chamber? Although he was born in 1847, he played football until 1890. His career completely upsets the theory which most of us who have played the game cherish to-day. That is that the man who plays hard, uses his weight a great deal, and invites reprisals, cannot last long in Socker football. But Lord Kinnaird was not merely one of the most skilful players the game over produced, but one of the hardest. Those who were contemporary with him in his playing days tell some delightful stories against him, and he pleads guilty to them all. In one match between the Old Harrovians and the Old Etonians, as keen rivals then as now, Mr. C. W. Alcock, who was playing for the Harrovians, took advantage of a lull, while the ball was out of play, to ask, "Look here, Kinnaird, are we to play the strict game, or are we going to have hacking?" Without a moment's hesitation there came the cheery answer, "Oh, let's have hacking." And they did. Those who played against him tell us that Lord Kinnaird's legs used to move exactly twice as fast as those of any other man playing. He never wore shinguards, and so agile was he that he never got kicked. His opponents took the precautions—and the kicks.

At last a walking judge has been found who has the courage of his convictions! More than once when the ex-champion, W. J. Sturgess, has been putting up wonderful figures it has been urged that his action would not have satisfied old-time experts, and at the championship meeting at Northampton on Saturday, the 25th ultimo (details in our London Sporting Letter) we find he was "pulled out" when leading. This left the race at the mercy of J. Butler, whose magnificent record from London to Brighton is not likely to be shaken for some time. The ten miles running championship was, of course, a gift for Shrubb, who is quite without an equal at this distance, and by covering the distance in 51 mins. 55⅘secs. may be said to have put up a very fine performance, although unsuccessful in his attack upon record.

In England, writes The Field, the objection has frequently been taken that at our public schools and universities too much attention is bestowed on sport and athletics; while in the army, as we know from the recent report, the desire is to make serious work of more importance than has hitherto been deemed. Curiously enough, in Scotland the complaint of the commissioners is that at the Scottish Universities the evidence discloses a lack of physical training which calls for some remedy. So far as Edinburgh is concerned, and probably the same state of things holds good with regard to Aberdeen, St. Andrew's and Glasgow, it must be remembered that lectures, at least for the medical students, take place practically all day, so that, even if the desire were there, the opportunities for exercise are few. It was represented to the commission that the students at the Scottish Universities are even unable to find time to get their meals properly or at reasonable hours. The authorities, the report says, find themselves obliged to arrange the classes closely together in order that the University course may be taken within the minimum of time. Unlike the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, those in Scotland do not offer the same facilities for exercise. At the English seats of learning a variety of amusements are ready to hand, and almost without exception the undergraduates avail themselves of the propinquity of the river, cricket grounds, running path, racquet and fives courts, gymnasium, and other means of recreation. The Scottish Universities, however, differ in their constitution from Oxford and Cambridge. There is no collegiate life, and consequently no collegiate advantages, and the Edinburgh man who would belong to the recreation ground must travel some distance to find it. Furthermore, the same defect to which attention is drawn in connection with the Universities obtains at schools both primary and secondary. If a boy during his school days has never been taught to regard physical exercise as necessary for his health, and therefore to his education, small wonder that when he enters one of the Scottish Universities he fails to see that exercise is as necessary for him as food and books. Anyone who takes the trouble to read through the voluminous evidence given before the commission, will see that some witnesses of experience are strongly of opinion that physical training in the universities should be made obligatory. As materially assisting in the maintenance of health, it was asserted by some witnesses that a rule making exercise compulsory would tend to promote intellectual progress, and while too many of the best students were inclined to neglect it, this was mainly due to the want of adequate facilities and proper organisation. Professor Hay, who had a good deal to say on the subject, put the matter very forcibly. "I think," he said, "many of them would be a great deal the better for having a certain amount of physical exercise forced upon them. They go through their examination well—perhaps as the result of the extra time they are devoting to their studies, on

SPENCER'S

No. 1, 4½ ins. long, Rs.16 per 1,000
„ 2, 4 „ „ „ 15 „ 1,000.
„ 3, 3½ „ „ „ 14 „ 1,000

JAVAS

SPENCER'S
OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA.
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co

account of their giving no time at all to physical exercise ; but the ultimate outcome of it is not satisfacory—the final discipline of the man and his fitness for ultimate life work has been impaired by it, and one can easily point in any Scotch University to lads who afterwards suffer from not having taken sufficient physical exercise. They may have taken very high places in the university, but they have left it worn out physically and mentally, and fit for nothing strenuous in the battle of life." It is perfectly well known that many men enter the Scottish Universities who never come out of them with a degree of any kind, and those who have passed through the ordeal ascribe the failure of their companions to lack of facility for exercise or games.

Our readers will be much interested in the interview with Mr. K. J. Key which we reprint in another column from the current issue of Cricket. The Oxford University Authentics' skipper gives his opinions on Indian and Anglo-Indian cricket very clearly and pleasantly, and those at home who are interested in the projected visit of a native team next year will find his remarks very much to the point. Amongst other things Mr. Key says:—"At Calcutta there was a native who in any opinion was a magnificent bowler, but I don't think they thought much of him for he wasn't included in the team. I forget his name ; he was very fast, in addition he was a fine field. And looking back it is indeed extraordinary that no one should have thought of the player in question (the C.C.C. senior ground boy) for the Bengal Presidency team against the Authentics. As to his qualifications there could have been no shadow of doubt, for he is out and away the best bowler and fieldsman in Calcutta. At present he is filling an engagement up at Simla which Captain Wigram got him."

His friends out here will be glad to read that Mr. Norman Macbeth, Junr., has been showing his best golfing form at home, for on the second day of the recent Spring Meeting of the Lytram and St. Anne's Golf Club the best scores for the Clifton Gold Medal (scratch) were as follows :—

Mr. Norman Macbeth, junr.	...	77
Mr. John Bull	...	79
Mr. H H. Hilton	...	80

Truly a proud position for any golfer, and one which Mr. Macbeth has occupied before now on occasion.

The Oxford and Cambridge golf match at Sandwich was expected to be a very level affair, but as events proved the Dark Blues once more secured an easy victory—by 27 holes. This was in a great measure due to the fine lead which Mr. "Johnny" Branston gave his side by defeating the well-known young St. Andrew's player, Mr. Ned Scratton, by 9 holes. Mr. Branston must have thoroughly recovered from his recent illness for to do 78 and 82 in a north-easterly gale at Sandwich is the best of going, and it is to be hoped that he will have given his admirers another taste of his quality in the Amateur Championship which is under decision at Muirfield as we write, though there is little doubt that Mr. Roxwell in view of his consistently fine performances and his intimate knowledge of the course will start favourite, and his victory would be no less appropriate than popular.

This week's English mail brings us news of the death of Sir Robert Menzies, Bart., a famous old oarsman. He was 86 years of age and was a prominent figure in a chapter of amateur rowing history. He was an undergraduate of University College, Oxford, and obtained his Blue in 1842, rowing No. 2 in the last race rowed from Westminster to Putney. In 1843 the Oxford crew competed for the Grand Challenge Cup at Henley, the deceased baronet rowing bow, and his brother, Mr. Fletcher N. Menzies, was again stroke. The latter had been unwell from the time of leaving Oxford, and as the Oxonian oarsmen were entering their boat to row the final heat against Cambridge Subscription Rooms, a London club, stroke fell down in a faint. The rules of the regatta forbade the substitution of any man in the boat, so the Oxonians determined to compete with seven oars. No. 6 took the stroke thwart and bow went to No. 7, the bow thwart being left vacant. In spite of their handicap, Oxford held their own from the very start, cleared their opponents before reaching Poplar Point and eventually won easing up by two lengths at Henley Bridge, then the finishing point of the race.

Our Bombay correspondent writes.—The promoters of the scheme to send a team of native cricketers to England next year have just received a reply to the Committee's letter of March 18th from Lord Hawke, the popular Yorkshire captain, stating that their letter would be placed before the Yorkshire committee on April 30th at a general meeting, and that a further communication would be received by the Indian committee in due course. News was also received by the last mail from a well known cricketer, who was associated with Indian cricket in the middle nineties, to the effect that a sum probably reaching £900 will be forthcoming in the shape of subscriptions from patrons of the game in England and India as a result of his own personal efforts on behalf of the committee. Other promises of support have been received from England—in fact every mail now brings fresh news of the most hopeful nature to the promoters of the scheme. I understand that a letter has been sent to Prince Ranjitsinhji by the committee inviting him to captain the team—I suppose the committee mean in the more important matches, as the famous batsmen is not likely to be able to assist the side in all its fixtures. It is, however, regarded as a foregone conclusion that he will figure in the eleven in the most important fixtures. Of course the committee have a lot of details to arrange, but I am informed that the arrangements are well advanced, and suppose that before very long we shall hear that the date has been fixed for the team's departure for England, which I understand will be in March next.

The Aga Khan Hockey Tournament will be commenced on Monday, and as I mentioned last week, it has attracted a record entry. The draw took place an evening or two since, as a result of which eight teams will figure in the first round, the others all having drawn byes—The North Staffordshire Regiment will meet the Cathedral Old Boys' "A" team, the Elphinstone College the Bombay Gymkhana, the Cathedral Old Boys' "B" team the Buffs, and the Esplanade Wanderers the team representing the Oxfordshire Light Infantry Band. As might naturally be expected, any amount of practice has been in progress during the past week, and a number of interesting friendly games have taken place. About the best was that between the Cathedral Old Boys and the North Stafforshire Regiment. The play throughout was of a fast and exciting nature. The "Old Boys" drew first blood, but their opponents speedily equalised, and when time sounded the score stood two goals each. In the second half, however, the "Old Boys" played a very strong game, and made repeated attacks on the soldiers' goal. They soon added two more goals to their score, and it looked as if they were going to pile up a big score. After this, however, the soldiers held them in check until near the end, when the boys scored their fifth goal and eventually left the field winners by five goals to two. Throughout the winners displayed excellent combination, and, being in perfect training, I expect to see them go very near once more winning the cup,—they won it in 1901, but last year were beaten in the final by the Shropshire Light Infantry, who have since proceeded to England. Another interesting game was that between the the Bombay Gymkhana and the Government Telegraph Club. In the first half the Gymkhana had slightly the best of matters, and crossed over with a lead of one goal to nil. On play being resumed, the telegraph players soon equalised, but before the close the Gymkhana once more scored, and won by two goals to one. In the match between the North Staffords and the Elphinstone College Gymkhana both sides scored a goal, the result therefore being a drawn game.

The Bombay Gymkhana Lawn Tennis "Singles" Tournament has been continued during the past week and some of the matches have been productive of very interesting play. In my notes last week I mentioned that two games remained to be played off in the second round, and these were decided in the early part of the week. In one Mr. W. Reid, who has been carrying everything before him this year, met Mr. Caine (—15), Reid's handicap being —30. In the first round both had won their games in the easiest of fashion, and it was therefore

JAMES PYMM.
TURF ACCOUNTANT,
5, Wellesley Place, Calcutta.
Established 1890.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BEER.
ASK FOR PABST BEER
Sub-Agents.
A. H. WHEELER & Co., Bombay.
SPENCER & Co. Ld., Madras.
MURRAY & Co. Ld., Lucknow.
G. F. Kellner & Co., Calcutta and Branches.
DAVENPORT & Co., Calcutta,
Sole Agents & Importers.

T. Assheton-Smith, M.R.C.V.S. (Lond.),
SPECIALIST IN THE TREATMENT
. . OF . .
TROPICAL DISEASES
. . OF . .
THE HORSE AND DOG.
184, Dharamtala Street, Calcutta.

EROOM & CO.,
CALCUTTA.

The N.-W. Soap Co., Ld.,
CALCUTTA & MEERUT,
MANUFACTURE
Three Leading Lines in Soap.
MOLINE
PERFECT FOR THE TOILET.
ELYSIUM
BEST FOR HOUSEHOLD USE.
AURORA
FAMILY TOILET, CHEAP & GOOD
ALSO
BEST CANDLES.
ASK THE MERCHANT
With whom you deal for these Articles.

AN EXCELLENT SMOKE
. . WITH . .
DELICATE AROMA.
OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.

GOLD MOHUR BOUQUETS.

SPENCER & CO., LD., Madras.
Factory : Dindigul.
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta :
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

anticipated that their meeting in the second round would be productive of some interesting play. In this anticipation spectators were not disappointed for although Reid was the better man all through there were some capital rallies. The other match in this round was between Mr. Coombs (+¼15) and Mr. Worgan (—¼15), both of whom had drawn byes in the earlier round last named, started off strongly and won the first set, but after this Coombs played up much better and won by two sets to one. This therefore left Messrs. Rumball (—15), Cheetham (—15½), Reid (—30), and Coombs (+¼15) to play off the semi-final round. In consequence of Rumball having been called away from Bombay for a few days, he and Cheetham have not yet met, but Reid and Coombs played off on Friday evening. Considering the handicap it was thought that Coombs had a fair chance of lowering his opponent's colours. In the first set he played one of the best games I have ever seen him do, and won. After this, however, there was really only one man in it, and that wasn't Coombs. Reid played with excellent judgment and won the record set, which necessitated a third being played, and in the latter he soon had Coombs in difficulties, and eventually won by six games to two. It now looks very much as if he and Cheetham will have to meet in the final, as I fancy the latter will prove just a little bit too good for Rumball. This is the third "Singles" Tournament that has been held this year—Cheetham and Reid have met each other in both the previous ones and the latter has proved victorious both times. Will the positions be reversed on this occasion?

In another month the Bombay Cricket season of 1903 will have commenced. So far as the Bombay Gymkhana is concerned, the prospects are none too bright, a number of the best men having proceeded on leave, while I have only heard of one or two new men with anything like reputations as batsmen or bowlers. I have just been favoured with a glance at the fixtures, which are very much the same as in previous years. The opening date is June 13th, for which the usual match Civil vs. United Services has been arranged, but I learn that it is somewhat doubtful whether it will be played, as the Gymkhana ground is not likely to be ready for play until the first week in July. I was having a look at it an evening or two since, and fancy that the wicket will be a little better than last year. If it is not it won't be for want of time devoted to the ground, for it has been in hand since November—it was dug up soon after the visit of the Oxford Authentics, and men have been at work on it ever since. But to return to the fixture list. Matches have been arranged as follows:—June 27th, B. B. and C. I. Railway; July 4th, 21st Bombay Infantry; July 11th, North Staffords; July 18th, Y. M. C. A.; July 25th, Hindu Gymkhana; August 1st, Parsee Gymkhana; August 7th and 8th, Poona Gymkhana (in Bombay); August 22nd, Elphinstone College; August 26th, Parsee Gymkhana; August 29th, Islam Gymkhana; September 5th, Municipal C. C.; September 12th, B. B. and C. I. Railway; September 14th, Hindu Gymkhana; September 15th, Byculla Club; September 17th and 18th, Poona Gymkhana (at Poona); September 26th, Civil vs. United Services. Invitations to bring teams to Bombay were extended to Ahmedabad, Dharwar, and Mhow, but neither are unable to accept the same. The Bombay match between the Presidency and Parsees is fixed for August 13th, 14th, and 15th, and the Poona match for September 21st, 22nd, and 23rd. Prior to the Bombay match it is proposed to play a trial match, either North and South or Civil and United Services. An excellent list of fixtures has also been arranged for the Gymkhana "A" team. Mr. A. C. Rumball has again been elected Captain of the Gymkhana, with Mr. Aston as Honorary Secretary, while Captain Macdonald will skipper the "A" team.

With the races held on Saturday last, the Bombay yachting season of 1902-03 was brought to a close. Taken on the whole, the season may well be described as having been a successful one, and we have had evidence of more interest being taken in this class of sport in Bombay. Considering the splendid facilities which our harbour affords for yachting, it is, however, surprising that a great many more people don't go in for yachting, and I hope that next season we shall see a much larger number of yachts contesting the weekly races arranged by the sailing committee of the Royal Bombay Yacht Club. Personally speaking I cannot imagine a more pleasant way of spending an afternoon than in going for a sail in the harbour, especially during the hot weather, for while it is very hot on shore there is always a cool breeze blowing in the harbour. But to return to the past season's racing. Cups were offered by the club for the boats winning the largest number of races in their respective classes. That in the "A" class has been won by Captain Hunter and Mr. Hopkins' Sapphire; that in the "B" class by Mr. E. E. Smitham's Pixie, and that for Tomtits by Mr. C. H. Byrne's Meg. Both the "A" and "B" class races have been well contested during the season, but I have been a little surprised to find more men not going in for boats of the Tomtit class, for they can be purchased for a very moderate sum, while the amount necessary to spend on them during the year is very small. No doubt we shall see an increase next year—at any rate, I hope so. Owing to the Indian Defence Squadron having been abandoned and practically the whole of the ships of the East India squadron being either up the Gulf or doing duty in connexion with the Somaliland operations, most of the races arranged for ships' boats have fallen through during the past two or three months. It is to be hoped that next season we shall see the crews of merchant vessels taking an interest in these races.

Our Bangalore correspondent writes:—A hockey team from Madras will probably visit Bangalore in a few weeks and will try conclusions with the local gymkhana. Matches will also be played against the Bangalore Rifle Volunteers, the Essex Regiment and possibly against a combined team of the artillery in the station. There is plenty of good hockey material in the city at present, and some good matches should result.

I have the best authority for denying the statement which has lately appeared in a good many Indian papers that H.H. the Maharajah of Mysore has granted Jayaram leave to stay in England for the purpose of playing with a possible Indian cricket team. That such leave is under consideration and may possibly be arranged is a fact, but nothing official has yet transpired, and there are certain difficulties to be overcome. A further specific statement which has appeared in print, to the effect that such leave will cost the State of Mysore several thousands of rupees, is in the last degree absurd. That H.H. the Maharajah takes interest in Jayaram's cricket is most probable; that he could or would allow that cricket to cost the State several thousands of rupees is practically an impossibility, and would be a terrible precedent for other native princes to follow.

The annual Calcutta Golf Club competition for the St. Andrew's Silver Tankard takes place on the 29th and 30th instant.

Arrangements are being made for a boxing contest under Queensberry Rules for the championship of Burma between Sydney McDermott, who is in civil employ, and Bombardier McGinnis, of the 70th Co., R. G. A., the conditions being: 20 rounds of two minutes each (one minute interval) at 10st. 4lbs. each, winner to take 75 per cent. and the loser 25 per cent. of the net proceeds. The match will probably come off at the Jubilee Hall, Rangoon, next Saturday.

The Poona boxing tournament on Tuesday night came in for a stroke of real bad luck. Shortly before 9 o'clock a terrific dusstorm broke over the city, sweeping down the boxing arena and stopping the proceedings. The electric light arc lamps were saved; but the engine was stopped by the wind, and hundreds of people had to grope their way from the middle of the maidan in dense clouds of blinding dust and intense darkness.

The late Earl of Egremont determined to give up his pack of foxhounds, and offered the whole, or part, to the Duke of Richmond, who agreed to accept a certain number of the "spotted beauties."

The earl told his huntsman, Luke Freeman, that he might have all the duke left. Luke then rode to Goodwood with the entire pack. The duke, not being able to satisfy himself with his choice, at length told Luke to select for him those which he thought the best. Luke Freeman was not very long over his selection, and, on reaching the park gates, found the duke waiting there.

"Well, Freeman" said he, "what have you left me? The youngest and best, I suppose?"

"Oh! yes your grace; I have left you all the youngest and most of the best."

"Very well," remarked the duke. "Leave me those you have with you, and take those you selected for me yourself."

Luke Freeman saw then how very easily he had been sold, but, of course, he had to agree to the bargain.

General Notes.

THE Knights of the Black Heart at Simla will give a dinner and dance on 10th June.

Continual showers of rain rather interfered with the gathering at the annual Sipi Fair, which opened at Mashobra, near Simla, last week.

The news of the death of Mr. Ernest Smith comes as a shock to his many friends in Calcutta. Mr. Smith was Deputy Manager of the Calcutta Tramways Company and first came to India in 1887. He left for home last November on sick leave and died on the 17th instant.

Darjeeling was visited by a severe hailstorm last Friday; three artillerymen at Kalapahar, while cooking, were struck by lightning, the electric fluid coming down the chimney injuring one man who is recovering in hospital, and burning the trousers of the other two. Lucky they weren't Highlanders!

H.E. the Viceroy will leave Simla about the 21st September for his autumn tour, which will this year be in Kashmir. His Excellency will be accompanied by Sir Walter Lawrence, Colonel Baring, Colonel Armstrong and two Aides-de-camp. It is probable that the Viceroy will visit the Andamans later on in the season.

Private White, 6th Dragoon Guards, who is now stationed in Bangalore, has been advised by an Australian firm of solicitors that he has been left a sum of £29,000 under the will of an uncle lately deceased. Rumour has it that the legatee cannot actually inherit for another four years, but it is an undoubtedly big stroke of luck for a trooper of Dragoons. It is likely that he will purchase his discharge.

It is stated that Mr. Maurice Bandmann with a Comedy Company is coming to Calcutta next year. The announcement will probably fail to kindle much enthusiasm in old Calcutta theatre-goers who remember the Bandmann-Baudet fiasco of the early eighties when Bandmann and our esteemed contemporary the Indian Daily News fought many a pitched battle in which the German mummer came off second best every time.

The Lower Orphan School at Kidderpore has been closed. This must not be confounded with the famous "Kidderpore House," which is still going, though the day is not far distant when the minimum of inmates having been touched, Government will step in and take possession of this historical building. The Lower Orphan School, what was left of it, had been for years occupying a wing of "Kidderpore House," hence the misleading statements that have been published.

A Signalman was going along the B-N. R embankment at Chundrakona when a leopard charge him and is said to have pulled his arm completely off him. I have not seen the man, but anyway he is in hospital. He managed to get up the signal ladder whence he was rescued by a passing train. Here is another instance of leopards using railway lines to walk along, a point a contributor of ours has always maintained, namely, that leopards and panthers do make regular migratory highways of the railway.

Field Marshal Sir George White is not unmindful of his friends and comrades out here, as shown in a recent letter written to the C.L.H:—Sir George White states he has been much gratified to receive the telegram of congratulation from the Calcutta Light House on his promotion, and begs to thank them for their kindly remembrance of him. Sir George White adds he often thinks of the sporting morning rides at Ballyganj, in which so many of the Calcutta Light Horse took part, and hopes that many of his old comrades in that field are still going straight and strong.

The death of Mr. C. F. Findlay removes a popular personality from Calcutta. As Chief Engineer of the E. I. R. he had hosts of friends and official connections, while those who knew only his sporting and social side will equally miss him. He graduated at Trinity Hall, Cambridge, as tenth Wrangler, in 1876, and was elected Fellow of his College in the same year, subsequently becoming a member of the Senate of the University. He rowed in his college boat when it was at the head of the river. After some years in England, Mr. Findlay proceeded to Peru and carried out some important engineering contracts there; and when these had been completed, he entered the offices of Sir A. M. Rendel and Son, the Consulting Engineers to the Secretary of State for India and to the East Indian Railway Company, leaving that firm in 1895 he came out as Chief Engineer of the East Indian Railway. For some years he was a member of the Calcutta Rowing Club, but recently he found no time to take an active part in rowing, though he was always keen to see those under him on the members' list.

SPENCER'S CIGARS ARE OBTAINABLE AT MESSRS. BEWLAYS'.
Establishments 49, 74, 77 & 156, Strand, W.C.; 143, Cheapside, E.C.; 55, Queen Victoria Street, E.C.;
5, First Avenue Hotel Buildings, Holborn, W.C.; and 90B., Regent Street, London, W.

London Week by Week.

(From our own correspondent.)

Friday, 1st May 1903.

THE general satisfaction felt at the splendid reception given the King at Rome has been little marred by the hysterical squeal of a crew of blatant zealots which calls itself the Church Association. These few fanatics met at St. James' Hall the other night and concocted a telegram censuring the King for allowing his advisers to arrange his visit to the Pope: and this they have had the impudence to send him. What an extraordinary thing it is that religious fanaticism should read mischief into so ordinary a courtesy: the wonder is that the C. A. idiots did not raise their eloquent voices against the King's visit to a Catholic country at all.

* * * * * *

The death of Mr Hanbury removes a strong man and an administrator who put his heart into his work. He took a very lively interest in the much vexed question of horse-breeding in England and, had he lived, would have done something towards restoring the industry. I had the honour of meeting him at lunch last spring at the Agricultural Hall when the horse shows were on and there was no mistaking the earnestness with which he discussed the matter with Sir Walter Gilbey and one or two others who feel strongly on the horse-breeding question. He has left a splendid example for future residents of the Board of Agriculture to follow, for he made the office a working living concern and convinced the farming interest that he had its affairs near at heart.

* * * * * *

Favoured with a Press Ticket for the Academy that opens to the public next Monday, thither went I to herd me with critics and drink wisdom at their lips in the intervals of admiring what seemed good to me. I learned that (a) it is the best show seen for some years, (b) that it is the worst a fellow can remember, (c) that there is no "picture of the year" (wherein I humbly agree), and (d) that the R. A's. are poorly represented, while there is neither more rubbish nor less than usual. There is certainly no picture that stands out from the ruck and jumps to your mind's eye. Sargent has half a dozen portraits, but none so striking as some we have seen, that of Mrs. Chamberlain is the best of the half dozen to my thinking. It is remarkably like her and the method of treatment conveys a sense of the lady's vivacity. Shannon also has half a dozen portraits (when is he to receive the full honours, by the way?) I liked best that of Miss Dulcie Lawrence Smith, aged eight or nine, a charming picture of a pretty child. Luke Fildes has the place of honour in the big room with what I respectfully consider a portrait unworthy of it: "Mrs. James Reynolds and her daughter Leila" is his only contribution to the show, which may or may not explain the distinction conferred upon it.

* * * * * *

Sir L. Alma Tadema is content with one contribution: so is Mr. Abbey. H. W. B. Davis has three, none very distinguished, and Frank Dicksee three. Peter Graham has two, the usual pattern—rocks embellished with kittiwakes. Our leading painters ought to excel in their chosen field when they limit the exercise of their art to exactly the same subject year after year. Herbert von Herkomer has no fewer than six portraits: the one which most appealed to me is that of Baden-Powell: roughly, almost brutally, put on the canvas, but a portrait that lives and speaks across the room. The President has half a dozen and Ouless seven—but a catalogue of this sort wont interest anybody. War pictures are few this time, naturally enough: I recall only two of them: one Lady Butler's "Within sound of the Guns," a cloud of horsemen in no particular formation racing over a sandy flat, is both good and bad, the artist has got one horse into the most amazing attitude horse never attained.

* * * * * *

Coronation processions and allied topics there are ad lib; but it must be allowed that the echo of the great event is a trifle faint here and there: as when you find a very good and vigorous seascape with a battleship in the middle-distance boldly described as H.M.S. something or other "returning from the Coronation Review:" this sort of thing rather recalls the style of picture on Wisdom While You Wait, where in the article on Motor-cars you have the picture of "Light-house as seen from Motor-car."

* * * * * *

Another new club—two new clubs in fact. The "Country Gentlemen's" has started under rather unusual conditions: it has no house of its own and is the guest of the Blenheim at 12, St. James' Square, until such time as it may feel able or disposed to find accommodation for itself. Its aims, vide prospectus, are to provide (1) a centre in London specially devoted to the landed interest, and affording comfortable premises for its members; (2) rooms for meetings to discuss land questions raised by the club or kindred societies; and (3) an extensive library dealing with every phase of country life. The qualification for membership is the ownership, occupation of professional connection with landed property. The landed interest is pretty well supplied with clubs already, but I suppose there is always room for a good thing. The other new venture is the "Ladies' Field Club" at 32, Dover Street; it had a house warming on Monday and starts under favourable auspices. The hen club that is going ahead is the Ladies' Army and Navy; the Dover Street house wouldn't hold it and it is moving into what was the old Bristol Hotel, which should make a first rate club house: but it will take a long members' roll, I perpend, to stand the rent of such a house in such a situation, to say nothing of rates and taxes.

* * * * * *

The first dramatic event of the week to be noticed is the production at the Lyric of "The Medal and the Maid," music by Sidney Jones, book by Owen Hall and Lyric by Taylor, Rollet and Rubens. It is described as musical comedy, but the constructors have dealt so lightly with the plot that the piece were better labelled opera-bouffé: I am not finding fault with it: the music is distinctly tuneful and some of the songs will surely catch on: the business is amusing and when the piece has been pulled into shape a little it will go even better than it goes now, which is saying a good deal. The scene lies at Cannes (Act I) and on a Greek island (Act II) whither the entire cast has been transported by brigands. The business depends on the exchange of dress and lot between Merva Summingdale (Miss Ruth Vincent), schoolgirl heiress, and Josephine (Miss Sylvia Sablanc), flowergirl: and the fun comes largely from Miss Ada Reeve who, as Miss Ventnor, conducts a ladies' school at Cannes. Her curriculum includes all the arts and crafts by which girls may secure desirable husbands: an idea that "fetched" the house immensely is the rewarding of pupils at the end of term with an extra frill on the petticoat. The same idea supplies Miss Ada Reeve with her best song. Mr. J. E. Sullivan as the music master, has a part full of possibilities: following a fashion I have before noted he makes up as Sousa, the much advertising conductor. Mr. Norman Salmond as the Brigand chief had a great reception, and Mr. F. Ranalow, a tenor of the Hadyn Coffin school, also did uncommonly well: the latter's duet with Miss Vincent, "Consequences," is quite one of the best songs in the piece.

* * * * * *

"Das Rheingold," wherewith Covent Garden opened on Monday, is of course for Wagnerites: but what on earth does it matter who did the music or anything else so long as it is "the Opera"? It is the proper thing to go to the opera and anything produced on the stage of Covent Garden is a detail: what does count is the assemblage in the boxes.

My authorised agent went to the performance and being musical has produced four foolscap sheets of patient and discriminating criticism of the methods and performances of Herren Bertram, Van Dyck, Lieban and others. I vote we take them (those four foolscaps sheets I mean) as read. You know you wouldn't print them if I sent them to you.

The Stage Society broke out on Monday at the Imperial with a sad and soul harrowing play in four acts by a Dutch playwright: name "The Good Hope;" theme the Bad Shipowner. It is very lifelike—wonderfully so, and therefore the more distressing. Clemens Bos owns a herring fleet and takes no pains about anything connected with his boats but their insurance: there are storms and loss of life and tears and much that is sordid and pathetic, even gruesome. I grant the power of "The Good Hope" and render cordial testimony to the remarkable ability of the caste from top to bottom. I don't know that I have ever seen actors and actresses identify themselves more unreservedly with the author's conceptions, a rare tribute to his genius (did I say that Hermann Heigermans was the author?): but it is hardly an overstatement to say that you are not tempted even to smile from start to finish, and the fall of the curtain on widows, and mothers who are not widows is a positive relief.

* * * * * *

The "Marriage of Kitty" going strong as ever was transferred on Monday night to the Criterion, where it follows a curtain raiser by the Morning Post correspondent, Mr. Prevost Battersby, called "The Way of War."

* * * * * *

The dramatic event of the week of course is Sir Henry Irving's production of Sardou and Moreau's Dante, translated by Laurence Irving, at Drury Lane—its quite an effort to mentally divorce the names of Irving and the Lyceum. It appeared only last night and that is why it comes part in these notes. If I had to describe it in a word the word would be "Spectacular." Sir Henry takes the title rôle of course and it fits him perfectly; better than any part I can remember to have seen him in: we miss Ellen Terry who is a-viking at the Imperial, but the caste is such a long one I dare not begin to consider it even. The action of the play is rather overpowered by the stage management, the scenery, the well-marshalled crowds and the general appeal to the eye. Whether it was a regular Drury Lane audience which expects the spectacular; or a regular Lyceum audience which is content with Irving in whatever shape he pleased to appear, I can't decide; but the reception of the play was simply rapturous: the whole house was delighted with it; murders, mysteries, medievalities and all. I suppose Act III was really the one that impressed itself most strongly: in this Dante under the escort of Virgil visits the Inferno, and nothing better in the way of scenery has ever been put on the London stage: if provocative of bad dreams, I apprehend that is what is intended. The fiery graves and other less appalling sights are to be remembered.

* * * * * *

The much discussed election of a new Secretary to the Zoological Society came off on Wednesday, when Dr. Chalmers Mitchell was appointed by a thumping majority. I know nothing of the relative merits of Dr. Mitchell and Mr. Sclater, junior: the latter, I understand, is both capable and courteous: but he owes his unfortunate position to the flagrant and barefaced job his esteemed father tried to rush through. It is a tribute to the apathy of the Council and the body of fellows that Dr. P. L. Sclater should have believed such high handed methods would be tolerated. He was going to resign: his berth was a nice soft one and with more paternal regard than discretion called his son home from Capetown, resigned his post in the middle of a session, put his son in as Secretary pro tem and then asked the Fellows to confirm it. Thanks much to the temperate and judicious management of His Grace of Bedford the sense of the Fellows was roused. I have a notion that the late secretary for all his acknowledged ability was not over popular: he was what the Kail-yard School calls a "magerful man"—too masterful by half; and there was a widespread feeling that a change from the Sclater régime would be both acceptable and beneficial to the society.

* * * * * *

The "Moat House Mystery" is one no longer. On Monday, a labourer who had been employed to help the police in their search with the spade, made a discovery—a woman's foot in stocking and boot, and careful digging brought to light the long sought corpse. The late Miss Holland's relatives and domestics have examined the clothing and remains and profess their conviction that they are those of the missing lady, assigning reasons for their belief which leave no room for doubt. The man Dougal has now been charged with the murder.

OBTAINABLE . . FROM . . ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

TORPEDOS.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS In CALCUTTA: Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

The plover's egg is with us in its habitual tens of thousands. If the cuckoo is the herald of spring the peewit is the herald of the London season. I have never been able to discover the beauty of plover's eggs myself as an article of food; but others are more discriminating, with this difference that a plover's egg is acceptable at any stage short of actual hatching while the egg of the humble hen would be rejected as fit only for electioneering purposes if one-half as near chickenhood. Nearly every year somebody or other rushes into print to warn us that half the eggs sold as plover's are really those of the kittiwake or some other smaller gull; being with an eminent naturalist in Bond Street a day or two ago, the spirit moved us to look for gull's eggs in the game dealers' windows; we drew Bond Street and Jermyn Street blank and at the end of the latter I gave up: eminent naturalist with the perseverance that makes for success, said he would try a shop or two in the Strand and then cab it to Leadenhall market. He has since sent me a postcard to say he found none but "genuine cristatus eggs" everywhere. I am sorry to hear it, as I understand the plover is a bird of blameless character and regarded as useful by farmers.

* * * * * *

The London County Council are going to try to put down the practice of spitting in the streets. I wish them luck: one always passes in front of the meditative British workman in fear and trembling: but dear me! Supposing the unlovely habit to be made an offence what will become of us dry mouthed and law abiding citizens? There will be no bobbies left to regulate traffic and discharge other duties: they'll have to enlarge the police courts and multiply the strength of the magistracy by ten—an hundredfold. The earnest and conscientious policeman will fill his note book daily and hourly with names and addresses of offenders to be summoned, unless the churches are placed at the disposal of the police to house the arrested. 'Tis a brave idea, but me fears impracticable.

ONLOOKER.

Review.

"THE HORSEWOMAN"

THIS may be called the product of collaboration: Mrs. Hayes is the author, and Captain M. H. Hayes' name appears as editor on the title page: readers of books by the latter will readily recognise his hand in this excellent book. It is described as the second edition of the work which appeared some time ago, but in its enlarged form and increased wealth of photographs is practically a new book, and deserves notice as such.

The book is above all things a practical one: like her husband, or guided by him, Mrs. Hayes is most thorough in her methods and treats exhaustively of everything she touches, whether it be safety bars and stirrups, boots, hats or hairdressing. She knows her subject to the bottom and has it at her finger tips. The only suspicion of "padding" is in the illustrations. The vast majority of these are in harmony with the text, that is to say practical, clear and well chosen: but when we find a photograph of "a brook" we are tempted to wonder what manner of woman or man it will instruct. It is a very good photograph and no doubt does the book justice: but we do not feel that inspection of it has done much to give us a closer seat or a lighter hand. The mass of the work is so eminently satisfactory and so sound that we can forgive these pictorial lapses when they occur: for it is safe to say that "The Horsewoman" is the most complete book of its kind that has appeared.

* "The Horsewoman." By Alice Hayes. Edited by M. H. Hayes. 2nd Edition. Hurst and Blackett.

TERRIERS.

This is a new edition, the third, of Mr. Rawdon Lee's book. A new and corrected impression had been made necessary by the legislation against ear cropping, and therefore a few of the old plates have been withdrawn in favour of new ones by Mr. Arthur Wardle, showing examples of certain breeds of terriers with their ears in their natural completeness. The Law, it may be observed, has not extended a protecting hand to the tail of the Fox-terrier. The book is so well known that it is not necessary to say more of this new issue.

* "Modern Dogs" (Terriers). 3rd Edition. By Rawdon B. Lee. Horace Cox.

A FARMER in Essex, well known some years ago with Lord Petre's hunt, had an animal which was a remarkably clever jumper. Friends often tried to coax him out of the horse at a strong price.

"No," he would say, "it is as much as my neck is worth to part with him."

The fact was, the farmer was a most determined goer in the field, but a much harder one in a public-house, and frequently when it was so dark the horse could hardly see, and the master not at all, he used to start off across the fields; somehow he stuck on, and the horse went home as straight as a gun-shot.

He was once seen to take a gate with his master in the saddle and his arms most lovingly round the horse's neck. A foriend told him he would be found one night, horse and all, in one of the Essex ditches.

Nay," said he, "there is not a ditch in the country we were not in the first year I had him; he knows them too well now to get in again."

Shikar.

WITH CANOE AND RIFLE IN THE SHAN STATES.

III

WE had now completed our first week on the trip, and at the rate we travelled should have covered some 230 miles already.

We had not done so, however, for although, when moving, our rate was not less than five miles an hour, we had to stop fairly often during the course of each day for one reason or another. So that in all, I calculated, we had done no more than 200 miles, if as much, and from after experience it turned out that it was considerably less than this.

We halted for the night at the head of the big rapid, and during the afternoon my servants and the boatmen got the stores unloaded and placed on the bank. On the next morning, I set out, taking only my Indian cook and the shikari with me, as the boy had to remain with the boatmen and assist them in carrying the stores down the bank, a work of some trouble.

We followed the course of the river for a little way as I wanted to get a good view of the rapids, which I obtained from the high bank we were on. We could see them for a long distance down, and realised the impossibility of any boat attempting the passage, for a stretch of several hundred yards of the river was a mass of foam with rocks protruding in places from the surface, while many more were just covered by the water and would be therefore invisible to anyone attempting the passage, although several of these could be clearly seen from our standpoint.

Leaving the bank we struck off in a south-westerly direction. My intention was to make for a village known to my shikari to be somewhere in this district, although he did not know exactly where, as he had not come by this route before. He said, however, that the inhabitants were Karens, and that it could not be more than a day's march from the river, and that game was plentiful in its neighbourhood.

We therefore pushed along, hoping to meet some Karens who could direct us to the village, but after marching for some hours without meeting anyone, we had to halt. We saw little or no game, except monkeys, which were plentiful here and made the jungle resound with their cries. On two occasions sambhur does that were lying in the grass jumped up and made off at our approach. We rested for an hour and had some food, and then started again. We found we were now getting into rather broken country with low hills in every direction, and no signs of habitation or of cultivation. We continued our march, however, and towards evening must have covered about 20 miles from the river. Before it got dark we ascended a hill, with the object of trying to discover a village of any sort, or signs of habitation, but although I searched the country for several miles with my glasses, I could see no appearance of such. We therefore decided to descend the hill again and camp at its foot. The two men quickly succeeded in raising a shelter for me of boughs and leaves, quite sufficient to keep off the dew, and as the nights were warm, nothing more was required.

We passed the night here and next day moved off again at daybreak. We had gone some miles when at last we came on a fairly well defined path leading south and after following it for some way we met some Karens whom my shikari accosted and they told us their village was not far off. This was good news for us, for we were beginning to doubt if we should find a village at all, so uninhabited was the country we were in.

The men led us back, and in quarter of an hour or so we got to the village. It proved to be quite a small one and not the one my shikari knew of, which on enquiry we were told was a long way to the south. This convinced me that our progress on the river had not been as rapid as I calculated, for had we kept an even speed of 5 miles an hour, or about 45 miles each day exclusive of halts, we should have been near the village known to my man, which was marked on a map I had.

However, we were told that game was to be found in these jungles, and so I determined to spend a day or two here before proceeding towards the river again.

There were two or three hunters in the village and I saw some heads of bison, sambhur and tsine adorning the houses, so that game certainly existed it appeared.

The men proposed we should go out after tsine on the following day, saying that the ground was nearer than that frequented by the bison. This being arranged, we spent the night in one of the houses of the village, which the owners were good enough to vacate for me and my two followers.

We started, a party of four, the next morning, and moved off north. Two Karen hunters came with the shikari and myself. They told me we ought to meet with tsine in the low hilly ground north of the village and about seven miles from it.

We accordingly set out at a rapid pace for some miles, and on reaching the hills again we spread out to look for tracks. The shikari and I were together and had gone some little distance without getting on to signs of game, when one of the Karens returned and told us there were fresh tracks about a mile to our left. We therefore set out as quickly as possible in that direction, and after crossing a valley, reached the place where he had seen them. The tracks led us north again, and were those of two animals, declared by my shikari as well as by the Karen hunter, to be tsine. We followed on for over an hour without any great difficulty, but after that reached more broken country, and the tracking was not so easy. We were having a rest by a small stream, when the other Karen overtook us. He had also come on the tracks of the tsine, and following them had hit off our trail and so had come on quickly after us.

While I was having some food I had brought with me, the Karen hunters went on a little way to see how the tracks led, and on our overtaking them they pointed out a nullah in which the tsine had apparently been lying down, not very long before, but had now moved on. After another hour's going we came to a similar nullah filled with high grass. We had approached it carefully, as it seemed not improbable that the tsine might be in it. While we were halted and debating our next move, however, two tsine suddenly dashed out of this nullah and up a small rise. I fired at the nearer one, but regretted afterwards I had done so, as it was only a chance shot and the animals would probably now be scared. On going up to the place, however, we found some drops of blood, and further on a well defined blood trail, so that my shot had not been a miss.

Following this trail as quickly as possible, we found that the wounded animal had separated from the other, which gave us hopes that he was badly hit. This turned out to be the case, for a little further on, we came on him standing under a tree. I approached to within thirty yards without his seeing me, and there was able to get an easy shot. He dashed off at once, but after going only a dozen yards fell heavily and lay dying, and by the time we got up to him he was dead.

The Karen hunters were for going on after the other one at once, and so, leaving one of them to secure me the head and skin, and to take off as much flesh as he could carry for the villagers, we three remaining ones went on to pick up the tracks of the other beast. This we had no difficulty in doing and followed them for several miles, but the animal was thoroughly scared and never made a halt. After following him for some hours it became evident that we must stop, and consequently we made for home, as it was now getting late in the day. Our course had led us in a circular direction and we found that by returning by a different route we reached the village before dark.

On arrival there we found the other hunter had also arrived with the trophies of the tsine killed. After a consultation that evening we decided to again take up the tracks of the other animal next morning and if not successful in coming up with him by midday, to leave him and go on to the bison ground which was at some considerable distance, but more or less in the same direction as the second tsine had taken. At the same time we made arrangements to stay out the night in case we should be too far from camp to return, and therefore carried some food with us.

Starting early next day, I despatched one Karen hunter direct to the bison ground to examine the country for tracks, while with the other and my own shikari, I set off direct for the place we had followed the other tsine to the day before. We got there in little over an hour and picked up the trail again without difficulty. Both my shikari and the other Karen assured me that the animal would have certainly halted at nightfall the previous evening, and so we ought to come up to him before very long. I hoped this would prove the case, but I had known animals occasionally commence travelling again after a night's halt when thoroughly scared. However, after two more hours of tracking we came to where the beast had unmistakably lain down during the night, but he had left this cover probably early next morning, for his fresh tracks leading away could be seen. This being so I was for giving it up, but both my men endeavoured to persuade me to continue our search a little longer. I fortunately acceded to their request, for, not a mile beyond, we came on the tsine. He was standing behind a clump of bamboo, and so nearly concealed that I should never have perceived him, but the Karen hunter suddenly crouched down and, following his example, we both did the same. He then pointed towards the animal, but I could not make him out, and not until the tsine moved a pace or two forward grazing, did I distinguish him. We were, however, two hundred yards at least from him and the ground between was open, so we had to withdraw with caution and try and approach from another side. This I succeeded in doing and got up to fifty yards from him unobserved. I had to wait a little time, which seemed to me interminable, for him to give me a shot, but at last he slightly turned, and I fired at him taking a shot rather far behind the shoulder, as he was standing three-quarters away from me. On the shot he fell on to his knees, but suddenly rearing up again, he dashed off followed by a shot from my second barrel, which failed to stop him. We followed up at once, but did not find a strong blood trail. The hunter asserted, however, that he was very hard hit, but on tracking him for some three miles without coming up to him, I began to get hopeless. Just then the Karen pointed me out a pool of blood where the animal must have stood and bled freely, and encouraged by this we moved on once more on the track. A quarter of a mile further on

PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

OBTAINABLE . . FROM . . ALL RESPECTABLE DE ALERS.

GOLD MOHURS.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS in CALCUTTA: Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

brought us in view of him. He was standing right in the open and apparently very sick, for we could see him swaying to and fro I thought he had no more run left in him, and so advanced straight to within twenty paces of him, and was just going to fire when he perceived me and started off, only however to go a few yards when a bullet in the ribs brought him to the ground.

We were gratified at securing him after our long pursuit and indeed he had led us a pretty dance, some fifteen or twenty miles in all.

I had to send my own shikari back to the village to get men to cut him up and take him in, and myself and the Karen hunter, after a short rest, went on towards the bison ground, which he said was not more than five miles from here.

We reached the place where we had agreed to meet the other hunter by noon, but did not find him there. As I was in need of a rest, I decided to wait here and send the other man to find his companion. He succeeded in doing so and returned with him in about an hour. I was told by the man who had gone out in the morning, that he had found fresh tracks of bison not very far from where we were, and also those of a bear. This latter information did not interest me much, but I was keen upon going on at once after the bison, and being rested now we set out. We found the tracks as he described, of a solitary bison, and on inspection they certainly looked quite fresh. Taking them up at once we proceeded some distance till they led into thicker jungle. Here our progress was slower and as we were working carefully along, suddenly in our immediate front I perceived a large bear. She saw us too, and came straight for us in a most determined manner. I was unwilling to fire and thus possibly destroy our chance at the bison, but she gave me no option, for making for the leading hunter, she struck at him and had he not dodged and run she would have mauled him. I then fired and she turned viciously on me, but I gave her a second shot at close quarters that bowled her over. Leaving the carcase to be disposed of later we again took up the bison's tracks, but on going only a few hundred yards further on, we came on a place where he had been lying down and must have only jumped off and dashed away on the sound of my shots, for his tracks were absolutely fresh from here. I was most disappointed, and anathematised the old she-bear that had thus spoilt our sport, for I knew it was useless following up the bison again at once. We agreed eventually to return to the village for the night and try for other tracks in this neighbourhood the following day. The two men insisted on skinning the bear although I did not want the skin which was poor and of indifferent quality, being bare in places. The bear was a female and she must have lately had cubs we found, although we saw no signs of these. This would account for her unprovoked assault.

We reached the village by evening, and found most of the people away engaged in cutting up the tsine and bringing in flesh. Before dark they returned well laden, and also my own shikari, who was as disgusted as I on being told of our bad luck with the bison.

SALWEEN.

(To be continued.)

TIGERS IN THE CENTRAL PROVINCES.

THE Resolution by the Officiating Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, on the Statements and Reports showing the results of the measures adopted in the Central Provinces for the extermination of wild beasts and venomous snakes during the year ending the 31st December 1902, brings to light the gravity of the situation and the depredations by tigers in the Central Provinces.

The Resolution goes on to say the figures showing the mortality among human beings from wild beasts and snakes in 1901 were the highest ever reported from the Central Provinces. The Districts in which most human beings were killed by wild animals were Raipur, Chanda and Sambalpur. Nearly 70 per cent. of the deaths were caused by tigers and leopards. Fifty-six persons died of rabies following on bites inflicted by jackals. The only other animals by whom any considerable number of human beings were reported to have been killed are wolves and hyænas, 34 deaths being attributed to the former and 38 to hyænas. It seems, however, most likely that 33 deaths entered in the returns from Sambalpur as caused by hyænas were really caused by wolves. The victims were invariably children and the animal is described as larger than a wolf but without the markings on hind quarters of a hyæna.

No special reason can be assigned for the increase in the number of deaths from snake-bite from 1,137 to 1,304. The Jubulpur division has its usual unenviable pre-eminence in respect to the mortality from this cause. Some trifling rewards were given by certain Municipal bodies for dead snakes, but this was exceptional and does not appear to have done much good. Calmette's antivenine was tried in several cases, and in some it is reported to have been successful, but no case was reported in which its efficacy was conclusively proved.

There has been of late years a steady tendency to increase in the number of cattle reported to have been killed by wild beasts. This year the total is 14,138, a higher figure than has been reported before. The increase is partly due to better reporting, and partly, it would seem, to the disappearance of horned game. No reliance can be placed on the exact proportion of cattle reported to have been killed by tigers and leopards respectively. The animal killed is often not identified from the signs by which a kill by a tiger can be distinguished from one by a leopard have been obliterated, and even when found shortly after death, the finder does not discriminate. The damage done often by wild dogs is increasing, and these pests have in many parts of the Central Provinces inflicted great injury on the horned game

The number of tigers and leopards killed was 729, almost the same figure as that of 1901. Raipur with 92 takes the lead for the total bag under both heads, while for tigers Chanda with 38 has the first place. Bilaspur, Balaghat and Mandla are other districts from which high figures are reported. The man-eating tiger of Chichgarh in the Bhandara District was destroyed by a Gond, who was paid the special reward of Rs. 200. In Chanda one man-eating tiger and one man-eating leopard are reported to have been killed during the year, while one man-eating tiger, a very old beast, disappeared completely and is supposed to have died a natural death. At the close of the year there was only one confirmed man-eater in the Chanda District whose beat lies in one of the distant Zamindaris. In the Khariar Zamindari of the Raipur District (where tigers and leopards had killed 149 persons in 1901) at least one man-eating tiger and several man-eating leopards were destroyed, with the satisfactory result that the death-roll was materially reduced, but it still stands at the high figure of 63. There are at present three very destructive man-eating tigresses in the provinces—one at Sakke in Mandla, another near Sarekasa in Bhandara, and the third in the Ambakhona circle of the Sambalpur District. The Officiating Chief Commissioner has recently raised the reward for each of these animals to Rs. 500.

There was a general opinion that the reward for a leopard (Rs. 10) is too low. The only really satisfactory way of hunting a leopard is to sit up over a kill, and a native shikari has not much inducement to do this, if, when he is successful, he gets only Rs. 10 to repay him for his trouble and for the cost of the animal tied up. Commissioners will be given authority to enhance the reward for the killing of these animals to Rs. 20, whenever they are of opinion that in any particular District such enhancement is necessary. They will also be empowered to reduce the reward to its ordinary figure when it is considered that the retention of an enhanced reward is unnecessary or useless.

Seventy-five wolves were destroyed during the year, of which 55 were killed in the Nerbudda Division. The Officiating Chief Commissioner does not regard the number killed in the Hoshangabad, Raipur and Sambalpur Districts as satisfactory. The Commissioner has power to raise the reward for a wolf from Rs. 5 to Rs. 10, whenever he considers that, owing to the prevalence of man-eating by wolves, an enhanced reward is necessary. The Commissioners of the Nerbudda and Chattisgarh Divisions will be asked whether they consider this provision to be sufficient, or advocate special measures being taken for wolves in certain tracts.

The Officiating Chief Commissioner regards it as of much importance that determined effort should be made to rid the jungle of many packs of wild dogs that now infest them. Since the close of the year the reward for killing a wild dog has been raised to Rs. 15. Wild dogs are difficult to track and kill; and if the raising of the reward fails to induce shikaris to go in for hunting them, it may be necessary to devise other steps for their destruction.

Correspondence.

All MSS. should be addressed to the Editor.
The writer's name and address are required with every communication.
Letters and enquiries from anonymous correspondents will not receive attention.
Under no circumstances are questions answered by post.
Correspondents whose questions remain unanswered will please understand that we are unable to give them the information asked for.

LATE SNIPE.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—I have read with interest your correspondent's letter about a bag of snipe on Easter Monday, 13th April. As a matter of fact snipe are to be found much later than is generally supposed I see from my game-book that on 16th April 1897 I got, with another gun, 16½ couple, and I have had reliable khubber of snipe in every month of the year barring June. My own belief is that there are a few always to be found if one cared to look for them.

My experience, however, is that the late stayers as well as the first arrivals are pin-tails I was out on 5th April this year and only saw one fan-tail which I noted in my game-book as being unusually late. I have heard the theory that pin-tails breed further North than fan-tails which accounts for their being the first to be turned out of their breeding ground in the autumn as well as the last to return to them in the spring. Anyhow it has always seemed to me that snipe are remarkably rapid in their breeding arrangements. The pin-tails do not leave much before the end of March and they are back again early in September and one cannot suppose they fly at full speed straight to their breeding grounds in far Siberia.

I remember a man once telling me he had been out late in March and got some snipe, but his idea was that they had come down from Siberia for the week-end, just to have a sort of Sunday breakfast, followed no doubt by a sleep; and then back again by express to the North.

Talking of late snipe being fishy, I have generally found pin-tails after the middle of March to be very fat and coarse. I have some snipe in the Linde cold storage which were shot at the end of February. They are all fan-tails. I had some out the other day to eat, but found them too fishy for words. They reminded we in smell of the Japanese fish-oil that some of the jute mills use. Can any one tell me how to cook snipe that have been in the cold storage, for I know other people keep snipe in this way all through the hot weather and say they are excellent.

FORREAR.

12th May 1903.

"LOFTING" THE BALL IN HOCKEY.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

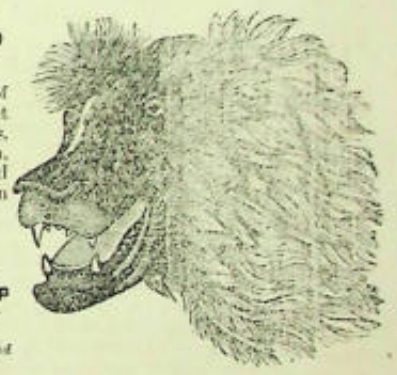
SIR,—I have a small pamphlet which gives several useful notes in amplification or explanation of various rules of the game of Hockey. One of these notes lays down that "no player in striking the ball should intentionally raise or undercut the ball."

What exactly is the meaning of this rule? Does it mean that the ball must not intentionally be raised off the ground at all, not even a few inches? For instance a very common trick with many a forward when being tackled face to face by a back is to slightly raise the ball he is dribbling a few inches off the ground in order to jump the stick of his opponent. According to the letter of the law this is an illegitimate stroke, but surely the spirit of the law is not to restrict this stroke.

I take it that the rule was framed in order to prevent the game becoming really dangerous by allowing a player to lay his stick well back and deliberately undercutting the ball so as to make it fly high in the air, and so long as the ball is not raised so high off the ground as to cause danger to any player, the raising or undercutting of the ball by a player is legitimate.

I note that the Hockey rules themselves have no specific punishment for this stroke, whether dangerous or otherwise. I have recently, however, seen two umpires award a penalty against a forward for merely making the ball jump his tackler's stick. I do not of course contest the right of the umpire to give a penalty for any offence on the hockey ground, whether such offence is specifically particularised in the rules as liable to a punishment or not: but I do contest the application of this rule, when applied as it seems to me in its letter rather than in its spirit.

But I should like to know what opinions other hockey players hold in regard to the interpretation of this rule.



R. T. F.

[R. T. F. is, in our opinion, perfectly right. Observe the wording—"A player should not." It does not say must not. The sentence occurs not in the Rules, but in the case laws appended to the rules issued by the Hockey Association. The intention is undoubted, namely, to prevent danger, and any referee who penalised a man for such "lofting" would rightly be considered to be too much given to insisting on the letter of the law—if law it can be called. The procedure adopted in Calcutta is to watch first how the ball is hit. If the ball is hit with an ordinary stroke it may be that it has risen a few inches or that there is a screw on causing it to rise. But if the man lays back his stick or indulges in a scooping action the while he "chops" the ball he is usually warned and penalised on the next occasion—this of course when the ball really rises. Helping the ball over an opponent's stick is not penalisable by any sensible individual. A ball cannot be raised dangerously in dribbling. Only when it is hit.—ED.]

MONTAGUE R. MURRAY & CO.,

TAXIDERMISTS,
HARDA (G. I. P. RY.)
Central Provinces.

Shooting Trophies of all kinds artistically set up at moderate prices, European supervision, best materials, skilled labor, prompt attention to orders.

Shooting-Parties - -
Supplied with Camp Equipage, Commissariat &c.
Young Sambhur, Chetal and Hyænas for Sale

Safe, Simple and Economical.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

THE Security is unsurpassed, the funds being now over Two Millions Five Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling, and claims to Four Millions Seven Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling have already been paid.

CITY OF GLASGOW LIFE ASSURANCE CO.,
5, LYON'S RANGE, CALCUTTA.
ESTABLISHED 1838.

R. B. RODDA & Co.,
PRACTICAL
GUNMAKERS,
[Established 72 years.]
2, WELLESLEY PLACE, CALCUTTA.
Illustrated Catalogue Post Free.

BREAKWELL & Co
COACH BUILDERS,
171-2-4-5-6,
Dhurrumtollah Street,
CALCUTTA.

THE RANKEN HELMET.

Registered No. 386596.

Made of compressed cork, covered Grey Felt, not affected by rain, as durable as three pith hats, smart appearance, good ventilation and protection.

Price, Rs. 21-0. Cash Rs. 19-0.

Or with Plain Grey Silk Pugree,
Rs. 24-0. Cash Rs. 21-0.

—:o:—

RANKEN & Co.,

Calcutta, Simla, and Lahore.

Pure Yalumba

Wines

South Australia.

BURGUNDY

CONTAINS

Natural Iron.

FIRST PRIZE

10,000 galls

—:o:—

CLARET

Sound, Pure and Wholesome.

FIRST PRIZE

15,000 galls.

From all Leading Merchants

S. SMITH & SON

Yalumba Vineyards,

Adelaide, South Australia.

The ABBEY IMPROVED CHILLED SHOT

Co., Ld.

HEAD OFFICES:

22, Dean St., Newcastle-on-Tyne.

For finish and penetration Sportsmen say

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

Importers when sending Indents

— ASK FOR —

THE ABBEY IMPROVED CHILLED SHOT MAKE

Our output of Chilled Shot exceeds the combined output of Chilled Shot of all other shot Companies in Great Britain.

N.B.—Please note that this Company has no connection with the so called Newcastle Chilled Shot Company which has gone into Liquidation.

MANTON & Co., Gunmakers,

Have a fresh stock of

FOOTBALLS

(Association and Rugby.)

BRYAN'S

"The County" Football ...	... Rs.	12 8 cash.
"Grasshopper" ,, ...	... ,,	11 8 ,,
The "Blenheim" ,, ...	... ,,	8 8 ,,
Spare Rubbers, best Vulcanised	... ,,	3 0 ,,

Nets, Goal Posts, Guards, Rules, etc.

ADDRESS:

13, OLD COURT HOUSE ST., CALCUTTA.

HOWRAH FLOUR MILLS CO., LD.,

Ramkistopur, Howrah.

CRUSHED FOOD

FOR

HORSES & CATTLE

Fresh Bran, Oats, Gram,

AND

Flour of all qualities.

ANDREW YULE & Co.,

Managing Agents.

7, Clive Row, Calcutta.

F. CHAPMAN & Co

"TATTERSALLS,"

No. 1, Bhowanipore Road.

Arrived per SS Euryalus well-matched pairs, hacks, hunters, polo ponies from 12-2½ to 14-1; also 6 well-performed race ponies imported by the well-known shippers.

Mr "Billy" Griffiths.
Mr W. Burgess.
Mr. H. Smith.
Mr. P. Gilder.

Every trial given to intending purchasers by the undersigned.

F. CHAPMAN & Co.

J. F SNUGGS & Co.,

Established 1870.

TAXIDERMISTS & TANNERS

TO H. M.'s IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT, HARDA, C.P

For further particulars apply to us; or our only Agents:

Messrs. GORDON & Co., 37, Apollo Street BOMBAY,

where Trophies of every description are for sale also we can supply our Firm's ponies, carts, etc., to Shooting Parties.

ESTABLISHED 1870.

KASHMIR CHECK PUTTOOS

EFFECTIVE, durable and inexpensive, for shooting, cycling and golfing suits.

Obtainable through
A A's or COCKBURN'S AGENCY,
Srinagar, Kashmi.

GREENER'S CORDITE

.310 BORE RIFLE,

Unequalled for Black Buck, Markhor, &c.

No. 1. Quality, Cash	... Rs.	60
No. 2. ,, ,,	,,	80
No. 3 With Tangent peep sight, &c ...	... ,,	105

WESTLEY RICHARDS.

"SHERWOOD."

300-BORE CORDITE RIFLE.

No. 1. Detachable Barrel and fore end hand removable action and indicator, fitted with patent pivot, wind gauge, backsight, sighted to 300 yards. ... Rs. 100

No 2. Fixed Barrel and action ordinary tangent sight ... ,, 80

LYON & LYON,

GUN-MAKERS, CALCUTTA.

Ballistite.

THE KING OF

SMOKELESS POWDERS

Smokeless—Waterproof—Odourless.

Nobel's New "Nile" Snipe Cartridge.

A High Class Smokeless Cartridge at the price of ordinary Black Powder, Colour Maroon.

Gauge.	Length	Powder	Shot.
12-bore.	2½ inches.	25 Grains.	1 oz.
	Per 100.	Per 500.	Per 1,000
	Rs. 9-0.	Rs. 43-0.	Rs. 84-0

RETAILED BY ALL GUNMAKERS.

WHOLESALE OF

GILLANDERS ARBUTHNOT & CO.,

AGENTS

"PIGSTICKING,"

A SET OF FOUR PICTURES

1 THE MEET 3 THE SPEAR
2 THE BURST 4 THE KILL

BY ALBERT DUBUS

Every Sportsman should possess a set. The finest work of the kind ever offered to the public.

Rs. 8 per set, unmounted.

Apply Manager—"THE INDIAN FIELD,"

CALCUTTA.

THE ORIENTAL GAS Co., Ld.

GAS COKE.

Reduction in Price.

The Oriental Gas Company, Limited, have resolved to reduce the price of the Coke produced at their works from 1st April 1903, and until further notice as follows:—

1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the Town Area at (6 annas per maund) ... ... Rs. 7-8-0

1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the suburban Area ... ... Rs 7-12-0

All Coke sieved through a 1 inch mesh.

Gas Coke is Smokeless and Cleanly and Superior to any solid fuel for domestic purposes.

All complaints about Coke or demands for pice custom (dastoorie) should be made direct to the Manager.

N.B.—The carter must be relieved of his load within an hour of his arrival, else 4 annas per hour will be charged for unnecessary detention

GAS WORKS, SEALDAH. } D. COATS NIVEN,
Calcutta, 22nd April 1903. } Manage.

CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA.

Public Notice given pursuant to Section 367 (1) (a) (ii) of Act III (B. C.) of 1899.

The Corporation of Calcutta, do hereby, pursuant to the above Section, give public Notice of their intention to declare that the elevation and construction of the frontage of all masonry buildings (in the area bounded by Dhurrumtollah Road on the north, Lindsay Street on the south, Free School Street on the east and Chowringhee Road on the west) erected or re-erected shall, in respect of their architectural features, be such as the General Commitee may consider suitable to the locality.

R. T. GREER,
CHAIRMAN OF THE CORPORATION.

13th May 1903.

The Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta.

Issue of Rs. 34 lakhs Four Per Cent. Debentures repayable in Thirty years.

TENDERS are invited for a loan of 34 lakhs of Rupees upon Debentures bearing interest at 4 per cent. per annum, to be issued under the provisions of Act III of 1890 (B. C.), to provide funds for the purpose of carrying out certain works connected with the Port of Calcutta sanctioned by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, which loan, and the interest thereon, will be a charge on the property of the Commissioners, and of the tolls, dues, rates, rents and charges leviable under the Calcutta Port Act.

2. The Debentures will be for sums of Rs. 100 each, o multiples of Rs. 100 as may be desired, made payable to order and carrying interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum payable half-yearly on the 15th day of June and the 15th day of December, at the Bank of Bengal, upon presentation of the Debentures. The first payment of interest will be made on the 15th December 1903.

3. Provision is made for a sinking-fund of such an amount, invested half-yearly, as will be sufficient to liquidate the debt in thirty years.

4. Two per cent. of the amount tendered for to be paid at the time into the Bank of Bengal, Head Office or Branches, to credit of the Commissioners, and the balance on the 15th June 1903, from which date interest will run. The deposit of two per cent. will be returned if an allotment be not made, and it will be forfeited if an allotment, after being made, be not fully taken up by the 15th June 1903. In case a less number of Debentures is allotted than is applied for, the excess of the deposit will be applied in, or towards payment of, the balance due upon such number as may be alloted.

5. Tenders, made out in forms to be obtained at the Commissioners' Office and from the Bank of Bengal, Head Office or Branches, will be received by the Secretary to the Commissioners up to noon of Monday, the 8th June 1903, accompanied by a receipt from the Bank of Bengal for the deposit above named. A separate tender should be made for each rate offered.

6. The tenders will be opened by the Commissioners in Meeting on Monday, the 8th June 1903.

R. A. DONNITHORNE,
Secretary.

Dated the 7th May 1903.

CALCUTTA GOLF CLUB.

The Annual Competition for the St. Andrew's Silver Tankard (Handicap) will take place on Friday and Saturday, 29th and 30th instant.

FOR SALE.

HANDSOME TIGER RUG.

A handsome new Tiger Rug, 10ft. 6ins., complete with stuffed head 19 by 14ins. Whiskers and claws intact. Beautifully marked. Effectively lined with cloth. A magnificent specimen. The best of gifts to a friend at Home.

Rs. 160-0

Reasonable offer accepted.

M. W. MOORE, OAK GROVE.
Jharipani, U.P

FOR SALE.—Price, Rs. 1,750.

A Thibetan Tent, 44 ×20'. Specially manufactured in Guntok for the accommodation of the Rajah of Sikhim at the Delhi Durbar. This tent is heavily embroidered with Thibetan designs, and is quite unique.

Apply to—GILLANDERS, ARBUTHNOT & CO., for full particulars.

FOR SALE.

Lucy Gliters, Ch. W. M., 14-1½, C. T. C. life, aged 9, winner Calcutta Paperchase Average Cup, 1903, 11 places 12 runs runner up 1902, perfect ladies' hack, believed thoroughly sound. Price Rs. 1,500.—Apply to—

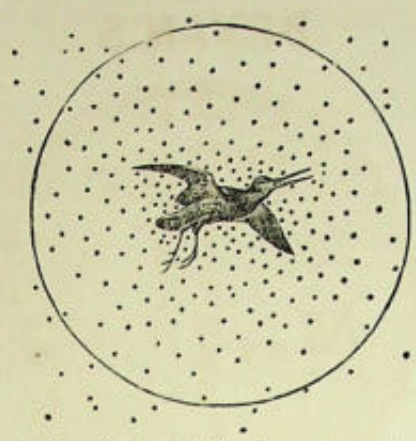
DR. HOSSACK,
47, Park Street, Calcutta.

FOR SALE.

Leopard skins, cured, dressed, head stuffed and mounted on cloth. Complete @ Rs. 35 each.

Two pairs of Buffalo horns with skull mounted on shield, @ Rs. 40 and 25 each

Apply to—



J. HENRY & Co.,
THE "TAXIDERMY HOUSE,"
Bowbazar P.O., Calcutta

M. BURKE,

JOCKEY and TRAINER,
Late of Straits Settlements,

Is open to an engagement as private trainer or to take charge of horses. Best references. Address—c/o Manager, The Indian Field, CALCUTTA.

WILDFOWLER CARTRIDGES.

Facsimile-circle 22 inches diameter at 35 yards. Number of pellets in circle 237, killing circle 33. This diagram represents the shooting of any good choke-bore gun with our WILDFOWLER Cartridges loaded with 42 grs. Amberite, 1⅛ oz. No. 8 shot.

Lucknow prices, rail freight being taken into consideration, are identical with those charged by the leading Calcutta Gunsmiths.

MURRAY & Co.,

LIMITED,

LUCKNOW.

WILLIAM RUTLEDGE.

NATURALIST,
DEALER IN WILD ANIMALS,
Birds, Dogs, Poultry, &c.,
38, SOUTH ROAD, ENTALLY, CALCUTTA

"TAXIDERS PRESERVATIVE POWDER"

5 lbs. tin Rs. 3, 10 lbs. tins Rs. 5 (V. P. charges extra.) The only safe and effectual preparation for preserving skins and heads of animals, whether Pachyderms, Great Mammalia or Reptiles with instructions in skinning, etc.

Apply to—TAXIDERMISTS,
C. SWARIES & Co.,
15, Mohamed Crescent's Lane, Calcutta

GULMARG TOURNAMENTS COMMENCE.

Golf Challenge Shield for Ladies and Gentlemen, 17th to 22nd August; Polo Shield 24th to 29th August. Apply to—

General Hony. Secy., Srinagar

The Calcutta Tramways Co., Ld.

FOR SALE.

The opening of the Company's system by Electric Traction has released a number of serviceable C.-B geldings suitable for Phaeton, Trap, and Hack work generally: amongst them are also a number of good saddle horses.

The horses can be seen at any time during the day at the Company's Chowringhee Depot, 1, Russa Road, on application to the European Foreman in charge.

MARTYN WELLS.
MANAGING AGENT.

CALCUTTA, 15th April 1903.

200 Pictures of the Delhi Durbar,

Handsomely bound in Vellum

10 Rupees only.

Third Improved Edition.

Contains all the chief events, elephant procession, 20 pictures proclamation, opening exhibition, review of retainers, grand review, sports, fireworks, principal camps, Church service etc., etc.

The Press says: "For cheapness and excellence combined it is unsurpassed." "Purchaser obtains very full value." "Comprises an extremely varied and well chosen selection." WIELE & KLEIN, Madras, Official Photographers to the Durbar Exhibition.

INDIAN FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION.

Challenge Shield Competition,
Trades Challenge Cup Competition.

Entries close 20th June.

Apply to—

N. G. PRITCHARD,
Jt. Hon. Sec. I. F. A.

CHARLES LANCASTER,

Gunmaker by Royal Warrants to H.M. the King, H.I.M. the German Emperor, H.R.H. Prince Christian, H.I.H. The Grand Duke Vladimir H.R.H. The Duke of Orleans, &c., &c.,

AWARDED SIXTY FIRST-CLASS PRIZES, MEDALS AND DIPLOMAS.

Invites Inspection of his Latest Improvements in

SING E & DOUBLE TRIGGER
HAMMERLESS EJECTOR GUNS AND RIFLES,

The Ejector consisting of
TWO PARTS ONLY,

Allows ease and rapid loading and re-loading, together with little or no force to open or close the gun.

Prices from £22 to 63 net cash.

SPECIAL SIDE LOCK
HAMMERLESS EJECTOR GUN.
EITHER SINGLE OR DOUBLE TRIGGER.
£35 net, or in leather case, with fittings, £40 net.

GUNS FOR TRAP SHOOTING
A SPECIALITY.
(ASK FOR SPECIAL LIST.)

"THE COLINDIAN" (Regd.)
ONE OF THE MOST SUCCESSFUL
BALL & SHOT GUNS,
from £27 net.

Charles Lancaster still maintains his position as expert Gun fitter and Coach. Attendance and Lessons given by Experts at his Private Shooting Grounds, near Willesden Junction, N.W.

Single and Double Trigger Try Guns.

TOWER FOR "HIGH BIRD' PRACTICE,

Sportsmen at home or abroad should ask for Special Cartridges List giving
"PRICES AT A GLANCE."

"THE ART OF SHOOTING."

Sixth and Popular Edition, 2s. 6d.; postage 6d. extra,

SECOND-HAND GUNS.
Guns by other makers taken in exchange or altered to fit if necessary.
ILLUSTRATED PRICE LIST AND ESTIMATES FREE.
Kindly quote this paper and state requirements.

PRIVATE SHOOTING GROUNDS

Near STONEBRIDGE PARK, N.W
Frequent Trains to Willesden Junction from all parts.

151, NEW BOND ST., London, W.

ESTABLISHED 1826.

THE DERBY.

THE OAKS.

Starting Price Commissions executed on principal English races.

A list of probable Starters and Jockey will be sent post free to any part of India on receipt of address.

For S. P. rules, code, principal fixtures, &c., &c, apply to—

BEATTIE BROS.,

Watson's Hotel, Bombay.
Telegrams:—"Beattie, Bombay."

LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP CUP CONTEST, at Srinagar, on 1st June. Apply to—

General Honorary Secretary.

Calcutta General Printing Company,

(THE EDINBURGH PRESS),
WITH WHICH ARE INCORPORATED
WHITEAWAY'S PRESS, THE STAR PRESS and THE CALCUTTA CENTRAL PRESS,

Are now in a position to undertake printing orders of every kind, and to any extent. All work done under skilled and experienced supervision.

D. L. MONRO, Managing Partner.
C. J. A. PRITCHARD, Joint-Manager.
47, Bentinck Street, CALCUTTA.

ECONOMISE NERVE TISSUE

By using Our

Section of Steel Rim and Rubber Tyre.

RUBBER CARRIAGE TYRES.

We stake our faith in Tyres of this brand which are all guaranteed for one year Many of the leading Coachbuilders use them exclusively. Prices and particulars free on application to

W. H. THORNS & Co.,

15, HORNBY ROW, BOMBAY.

CHAMPION & CO.

Have left for Europe and will return to Calcutta for the 1st Extra Meeting in December.

The Turf.

INDIAN RACING FIXTURES.

Name of Races	Month.	Date.	For Prospectus see page.
Dibrugarh	May	26
Simla Summer	,,	26, 28 & 30	476
Darjeeling	,,	28 & 30
Mysore	June	16, 18 & 20
Bangalore	July	14, 16 & 18
Poona Races & Steeplechases	Sept.	23 26 28 30
		Oct. 3 5 & 10	574
Simla Autumn	Oct.	6 & 8	522
Simla Gymkhanas ...	June	13 20 & 27
Ditto ...	July	4
Pachmari	June	2, and 4
Lucknow Autumn Sky ...	Oct.	22, and 24
Umballa Autumn ...	Nov	3, 5 & 7
Lucknow Autumn (Army Cup)	,,	26	575
Meerut Autumn ...	,,	12, 14 & 17
Lucknow Autumn ...	,,	24, 26 & 28
Calcutta First Extra ...	Dec.	12
,, Second Extra ...	,,	19
,, First Meeting ...	,,	21 26 29 & 31
,, Second Meeting ...	Jan.	16 & 23
Tollygunge Steeplechases ...	,,	2 & 9
Calcutta Third Extra ...	,,	30
,, Fourth ,, ...	Feb	6
Dibrugarh ...	,,	2 4 & 6

CLOSING DATES OF ENTRIES.

Lucknow Autumn Sky ...	First ...	...	1st Sept.
	Second ...	...	15th Oct
Calcutta First Extra ...		...	8th Dec.
Calcutta Second Extra ...		...	15th Dec.
Calcutta Races First Meeting	First ...	...	2nd Nov.
	Second ...	...	1st Dec.
Calcutta Races Second Meeting	First ...	...	1st Dec.
	Second ...	...	9th Jan.
	Third ...	...	16th Jan.
Tollygunge Steeplechases 1st Day	First ...	...	2nd Nov.
	Second ...	...	1st Dec.
Tollygunge Steeplechases Second day	First ...	...	2nd Nov.
	Second ...	...	2nd Jan.
Poona	First ...	...	4th August.
	Second ...	...	25th ,,
	Final ...	...	8th Sept.
Civil Service Cup ...	Second ...	...	1st July.
	Third ...	...	16th Sept.
	Fourth ...	...	1st Dec.
	Final ...	...	20th Jan.
Rangalore	First ...	...	1st June.
	Second ...	...	20th June.
	Third ...	...	1st July.
Mysore	Third ...	...	1st June.
Lucknow Autumn ...	First ..	...	15th Aug.
	Second ...	...	1st Oct.
	Third ...	...	14th Nov.
Pachmarhi	Second ...	...	27th May.

INDIAN SPORTING FIXTURES.

POLO.
Simla Tournament ..	.. ...	Begins 1st June
Poona Open Tournament	...	Sept. 15th, 16th, 19th & 24th
Gulmarg Polo Tournament	...	24th to 29th August
ROWING.
Calcutta R. C. Second Regatta	...	23rd May.
CRICKET.
Simla v Outstations ...	...	May 27th & 29th
Bombay v Parsees (Bombay) ...		13th 14th & 15th Aug.
Bombay v Parsees (Poona) ...		21st 22nd & 23rd Sep.
THE HORSE.
Ootacamund Horse Show ...	...	May 22nd & 23rd.
Simla Horse and Dog Show ...	...	June 6th.
SPORTS.
Ootacamund Skittle Gymkhanas		May 12th & June 15th, 27th
Simla Vol. Sports	...	May 23rd.
FOOTBALL.
Durand Tournament, Simla ...	...	14th to 25th Sep.
HOCKEY.
Aga Khan Tournament ...	...	Begins 18th May
GOLF.
Calcutta G. C. St. Andrews' Silver Tankard		29th and 30th May
Gulmarg Tournament ...		17th to 22nd August
BOXING.
Poona Boxing Tournament ...	...	18th and 23rd May
SWIMMING.
Calcutta S. C.
Three Lengths Handicap ...	...	22nd May.
Ditto Final Heat and Plate Diving ...		29th May.

ENGLISH RACING FIXTURES.

The Derby (1½ miles) ...	...	Wednesday, May 27
The Oaks (1½ miles) ...	...	Friday, May 29
Prix du Jockey Club (French Derby) (1½m)		Sunday, May 31
Manchester Cup (1½ miles) ...		Friday, June 5
Duchess of York Stakes, Hurst Park (1½m)		Saturday, June 13
Grand Prix de Paris (1 mile 7 furlongs) ...		Sunday, June 14
Ascot Stakes (2 miles) ...	...	Tuesday, June 16
Prince of Wales's Stakes (1 mile 5 furlongs)		Tuesday, June 16
Gold Vase (2 miles) ...	...	Tuesday, June 16
Royal Hunt Cup (7 furlongs 166yds)	...	Wednesday, June 17
Gold Cup (2½ miles) ...	...	Thursday, June 18
New Stakes (5 furlongs 136yds)	...	Thursday, June 18
Hardwicke Stakes (1½ miles) ...	...	Friday, June 19
Nothumberland Plate (2 miles)	...	Wednesday, June 24
July Stakes, Newmarket (5 fur 142 yds) ...		Tuesday, June 30
Eclipse Stakes (1½ miles) ...	...	Friday, July 17
Liverpool Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs)	...	Friday, July 24
Stewards' Cup, Goodwood (6 furlongs)	...	Tuesday, July 28
Goodwood Plate (2 miles) ...	...	Wednesday, July 29
Goodwood Cup (2½ miles) ...	...	Thursday, July 30
Brighton Cup (1½ miles) ...	...	Wednesday, Aug. 5
Great Northern Leger (1 mile 5 furlongs)		Wednesday, Aug. 19
Great Ebor Handicap (1½ miles)	...	Wednesday, Aug. 26
Gimcrack Stakes (6 furlongs) ...	...	Thursday, Aug. 27
Great Yorkshire Handicap (1 m 6 f 132 yds)		Tuesday, Sep. 8
Champagne Stakes ...	...	Tuesday, Sep. 8
The St. Leger (1 mile 6 furlongs 132 yds.)		Wednesday, Sep. 9
Doncaster Cup (about 2 miles)	...	Friday, Sep. 11
Prince Edward Handicap (1½ miles)	...	Saturday, Sep. 26
Jockey Club Stakes (1¾ miles) ..	...	Thursday, October 1
Duke of York Stakes (1½ miles)	...	Saturday, Oct. 10
Cesarewitch Stakes (2 miles 2 furlongs)	...	Wednesday, Oct. 14
Middle Park Plate (6 furlongs)	...	Friday, October 16
Cambridgeshire Stakes (1mile 1 furlong) ...		Wednesday, Oct. 28.
Dewhurst Plate (7 furlongs)	...	Thursday, Oct. 29
Lincoln Autumn Handicap (1½ miles)	...	Tuesday, Nov. 10
Liverpool Autumn Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs)		Friday, Nov. 13
Manchester November Handicap (1½ mile)		Saturday, Nov. 28

ENGLISH SPORTING FIXTURES.

Golf Open Championship ...	...	11th June.
Oxford vs. Cambridge (Lord's)	..	2nd July.
Amateur A. A. Meeting ...	...	4th July.
Gents vs. Players (Lords) ...	...	6th July.
Henley Regatta	...	7th July.
Eton vs. Harrow (Lord's) ...	...	10th July.
Gents vs. Players (Oval) ...	...	10th July.
Rugby vs. Marlborough (Lord's)	...	29th July.
R. Y. S. Regatta	...	4th August.
America Cup First Race —	...	20th August.
Dublin Horse Show ...	...	25th August.
Stanley Cycle Show ...	...	20th November.
Cattle Show (Agr. Hall) .	...	7th December.

CONTENTS.

LEADING ARTICLE—The Kennel Club and Increased Taxation	49
SPORTING NOTES	50
ATHLETIC NOTES	52
GENERAL NOTES	54
LONDON WEEK BY WEEK	56
REVIEW	56
SHIKAR	57
CORRESPONDENCE
THE TURF.—Indian Racing Fixtures; Closing Dates of Entries; Indian Sporting Fixtures; English Racing Fixtures; English Sporting Fixtures; Lucknow 3rd Open Gymkhana.	60
SPORT IN ENGLAND	63
HUNTING	66
POLO	66
ROWING	67
CRICKET	67
FOOTBALL	68
GOLF	69
SPORTS	69
THE NATURALIST	70
THE STORY TELLER	70
THE GARDEN	70
CHESS	70
CARDS	70

THE INDIAN FIELD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The absence of any notice to discontinue the Paper at the expiry of the period subscribed for will be considered as an intimation to renew the subscription, which will be charged accordingly.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Rs. 22 per annum or with mofussil postage ... Rs. 25 0
,, 12 for 6 months ,, ,, ... ,, 14 0
,, 6 for 3 ,, ,, ... ,, 8 0

Single copy eight annas.

To avail themselves of the benefits of the Advance Rates subscribers must pay—

Annual Subscriptions	...	Within 2 months.
Half-yearly do.	...	Do. 1 month
Quarterly do.	...	Do. 1 fortnight

RATE of SUBSCRIPTION with FOREIGN POSTAGE

Payable in Advance.

For twelve months	...	£1 15 0
,, six months	...	£1 0 0

RATES FOR CASUAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rs. 2-8 per inch for the first four insertions.

Rs 1-4 per inch for subsequent insertions

Ten lines to the inch.

W. S. Burke & Co., Proprietors.
8, Hare Street Calcutta.

SOLE ADVERTISING AGENT IN ENGLAND

For "The Indian Field."

Mr. L. J. JARVIS.

"Granville House" Arundel St. Strand.

LONDON.

POPULAR BRANDIES

MARTELL

In Britain and Greater Britain

*One Star. Two Star, Three Star

Rs. 41. Rs. 44. Rs. 47.

To be had of all respectable Traders.

Samples from

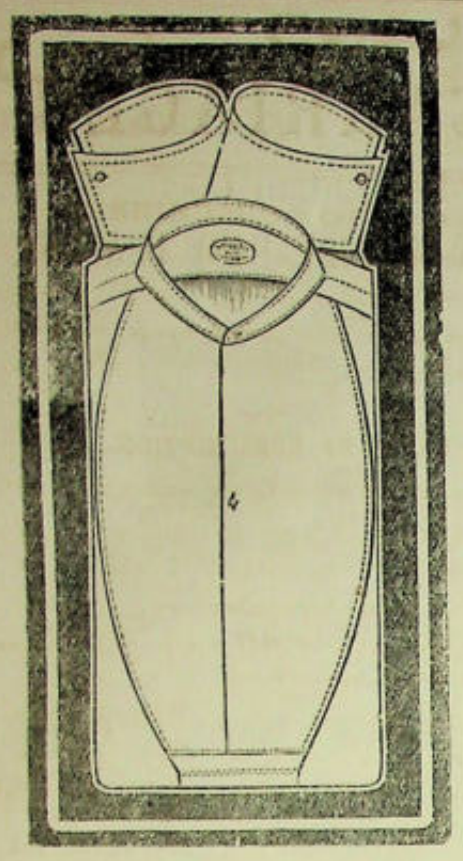
THE SOLE AGENTS

KRIEG & Co.,

Wholesale and Retail Merchants

8, Hare Street. CALCUTTA.

LUCKNOW 3RD OPEN GYMKHANA.



STEWARDS:

J. B. Thomson, Esq., C.S.
G. T. Spankie, Esq.
Col. Cleary Hill.
Lieut.-Col. Wheler, 6th Bengal Cavalry.
Capt. L. M. Dunbar, 5th Dragoon Guards.

Judge—Major Dirben, A. V. D.
Clerk of Scales—C. Lang, Esq., 5th Dragoon Guards.
Starter—Mr. F. Beaty

Saturday, the 16th May 1903.

TODAY, brought with it the Third Open Gymkhana of the season. It says much for the sporting character of Lucknow that these Gymkhanas are so uniformly successful; it says even more perhaps for the indefatigable energy of the executive. There were one or two familiar faces missing on Saturday, among them those of Captain Dunbar, to whose services as Honorary Secretary I have before now had occasion to allude, and Mr. John Jackson, whose absence I regret to say,

WHITEAWAY, LAIDLAW & CO.

EVENING DRESS AND LOUNGE SHIRTS.

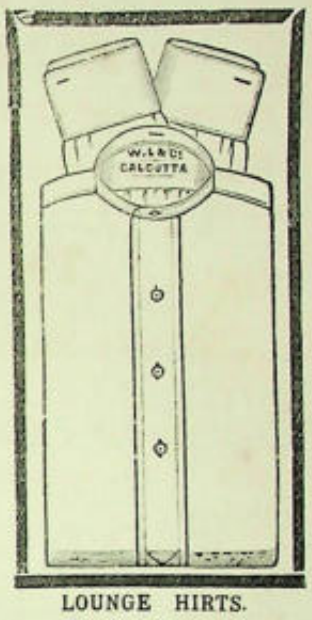
FIRST-CLASS MATERIALS.

Office Shirts, Rs. 17-8 & 25-8 per dozen.

For General Wear, Rs. 26-8 & 32-8 per dozen.

EVENING DRESS SHIRTS.

Extra light, Rs. 40-0 & 45-0 per doz.



G. P.. Esq., writes from Hyderabad: "Thanks for Shirts which have proved very satisfactory; they are a good fit and remarkably cheap."

NEGLIGE LOUNGE SHIRTS.

White, Rs. 24-0, 29-8 and 36-0 per dozen.

Colored, over 10 new and fashionable patterns,

Rs. 2-14, 3-4 and 4-0 each.

LOUNGE HIRTS.

WHITEAWAY, LAIDLAW & CO., Calcutta.

ESTABLISHED 1847. ESTABLISHED 1847.

HAROLD & CO.

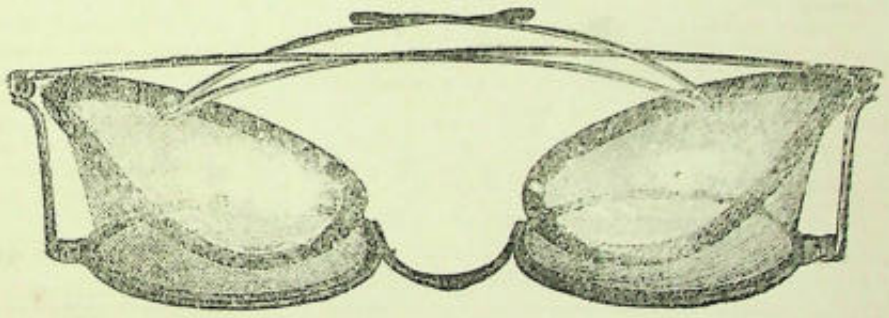
. . SOLE AGENTS FOR . .

JOHN BRINSMEAD & SONS.

By Royal Warrant to H. M. The King.
By Royal Warrant to H. M. The Queen.

NEW MODEL PIANOS.

The perfection of tone, touch and durability
Manufactured specially for India and extreme climates
In solid Chippendale Mahogany of unique and artistic design.



Upright Grand, Iron Frame, full trichord ... .. Rs. 1,000
Cottage, Iron Frame, full trichord ... ... „ 850-0

Other Pianos by the leading English and Continental Makers.
Particulars and Prices on application.

HAROLD & Co., Calcutta.

JAMES MURRAY & Co.,

CALCUTTA.

Eye-Preservers.

Close-fitting, velvet edged or plain, full Gauze, with fine "optical" flat parallel glasses Neutral Green or Blue—

	Rs.	As.
Best Steel Frames	10	0
Best Nickel	12	0
High-finish Silver	16	0

"D" Shape Preservers, fine "optical" parallel glasses, Neutral, Green or Blue, and with Curl, Straight, or double Arms—

	Rs.	As.
Strong Steel Frames, from	4	8
Light do., highest finish, from	10	0
Highest finish Nickel from	Rs. 7 8 to 10	0
Do. Silver	16	0

Blue or Smoke-tinted Glass with Power can be fitted in any Eyepreserver frame at a little extra cost.

EVERY DAY MENUS

— BY —

W. S. BURKE.

Editor of the "INDIAN FIELD."

Rs. 2 per copy.

Messrs THACKER SPINK & CO., CALCUTTA.

— OR —

The Manager, the "INDIAN FIELD."

CALCUTTA.

A very Popular

MESS AND CLUB

WHISKEY IN WOOD.

JOHN HOPKINS & Co.'s OLD SCOTCH
Per Gallon Rs. 13-8.
GUARANTEED 5 OVER PROOF.

Supplied in - - -

Origina Hogsheads and Quarter Casks.

DEVEREUX & Co., Ld.

Wine Merchants and Mess Agents,

4, BANKSHALL STREET, CALCUTTA; ALSO AT BOMBAY AND LONDON.

Pianos

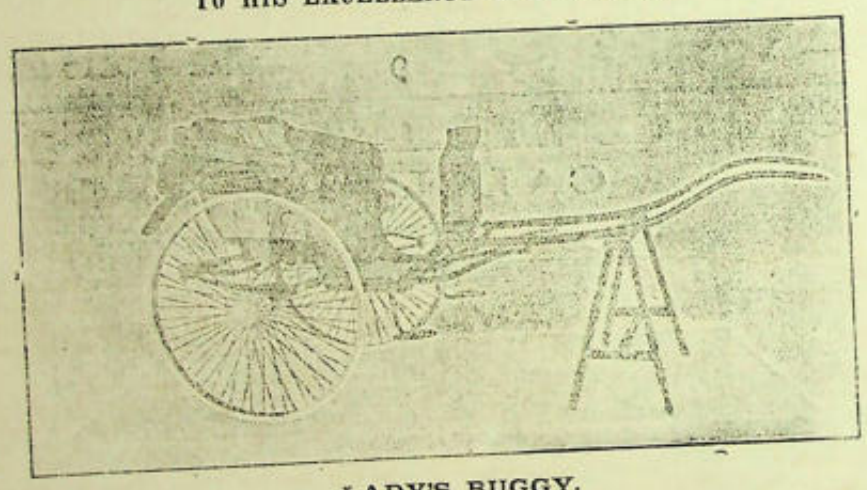
Now being returned from hire, most of them being brand new, are offered at special low prices.

Pianolas

A fresh shipment of these excellent Piano players just received.

Call or write for prices and particulars.

T. E. Bevan and Co.,



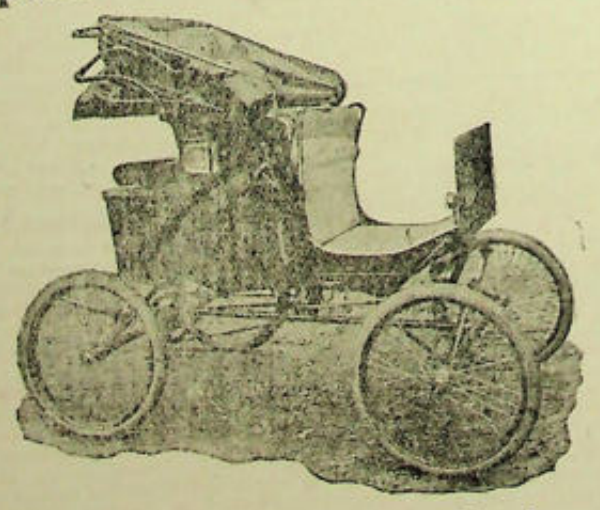
CALCUTTA.

STEUART & Co., Calcutta.

ESTABLISHED 1775.

COACH BUILDERS

TO HIS EXCELLENCY LORD CURZON.



LADY'S BUGGY.

THE

MOTOR TRANSPORT & SUPPLY Co.,

Importers and Suppliers of

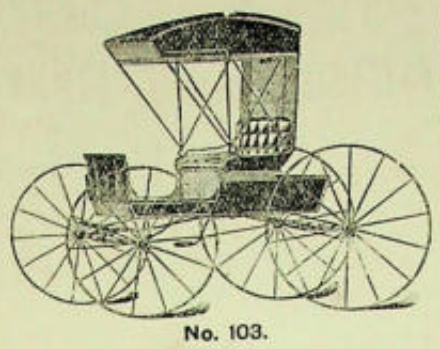
Heavy Steam Transport Vehicles of all descriptions.

All types of Motor Cars.

Particulars and Estimate from the Agents:—

SHAW WALLACE & Co.,

Green Street, BOMBAY.



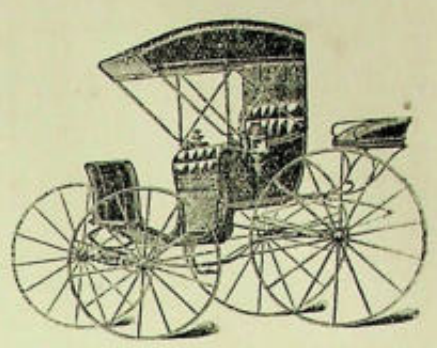
20, Strand Road, CALCUTTA.

CORTLAND

AMERICAN CARRIAGES.

Especially designedfor Indian Use.

VERY LIGHT WEIGHT, GREAT COMFORT, EASY DRAUGHT.



No. 103.

Spring Buggy.

A popular Buggy for general use, strong and elegant. Has room for carrying parcels Fitted with waterproof rubber hood and side curtains.

Price as shown	...	28 Guineas.
Best lock-socket Lamps	2	,,
Syce seat and step	3	,,

No. 576.

"Princess" Three Spring Phaeton.

A very high class vehicle for Ladies and general use. Trimmed best dark green broadcloth. Has best leather hood and side curtains. Has rumble for servan Painted dark green.

Price, including lamps, 55 Guineas.

No charge for cases or packing.

DELIVERED TO DOCKS IN LONDON.

Bankers:—London and County Bank, Covent Garden.

Illustrated Catalogues and every information post free from the Makers.

CORTLAND WAGON Co.,

Henrietta Street, Covent Garden, LONDON, W.C.

Cable Address:—"Eligible, London."

KEMP'S

Protumen REGISTERED

FROM THE

PUREST ENGLISH MILK.

Protumen is an admirable food for those working with the brain, and whose business requires nourishment; also for sufferers from wasting diseases: it being readily assimilated, sustaining and restorative. Pamphlet free. As. 8, Re. 1-0 and Rs. 2-0.

KEMP & CO., LIMITED.,

ELPHINSTONE CIRCLE,

BOMBAY.

was due to a severe attack of fever. The racing was distinctly good with one or two very close finishes: that in the first race was due to Garrard being a little over confident. The following are the full results:—

THE GOOMTEE PLATE.—Rs. 32 to the winner and Rs. 10 to the second. For Maiden English and Australasian Ponies 14-1 and under that have not won a race of any description (Matches and Private Sweepstakes excepted) since 1st January 1903 and all Maiden C.-B. Ponies 14-2 and under. W. I. ½ mile.

Mr Dudley Gilroy's b arg m Eileen, 10st 4lbs	Garrard	1
Nawab Husain Ali Khan's g aus m Birdie, 8st 8lbs	Native	2
Thakur Sripal Singh's ch cb h Howitzer, 9st 4lbs	Burke	3
Capt Dunbar's br afr g Shannon II, 10st 7lbs	Capt Winwood	0

Garrard on Eileen had a very easy task set him. He might have won with the greatest ease, but was very nearly caught napping and only pulled it off by a very short head in the end. Three lengths between second and third. Time—56 secs. Totalizator paid Rs. 2.

THE ARABI STAKES.—Rs. 32 to the winner and Rs. 10 to the second. A handicap for Arab Ponies 14-1 and under. 1 mile.

Capt Dunbar's g a h Victory, 10st 12lbs ...	Garrard	1
„ Home's ch a h Sadoon, 9st 13lbs ...	Rahim	2
Major Eustace's b a h Active, 10st 7lb ...	Capt Winwood	3
Capt Winwood's ch a h Mohawk, 7st 7lbs	Native	0

Won by half a length, with two more separating second and third. Time—2 mins. 0⅘secs. Totalizator paid Rs. 3.

THE SHANUZUF PLATE.—Rs 32 to the winner and Rs. 10 to the second. For Arab and C.-B. Ponies 14-1 and under and other Ponies 13 3½ and under that have not won a race value Rs. 200 or over since 1st January 1903. W. I. 6 furlongs.

Nawab Husain Ali Khan's b aus m Maureen, 11st 3lbs	Native	1
Nawab Asghar Ali Khan's ch aus m Ursula, 11st 11lb	Garrard	2
Capt Davies' g afr g Blue Rock, 11st 11lb	Owner	3

Won easily by eight lengths. Blue Rock did not finish. Time—1 min. 27½ secs. Totalizator paid Rs. 4.

THE CITY AND SUBURBAN PLATE.—Rs. 32 to the winner and Rs 10 to the second. For horses that have not won a Flat Race value Rs. 50, since 1st January 1903. 1 mile.

Mr Bates's br aus g Dundee, 11st 3lbs ...	Garrard	1
Major Broadrick's b aus m Wahine ...	Native	2
Mr Harper's ch aus h Lochaber, 11st 3lbs	Capt Winwood	3
„ Warren's br aus g Barney, 11st 3lbs ...	Burke	0
„ Stanley's br aus g Shawb, 11st 3lbs ...	Owner	0

Dundee had matters all his own way and might have won by any number of lengths. The verdict was one length with two more between second and third. Time—1 min. 56secs. Totalizator paid Rs. 3.

THE MAY PLATE.—Rs. 32 to the winner and Rs. 10 to the second. For Arab and C.-B. Ponies 14-1 and under that have not won a race value Rs. 200 or over since 1st January 1903. ½ mile.

Major Eustace's b a g Naseri, 8st 11lb	Rahim	1
Thakur Sripal Singh's ch cb g Howitzer, 10st 9lbs	Burke	2
Mr Pearson's g a h Farewell, 7st 8lbs ...	Native	3
„ Montgomery's b cb g Sweet Vernal, 10st 9lbs	Owner	0
Nawab Abid Ali Khan's b cb m Dame Ethel, 9st 11lbs ...	Native	0
Mr Duley Gilroy's b a h Grumpy, 9st 3lbs	Garrard	0
Nawab Abid Ali Khan's ch c f m Chumpa, 9st 3lb	Native	0

Won by two lengths; one between second and third. Time—55 secs. Totalizator paid Rs. 17.

THE POLO PLATE.—Rs. 32 to the winner and Rs 10 to the second. For bonâ-fide Polo Ponies that have not won a race of any description since 1st January 1903. 3 furlongs.

Mr Close-Brook's br aus m Label, 12st 11lb	Capt Winwood	1
Capt Forrest's ch cb m Rachael, 9st 11lbs	Mr Shaw	2
„ Winwood's bk a h After Park, 11st 7lbs	Mr Montgomery	3
Capt Davies' b aus g Roebuck 12st 7lbs ...	Owner	0
„ Home's g ch g Scamp 10st ...	Mr Smith	0
Mr Gage's Mohawk II 10st 6lbs ...	Mr Richton	0

Won by three lengths; two between second and third. Time—43secs.

Sport in England.

(FROM OUR OWN SPORTING CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Friday, 1st May 1903.

THE TURF.

THE news that the long-impending scheme for the reconstruction of the Sandown Park stands will shortly materialise, was well received on the 23rd ultimo, and there will be general rejoicing amongst the paying public next September when the improvements have been completed. The barn-like wooden stand has long been a reproach to such a sound and aristocratic concern, and, both as regards appearance and the personal comfort of the spectators, the erection of a substantial building, constructed of steel, concrete, and brickwork, in its place has been an obvious necessity for years past. Exposed as it is to the full strength of easterly and northerly winds, Sandown is not the coolest of trysts when the breeze blows from a cold quarter. It was bleak and wintry on the 24th but, though people's faces were pinched with cold, a spirit of cheery optimism—not wholly unconnected with a welcome reduction in the income-tax—pervaded the assemblage, and from beginning to end the sport went with a rare swing. Fields ruled large throughout the afternoon, and from a spectacular point of view the racing could hardly have been improved upon, but backers of first favourites were not as successful as they would have liked. I append details of the two big races of the afternoon:—

THE ESHER STAKES.—(handicap) of £1,271 15s. About one mile and five furlongs.

Mr W B Purefoy's b g Cappa White, by Buckingham—Elvir, 4yrs, 7st 5lbs	B. Hilton	1
Major J D Edwards's b h Wavelet's Pride, 6yrs, 8st 3lbs (inc 14lbs ex) ...	Randall	2
Mr G Parrott's ch c Lord Carbine, 4yrs, 8st 3lbs	O Madden	3
Lord Durham's Osbech, aged, 9st ...	Halsey	0
Sir J Blundell Maple's The Bishop, 5yrs, 8st 8lbs	W Lane	0
Capt Laing's Padlock II., 5yrs, 8st 7lbs ...	Hardy	0
Mr H J King's Prince Florizel, 4yrs, 8st 4lbs	H Jones	0
Sir J Kelk's Orbel, 5yrs, 7st 7lbs ...	Watts	0
Mr L de Rothschild's Venus, 4yrs, 6st 9lbs...	Trigg	0

(Winner trained by Fallon, at Netheravon.)

BETTING:—5 to 1 each agst Prince Florizel, Lord Carbine, Wavelet's Pride, and Cappa White, 6 to 1 Venus, 7 to 1 Osbech, 8 to 1 Padlock II., and 10 to 1 each The Bishop and Orbel.

Won a good race by half a length: a length and a half separated the second and third. Orbel was fourth, Osbech fifth, Venus sixth, The Bishop seventh, Prince Florizel next, and Padlock II., last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2mins. 38⅘secs.

THE PRINCESS OF WALES'S HANDICAP of 439 sovs. Five furlongs.

Sir J Blundell Maple's ch h Lord Bolton, by Bend Or—Silver Sea, 5yrs, 9st 6lbs (inc 5lbs ex)	W Lane	1
Mr J B Joel's b c His Lordship, 4 yrs, 7st 6lbs	O Madden	2
Mr G Thursby's b m Indian Corn, 6 yrs, 7st 5lbs	Trigg	3
„ J R Keene's Chacornac, 6yrs, 8st 7lbs	Lyne	0
„ A Cohen's Royal River, 5yrs, 7st 5lbs...	Watts	0
Major Joicey's Sterling Balm, 4yrs, 7st 8lbs	J H Martin	0
Capt F Forester's Hackler's Pride, 3yrs, 7st 11b (car 7st 4lbs)	B Dillon	0
Mr E Dresden's Nahlband, 5yrs, 7st 11b (inc 10lbs ex)	Knott	0
„ F Southall's Court Belle, 5yrs, 6st 13lbs	Knight	0
„ R Fitzgerald's Duke of Magenta, 4yrs, 6st 8lbs	J East	0
„ R H Henning's Jennico, 3yrs, 6st 6lbs	C Escott	0
„ H Howard-Vyse's Gun Club, 3yrs, 6st 5lbs	F Parkin	0
„ C T Pulley's Lady Help, 3yrs, 6st 3lbs	Jarvis	0
„ L Robinson's Cloten, 3yrs, 6st 7lbs ...	Plant	0
„ Ed Lamb's Capot, 3yrs, 6st (inc 5lbs ex)	Kirby	0
Sir E Vincent's Jacqueline 3yrs, 5st 13lbs	Dekker	0
Mr H V Foy's Port Jackson, 3yrs, 5st 12lbs	J Jarvis	0
„ B Elkam's Switchcap, 3yrs, 6st ...	Griggs	0

(Winner trained by W. Waugh, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 5 to 2 agnst. Indian Corn, 6 to 1 Royal River, 8 to 1 each Chacornac and Duke of Magenta, 10 to 1 Sterling Balm, 100 to 8 each His Lordship and Gun Club, 100 to 7 each Hackler's Pride and Port Jackson and 100 to 6 any other (offered.)

Won by a length and a half a head between second and third. Court Belle was fourth, Gun Club fifth, Royal River sixth, Sterling Balm seventh, Hackler's Pride eighth, Jennico ninth, and Cloten last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min. 3⅘secs.

The steeplechase season is a very elastic term, but, so far as the metropolitan district is concerned, Sandown Park generally rings down the curtain upon cross-country sport proper, and it was so on the 25th ultimo. Fickle as April weather proverbially is, the contrariness of the elements was never better exemplified. During the two previous days, when Jockey Club sport occupied attention, the dreariest of Christmas-like conditions prevailed, but no sooner was the winter pastime re-introduced to the notice of racegoers than one touch of the magician's wand turned leaden skies and icy winds into a cloudless firmament and the balmiest of spring-like breezes, and a long-suffering humanity emancipated from the thraldom of cumbersome overcoats, gave a long-drawn sigh of relief. It was an ideal afternoon for the enjoyment of outdoor sport, and many were lured to the Esher slopes who had found a more congenial occupation earlier in the week. Thus the master in the enclosures was in excess of the attendance, and the gentler sex, in particular, were present in much larger numbers. The recent drying winds had left their impression on the ground, which was parched on the surface and uncommonly hard for jumping; but this did not militate against the numerical strength of the fields, and, happily, mishaps were few and far between. As was the case a twelvemonth ago, backers more than held their own, and the Ring had to disgorge some of their Epsom gains. Details:—

THE GRAND INTERNATIONAL STEEPLECHASE—(handicap) of 412sovs. About three miles and a half.

Mr A Gorham's b c Gonzalez, by Gonsalvo—Galaxy, 5yrs, 10st 6lbs ...	Phillips	1
„ W Haven's c g Expert II, 6yrs, 10st 7lbs	F Mason	2
„ Moorgate's br g Prince Tuscan, aged, 9st 10lbs	B Driscoll	3
„ J S Morrison's Drumcree, aged, 13st 11b (inc 12lbs ex) ...	Mr H Nugent	0
„ H Tunstall-Moore's Fanciful, aged, 12st 7lbs	Mr W P Cullen	0
„ W M G Singer's Hearwood, aged, 11st 13lbs	P Woodland	0
„ J G Bulteel's Dearslayer, aged 11st 7lbs (inc 4lbs ex)	Piggott	0
„ Reid Walker's Cherry Derry, 6 yrs, 11st 3lbs	Mr Fergusson	0

(Winner trained by Hackett, at Telscombe.)

BETTING:—3 to 1 agst Expert II., 9 to 2 Drumcree, 5 to 1 Hearwood, 6 to 1 each Fanciful and Dearslayer, 8 to 1 Prince Tuscan, and 10 to 1 any other (offered).

Won by a length and a half; a bad third. Dearslayer was fourth, and none of the others completed the course. Time by Benson's chronograph, 7mins. 47⅕secs.

THE GREAT SANDOWN HURDLE RACE—(handicap) of 412sovs. Two miles.

Mr George Edwardes's b g Eteocles, by Craig Royston—Antigone, aged, 12st 7lbs	Piggott	†
Major J M Gordon's br c Karakoul, by Wolf's Crag—Valentine, 4yrs, 11st 3lbs	Mr Fergusson	†
Sir J Blundell Maple's br g Childwickbury, aged, 12st 6lbs	C Horan	3
Col H T Fenwick's Longthorpe, 5yrs, 12st (inc 10lbs ex)...	Dollery	0
Mr L Byron Peter's Upper Cut, aged, 11st 9lbs	Birch	0
„ J C Sullivan's Sallypark, 5yrs, 11st 7lbs	Mr Persse	0
„ C Lane's Cracky, aged, 11st 5lbs ...	Goswell	0
„ H Bottomley's Loupeau, 6yrs, 11st 3lbs	D Read	0

(Eteocles trained by Major Edwards at Ogbourne, and Karakoul trained by Jarvis, at Newmarket.)

BETTING:—5 to 2 agst. Longthorpe, 11 to 4 Karakoul, 4 to 1 Sallypark, 5 to 1 Cracky, 8 to 1 each Eteocles and Childwickbury, and 100 to 8 any other (offered.)

In the straight Sallypark took a slight lead of Karakoul, Childwickbury, and Eteocles, but resigned at the last hurdles to Karakoul, who failed to stall off the challenge of Eteocles, the pair running a dead-heat; two lengths between second and third. Cracky was fourth, Sallypark fifth, Longthorpe sixth, and Loupeau last. The stakes were divided. Time by Benson's chronograph, 4mins. 2secs.

Pregnant with the issue of the Two Thousand and One Thousand Guineas, the First Spring Meeting at head-quarters takes high rank amongst the most important of the Jockey Club campaign. It was to the accompaniment of blinding snowstorms and a raging gale that patrons of the Craven Meeting had effected their departure from Newmarket, and, repenting its former inhospitality the little town extended a smiling and genial welcome to its numerous visitors on the 28th April. The atmosphere was soft and balmy, thanks to a gentle south-westerly breeze, and the sun shone occasionally with springlike brilliance. April showers were in frequent evidence, but after all, they were seasonable enough, and the discomfort they occasioned was as nothing to the benefits to be derived therefrom.

A twelvemonth ago the patronage of the King had contributed largely to the social success of the gathering, and His Majesty's absence from the present reunion was not without its effect. A representative and influential company foregathered in the enclosures nevertheless, and it was in pleasant environments that a capital day's sport was witnessed. The recent rains have done incalculable good to the land already, and the Heath is beginning to recover from the effects of the late wintry weather, the going being all that could be desired.

It is not often that Newmarket is chosen as the scene of one of Duke's plunges, but for the Two Thousand Guineas Trial Plate Victor Don was served up very warm after a prolonged rest. The son of Donovan and Capucine had not been seen in public since he appropriated the Ascot High-weight Handicap, and claiming to be sold for 400sovs., as was the case, his chance was apparent enough. He gave his supporters a fright by bolting on the way to the post, and, becoming quite unmanageable, Mr. Thursby could not stop him in his wild career, the race being eventually started without him. Few were aware of the fact until the horses passed the post, and the race resulted in the victory of Reservist, who slipped away with a slight lead of Wild Apple and Volpone, and, making every yard of the running, won pretty readily, being sold subsequently to Mr. S. B. Joel for 430 guineas. Victor Don must not be considered a starter. Details:—

THE HASTINGS PLATE—Of 500sovs. for three year olds; colts 8st 10lbs, fillies and geldings 8st 7lbs; with penalties and allowances. Last mile and a half of T.M.M.

Mr D Baird's b c Martinet, by Martagon—Silene, 8st 3lbs (car 8st 4lbs) ...	Maher	1
Sir E Cassel's b c Lovat, 9st 11b ...	Halsey	2
„ R Waldie Griffith's b c Akbar, 8st 3lbs	J H Martin	3
Mr L Brassey's San Terenzo, 8st 10lbs ...	K Cannon	0
Lord Ellesmere's Constable, 8st 3lbs ...	W Lane	0
Mr J W Larnach's Post Obit, 8st 3lbs ...	H Jones	0
„ W M G Singer's c by Gallinule—La Joie, 8st 3lbs	O Madden	0

(Winner trained by H. Enoch, at Newmarket.)

BETTING:—Evens Martinet, 5 to 1 agst Post Obit, 7 to 1 Lovat, 8 to 1 Akbar, and 100 to 7 any other (offered).

Won in a canter by four lengths; six lengths between second and third. San Terenzo was fourth, La Joie colt fifth, and Post Obit last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2mins. 38⅕secs.

THE TWO THOUSAND GUINEAS TRIAL PLATE.—Of 175sovs; weight for age, with selling and other allowances. R. M. (one mile).

Lord Howard de Walden's ch g Reservist, by Amphion—Reservation, 3yrs, 7st 4lbs (£200)	Miller	1
Prince Soltykoff's b h Volpone, 5yrs, 8st 7lbs (£200)	Watts	2
Mr P Gleeson's b h Asgington, aged, 8st 12lbs (£200)	Maher	3
Mr J Wallace's Caedmon, 5yrs, 8st 12lbs (£200)	B Jarvis	0
Mr J C Dyer's St Hilarious, 4yrs, 8st 10lbs (£200)	M Cannon	0
Mr H E Randall's Wild Apple, 4yrs, 8st 7lbs (£200)	Randall	0
Sir R Waldie Griffith's Omar Khayyam, 3yrs, 7st 7lbs £200	J H Martin	0

Victor Don was weighed for by his owner, and was supported at 11 to 10, but on the way to the post the horse bolted and never came under the starter's orders. He must not be considered a runner.

(Winner trained by Beatty, at Newmarket.)

BETTING:—6 to 1 each agst Asmodeus and Wild Apple, 7 to 1 Reservist, and 10 to 1 any other (offered). Won by half a length: a length and a half between second a third. Wild Apple was fourth, Caedmon fifth, and St. Hilarious last. The winner was sold to Mr S B Joel for 430gs. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min. 42⅕secs.

The Thursday of the First Spring Meeting is in the nature of an off day, and the conversation this morning turned on the aftermath of the Two Thousand Guineas and the outlook for the fillies' race to-morrow rather than on the happenings of the moment. On all sides one heard expressions of relief at the meritorious performance of Rock Sand, who has entirely rehabilitated himself in the eyes of his numerous detractors, and whose defeat over the Rowley Mile would have been little less than a national calamity. Had the sturdy son of Sainfoin deteriorated as lamentably as some of the local critics feigned to believe, the Derby would have seemed almost at the mercy of the foreigner, but we can now console ourselves in the possession of a worthy and efficient champion, and there are good grounds for hoping that Sir James Miller's colt will be equal to the task of successfully upholding the honour of the old country. To-day Newmarket had to some extent resumed its normal state of somnolent tranquility, and the attendance showed a decided falling off from yesterday, although it was doubtless well up to the average Springlike weather prevailed, a south-easterly breeze, tempered by occasional brilliant sunshine, rending the atmosphere cool, whilst frequent cold showers marred the enjoyment of a brisk afternoon's racing.

Notwithstanding that the March Stakes only elicited an entry of twenty, the quality of the nominees atoned amply for the numerical weakness of the party engaged, and there was plenty of material for a most exciting contest. Unfortunately, the absence of Ard Patrick and Sceptre robbed the race of its chief attraction, and, as things turned out the interest hinged almost entirely on the rivalry of St. Maclou and Brambilla. St. Maclou had been regarded as the potential winner of this event a twelvemonth ago, but the hardness of the going kept him in his stable. Since the handsome son of St. Simon and Mimi had carried off the Manchester November Handicap in decisive fashion he had changed ownership owing to the sad death of Colonel McCalmont, and, though he still remains under the care of Captain Beatty, he appeared for the first time in the colours of his new lessee, Lord Howard de Walden. Being short of a gallop or two, the "Saint" was never very firm in the market, and the City and Suburban winner, Brambilla, was installed a better favourite. Since cutting down the flower of our handicap

Flor de Sumatra Brand
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROOM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

BEACONSFIELDS.

Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co

form at Epsom the French filly had been under the charge of Jarvis, and she looked in capital fettle. St. Maclou was saddled away, and did not join the others till they were assembled at the post. Cannon giving him a sharp canter round in the wake of a stable companion on the way. Caravel set a strong pace to Kearsage and St. Maclou till descending Bushes Hill, when Handicapper shot to the front and electrified the onlookers by making hacks of his opponents for the remainder of the journey, scoring easily by three lengths from St. Maclou. The theory that Handicapper was a non-stayer will not hold water now, for the ten furlongs was traversed at top speed, and they travelled under high pressure all the way. He was meeting Brambilla upon 9lbs. better terms than at Epsom, and turned the tables on the filly most decisively. This was the first victory of the son of Matchmaker since his sensational triumph in the Two Thousand Guineas just a couple of years ago, and great credit is due to W. Leader for having succeeded in coaxing the horse back into his best form again.

THE MARCH STAKES—Of 540sovs.: weight for age, etc. A. F. (one mile two furlongs).

Sir E Cassel's br h Handicapper, by Matchmaker—Agnes Osborne, 5yrs. 8st 7lbs	Halsey	1
Lord Howard de Walden's b h St Maclou, 5yrs, 9st 10lbs	M Cannon	2
Mr J Gubbin's b f Caravel, 3yrs, 7st 5lbs	J H Martin	3
,, Ephrussi's Brambilla, 3yrs, 7st 12lbs ...	Watts	0
Sir J Thursby's Fighting Furley, 6yrs, 9st 10lbs	Mr G Thursby	0
Mr J R Keene's Kearsage, 4yrs, 8st 4lbs ...	Lyne	0

(Winner trained by Mr. F. Lambton, at Newmarket).

BETTING :—2 to 1 agst Brambilla, 9 to 4 St. Maclou, 100 to 15 Handicapper, 7 to 1 Caravel, 10 to 1 Fighting Furley, and 50 to 1 Kearsage (offered).

Won easily by three lengths; two lengths between second and third. Brambilla was fourth and Fighting Furley last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2mins. 9⅗secs.

FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION RULES.

THE LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP.

DIVISION 1.

NEWCASTLE UNITED vs. SUNDERLAND.—Before quite 28,000 spectators, Newcastle United fairly and squarely defeated Sunderland, at St. James's Park, Newcastle, and thus deprived the Wearsiders of Championship honours. It was a great game, and the determined way in which it was contested says a deal for the sportsmanlike manner in which the game was played, for by their victory, Newcastle had practically nothing to lose, and Sunderland had everything. In the first half, Newcastle had more of the attack than Sunderland, but their work in front of goal was not so deadly. Both sides preserved a good defence, and there was no score. Three minutes after the resumption, Appleyard and Gardner combined splendidly, and, beating the defence, gave McColl an opening, which he utilised splendidly. Then Sunderland played the one-back and six-forward game as a dernier resort but this did not avail them for Newcastle's defence was good, and the Championship was lost to the Wearsiders, the final score reading; Newcastle United, one goal: Sunderland, nil.

LIVERPOOL vs. BURY.—The English Cup-holders were entertained at Anfield on Saturday, some 15,000 spectators giving them a hearty reception as they entered the field. Bury were without Berry and Richards, whose places were taken by Booth and Grey, respectively. Liverpool were also weakened by the absence of Dunlop, this involving a re-arrangement of the team, Raisback going back and Livingstone centre half, while Morris partnered Goddard. In fine, summerlike weather, the teams got going, and Bury at once took the upper hand. Platt saved in the first few minutes from Thorpe, and afterwards Wood had the ill-luck to hit the cross-bar at close quarters. Gradually Liverpool worked down to the other end, but several centres from the wing men went begging. At length Raybould worked through and beat Monteith with a beauty at close quarters. At half-time Liverpool thus led by one to none. In the second half Liverpool at once attacked, and this set the keynote for the whole of the period, for the home side had much the best of matters. Bury frequently broke away but generally they were on the defensive. The home forwards missed several chances, and try as they would they could not force the ball through. Raboud managed to get going at last, and although Lindsay did his best the clever centre beat both the back and the custodian. Bury played up pluckily, but could make no impression on the Anfield defence. Result: Liverpool, two goals; Bury none.

WEST BROMWICH ALBION vs. DERBY COUNTY.—These clubs met on Saturday at the Hawthornes before about 6,000 spectators. Had the Albion been playing for a possible position at the head of the League table they could not have shown more determination and dash than they did in this game on Saturday, when at the end of ten minutes' play E. Smith notched their first goal with a terrific shot. They fully deserved the lead, and had nothing more than their deserts when Simmons, approaching half-time, put on a second point. As in the first half, ten minutes sufficed to give the Albion a goal in the second, Farrington, who was receiving a trial at centre forward, being responsible for the increase of the Albion's lead. From then to the finish there was a stern struggle for supremacy, but the Cup finalists were unable to decrease the lead, and the result was: Albion, three goals; Derby County, none.

GRIMSBY TOWN vs. ASTON VILLA.—Grimsby Town finished up their season at Blundell Park on Saturday in inglorious fashion, Aston Villa beating them by 2—0, though on the general play the score might easily have been increased. The game throughout was of a moderate character after the Villa had obtained a lead of two goals both scored by McLuckie, since neither side made strenuous efforts to run the risk of personal injury. The visitors were at full strength, whilst Grimsby had Whittaker instead of Spendiff and Bromley in the place of Hall at centre half. As the result of a minimum charge of 1s., not more than 1,500 persons were present, and little interest was evinced in the play.

MIDDLESBROUGH vs. STOKE.—An interesting game took place at Middlesbrough on Saturday, the result being a draw of one goal each. The match was, in one respect, remarkable, for both these points were obtained within five minutes of the start, Currie for the home team, and Harris for Stoke. After this a capital game was seen to the finish but so good was the defensive work of both sides that no further scoring took place although both sides missed good opportunities.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA.

RECORD TO SATURDAY, 25TH APRIL (INCLUSIVE).

	Plyd.	Won	Drn	Lost	Pts.	Goals For	Agst.
Sheffield Wednesday ...	34	19	4	11	42	54	36
Sunderland ...	34	16	9	9	41	51	36
Aston Villa ...	33	18	3	12	39	56	40
Sheffield United ...	34	17	5	12	39	58	44
Stoke ...	34	15	7	12	37	46	38
Liverpool ...	33	16	4	13	36	66	49
W Brom. Albion ...	34	16	4	14	36	54	53
Bury ...	34	16	4	15	35	51	43
Derby County ...	34	16	3	15	35	50	47
Notts Forest ...	34	14	7	13	35	49	47
Wolvrhmptn Wnd ...	33	14	5	14	33	48	55
Middlesbrough ...	33	14	4	15	32	41	45
Everton ...	34	13	6	15	32	45	47
Newcastle United ...	34	14	4	16	32	41	51
Notts County ...	34	12	7	15	31	41	49
Blackburn Rovers ...	34	12	5	17	29	44	63
Grimsby Town ...	34	8	9	17	25	43	62
Bolton Wanderers ...	34	8	3	23	19	37	73

DIVISION 2.

BURTON UNITED vs. BRISTOL CITY.—A capital performance was accomplished by the Bristol team on Saturday on visiting Burton, for they managed to defeat the home team by three goals to love. They led at half-time by a goal (scored by Wombwell), points afterwards being recorded by Boucher and Banks.

GAINSBOROUGH TRINITY vs. GLOSSOP.—A fairly interesting game took place at Gainsborough on Saturday, the result being a draw of one goal each. Nothing was scored in the first half, but shortly after change of ends Jackson got through for the home team, a point that was subsequently equalised by Thornley.

BARNSLEY vs. MANCHESTER UNITED.—On Saturday an interesting game took place at Barnsley, the teams being so evenly matched that not a goal was scored, the result being a pointless draw. Both goalkeepers acquitted themselves well.

RECORD TO SATURDAY, 16TH MAY (INCLUSIVE).

	Plyd.	Won.	Drn.	Lost	Pts.	Goals For	Agst
Manchester City ...	34	25	4	5	54	95	29
Small Heath ...	34	24	3	7	51	74	36
Woolwich Arsenal ...	34	20	8	6	48	66	30
Bristol City	34	17	8	9	42	59	38
Manchester United ...	34	15	8	11	38	53	38
Chesterfield ...	34	14	9	11	37	67	40
Preston North End ...	34	13	10	11	34	56	40
Barnsley ...	34	13	8	13	34	55	51
Burslem Port Vale ...	34	13	8	13	34	57	62
Lincoln City ...	34	12	6	16	30	46	53
Glossop ...	34	11	7	16	29	43	57
Gainsboro' Trinity ...	34	11	7	16	29	41	59
Burton United ...	34	11	7	16	29	39	59
Blackpool ...	34	9	10	15	28	44	59
Leicester Fosse ...	34	10	8	16	28	41	65
Doncaster Rovers ...	34	9	7	18	25	35	72
Stockport County ...	34	7	6	21	20	38	74
Burnley ...	34	6	8	20	20	30	77

THE SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION CUP.

HEART OF MIDLOTHIAN vs. GLASGOW RANGERS.—The final tie in the competition for the Scottish trophy, which had already been played without definite issue on two previous occasions, was decided at Celtic Park, Glasgow, on Saturday, the 25th ultimo. In sharp contrast to the conditions prevailing when the first game took place, wintry winds and heavy showers of sleet making things uncomfortable to all concerned, the weather was almost summer-like in its mildness, and with the reduction in gate tariff there were fully 80,000 spectators present. On the opening exchanges there was very little to choose between the teams. Run and counter-run was the order of the day during the first fifteen minutes, at the end of which the sides were still on even terms. Neither set of forwards showed great brilliance, and opportunities not infrequently presenting themselves went a-begging. Most serious and effective work came from Smith and Speedie on the Rangers' left wing, and it was mainly through the instrumentality of the former that advantage accrued to his side. A smart touch by the inside man enabled Smith to slip clear and drive hard for goal. The shot was stopped but the danger was not sufficiently averted by the Heart's custodian, and Mackie experienced no difficulty in opening the scoring. Brighter play characterised the game after the restart, the representatives of the East using every endeavour to retrieve lost ground. The situation, however, remained unchanged till the interval. On crossing over the leaders resumed short-handed by the loss through accident in the earlier portion, of Drummond at full back, but that handicap did not visibly affect the division of play, which, as before, was even and fast. Gradually the game resolved itself into a match, the Eastern attack and the Western defence, and the alteration in the former, Baird retiring to the rear division and Thomson going forward brought about an almost continuous pressure on the Rangers' stronghold. As is often the case with a beleaguered side, a sudden breakaway and a dash for goal may terminate more successfully than all the efforts of the besiegers, and the leaders experienced this happy chance. A long kick by Robertson let Hamilton off on one of his electric rushes. The speed of the Scottish centre enabled him to leave all opposition behind, and he easily found the net with a low shot at close range. This further success decided the destination of the Cup, as the losers though maintaining the upper hand, failed in their eager anxiety to reduce the leeway to improve on the many chances coming their way, and finally had to retire defeated by two goals to love.

MIDDLESEX CHARITY CUP.

WEST HAMPSTEAD vs. EALING.—Tempted by the fine weather nearly 2,000 spectators gathered on the Hanwell F. C. ground on Saturday last to see the above final. Both clubs were well represented, and the match was keenly contested from start to finish, typical cup-tie tactics prevailing. Occasionally there was seen some of the good, old-fashioned, vigorous, but honest charging, which the referee for the most part allowed. West Hampstead were rather the better side, and they won on their merits. During the first half the latter team were assisted by a stiffish breeze, which enabled them to do most of the attacking. In this department Reid, Scott, and Pickering were especially prominent, but none of them were successful, the only point up to the interval being obtained by the centre half-back, H. Gamble, with a well-judged shot. Finlay kept a good goal, and at the other end Royce was equal to the few calls made on him, chiefly by Pryce, R. V. Finlay, and Fox. Changing ends the Ealing forwards were seen to more advantage, but much of their shooting was wild. Gamble, Thurman, and Griffin, too, bore their part in defence so thoroughly and effectively that their keeper had not much handling to perform. Pickering and Hillyard occasionally broke away for West Hampstead, while Kingaby, on the right, also initiated several useful runs but was generally too well watched to be often dangerous. Ten minutes before the finish Ealing were deprived of their right half, hurt in a collision. Subsequently some neat passing between Gamble, Pickering and Hillyard enabled the last-named to give to Scott, who, with a hook shot from an awkward angle secured a grand goal. Ealing played hard to the end, but could not score, and West Hampstead, therefore, secured the cup (which will be presented at a concert to be held in May) by two goals to none. For the winners, Gamble was in particularly fine fettle in the half back line.

RUGBY RULES.

NORTHERN UNION CHALLENGE CUP.

HALIFAX vs. SALFORD.—The match was played in delightful weather, but the ground was very hard, unpleasantly so, in fact. Halifax won the toss, and had the first use of a strong wind, their opponents being further handicapped by having to face a bright sunshine. The first half, however, was anything but flattering to the Yorkshire Club. Salford, who "packed" the scrummages on most unorthodox lines—they seemed always to be trying to make the "scrums" two deep with a swinging end that was most irritating—repeatedly beat Halifax in the struggle for the possession of the ball, and whenever the Yorkshiremen got dangerous Harter and Griffiths were able to clear their lines by using touch. Apart from the effective mode of defence, Halifax ought to have taken the lead in the first half had their centre three-quarters been at all clever, two or three fine opening, being bungled by faulty play in this section of the team. Half-time arrived with a blank score sheet.

It was thought at this stage that Salford would win the Cup, with the wind now assisting them. Events completely falsified this assumption. The game had not been more than three minutes in progress in this half when the Halifax forwards broke up a scrummage and rushed for the line in a manner that the Salford backs found irresistible. Rigg and Bartle each tried to reach the ball without success, but Jack Riley was more fortunate and grounded the ball behind the posts, Bulmer, one of his colleagues, temporarily knocking himself out in also endeavouring to make the try safe. Hadwen kicked a goal, making the Halifax team's lead into 5 points. This early and unlooked-for success put rare vigour into the Halifax team, while it correspondingly upset Salford who were soon swept back again to their quarters by the fast-rushing Halifax forwards. The Lancastrians were here penalised, and Hadwen again kicked a goal, thus putting the issue practically beyond question. Not until a few minutes from the finish did Salford get a look in, and then they found the defence too much for them, Halifax winning the Cup for the first time with the score: Halifax, two goals one try (7 points); Salford, nil.

HEAVY SCORING IN 1902-03.

The following are among the instances of heavy scoring registered during the season of 1902-03.

(A) ASSOCIATION RULES.

		G			G
Oct	4—*B'ton & Hove Alb	14	bt	Brighton Amateurs ...	2
,,	18—B'ton & Hove Alb	12	bt	*Shoreham ...	0
,,	18—*Parthians ...	12	bt	Surbiton ark ...	1
,,	18—*Old Cholmeleins	11	bt	Old Felstedians ...	1
,,	25—Weybridge ...	12	bt	Old Cranleighians ...	2
Nov	1—Grangetown Ath	12	bt	*York St Clements ...	2
Dec	13—*Southamp (S L)	11	bt	Watford ...	0
,,	27—The Casuals ...	11	bt	*Hast & St Leonards ...	2
Jan	17—*Chesterfield ...	10	bt	Glossop ...	0
Feb	11—*Eastbourne ...	11	bt	St Bart's Hospital ...	1
Mar	7—*The Casuals ...	10	bt	Richmond Assoc ...	3
,,	14—Sydenham ...	10	bt	Old Tollingtonians ...	1
Apl	11—*Small Heath ...	12	bt	Doncaster Rovers ...	0
,,	11—*Reigate Priory,	11	bt	Bowes Park ...	0
,,	25—Mr G O Smith's XI ...	11	bt	*A French Team ...	0

*Home team.

(B) RUGBY RULES.

Sept	13—*Devonport Albion (15)	8	2	bt	Tiverton ...	0 0
,,	20—*Llanelly (76)	14	2	bt	District Clubs (5) ...	1 0
,,	29—*Gloucester (45)	6	5	bt	Clifton ...	0 0
,,	27—*Gloucester (18)	6	6	bt	Old Edwardians ...	0 0
,,	27—*Swansea (41)	5	7	bt	Bridgend (5) ...	1 0
Oct	4—Marlborough Nomads (55)	8	5	bt	*Haileybury Col ...	0 0
,,	18—*Durham (54)	9	3	bt	Cumberland ...	0 0
,,	29—*R I E Cl (50)	4	10	bt	St Mary's Hosp ...	0 0
Nov	29—*Newport (38)	1	6	bt	Moseley ...	0 0
Dec	20—*Swansea (42)	6	1	bt	Cork County ...	0 0
,,	27—Llanelly (42)	6	1	bt	Dblin O. Wesly (5)	1 0
,,	27—U C S Old Boys (51) ...	6	7	bt	*Brighton (5) ...	1 0
Jan	3—*Gloucester (36)	3	7	bt	Coventry ...	0 0
,,	3—Wembley ...	6	1	bt	*Blackheath (B) ...	0 0
,,	10—*Llaelly cot (47)	6	6	bt	St Thomas's H (3) ...	0 1
,,	21—*Devonport Albion (34)	2	8	bt	Canadians (4) ...	1 0
,,	30—*Leinster (39) ...	6	3	bt	Munster (6) ...	1 1
,,	31—Streatham (2nd) (45) ...	6	5	bt	Wasps (3rd) (8) ...	1 1
Feb	7—Brighton (65) ...	10	5	bt	Eastbourne Col ...	0 0
,,	25—*R I E Coll (4) (66) ...	12	2	bt	St Thomas's Hspl (A) (5) ...	1 0
,,	28—*Blkheath (36)	6	3	bt	Kensington ...	0 0
Mar	7—*Swansea (43)	5	6	bt	Bristol ...	0 0
,,	7—*Llanelly (47)	7	4	bt	Bridgend ...	0 0
,,	7—*Cardiff (36) ...	6	2	bt	Moseley ...	0 0
,,	14—*Leicester (39)	4	7	bt	Stratfd on Avon ...	0 0
,,	21—*Leicester (54)	8	5	bt	L'cester Belgrave ...	0 0
,,	28—*Leicester (49)	6	7	bt	Nuneaton (11) ...	1 2

(C) NORTHERN UNION RULES.

Sept	20—*Swinton (32)	7	6	bt	Brighouse Rngrs ...	0 0
Nov	1—*Yrkshire (29)	4	7	bt	Cumberland (2) ...	1 0
Feb	3—*R'dale Hts (57)	6	15	bt	Stockport ...	0 0
Mar	16—*Salford (28)	2	8	bt	Batley (8) ...	1 2

*Signifies the home team.

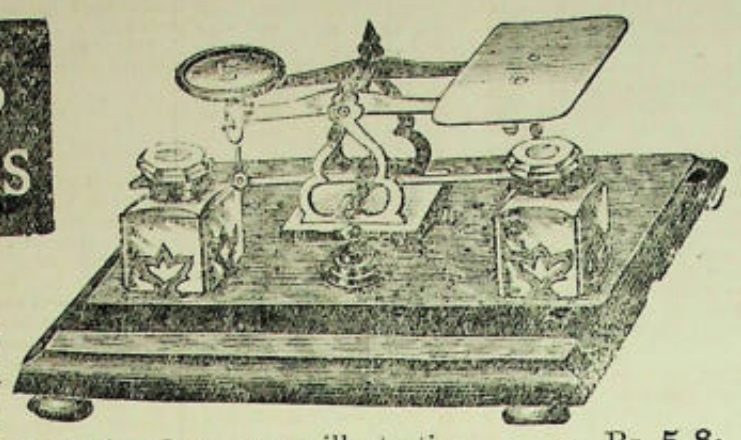
Practically a Corinthian team played a picked French side at Association football in Paris on Saturday, the match being the first International contest decided in France. The visitors outclassed their opponents at all points, and won by eleven goals to love. G. O. Smith, L. J. Moon, B. O. Corbett, and R. Corbett were included in the forward line, which will give some idea of the strength of the side.

WALKING.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE WALK TO BRIGHTON.

Many Londoners who are usually still asleep while the other half of the population is up and doing, were astir at an early hour this morning, with the object of witnessing the start for the Stock Exchange walk to Brighton. The weather, which had not promised well overnight, was fortunately fine at the commence

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.
FLOR DE SPENCER.



Head Office: Madras
Factory: Dindigul. Southern India.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co

THE CHEAPEST HOUSE IN INDIA FOR STATIONERY AND PRINTING.

HALF PRICE. INKSTAND WITH LETTER BALANCE COMBINED. THE BEST, THE SIMPLEST, AND THE LIGHTEST RUNNING MACHINE IN THE WORLD.

1903. TRAILL'S INDIAN DIARIES

LIST ON APPLICATION.

THE NEW MODEL "FOX" No. 4.

A high Grade Machine, Built for Business, A Beauty to Behold, A Pleasure to Operate.

88 Characters (4 more than any other).

No Carriage to lift, Platen Simply Rolls Up, Better than a "Visible Writer."

ODDMENTS of STATIONERY

Made up of broken packets of Note Paper and Envelopes. All clean and good. Re. 1-0 per seer.

Weighing 2 oz. as per illustration ... Rs. 5-8.

TRAILL & Co., 20, British Indian Street, CALCUTTA.

ment of the race, which was timed to begin at half-past six, but the drizzle of rain which set in an hour later somewhat dampep the hopes of the many spectators hurrying home or to their business after catching a fleeting glimpse of the competitors.

By six o'clock Westminster Bridge and all the approaches to it were black with people, who eagerly awaited the stroke of half-past six. A general and prolonged cheer was uttered by the multitude as the competitors, some ninety in all, emerged from between the dense lines of spectators. They are most of them young men, and generally speaking looked very fit, the majority of them being attired in shorts and sweaters, and some wearing jackets. Punctual almost to the minute, the starter shouted, "Are you ready? Go!" and the sturdy phalanx set forth across Westminster Bridge upon their long walk, at a rapid stride. Many people tried to follow them, but the official motor-cars and other vehicles bearing flags with letters "S.E.W." and the people themselves crowded so closely at the heels of the competitors, that only a glimpse could be obtained of them.

The stretch down Kennington-road had little or no effect on the walkers, but soon after clearing the Brixton end of the Kennington-park-road the heavy going began to tell its tale. The roads, in fact, were in a very bad condition, and certainly militated considerably against the best walker's chances of keeping a good time. So much did it tell in fact that the competitors soon after passing Kennington Church began to separate, and quite a number were left plodding along behind, in a manner that showed they stood little or no chance of keeping up much longer. Those in front, however, kept up remarkably well under obvious difficulties, and that they set good pace can be judged from the fact that Brixton Railway Station was passed at five minutes past seven, this giving a rate of walking of over six miles an hour.

All along the way folk had turned out in their thousands to witness at least a portion of the race, and as the men came up and passed they were greeted with deafening cheers.

When, at twenty minutes to eight, Streatham was reached and passed through, the major portion of the competitors had slowed down a bit and the "crowding" gave place to a thinning out process. From the start G. D. Nicholas, one of the favourites, had shown splendid walking powers, and when, after leaving Brixton, the men began to thin out, he secured a very useful lead of some three or four hundred yards by a remarkable spurt. He was walking without the least indication of fatigue, and his supporters, who had so far followed up, gave him gratifying cheers. The other walkers, with the exception of about a dozen, gave manifest signs of being already pumped—a condition no doubt materially contributed to by the heavy state of the roads. Nicholas was followed in the order named by E. F. Broad, J. H Murray, A. Hare Duke, N. Vorley, F. E. Knights, G. F. Pawle, and A. Dawes (one of the favourites). Dawes was showing up to this point very little walking powers, and certainly gave no signs of becoming a winner. Of course the day was early and it may have been that he was saving himself until later in the day. To the casual onlooker, however, it was clear that he was showing signs of distress.

Croydon was passed at eight o'clock—a distance of nine and a half miles from the starting point. At this point W. R. Nicholas had, by splendid walking taken the place of G. D. Nicholas, who had from the start led up to then The distance between the two, however, was a very small one. E Benjamin was the third man, with F. T. Carr fourth, and the two Williamsons (together) fifth. The rest were straggling a good distance behind, and did not pass through Croydon until thirty-five minutes after the first and second man.

G. D. Nicholas did the twelve miles to Purley roughly in two hours.

At Merstham, 18 miles from the start, the positions of the leaders were:—G. D. Nicholas, 3h. 4m. 40s.; A. H. Duke, walking magnificently, next, only 40secs. behind; and W. Nicholas, third, three minutes further off.

A telegram, dated eleven o'clock from Redhill, says:—Rain has been falling steadily for the last three hours, with the result that the roads, especially on the line of route, resembles a quagmire. However, the state of the weather has in no way daunted the spirits of the inhabitants, who have flocked in their thousands to see the competitors pass through the town. Chief Constable Metcalfe, anticipating a large crowd, ordered all men on duty who were available, and for almost the first time in the history of the town, mounted police were employed in keeping the road clear for the competitors. It was expected that the first man would arrive at about 10-30, but an hour before that time it was known that they were well past Croydon. Consequently, from all quarters of the borough inhabitants rushed to places of vantage, notwithstanding the heavy downpour, and waited there patiently until the first batch of men were wending their way across the switchback at Earlswood. The hotels in the line of route did a roaring trade, while the Post-office was invaded by friends of the competitors and Pressmen. At 9-40 the news was circulated that the first man was in sight, and in the distance an athlete could be seen with a swinging gait, accompanied by his attendant, making for the town. From the side street offices and places of business, there was a rush to the London Road and the Brighton Road, but to their amusement they found that the athlete was the representative of a well-known tradesman, who availed himself of the opportunity of advertising his wares. At 9-30 the official timekeepers arrived in the town, and took shelter with their motor-car under a railway arch which, fortunate for them, was conveniently situated close to the milestone, and they had not long to wait before the advance guard entered the town with news that the two favourites—G.D. Nicholas and A Hare Duke—were close at hand. Since Croydon the position of the first four men had changed several times, and it was stated that Nicholas was leading.

This proved to be the case, as he passed Redhill Post office exactly at 9·58½, just a minute ahead of A. Hare Duke. Both competitors it was evident had had a rough time. W. L. Nicholas was third, two minutes in rear of Duke, while his brother, N. Duke, passed fourth at four minutes past ten. E. F. Broad came in fifth, 50 yards in the rear of Duke, and received a cordial reception. N. Varley was sixth; W. Davis, seventh; J. H. Childs, eighth; J. H. Murray, ninth; T. E. Hammond, tenth; A. Davis, eleventh; S. E. Knight, twelth; G. Hoare, 13th; F. East, who, singular to say, was 14th on the card, was 14th; P. Ide. 15th; R. P. Farrell, 16th; G. S. Pawle, 17th, son of a Reigate magistrate, who got a splendid reception; Allen, 18th; C Nickalls junr., 19th; W. J. Rasmore, 20th. Competitors continued to arrive until shortly after eleven, when the last man to put in an appearance was R. Simon, who had retired.

G. D. Nicholas, who was leading his brother at 11-45, at Crawley, by a few yards, was going very strong, and was in splendid condition. He was considered to be a sure winner Murray, who was in charge of Butler, the famous walker, was third, Hare Duke being fourth, 150 yards away, and apparently tiring. Many of the walkers looked exhausted, owing to the heavy state of the ground. Quite a number had given up.

A telegram just as I am about to close this letter gives the result:—

E. F. Broad arrived at Brighton Aquarium first, having accomplished the distance in 9 hours 30 minutes one second. G. D. Nicholas was second in nine hours 32 minutes 52 seconds T. E. Hammond third, in nine hours 35 minutes seven seconds, and R. Daire was fourth.

ATHLETICS.

AMATEUR ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

TEN-MILE RUNNING AND SEVEN-MILE WALKING CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Although no fresh figures were made at Northampton on Saturday, when the Amateur Athletic Association decided the Ten-mile Running and the Seven-mile Walking Championships, between 2,000 and 3,000 spectators were treated to some interesting sport. The entries, it is true, fell below the average, but the presence of Shrubb in the Ten Miles and Sturgess in the Walk furnished possibilities of something out of the common. With no idea of attacking the record, Shrubb journeyed down simply to run in the race, but at the last moment he, in response to a request, decided to have a cut at the 51mins. 20secs. standing to the credit of W. G. George As the appended particulars will show, Shrubb failed in his task, but only to the extent of 3½secs. Starting much too fast, he covered his first mile in 4mins 45secs.; then, feeling the effects no doubt of the pace at which he had travelled, the champion spent 5mins. 13½secs. in doing his fifth mile. Despite this, his time, 25mins. 13½secs., was the fastest ever done for the half-distance in a race of ten miles. A bit of a squall caused him to take up close on 5mins. 20secs. for his sixth mile, and though the little man struggled along and received some assistance in the matter of pacing from Smith, he failed, as stated to cut the record. The feature of the walking race was the disqualification in the third mile of the holder, W. J. Sturgess. After Butler had shown the way for a mile and a half Sturgess put on the pace tremendously, and very few of those present were surprised when Mr. J. E. Fowler-Dixon, pronounced the fatal words: Sturgess come out, you are disqualified." With Sturgess out of it the affair proved a gift for Butler.

TEN-MILE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Holder, A. Shrubb, S. L. H. Time—52mins. 25⅘secs. British amateur record, 51mins. 20secs., by W. G. George, at Stamford Bridge, Fulham, 7th April 1884. American amateur record 52mins. 38⅘secs. by W. Day, at New York, 26th October 1889. Fastest championship, time, 51mins., 31⅘secs., by Sid Thomas, at Stamford Bridge, 6th April 1889. Fastest professional time (world's record), 51mins. 6⅘secs., by W. Cummings, at Lillie Bridge, 28th September 1885. In a race against time, paced by runners and cyclists, H. Walkens did 51mins. 5½secs. at Rochdale, 16th September 1899. Track measured 632 yards 1 foot. Standard, 36mins. 36secs.

A Shrubb, S L H, 51mins. 55½secs	...	1
F James, Horne Hill H, 56mins, 57½secs	...	2
E H R Redfearn Finchley H, 57mins 1⅘secs	...	3
R Wright, Small Heath H, 60mins. 42½secs	...	4
G Smith, Derby County A C	...	0

Shrubb, with the inside berth, cut out the running, followed by Smith, Wright, James and Redfearn, in the order named. In the next half-mile James dropped back last, and, going at a fast pace, Shrubb completed the mile two yards ahead of Smith. The next circuit saw the Derby County man slacken considerably, while James, putting on speed, took third place. Here Wright was troubled with "stitch," and James, running strongly, gave Smith the go-by. Just before completing the third mile, Shrubb lapped Smith, who, from this stage, paced the champion at intervals. At four miles Redfearn was lapped by the leader and half a mile later James was headed in the same manner. With the wind increasing, the sixth mile was slow, though when eight miles had been covered Shrubb's chance of record was promising. The ninth mile placed the champion in a hopeless position, so far as concerned record, and, though Smith brought the harrier along the last half, Shrubb failed to disturb the existing figures. James, who sprinted home, was over a mile away second, with Redfearn third and Wright fourth and last. Smith did not complete the course, Shrubb's times were as follows:—

Mls.	M.	S.	Mls.	M.	S.
One Mile... ...	4	45	Six Miles ...	30	33½
Two Miles ...	9	45	Seven Miles ...	35	51½
Three Miles ...	14	51	Eight Miles ...	41	11
Four Miles ...	20	0	Nine Miles ...	46	36
Five Miles ...	25	13½	Ten Miles ..	51	55½

SEVEN-MILE WALKING CHAMPIONSHIP.

Holder, W. J. Sturgess, Polytechnic H. Time—52mins. 19⅘secs. British amateur record. 51mins. 27secs., by Sturgess, 10th October 1895. American amateur record, 54mins. 7secs., by E. E. Merrill, at Boston, U. S. A., 5th October 1880. Fastest championship, time, 52mins 25secs., by H. Venn in London, 1878. Fastest professional time, 51mins. 4secs., by J. W. Raby, at Lillie Bridge, 20th August 1883 (world's record). Standard time—59mins

J Butler, Polytechnic H, 56mins 17½secs	...	1
W Martindale, Polytechnic H, 58mins. 7⅘secs	...	2
W Endean, Polytechnic H, 58mins 36⅘secs ..	...	3
G W Lansley, Finchley H, 60mins 8⅘secs ...	...	4
W J Palmer, Northampton Institute, 61mins 25secs	...	5
F E Strector, Polytechnic H, 64mins 21secs	...	6
E J Negus, Northampton Rodley H ...	...	0
W J Sturgess, Polytechnic H ...	...	disq

Butler was quickest off the mark, and getting into his stride at once he showed the way, Sturgess, Martindale, Negus, Lansley, Endean, Strector and Palmer following in the order named. Just after completing the initial circuit Sturgess had a "feeler" and drew level with Butler only to drop behind again, and Butler finished the first mile two yards ahead of Sturgess. Strector having thus early fallen away last. At a mile and a half Sturgess dashed away and took the lead, and soon afterwards Negus retired. Butler tried to keep pace with the champion but failed, and Sturgess covered the two miles with a lead of forty yards. The judges had been paying particular attention to his style, with the result that at two miles and three quarters Mr. Dixon ordered the Polytechnic harrier to stop. This left Butler with a long lead, and from here it was simply a question as to what he might win by. Finally he passed the post 500 yards to the good. The times were:

Mls.	M.	S.	Mls.	M.	S.
1 Butler ...	7	18	5 Butler ...	39	12⅘
2 Sturgess ...	14	42⅘	6 Butler ...	47	40
3 Butler ...	22	40⅘	7 Butler ...	56	17½
4 Butler ...	30	45⅘

LONDON A. C. FIRST SPRING MEETING.

PUBLIC SCHOOL CHALLENGE CUPS.—Although the premier club has every reason to be discouraged at the manner in which their attempts to encourage athletes at Public Schools has been met with, the determination of its executive to persevere is laudable in the extreme. With Saturday arrived the day for the holding of the first spring meeting of the club, at which, as usual, the eight challenge cup events, open to the Public Schools, were decided, but, as has been the case in recent years they again proved a failure. The entries, it is true, slightly exceeded those of twelve months ago, but the form was very poor indeed, some of the times and distances being the worst of the series. Not one of last year's winners was seen on the track, and altogether it was rather a pity that trophies that should have carried a good performance with them went in every instance but one to mediocrities. Details:—

PUBLIC SCHOOLS EVENTS.

100 Yards (Challenge Cup, presented by Mr. A. W. Hill, 1897).—Heat 1: W. A. Walker, King's College School, 1; F. Heyes, Wimbledon, 2; N. B. Challener, Framlingham, 3. Won by half a yard; same between second and third. Time, 11⅕secs. Heat 2: R. W. Marris, Wellingborough, 1 H Miller, Forest

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS

LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.

Durable and deliciously fragrant.

LEMON AND DUNSTALL,

1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA

FREE DRAWING.

FULL FLAVOUR.

MANUFACTURED BY

SPENCER & CO., Ld., Madras.

JAVA DAWSON.

OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.

Sole Wholesale Agents in CALCUTTA:

Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

School, 2; T. Holland Wimbledon, 3, won easily by six yards; five between second and third. Time—11⅘secs. Final heat: R. W. Marris, Wellingborough, 1; W. A Walker, King's College School, 2; F Heyes, Wimbledon, 3; H. Miller, Forest School, 4. Marris took the lead thirty yards from home, and won by a yard; inches divided the next two. Time—11⅘secs.

120 Yards Hurdle Race (Challenge Shield, presented by Messrs. C. and C. Shaw, 1895).—R. F. Kalberer, Exeter, 1; J. G. Millon, Bedford, G. S., 2. The Bedford boy led until half-way, when he blundered slightly, after which Kalberer went ahead, and won very easily by ten yards. Time—18secs.

440 Yards (Challenge Cup, presented by the late Mr. C. H. Mason, 1890).—N. B. Challenor, Framlingham, 1; R. W. Marris, Wellingborough, 2; S. W. Hood, Woodbridge, 3; G. N. Bower, King Edward VI School, Norwhich, 0; G. Deward, Queen Elizabeth School, Kingston, 0; H. Miller, Forest School, 0; T Holland, Wimbledon, 0; Deward cut out the work, followed by Marris and Bower for 300 yards, when Challenor made his effort, and, passing the leaders, won a capital race by two yards; three between second and third. Time—55⅘secs.

880 Yards (Challenge Cup, presented by Mr. E. T. Sachs, 1897).—F. Heyes, Wimbledon, 1; J. A. Morley, University College School, 2; S. W. Hood Woodbridge, 0; N. B. Challenor, Framlingham, 0. Heyes was second 200 yards from home, but, showing a fine turn of speed, beat Morley by six yards. Only two finished. Time.—2mins. 9⅘secs.

Three-quarter Mile Steeplechase (Challenge Cup, presented by Mr. J. E. Fowler-Dixon 1897)—H. Miller, Forest School, 1; T. Holland, Wimbledon, 2. The winner led throughout, and won by ten yards, Holland making a good effort towards the finish. Time—4mins. 29⅘secs.

One Mile (Challenge Cup, presented by Mr. T. E. Wells, 1896).—F. Heyes, Wimbledon, 1; E. S. F. Relout, Queen Elizabeth School, Ipswich, 2; R. A. Richardson, King's College School, 3; W. A. Walker, King's College School, 0. Three hundred yards from home Heyes was last, but in the straight showed a fine turn of speed, and sailed away from the others, winning by six yards; eight divided the next two. Time—5mins. 8secs.

Long Jump (Challenge Cup, presented by Mr. J. Shearman, 1897).—J. G. Milton, Bedford G. S. 18ft. 10⅘ins. 1; N B. Challenor, Framlingham, 17ft. 10⅘ins., 2; S. W. Hood, Woodbridge, 3. Milton won at his final jump.

High Jump Challenge Cup, (presented by Mr. Shearman, 1897).—J. G. Milton, Bedford G. S., 4ft. 10ins., 1; T. G. Pitt, Sutton Valence, 0.

CLUB EVENTS.

100 Yards Handicap (members).—Heat 1: A. Quihampton, 7½ yards start, 1; C. H. Jupp, scratch, 2. A fine race, won by inches. Time—10⅘secs. Heat 2: A. Goodall, 6½ yards start, 1; L. F. Tremeer, scratch, 2. Won by inches Time—10⅘ secs. Heat 3: G. P. Constantine, 1 yard start, 1; H. Norrey, 10, 2. Won by a foot. Time—10⅘ seconds. The first final heat produced such a desperately close finish that the judges, after a discussion lasting fully ten minutes, resolved to give it as a tie between four for first place these being Tremeer (scratch) Constantine (1 yard), Quihampton (7½ yards), and Norrey (10 yards), Jupp and Goodall being ruled out. This necessitated a second final heat: A. Quihampton, 7½ yards start, 1; L. F. Tremeer, scratch, 2; H. Norrey, 10, 3; G. P. Constantine, 1, 4. Won by a yard; inches between second and third. Time—10⅘ seconds.

440 Yards Challenge Cup (club) (presented by R. Matthews, 1871)—J. B. Densham, 1; G. P. Constantine, 2; H. F. S Collier (holder), 3; C. H. Jupp, 4; R. S. Paine, 0; L. F. Tremeer, 0; H. Watson, 0. A splendid finish was seen, Constantine being beaten by inches only with Collier three yards away. Jupp, who finished fourth was shut in. Time—53⅘ secs.

Two mile Steeplechase Challenge Cup (presented by J. T. Wells).—J. H. Bessell, 1; E. S. Ward, 2; E. J. Wilkins, 0. Ward led at the start but at three-quarters of a mile Bessell went to the head of affairs, subsequent to which he had an easy win by 100 yards. Wilkins retired. Time—12 mins. ⅘secs.

Three-quarter-mile Handicap (members).—J. H. Bessell, 5 yards start, 1; W. L. Cubb, 7, 2; S. L. Sarel, 65, 3; E. R. Small, 48, 4; B. R. Fowler, 45, 0; C. S. White, 48, 0; P. Bessell, 55, 0; F. E. Dickinson, 55, 0; P. W. Berriman Tippetts, 60, 0. White took the lead early, leading first time round and almost until the end of the second lap, when Tippette went to first position. However, he was immediately passed by Cubb and Bessell, who had drawn up rapidly, and this pair shot away from the others, leaving the race out of doubt. Cubb was allowed to lead until seventy yards from the finish, when Bessell went in front and won by ten yards; forty yards divided second and third. Time.—3mins. 21sec.

One Mile Challenge Cup (club) presented by Mr. W. M. Chinnery, 1870. (best performance 4mins 20⅘secs, by H. A. Munro, 1895).—A. S. D Smith, 1; J. H. Bessell, 2; E. S. Ward, 3. Ward cut out the work and made the running until the third lap, when Smith got up and shot away, being content to win by ten yards; thirty-five yards between second and third. Time.—4mins. 37⅘secs

LAWN TENNIS.

THE COVERED COURT CHAMPIONSHIPS.

The galleries and stand in the covered lawn tennis courts at the Queen's Club, West Kensington, were densely crowded yesterday afternoon, when the Championship matches of the Ladies' and the Gentlemen's Singles were contested. Mlle Masson, the lady champion of France, with victories over Miss Kentish and Miss Squire in the All-Comers' Competition, qualified to meet the lady holder, Miss T. Lowther, while G. W. Hillyard earned the right to play the previous champion, H. L. Doherty, with victories in the preliminary rounds over B. Wood Hill, A. B. J. Norris, R. B. Hough, and H. S Mahony. Last year's holders, however, experienced little difficulty in maintaining their honours as the following details will indicate:—

LADIES' SINGLES.—Championship Match.

Miss T. Lowther (holder) beat Mlle. Masson (challenger) by two sets to none (6—1, 6—0).—The French lady appeared a trifle nervous, and quite failed to display her proper form. Miss Lowther threw no chances away, and only allowed her opponent to win the fifth of the thirteen games played in the two sets.

GENTLEMEN'S SINGLES.—Championship Match.

H. L Doherty (holder) beat G. W. Hillyard (challenger) by three sets to one (6—1, 4—6, 6—4, and 6—2).—Doherty ran away with the first set, but Hillyard, who for a time played quite at the top of his form, won the second and made a good fight in the third. The holder, however, exhibited his superiority in the fourth set, and won the Championship for the third time.

GENTLEMEN'S DOUBLES.—CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH.

H. L. Doherty and R. F. Doherty (holders) beat G. W. Hillyard and C. H. L. Cazalet (winners of the All-Comers' Competition) by three sets to love (6—3, 6—3, and 18—16). H. L. Doherty played so brilliantly at the start that the holders ran away with the first two sets. Subsequently the challengers improved. Hillyard especially displaying fine form. Amid considerable enthusiasm the two pairs won alternate games, but at last the Doherty's, mainly through "R F.'s" effective service and placing, took the lead, and just won the set, in which no fewer than 34 games were played, and the match.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA

RACQUETS.

THE AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Probably a finer exhibition of racquets has never been witnessed than at the Queen's Club, West Kensington, last Saturday afternoon, when, by defeating the holder, Mr. Eustace Miles, Mr. E. M. Baerlein secured the championship. The gallery was crowded with past and present players of great repute, and everybody agreed that Saturday's match was just about the best ever contested in connection with the Amateur Racquet Championship. Both men proved to be in brilliant form, and the result was in doubt right up to the very last stroke. Details:—

E. M. Baerlein (Eton and Cambridge) (challenger) beat E. H. Miles (Marlborough and Cambridge) (holder) by three games to two (15—5, 15—5, 16—17, 10—15, 18—17), 74 aces to 59.—First game: Playing with extreme steadiness, Baerlein quickly took the lead, and, with a run or five aces, caused the game to be called 7—1 in his favour. Miles could not get going, and, after a run of small hands, Baerlein ran out with a sequence of three aces. Second game: Following a couple of failures by each man, Baerlein got in and made a grand run of eleven aces (six by service) before being put out by a grand smash. Miles scored twice, but his opponent slowly drew nearer home and finally won the second game at 15—5. Third game: Baerlein started with a run of three, but then Miles set to work, and, chiefly by means of his extraordinary service, caused the scores to be called 5 all, 7 all, 9 all, and 11 all. Miles's chief run was one of five, but his opponent was twice within an ace of game at 14—11. The holder, however, drew level at 14, and in a set to three just secured the odd ace. Fourth game: The players kept well together until 5 all, and then Baerlein took a strong lead at 10—5. A brilliant long rally ended in favour of Miles, who ran up a sequence of nine, mostly by service, reaching "game ball" before he failed to get the ball up and let Baerlein in. The challenger, however, could not move, and Miles secured his remaining ace with his peculiar service. Two games all. Fifth game: Winning a series of rallies Miles ran up a sequence of six aces right at the start but Baerlein was soon after him, and, playing hard and well, succeeded in drawing level at 9. The men frequently changed places amid great excitement, and a climax was reached when the game was set to five at 13 all. A run of three enabled the holder to reach game ball at 4—1, but Baerlein then put him out, and slowly but surely caught his rival. At last the marker called: "Four all," game ball, and breathless silence reigned supreme when Baerlein took his last service. Miles failed to get the ball up, and Baerlein won the odd game and the match. Duration of match, one hour

BOXING.

CONTESTS AT WONDERLAND.—From time to time there have been record attendances at the Whitechapel resort, Wonderland, but it is doubtful if the spacious building ever held more people than on Saturday evening, when Mr. Harry Wright ran a show on his own account. Notwithstanding the splendid weather and other attractions in the vicinity over 3,000 passed through the gates, and were fully rewarded by witnessing as fine a series of bouts between well-matched men as could be put into the ring. With his usual enterprize the popular promoter apparently realised that his patrons required value for their money, and accordingly not only put on a long and varied programme but catered for every class, including bantam, light, and middle-weights. The principal attraction was a ten-round "go" between Tom Woodley, of Fulham, and Charlie Knock, Stratford. Both lads are well known and aspire to championship honours in their class (10st 7lbs), so that the outcome of their meeting was eagerly looked forward to. They very evidently had trained faithfully, and the bout gave rise to no little speculation, each being well supported, Woodley, who had a large contingent of admirers from Fulham and Hammersmith, having a slight call in the odds. He, however, only once showed to advantage, in the first round, and was knocked out in the fourth, although if the Stratford man had not been too impetuous and anxious to finish matters at close quarters in the third. The end would then have come. The Fulhamite failed to realise that he was whipped, and doubtless will endeavour to reverse the defeat at another meeting. Details:—

Charlie Knock (Stratford) beat Tom Woodley (Fulham).—The first-named was seconded by Harry Jones, Charley Smith, and Jack Farley, his opponent being squired by Bill Natty, Jim Sullivan, and George Corfield Knock was in the pink of condition, and had all the natural advantages over Woodley, who seemed to carry a little more weight than usual. They opened rather cautiously and sparred for a minute before Woodley made a direct lead with the left to the body. Knock clinched, but at close quarters Woodley had the better of the exchanges, and the Stratford man had to box at long range, where he quickly asserted his superiority. When they went to their corners there was little between them, but in the second when Knock fought altogether at a distance, Woodley was completely outclassed. He repeatedly tried to bore in and land the left to the body, but his blows were short and weak and the Stratford lad had victory in his hands when in the third he sent the Fulhamite down three times. Though dazed Woodley took the full count on each occasion, but he was hopelessly beaten when shortly after the fourth opened he was receiver general, a ripping right to the jaw and a straight left, a regular "solar plexus," putting him down and out. The win was most meritorious and marked Knock as one of the best in the business at his weight.

WEIGHT LIFTING.

G. BUTLER A TRIPLE WINNER.—It would be a difficult matter indeed to convince the "man in the street" that lifting heavy weights is a sufficiently exhilarating form of sport to arouse his enthusiasm, and he would have been very much surprised if present at the Polytechnic Institute on Saturday night to witness the feverish excitement among the spectators, when what were advertised as the amateur championships were decided. As a matter of fact that affair just missed proving a success, as, after a sensational struggle in the third event on the card, the 11st championship, the remaining two (and what should have been the most important) events, the 12st and all-weight competitions collapsed, as G. Butler walked over in the former event, and in the second was only opposed by a man who would have had some difficulty in beating the light-weight standard. Details:—

9st Championship.—J. W. Cox (London): Right lift, 97lbs; left lift, 80lbs; two dumbbells, 125lbs; barbell, 140lbs; total, 442lbs.

10st Championship.—W. Caswell (London): Right lift, 160lbs; left lift, 140lbs; two dumbbells, 181lbs; barbell, 190; total, 671lbs. W H. Challingworth (Birmingham): 140lbs, 140lbs, 181lbs; 190lbs; total, 651lbs. Lewis Critchley (Blackpool), 150lbs, failed, 160lbs, 190lbs; total, 500lbs A. Norris (London).

11st Championship.—G. Butler (London): Right lift, 166lbs; left lift 156lbs; two dumbbells, 194lbs; barbell, 230lbs; total, 746lbs. P. Carter (Birmingham): 178½lbs, 178½lbs, 187lbs, 200lbs; total, 744lbs. W. Caswell (London): 178½lbs, 168½lbs, failed ——; total, 347lbs; R. Y. Marvin (London): Two dumbells, 170lbs. W. H. Challingworth (Birmingham).

12st Championship.—*G. Butler (London). R. B. Smyth (Ireland) and Leon See (France), absent.

Any Weight Championship.—G Butler (London): Right lift 156lbs; left lift, 103lbs, two dumbbells, 184lbs, barbell, 200; total 643lbs B. Farnell (London): Right lift. 103. R. B. Smyth (Ireland), Leon See (France), and A. Maspoli (France), absent.

*Walked over. Butler was not called upon to lift.

The "Cadbury" Challenge Cup for the highest aggregate of lift in either of the competitions was won by G. Butler, with his 11st lift of 746lbs. The holder, A. Marpoli, of France, who was absent, last season secured the cup with a total of 893lbs.

THE WEASEL.

Hunting.

THE OOTACAMUND HOUNDS.

Monday, 11th May, was a disappointing one to many, as a thick mist shrouded everything and some people went home without having seen hounds again after the meet. Mills Covert, which is a sure find, was tried first and provided a jack. A note or two was heard from the hounds and then silence, the field was confronted by so dense a mist that it was impossible to see further than one's horse's ears, and no one knew where hounds were or what they were doing. Those who happened to be nearest hounds got away with them over the Municipal stream, but at the Golf Hut they were turned as they were running to heel. The half dozen or so who were with hounds trotted back with them, when they were laid in the line, and so were fortunate enough to be with them in the run that followed. A first-class thirty minutes followed, hounds ran Rallywood and on to Governor's shola over the shoulder and round left handed to Hecuba Hill. Here they ran their jack down nearly to Kuruthengulli village where, after hunting him round the bottom of the cliff for some time, the Master whipped them off. Returning to Governor's shola with the pack the Master found out of a field of fifty or sixty only ten had remained out and of these seven were ladies. Taking hounds on to drain Rawlin's Nullah, which was blank, Captain Fife then proceeded to draw the open down the Black-Moor Vale, Near the double crossing a jackal was viewed on Newmarket and hounds were laid on. He made for Rallywood, but hounds were too close to him to allow him to get away, so he took to the open again and turning left handed he ran over the hills to Monkey Shola, where he got to ground after a very fast chase of about twenty minutes over ideal hunting country.

The fixture for Thursday, 14th May, was Sandy Nullah toll Bar and a field of about a hundred turned out. The Master first drew the open parallel to the Dun Sandle Road, and then turning up the hill proceeded to draw round to the Dartmoor Vale An outlying jack was found in the swamp near by and hounds immediately laid on. With a start of about five minutes, the jack raced away, and as we swung over the opposing hill there was about three hills ahead. A rush and a clatter at the first crossing warned us to keep well to the fore or else loose one's place altogether. Hounds, after crossing the old Pykara Road, inclined to the right, though after hustling their jack through a small covert where he hung for a minute for two, the course was nearly straight for Kugoder Mountain, which is right off the hunting map. Scarcely had we reached the foot of the hill when we saw hounds streaming out of the covert half way up; there was nothing for it but go after them. They hunted down and then straight for the Shohir Ghat, but at the edge the jack turned right handed for a wood above Dun Sandle Tea estate and here the run was brought to an end and the hunted jack escaped.

PYKARA.

Polo.

OOTACAMUND TOURNAMENT.

FIRST ROUND.

THE first round of the tournament was played off on the 11th instant and the three matches were watched by a large number of spectators among whom were Lord and Lady Ampthill.

FOURTH HUSSARS vs. DURHAM L. I.—The Hussars had an easy victory, beating their opponents by four goals and five subsidiaries to nil.

First Chukker.—The Hussars went away at the start, but their opponents worked the ball back. Lewin, however, relieved and the Hussars going away got in a shot, but it went wide. They returned to the charge and from a scrimmage put the ball through. Fast play ended the chukker. Score: Hussars 1 goal, Durhams nil.

Second Chukker.—The Hussars attacked immediately and put on two subsidiaries. The Durhams got away once or twice on the right, but were unable to get far and the Hussars were soon back again. Score: Hussars 1 goal 2 subsidiaries, Durhams nil.

Third Chukker.—The Durhams brought the ball down and Captain Unthank had a chance which he missed. After a wide hit the Hussars got away again and scored a goal and two subsidiaries in quick succession. Score: Hussars 2 goals 4 subsidiaries, Durhams nil.

Fourth Chukker.—The Hussars opened by scoring a third goal, and though the Durhams played hard they kept up the attack and added another goal and a subsidiary. The Hussars continued to press till the end of the chukker when the score was Hussars 4 goals 5 subsidiaries, Durhams nil.

Fifth Chukker.—With only two minutes left the game became very even and neither side scoring, the Hussars were left victorious by 4 goals and 5 subsidiaries to nil. Teams.—

4TH HUSSARS		DURHAM LIGHT INFANTRY.
Captain Caldbeck	... 1	Mr. Coddington	... 1
Mr. Bell...	... 2	Captain Unthank	... 2
Captain Barnes	... 3	Major Blake ...	... 3
Mr. Lewin	(back)	Major Mansel	(back)

Umpires.—Major Smith and Captain Mesquoid.

BANGALORE GYMKHANA vs. MYSORE LANCERS.—This proved a grand game, both teams playing up to their best form. The Gymkhana eventually won by two goals and one subsidiary to one goal and two subsidiaries.

FULL FLAVOURED.
MADE SOLELY FROM THE BEST INDIAN TOBACCO.
SPENCER & Co., Ld.,
MADRAS.

SIESTAS.

Made in three sizes.
Extras 6 ins. long, Rs. 20 per 1,000.
No. 1, 5 " " " 15 " 1,000.
" 2, 4 " " " 14 " 1,000
FACTORY: DINDIGUL, S. INDIA.

BOOKS! BOOKS!!

MUDIE'S LIBRARY, EXPORT DEPARTMENT.

BOOKS FOR OFFICERS' CLUBS AND PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

SELECTED FROM

Mudies' clearance Catalogue (100 pages) to the value of £20 and upwards will be forwarded Freight Free to any seaport in India, China, and Japan.

The Clearance Catalogue contains Popular Works of TRAVEL, SPORT, HISTORY, BIOGRAPHY, SCIENCE and FICTION.

Small parcels of books can be sent by Parcel Post at Current Rates; larger consignments are packed in tin-lined cases, and shipped as freight per steamer or sailing vessel. Lined cases supplied at moderate charges and insurances effected at current rates.

All leading periodicals obtainable, New or Second-hand.

Illustrated and other newspapers supplied on subscription payable in advance.

All List of Books and Magazines on sale sent post free to any address an application.—

MUDIE'S LIBRARY, 30-34, New Oxford Street; London,

ENGLAND.

First Chukker.—Bangalore broke away first, but the ball was returned and the Lancers coming down Subraj Urs scored a subsidiary. Fast up and down play followed for the rest of the chukker, Peel nearly scoring on one occasion. Score: Mysore Lancers 1 subsidiary, Bangalore nil.

Second Chukker.—Bangalore worked the ball down, but Malet's saddle turned under him andibe came down, though without hurting himself. The Lancers then got possession but were unable to take advantage of chances given them. They scored a subsidiary however, and play ruled very fast till Peel got away and after one unsuccessful attempt, scored the first goal for the Gymkhana. Score: Bangalore 1 goal, Mysore Lancers 2 subsidiaries.

Third Chukker.—The Gymkhana attacked and Macquoid had to save twice. A foul against Bangalore gave the Lancers a chance but the Gymkhana cleared and some pretty passing between Catty and Peel followed. They took the ball down. Peel putting on a second goal. Score: Bangalore 2 goals, Mysore Lancers 2 subsidiaries.

Fourth Chukker.—The Lancers were trying hard to score and play ruled fast and even. At last they got through and scored a goal. They continued the attack, and Bangalore were hard pressed: then a miss hit let in Peel who got away and passing to Catty, the latter put on a subsidiary. Score: Bangalore 2 goals 1 subsidiary. Mysore Lancers 1 goal 2 subsidiaries.

Fifth Chukker.—The Gymkhana kept the Lancers out in spite of desperate efforts during the three minutes that remained and the game ended in a win for Bangalore by 2 goals and 1 subsidiary to 1 goal 2 subsidiaries. Teams:—

MYSORE LANCERS.			BANGALORE.
Jemadar Subraj Urs	...	1	Mr Catty	...	1
Risaldar Morad Beg	...	2	Captain Peel	...	2
Jem Annaji Khadum	...	3	Mr Irvine	...	3
Captain Macquoid		(back)	Mr Malet	...	(back)

Umpires.—Major Smith and Captain Barnes.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE vs. OOTY GYMKHANA.—The Government House team proved too strong for the Gymkhana and won by seven goals and 2 subsidiaries to 3 goals.

First Chukker.—The Gymkhana commenced operations and Major Vigne had to stop a couple of runs, then the Government House team got away and after one attempt Major Logan-Home scored a goal and a subsidiary. Fast play closed the chukker Score: Government House 1 goal 1 subsidiary, Ooty nil.

Second Chukker.—Captain Oakes had a fine chance, but missed and Phillips clearing, the Gymkhana went away. Government House, however, brought the ball back and scored from a scrimmage in front of goal. It was not long before another goal was added; then Ooty rushed up and Captain Barr put on their first goal with a well judged shot. Score: Government House 3 goals 1 subsidiary, Ooty 1 goal.

Third Chukker.—Government House kept up a steady pressure and after a couple of unsuccessful attempts Major Campbell scored a goal. Play ruled midfield and was fast and even for the rest of the chukker. Score: Government House 4 goals 1 subsidiary, Ooty 1 goal.

Fourth Chukker.—Government House rushed away and Oakes sent the ball through the flags. Then Ooty got away, but Fife saved and Major Logan-Home getting possession scored a sixth goal for his side, to which a subsidiary was added a little later. The Gymkhana then began to show better form and Captain Barr scored a goal after a splendid run. Ooty continued to press till the end of the chukker when the score was Government House 6 goals 2 subsidiaries, Ooty 2 goals.

Fifth Chukker.—Government House put on their seventh goal soon after the start. Then Phillips got away and taking the ball down to the Government House goal a scrimmage ensued. Barr obtained the ball and with another lifting shot sent it between the posts. It poured with rain during the chukker and came down so heavily that the part of the sixth chukker remaining was abandoned. Government House thus won by 7 goals and 2 subsidiaries to 3 goals. Teams:—

GOVERNMENT HOUSE.			OOTACAMUND GYMKHANA.
Captain Oakes	...	1	Captain Smith	...	1
Major Logan-Home	...	2	Mr Phillips	...	2
Major Campbell	...	3	Major Vigne	...	3
Captain Fife		(back)	Captain Barr	...	(back)

Umpires.—Captain Peel and Captain Brown.

SEMI-FINALS.

4TH HUSARS vs. MYSORE LANCERS B. TEAM.—Played on the 13th instant before a large crowd. The superior combination of the Hussars proved too much for the Lancers and they were beaten by 6 goals and 3 subsidiaries to 2 goals.

First Chukker.—The Hussars opened the attack and pressing hard scored a subsidiary, Caldbeck being responsible. The game followed very even, Barnes playing a great game, breaking up the Lancers' attacks. The Hussars then got an opening and rushed a goal. They continued the attack and another run down resulted in Bell scoring a subsidiary. Score: Hussars 1 goal 2 subsidiaries Lancers nil.

Second Chukker.—Again the Hussars got away, and though checked once, Bell got through and scored another subsidiary They kept up the pressure till Chandarao got away and from a scrimmage before the Hussars goal their opponents put the ball through. Score: Hussars 1 goal 3 subsidiaries, Lancers 1 goal.

Third Chukker.—The Lancers had the best of the opening, but did not take advantage of chances. Caldeck got possession and rushing down scored with a splendid shot. A foul against the Lancers was given and towards the end the Hussars pressed hard and put on another goal. Score: Hussars 3 goals 3 subsidiaries, Lancers 1 goal

Fourth Chukker.—Play ruled very even till the Hussars worked the ball down and rushed a goal. Another rush followed, but the ball went behind. A foul against the Hussars gave the Mysore men their opportunity and they added a second goal. Towards the end of the chukker one of the Lancers came off his pony. Score: Hussars 4 goals 3 subsidiaries, Lancers 2 goals.

Fifth Chukker.—The Hussars had the best of matters and from a scrimmage before the Lancers' goal the ball was put through. Fast play followed and Barnes getting a chance scored with a neat backhander. Score: Hussars 6 goals 3 subsidiaries, Lancers 2 goals.

Sixth Chukker.—Play only lasted two minutes and ruled very even till the end. The 4th Hussars thus won by 6 goals 3 subsidiaries to 2 goals. Teams:—

4TH HUSSARS.			MYSORE LANCERS (B TEAM).
Captain Caldbeck	...	1	Jemadar Srinavasrao	...	1
Mr Bell	...	2	Ressaldar Chandarao	...	2
Mr Lewin	...	3	Jemadar Annaji Kadur	...	3
Captain Barnes		(back)	Nauraj Urs		(back)

Umpires.—Major Smith and Mr. Phillips.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE vs. BANGALORE GYMKHANA.—As in the preceding match the Government House team were too strong for their opponents and won by 3 goals 7 subsidiaries to 1 goal.

First Chukker.—Play ruled even and in midfield for some time, then the Government House men made a couple of rushes, but were stopped by Irvine. They continued the attack and Major Logan-Home scored a subsidiary. Another rush by the Government House team seemed likely to score, but the ball went out. Score: Government House 1 subsidiary, Bangalore nil.

Second Chukker.—The Bangalore goal was besieged and Major Logan-Home sent the ball between the posts. Peel made a couple of brilliant runs which were stopped. Then Government House came away and Campbell scored a subsidiary. Logan-Home followed up the attack with a fine run but he missed his hit and the ball went out. Score. Government House 1 goal 2 subsidiaries Bangalore nil.

Third Chukker.—Government House opened with a subsidiary: a foul against them gave the Gymkhana a penalty hit, but Oakes got away with the ball and added a subsidiary. Catty and Peel then attacked but missed some opportunities of scoring. A penalty for a foul was given against the Gymkhana and Government House put on their second goal. Score: Government House 2 goals 4 subsidiaries, Bangalore nil.

Fourth Chukker.—Bangalore played up and the game ruled very fast. Then Campbell scored a subsidiary followed by even play. At the end of the period Government House got in again and added another subsidiary. Score: Government House 2 goals 6 subsidiaries. Bangalore nil.

Fifth Chukker—Bangalore attacked, but their opponents cleared and rushed down: the ball went out and up and down play followed, then the Gymkhana goal was besieged and Government House added another goal. A foul against Government House let in Peel who scored Bangalore's only goal. Score: Government House 3 goals 6 subsidiaries, Bangalore 1 goal.

Sixth Chukker.—Government House scored a subsidiary and nothing more was done, the match ending as stated in a win for Government House by 3 goals 7 subsidiaries to 1 goal. Teams:—

GOVERNMENT HOUSE.			BANGALORE GYMKHANA.
Captain Oakes	...	1	Mr Catty	...	1
Major Logan-Home	...	2	Captain Peel	...	2
Major Campbell		3	Mr Irvine	...	3
Captain Fife		(back)	Mr Mallet		(back)

Umpires.—Captain Barr and Captain Smith.

IN 1868—Blue Gown's year—the late Baron Rothschild had three good three-year-olds, viz., Suffolk, King Alfred and Restitution, of whom the two first-named were engaged in the Derby. These three he tried at even weights with Mr. E. C. Clayton's Lozenge, who the previous year had won the Cambridgeshire, carrying 7st. 2lbs. after a dead-heat with Wolsey.

The young ones all beat the old one, and, moreover, beat him so easily that Mr. Clayton thought his horse must be out of all form—a supposition which cost him dearly, for in a £100 Plate over the Rowley Mile at the First Spring Meeting, Lozenge met Captain Machell's Knight of the Garter, giving 6lb. and Mr. Clayton backed the latter in preference to his own, who won after a good race by a head. The feelings of the owner may be imagined when we mention that the betting was 3 to 1 on Knight of the Garter and 8 to 1 against Lozenge!

To return to the trial. Suffolk beat King Alfred easily, but was kicked by a cart-horse while being saddled for the Derby opposite Armstrong's stables, and was so seriously injured that he was undoubtedly lame. His stable-companion, King Alfred, was second, beaten only half a length by Blue Gown: so it is fair to suppose that Suffolk, sound and well, would have won the Blue Riband comfortably. At that time, however, Sir Joseph Hawley's luck was dead in.

Rowing.

CALCUTTA ROWING CLUB.

SATURDAY, 23rd May 1903.

The following are the heats in the regatta fixed for above date:—

CLASS FOURS.

Pritchard's crew vs. Venable's Crew. Shaw Wallace's crew a bye.

JUNIOR SCULLS.

A S Barrow ... vs. H F Pilcher.
H A Smyth ... vs. B. Stephenson.
G I Watson ... vs. P Blumenthal.

TUB PAIRS.

W S Burke ... / vs. / N G Pritchard.
W C Burke ... / vs. / J C Buchanan.
G I Watson ... / vs. / W D Braithwaite.
L E Carter ... / vs. / L Ragshawe.

Regatta begins at 4 P.M.

REGATTA AT NAINI TAL.

SATURDAY, 9th May 1903.

NAINI TAL opened their boating season to-day with a very successful regatta. There were large entries and good racing was witnessed. The weather was all that could be desired and in consequence a large attendance graced the occasion. The race for the Ladies' fours was a very interesting one, the "Blue and Whites" defeating the "Red and Whites" by a length and a half; a splendid finish was witnessed in the finals for the scratch fours.

LADIES' FOURS.

BLUE AND WHITES.				RED AND WHITES.
Miss Adams		bow	beat	Miss Hamagan	...	bow.
,, Elliott	...	2		,, Ferguson	...	2
,, Thompson	...	3		,, Hooper	...	3
,, D. Sykes	...	str.		Mrs Porteous	...	str.
Capt. C. L. Nicholson		cox.		Mr C. F. Knyvett		cox.

Won by a length and a half

SCRATCH FOURS.

First Heat.—Won by Mr. Pully, Capt McCarthy, Capt A. B Tillard, Mr F. T. Coode, Cox Miss Rothwell, by three quarters of a length.

Second Heat.—Won by Mr. C. E. Hall, Hon. Mr Napier Mr R. W. Gillan, Mr. W G Wood, Cox Mrs. Wood, by two lengths.

Finals.—Mr. Coode's crew beat Mr. Wood's by half a length after a magnificent finish.

CANOE RACE.—For Ladies. Mrs. Porteous and Mrs. Beresford beat the Misses Elliot.

DEPOT RACE.—Won by No. 1 crew Gloster Regiment.

Cricket.

INTERVIEW WITH MR. K. J. KEY.

AT the present time, when the proposed visit of a team of native Indian cricketers is being so much discussed in England, a chat with Mr. Key, who was captain of the Oxford University Authentics during their recent tour in India, must naturally have an especial interest. For Mr. Key is a keen observer as well as a practical and experienced captain. As the chat with him relates entirely to Indian cricket and cricketers, this is not the place in which to refer to his many exploits for Surrey and Oxford University, or to his success as captain of the Surrey team. Suffice it to say that there are many good judges of the game who think that it would be a good thing for Surrey if he could be persuaded to undertake the captaincy again. That he has lost none of his old skill with the bat is evident from the fine cricket which he played last year in first-class matches—he ended the season with an average of 40·14 for seven innings—and from his big scores for the Authentics in India.

Although Mr. Key only took part in one match in which the opposing team was composed entirely of native players, he was, of course, in a position to know a great deal about them. This match was against Past and Present of Aligarh College, but on

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS

LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.

Durable and deliciously fragrant.

LEMON AND DUNSTALL,

1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA.

other occasions a few natives were included in the teams against which he played. "The Aligarh College eleven was decidedly strong in bowling," he said; "the batsmen hardly had a chance of distinguishing themselves, for the wicket was wet on the top with what seemed a sort of green clay underneath—a clay which apparently never got really dry. On the other hand it was not an ideal wicket for a lob bowler, but Simpson-Hayward was irresistible upon it. Ali Hasan is a medium-pace bowler, with a great reputation in India. At Aligarh he was very successful, but hedid not do very much on other occasions when the Authentics met him. He breaks a good deal both ways, even on a hard wicket, but I don't suppose he would make the ball do much at the Oval. He is distinctly a fine bowler with a great command over the ball, and a good idea of variation. Shafkat, the other Aligarh bowler, did uncommonly well. He is very fast, and his action is such that I should not think he would easily tire. On the Aligarh wicket he was deadly, and I remember that he bowled me with a tremendous shooter. The fielding of the Aligarh team was quite good, but the captain was a present member of the College, and as he was much younger than most of his companions, he had not sufficient experience to know how to manage his field; this, of course, was a very great handicap."

"Did there seem much enthusiasm in India over the proposed team to visit England next year?"

"I believe that the Parsees were extremely keen on it, but for the rest we did not hear much about it except at Aligarh College, where they were decidedly enthusiastic. But it is very difficult—I might perhaps say impossible—for an Englishman to gauge the depth of native opinion, for unless you have actually been in India you can have no idea what a gulf there is between Europeans and natives. But the Parsees have very much more in common with the Europeans than the other great divisions, and so one gets to know something of their opinions on such occasions as this. Some of the Indian newspapers wrote to all the Authentics asking them to give their opinions upon the subject of a visit of a team of native cricketers to India, and I believe that the replies were generally to the effect that such a team would be quite up to the level of second-class counties. There is no doubt that there are many fine native cricketers in India, especially among the bowlers. They tell me that Mehta is very good indeed, and that he could bowl all day without tiring. Of course this is the type of player who would be remarkably useful on an extended tour."

"You enjoyed the tour?"

"One could not help doing that, for we were everywhere received with the very greatest kindness. We were made much of, were put up at all the stations, and made to feel that we were at home; we were provided with ponies and elephants to ride; in fact everything that could be done to make us happy was done with enthusiasm. In addition to this the members of the team got on extremely well together. The Calcutta Club managed the tour, and in the hands of Mr. F. H. Stewart, the secretary, who worked very hard indeed and took an immense amount of trouble, the arrangements were admirable."

"Did you see much of the Durbar?"

"We saw everything, and had a splendid time. We were entertained by the five regiments which formed the Viceroy's escort, and it is universally known that officers are adepts at making their guests comfortable. We had seats in the best positions to see the procession and the Durbar, and we shall never forget the effect made on us by the gorgeous colours."

"Do you at the present time feel that you would like to go on the same tour again?"

Well, no, I don't think I should. I am not very much in love with the sea voyage, and I don't altogether like the constant railway travelling. We were told that we should find the travelling most luxurious, and in certain ways it is—you are not crowded, you take your own bedding, and can sleep. But the monotony, the jolting, the shunting, and the slowness of motion become wearying. My own longest journey was two nights and a day from Calcutta to Delhi, but the rest of the team had a much more unenviable experience in coming from Trichinopoly to Calcutta. They were absolutely lost sight of for two or three days. It turned out that the train had been stopped by floods, and that they had undergone all sorts of curious experiences, including real hunger, before they arrived at Calcutta after five days travelling. I think that if another tour is undertaken it will be advisable to play fewer matches, and to stay longer at each place. But every club seemed so keen to play us that it seemed unkind to refuse."

"Are there any professionals in India?"

"There are no Englishmen that I know of, but some of the clubs have native professionals. At Calcutta there was a native who in my opinion was a magnificent bowler, but I don't think they thought much of him, for he was not included in the team. I forget his name; he was very fast. In addition he was a fine field, and he greatly distinguished himself one day when he was fielding as substitute for us. The native professionals bowl with bare feet; and seem to get a very firm hold of the turf."

"Did you play on matting wickets at all?"

"Only once. This was at Delhi. Here there is no club at all, and the wicket was made on the morning of the match by crowds of coolies, female as well as male, who dug the soil all up, pounded it to a powder, rolled and watered it, and then spread the matting over it. It turned out to be not at all a bad wicket. It must be very difficult to get a good grass wicket in India for several reasons. In the first place all the water (except at Calcutta and Bombay) has to be carried by coolies in skin bags, petroleum tins, etc., and as you never can tell how much dew to allow for, it is more or less of an accident if the wicket turns out to be perfect. The grass is tougher than in England and not so thick. It grows in one season, and has to be raked up about every other year, for it cannot stand the heat of the sun for long. There seems no possibility of getting a permanent turf like that at Oxford and Cambridge colleges, for instance."

"Cricket in India seems to be played under considerable difficulties?"

"It is surprising that it flourishes as it does. Men have very little time to give to cricket, while polo, which can be played for an hour, is much cheaper to play in India than in England. Then there is the difference in caste, and the impossibility of natives and Europeans fraternising to any great extent. There are no professional umpires and very few professional bowlers, while in many cases the arrangements on the ground are very primitive. For example, there are very few grounds where they have the proper implements for marking out the crease, and the result is that it has to be done by guess work. Add to this the monotony of nearly always playing against the same few opponents, and the vast distance to be travelled for the few big matches, and you will see that cricketers in India are greatly handicapped."

"Do you think that the tour of the Authentics is likely to give an impetus to cricket in India?"

"Undoubtedly, and it would be a good thing if other tours could be arranged. It was, of course, a bad year for cricket out there because the officers had so much extra duty on account of the Durbar, and could seldom get away, and in an ordinary year the teams which would have opposed us would have been much stronger. In most of our matches our first two or three batsmen made enough runs to give us a good chance of victory, and the rest had to score as quickly as possible if the match was to be finished. The surprise of the tour was Simpson-Hayward's bowling, and he improved so much that he can hardly be left out of the Gentlemen's team this year. In the course of the tour he had the unusual experience of making two hundred runs in an innings, doing the hat trick twice and making spectacles twice. After he had done the hat trick at Aligarh his third victim formally presented him with a fez such as Egyptians wear."

"Were you struck by one thing more than another while you were in India?"

"There were so many wonderful things to see that it would be very difficult to say what struck one the most. But perhaps the thing which made the most impression on me had nothing to do with scenes or wonders. It was the way in which people who had lived in India for a long time feared the sun. Oddly enough the Authentics did not as a rule seem to feel its effects at all, except at Bombay, and to us it appeared comparatively harmless. Of course, we played during what is known as the winter, but in winter or summer, residents have a great dread of the power of the sun. At times during the tour we found it bitterly cold, and at about five o'clock, when the sun went down, it would be even colder than the present April. In the hottest parts it was bearable at night, while in the coldest parts there was nearly always frost—a thing which we certainly had never dreamed of finding. At Peshawar the thermometer went down to 25 at night, and rose to 130 in the middle of the day, so that we had variety. I may say that at Peshawar we were in a district where the hostile natives are always shooting at sentries. Of course, the members of the team were in no danger, but we realised that we were in the outskirts of civilization when it was found necessary to surround the ground with soldiers during the visit of the Duke of Connaught to see the Match." Cricket.

CRICKET AT YERCAUD.

RESIDENTS vs. VISITORS.—The Residents of Yercaud played Visitors on the 12th instant, and the game ended in a win for the Residents by an innings and 30 runs. G. Lechler played a fine innings of 104 not out. Score:—

RESIDENTS.

B Cayley, l-b-w, b Veradaraj	10
G Lechler, not out	104
E H King-Harman, b Wilkins	19
C A G Turner, b Veradaraj	0
C D Ryle, run out	3
F A Lodge, run out	2
B Short, b Veradaraj	2
F Carey, b Veradaraj	4
S M Pritchard, c and b Wilkins	10
Extras	19
Total	173

VISITORS.

	1st Innings.		2nd Innings.
C G Marshall, b Cayley	23	b King-Harman	13
Veradaraj, b Cayley	2	c Lodge, b Lechler	37
H W Sheldrick, c sub, b Cayley	11	st Cayley, b Pritchard	4
A Rigley, run out	0	c sub., b Pritchard	0
F W Wilkins, b Cayley	0	b Lechler	9
J Short, b Cayley	0	b Lechler	7
H D Robertson, c and b Cayley	0	b Turner	1
W R T Mackay, not out	6	not out	2
Sub., c and b Cayley	0	c Lodge, b Lechler	0
Extras	8	Extras	11
Total	50	Total	84

CRICKET AT OOTACAMUND.

OOTY GYMKHANA vs. DURHAM L. I.—Played on the 14th instant and resulted in an easy win for the Gymkhana by 115 runs. Morrison played a good innings of 45. The Military team only managed to put up 52, making no stand against the bowling of Morrison and Thirumal Raj. The former took five wickets for 23 runs and the latter four for 28. Score:—

OOTACAMUND GYMKHANA.—1st Innings.

W M Standen, b Udal	12
W W Phillips, c and b Bowers	28
H N Collyer, c Parker, b Bowers	0
C Morrison, c and b Bowers	45
Mullings, c Parker, b Bowers	0
F Hannyngton, b Bowers	20
S A Walker, b Bowers	0
Thirumal Raj, b Udal	22
W B DeWinton, c and b Udal	4
G H Gadsden, b Udal	2
Patrickson, not out	18
Extras	16
Total	167

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

	O.	R.	M.	W.
Udal	24	49	7	4
Parker	3	15	0	0
Bowers	19	66	4	6
Coddington	2	11	0	0
Unthank	3	10	1	0

DURHAM L. I.—1st Innings.

C R Shirreff, b Thirumal Raj	1
J S Unthank, c Gadsden, b Morrison	1
—Greenwell, c Collyer, b Thirumal Raj	10
H L Homan, b Morrison	10
Forrester, c and b Thirumal Raj	3
Parker, c Mulling b Morrison	0
E R Udal, c Standen, b Morrison	7
H J Coddington, c deWinton, b Thirumal Raj	13
A H M Bowers, c Thirumal Raj, b Morrison	0
W W Phillips, run out	2
Hastings, not out	4
Extras	1
Total	52

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

	O.	R.	M.	W.
Morrison	10	23	1	5
Thirumal Raj	10	28	2	4

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCAS EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA.

Football.

FOOTBALL IN CALCUTTA.

THE LEAGUE.

CALCUTTA vs. RANGERS.—The above teams met on the Calcutta ground on the 16th instant and the game resulted in a win for the home team by two goals to nil. Play was not particularly brilliant though Calcutta pressed throughout and had it not been for rather wild shooting would have won by a larger margin. They began the attack and pressed their opponents hard. The Rangers had to concede a corner but no goal accrued and they went away with the ball, Buckley having to save a couple of shots. Good runs down the field by the Calcutta forwards followed, and after some poor shooting by several players Fyfe dribbled through and scored. On changing ends the Rangers got away but were checked and the Calcutta forwards brought the ball back, Whelan saving a high shot from Birkmyre. The visitors then got past the Calcutta backs and looked like scoring but Todd cleared and the Calcutta men took the ball into the enemy's quarters and after some ragged play Birkmyre got the ball and sent it through, the game ending as stated. Teams:—

CALCUTTA F.C.—Buckley, goal; Todd and Crawford, backs; Maunder, Gillespie and Walker, half-backs; Stewart, Cooper, Birkmyre, Fyfe and Sherman, forwards.

RANGERS.—Whelan, goal; Hollow and Brown, backs; Warden, Lees, and O'Laughlin, half-backs; Pell, Walker, Whitie, G. W. Russell and D. W. Russell, forwards.

Referee:—Mr. Rope, C. F. C.

DALHOUSIE vs. BURN & CO.—This match played on the Dalhousie ground last Saturday was anticipated an easy thing for the home team and they justified expectations by winning by two goals to nil. The opening exchanges were very even; then the Dalhousie men began to press the visitors, but though they got several openings failed to take advantage of them. They kept up the attack and Rosser made a splendid run and passing to Williams the latter scored. Burn & Co. played up and the home backs were kept busy for a time, but the interval arrived with Dalhousie leading. Crossing over play ruled very even till some good combination by the Dalhousie forwards took the ball into the visitors' quarters and Watts sent in a hard shot which completely beat Dods. Burn & Co. played hard and had the best of the game till near the end when the home team broke away, but failed to score. Teams:—

DALHOUSIE F.C.—Peake, goal; Margrett and Bushby, backs; Williams, Phelps and Dalling, half-backs; Echlin, Rosser, Watts, Stewart, and Stimson, forwards.

BURN & CO.—Dods, goal; McFadden and Donathan, backs; McLaughlin, Russell and Wood, half-backs; Kerr, Boner, Tayler, Cochrane and Todd, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. M. Remfry.

Y. M. C. A. vs. A. S. HIGHLANDERS.—Played on the 16th instant on the Highlanders' ground and a hard game resulted in a win for the home team by two goals to nil. The Argylls began by forcing the pace and Williams was tested by several hard shots. The Young Men lacked combination but there were some good individual runs by Apcar and Crow. A foul against Street for charging Montgomery from behind gave the military a penalty kick and the ball was easily put through. It was not long after this that Quin put on a second point for the Highlanders and halftime arrived with the military team leading by two goals to nil. Play during the second half was more even but towards the end the Highlanders gave Williams plenty to do and it was only owing to his splendid goal-keeping that the home team were unable to add to their score. Teams:—

Y. M. C. A.—Williams, goal; Yackjee and J. Baldwin, backs; P. Street, T. Baldwin and Cooper, half-backs; Brown, D. Remfry, Apcar, Simons and Crow, forwards.

93RD HIGHLANDERS.—Coventry, goal; Wallace and McHolland, backs; McLean, McGovan and Mowat, half-backs; McCluskie, Lochart, Quin, Montgomery, and Hogg forwards.

Referee.—Mr. N. G. Pritchard.

RANGERS vs. 64TH R. F. A., BARRACKPUR.—These teams met on the Dalhousie ground last Monday, but play was not of a very brilliant class and the Gunners won an uninteresting match by a goal to nil. The Rangers opened by forcing a corner but nothing resulted, and the Barrackpur men transferred play to their opponents' territory. They had the best of matters for a while, but wild shooting and miskicks lost them many opportunities. Then Whitie relieved and Russell took the ball down with no result. The Gunners coming back again a good centre enabled Lieutenant Shaw to put the ball through. Barrackpur then forced two corners, but nothing followed, and Russell going away sent in a hot shot which Hutchinson saved. During the second half the Rangers played better, but were weak in front of goal and were unable to get equal, the Artillery winning by a goal to nil. Teams.—

64TH FIELD ARTILLERY.—Hutchinson, goal; Prince and Quinn, backs; Corby, Nicoll, and Dennelly, half-backs; Woods Wratten, Lieutenant Shaw, Dodds, and Douglas forwards.

RANGERS. Whelan, goal; Brown and Whitie, backs; G. Russell, Lees, and O'Laughlin half-backs; Pell, Walker, Hill, Behrend, and G. Russell, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. P. C. Margrett, D. F. C.

CALCUTTA vs. BURN & CO.—Rather an uninteresting match was the verdict on the meeting of these teams at Howrah on the 19th instant. Calcutta attacked first and forced a corner, but did not improve on it. The forwards were not in form and gave a poor display. Cooper however got away once and passing to Fife the latter sent in a hard shot which Freeman saved. The home forwards seldom got away and the interval arrived pointless. On changing ends Calcutta began to play up and had the best of matters. Lively play in front of the home goal followed and eventually Sherman scored with a long shot. The visitors continued to press and though they had the best of the game to the end, they were unable to add to their score, thus winning by a goal to nil.

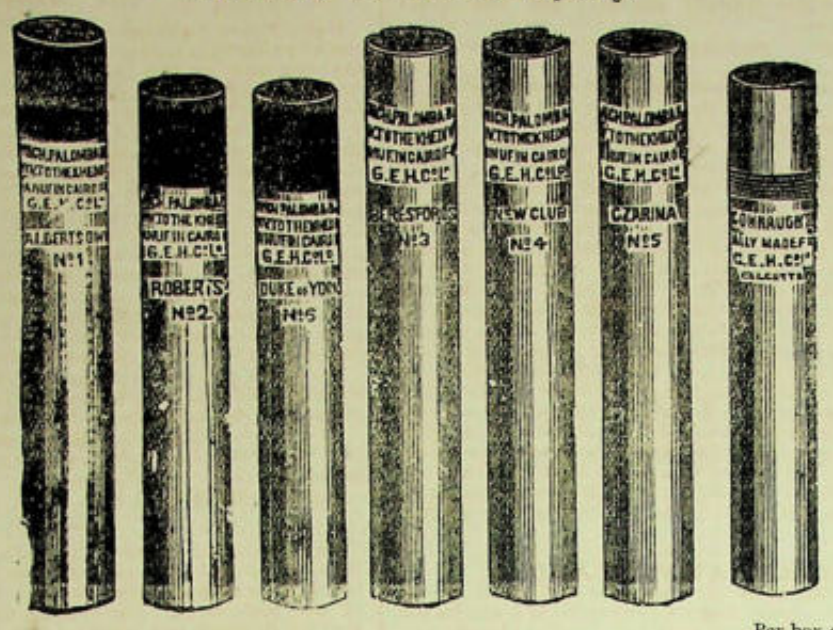
The following shows the position of Clubs to Monday the 18th May 1903 inclusive.

Name of Club.	Matches played.	Won.	Lost.	Drawn.	Points.	Goals. For.	Goals. Against.
K O S B	1	1	—	—	2	4	0
Calcutta	1	1	—	—	2	2	0
Dalhousie	1	1	—	—	2	2	0
93rd Hdrs	1	1	—	—	2	2	0
64th R F A	1	1	—	—	2	1	0
Burns A C	1	—	1	—	0	0	2
Y M C A	1	—	1	—	0	0	2
Howrah	1	—	1	—	0	0	4
Rangers	2	—	2	—	0	0	8



SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

QUILL SPECIAL REEDS.

Head Office: MADRAS.
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta:
MESSRS. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES.

These are the finest Cigarettes imported into India, and are manufactured especially for this Company.

	Per box of 25 Cash. Rs. A.	Per box of 50 Cash. Rs. A.
Albert's Own (Gold Tipped)	1 14	3 12
Beresfords	1 6	2 12
New Club	1 4	2 8
Czarina	1 0	1 14
Duke of York, specially manufactured for Ladies (Gold Tipped)	1 0	2 0
Connaught, per box of 100	—	2 12

SPECIALITIES IN WHISKIES.

"BEEHIVE" BRAND,
Rs. 25 per dozen.
303 SPECIALITY,
Rs. 30 per dozen.
707 SPECIALITY,
Rs. 35 per dozen.

SAMPLE CASES OF WHISKIES.
To enable our customers to make a choice from our stock of Whiskies and to judge of their characteristics we shall be happy to put up one bottle of any six different Brands, and charge for them at the nett cash rate per dozen with special discount of 5 per cent.

"AULD" SCOTTIE
Rs. 32-8 per dozen.
"NECTAR,"
Rs. 41 per dozen.
"GLENLIVET,"
Rs. 36 per dozen.

☞ 10 % Discount for Cash.

Great Eastern Hotel Co., Ld., Calcutta.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

THE interval between the end of the Hockey season and the commencement of the League Competition is all too short for the various clubs to get their teams together, and it is a pity that more time cannot be spared to permit of a larger number of friendly games before the serious business of the season commences. The natural consequence is that the competition is well advanced before the teams are finally decided on and in the meantime points may have been lost which it is difficult to make up in the later stages. We do not know whether it is possible for the I.F.A. to alter this in future, but we bring the matter to their notice more especially as the military teams who are able to practise during a large portion of the Hockey season hereby obtain a very decided advantage.

The result of matches during the past week cannot be taken as a guide for future events, as the various elevens have not yet settled down, and most of the form displayed has in consequence been mediocre in the extreme. This was especially the case in the match between Calcutta and the Rangers on Saturday last, which provided as poor an exhibition of football as it was possible to witness. The premier club tried a rearrangement of their forward line by transferring Stewart from the left to the right wing where he was partnered by Cooper, and Sherman played outside left instead of his usual position on the inside, which was filled by Fyfe. Crawford, whose proper position is centre half, was played at full back and Gillespie was brought up to fill the vacancy thus caused. This reshuffling of positions completely disorganised the team and we are glad to hear that the experiment is not to be tried again. The Rangers had out a very poor side and in consequence they also were obliged to remodel their team. The play was too ragged to permit of much description, but Fyfe's individual effort, which led up to his scoring the first goal for Calcutta, was quite the best thing of the match. Maunder played a hard and untiring game at half-back and Todd's long kicking was noticeable for its accuracy on several occasions. In the second half the Rangers had more of the game, but their efforts lacked finish and Buckley was only once called upon to save. Russell on the left wing showed pace and a certain amount of cleverness and Hollow proved sound in defence, but Birkmyre with a long shot, which was not devoid of a certain amount of luck, put on the second goal and Calcutta thus won by 2-0.

The meeting of Dalhousie and Burns resulted in a very even game and in point of play was perhaps the best of the four League matches which were contested on Saturday last. Dalhousie were at full strength, but the Engineers were without two or three of their regular players and they did very well to have made such a good fight. Williams, who is better known at Home as a Rugby player, assisted the Dalhousie and gave a very promising display and Rosser's pace served him in good stead on several occasions, but both his shooting and that of Echlin was very erratic and they missed several opportunities. Watts, who played centre forward, was in fine form, and the shot with which he scored the second goal for his side was beautifully hard and well timed. With such a fast and clever set of forwards and the inimitable Peake in goal Dalhousie ought to stand very high in the League table at the close of the competition. The back division appeared to be the strong point in the Burns team, and McLachlin, Russell and Wood were sound and untiring, but the forwards were not well together and Tayler proved somewhat slow.

The defeat of Howrah by the K. O. S. B. to the tune of 4-0 was in a great measure due to the superior training of the Military team, as at half time they had only scored a goal, and that from a penalty kick, whereas after the interval they found the net on three occasions. The League Champions of 1902, who were represented by almost the same team as they had last year, have been able to indulge in a good deal of practice, a fact which was noticeable by the combination they displayed, and they put an amount of dash and fire into their game which is almost irresistible. Cassidy and Byers were perhaps the best of the forwards and McDonald at full-back was very noticeable. For Howrah the two Smiths gave a dashing and clever display and Bennett and Maunder in the back division were good, the latter saving well on several occasions.

A team of individual performers, however brilliant, always have to bow the knee to a side who rely upon combined play and such proved to be the case when the Y. M. C. A. met the 93rd Highlanders on the ground of the latter on Saturday last. Apcar, Simmons and Crow all made some exceedingly fine runs but they were never supported and their efforts consequently resulted in nothing tangible. The Argylls on the other hand combined very prettily and effectively on several occasions, and but for the fine goalkeeping of Williams, would have registered more than the two goals by which they eventually won. Quin, a new man who appeared as centre forward, promises to develop into a very useful recruit and Hogg and McCluskie were conspicuous in their respective positions.

On Monday last the Rangers had to admit their second defeat, this time at the hands of the 64th R. F. A., who are themselves far from being a brilliant team. The display given by both sides was very poor and until the Rangers can command the services of several of their usual players, who are not at present assisting them, they cannot expect to make much headway. The 64th R. F. A. after having rather the best of the game eventually won by 1-0 and their victory was largely due to Woods, who dribbled well and centred with great accuracy, but was seldom supported. Brown at full back and Russell on the left wing were the most conspicuous for the Rangers.

It is not very often that "B" team matches are productive of bringing much new talent to light, but the meeting of the Calcutta 'B" and the "G" Company of the 93rd Highlanders on Monday last had this much to be desired result, as we feel sure that in Binning and Bell the Calcutta team have unearthed a forward and a goalkeeper of more than average merit. The presence of Buckley of course bars the way for Bell at present, but he ought to make an excellent understudy and an extended trial in the first team should certainly be given to Binning who has the makings of a fast and clever forward.

THE CHIEL.

Golf.

GOLF IN MADRAS.

THE Handicap Foursome Tournament was concluded last week and resulted in a win for Messrs. A. P. Symonds and J. M. Robinson who easily disposed of Messrs. Thomson and Waller in the finals. Details :—

First Round.

Thomson and Waller (5) beat Longhurst and Mitchell (4) by 2 holes.

Carruthers and Ross (6) beat Annan and Beardsell (5) by 5 up and 3.

Symonds and Robinson (3) beat Magrath and Hare (1) by 6 up and 5.

Hooper and Pope (4) W.O., Lawson and Jackson (3) scratched.

Second Round.

Thomson and Waller beat Carruthers and Ross by 5 up and 3.

Symonds and Robinson beat Hooper and Pope by 3 up and 2.

Final Round.

Symonds and Robinson beat Thomson and Waller by 5 up and 3.

Sports.

DARJEELING GYMKHANA.

COMMITTEE.

E. H. C. Walsh, Esq., C. S.	C. P. Andrews, Esq.
Capt. B. H. Bignell, A. D. C.	H. C. C. Bennett, Esq.
Lt-Col. Trench, 2nd W. R. Regt.	Major W. F. Cockburn, R. A.
Major Becher, 2nd W. R. Regt.	W. H. Edwards Esq.
	Major C. I. Wimberley.

Capt. A. J. Welch,
Hon. Secretary.

SATURDAY, MAY 16TH, 1903.

THE second Gymkhana of the season took place last Saturday, but beyond the members there were very few present. The public don't seem to care to go as far as Lebong unless there is something especially attractive going on. They are a sporting lot, however in the Regiment quartered there, and enter in good numbers for everything, while their excellent Band enlivens the afternoon with really tuneful selections of music. The following were the results on Saturday :—

RAP KNUCKLE PLATE.—For gentlemen. To pick three balls off three cricket stumps and throw them into buckets near the stumps. Pace gallop.

Won by Mr A. Price. 10 entries

QUADRUPED COMPETITION.—For teams of two men, one lady, and a goat. The bipeds mounted to drive the quadruped into a pen. Competitors to provide their own goat, no whips allowed.

Won by Miss George, Mr. Burnett and Mr. Thompson. 4 Entries.

LADIES' RACE.—Canter trot, and walk round the course for ladies, one third of the distance at each pace.

Won by Mrs. Edge. 6 entries

EDUCATIONAL STAKES.—Gentlemen to ride to lady with a misspelt letter, lady to correct same, and gentlemen to finish round the course. First in with corrections right to win.

Won by Mr. Soule and Mrs. Canning. 9 Couples entered

KADIE CUP.—Pig-sticking for ladies only.

Won by Mrs. Christian. 5 Entries.

ULTA PULTA STAKES.—For gentlemen. Competitors will change mounts at the starting post. Last pony in to win.

Won by Mr A. Prices, pony. 6 entries

SOLDIERS' RACE.—Pick-a-back over obstacles Open to soldiers of the garrison. The man acting as horse to be blindfolded.

Won by Privates Taylor and Huggins 12 Entries.

The Naturalist.

THE MEETING OF THE LONDON ZOOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

AT the last meeting of the London Zoological Society for scientific business several interesting communications were made, notably a brief paper by Mr. Henry Scherren, F. Z. S., on the literature of "Feather-tracts." As many of my readers doubtless know, the feathers of birds do not, as a rule, grow uniformly over the body, but in definite tracts or patches with bare spaces in between as may be well seen in a half-fledged nestling. A German Scientist Nitzch, whose work was published in the first half of the last century, is the writer usually credited with introducing the study of the subject; but Mr Scherren showed that Linnaeus had commented on these feather-patches and even published a figure showing them, while even further back our own Sir Thomas Browne was acquainted with the leading facts concerning them. After a paper by Mr. Oldfield Thomas on Mammals from the Soudan, which contained nothing of any general interest, a rather long paper by Mr. R. J. Pocock on the Geographical Distribution of the Spiders of the group Mygalomorphic evoked some discussion. This group of spiders includes the Trap-door Spiders and the great Bird-killing Spiders of the Mygale group, familiar to students of Indian Natural History. Owing to the fact that they do not soar when young like so many spiders, the species of the Mygalomorphic group have less opportunity for becoming widely distributed whence their present location is the more interesting. The said soaring of young spiders is managed by the little animal letting out a thread of web of sufficient length to carry it along when the wind blows it away, and these tiny aeronauts have been found on the highest mountains and far out at sea. Mr Pocock considered that the present distribution of the Mygalomorphic spiders indicated a former union between Africa and South America, and a general connection of land in the southern hemisphere. But of course the possiblity of widespread extinction of types always remains to be considered in questions like these; and spiders are known to be devoured with particular avidity by birds, so that they run a special risk of extinction.

The succeeding paper, by Mr. Woodland, would have been of great interest and well discussed, had it not been so lengthy that the last part had to be given as an abstract; and no discussion was possible at all. It dealt with the external position of the testes in the scrotum in mammals—a point which has

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
LEMON AND DUNSTALL,
1, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA.

always been of interest and hard to explain as these organs are so susceptible of injury. Mr. Woodland, indeed, considered that they were, even when external, well protected by their situation, but such will hardly be the opinion of practical observers of animal life. It was suggested that the external position of the testes, which is chiefly characteristic of the most active among the mammals, is due to a displacement, originally mechanical, of these organs owing to the jerky and rapid movements of the creatures in action. Slow ponderous mammals like the elephant, and sluggish creatures like some of the lowest forms, such as the ant-eater, owed their internal testes to want of this violent exercise; while the same peculiarity characterized birds and fishes on account of their smooth movements in the slightly-resisting media of air and water. Unfortunately, as is usually the case with the facile theories of the modern library and laboratory trained naturalist, the present one fails from want of due consideration of the facts The average bird is quite as "jolty" in his hopping movements on branch or earth as any mammal, and he is besides subject to seasonal enlargements of the testes which would render the strain on them peculiarly great; moreover when flying the action is jerky to a degree, not only in the give-and-take flight of small birds, but in the apparently smooth progress of large ones. Any one who will take the trouble to watch a big bird crossing his point of view on the wing will notice that every stroke gives a manifest jerk to the body. But watching any live animal is too much, it seems, to ask of a "zoologist" now-a-days Hence waste of paper and printer's ink in many a scentific journal.

I cannot leave the subject of the Zoological Society without expressing my satisfaction at the result of the recent election. Dr. Chalmers Mitchell is not only a good zoologist, but quite the most charming personality and the best man of affairs in the zoological world, and his appointment the best thing that could have happened for the Society.

FRANK FINN.

The Story Teller

NATIVE SUPERSTITIONS.

(Concluded from page 46.)

THE following account of the creation was told to me by a white-haired old man of about ninety years of age, who was looked up to and loved and reverenced by all, whose life had been saintly and whose knowledge of holy things was, if report spoke true, unsurpassable. It was told to me with the greatest solemnity, and with the most implicit belief, notwithstanding its unpardonable assumptions.

In the beginning there was God, and nothing but God. He was from before the beginning, and his thoughts grew fast and rendered him excessively hot, so much so that he began to pour with perspiration which at last grew into an inconceivably large ocean and the Creator was tossed about by its waves, as he lay floating on them, and he had no place to rest on. After further thought he made a tooroong (i.e., a long deep basket such as is generally carried by hill people, and tea coolies), large enough to reach from the depths to the surface, and turning it upside down he sat upon its nether end and for a little space had rest not for long however. He found it a very unstable seat, the waves of the ocean of his thoughts drove it about, tilting it up, and upsetting it so that He was nearly as much worried as before. Being desirous of perfect rest, he left his seat on the tooroong, and dived to the bottom of the waters and scraped the earth at the bottom till it appeared above the ocean as a ring, and he bailed the waters from the inside of this ring until it was all dry land. Thus was the earth created, and he rested from his labours.

Howbeit some of the ocean flowed through cracks in the circular chain of hills, these are the large rivers which revivify all life Having perfect rest the Creator gazed about Him, and seeing a large place went about it searching for man, but He found it bare and no one in it.

Then it happened that while thinking over His work He suddenly perceived his shadow lying straight in front of Him. He addressed it but obtained no reply, again He spoke to it but received no answer, nor would it tell Him who it was, nor whence it came, so He moved away, but the shadow preceded Him, whereupon being disturbed he sought to catch hold of it by a sudden snatch, but only succeeded in obtaining a handful of earth. Having hurt His fingers somewhat as He snatched at the shadow, He blew upon them to allay the pain, and his breath going over the handful of earth He still held, it became a living man.

This narrative appears very absurd, no doubt, to Christians but when we come to examine it, it is not a whit more childish or inconsequent than the Biblical narrative. It does not insist that the earth was made in seven days which the very rocks contradict, nor does it descend to such puerile ideas as to suppose that the sole reason for the creation of the sun, and moon, and all the starry hosts was to give light to this very insignificant planet of ours Yet in other ways it curiously resembles Biblical notions on the matter.

Take the idea of the earth first being fluid, then sea (Genesis, Chapter 1, verse 2.) Then that the said flood was encircled by a ring of hills, read Proverbs, Chapter 8 verses 26 and 27, where it distinctly states that the high places (i.e. hills) of the earth were made first, and goes on to say "When he set a compass," (i.e., a ring or circle) upon the face of the deep.

Why, it is the Mughy narrative all over again! And to me it is passing strange that the same belief should be held by Solomon, the great king, the centre of the civilization of his time, the alleged wisest man that ever lived (I hae ma doots as to that though, when one considers the number of his matrimonial engagements) as well as by the semi-savage in the wilds of the forests of the Chittagong Hill Tracts.

The basket incident is, of course, a gross absurdity, since it pre-supposes the existence of materials to weave one of, before they were created. But the Hebraic account does the same, Genesis, Chapter I, verse 2, says:—

"And the spirit of God moved upon the waters." Here the assumption that water existed before anything, itself included, was created is as absurd as the incident of the basket in the Mughy account, while the latter narrative is superior to the Hebraic one in that it not only recounts how the fluid was brought into existence, but does so by a highly poetic imagery which the Biblical account lacks.

It is singular that both statements should agree that the earth was fluid first. Yet while the Biblical describes it as a mere watery expanse which the Creator's spirit accidently came upon and brooded over the Mughy one likens it to something far more subtle, to in fact God's own very thoughts condensed into a magnetic or electric ichor, and which flowing from Him in countless myriads of drops formed an ocean of thought in which He was immersed, and from which He emmerged into a new creation, and a fresh world. Nor does it stop here, for it maintains that this earth is not only still surrounded by this wonderful ocean of God's thoughts, but that as water, the one great purifier and refresher of our planet, without which no life could exist on our earth, permeates it in the shape of springs and rivers, so breaking through from the circumambiant, ocean of his thoughts in streams.

God's care permeates all creation, both spiritual and physical, sweetening and refreshing, revivifying even as rivers of water does so to the earth.

Mark again the beautiful sequence of ideas, thought leads to unrest, unrest to action, action to achievements, achievement to rest. So it has been and will be, verily, as the preacher saith. All is vanity and there is nothing new under the sun.

POLITYE.

The Garden.

GARDENING IN MIDNAPORE.

CABBAGES, Brassica oleracea, give very satisfactory results here; but like most other vegetables are late in coming into season, though this is more than counterbalanced by the way they last out.

Soil of a loamy or friable nature and heavily but not too freshly manured is the best suited for cabbages.

If the monsoon rains have not been heavy sowings of some of the earlier varieties of cabbages, such as Early York and Sugar Loaf, may be made from the first week of August to the middle of the following month and the late kinds, such as Dwarf Drumhead, Savoys, Late Paris and Red Dutch, a fortnight or three weeks later. The proportion of cabbage seeds sown is the same as for cauliflowers and should also be sown in raised beds and the seedlings treated in the same way. When the plants are from four to five inches high, they should be transplanted in rows or lines two feet apart each way and the main crops should always be put out, if possible, before the close of October. Cabbages have in these parts many insect enemies to contend with and which are often the cause of the young plants being weakened during their earlier growth. I know of no remedy against these visitations, but looking carefully for the pests and destroying them. After the plants have been put out, they should be watered daily every evening, and as they grow up, irrigation whenever available should be freely made use of. Liquid manure or weak solution will be found very beneficial as the heads are forming. The malees or gardeners in this country, have an idea that tying up the leaves will hasten the cabbages coming to heads; this is a mistaken notion, and the only good it does, is to often cause caterpillars and other vermins to appear. With proper cultivation and free watering cabbages ought to be fit for the table from fourteen to sixteen weeks from the time of their being transplanted and if the ground round the plants be occasionally loosened and irrigated, when required, should keep in good condition till well into April. A good plan is when the cabbages are cut to cover over the stumps with a layer of lea mould and water daily. In about two to three weeks' time little sprouts or shoots will appear and which will be found in no way inferior to Brussels sprouts and quite as delicate.

It is perhaps not generally known that cabbages may be kept in good condition all the year round. The modus operandi is as follows: Take some fine heads of cabbages, remove all the coarser outer leaves and slice them cross wise half an inch in thickness. Shred all the pieces, carefully removing all decayed and otherwise damaged leaves. Put the shredded leaves in trays and expose to the sun for five or six days or until quite dry, when carefully store in dry bottles for future use. Cabbages thus treated will be found to b a welcome addition to our other vegetables obtainable during the rains. I have tried these what might be called dessicated cabbages plain boiled in stews, in curries, etc., and have found them excellent and by throwing them in boiling water with a teaspoonful of salt, they will be found to almost regain their usual colour and freshness.

RAOUL.

Dur Ng Lord St. Vincent's brief career on the Turf, the unfortunate purchase of Klarikoff was an incident which created considerable interest. It appears that this horse belonged to Mr. Padwick, and had been backed to win an enormous stake for the Derby. It happened that one evening Lord St. Vincent dined at Mr. Padwick's house in Hill-street with several well-known patrons of the Turf, and on such an occasion, as might be expected, the forthcoming event at Epsom monopolised the chief part of the conversation. In the course of dinner Mr Padwick was asked by Lord St. Vincent if he would sell Klarikoff, to which he replied—

"It is impossible."

"But why not?" asked his lordship.

"For many reasons," said Mr. Padwick; "because, in the first place, I could never make a market of a horse at my own table; in the second, because I really could not put a price upon him; thirdly, because I could not remove him from John Scott's stable, as his friends are all on him; and fourthly, because I do not want to part with him"

But Lord St. Vincent was bent on having the horse, and in the drawing-room pressed his host to let him have half of it, if the would not part with the hole. It was finally agreed that Lord St. Vincent should have a half-share in Klarikoff, the sum asked after a considerable amount of discussion, being five thousand pounds.

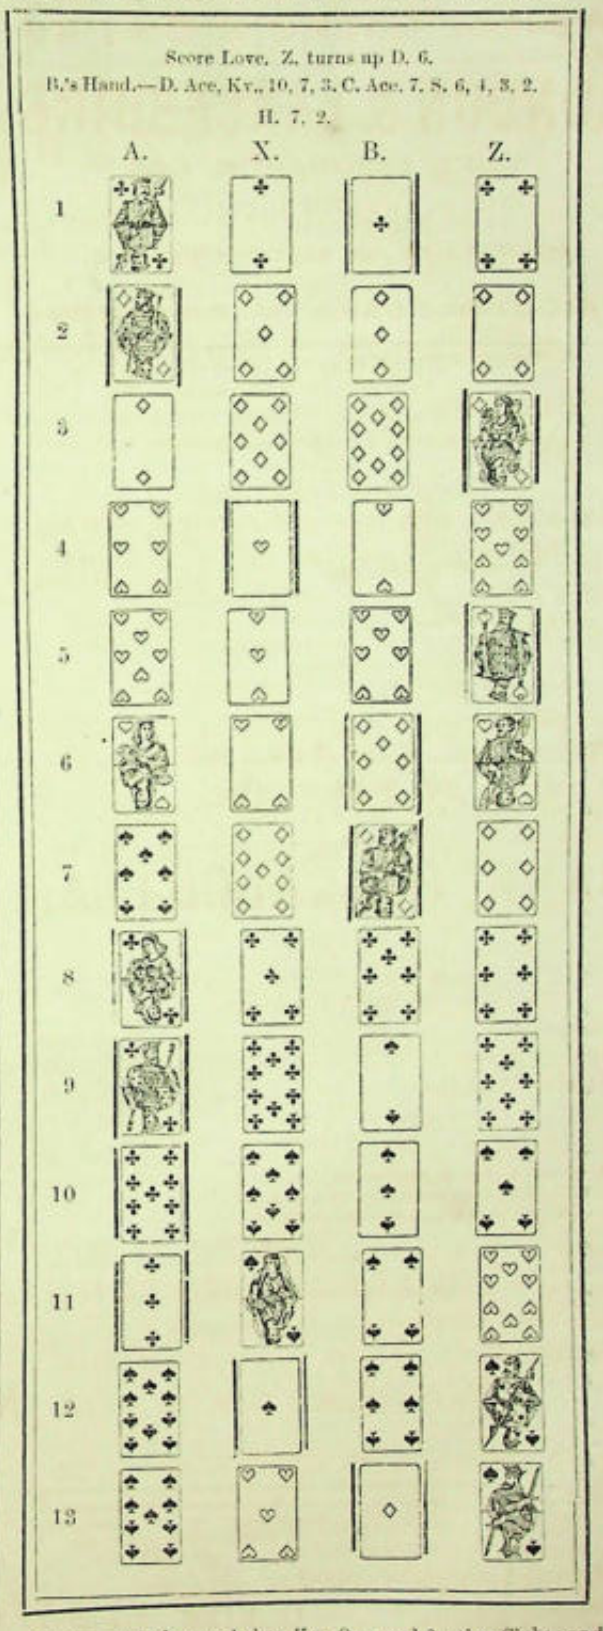
"I will have it," exclaimed his lordship. I think it moderate, and emagined you would have asked twice as much."

"But," rejoined his host, "you shall not buy this evening; sleep on your offer, and if you come to me to-morrow and want to be off the bargain you shall be in an instant."

How Klarikoff was eventually beaten in the Derby is a matter of history; but mortifying as this event was, it did not discompose Lord St. Vincent, although a still further misfortune was in store for him. As Klarikoff was returning from Epsom to Malton, on the Great Northern Railway, his life was lost by the van taking fire from a spark from the engine, neither of the owners receiving any compensation for the serious loss. And thus ended one of those romantic episodes for which the Turf has always been more or less famous.

Chess.

SOLUTION TO PROBLEM NO. XVIII.



WHITE.	BLACK.
1. Q to K R 2	1. R to K 8
2. Kt to Q 2	2. B to K 4 (ch)
3. Q takes B (ch)	3. R takes B.
4. Kt mates

Cards.

WHIST.

WHIST.—HAND NO. X.

A and B play X and Z. A leads. The card with the double rim wins, and the card below the rimmed card is the next one led.

NOTES.—6. B. knows A. has Kg., Qn., and 2 other Clubs; and the only chance he has of winning the game is to trump his partner's trick, draw the trumps, and bring in his partner's suit before another Club is led.

AN epigrammatist once described presence of mind as absence of body—a definition which suits the present case admirably.

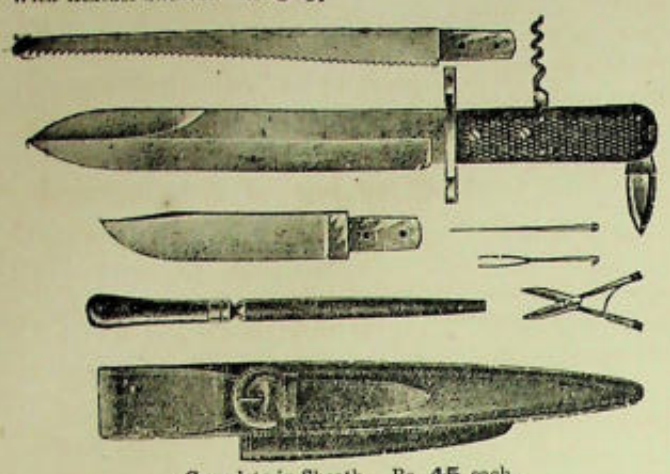
At the Epsom Spring Meeting in 1835 what might have been a very serious accident occurred in the first race. Brighton, who was winning the Biddlestown Plate in a canter, became frightened at the shadow which the telegraph board flung across the course, and in endeavouring to jump it stumbled and fell, throwing Fred Barrett, who was riding, clean over his head.

Luckily the jockey performed a miracle of dexterity in rolling himself under the rails out of the way of the other horses; otherwise the accident would doubtless have ended tragically.

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

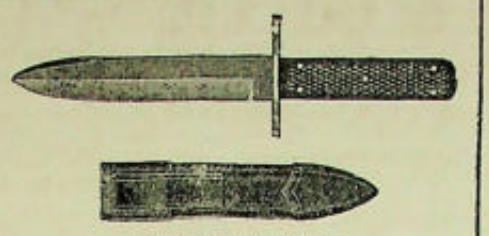
MAYOS.

Head Office: Madras.
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India

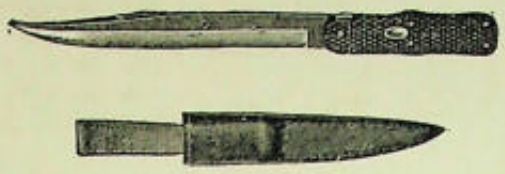


SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co

HUNTING AND SKINNING KNIVES.



BEST SHEFFIELD MAKE.



With Leather Sheath. Rs. 8-0.

Complete in Sheath. Rs. 45 each.

Complete with Sheath.
No. 1367. Rs. 10-8.

Complete in Sheath.
No. 1359. Rs. 11-8.
No. 1356. „ 12-8.

Walter Locke & Co., Ld., "Locke" Buildings, Calcutta.

LONDON & LANCASHIRE
LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

HEAD OFFICE:—
LONDON: 66 and 67, CORNHILL, E.C.

CALCUTTA BOARD OF DIRECTION:

T. Fraser, Esqr., Manager, Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China.
E. H. Elles, Esqr., Messrs. Pigott Chapman & Co.
Alex. Forsyth, Esqr., Messrs. Graham & Co.

NEW BUSINESS, 1901.

SUMS ASSURED, £727,196. NEW PREMIUMS, £30,088.

The Net Premium Income is now £264,482, and the amount of £101,760, as the result of the past year's working, has been added to the Funds, which now stand at £1,629,502.

New policy holders participate in the large proportion of 90 % of the entire profits of the Company.

Applications for Agency invited. Special Terms.

APPLY TO—
Messrs. GRAHAM & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.
9, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

BANK OF CALCUTTA,
LIMITED.

CAPITAL.

Subscribed	Rs.	15,00,000
Reserve Fund	„	15,00,000
Uncalled Capital	„	5,00,000

DIRECTORS:

Mr. D. YULE, Messrs. ANDREW, YULE & Co
„ H. R. McINNES, Messrs. J. THOMAS & Co.
„ NORMAN McLEOD, Messrs. McLEOD & Co.
„ D. KING.

CREDITS granted on approved Security, and every description of banking business transacted.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened and 2 per cent. per annum allowed on the daily balances.

FIXED DEPOSITS received at the following rates of interest:—

On Deposits fixed for 2 Years		5½	per cent.	per annum.
„ „ „ „ 1 Year		5	„	„
„ „ „ „ 6 Months		4½	„	„
„ „ „ „ 3 „		4	„	„

The Bank offers special facilities and advice to Constituents as to the purchase and sale of all Indian Securities, particularly the Shares and Debenture Stocks of Jute, Cotton, Tea, and Miscellaneous Industrial Concerns.

The Bank is prepared to guarantee the principal and interest of Debentures on its approved list on terms which may be ascertained on application. Absentee shareholders' and investors' interests carefully watched.

Orders executed on the London Stock Exchange through London Branch.

For further information apply to—

CALCUTTA, 7th April, 1902. D. KING, Agent.

LONDON BRANCH:—19, GREAT WINCHESTER STREET, E. C.

THE STANDARD
LIFE ASSCE. CO.

Revenue ...	...	£1,300,000
Bonus Declared	...	£7,000,000
Accumulated Funds	...	£10,300,000
Claims Paid	...	£21,000,000

For Forms, Prospectuses, etc., apply to
DOUGLAS STEWART, Secretary,
STANDARD BUILDINGS,
CALCUTTA.

GRINDLAY & CO., CALCUTTA.
GRINDLAY, GROOM & CO., BOMBAY.

BANKING.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened. | FIXED DEPOSITS received.
HOME AND FAMILY REMITTANCES made.

INVESTMENTS.

INFORMATION given regarding share market.
PURCHASES and SALES effected.
Grindlay's Monthly INDIAN INVESTORS' GUIDE supplied gratis.

PASSAGES.

HOMEWARD PASSAGES booked without charge.
PASSAGE CIRCULAR and complete list of sailings supplied gratis.

PACKAGES.

SHIPPED, cleared and forwarded.

THOS. COOK & SON
Bankers, Passenger & Forwarding Agents.

PASSAGES PROMPTLY ENGAGED by P. & O. Mail and all other Steamers, including non-Liners. Free of Charge or Commission.

Special Attention given to the selection of Berths and Social Grouping of Passengers.

Through Tickets issued available from any Railway Station in India to all parts of the Globe.
Continental Travelling Tickets issued, allowing breaks of journey at all places of interest.
Passengers with Cook's Tickets met and assisted at all Chief Ports and Cities.
Reduced Rates to Railway employés Planters, Family Parties, and Missionaries.
Outward Passages engaged and Tickets supplied from any part of the World to India.
Hotel Coupons available at over 2,000 Hotels.
Reduced Fares for Military Officers, Government Officials, and Missionaries to Europe and China and America.
Baggage received, shipped and cleared on arrival.
Packages received and forwarded at favourable cargo rates.
Life and Accident Insurance Policies issued, also baggage, &c., insured.
Drafts, Circular Notes and Letters of Credit issued for the use of Travellers in all parts of the World.
Sovereigns, Bank Notes, and Foreign Money bought and supplied.
Current Accounts kept, and Interest allowed when the Credit balance does not fall below Rs. 1,000.
Deposits received, Rate of Interest on application.
Interest, Pay, and Pensions collected and every description of Banking and Money Agency transacted.
Handbook of information sent free on application.

CALCUTTA, 9, Old Court House Street. | BOMBAY, 13, Esplanade Row.

RANGOON AND COLOMBO.

POLICIES ISSUED
BY THE
NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE Co.
Combine Life Insurance and Investment.

A security for family or estate and a provision for old age.

WRITE FOR PARTICULARS AID FOR
15 or 20 year sample policy to
RESIDENT MANAGER,
8, Old Court House Street,
CALCUTTA.

COCKBURN & Co.
OF
LEITH AND LONDON.
(ESTABLISHED 1796.)
WELL MATURED
HIGHLAND WHISKIES,
Of the highest class and most delicate blending.

Star Label	Rs.	34 per dozen.
Imperial Crown Label ...	„	38 „

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & Co.,
SOLE AGENTS,
1, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

NORTHERN ASSURANCE COMPANY.
ESTABLISHED 1836.
FIRE AND LIFE.

Capital	£3,000 000
Accumulated Funds	£5,698,300

OFFICES.

Head Office:—LONDON, 1, Moorgate Street.
Branch:—CALCUTTA, 101, Clive Street.

Fire and Life Insurance effected on the most favourable terms.

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & CO.,
(Secretaries.)
101, Clive Street, Calcutta.

THE INDIAN FIELD.
8, Hare Street, Calcutta.

THURSDAY, 28th MAY 1903.

PIONEERS OF TRAVEL AND NATURAL HISTORY.

THE death of the famous explorer-naturalist, which took place on Tuesday, 28th April, recalls to the mind of those able to remember so far back the vigorous attack made upon the discoverer of the gorilla when he announced that he had seen and killed specimens of the mysterious beast whose existence was by most people held a myth. The gorilla had been made known to the naturalists of their day by Carthaginian navigators: and was described by them with that wealth of exaggeration and sensational embellishment which would go far to discredit a story far more easy to believe: and it is hardly wonderful that nineteenth century naturalists should have regarded with something more than doubt the misty tales of Hames, dating from about four hundred years before Christ. It was in the early forties when du Chaillu was but twelve years old that the scientific world had its attention drawn to the possibility that the great ape of ancient fable was really to be found where ancient fable had placed it. Dr. Savage, who was out on the Gaboon river in 1847, sent to Owen a sketch of the cranium of a gorilla. Owen seems to have reserved his judgment like the fair-minded man he was; he held his peace until 1851 when skins and bones were available and then described the animal to the Zoological Society: he described it before the Royal Institution in 1859, in which year, it may be added, the beast was the first time popularly described and figured with very tolerable accuracy in Wood's Natural History.

Two years later du Chaillu appeared, fresh from the West African forests and supplied with skins and complete skeletons. In view of the substratum of knowledge already possessed, it might be supposed that the French traveller's account of the gorilla, supported as it was by skins and complete skeletons, would have commanded general and complete confidence. It is difficult to understand why this was not accorded him: but the fact remains that du Chaillu's address to the Zoological Society in March 1861 at once provoked attacks upon his veracity: and the attack was renewed with greater bitterness when his famous book appeared later in the year. Charles Waterton, the American naturalist, was one of those who was at pains to cast doubt upon the accuracy of du Chaillu's statements. Dr. Gray, then head of the Natural History Department of the British Museum, was even less restrained in his opposition. The latter indeed went so far as to assert, with no better ground than sheer incredulity, that the traveller was guilty of gross untruth; that he had never been in the Gaboon forests at all and had never seen a live gorilla, much less killed one. He could not, of course, explain away twenty one skins, several of which had been stuffed and exhibited at the Geographical Society's rooms, but he did his best to discredit du Chaillu: with, it must be admitted, a good deal of success. Many persons who had the public ear, without much good reason to show for the attention their utterances commanded, enjoyed the opportunity of attacking a man bigger than any of themselves: conspicuous among these was the Hon. Grantley Berkeley, who had at the time much acceptance as a writer on sport. Reviewing the whole controversy at this distance of time, it is impossible not to be struck by the animus displayed by du Chaillu's hostile critics : and also by the courage with which men drew deductions from their knowledge of very different species of ape and offered these as proofs of the discoverer's mendacity. The production of evidence of the existence of the gorilla appears to have been resented with such bitterness that detractors were obliged to take refuge in attacks upon du Chaillu's account of the animal's habits and character. One critic, either Waterton or Grantley Berkeley, proved to his own entire satisfaction that the gorilla must be so inactive, so clumsy and helpless that it was no foe at all to an armed man. It must be allowed that du Chaillu's book was written in a style more suitable for a boy's book of adventure than a sober work of travel : his Gallic vivacity took him in charge on occasion, he did not display sufficient care in accepting or sifting hearsay evidence gleaned from natives and he exhibited a sense of the value of the sensational in appealing to the crowd. It is certain that these weaknesses told against him and made for him enemies who would otherwise have been friends : but nothing could justify or extenuate the reckless fashion in which it was sought to hound the man out as an impostor who was wilfully imposing upon science. Du Chaillu felt keenly the attacks made upon him, but he found much consolation in the cordial support given him by Owen among the scientific leaders and Frank Buckland among the popular lights of the day. How he returned to Africa, and in 1865 returned to confound those of his enemies who still stood in need of it, is a matter of history.

The case of du Chaillu and the gorilla is, or should be, a valuable example of the necessity for approaching new discoveries in an impartial spirit. If a report be only sufficiently sensational, it is certain to drive its hearers into one of two camps : that of the whole-hearted sceptic, or that of the blind believer. Very few have the moral courage to hold their judgment on the curb and wait for developments. We had a striking example of this a few years ago when that courageous Swiss, Louis de Rougemont, or Grein, took the cheap magazine world by storm with his wonderful tales of Australian adventure. The man's story literally bristled with glaring blunders and absurdities which outraged the naked possible : yet there were those who not only smoothed away his impudent mendacities and brought lasting ridicule on the British Association by reading de Rougemont's story before the Geographical Section : there were otherwise sane and intelligent men who were quite prepared to finance the rogue if he would lead an expedition to the land of his imagining, where kettles and pots were to be made out of virgin gold nuggets! This last we take to be the convincing evidence : we may profess large belief with a light heart : but if we have money to spare we are usually careful to weigh and examine the evidence for the most tempting investment. Nothing could more eloquently prove the stupidity of the British public in one of its fits of credulity, than the financial support which a rich syndicate was prepared to render the mountebank whose name is only now to be mentioned in conjunction with that of the eminent Baron Munchausen. Such incidents as the "de Rougemont case" are regrettable, because they tend to create an atmosphere of prejudice which a true story has difficulty in dissipating : a vast deal depends upon the manner in which any discovery is announced : when the Okapi was revealed to the scientific world, there were many in that world who reserved their judgment as to the existence of the beast, though they said little of the doubt that possessed them and wrote less. The event proved the wisdom of the attitude of reserve.

We confess to having an open mind on the existence of marine monsters, or sea serpents, to use the sorely battered name. When we think how the flying dragon of folklore has been justified by the discovery of the pterodactyl of palæontologists : when we recall the size and strangeness of the terrestrial monsters of ages more or less remote : and when we consider how little, how very little knowledge we possess of the deep waters and their inhabitants, it were rash indeed to dismiss the "sea serpents" to the realm of myth and invention. It may well be that the applied science of the future will equip us with means to investigate regions now beyond the reach of man : and unless we are prepared, in the face of the discoveries of the last hundred years, to assert that we have reached the end of knowledge, it is surely well that we keep an open mind on these matters.

SPORTING PICTURES AT THE ROYAL ACADEMY.

(From a London Correspondent.)

Sporting subjects are hardly as numerous as usual this year at Burlington House, and it must be allowed that those there are leave something to be desired. The most successful artists of the sporting school are undoubtedly those who confine themselves to the hunting field, more particularly to foxhunting ; and the exponents of foxhunting are few enough. The least successful are those whose love of colour, form and line lead them to the study, in the Zoological Gardens, of wild animals, and to "fix up" the result amid surroundings which commend themselves to the artistic sense. It is unfortunate that the surroundings which best satisfy the painter are rarely those which appeal to the beast himself : hence the sacrifice of realism and sometimes of elementary accuracy which offends the eye of him who brings a more or less expert eye to bear upon the picture.

Here now is Mr. Arthur Wardle, well and favourably known as a dog painter, with a picture of a feline (we can't commit ourselves further than that) in a South American swamp. The feline crouches on the limb of a tree and is apparently lost in thought : why it should take up its position over water about two feet above the surface in a situation where the blindest victim could see it, only that feline could explain. It has selected a site which by reason of the colour of the limb is conspicuous : the jaguar (?) stands boldly out among its surroundings a glaring advertisement of danger to the approaching victim.

On the wall in room farther on is Mr. Edgar H. Fischer's remarkable study of a wounded tiger : we arrive at the conviction that it is a tiger by process of elimination, otherwise we should say that no tiger ever existed with a head so small in proportion to the rest of his body. This noble animal sprawls on snow : therefore he must be a Manchurian or North China tiger, for in no part of India that we ever heard of is the tiger found above the snow line at the height of the coldest season when the snows come down lowest. Therefore Mr. Fischer's tiger in the strictly Arctic and foggy landscape must belong to Manchuria or region adjacent. But the tiger of those regions takes upon him a coat that is the envy and ambition of furriers, to say nothing of sportsmen, in winter : Mr. Fischer's tiger wears a close smooth summer coat of sober reddish brown, very sparsely striped, disdaining the cold altogether. "Habet!" is the name of this picture. The tiger is suffering from a bullet with which an unskilful hand has plugged him far back in the ribs midway between shoulder and stifle : the tiger habet : but when the sportsman hurries up and puts in a better placed shot with his second barrel he most certainly will not have that skin to adorn his bungalow with. The tiger, when he has recovered from the annoyance and fright which have, we presume, momentarily caused him to collapse at length on his belly, will be up and away, little the worse. The astonishing thing is that he should have deemed such a wound worth lying down to howl to the sky about.

"Stalkers" is the title of another picture by Mr. Arthur Wardle. A leopard crouching behind a boulder on a steep hill side, slate formation, with another leopard behind, the latter regarding the scenery with a disinterested air. The leopards we presume are the stalkers; and we dismiss as a detail the trifle that the first leopard cannot by any possibility see the hinds which are approaching from the distant valley below—unless he can see through a foot or two of solid rock. We would suggest that it is unusual to stalk game by lying in ambush till it comes to you, but that is another detail. What we ask is in what part of the world is the scene laid? The hinds are more like muledeer than any other species known to Zoology, vide the size of their ears ; but the muledeer is a North American species and leopards do not occur in North America. Possibly the artist would represent sambhur ; we will discount those ears to meet him, but then what are sambur hinds doing, processing up a naked rugged hillside in the full glare of noon? We are always glad to allow much latitude in posing a feline, but we cannot approve the attitude of the first leopard ; we cannot reconcile the arrangement of his forehand with the elements of anatomy ; his elbow and shoulder appear to have telescoped one into the other for convenience of "stalking," and if a leopard can get cramp that is the fate which undoubtedly awaits him should he not move soon.

The next sporting picture takes us to a different scene. Mr. Frank P. Freyburg shows us "a check" in rather an odd place ; to wit in a gorse covert. Some of the hounds have their heads down, as we judge by the circumstance that only their sterns are visible ; but we regret to see that hunt servants view with indifference the fact that a dozen couples at least have ceased to take any interest in the proceedings ; we must presume that they are puzzled by losing the scent in a gorse covert which they have successfully carried across the plough.

"Dawn" by Joseph Farquharson, A., a very finely painted waterscape ; but what is the heron doing? Herons at dawn usually seek food, and why this bird (beautifully put on the wing) should be flying away over boundless water is not clear.

The wolf is Miss Winifred Austen's strong suit, but we do not care for the wolf in "The Day of Reckoning": we may doubt the accuracy of the title ; for the human pursuers on foot in the background are armed with weapons not more formidable than sticks—unless we are greatly mistaken—and to chase on foot a large wolf through forest land seems to be a waste of energy. We should be prepared to lay long odds on that wolf's living to sit or stand to Miss Austen again next year. Our objection to him is that his head is too dog-like, especially the eyes ; nor does his rich colour please us.

"A little child shall lead them" is allegorical of course, but even in allegory Mr. Wright Barker should have an eye to the proportions. If that very fine and benevolent looking blackmaned lion is not fourteen hands high, then is the wolf beside him the altitude of a fox and no more ; but if the wolf is a common or jungly wolf of normal size, then that lion is fourteen hands and not half an inch less.

"Hostilities" is a study of a lioness crouching on rock out crop to snarl at a puff adder (?) whose attitude indicates readiness to strike. We reserve judgment concerning this work : we do not know whether lions and snakes ever quarrel, and we cannot think of any reason why they should.

Mr. A. C. Myer has gone to Kipling's Jungle Book for inspiration : and has turned out a large canvas which he calls "Mowgli made leader of the Bandar log." We were prepared to accept these monkeys as genuine : but an eminent Zoologist, to whom we appealed for support, gave it as his opinion that they belonged to no recognised species. Adhering to our private idea that they fairly represent the monkey made very familiar to us by residence in Northern India, we only suggest that the artist has not made quite as much of his theme as he might have done.

In the water colour room Mr. Algernon Newton has a distinctly successful portrait of an Arab, named Ribab : he ought to have done him without that heavy headstall, though : it spoils the lines of a good head.

Special Telegrams.

THE FRENCH DERBY.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

PRIX DU JOCKEY CLUB.—(French Derby) of £7,500, for three-year-olds ; 9st 2lb, each ; 1½ miles.

Baron A DeSchickler's b c EX VOTO, by Le Sancy—Golden Rod, Thorpe ...	1
M Edmond Blanc's ch c QUO VADIS, by Winkfield's Pride—Filomena, Turner ...	2
Baron E de Rothschild's ch c VERTUMNE, by Galleazzo—Vernal, Hardy ...	3
M Gaston Dreyfus's b c JOHN BULL, by S Damien—Julia	0
M Edmond Blanc's b c VINICIUS, by Masque—Wandera	0
M P Aumont's b c VIEUX PARIS, by Simonia—Verveine	0
Comte De Fels' b c ETANG D'OR, by Palmiste—Amnistie	0
Comte De Fels' b c ETNA, by Krakatoa—Ruguse	0
——— LAVANDEER. ———	0
Comte La Marois's b c NAZARAT, by Chalet—Rose Rose	0
Prince J Murat's ch c TYPHON, by Elf—Thebaide	0
M J Prat's gr c FLAMBEAU, by La-Sancy—Fee II	0
——— TORQUATO ——— ...	0
M Ephrussi's b c AVIGNON by Persimmon—Avarice.

Betting:—5 to 2 on Vinicius ; 30 to 1 against Ex Voto.

Won by 2 lengths ; a length between second and third.

A DELICIOUS SMOKE.
SPENCER & CO., LD.,
MADRAS.

TORPEDOS SPECIAL.

MILD WITH
PLEASANT AROMA.
OBTAINABLE FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

THE DERBY.

(From our own Correspondent.)

THE DERBY STAKES—Of 6,500sovs. by subscription of 50sovs. each, h. ft. or 5sovs. only if declared by the last Tuesday in March 1902, for three-year-olds; colts 9st. and fillies 8st. 9lbs.; the nominator of the winner to receive 500sovs. out of the stakes; if sufficient surplus is not obtained from subscriptions to give the second at least 400sovs., and the third at least 200sovs., the difference to be made up by the Race Fund; about one mile and a half.—303 subs. Closed 23rd July 1901.

Wednesday, 27th May 1903.

Sir J. Miller's br c ROCK SAND, by Sainfoin—Roquebrune, Maher... ... 1
Mr. E. Blanc's b c VINICIUS, by Masque—Wandora, Thompson 2
Sir Daniel Cooper's b c FLOTSAM, by St. Frusquin—Float, W. Halsey 3
Mr. Arthur James's b c RABELAIS, St. Simon—Satirical, K. Cannon 0
His Majesty's ch c MEAD, by Persimmon—Meadow Chat, Jones 0
Mr. J. E. Madden's ch c ACEFUL, by Mirthful—Myrtle Harkness, Martin ... 0
Mr. W. B. Cloete's br c CERISIER, by Cherry Tree—Last Love, Madden... ... 0

(Winner trained by Blackwell).

Betting: 5 to 4 on Rock Sand.

The race was run in ideal weather and before an enormous crowd, the King and Queen and Princess Victoria being present. Mead was first to show out and led them to the top of the hill, attended by Rock Sand and Vinicius. Here Rock Sand assumed charge and, Mead dropping back, he went on with Vinicius and Flotsam and won easily by two lengths; same distance between second and third. Time—2mins. 43secs.

Pedigree of the Winner.

ROCK SAND (Br. 1900).

Sainfoin (2) (Ch. 1887)	Roquebrune (4) (Br. 1895)	Springfield 12 (B. 1873)	St Albans (2) (Ch' 57)	Stockwell 3 (Ch. 1849.) / The Baron 24 Pocahontas
				Bribery (Ch. 1851.) / The Libel 14 Splitvote
			Viridis (B. 1864)	Marsyas 12 (Ch 1851.) / Orlando 13 Malibran
				Md of Palmyra (Br. 1855.) / Pyrrhus the First 3 Palmyra
		Sanda (Ch. 1878)	Wenlock (4) (B. 1869)	Ld Clifden (2) (B. 1860.) / Newminster 8 The Slave
				Mineral (Ch. 1863.) / Rataplan 3 Manganese
			Sandal (Br. 1861)	Stockwell 3 (Ch. 1849.) / The Baron 24 Pocahontas
				Lady Evelyn (B. 1846.) / Don John (2) Industry
		St. Simon 11 (B. 1881)	Galopin 3 (B. 1872)	Vedette 19 (Br. 1854.) / Voltigeur (2) Mrs Ridgway
				Flg. Duchess (B. 1853.) / Flying Dtchmn 3 Merope
			St Angela (B. 1865)	King Tom 3 (B. 1851.) / Harkaway (2) Pocahontas
				Adeline (B. 1851.) / Ion (4) Little Fairy
		St. Marguerite (Ch 1879)	Hermit (5) (Ch 1864)	Newminster 8 (B. 1848) / Touchstone 14 Beeswing
				Seclusion (B. 1857) / Tadmor 12 Miss Sillon
			Devotion (Ch. 1869)	Stockwell 3 (Ch. 1849) / The Baron 24 Pocahontas
				Alcestics (Bl. 1869) / Touchstone 14 Sacrifice

Winners since 1858.

Year.	Winner.	Time.	Jockey.
1858	Sir J Hawley's Beadsman ...	2 54	... Wells (23)
1859	„ J Hawley's Musjid ...	2 59	... Wells (30)
1860	Mr Merry's Thormanby ...	2 55	... Custance (30)
1861	Col Townley's Kettledrum...	2 43	... Bullock (18)
1862	Mr Snewing's Caractacus ...	2 45½	... J Parsons (34)
1863	„ R C Naylor's Macaroni ...	2 50¼	... T Chaloner (31)
1864	„ W I'Anson's Blair Athol	2 43	... J Snowden (30)
1865	Ct Lagrange's Gladiateur ...	2 46	... H Grimshaw (29)
1866	Mr R Sutton's Lord Lyon ...	2 50	... Custance (26)
1867	„ Chaplin's Hermit ...	2 52	... J Daley (30)
1868	Sir J Hawley's Blue Gown ...	2 43	... Wells (18)
1869	Mr Johnstone's Pretender ...	2 52½	... J Osborne (22)
1870	Lord Falmouth's Kingcraft	2 45	... T French (15)
1871	Bn Rothschild's Favonius ...	2 50	... T French (17)
1872	Mr Saville's Cremorne ...	2 45¼	... Maidment (23)
1873	Mr Merry's Doncaster ...	2 50	... F Webb (12)
1874	Mr Cartwright's George Frederick	2 46	... Custance (20)
1875	Prince Batthyany's Galopin	2 48	... Morris (18)
1876	Mr A Baltazzi's Kisber ...	2 44	... Maidment (15)
1877	Lord Falmouth's Silvio ...	2 50	... F Archer (17)
1878	Mr W S Crawfurd's Sefton	2 56	... Constable (22)
1879	Mr Acton's Sir Bevys ...	3 2	... Fordham (23)
1880	D of Westminster's Bend Or	2 46	... F Archer (19)
1881	Mr P Lorillard's Iroquois ...	2 50	... F Archer (15)
1882	D of Westminster's Shotover...	2 45⅝	... T Cannon (14)
1883	Sir F Johnstone's St Blaise ...	2 48⅝	... C Wood (11)
1884	Mr Hammond's St Gatien ... / Sir J Willoughby's Harvester	2 46⅛	C Wood / S Loates (15)
1885	Lord Hastings's Melton ...	2 43⅝	... Archer (12)
1886	D of Westminster's Ormonde	2 45⅝	... Archer (9)
1887	Mr Abington's Merry Hamptn	2 43	... Watts (11)
1888	D of Portland's Ayrshire ...	2 42½	... F Barrett (9)
1889	D of Portland's Donovan ...	2 45⅛	... T Loates (13)
1890	Sir J Miller's Sainfoin ...	2 42⅘	... J Watts (8)
1891	Sir F Johnstone's Common ...	2 56⅘	... G Barrett (11)
1892	Lord Bradford's Sir Hugo ...	2 44	... Allsopp (13)
1893	Mr M'Calmont's Isinglass ...	2 43	... T Loates (11)
1894	Lord Rosebery's Ladas ...	2 45⅘	... J Watts (7)
1895	Lord Rosebery's Sir Visto ...	2 43⅞	... S Loates (15)
1896	P of Wales's Persimmon ...	2 42	... J Watts (11)
1897	Mr Gubbins's Galtee More ...	2 44	... C Wood (11)
1898	Mr J W Larnach's Jeddah ...	2 47	... O Madden (18)
1899	Duke of Westminster's Flying Fox	2 42⅘	... M Cannon (12)
1900	Prince of Wales's Diamond Jubilee ...	2 42	... H Jones (14)
1901	Mr Whitney's Volodyovski ...	2 40⅘	... L Reiff (25)
1902	Mr Gubbins's Ard Patrick. ...	2 43⅞	... J H Martin (18)

Sporting Notes.

THE Tollygunge Club, as will be seen from the advertisement in our Turf columns, are now arranging the programme for their ninth annual horse and dog show which has been fixed for the 1st January 1904.

We have already referred to the excellence of the entries for the Mysore Races; they will be found in the usual place in our issue of to-day.

The finals in the Ootacamund Polo Tournament were played off on the 16th instant and resulted in a win for Government House who beat the 4th Hussars by 4 goals and one subsidiary to 2 subsidiaries.

C. Moggridge, the trainer and jockey, seems able to strike a hefty blow. The other day he landed one on the jaw of a native jemadar of syces and fractured that useful bone. The Chief Presidency Magistrate of Calcutta made it Rs. 100 or a month, and assessed the injury to the jaw at Rs. 50 which he awarded to the jemadar.

Mr. W. H. Walmsley has gone home for a short holiday.

Mr. C. G. Russell, for many years Honorary Secretary of the Rangoon Gymkhana, has been appointed polo manager at Worcester Park.

The Kour Sahib of Patiala has received news of the victory of Record Reign in a steeplechase at Paris. It has been suggested that this is the Grand Steeplechase of France; but this is incorrect, this big race comes off next Sunday.

People interested in natural history nearly all over the world will be sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Clarence Bartlett, who, for nearly forty years, was Superintendent of the London Zoological Gardens.

Our London Sporting Letter this week gives details of the races for the One Thousand Guineas and the Chester Cup, together with the full text of the new Betting Bill.

D. Taylor, the trainer has, as will be seen from his announcement elsewhere, returned to Poona, the scene of many of his former triumphs, and opened a training stable at Dilkhusha in which enterprise we wish him every success. Taylors' Indian experience extends over a quarter of a century and in his time he has prepared many a real good horse, among his patrons being Major-General E. L. Elliot, Captain H. B. Purefoy, Lord Douglas Compton and Captain K. P. Apthorpe, from whom he has the highest testimonials. He was also associated with many successes while he trained for Jodhpore.

Our Poona correspondent writes:—The dull monotony of scorching heat was abruptly awakened by a duststorm of no mean ferocity and virulence and Boreas in very truth deserved his epithet of "rude." The ill wind assuredly did no good to Captain Lewis and his merry athletes. Having successfully piloted the first night of the boxing tournament we were all looking to him to continue the motion, but on Tuesday night just as we were hurriedly sipping our after-dinner glass of port preparatory to starting for the fray an ominous roar, like that of an angry crowd, presaged misfortune. Those of us who hoping against hope started off were well nigh blinded and choked with dust which quickly covered all things inside and out with a thick layer of dust and a visit to the boxing arena after battling against the wind out of sheer idle curiosity displayed chaos—the canvas enclosure laid low and chairs like ninepins after a successful bowl. This has all been followed by heavy rain and anxious hope has been succeeded each evening by dull despair. There is nothing for it but to live in hope. Meanwhile Captain Lewis has the sympathy of every sportsman who knows how hard he has striven; and it is not in mortals to command success.

Earnest efforts are I hear being made by a distinguished member of this capital of the Deccan to institute what is vulgarly known as a "Cock and Hen" Club, open to members of both sexes for lunch, afternoon tea and dinners. It was suggested that it would afford an admirable means of bachelors and giddy grass widowers returning hospitality which at present they found it somewhat different to do. Any member after due notice was to be entitled to retain the building for a meal on guaranteeing twenty guests. The idea—excellent in many ways—has, however, I believe not caught on, possibly Rs. 4 a head for dinner seemed a trifle high to the impoverished public, but at any rate so far the scheme has given rise to more facetious pleasantries than success. The Tiffin, Tea and Tuck Club was suggested by an irreverent young officer as a suitable name. But treating the matter seriously the idea seems an excellent one and were the suggestions on a less lavish scale it might well prove popular, even if less of a financial success.

Captain the Hon. C. B. F. Greville, Military Secretary to H. E. The Governor of Bombay, and Mr. C. A. Beatty, Assistant Inspector-General of Police, are, I hear, to act as Stewards of the W. I. T. C. during the absence of Major-General Burnett and Colonel Bull, who have gone on leave to England. Who is likely to occupy Colonel Bull's position in "the box" I do not know. It will be a difficult vacancy to adequately fill as Colonel Bull gave universal satisfaction, even when the decision has been "heads" separating three and four horses as we get pretty often in these parts, thanks to Mr. Cursetjee's quite marvellous handicapping. In these two departments and in our Secretary we flatter ourselves on this side that we have little to learn and a lot to teach.

It is with sincere regret that I have to announce the death of Aga Moochool Shah, a first cousin of His Highness the Aga Khan. Being of that illustrious and sporting family it was not surprising that he should dearly love the horse and take a keen interest in racing and for many years no one was better known on the turf on this side of India. Excellent judge of a horse he betted in a very quiet way and raced from a sheer delight in the great game, and though seldom aspiring to classic races won minor events to a full share. His kindness to those in ranks of life below his own and his unfailing courtesy and genial disposition made him a universal favourite, one of whom few, if any, had an ill word to say and it was with very general regret that his friends saw of late years the signs of ill-health which prognosticated the end which has now unhappily come.

A melancholy instance of the gradual extinction of large game is furnished by the returns of the New York Museum. So late as 1894 the wood bison

SPENCER'S
No. 1, 4½ ins. long, Rs.16 per 1,000
„ 2, 4 „ „ „ 15 „ 1,000.
„ 3, 3½ „ „ „ 14 „ 1,000.

SPENCER'S
OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co

which roamed the forests north of the Great Salt Lake, numbered, as well as could be ascertained, between 800 and 900. A census recently taken puts the number now left at barely 50 head. This animal is (or shall we say was) a larger and more noble beast than the "buffler" of the prairies and the Museum authorities set great store by the only head they have been able to secure, as there are none in Yellowstone Park. Hide trappers have done their work only too well, and from all accounts the same ruthless destruction is proceeding in the case of the water buffalo in the isolated jungle between Dacca and Mymensingh.

"I am informed," writes a correspondent, "that some of the best bear shooting in Bengal is to be obtained within sixteen miles of Khargpur railway station which is but four hours' journey from Howrah. Most of the district officers have made good bags, for the time they have been out. Where are the Calcutta shikaris?"

The feat recently accomplished by Mr. Collins of Southern India of bagging three tigers in as many minutes, under circumstances reported in this paper, has been eclipsed by a retired Forest Officer who evidently is a member of the S. A. A. He tells the following story to a correspondent of The Madras Mail:—"I was on circuit in one of the forests up-country, and one misty morning, while seated in my tent having an early breakfast previous to going out, my khansamah came in and announced the arrival of a ryot with khubber of tiger. I went out and heard his story second-hand through my khansamah, and this is what he said:—'Protector of the Poor, five tigers kill two cow, to-morrow killing me, they lying in the jungle six mile off. Sahib same to me as father mother. Sahib come out and kill.' 'By Jove,' I said, 'you old sinner, if you lie I'll have you skinned!' 'Sahib shoot me stead of tiger,' said the man 'I tell no lie.' I returned to my tent, gave a touch to my hair, just tossed off a brandy and soda, and, accompanied by my peon and khansamah, followed the man. Full six miles we walked, and then, before a dense jungle, he stopped, and crawled on hands and knees. I followed for about 50 feet looking more like a cattle-lifting thief than on tiger bent. He raised his hand and pointed, and there, in a wide cavern, all smeared with gore, lay five tigers, snoozing after their repast. In front of the cave, which had but one narrow exit, I noticed a flat rock about 6 feet in height, on which I knew each beast would have to spring before he got out. I planted myself at right angles to the opening, and, facing the table-like rock, told my peon, a plucky Mahomedan, to walk up to the cave and clap his hands. In an instant one of the huge beasts sprang on the rock. I placed a bullet from my smooth-bore in his heart, and dropped him like a log. At the sound of the shot a second tiger sprang on to the rock, and met the fate of his comrade. A third then issued from his lair with a roar, but with the same result. The fourth and fifth, thinking discretion the better part of valour, remained a few seconds within, which gave my khansamah time to hand me my double barrel Express. I had hardly taken the rifle from the man when the fourth emerged—I despatched him with a ball behind his shoulder. I now found that the opening was blocked with dead tigers, and the fifth could not make his exit. I walked up and, peering within, saw him on a rock, and brained him. My morning shoot consisted of a tiger 9 ft. 7 in., a tigress 8ft. 7in., and three full grown cubs 7ft. 4in., 7ft. 2in, and 7ft." There is a delightfully refreshing smack of "Aliph Cheem" and the Lays of Ind about this modest little story.

"Kapuri," the famous decoy elephant belonging to Mr. W. Ellawella, late M. L. C., died at Ellawella, Ratnapura, Ceylon, on the 8th instant, at the ripe old age of 78. The name of this elephant is a household word among all owners of elephants and sportmen who have taken part in that most exciting sport, elephant kraaling. She had taken part in nearly 50 kraals, almost half this number being got up by her owner. She took part in a kraal at Galaura, 10 kraals at Panamura, at Mellatuar, Yogama, Labugama (the last-named on the occasion of the visit of the Duke of Edinburgh), again at Labugama (on the occasion of the visit of the Duke of Clarence and the present Prince of Wales) at Wewile (during the visit of the Czarewitch) and a few others. There are nearly 100 elephants in the Sabaragamuwa Province, and nearly half that number were captured with the aid of "Kapuri." In this connection it may be mentioned that the magnificent tusker belonging to the Ellawella family was captured in 1890 at Wewile without a kraal with the assistance of "Kapuri." About 400 people witnessed the burial.

A huge shark, which was captured at Feroke, was brought down to Calicut a few days ago. The natives called it a Makara Matsyan. It measured 18½ft. in length, including 3 feet and odd of its serrated snout, and the greatest girth was 7ft. It appears that the monster came ashore during high water and disported itself on the waves until low tide, when it got stuck in mud and was first enmeshed and then beaten to death. It was cut up on the Calicut beach, and a big load of fat was taken out of it.

In cloudy, steamy weather a large number of people were present at a very successful pagal Gymkhana held under the auspices of the 5th Dragoon Guards at the Mohamed Bagh Club, Lucknow, on the 25th instant. The Tandem Trotting Race was won by Captain Dunbar, nominated by Mrs. Saunders and Major Eustace nominated by Mrs. Ryves the second prize. The Tiffin Basket Costume Race was won by Mr. Stafford nominated by Mrs. Lawrence and Captain Winwood nominated by Mrs. Porter the second prize. The Claret Jug Not-at-Home Stakes was won by Captain Winwood nominated by Miss Porter and Mr. Berthoud nominated by Mrs. Ryves the second prize. The Hunting Whip Potato Race was won by Mr. Symonds nominated by Mrs. Wallace and Mr. Berthoud nominated by Mrs. Anderson the second prize. The Driving Whip Tennis Racquet and Ball Race was won by Mr. Stafford nominated by Mrs. Lawrence and Captain Dunbar nominated by Mrs. Saunders the second prize. The Driving Whip Cigar and Wine Race was won by Mr. Sheridan nominated by Mrs. Anderson, and Captain Winwood nominated by Mrs. Wallance the second prize.

Captain Randall's well-known racing pony Ada met with a serious accident at Bangalore on the 22nd instant. On the way home from the course a passing motor bicycle frightened her and bolting she collided with a wall and sustained injuries to her head which it is believed will prove fatal.

BEHAR NOTES.

The Behar pigsticking this year has hardly been as good as former years, for the pig have been both small and scarce, but the Broucke's stick in the north of Bettiah was an undoubted success and the arrangements perfect as they were certain to be with such old sportsmen as the Brouckes to manage the bundobust. Twenty-four pig were killed and they all fought well, and gave good sport. The following were some of the "spears" out:—Messrs. Pat and George Moore, the Brouckes, Messrs. M. Smith, Crane, Elliot, and Hickley. Mr. Toomey also gane a "stick" at Kontie which went off very well. Last week twelve good pig were killed. The elephants and beaters were looked after by Mr. Toomey himself, who was unsparing in his efforts to make the "stick" go off successfully. "Bill" Rawlins managed to get five first spears. On the 18th insant Mr. C. Webb gave a stick at one of his grasses at Muktapore. Two pig were killed which unfortunately wouldn't break out into the open, and had to be stuck in the grasses.

There is to be a "stick" at Swaisingpur on the 25th of May and from all accounts there should be good sport there as the grasses are reported to be full of pig. The following are expected to be out:—Messrs. Delitre, Edgell, Marsham, Wilson, Rawlins, and MacLeod.

There was a "stick" at Beerie the other day which turned out a dismal failure; some sixty pig being driven out of the grass, and not a boar amongst them.

Messrs. Jones and Brown managed to get a very nice pig in the Baniepore dehat on the 21st instant. It measured 33½ inches, and gave excellent sport.

The many friends of Mr. Ernest Stevens will be glad to hear that he is picking up well at home. He has already recovered the use of his arms and is expected to be able to walk again shortly and there is every chance of his being able to return to Rhuni, Syedpur, next year.

Mr. R. Waller of Dooriah, who has been down with typhoid, is now well on the road to recovery and shortly leaves India for a sea voyage.

Mr. J. A. M. Wilson, thanks to his vigorous constitution, is already out of bed and has quite thrown off the attack of dysentery he has been suffering from.

Mr. T. Lamb, who has been so badly shaken over his accident, which occurred some months ago, is now in Darjeeling and he hopes to be able to return to his old berth in the Jeetwanpur Concern next month.

Mr. C. Dalgleish, who has gone up to Mussoorie, for his health, is hardly progressing favourably, and there is every possibility that he may have to go home.

Anglo-Indians who have been out here many years we have no doubt can give points to the "country cousin" up to "Lunnon" for the day, but the following story of an indigo planter's arrival in London beats most things hollow:—

He arrived a sun-burnt exile at Charing Cross station, after passing many years in a lonely Tirhoot factory, dressed up in the very best suit of clothes Calcutta could supply. He was most anxious to show the porters and the cabby that they were dealing with a man who thoroughly knew town. Jumping into a cab he threw himself languidly back amongst the cushions, lit a cigar and crossed his legs.

"Where to Sir?"

"Drive to the Charing Hotel and don't be an hour about it" floated up the reply to the astonished cabby's ears, while the fare sank back composedly to enjoy the drive through the London streets!

News was received last mail from the Cape of that popular old Tirhootite, Arthur Hume. He is now a Resident Magistrate in the Orange River Colony and is as fit and cheery as he was in the old days in Behar. His career for the last four years has been as varied as it has been successful. Formerly Manager of the Muniarpore Indigo Concern and a Captain in the Behar Light Horse he threw up indigo as played out in 1899 and went home to try his luck. He then went out in charge of a troop of yeomanry to South Africa. Shortly after he arrived there he was made Commissioner of Smithfield in the Orange Free States; he was afterwards put in charge of a Refugee Camp near Bloemfontein and has now got a permanent appointment as Resident Magistrate in the Orange River Colony.

Athletic Notes.

THE Calcutta Rowing Club Regatta last Saturday was quite a success: full report elsewhere.

Mr. Monier Williams, of University College, has been elected President of the Oxford University Boat Club with Mr. A. De L. Long, of New College, Vice-President, and Mr. C. A. Wills, of Magdalen, Secretary.

The new President of the Cambridge University Boat Club is Mr. J. Edwardes Moss and Mr. S. H. Thomas has been elected Honorary Secretary.

Fourteen teams have entered for the Murree Football Tournament, as per the list of drawings published further on. Every district in the Punjab and all branches of the service are represented. The final match is advertised for the 4th June.

In our Cricket columns this week will be found some details about the late Major Samuel Evan Butler, the well-known Oxford cricketer who died last month.

A telegram from London, dated 20th May, tells us of the sad death of Arthur Shrewsbury, the cricketer who shot himself with a revolver. He had been in ill-health for some time. Poor fellow. Arthur Shrewsbury was born on the 11th April 1856 and commenced his cricketing career at an early date, first playing in county matches in 1875. Since then he played regularly for Notts and was the best player that county ever had and one of the finest batsmen in England. Last year he stood top of the first-class batting averages with an average of 50·00. He put up a fine performance at Nottingham in July when he scored 101 and 127 not out for Notts vs. Gloucestershire, a

AN EXCELLENT SMOKE
. . WITH . .
DELICATE AROMA.
OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.

GOLD MOHUR BOUQUETS

SPENCER & CO., LD., Madras.
Factory: Dindigul.
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta:
MESSRS. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

remarkable feat of endurance for a man of his years. In May 1890 at Nottingham Shrewsbury and Gunn put up 398 runs together for the second wicket for Notts vs. Sussex, this being the fifth most productive partnership on record in a first-class match. As a master of his profession Shrewsbury was one of the best. Patient and watchful, he surprised everybody by the freedom and vigour of his hitting when runs were to be made in a hurry. He was quite at home on a sticky wicket when he used to put up really good scores. In the field he was smart and sure at point and had this sad occurence not taken place there is no reason why he should not have assisted Notts for three or four years to come. Among his noteworthy performances are the following: 267 for Notts vs. Sussex in 1890, the same score for Notts vs. Middlesex in August 1887; 236 for Non-Smokers vs. Smokers in March 1887 at Melbourne; 232 in December 1887 for his own XI vs. Victoria on the Australian tour; 227 not out in 1886 for Notts vs. Gloucestershire; 224 not out for Notts vs. Middlesex in the previous year; 212 for Notts vs. Middlesex in June 1892; 209 for Notts vs. Sussex in 1884; 207 for Notts vs. Surrey in August 1882—his first score of over two hundred; and 206 at Sydney on the Australian tour of 1887-88 when his XI played the Australian XI. Besides these he made over fifty centuries during his career.

Anent the cost of keeping a motor car Mr. Henry Norman, M. P., writes in The World's Work. The family who would not keep a horse will buy a two-seated car. It may be propelled by either steam or petrol; but I take the latter, in order to secure parallel figures of expenditure. The car will be a graceful, good-looking vehicle, of five or six horse power, with pneumatic tyres, upholstered in leather, capable of climbing any reasonable hill on its low speed, and of running from 20 to 25 miles an hour on its higher speed on the level. Some of the little cars much advertised are not to be recommended; but there are at least four good ones on the market, and they cost from £175 to £200. Nothing could be simpler than their management, and the man who cannot learn in a month all that need be known about the mechanism and care of the engine ought to push a perambulator. I am optimist enough to think that before many years are over it will be thought merely foolish for either man or woman to boast, as so many do now, of their absolute inability to comprehend the simplest matter of mechanics. Ignorance, or lack of intellectual grasp, is no particular credit to anybody. A man does not boast that he cannot play bridge. And I think there is a good living waiting for both men and women as teachers of motor-car management. A car of this kind, if taken care of, should sell for half its cost at the end of three years. Taking the original price of the highest figure, therefore, namely, £200, the annual depreciation on three years would be £33 per annum. Petrol (allowing for 4,000 miles at 20 miles per 1s. gallon) may be put at £10. For oils and supplies the annual cost would not be more than £10. So light a car is very easy upon its tyres, and £15 a year should abundantly cover this item. The license costs £2 2s., and repairs, say, £5. The total cost of this class of car, running 4,000 miles annually, thus comes to £75, without allowing anything for housing, and presuming that washing it will be one of the duties of the boy who cleans the knives and brushes the boots. To be quite reasonable, let us put the saving in cab and railway fares at £15; and I fancy that the possibility of the ownership of a charming and efficient little car, with all the pleasure, the variety, the health, and the advantages it will add to one's life for a total annual sum of £60 (and I think it can be done for £50), will come as a surpise to most people of modest means.

With regard to the importance of swimming The Thames writes:—

Of the many novices now afloat each evening, we wonder how many have given sufficient evidence of their ability to get ashore unaided in case of an upset. Our rowing clubs contain many good swimmers, but swimming is seldom encouraged because the two sports, from a racing point of view, do not go together; fitness for swimming racing, usually meaning unfitness for rowing. But at "off" seasons some effort should be made to induce men to swim.

It is not only in rowing clubs that swimming tests should be insisted upon, but sailing, canoeing, skiff, and all other river clubs should come into line in this matter. One would naturally expect all sailing men to be expert swimmers, but it would not be difficult to find some who could not be placed in the category. A skiff, too, appears a safe craft, but accidents will happen even in skiff racing, with disastrous results, perhaps, if there are non-swimmers aboard. Among those who do not race the proportion of non-swimmers among those who go afloat regularly would be found sufficiently startling and even more so, of course, among the casual visitors to the river, many of whom take the double risk of inability to manage a boat or to swim. One is led to the conclusion that a large proportion of those who go afloat are lulled into a false sense of security, because nothing has ever happened to them, and their action is particularly callous in that they not only risk their own lives in case of accident, but possibly the lives of moderate swimmers who attempt to rescue them, for experts are few in number, and rescue to a moderate swimmer is a perilous task.

The Lancet thinks that too much time is spent over golf, and that men bring to bear on the game an industry and devotion to detail, which ought to be expended upon more serious things. This kind of enthusiasm for a form of recreation cannot be regarded as merely a struggle to maintain the standard of physical health on which mental health depends. It must rather be looked upon as immoderate attention to a fascinating sport, and must be guarded against like any other form of excess. As no one can play golf really well without the sacrifice of much time, the working man is soon brought to a parting of three ways. Men should reap the undoubted good that is offered to them by a break in their round of toil and by brisk exercise on open hill and heath, and let those of them who are not brilliant exponents of golf recognise cheerfully that excellence can only come by the neglect of more important things.

The Annual General Meeting of the Indian Football Association will be held at the Calcutta Volunteer head-quarters to-morrow evening.

Our Bombay correspondent writes:—Play in connection with the Aga Khan Hockey Tournament was commenced in Bombay on Monday evening and there is every promise of the event proving a greater success than has been the case in any previous year. Mr. P. J. Arnot than whom it would be difficult to find a more thorough sportsman, has charge of the secretarial duties, and the success which has so far attended the tournament is, in no small degree, due to his efforts. In some of the games which have been decided the play has not been of a very high order, and in some instances the claim for "sticks" has been a little too frequent. Hockey as played to-day, however, is a very different thing from the game of a dozen or fifteen years ago—or to be more correct, before the formation of the present Hockey Association in 1886. Since then the game has steadily progressed, not only in the number of clubs created, but in the style of play and the improvement of rules. Of this improvement there can be no possible doubt, since, until the formation of the Association, each club boasted its own special code from the dissimilarities of which arose many frequent disputes. The game, as now played, is far more skilful—instead of aiming at fine individual play alone, we now see the necessity of good combination and perfect accuracy in passing. These last qualities have brought hockey to a very high standard among our games, and the popularity which it has attained in Bombay is evidenced by the large number of interested spectators who turn out to see the games of an evening. This year's tournament attracted an entry of twenty, which, I fancy, is a record for Bombay, and although the majority of the teams hail from Bombay a few have come up from Poona, while the Royal Scots have come all the way from Kamptee.

The draw resulted in eight teams having to take part in the first round, the other dozen drawing byes. Play in this round commenced on Monday evening when the Bombay Gymkhana met the Elphinstone College and the Band team of the Oxfordshire Light infantry (Poona) opposed the Esplanade Wanderers. In neither case, however, can it be said that play of a very high order was

JAMES PYMM.
TURF ACCOUNTANT,
5, Wellesley Place, Calcutta.
Established 1890.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BEER.
ASK FOR PABST BEER
Sub-Agents.
A. H. WHEELER & Co., Bombay.
SPENCER & Co. Ld., Madras.
MURRAY & Co. Ld., Lucknow.
G. F. Kellner & Co., Calcutta and Branches.
DAVENPORT & Co., Calcutta,
Sole Agents & Importers.

T. Assheton-Smith, M.R.C.V.S. (Lond.),
SPECIALIST IN THE TREATMENT
. . OF . .
TROPICAL DISEASES
. . OF . .
THE HORSE AND DOG.
184, Dharamtala Street, Calcutta.

EROOM & CO.,
CALCUTTA.

The N.-W. Soap Co., Ld.,
CALCUTTA & MEERUT,
MANUFACTURE
Three Leading Lines in Soap.
MOLINE
PERFECT FOR THE TOILET.
ELYSIUM
BEST FOR HOUSEHOLD USE.
AURORA
FAMILY TOILET, CHEAP & GOOD
ALSO
BEST CANDLES.
ASK THE MERCHANT
With whom you deal for these Articles.

SPENCER'S CIGARS ARE OBTAINABLE AT MESSRS. BEWLAYS'.
Establishments 49, 74, 77 & 156, Strand, W.C.; 143, Cheapside, E.C.; 55, Queen Victoria Street, E.C.;
5, First Avenue Hotel Buildings, Holborn, W.C.; and 90B., Regent Street, London, W.

shown. Perhaps the best game of the two was that between the Gymkhana and the College, which ended in a draw of one goal each. There were weak spots on both sides, but the teams were very evenly matched. The game was fast and scrappy, but both teams were weak in front of goal—the mode of attack was left too much to chance and when chance was favourable the attack was generally very shortlived. The match between the Oxford Band and the Esplanade Wanderers was of a somewhat one-sided nature—from start to finish the military team had all the best of the exchanges and were only twice hard pressed. They eventually won by four goals to nil—I fancy they could have won by a still larger margin, but after scoring their fourth goal they did not seem to trouble themselves very much about increasing their lead. On Tuesday evening the 17th Bombay Infantry met the Pioneers in the first of the second round contests, both teams having drawn byes in the first round. Again, the form displayed was not of a very high order, but the teams were fairly well matched. Until half-time neither side had scored, but after this the 17th showed decidedly better combination and eventually ran out winners by two goals to one.

A couple of games were down for decision on Wednesday evening, but had to be abandoned on account of a severe storm suddenly coming on—the blinding dust made play impossible, while the tents which had been erected on both grounds all came down with a run. The following evening two matches were played, the chief interest being centred in the meeting of the Bombay Gymkhana and the Elphinstone College, the previous meeting between whom resulted in a draw. On that occasion the College team lodged a protest against the Gymkhana in regard to the goal scored by them from a penalty bully. For my own part I never saw any reason for the protest, as the ruling of the referee on the point in question was perfectly correct. As it was the protest was overruled by the Committee, who ordered the match to be replayed. In the first half play was of a fairly even description, and when half-time was piped the score stood one goal all. The second moiety was very evenly contested, and when, a few minutes before time, both teams had scored a second goal it looked very much as if we were going to have another draw. But such was not to be the case, for only one minute remained for play when the Collegians obtained the lead and won by three goals to two. The other game was the second round contest between the Royal Garrison Artillery (Colaba) and the Government Telegraph Department team, in which the gunners had matters all their own way and eventually ran out winners by six goals to one. A couple of games were also down for decision on Friday evening, but had to be abandoned on account of rain.

With the approach of the monsoon one begins to think about football in Bombay, and to commence to talk of the prospects of the coming season. But after all there is not much to talk about, for so far as local teams are concerned Bombay is very badly off—a remark which applies to association and Rugby alike. It is difficult to understand this lack of interest and I hope that the approaching season will see a revival of the old sporting spirit. As an example of this lack of interest, I might mention that at the annual meeting held in connection with the Gymkhana Rugby football team only two men put in an appearance, and after waiting a considerable time in the hope of others turning up they proceeded to conduct the business of the meeting themselves. As to Rugby, I am afraid we shall only have a couple of teams, or three at the most, in the city, and consequently the arranging of an attractive list of fixtures is out of the question—it will be a case of the Gymkhana vs. R. A. one day, and the R. A. vs. Gymkhana the next. As to the third team I fancy that some of the North Staffords play the Rugby code—at any rate, I hope they do. As to association the prospects are more hopeful as there will be quite a number of teams (of sorts) playing in the city. With the exception of the Staffords, however, I am afraid that none of them give much promise of making much of a show in the Rovers' Tournament, which is held in September. Local people would be only too delighted to see the Cup won by a local team, and in this connection I think I might be allowed to throw out a suggestion, which, if the rules would permit of its being carried into effect would, I think, meet with approval. In previous years we have had a number of local teams entering, who, from the outset, know they haven't a ghost of a chance against the strong combinations from up-country, and usually go under in the first round. Why not have a combined Bombay team to be known as Bombay United? If this suggestion was carried out I am certain we could place a strong eleven in the field, and one which would not share the fate of Bombay teams of the past few seasons—getting knocked out in the first round.

The boxing match for the so-called "Championship of Burma," came off on the 23rd instant at Rangoon, between Bombardier McGuinness, 70th R. G. A., and S. McDermott. The two "Macs" were to fight twenty rounds, but the first-named just put his opponent on the ropes twice in the first minute and knocked him clean out half way through the first round.

The Wellington Boxing Tournament opened last Friday night at the Garrison Gymnasium, Coonoor, before a large and enthusiastic crowd of spectators. All the events were hotly contested and there were competitors from all the regiments in India. In the semi-finals which came off for Feather-weights, Privates Hunt, Gorman and Smith of the Durham Regiment were successful competitors. For the Middle-weights Privates Bainbridge, Craike and McGill, of the Durhams, and Private Sabine, of the Middlesex Regiment, from Secunderabad, came out best. For the Light-weights Private Moles of the Middlesex, and Gunner Bolton, of Bangalore, were picked out as the two best.

How many more frightful fatalities connected with motor racing must we have before the "sport" is stopped by legal enactment, or its votaries awake from the frenzy (it is nothing less) with which they are now seized? Can anything be more sickening than the following account of the Paris-Bordeaux race as wired to our daily contemporaries by Reuter:—

London, 24th May.

In the motor race Louis Renault has arrived first at Bordeaux, and the Englishman Jarrot second, sixteen minutes behind. Numerous accidents have been reported, one car dashed against a tree killing one of its occupants and another was fatally injured.

London, 24th May.

Between Paris and Bordeaux was the first day's run of the motor car race from Paris to Madrid. Yesterday one French and one English competitor and three chauffeurs were killed and two French competitors and two chauffeurs were severely injured and another Englishman is dying. Eight persons were run over and four killed.

The Government has stopped the continuation of the race in French territory. A Frenchman named Gabriel covered the course outside of the municipal limits at an average speed of 69 miles per hour. An Englishman named Porter was overturned and burned to death under his car. An Englishman named Stead was overturned in collision with another car, and is dying.

London, 25th May.

At the athletic sports at Bristol on Saturday two motor cycles which were racing collided and left the track killing two of the spectators on the spot, and injuring ten. Both riders were also injured. A woman was killed by a motor car at Edinburgh yesterday and another car killed a man at Kew.

Although rain has already interfered with several matches the cricket season at home has opened under happier atmospheric conditions than was the case last year, and the struggle for the county championship appears to be more open than had been anticipated, for three of the strongest counties have already gone down before three of the weaker. In the opening match of the season at the Oval on a treacherous wicket Warwickshire, thanks to Hargreave with his Antipodean laurels thick upon him, made a very sorry example of the Surrey batsmen and according to the telegrams Derbyshire have beaten their old antagonists and neighbours of Lancashire by no less than ten wickets, while the sportsmen of Somerset have once more come along and defeated the all-conquering Yorkshiremen by six wickets.

At the recent meeting of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club it was decided to take no steps with regard to legislation for the rubber-cored ball. Much good golf was seen during the meeting, and the medallists were Mr. Edward Hackwell, who repeated his success of last year with a fine score of 79, and Mr. W. H. Fowler, who has improved his game more than any of the cracks since the rubber ball came in, with 81. Mr. Robert Maxwell, Scotland's hope for the Amateur Championship, was well up equal third with 82.

The general meeting of the M. C. C. have thrown out the proposal to widen the wicket by 215 votes to 199, in spite of its being brought forward by such luminaries of the cricket world as Mr. A. G. Steel, the retiring President of the M. C. C. and Lord Harris. In fact it was very possibly only their influence that secured the small majorty (two-third majority would have been necessary to carry the motion) in favour of the proposal at all, for it seems to be very widely felt that though some such change may be advisable in the laws of first-class and really good club cricket it might prove very detrimental to the interest of the game generally, and the M. C. C. in its position as trustee of the national game is deeply imbued, and rightly, with the spirit of sound conservatism which does not wish for any change until it can be fairly satisfied as to the probable result.

Jamsetji, the Bombay Gymkhana rackets professional, has more than fulfilled the hopes of his supporters during his trip home, and though he was beaten four games to two after a splendid match by J. Laker, the Malvern College Coach, to whom he was conceding three aces, his victory over G. Browne, the Prince's Club marker, which has been cabled out, must be held to clearly entitle him to the Championship, Peter Latham having resigned the title after he met and beat Browne last year. It is unfortunate that Jamsetji could not have met Latham for the title, but an exhibition match may possibly yet be arranged between them. Jamsetji is recognised as a very fine player, but it is the general opinion that Latham would more than hold his own against him without very much difficulty.

The match between Lancashire and Derbyshire on the 19th instant resulted in a win for the former by 10 wickets. Warwickshire beat Leicestershire by an innings and 43 runs and Gloucestershire were beaten by Yorkshire by an innings and 142 runs.

Essex beat Surrey on the 20th instant by 260 runs. Owing to the death of Shrewsbury the match between Notts and Sussex was abandoned.

Somerset beat Yorkshire on the 22nd instant and Worcestershire was beaten by Lancashire by an innings and eleven runs.

General Notes.

LORD KITCHENER has subscribed £100 towards the fund for erecting an English church at Khartoum.

Dame Rumour has it that Lord Kitchener's sister is coming out to India and will act as hostess at "Snowdon."

We congratulate the members of the Deutscher Verein on their new club house which was formally open in Elysium Row, Calcutta, with a big "At Home" last Saturday.

We are sorry to note the death from Bright's disease, of Mr. H. Gooch, the well-known barrister of Mysore and Coorg. He began life as an Australian miner and arrived in India over thirty years ago.

The Fanny Bullock Workman exploration party will shortly leave Srinagar for the Upper Himalayas. Mr. Hewett, a geographical Surveyor from home, accompanies the party, and Mrs. Workman also takes her husband with her.

The line between Bhavapadu and Singaraya Konda, on the East Coast Railway, has been rendered unsafe by heavy rain and floods. Passengers are being transhipped at the diversions. Through service has been resumed, but no trains will run over the section at night.

Lady Curzon's garden party at the Viceregal Lodge, Simla, last Thursday was a brilliant success. There were a large number of guests who were received by Her Excellency on the lawn in front of the Lodge. The Viceroy, the Lieutenant-Governor of the

FLOR DE SUMATRA
SPENCER & Co. MADRAS
OBTAINABLE
. . FROM . .
ALL RESPECTABLE
DEALERS.
TORPEDOS.

SOLE WHOLESALE
AGENTS
in CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY
OAKES & Co.
FLOR DE SUMATRA
SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

Punjab, Lord Kitchener and staff and all the leading officials were also present.

Calcutta is again to possess a rink. After a long absence the genial Kealman has returned from Australia and intends running a rink during the coming cold season. Mr. Kealman built the Mussoorie Rink and those at Bombay and Patiala, and every success is anticipated under his management. It is proposed to hold a club session during the afternoon, and an open time at night, while the mornings will be devoted to classes for ladies and children. The Rink will be on the maidan, probably in its former place.

Bombay experienced a severe storm on the 20th instant occasioning losses which are estimated at many lakhs of rupees. Nine boats laden with cotton and silk went down in the docks, divers being at once engaged to save the cargo. In the harbour over thirty boats were sunk and some loss of life occurred. Much damage was also done to cotton and grain which had been stacked in the open. On the 24th a perfect hurricane swept the harbour and round and about Bombay enormous damage was wrought by wind and rain.

The Resident Secretary in Calcutta of the London and Lancashire Fire Insurance Company has favoured us with a copy of the annual report, accounts and balance sheet for the year ending 31st December 1902, which tells of progress all along the line. Ten years ago their Fire premiums were £868,000. Last year they were £1,209,000. But what is more significant, in 1893 the Reserve Funds were £660,000. Now, even without the £50,000 belonging to the Accident Department, they are £1,407,000. That is to say, in these ten years they have added £340,000 to their Fire Premiums and £750,000 to their Reserves. This progress constitutes a record in the fire insurance world we are told.

Darjeeling held its second annual Fine Arts Exhibition last week, opening on the 20th instant. There were many visitors to the exhibition and among them His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Bourdillon. Exhibits this year were fewer, but the class quite as good as that of last year. The following were the principal prize-winners :—

His Honour's prize for the best picture by amateur or professional—Colonel Strachan.

The Maharaja of Cooch Behar's prize for amateurs only—Mr. Poole.

The best picture by a lady—Miss Pirie.
The best landscape in oils—Mrs. Newton.
The best picture in water colour—Mr. Poole.
The best figure in oils—Pithawala.
Himalayan scenery—Colonel Strachan.
Still life— Miss Savage.
Painting on silk—Mrs. Burlton and Miss Ephgrave equal.
Children's painting—Miss Eva Pegler.
Landscape photo—Mr. Claude White.
Art-needlework—Miss Bonner.

London Week by Week.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Friday, 8th May 1903.

THE King returned to London from Paris on Tuesday: the enthusiasm with which he was received by the French found a lively echo here and he had a magnificent welcome home ; it was the more significant because the hour of his arrival at Victoria was not known until early in the afternoon. A London crowd as you know does not throw its tongue very readily, but on Tuesday evening it was moved to sound and glory signifying a good deal and the cheering was tremendous along the short route from the station to Buckingham Palace. With the Queen the King appeared at the opera in the evening and had another cordial reception there. He goes to Edinburgh on Monday, and in holding a levée and other functions at Holyrood will, it is to be hoped, bring balm to the Edinburghers who were so sorely upset because the state of the drains of that ancient but rather gloomy palace forbid its being occupied by His Majesty.

* * * * * *

By the way there was a sensational rumour afloat on Monday afternoon that the King had been assassinated in Paris. A News Agency put the tale about disclaiming belief in it ; but a sensational rumour does not suffer in currency from the mere fact that the utterer says he doesn't believe it and for a couple of hours the evening papers of the baser sort did enormous business. At the end of two hours an official denial was forthcoming to stop the business, issued by the same agency : it overtook the lie with what I consider unusual expedition when it is remembered how easily it might have been truth. Given a member of the tribe of Anarchist vermin eager to buy notoriety with his cat's life and the thing were done.

* * * * * *

They who supposed that the Hard Case of Colonel Kinloch was settled and done with reckoned without their Duke of Bedford, who put a long series of questions on the subject to the Earl of Hardwicke, on Monday, in the House of Lords. The result, as no doubt the Duke intended, was to bring Lord Roberts to his feet and draw from him one of the longest speeches he has ever made. The Commander-in-Chief gave his fellow peers a useful course of instruction on regulation methods of maintaining discipline, smashed up the case the Duke of Bedford had launched against himself and pointed out that throughout the whole affair he had acted strictly in accord with the first duty of his office, to wit the preservation of the best interests of the Army. So, let us hope, the ghost of the "Case" is laid for ever.

* * * * * *

"The Little Countess" by George Bancroft, son of Sir Squire, was produced at the Avenue on Saturday night. It is a tale of suspicion and complications constructed on much used models, but commendable as to the two last acts for its drive, and bustle and not unseldom for the smartness of the dialogue. Sadie (Miss Annie Hughes) is the young person round whom the action centres : she was Jack Scarlett's father's coachman's daughter, the coachman came to grief through drink and Sadie and her sister had to turn street singers. Jack rescued them, had Sadie trained and she becomes an operatic star and his mistress. Jack leaves her to go mining in South Africa and Sadie can take her choice among the stock of admirers who are apparently fascinated by her pertness and vulgarity—two qualities she rather overdoes—the Earl of Budleigh is the favoured man, but Sadie will none of him till Jack Scarlett comes home and makes it clear that he does not mean to marry her. Then begin plot and counterplot, in which Lady Hermione Browne, Lord Budleigh's sister, takes a lead. I really can't blame the Dowager Countess and Lady Hermione for their attitude towards the little countess: the Dowager is haughty; very stiff and proud, she could give the Marquise in Caste points and a beating : and Lady Hermione, at once ultra religious and a man trap, does know how to carry herself. Sadie doesn't : her weapon against haughtiness and other offences is what the Americans call "sass" : she is rude : she is common : she gives them cause to blush for her as a relative every time she opens her mouth and often when she doesn't. I for one was quite sorry when Lady Hermione made that stupid blunder with Jack Scarlett's letter of assignation and Sadie caught her tripping and "got her on toast."

* * * * * *

We were, I suppose, expected to sympathise with Sadie hadden doon by her aristocratic connections, but it was hard to pump up any emotion of the kind. One's sympathies went rather to Lord Budleigh, a peer of the orthodox wooden-headed type, who had been ass enough to marry Sadie. The piece fails to grip you : the theme is old, but that would matter little if the characters were alive. That is the weakness of the play ; no acting could galvanise life into it for the simple reason that you can see the wires in the playwright's hands all through the four acts. It moves fast when movement really begins in Act III as I said ; but the movement is not spontaneous. Mr. Frederick Keer was cool, debonnair and brutal as required as Jack Scarlett and Mr. Ben Webster did what he could with the Earl of Budleigh. Miss Suzanne Sheldon was good as Lady Hermione, and one wished Miss Joan Burnett had more to do as Nina Sadie's quite ladylike sister : however did two girls so utterly dissimilar come of the same stock ?

* * * * * *

"Carmen" as a ballet adapted from the opera follows the lines of the original with tolerable fidelity at the Alhambra, but it is rather an uneven production : high tragedy and the ballet do not blend very happily. Taking the tragic element by itself, the acting of Don Volbert as Don José and of La Guerrero as Carmen was simply superb, more especially that of Carmen. La Guerrero's conception of her is a fiercely passionate animal, a man trap of the trappiest, and she carried the house with her whole-heartedly : better acting of Carmen I never saw. To superimpose upon and envelope the performance of these two, for Don José was worthy of Carmen, with the whirl and draperies and limelight of the ballet was to serve beefsteak smothered in soufflé. One could enjoy either phase or department on its own merits, but together they jared in melancholy discord.

* * * * * *

Consideration of space, coupled with the circumstance that suburban theatres are as a rule of the nature of overflow houses, lead me to pass over doings thereat with silent respect. But the Coronet at Nottinghill Gate declines to be passed over : it claims recognition even as a house in the purlieus of the Haymarket or the Strand ; and its claim must be allowed. On Tuesday was produced the French comic opera "Véronique" by an uncommonly capable company before a highly fashionable audience including the Prince and Princess of Wales and Prince and Princess Charles of Denmark. It is a dainty little piece : slight enough in all conscience, but the book is clever and the music bright and catching without a suspicion of hackneyedness, if I may coin a word. The plot rests upon the frankness of a young gentleman who wishes to repair a shattered bank account by a rich marriage with Héléne de Solanges, otherwise Véronique. She learns his motive, and determines that he shall marry her for her own sake to which end she disguises herself as a grisette and wins his affections at a party given by him in the garden of a restaurant. The only fault to find with the performance is the time that is allowed to lapse between acts : a fault that can, and no doubt will, be repaired. Mr. and Mrs. Kendal played "One People" by Charles Ward at the Coronet on Saturday : I don't recollect that this piece has been proviously played in town, but it has enjoyed fair measure of popularity in the provinces, owing I conceive to the story which occurs in Cape Colony and illustrates the South African war. Mdme. Jane Hading is to appear at this pretty little theatre later on.

* * * * * *

"The Vikings" is to be withdrawn from the Imperial boards next week, and Miss Ellen Terry will give us "Much Ado" instead. Her Beatrice is always delightful and the part suits her incomparably better than that she is now sustaining.

* * * * * *

The Watts pictures form the feature of the New Gallery this year. One feels that one has no right to be surprised at anything that wonderful old painter may do, and yet I did catch myself gasping a little when I found three of the four works sent by Mr. Watts to the New are landscapes. It is refreshing to find such versatility in the foremost or one of the foremost artists of the time, when so many confine themselves religiously to one corner of one school. "The Two Paths," "End of the Day," and "Green Summer" show that the old man, now well on in the eighties is as skilful in landscape as he is in figure and can give us the atmosphere of the country as ably as he can the mystic. Talking of mystic, the fourth picture is the "Sower of the Systems" : a bony old claw emerging from a whirl of cloud and cloak, suggested rather than painted, and scattering luminous somethings which we will presume to be stars—frankly the picture is beyond my low comprehension and that I am consoled to find of a good many other people. Regarded as a whole the New is a fair average show. Jean Boldini's extraordinory portrait of Mr. Whistler is one of the most striking things in the exhibition. J. Macneil Whistler is a man of spare habit who seldom troubles the barber : and Jean Boldini has not stooped to flattery : you would say it was a cruel caricature if you hadn't seen the original. It isn't : it is a faithful likeness and most cleverly painted. Mr. George Wetherbee's "Stray Princess" is another good picture : and Mr. Havering's portrait of Miss Idonia La Primandage deserves mention. Sport is not strongly represented, nor animal subjects of any kind, but Mr. Charles Whymper's admirable picture of "Deer Restless with the Shifting Wind" is equal to any study of any red deer I have ever seen.

* * * * * *

Earl's Court, resort of the million on fine evenings, opened yesterday with the "International Fire Exhibition," the Duke of Cambridge taking the lead in

PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

OBTAINABLE .. FROM .. ALL RESPECTABLE DE ALERS

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS in CALCUTTA : Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

the ceremony, with the six native officers appointed at Simla to be orderlies to the King for the season, in the procession. Fire appliances of all periods from the 17th century to the present time are represented, and Fire Brigades from all parts except London, the L.C.C. not seeing its way to support the show for reasons no doubt sound, but which the first day visitors seemed vindictively anxious to know. I do not think the omission matters much: indeed I don't think it matters much what Earl's Court exhibition exhibits so long as there is a good band and plenty of coloured lights and a sufficient stock of chairs and fine weather. Those are the important ingredients of success, and the rest doesn't count.

*** *** ***

Have you read "A Burgher Quixote" by Douglas Blackburn? If you haven't I commend it to your notice. The author evidently knows the Boer and the Transvaal official from the inside and this story told by Sarel Erasmus, public prosecutor, thief, field cornet and funk is simply delightful. Sarel, in spite of his suffering from an internal disease which will prove fatal to him even if he comes near a place where fighting is in progress, is sent on commando and is presently given a commando of his own consisting of a few burghers and the rest European refuse. The atmosphere of his laager is compounded of misapplied scripture, inventions, and whisky, and if it be at all near to fact, makes the Boer defence all the more marvellous. Sarel with his naive double-facedness, old Paul du Plooy with his Bible quotations always pat, Andries Brink the rascally adventurer and Charlotte his clever daughter are admirably drawn characters. Practically the whole action of the book takes place in the veldt: Sarel has no idea of fighting, the Rooineks: his great idea is to surrender quietly to the British at the first opportunity and make as much money as he can in the meantime. Eventually he does surrender, but having overlooked the detail that when he left the Transvaal in a hurry to avoid the goal he registered himself as a Natal citizen, he is unpleasantly surprised to find that he is regarded as a rebel: imprisoned as such he writes this amusing book. We have been pretty well fed up with books on the war, but this is quite distinct from anything that has appeared yet; it is uncommonly well written and is as good reading as any book I have picked up for a long time.

*** *** ***

The decision of the War Office to abolish the lance has given rise to the vigorous newspaper correspondence that might have been anticipated. It was averred that the opinions of every available expert had been sought before the step was decided on and that all the experts were in favour of the abolition. Having regard to the profound respect in which the lance is held by every man who has had the point of the weapon behind him, one might suppose the experts were enemies of this country with personal motives to actuate them. Of course I know nothing of lance practice myself: but everyone knows that of the physical effect of the weapon on the Boers was small its moral effect was on a par with lyddite. The burghers regarded the bayonet with disapproval, but the lance was simply anathema. Even the mere civilian may be allowed to doubt the wisdom of dispensing with moral effects when of a disquieting nature to the other side.

*** *** ***

Nothing of much interest disturbing the peace of London at the opening of the season, the minor papers have been making the most of an "Alarming Subsidence in the Strand" which took place about nine o'clock on Sunday night. I happened to go cityward on Monday and passed the scene of the "Disaster" which I viewed with comfort from the garden seat of an omnibus. Fifteen or twenty yards of hoarding advertised the site just opposite Exeter Hall: an old cellar wall or roof had fallen in and a few yards of pavement had collapsed into the excavations made where a few houses have been cleared away. I believe some post-office wires were broken, but the "subsidence" was neither alarming nor disastrous; for so far as the public has been made aware not even a cat was hurt. The heavy rains we had during the early part of the week no doubt account in some measure for the trifling accident.

*** *** ***

The Act for the redemption of Habitual Drunkards, by Black List, seems to have turned out a failure. It has contrived to involve and entangle itself with the Inebriates Act of 1898 in such wise that the London Magistrates are refusing to put H. D's on the Black List without the sinner's consent; because did they make use of the powers conferred upon the Bench by the H. D. Act they would offend against the Inebriates Act, 1898 I do not quite understand how the tangle arises, but the acute perceptions of the London Magistracy have been stimulated by a recent decision of the Divisional Court and the result is simple if the process whereby it is arrived at be tortuous. Perhaps it is too much to say that the situation makes a failure of the H. D. Act; but it appears to me you must catch these thirsty souls in mood of grovelly penitence before they consent to be set for a space in drought and aridity.

ONLOOKER.

Shikar.

WITH CANOE AND RIFLE IN THE SHAN STATES.

(Concluded from page 56.)

IV.

THE weather had got sultry and the sky overclouded during the afternoon, and it set in to rain heavily in the night. Next morning, too, it was still raining and fears began to assail me that perhaps the first rains in the hills were setting in. The villagers said the first rains sometimes did occur as early as this, and so, knowing we must not risk any considerable rise in the river, I reluctantly determined to cut short my stay at this promising shooting ground and make for the river again, in order to continue our journey before any serious rise in the water should take place. The Karen hunters accompanied me and showed us a much shorter route to the river, so that we arrived there the same evening. The rain had ceased during the day, but it still looked threatening, and I was therefore glad to find the boat safely below the rapid and all the stores re-packed in her.

We started again next morning after saying good-bye to the Karen hunters and rewarding them; I promised to return some day to their village and go out after bison again. We had got the trophies of the animals shot with us, and had ample time on our journey to treat them thoroughly with arsenical soap, and so I hoped to save the skins and masks complete.

The aspect of the river here differed little to that above. It was somewhat broader in places, and instead of the high cliffs on either hand we had previously experienced, the banks were now not so high, although covered with denser jungle. Our speed was about the same, perhaps a little less, for the stream did not appear to run quite so hard here.

Towards afternoon on the first day from the rapid, we passed the junction of another river with our own. It joined it on the right side and seemed as large, if not larger, than the other tributary previously passed. It appeared to be more rapid and deeper than the other moreover. Soon after passing it a small rapid was met with, and I was thinking of not attempting its passage until the following morning as it was now getting late, but no favourable spot for landing presented itself and the boatmen declared it could be easily passed. So, no doubt, it might have been, had not one of the men broken his paddle just at the critical moment when we were crossing diagonally from one side to the other to avoid a big rock.

For a second or two it looked as if we must inevitably be dashed against this rock, but the other boatman managed with great exertions to stave us off and to guide the boat down, although it was a narrow shave. However, in a minute or two we were in smooth water again and disembarked on a shelving beach below the rapid.

We stayed here the night and continued our journey next day. A heavy mist was lying on the river and no view could be obtained far ahead. This was due, I believe, to the rain of the previous days, which had, however, now ceased. About 11 A.M. the fog began to lift in patches and we could get a view occasionally of one or both banks. I was sitting in pyjamas and overcoat—my usual morning costume until the sun got hot—under the edge of the boat covering near the stern, when my Burman boy touched me, and without speaking, pointed to the shore to our right front. Looking up I saw a fine panther just walking up the bank unconcernedly after drinking. To snatch up a rifle and shove two cartridges in, was the work of a few seconds, and fortunately the boatmen also saw the beast, and by a rapid stroke or two retarded our onward progress. I fired, and the animal bounded in the air, and then turning over began to struggle and kick up the sand furiously. He did not require another shot, for in a few moments he lay still, quite dead. This was a lucky shot on my part, for with the movement of the boat, however slight, I might easily have missed him altogether. We were swept down some distance before we could get out of the strong current and land. The mist, too, had drifted over again and so we could not see the panther from our point of disembarkation. However, as we had all seen him lying apparently dead, I did not even take a rifle with me, but walked back with my shikari and the boatmen to bring him on board. Great was our astonishment then on reaching the spot to see no signs of him whatever, although the spot he had fallen was unmistakable from the marks in the sand. We looked at each other in amazement, but my knowing old shikari without a word, turned, and running to the boat, brought up my rifle and a handful of cartridges. He then examined the ground and pointed to a distinct trail, where the animal, badly hit no doubt, had managed to drag himself up the bank and into the jungle. He motioned to me to wait and I did so outside on the shore, while he followed the track a short way in, coming back immediately he motioned to me and I followed him. The jungle was so dark I could hardly see anything, but the man pointed to a spot ahead, and there, after straining my eyes for a moment or so, I at length discerned a long recumbent form. It was the panther crouched and ready to spring, but before he could do so I fired, and he writhed over and over in his last throes, this time really dead. We fetched him out into the light and found the first shot had merely grazed his back, probably partially paralyzing him for the time, but on recovery he was able to crawl away. He was a handsome brute, and we carried him on board to skin him there at our leisure.

Having again embarked we pushed off and floated down for several hours without seeing any more game. Jungle fowls were numerous all along the river bank, but never appeared except in the early morning and in the evening, at which times I often got shots at them, and they formed a welcome addition to our menu. After some miles we found the river getting narrow again and the current in consequence was greater.

We had on this day a very narrow escape. Just as we arrived at this narrow part of the river, the leading boatman in the bows suddenly gave a cry and made a plunge into the water with his paddle. Too late, however, to avoid the sunken rock which lay right in our course, and the boat struck it with a horrible rasping sound. The boat was new and stout fortunately, but the force of the current behind us tilted up the boat until it seemed she must capsize, when, in that powerful current, if we had succeeded in all reaching the shore, which is doubtful, we should at any rate have lost all our stores, as well as guns and rifles.

The other boatman with great presence of mind at once jumped overboard, managing to get a footing on the rock, and by relieving the boat of his weight and shoving vigorously just managed to float her off. Holding on to her stern as she swung round, he climbed on board again, while the boat uncontrolled went downstream broadside to the current, but shortly was brought to her normal direction.

The boatmen after this kept a very careful look-out for these sunken rocks, which sometimes occurred, it seemed, even in the deep water.

It was time to land soon after this occurred, and we spent the night as usual on the bank. During the night I heard the unmistakable sounds of a tiger in the jungle not far from us, and the men heard it too. My shikari was most anxious to go after him next morning, but I could not afford to risk a rise in the river which might suddenly occur any day now if there should be more rain in the upper waters. I was therefore obliged to refuse him, and he was desperately disappointed, for a tiger would have been a great addition to our bag.

We embarked then once more, and had some hours of smooth going, but soon after our midday halt the sky began to cloud up and rain set in with heavy gusts of wind. We continued our journey for some miles, however, until we came in sight of a small hut on the bank where two men were sitting. My boatmen called out to them something, and on getting their reply at once said we must make for the shore I did not understand why, but told them to do so, and on landing they told me that a large rapid was not a mile below us, and that the men had called to tell us to land here, as it was impossible lower down owing to the precipitous nature of the banks. It was indeed lucky we got this information, for, from a subsequent inspection of the river below, it was quite evident that such was the case, and we might have been carried down into the rapids without being able to help ourselves. My boatmen, it seemed, although born and bred on the river, did not know it throughout its course, although with some stretches of it they were well acquainted. From news now received from the two natives on shore, we learnt that this was a very long and dangerous rapid and scarcely passable to boats at any time of the year. They said, however, by unloading the boat and carrying the things round by land, we could get the canoe itself down if she were kept close to the land and towed.

This being so, we had to make up our minds to a march of some miles, for several smaller rapids succeeded the large one, and it would not be worth while re-loading the boat till we were clear of them.

I therefore engaged these two men to act as porters, and on the following day we all set to work to load up the stores, etc., in parcels, and to distribute them, leaving the boatmen to get the craft down and setting off, the remainder of us, by land, with the stores. This was not a very great task on us, for our stores were now considerably reduced in bulk.

Flor de Sumatra Brand
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

BEACONSFIELDS.

Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co

We followed the bank for some way and got a clear view of the large rapid. It looked quite impossible for navigation, at least for a laden boat. We then struck somewhat inland away from the river, which here takes a slight but distinct bend in its course, and marching steadily with only an occasional halt, reached in the afternoon a small village, from which the river below the rapids was not more than a mile distant.

I determined to pass the night here as my men could get supplies, and I directed the stores to be got down to the bank next morning to await the boat's arrival, which might not be for some two or three days perhaps, so the men told me, owing to the difficulties of bringing her down.

Next day I woke rather late and found all the stores had been carried down, and so I also proceeded to the bank to view the river there. I found it quite navigable, but there was no sign of the boat, so leaving a man in charge of the stores with orders to let me know when she arrived, I returned to the village.

My indefatigable shikari had in the meantime been enquiring into the sporting capabilities of the place. He had learnt that sambhur and bear were frequently found here, and that a "thakin" (sahib) had the previous year come up here from the civil station of Papun and got some good sambhur and a bear or two.

As it did not entail an extended trip, I consented to go out for the day, and so, after breakfast, we made a start with a villager to show us the country. We had no luck that day, however, but on return in the evening, as I learnt that the boat had not yet come, I thought I would make a longer trip the next day to a place further from the river where I was promised sport by the villagers.

We started soon after dawn and marched for some miles through thickish jungle. We then came out on a fair-sized open plain, part of it under cultivation. Beyond this again, we got once more into jungle, but more open, and here we soon found tracks of sambhur and pig—the latter especially must have been very numerous, judging from their marks all over the ground. While following a fairly fresh sambhur spoor, my Karen shikari stopped at one place, and I saw him leave the direction we had been coming, and go off at right angles. He came back at once and calling me, showed me a track which he declared was that of a bison, and quite fresh. The villager with us, when asked, said that bison seldom came down here, but that occasionally one from the hills did appear. However, the track was there, and keen as I was to get a shot at a bison, I decided to follow it up.

It was in one way a most unwise decision, for it resulted in a long day of tracking that carried us farther and farther from the river. At last at nightfall we had to give up and sleep where we were, almost without any food, although the villager had been sent back to bring on some, but had not arrived. Next morning heavy rain set in just after dawn, but we continued the chase. The tracks were most difficult to follow, and when we thought we had entirely lost them and were making a cast round, we, all at once, got a glimpse of a dark mass in the jungle ahead. It was a bison and by good luck he had not seen us, but how to approach him, or even to move, was the difficulty, without being discovered. We were both crouching in the grass when the beast suddenly moved and exposed his head and forehand. Certain that I could at this near range—only some 15 yards—make a certainty of placing my bullet in the right spot, I fired at the point of his shoulder. There was one crash in the jungle and then following it a still louder crash, as the brute collapsed into a bamboo clump, absolutely flattening it. We jumped up and I prepared to give him another shot should he rise again, but it was not necessary, for after a deep bellow his head sunk, and we knew he was ours.

I was overjoyed at my fortune, but everything pointed to our getting back to the river again without delay. This we attempted to do, but through missing our way only reached there after nightfall, so that another day was wasted. My first care, however, was to arrange for the bison head to be brought in early next morning and proceeded myself to the river to meet the boat which I heard had come at last. The river had risen considerably I found, but the villagers told us that no difficult rapids now lay between us and Papun, and so when my bison head arrived, I lost no time in setting off.

The rain continued for some days and there was no doubt the monsoon had commenced. The river although navigable was now very swift and dangerous, but by good fortune, after three days, by dint of keeping in near the banks when the current was worst, we safely reached Papun. From this we might easily have continued right on to the sea for steam launches come up so far, but as the weather had now become bad, I decided to finish our boat work here and do the remainder of the journey with more comfort, after a stay to recoup at this little station.

On the whole I had had a most enjoyable expedition, and had seen much country I had not visited before. My sport would have been better had time not been so limited, but I was quite satisfied with what I had got in the short period at my disposal, and I had made the discovery of one or two places for game that I judged well worth a future visit, should I have the opportunity of making another into this country.

SALWEEN.

UNDER THE PLUM-TREES.

Let not the reader indulge in fond fancies of the delicious and succulent fruit hanging in all its lusciousness on a sun-bathed old wall in distant England, nor yet conjure up visions of the vale of Kashmir: these plums are but the small black fruit of the Indian jamún, Eugenia Jambulana, and they grow in lavish profusion, astringent, rough, and alum-like to the cultivated palate, on the larger trees of this well-known indigenous Indian plant that mingle with groves of mango and mhowa on the highest plateaux of the Southern Satpuras. The jamún displays its prodigal harvest just before the commencement of the monsoon rains, and at this season its shady green boughs are to be seen hanging heavy-laden with the well-known berries, that are about the size and colour of English damsons. A few of the better-favoured trees bear fruit that is quite passably sweet and almost free from astringent taste, and these are resorted to by the Indian black bear and his apparently near relative the aboriginal Korku.

Both Korkus and bears have, before the fruiting of the jamún, been regaling themselves on the fallen jungle mangoes, and, before that again, on the rich flowering of the mhowa tree, not to mention the sakkriya, a very queer sweet-flavoured whitish berry, which grows in myriads on a prickly bush that partakes of the nature of a creeping bramble; and their palates are tickled by the distinct change in diet now afforded by Eugenia Jambulana. From the deep glens and ravines that sink away sheer from the plateaux-tops of this portion of the Satpuras, our friends the bears come climbing up night after night. They leave their shambling ways marked clear in the dust of the forest road and of jungle paths; they snuffle and grunt merrily all night under the sweetest trees, blow themselves out enormously, and shuffle away before dawn into the almost inaccessible fastnesses that surround the open park land on top of these hills. Gradually attracted by Nature's wondrous profusion of pleasant diet, there may be found many bears within a radius of a mile or so, but the cover is so dense, the sea of jungle, rock, cliff, bamboo, and giant creepers so difficult of search that almost the only way of getting a shot at Bhalu is to wait dinner for him.

Well do I recall one night that I forced myself an unwelcome and uninvited guest on the Bhalu's supper party. I had, while riding home the previous day, discovered a splendid tree of sweet jamúns. Rising in my stirrups I had had quite a decent feed, pulling down the laden branches and then filling my pockets with fruit to munch on the homeward way. I was just departing, when I noticed fresh signs of many bears in the vicinity of the tree, and just at that moment a little black Korku came along the forest path. "Bears! said he in reply to my query, scratching a sturdy leg with the other horny toe. "Bears! what's that? Never heard of such things. Never knew of anything called a bear. From my youth up I never yet ——."

But my cane was crooked round his neck and I guided him and his uncomfortable grin below that tree. "See!" I urged "oh thou wicked and incestuous person! Behold! (indicating documentary evidence under the jamún tree) who did that? eh?

"O, Maharaj!" he grinned widely I see. Yes. How shall I tell lies to your presence! Nightly do they come, since the moon was small. Nightly do they suck and wrangle. There's my hut up there beyond the clearing and the kutki field, and I hear and know it all!"

"Then let there be a charpai here half an hour before sundown" quoth I—"and bark-ropes too, against my return; and a suitable reward shall be thine!"

Towards evening I was riding back to the rendezvous. To my left ascended a great mountain shoulder, out of which was carved the tortuous little road I followed; to my right there yawned a huge khora of misty depth. At its bottom lay tiny patches of green—great mango-groves in the bed of the stream and near the one water-hole that I knew of there. The great Kamdar Khora. Nineteen hundred feet deep, and a mile across. From its depths came the faint whoops of langurs at play, and the distant calls of grey jungle cock. The sun was declining to rest beyond far the stretching lower ranges of the Melghat. The road made some agonising twists, skipped across a narrow sharpe-backed col with sheer, bare, yellow-grassed couloirs falling precipitously to right and left and toiled up a long spur to the top of the plateau where grew my jamún tree.

My man had preceded me, with rug and food, and the Korku, having fulfilled his promise of the morning, stood there with a friend to help him fix the machan.

There were two large plum-trees, about twenty yards apart, and between them grew an aola tree. In this I caused the string-cot to be tied. While this operation was in progress I and my orderly tore down large quantities of plums and disposed them temptingly on an open space at a comfortable angle from my tree, and about five yards from the spot where I should be seated, rifle in hand. At last all was ready, and I mounted to my perch and settled everything in a thoroughly comfortable manner, rifle with night-sight at my side, water bottle hanging conveniently to a bough close to my head, and haversack with light refreshment, not of a noisy kind, somewhere handy. The men went away.

It was right at the fag end of the hot weather; and at this elevation—close on 4,000 feet—the breeze was tempered by moisture that presaged a near approach of the monsoon current. The moon was practically full, as she shone through the interstices of the jungle on her way to the zenith. Through a gap in the beautifully rounded foliage of great mango trees growing hard by the edge of the plateau, one obtained a glimpse of the far-off Tapti Valley, still bathed in a reddish mist or dust-haze illumined by the after-glow of sunset. Distant tinklings denoted the return home of cattle, by the Korku huts some five hundred yards away. The eternal night jars began to set up their "chuckoo-chuckoo-chuckoo," or to sail mysteriously abroad uttering a peculiar cry that sounds like the word "chyecce." Then, somewhere down beyond the edge of the khud, one heard the "aow——aow" of a khakar.

Night watching in trees is not a form of amusement that appeals to me much now, after a long course of the same—necessitated by the very thick jungles in which most of my shikar has been carried out—but the first hour or so of such a vigil, until one gets bored, and especially if animals appear and interest the watcher, never fails to exercise a certain mystic charm. Thick-skulled and unhappy must he be whose perceptions fail to respond to the wooing of our mother Nature in one of her most attractive moods. One is carried away as it were to some tremendously distant era, when we all were children of the forest, dependant on the good earth in much more direct fashion than we seem to be now: when the risings of the sun and moon, the passing of clouds, a crackle in the shadow of the trees, a stealthy step in the dark, all seem to have been more intimately bound up with man's very existence. This is the harking back of the soul of man to prehistoric influences.

Time in machans often passes wonderfully quickly. I had looked at my watch and was surprised to find it past nine o'clock. A jungle path ran along the edge of the little clearing in which stood my trees, and down this came a flitting shape, halted, tripped on again to a sound like light clicking of castanets. A khakar. But I have never satisfied myself as to whether this sound proceeds from the little creature's tongue or hoofs. Later on, two small animals, little civets perhaps, played about under the far jamún tree. About midnight I was straining my eyes to make out a large colourless form that followed the same path down which the khakar had come. It moved deliberabely and slowly, keeping to the shadows, too deliberate for any thing but a tiger or panther. It disappeared gradually towards a neck of land leading to a higher portion of plateau. Shortly after this there was a distant throaty noise, the rattling rough voice common alike to big boars, bears, tigers and panther, and, growing quickly bigger in the full moonlight, an old bear came rushing helter-skelter past my tree! Trundling rapidly along he entered the forest beyond and came to a halt. Not a sound ensued for about a minute. Then he gave a few indignant sniffs and moved away through the crackling dry leaves.

It must have been about 2 A.M. that, lying back with eyes half closed I became aware of a black object approaching once more. I raised myself quietly. On it came in the bright moon's rays, its whitish snout protruding from a mass of shaggy black hair—a bear! on he waddled until ten, seven, five yards separated us; and down went his head to the very heap of plums we had specially arranged for his delectation. There he sucked and slobbered Oh such a smacking of lips—long prehensile lips—oh so busy; blowing himself out at lightning speed; crunching up the jamuns stones and all; sniffling, sighing, gobbling, grunting.

In my hand I held——a borrowed rifle; my own trusty friend not being just at that time available. As I raised the hammer, humouring it with pressure on trigger, it gave out a soft click. Bhalu paused an instant. Then he slobbered again. Yes. I had him fair. Making allowance for the hair on his back, the nightsight, clear white under the moon, lay straight on his shoulder. I never felt more confident of bagging my beast; and I took special pains this time, for the tribe of Bhalu had but lately put me in their debt—I owed a fatal grudge. Very slowly I pressed that trigger. Bang.

A lot of nasty white smoke hung in the way as I lowered the weapon to look at my prey. There was a shuffling noise. The bear was not there! A black shadow shot away into the trees with a "gurr whirr-burr," there came the sound of stampeding in the leaves, then a "whoof!" as he struck against something hard in his hurry. The bear was gone and as he went more bears rushed away in various directions from the far jamún trees. A couple of humping backs went bumping away in the moonlight. All had gone!—and they never returned.

Next morning revealed a tuft of long hair with a fraction of skin attached Further, up the path, led the tracks of a tigress, and they met, or nearly met those of a bear. Here was the explanation of the hurry of the first visitor to me under the plum trees.

DHAK.

Beauty

Iclima Fluor Cream is unrivalled for preserving the skin in hot climates from sun burn, prickly heat, insect bites, and all irritations. Deliciously perfumed with a pure flower scent sold by the, Army Navy Co-operative Stores.

Iclima, 142, Gray's Inn Road, London, W.C.

SPENCER'S

MILD INDIAN CIGARS

OBTAINABLE

FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

FLOR DE SPENCER.

Head Office: Madras

Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:

Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

Correspondence.

All MSS. should be addressed to the Editor.
The writer's name and address are required with every communication.
Letters and enquiries from anonymous correspondents will not receive attention.
Under no circumstances are questions answered by post.
Correspondents whose questions remain unanswered will please understand that we are unable to give them the information asked for.

LATE SNIPE.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—Your correspondent "Forbear" remarks what I have often noticed, namely, that "late stayers as well as the first arrivals are Pintails." The dark coloured birds shot by Raoul late in April were no doubt Pintails beginning to put on their breeding plumage.

I have noticed that when a Snipe is found alone it is usually a Pintail.

In Central Bengal when the season opens all the birds obtained, or nearly all, are Pintails. By the end of September the Fantails predominate and from the middle of October until February hardly a Pintail will be shot. In March Pintails are again in the majority, and in April Fantails are rarely seen. Pintails are easier to shoot than Fantails.

On 9th February this year I shot a Pintail which seemed to me a very large one. Its measurements were:—Extent, $18\frac{5}{4}$ inches; length $10\frac{11}{16}$ inches; and it weighed $4\frac{1}{2}$ ounces. Its thigh coverts were very perfectly barred. I shall be glad if you can tell me whether or not this was an unusually big Pintail.

SWEYTOWN.

[This was undoubtedly a big bird. The average Pintail is from 9·75 inches in length and sometimes reaches 10 inches; wing 4·8 to 5·4; tail 2 to 2·5. It was probably a female, as they are larger.—ED.]

BARKING DEER HORNS.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—I shot a barking deer some time ago, with what seem to me to be an exceptionally large pair of horns.

The measurements from burr to tip are:—

Left horn $6\frac{5}{8}$ inches.

Right horn $5\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

Could you kindly let me know through the columns of your paper, whether these measurements are anywhere near the record for barking deer horns?

BURMA, 21st May 1903.

MOUNG GYI.

[The horns are good ones, but some a good deal short of record measurements. The largest pair on record are $10\frac{1}{8}$ inches owned by Mr. H. Van Son of Java; then we have the following:—

Burr to Tip.	Locality.	Owner.
$7\frac{1}{8}$	Lombok	Hon. Walter Rothschild.
$7\frac{1}{8}$	Mussoorie	Col. A. E. Ward.
$7\frac{1}{8}$	Lombok	Hon. Walter Rothschild.
$6\frac{7}{8}$	Perak	Perak Museum.
$6\frac{3}{4}$	Ranikhet	Dr. B. W. C. Deeble.
$6\frac{3}{4}$	Java	Mr. J. C Van Son.
$6\frac{1}{4}$	Nepal	British Museum.
6	Tavoy	Vet-Capt. G. H. Evans.

Mr. A. O. Hume has recorded the measurements of a pair, belonging to Mr. Wilson ("Mountaineer") as follows:—Antlers round the curve outside 9·5 and 9 inches long.—ED.]

TICKS IN DOGS.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—Can you or any of the numerous readers of your paper kindly say what has been found to be the best remedy for the destruction of ticks in dogs? I have tried several remedies; but without satisfactory results.

GRATEFUL.

[There are many things recomended for the removal and destruction of ticks A creolin bath (1oz. to the gallon of water) is efficacious and acts as a preventative. Eucalyptus sprinkled on the bedding is advantageous. Spraying the coat with:—

Eucalyptus	...	..	...	2 drachms
Terebene	...	...	...	2 drachms
Carbolic acid	...	...	...	1 drachm
Liquor ammonia	...	...	...	2 drachms
Rose water	...	...	...	10 ounces

will destroy ticks. Then there is Kemp's Circassian Insect Powder (Bombay) or powdered camphor or "butch," or turpentine or castor oil will give temporary relief. But the best way is to carefully remove them with small forceps, or the finger and thumb and squash each one as it is taken off the dog. It is a tedious job and must be conscientiously done; but it is really the only proper method of ridding a dog of these pests. And the bedding or sleeping place—"Aye there's the rub." Probably few people, in Calcutta for instance, realise that over seventy-five per cent. of their houses simply swarm with vermin, and prominent among them is our little enemy ixodes ricinus, or the common tick. The mats teem with them, and a dog divested of every tick, will next morning, and for months, perhaps, be covered with them. We took nearly 800 ticks off a young fox-terrier in thirteen days—over 60 per day—when we lived in a certain Calcutta boarding house years ago—and only discovered the source of supply by accident. It is no earthly good removing ticks if dogs are allowed to frequent and sleep on the spots holding the reserve stock so to speak, or inhabit dirty kennels.—ED.

MONTAGUE R. MURRAY & CO.,

TAXIDERMISTS,
HARDA (G. I. P. RY.)
Central Provinces.

Shooting Trophies of all kinds artistically set up at moderate prices. European supervision, best materials, skilled labor, prompt attention to orders.

Shooting-Parties - -
Supplied with Camp Equipage, Commissariat &c.
Young Sambhur, Chital and Hyenas for Sale

Safe, Simple and Economical.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

THE Security is unsurpassed, the funds being now over Two Millions Five Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling, and claims to Four Millions Seven Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling have already been paid.

CITY OF GLASGOW LIFE ASSURANCE CO.,
5, LYON'S RANGE, CALCUTTA.
ESTABLISHED 1838.

R. B. RODDA & Co.,
PRACTICAL
GUNMAKERS,
[Established 72 years.]
2, WELLESLEY PLACE, CALCUTTA.
Illustrated Catalogue Post Free.

BREAKWELL & Co
COACH BUILDERS,
171-2-4-5-6,
Dhurrumtollah Street,
CALCUTTA.

TOLLYGUNGE CLUB.
HORSE, DOG AND CATTLE SHOW.

The 9th Annual Horse, Dog and Cattle Show will be held at the Tollygunge Club on Friday 1st. January 1904.

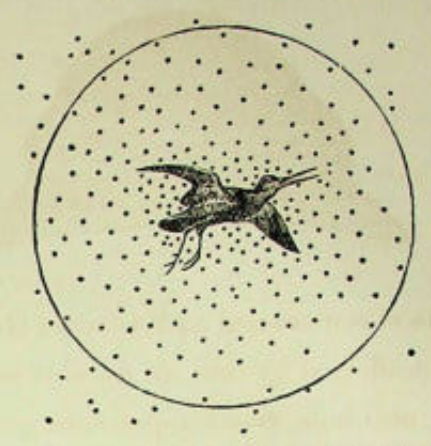
Programmes, which will be ready shortly, can be obtained on application to the—
HONORARY SECRETARY,
33, Chowringhee, CALCUTTA.

CALCUTTA GOLF CLUB.

The annual competitions for he St. Andrew's Silver Tankard (Handicap) will take place on Friday and Saturday, 29th and 30th instant.

SPORTING NOTICE.



D. TAYLOR, Trainer, who has had over 25 years, experience of training race horses in India and Ceylon has returned from Australia, and has opened his Training Establishment in Lucknow, where he will be pleased to summer race horses and ponies, and train them for their engagements for the coming Racing Season.
Is opened to a private engagement.
Testimonials on application.
For terms, &c.,
Please apply to—
D. TAYLOR, TRAINER,
Dilkusha, LUCKNOW.

INDIAN FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION.

The Annual General Meeting will be held at the Volunteer Head-quarters on Friday, 29th instant, at 6-15 P.M.

N. G. PRITCHARD,
Jt. Hon. Sec., I. F. A.

WILDFOWLER CARTRIDGES.

Facsimile-circle 22 inches diameter at 35 yards. Number of pellets in circle 237, killing circle 33. This diagram represents the shooting of any good choke-bore gun with our WILDFOWLER Cartridges loaded with 42 grs. Amberite, $1\frac{1}{8}$ oz. No. 8 shot.

Lucknow prices, rail freight being taken into consideration, are identical with those charged by the leading Calcutta Gunsmiths.

MURRAY & Co.,
LIMITED,
LUCKNOW.

WILLIAM RUTLEDGE,
NATURALIST,
DEALER IN WILD ANIMALS,
Birds, Dogs, Poultry, &c.,
38, SOUTH ROAD, ENTALLY, CALCUTTA

"TAXIDERS PRESERVATIVE POWDER."

5 lbs. tin Rs. 3, 10 lbs. tins Rs. 5 (V. P. charges extra.) The only safe and effectual preparation for preserving skins and heads of animals, whether Pachyderms, Great Mammalia or Reptiles with instructions in skinning, etc.

Apply to—TAXIDERMISTS,
C. SWARIES & Co.,
15, Mohamed Crescent's Lane, Calcutta.

GULMARG TOURNAMENTS COMMENCE.

Golf Challenge Shield for Ladies and Gentlemen, 17th to 22nd August; Polo Shield 24th to 29th August. Apply to—
General Hony. Secy., Srinagar.

The Calcutta Tramways Co., Ld.

FOR SALE.

The opening of the Company's system by Electric Traction has released a number of serviceable C.-B. geldings suitable for Phaeton, Trap, and Hack work generally: amongst them are also a number of good saddle horses.

The horses can be seen at any time during the day at the Company's Chowringhee Depot, 1, Russa Road, on application to the European Foreman in charge.

MARTYN WELLS,
MANAGING AGENT.

CALCUTTA, 15th April 1903.

200 Pictures of the Delhi Durbar,
Handsomely bound in Vellum.
10 Rupees only.
Third Improved Edition.

Contains all the chief events, elephant procession, 20 pictures proclamation, opening exhibition, review of retainers, grand review, sports, fireworks, principal camps, Church service, etc., etc.

The Press says: "For cheapness and excellence combined it is unsurpassed." "Purchaser obtains very full value."
"Comprises an extremely varied and well chosen selection"
WIELE & KLEIN, Madras, Official Photographers to the Durbar Exhibition.

INDIAN FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION.
Challenge Shield Competition,
Trades Challenge Cup Competition.
Entries close 20th June.
Apply to—
N. G. PRITCHARD,
Jt. Hon. Sec., I. F. A.

THE RANKEN HELMET.

Registered No. 386596.

Made of compressed cork, covered Grey Felt, not affected by rain, as durable as three pith hats, smart appearance, good ventilation and protection.

Price, Rs. 21-0. Cash Rs. 19-0.

Or with Plain Grey Silk Pugree,

Rs. 24-0. Cash Rs. 21-0.

—:o:—

RANKEN & Co.,

Calcutta, Simla, and Lahore.

Pure Yalumba

Wines

South Australia.

BURGUNDY

CONTAINS

Natural Iron.

FIRST PRIZE

10,000 galls

—:o:—

CLARET

Sound, Pure and Wholesome.

FIRST PRIZE

15,000 galls

From all Leading Merchants

S. SMITH & SON

Yalumba Vineyards,

Adelaide, South Australia.

FOR SALE.

D.-B. 12 Gauge Hammerless Gun, Alexander Henry's best make Damascus barrels, automatic top safety, cocking indicators fitted with intercepting bolts and fence to action, beautifully engraved and well balanced, in solid leather case with necessary implements. Price Rs. 400.

D.-B. 12 Gauge Hammerless Gun, by Army & Navy, Siemen steel barrels, Anson & Deeley action top, lever, automatic top safety, Webley's screw top grip fitted with intercepting bolts, weight 5lbs. 8oz., built for lady, well balanced, good as new, in solid leather Hurlingham cate. Price Rs. 250.

S.-B. Mannlicher Sporting Rifle, pistol grip, sighted to 100, 200 and 300 yards, bead foresight, fitted with safety, weight 7lbs., in solid leather with brass corners, necessary implements, and as good as new, cover and sling. Price Rs. 180.

Apply to—

MAJOR SHAKESPEAR,

2nd Gurkhas, Dehra Dun

MANTON & Co., Gunmakers,

Have a fresh stock of

FOOTBALLS

(Association and Rugby.)

BRYAN'S

"The County" Football	Rs. 12	8 cash.
"Grasshopper" ,, ...	,, 11	8 ,,
The "Blenheim" ,, ...	,, 8	8 ,,
Spare Rubbers, best Vulcanised	,, 3	0 ,,

Nets, Goal Posts, Guards, Rules, etc.

ADDRESS:

13, OLD COURT HOUSE ST., CALCUTTA.

HOWRAH FLOUR MILLS CO., LD.,

Ramkistopur, Howrah,

CRUSHED FOOD

FOR

HORSES & CATTLE

Fresh Bran, Oats, Gram,

AND

Flour of all qualities.

ANDREW YULE & Co.,

Managing Agents,

7, Clive Row, Calcutta.

F CHAPMAN & Co.

"TATTERSALLS,"

No. 1, Bhowanipore Road.

Arrived per S S Euryalus well-matched pairs, hacks, hunters, polo ponies from 12-2½ to 14-1; also 6 well-performed race ponies imported by the well-known shippers.

Mr "Billy" Griffiths.
Mr W. Burgess.
Mr. H. Smith.
Mr. P. Gilder.

Every trial given to intending purchasers by the undersigned.

F. CHAPMAN & Co.

J. F. SNUGGS & Co.,

Established 1870.

TAXIDERMISTS & TANNERS

TO H. M.'s IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT, HARDA, C.P

For further particulars apply to us; or our only Agents:

Messrs. GORDON & Co., 37, Apollo Street BOMBAY,

where Trophies of every description are for sale also we can supply our Firm's ponies, carts, etc., to Shooting Parties.

ESTABLISHED 1870.

KASHMIR CHECK PUTTOOS

EFFECTIVE, durable and inexpensive, for shooting, cycling and golfing suits.

Obtainable through
A A's or COCKBURN'S AGENCY,
Srinagar, Kashmi.

CHARLES LANCASTER,

Gunmaker by Royal Warrants to H.M. the King, H.I.M. the German Emperor, H.R.H. Prince Christian, H.I.H. The Grand Duke Vladimir, H.R.H. The Duke of Orleans, &c., &c.,

AWARDED SIXTY FIRST-CLASS PRIZES, MEDALS, AND DIPLOMAS.

Latest Productions in Single or double Barrel HIGH-VELOCITY RIFLES, for Smokeless Powders and Cupro-Nickel expanding or Solid Bullets, in ·256, ·303, ·370, ·400, and ·450 calibres.

Specially recommend. The "Ross" straight-pull Magazine Rifle, with controlled Platform, for stalking or big game.

In ·256, ·275, ·303, ·370, & ·400 calibres, from £15, £20, and £25.

MANNLICHER-SCHONAUER, MAUSERS, &c.
MAGAZINE PISTOLS, AND REVOVERS

ALWAYS IN STOCK.

The "Harris" Rifle Magazine, also "Ross Lifter" for Bolt Rifles.

ROOK, RABBIT, & TARGET RIFLES.

With Hammer, £5 net.
Ditto Hammerless, £12 net.
B.L. ·22 Miniature Rifles for Target Shooting, from 18s.
Cartridges, 1s. 3d. per 100.

Sportsmen at home or abroad should ask for Special Cartridge List giving

"PRICES AT A GLANCE."

"CLAY" PIGEON TRAPS,

Complete £1 12s. 6d.

Targets, 4s. 6d. per 100, or 500 Barrel 17s. 6d. Suitable Cartridges, with Smokeless Powder for "Clay" Bird Shooting, 85s. and 75s. per 1000, delivered free by goods train for cash with order.

"PYGMIES" 2in. CARTRIDGES, 8s. PER 100.

Charles Lancaster still maintains his position as expert Gun-fitter and Coach. Attendance and Lessons given by Experts at his Private Shooting Grounds, near Willesden Junction, N. W.

Single and Double Trigger Try Guns.

TOWER FOR "HIGH BIRD" PRACTICE.

"THE ART OF SHOOTING."

Sixth and Popular Edition, 2s. 6d.; postage 6d. extra.

SECOND-HAND GUNS.

Guns by other makers taken in exchange or altered to fit if necessary.

ILLUSTRATED PRICE LIST AND ESTIMATES FREE.

Kindly quote this paper and state requirements.

PRIVATE SHOOTING GROUNDS,

NEAR STONEBRIDGE PARK, N. W.

Frequent Trains to Willesden Junction from all parts.

151, NEW BOND ST., LONDON, W.

ESTABLISHED 1826.

"PIGSTICKING,"

A SET OF FOUR PICTURES

1 THE MEET 3 THE SPEAR
2 THE BURST 4 THE KILL

BY ALBERT DUBUS

Every Sportsman should possess a set. The finest work of the kind ever offered to the public.

Rs. 8 per set, unmounted.

Apply Manager—"THE INDIAN FIELD,"

CALCUTTA.

THE ORIENTAL GAS Co., Ld.

GAS COKE.

Reduction in Price.

The Oriental Gas Company, Limited, have resolved to reduce the price of the Coke produced at their works from 22nd April 1903, and until further notice as follows:—

1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the Town Area at (6 annas per maund) ... ... Rs. 7-8-0

1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the Suburban Area ... ... Rs 7-12-0

All Coke sieved through a ¾ inch mesh.

Gas Coke is Smokeless and Cleanly and Superior to any solid fuel for domestic purposes.

All complaints about Coke or demands for pice custom (dustoorie) should be made direct to the Manager.

N.B.—The carter must be relieved of his load within an hour of his arrival, else 4 annas per hour will be charged for unnecessary detention.

GAS WORKS, SEALDAH, Calcutta, 22nd April 1903.

D. COATS NIVEN,
Manage.

GREENER'S CORDITE

.310 BORE RIFLE,

Unequalled for Black Buck, Markhor, &c.

No. 1. Quality, Cash ... Rs. 60
No. 2. " " ,, 80
No. 3. With Tangent peep sight, &c ... ... ,, 105

WESTLEY RICHARDS.

"SHERWOOD."

300-BORE CORDITE RIFLE.

No. 1. Detachable Barrel and fore end, hand removable action and indicator, fitted with patent pivot, wind gauge, backsight, sighted to 300 yards. ... Rs. 100

No 2. Fixed Barrel and action ordinary tangent sight ... ,, 80

LYON & LYON,

GUN-MAKERS, CALCUTTA.

Ballistite.

THE KING OF

SMOKELESS POWDERS

Smokeless—Waterproof—Odourless.

Nobel's New "Nile" Snipe Cartridge.

A High Class Smokeless Cartridge at the price of ordinary Black Powder, Colour Maroon.

Gauge.	Length	Powder	Shot.
12-bore.	2½ inches.	25 Grains.	1 oz.
	Per 100.	Per 500.	Per 1,000
	Rs. 9-0.	Rs. 43-0.	Rs. 84-0

RETAILED BY ALL GUNMAKERS.

WHOLESALE OF

GILLANDERS ARBUTHNOT & CO.,

AGENTS

THE OAKS.

MANCHESTER CUP.

Starting Price Commissions executed on principal English races.

A list of probable Starters and Jockey will be sent post free to any part of India on receipt of address.

For S. P. rules, code, principal fixtures, &c., &c, apply to—

BEATTIE BROS.,

Watson's Hotel, Bombay.

Telegrams :— "Beattie, Bombay."

FOR SALE.

Leopard skins, cured, dressed, head stuffed and mounted on cloth. Complete @ Rs 35 each.

Two pairs of Buffalo horns with skull mounted on shield, @ Rs. 40 and 25 each.

Apply to—

J. HENRY & Co.,
THE "TAXIDERMY HOUSE,"
Bowbazar P.O., Calcutta

FOR SALE.

A few real well bred dogs by imported parents and prize winners.

Wire haired Fox Terrier Dog "Jind Melton Bang Up" for Rs. 200. Winner of first prize last Simla Dog Show.

Wire haired Fox Terriers, puppies, 2 Bitches, Rs. 80 each by Jind Bango" ex "Jind Sweetheart:" born 12th March 1903, both Sire and Dam imported, and Sire is winner of 12 prizes at the different Dog Shows out here.

Irish Terrier Dog "Jind Larry" for Rs. 200, by "Jind Blowhard" ex "Jind Doreen:" born 3rd November 1902.

Sire imported and winner of 12 prizes in England and 5 prizes at the different Dog Shows out here.

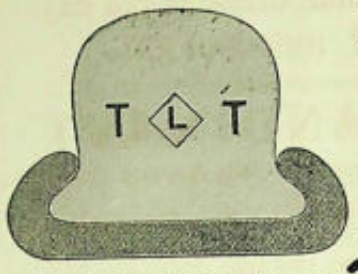
Irish Terrier's puppies, 1 Dog Rs. 100 and 2 Bitches at Rs. 80 each, by "Jind Brodick:" ex "Jind Brookvale" born 16th March 1906. Both Sire and Dam just imported Sire is winner of two 1st and one 2nd prize at the Dog Shows in England, and never been shown out here.

Thibet an Terrier "Kim" for Rs. 100

Apply—Superintendent, JIND KENNELS, JIND STATE.

POLO PONIES FOR SALE.

	B. A. G., LOYALTY	Rs.	800
2.	B. A. G., TIETAIL	,,	800
3.	B. A H., MAXIM	,,	800
4.	CH. C.-B. M., NAUTCH GIRL	,,	700
5.	GR. A. G., UNCAS	,,	600
6.	CH A. G., FREDERIC	,,	800
7.	GR. C.-B. H., IRONSIDES	,,	500
8.	CH. A. H., GINGERBREAD	,,	500
9.	B. A. H., RABONDIA	,,	250



The above are all good polo ponies and are for sale cheap so as to take advantage of an opportunity to buy raw ponies.

Most of them have played in all tournaments the regiment has taken part in since 1899.

All believed practically sound and open to any offers, as must be sold.

Apply to—POLO SECRETARY,

24th Regiment (S. W. Borderers), Dalhousie.

ECONOMISE NERVE TISSUE

By using Our Section of Steel Rim and Rubber Tyre.

RUBBER CARRIAGE TYRES.

We stake our faith in Tyres of this brand which are all guaranteed for one year. Many of the leading Coachbuilders use them exclusively. Prices and particulars free on application to

W. H. THORNS & Co.,

15, HORNBY ROW, BOMBAY.

CHAMPION & CO.

Have left for Europe and will return to Calcutta for the 1st Extra Meeting in December.

The Turf.

INDIAN RACING FIXTURES.

Name of Races	Month.	Date.	For Prospectus see page.
Simla Summer	May	26, 28 & 30	476
Darjeeling	,,	28 & 30
Mysore	June	16, 18 & 20
Bangalore	July	14, 16 & 18
Poona Races & Steeplechases	Sept.	24 26 28 30
		Oct. 3 5 & 10	574
Simla Autumn	Oct	6 & 8	522
Simla Gymkhanas ...	June	13 20 & 27
Ditto ...	July	4
Pachmari	June	2, and 4
Lucknow Autumn Sky ...	Oct.	22, and 24
Umballa Autumn ...	Nov.	3, 5 & 7
Lucknow Autumn (Army Cup)	,,	26	575
Meerut Autumn	,,	12, 14 & 17
Lucknow Autumn ...	,,	21, 26 & 28
Calcutta First Extra ...	Dec.	12
,, Second Extra ...	,,	19
,, First Meeting ...	,,	24 26 29 & 31
,, Second Meeting ...	Jan.	16 & 23
Tollygunge Steeplechases ...	,,	2 & 9
Calcutta Third Extra ...	,,	30
,, Fourth ,, ...	Feb	6
Dibrugarh ...	,,	2 4 & 6

CLOSING DATES OF ENTRIES.

LUCKNOW AUTUMN SKY ...	First	...	... 1st Sept.
	Second	...	... 15th Oct.
CALCUTTA FIRST EXTRA ...		...	... 8th Dec.
CALCUTTA SECOND EXTRA ...		...	... 15th Dec.
CALCUTTA RACES FIRST MEETING	First	...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second	...	... 1st Dec.
CALCUTTA RACES SECOND MEETING	First	...	... 1st Dec.
	Second	...	... 9th Jan.
	Third	...	... 16th Jan.
TOLLYGUNGE STEEPLECHASES 1ST DAY	First	...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second	...	... 1st Dec.
TOLLYGUNGE STEEPLECHASES SECOND DAY	First	...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second	...	... 2nd Jan.
POONA	First	...	... 4th Augst.
	Second	...	... 25th ,,
	Final	...	... 8th Sept.
CIVIL SERVICE CUP ...	Second	...	... 1st July.
	Third	...	... 16th Sept.
	Fourth	...	... 1st Dec.
	Final	...	... 20th Jan.
RANGALORE	First	...	... 1st June.
	Second	...	... 20th June.
	Third	...	... 1st July.
MYSORE	Third	...	... 1st June.
LUCKNOW AUTUMN ...	First	...	... 15th Aug.
	Second	...	... 1st Oct.
	Third	...	... 14th Nov.
PACHMARHI	Second	...	... 27th May.

INDIAN SPORTING FIXTURES.

POLO.

SIMLA TOURNAMENT	Begins 1st June
POONA OPEN TOURNAMENT	...Sept. 15th, 16th, 19th & 24th
GULMARG POLO TOURNAMENT ...	24th to 29th August

CRICKET.

SIMLA v OUTSTATIONS	May 27th & 29th
BOMBAY v PARSEES (Bombay) ...	13th 14th & 15th Aug.
BOMBAY v PARSEES (Poona) ...	21st 22nd & 23rd Sept.

THE HORSE.

TOLLYGUNGE HORSE AND DOG SHOW	... 1st January 1904.
SIMLA HORSE AND DOG SHOW ...	... June 6th.

SPORTS.

OOTACAMUND SKITTLE GYMKHANAS	May 12th & June 15th, 27th

FOOTBALL.

MURREE TOURNAMENT FINALS	... 4th June.
DURAND TOURNAMENT, SIMLA ...	... 14th to 25th Sept.

HOCKEY.

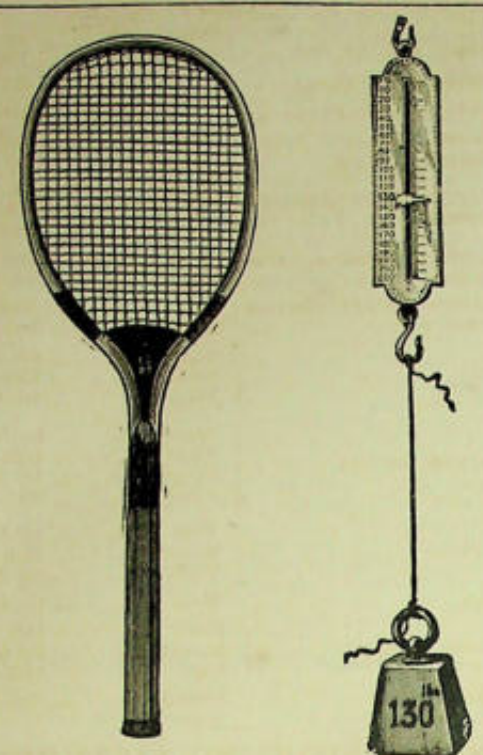
AGA KHAN TOURNAMENT ...	... Now on.

GOLF.

CALCUTTA G. C. ST. ANDREWS' SILVER TANKARD ...	29th and 30th May
GULMARG TOURNAMENT ...	17th to 22nd August

SWIMMING.

CALCUTTA S. C.



DITTO FINAL HEAT AND PLATE DIVING ...	29th May.

ENGLISH RACING FIXTURES.

The Oaks (1½ miles)	Friday, May 29
Manchester Cup (1½ miles) ...	Friday, June 5
Duchess of York Stakes, Hurst Park (1½m)	Saturday, June 13
Grand Prix de Paris (1 mile 7 furlongs) ...	Sunday, June 14
Ascot Stakes (2 miles)	Tuesday, June 16
Prince of Wales's Stakes (1 mile 5 furlongs)	Tuesday, June 16
Gold Vase (2 miles)	Tuesday, June 16
Royal Hunt Cup (7 furlongs 166yds) ...	Wednesday, June 17
Gold Cup (2½ miles)	Thursday, June 18
New Stakes (5 furlongs 136yds) ...	Thursday, June 18
Hardwicke Stakes (1½ miles)	Friday, June 19
Nothumberland Plate (2 miles) ...	Wednesday, June 24
July Stakes, Newmarket (5 fur 142 yds) ...	Tuesday, June 30
Eclipse Stakes (1½ miles)	Friday, July 17
Liverpool Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs) ...	Friday, July 24
Stewards' Cup, Goodwood (6 furlongs) ...	Tuesday, July 28
Goodwood Plate (2 miles)	Wednesday, July 29
Goodwood Cup (2½ miles)	Thursday, July 30
Brighton Cup (1½ miles)	Wednesday, Aug. 5
Great Northern Leger (1 mile 5 furlongs)	Wednesday, Aug. 19
Great Ebor Handicap (1½ miles) ...	Wednesday, Aug. 26
Gimcrack Stakes (6 furlongs)	Thursday, Aug. 27
Great Yorkshire Handicap (1 m 6 f 132 yds)	Tuesday, Sep. 8
Champagne Stakes	Tuesday, Sep. 8
The St. Leger (1 mile 6 furlongs 132 yds.)	Wednesday, Sep. 9
Doncaster Cup (about 2 miles) ...	Friday, Sep. 11
Prince Edward Handicap (1¼ miles) ...	Saturday, Sep. 26
Jockey Club Stakes (1½ miles)	Thursday, October 1
Duke of York Stakes (1¼ miles) ...	Saturday, Oct. 10
Cesarewitch Stakes (2 miles 2 furlongs) ...	Wednesday, Oct. 14
Middle Park Plate (6 furlongs) ...	Friday, October 16
Cambridgeshire Stakes (1mile 1 furlong) ...	Wednesday, Oct. 28.
Dewhurst Plate (7 furlongs) ...	Thursday, Oct. 29
Lincoln Autumn Handicap (1½ miles) ...	Tuesday, Nov. 10
Liverpool Autumn Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs)	Friday, Nov. 13
Manchester November Handicap (1½ mile)	Saturday, Nov. 28

ENGLISH SPORTING FIXTURES.

Golf Open Championship	11th June.
Oxford vs. Cambridge (Lord's) ...	2nd July.
Amateur A. A. Meeting	4th July.
Gents vs. Players (Lords)	6th July.
Henley Regatta	7th July.
Eton vs. Harrow (Lord's)	10th July.
Gents vs. Players (Oval)	10th July.
Rugby vs. Marlborough (Lord's) ...	29th July.
R. Y. S. Regatta	4th August.
America Cup First Race	20th August.
Dublin Horse Show	25th August.
Stanley Cycle Show	20th November.
Cattle Show (Agr. Hall)	7th December.

The above weight represents strength of gut used in the manufacture of J. Salter & Son's Racket and Tennis Bats.

SALTER'S

RACKET RACKETS & BALLS,
TENNIS RACKETS & POLO HEADS.

1st quality only.

May be obtained from the following firms :—
EROOM & CO., Calcutta.
WALTER LOCKE & CO., Calcutta, Simla, Lahore
MANTON & CO., Calcutta.
WATTS & CO., Calcutta, Simla, Rangoon, Lahore.
MURRAY & CO., Lucknow, Karachi, Cawnpore, Naini Tal.
ROWE & CO., Rangoon, Mandalay, Moulmein & Bassein.
SPENCER & CO., Madras.
OAKES & CO., Madras.
TREACHER & CO., Bombay.
BADHAM, PILE & CO., Bombay.
GANDA SING UBEROI & CO., Sialkote.

J. SALTER & SON.
Manufacturers of Indoor and Outdoor Games and Sports,
ALDERSHOT, ENGLAND.

THE INDIAN FIELD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The absence of any notice to discontinue the Paper at he expiry of the pertod subscribed for will be considered as an intimation to renew the subscription, which will be charged accordingly.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Rs. 22 per annum or with mofussil postage ...	Rs.	25 0
„ 12 for 6 months „ „ „ ...	„	14 0
„ 6 for 3 „ „ „ ...	„	8 0

Single copy eight annas.

To avail themselves of the benefits of the Advance Rates subscribers must pay—

Annual Subscriptions	...	Within 2 months.
Half-yearly do.	...	Do. 1 month.
Quarterly do.	...	Do. 1 fortnigh

RATE of SUBSCRIPTION with FOREIGN POSTAGE Payable in Advance.

For twelve months	...	£1 15 0
„ six months	...	£1 0 0

RATES FOR CASUAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rs. 2-8 per inch for the first four insertions.
Rs. 1-4 per inch for subsequent insertions.

Ten lines to the inch.

W. S. BURKE & Co., Proprietors,
8, Hare Street CALCUTTA.

SOLE ADVERTISING AGENT IN ENGLAND
FOR "THE INDIAN FIELD."
Mr. L. J. JARVIS.
"Granville House" Arundel St. Strand.
LONDON

CONTENTS.

LEADING ARTICLE—Pioneers of Travel and Natural History	71
SPECIAL TELEGRAMS	72
SPORTING NOTES	73
ATHLETIC NOTES	74
GENERAL NOTES	76
LONDON WEEK BY WEEK	77
SHIKAR	78
CORRESPONDENCE	80
THE TURF.—Indian Racing Fixtures : Closing Dates of Entries : Indian Sporting Fixtures : English Racing Fixtures ; English Sporting Fixtures : Quetta Spring Meeting : Simla Summer Races ; S M Race Club Summer Sky Meeting : Ootacamund Gymkhana Races ; 9th Umballa Station Gymkhana	81
ENTRIES FOR RACES	84
PONIES	85
SPORT IN ENGLAND	85
HUNTING	89
POLO	90
ATHLETICS	90
ROWING	90
CYCLING	90
CRICKET	91
FOOTBALL	92
HOCKEY	93
BOWLS	94
BOXING	94
RIDING	94
SPORTS	95
SWIMMING	95
THE HORSE	95
THE NATURALIST	95
TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE	96
CHESS	96
PROFESSOR RICHARD M. F.	97

"PERFECTION" WHISKY,

The most popular drink of the day,

RS. 32 PER DOZEN,

USED IN THE

ARMY AND NAVY.

As there are other Brands of Whisky sold under the name of "PERFECTION," please see that you get

D. & J McCALLUM'S

In Mallet-shaped Bottles, sealed with their sea

SOLE AGENTS :

KRIEG & Co.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,
8, Hare Street, Calcutta.

QUETTA SPRING METING.

(BY SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

STEWARDS :

COLONEL KEENE. | MAJOR SHOWERS.
CAPTAIN MAXWELL. | CAPTAIN BARRY-DREW.
J. SMITH, ESQ. | „ BENWELL.

Honorary Secretary.—CAPTAIN GROVE.

First Day, Tuesday, 26th May 1903.

RACING opened here to-day under very fair auspices. The weather was warm, yet the attendance was large and the card was a very open one. Major Maxwell, who is acting Clerk of the Scales, is to be complimented on the vast improvements made the on course. There is a large influx of visitors both from Karachi and elsewhere. The Hon'ble Colonel and Mrs. Yate were present, while Major General Smith Dorrien acted as judge. Details :—

NOVICE STAKES.—Rs 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second Rs. 50 to third. For Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-2 and under, that have never won races value Rs. 50 and over amounting in the aggregate to Rs. 600. ½ mile.

Mr Ingham's Ginger III, 9st 6lbs ...	Churchward	1
„ Ohara's Golden Eagle, 9st 8lbs ...	Bal Ram	2
Sir Ghans Baksh's Naharalla, 8st ...	Egan	3
Capt Eastwood and Mr Newcomes Sportsman, 9st 11lbs ...	Mr Wilkinson	0
Mr Anderson's Lady Bird, 9st 4lbs ...	Multani Ram	0
Capt Grove's Moti, 9st, ...	Owner	0
Mr Menzie's Najib 8st 11lbs ...	Captain Benwell	0

BETTING : 6 to 4 on Ginger 5 to 1 each agst Golden Eagle. Moti and Najib, 6 to 1 Nasaralla, 8 to 1 the rest.

Ginger at once drew to the front, was never headed, and won by three lengths ; a length and a half between second and third. Time—55½ secs.

THE QUETTA GRAND NATIONAL.—Steeplechase Course. Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second and Rs. 50 to third. A steeplechase for Arab and C.-B. Ponies 14-2 and under, others 14 hands and under. About 1½ miles.

Captain Barry Drew's Gazetter, 10st 10lbs	Mr Martin	1
Mr J Smith's Lucky Star, 9st 3lbs ...	Captain Grove	2
Mr Leah's The Lamb, 9st 13lbs carried 10st 10lbs)	Owner fell
Mr Anderson's Barnaby Rudge, 9st 10lbs (car 10st 11lbs)	Mr Beatty	0

BETTING : 5 to 4 on Barnaby Rudge, 1 2 to 1 each Gazetter and Lucky Star 6 to 1 The Lamb.

Barnaby Rudge showed in front till the second fence, where he came down and at the third fence Lucky Star ran out. Then Gazetter led, followed by The Lamb, who came down at the water jump, then Gazetter went to the front and won by a distance from Lucky Star.

THE MIRI PURSE.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second and Rs. 50 to third For all horses W. A. and C. raised 21lbs. 7 furlongs.

Capt Benwill's Aureole, 10st 7lbs ...	Owner	1
Mr Anderson's Here's Luck, 11st 5lbs ...	Churchward	2
Capt Eastwood and Mr Newcome's Black Snake, 11st 3lbs	Mr O'Hara	3
Mr Giles's Oxide 10st (car 10st 5lbs) ...	Capt Hislop	0
Mr J Smith's Bidinia, 10st 7lbs ...	Capt Grove	0

BETTING : 2 to 1 on Aureole, 6 to 4 agst Here's Luck, 6 to 1 the rest.

Aureole, followed by Here's Luck, at once took the lead which he maintained to the end and won in a canter by a length ; a neck between second and third.

THE QUETTA PURSE.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second and Rs. 50 to third For maiden Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-2 and under and others 13-3½ and under. 5 furlongs.

Capt Minogue's Greylet, 8st 4lbs (car 9st)	Egan	1
Mr Menzie's Zarafshan, 9st 6lbs ...	Capt Grove	2
„ Anderson's Grace, 10st 1lb ...	Beatty	3
„ O'Hara's Tam, 9st 13lbs	Capt Benwell	0
Messrs Hughes and Smith's Queer Fish 9st 6lbs	Capt Moore	0

BETTING : 6 to 4 on Zarafshan, 3 to 1 each agst Grace, and Queer Fish, 4 to 1 Greylet, 6 to 1 Tam.

Queer Fish delayed the start and finally when let go Greylet took the lead which he kept to the end and won by a length ; six lengths between second and third. Time—1 min. 11secs.

THE QUETTA ARMY CUP.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second and Rs. 50 to third. For maiden Arab ponies 14-1 and under. 7 furlongs.

Capt Grove's Rubicon, 9st 12lbs ...	Owner	1
Mr Ingham's Ginger, 11st 9lbs ...	Churchward	2
Capt Hislop's Roburite, 9st 9lbs ...	Owner	3
Mr Davidson's Oriel, 10st 7lbs ...	Capt Benwell	0
Capt Barry Drew's Mustapha, 10st 4lbs ...	Mr Wilkins	0
Mr O'Hara's Golden Eagle, 10st 3lbs ...	Mr Martino	0
Major Showers' Kapurthala, 10st 2lbs ...	Egan	0

BETTING : 6 to 4 on Ginger, 6 to 4 agst Rubicon, 4 to 1 Kapurthala, 6 to 1 the rest.

Rubicon, followed by Ginger and Roburite, drew away from the start, was never headed and won by four lengths ; same distance between second and third. Time—1min. 44secs.

THE SURREY STAKES.—Rs 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third. For Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-2 and under, others 14-0 and under, that have never won a race value Rs. 50. 3 furlongs.

Mr Smyth's Songstress, 11st 11lb ...	Mr Beatty	1
Kazi Jalaluddin's Delhi Durbar, 7st 12lbs ...	Jumat. Shah	2
Capt Wilkinson's Judy, 10st 12lbs ...	Churchward	3
„ Price's Terror, 8st 8lbs (car 8st 13lbs)	Egan	0
Capt Hislop's Dawn, 9st 12lbs ...	Owner	0
Mr Diger's Junglie, 8st 11lb (car 8st 13lbs)	Capt Moore	0
Mr O'Hara's Federation, 10st (car 10st 4lbs)	Mr Martin	0
Major Showers' Sib, 8st 7lbs	Multaniram	0
Col Yates' Rudolf, 10st 11b	Capt Benwell	0
Capt Grove's Walnut, 8st 11lbs ...	Owner	0

BETTING : Evens Judy, 3 to 1 each agst Songstress and Terror, 5 to 1 Federation, 10 to 1 the rest.

Judy led to within the distance when Songtress caught up and then a great race home ensued, Songtress winning by three quarters of a lengths, a neck between second and third. Time—41⅗secs.

C. B. PURSE.—Rs 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to the second, and Rs. 50 to the third. For C.-B. horses W. A. and C. raised 1 stone 1mile.

Mr Anderson's True Blue, 10st 7lbs ...	Mr Beatty	1
Major Maxwell's Richmond, 10st 12lbs ...	Churchward	2
Nawab Sir Shahbaz Khan's Hazari 9st 11lbs	Joonjungali	3
Ditto's Mir Bauz, 9st 9lbs ...	Warrant Shah	0
Khushdil Khan's Phurrie, 10st ...	Jumanshah	0

BETTING : Evens True Blue 2 to 1 agst Hazari, 3 to 1 Richmond, 6 to 1 each Mir Bauz and Phurrie.

Richmond showed out in front till within the rails where True Blue caught up, shortly drew away and won by three lengths ; ten lengths between second and third.

SIMLA SUMMER RACES.

(BY SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

STEWARDS :

SURGN.-GENL. SIR THOMAS GALLWEY. | LIEUT.-COL. MORGAN.
LIEUT.-COL. THE HON. E. BARING. | MAJ.-GENL. SMITH-DORRIEN.
| BRIGR.-GENL. BEATSON.
| MAJOR MARKER.

Honorary Secretary.—LORD SUFFOLK.

First Day, Tuesday, 26th May 1903.

All concerned in the running of this meeting are to be congratulated on the successful start made to-day. The course was in good condition and though rain at one time threatened to mar the sport, it held off and we had a fine afternoon. We missed the bookie, but managed to do well enough with a gambole on the tote which paid good dividends on its Rs. 10 tickets. The large attendance included their Excellencies the Viceroy and Lady Curzon and H. E. Lord Kitchener. Details :—

BEGINNERS' PLATE.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 50 to the second and Rs. 20 to the third. For Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-1 and under that have never won a race of any description. C.B.'s 14-1 to carry 11st. 10lbs., Arabs 14-1 to carry 11st. 3lbs. W. I. 600 yards.

Kour Sahib of Patiala's Rock Sand, 10st 5lbs	Mr Barrow	1
Col the Hon'ble E Baring's Peninsular II, 9st 4lbs	Penton	2
Capt Wigram's Wainfleet, 10st 5lbs ...	Lord Suffolk	3
Mr Baldrey's Benefit, 11st 10lbs ...	Mr Southey	0
Abdul Aziz's Bismilla, 11st 13lbs ...	Native	0
Mr Morrison's Cuba, 9st 8lbs	Owner	0

Peninsular was favourite at the totalisator.

Rock Sand came away from the start, but in the run home Peninsular challenged, but just missed the verdict by a head ; one and a half lengths between second and third. Time—38secs. Totalisator paid Rs. 38

CLUB STAKES.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 50 to the second and Rs. 20 to third. For Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-1 and under, and others 13-3½ and under that have not won a flat race value Rs. 900 or over since 31st March 1901. Arabs 14 1 to carry 11st 2lbs. C.-B.'s 14-1 to carry 11st 12lbs, others 13-3½ to carry 12st. W I. Penalties—Winners of a race value Rs. 50 or over, once 4lbs ; twice 7lbs ; oftener 10lbs. Allowance—Ponies that have never won a race value Rs. 50 or over 5lbs. About ¼ mile.

Mr Douglas's Sweetheart, 11st 10lbs ...	Capt Hughes	1
Kour Sahib of Patiala's Shahjehan, 9st 9lbs	Toe	2
Col the Honable E Baring's Dingo, 11st 9lbs	Owner	3
Lala Jai Lall's Pannag 11st 10lbs ...	Native	0
Mr Baldrey's King Edward, 9st 7lbs ...	Mr Southey	0
Capt Drummond's Waterwitch, 9st 7lbs (carried 9st 13lbs)	Capt Peacock	0

Shahjehan was first favourite. Sweetheart soon came away from her field and won by a length and half ; same distance between second and third. Time—16⅕secs.

Totalisator paid Rs. 29.

JAKKO STAKES.—Rs. 500 to the winner, Rs. 50 to the second and Rs. 25 to the third. Hurdle race for Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-2 and under, and others 14-1 and under ; Arabs and C.-B.'s 11 2 to carry 11st. 7lbs., others 14-1 to carry 12st. W.I. Penalties —Winners of a race value Rs. 50 or over once 4lbs. ; twice 7lbs ; oftener 10lbs. About 1¼ miles over eight flights.

Kour Sahib of Patiala's Jeanaroo, 10st 13lbs	Toe	1
Major Grimston's Greymist III, 12st 11lb...	Capt Holden	2
Mr Douglas's Starlight, 10st 11b ...	Capt Hughes	3
Mr Mordaunt's The Abbot 10st 4lbs ...	Lord Suffolk	0
Col the Hon'ble E Baring's Nabob, 9st (carried 9st 2lbs)	Mr Barrow	0
Mr Pawson's Busy Bee, 10st 7lbs ...	Penton	0
Captain Mappin's Rifleman II, 11st 6lbs ...	Capt Peacock	0

Starlight was first favourite and made all the running till, tiring, he let up Jeanaroo, who again was caught in the last few strides by Greymist and the judge failed to divide them; Starlight was third two and a half lengths off. Time.—3mins. 1⅕secs.

In the run off Jeararoo lived out Greymist's challenge up the straight and won by one length. Time—3mins. 8⅘secs.

Totalisator paid Rs. 37.

CURZON PLATE.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 50 to the second and Rs. 20 to the third. For Arab ponies 14-1 and under: 14-1 to carry 11st 10lbs W.I. Penalties—Winners once 4lbs.; twice 7lbs.; three times 10lbs; oftener 14lbs. Allowance—Maidens 7lbs. Ponies that have never won a race value Rs. 50 or over 5lbs. in addition. About 4½ furlongs.

Hon'ble D Bingham's Euphrates, 8st 13lbs	Beehan	1
Mr Baldrey's Shelter, 9st 3lbs... ...	Penton	2
Kour Sahib of Patiala's Brigand, 11st	Capt Shakespear	3
Capt Capper's Cinque Ports, 9st 8lbs ...	Owner	0
Mr Reynolds' Envoy, 10st 4lbs ...	Capt Hughes	0

Brigand was a very hot favourite. Euphrates jumped off at the start, took a clear lead, was never headed and won by two lengths; one length between second and third. Time—63⅕secs

Totalisator paid Rs. 162.

POLO SCURRY—Rs. 150 to the winner and Rs. 50 to the second. For maiden Arab and C.-B. polo ponies 14-1 and under. Certificates from Honorary Secretaries of Polo Clubs must accompany entries. C.W.'s over 11st. 7lbs. G.R.'s. 600 yards.

Col. Hon'ble E. Baring's Peninsular II, 11st 7lbs	Owner	1
Hon'ble D Bingham's Ruby, 11st 7lbs ...	Owner	2
Mr Reynolds' Searchlight 11st 7lbs ...	Mr Padger	3
Mr Connolly's Kilfinane, 11st 7lbs ...	Capt. Peacock	0

Peninsular and Ruby were about equal favourities. Peninsular early came away and won easily by two lengths; one length between second and third. Time—38⅕secs.

Totalisator paid Rs. 25.

S. M. RACE CLUB SUMMER SKY MEETING.

STEWARDS:

BRIG-GENERAL FLOWDEN,	Mr. R. S. F. FAGAN, I. F.S.
MAJOR LONGFIELD, R. F.A.	MAJOR MORRICE, R. War. Regt.
LIEUT-COL CARSON, I. M.S.	MAJOR HARRISON,
CAPT MEREWETHER,	MR. LAWRENCE, I. C.S.

First Day, Thursday, 14th May 1903.

THE heavy rain of yesterday had made the going on the course fairly good, while it brought us needed relief in the shape of cooler weather, and, as a natural result, there was a big attendance, all Belgaum and many visitors seeming to be present. The racing was good and all the more interesting from the fact that Mr. Percy Fischer, the well-known Bombay athlete and sportsman, had brought down his string consisting of Governor, Wink, Good Boy, and Talisman. He was successful in the Hindulsi Purse with Wink, riding himself, while Governor secured second place in the same race, and Talisman was similarly placed to Squaretail in the Belgaum Derby, the big race of the day. Major Morrice won a couple of races with Bonnie Lad and Rose Leaf. Details :—

MAIDEN STAKES.—Winner Rs. 100, second Rs. 50. For Maiden Arab ponies 14-1 and under; 14-1 to carry 11st 7lbs ¼ mile.

Mr Shroff's g a p Buktawar 10st 11lbs ...	Mr Fischer	1
„ Niven's g a p Squaretail 10st, 2lbs ...	Mr La Coste	2
Capt Daye's b a h Warwickshire Lad, 10st 4lbs	Owner	3

Also ran : Percival.

Won easily by three lengths; six lengths between second and third.

HINDULSI PURSE.—Winner Rs. 100, second Rs. 50. For popies 14-2 and under which have not on a race value Rs. 500 and over 6 furlongs.

Mr Fischer's br e p Wink 11st 2lbs ...	Owner	1
„ Fischer's ch a p Governor 6st 3lbs (carried 8st 12lbs)	Fowler	2
Major Morrice's g aus g Rose Leaf 10st 11b,	Thompson	3

Also ran Bhong and Heera.

Wink lead from the start and won easily by six lengths, same distance between second and third.

POLO SCURRY.—Winner Rs. 100 second Rs. 50. For all bona fide Arab and C. B. polo ponies. property of gentlemen residing in the Belgaum Military District. 3 furlongs.

Major Morrice's b a g Bonnie Lad, 9st 12lbs	Mr Marriott	1
Capt Day's w a h Squib, 10st 12lbs ..	Owner	2
Mr Brown's br cb g Sin, 10st 10lbs ...	Owner	3

Also ran: David II, Marsh, and Thomas

Won by a short head; a head between second and third.

BELGAUM DERBY.—Winner Rs. 150, second Rs. 50 For Arabs 14-2 and under who have not won races of the value of Rs. 50 or over of an aggregate value of Rs. 700. 5 furlongs.

Mr. Neven's g a p Squaretail, 9st 4lbs ...	Mr. LaCoste	1
Mr. Fischer's b a p Talisman, 11st 8lbs ...	Owner	2
Mr. Brown's g a p Greywing, 10st 11lbs ...	Owner	3

Also ran : Thomas and Warwickshire Lad.

Won easily by three lengths between second and third; four. A shocking bad start.

WELTER SCURRY.—Winner Rs. 100. second Rs. 50. For all ponies 14-2 and under, property of bona fide residents of Belgaum. About 2 furlongs.

Major Morrice's g aus g Rose Leaf, ...	Captain Toogood	1
Mr. Williams' b aus g None Such ...	Mr. Marriott	2
Mr. Lacon's g a g Brilliant ...	Captain Day	3

Also ran ; Sin, Biltong, Heera, Bhong, and Marsh. Won easily.

Second Day, Saturday, 16th May 1903.

We had good racing again to-day and the proceedings were enlivened by the Band of the 1st Madras Pioneers and pleasantly stimulated by the hospitality of the Stewards who were "at home." Wink won again and Governor and Talisman placed two seconds to Mr. Fischer's credit. Details :—

DESUR HANDICAP.—Winner Rs 100. second Rs. 50. For Maiden Arabs 14-1 and under. ½ mile.

Captain Day's w a h Squib 9st 7lbs (carried 9-11)	Owner	1
Major Morrice's b a g Bonnie Lad, 8st 12lbs	Thompson	2
Mr Shroff's g a p Buktawar, 12-st ...	Capt Toogood	3

Also ran : David II. Won by a length; one length between second and third.

PONY HURDLE RACE.—Winner Rs. 100 second Rs. 50. For all ponies 14-2 and under. 1 mile over 6 flights.

Mr Brown's g a p Greywing, 9st 7lbs (carried 9-13)	Owner	1
Mr Fischer's g a p Good Boy, 12st ...	Owner	2
Mr Muscroft's b a g Heera, 10st ...	Mr Ward	3

Also ran : Starlight. Won by half a length. Heera was beaten off.

KHOLHAPUR HANDICAP. Winner Rs. 100 second Rs. 50. For all ponies 14-2 and under. 6 furlongs.

Mr Fischer's br e p Wink, 12st 7lbs ...	Owner	1
Major Morrice's g aus g Rose Leaf, 10st ...	Mr Marriott	2

Won easily.

BELGUNDE HANDICAP.—Winner Rs. 100 second Rs. 50. 5 furlongs.

Mr Shroff's g a p Buktawar, 12st ...	Capt Toogood	1
Mr Fischer's b a p Talisman 11st, 4lbs ...	Owner	2

Also ran. Squaretail

Won by a length ; a good third.

CONSOLATION STAKES.—Winner Rs. 100 second Rs 50. For all ponies 14-2 and under who have not won a race at the meeting. 3 furlongs.

Mr Williams' b aus g None Such, 12st ...	Mr Marriott	1
Mr Fischer's b a p Governor 11st, 7lbs ...	Owner	2
Mr Brown's b l c b g Sin, 10st ...	Owner	3

Also ran : Marsh and Warwickshire Lad. Won by a length, a length between second and third.

OOTACAMUND GYMKHANA RACES.

STEWARDS :

COL. J. P. GRANT	CAPT. C. T. SWAN.
MAJOR W. M. CAMPBELL.	H. P. HODGSON, ESQ.
CAPT. R. D'A. FIFE.	L. E. LIEBENROOD, ESQ.

Judge.—COL. CUNLIFFE

Starter.—COL. R. G. JONES

Clerk of the Scales—CAPT. S. S. BROWNE.

Monday, 18th May 1903.

A VERY successful day's racing, the fields were good and the finishes exciting. Rain which threatened held off and the going could not have been better. H. E. The Governor and Lady Ampthill were there during the whole day and took a great interest in the proceedings. H. E's. Staff were at home to luncheon and entertained a large number of friends in two tents pitched opposite the stand. The Waler Scurry was the first race and for this a field of five faced the starter. Chemisette made the running from Ivan, who caught her in the straight and won fairly easily. The Novice Stakes really resulted in a match between Pennant and Right Angle in which the latter made the running, but Pennant got on even terms at the bend and won by two lengths. There was a field of five again for the Arab Stakes: Medoc made all the running and was leading till within a few yards of the post when he was caught by Gladstone and Rocket, who ran a dead heat, beating Medoc by a head. In the run off Rocket made all the running, but going very wide up the straight Gladstone won by half a length. In the Tiara Stakes, lady nominatation, a gold bracelet was presented to the nominatrix by His Excellency the Governor's Staff. There was a field of six for this race. Lease of Life made the running to the Old Pavilion, where Two Step, Rupert and Bessie caught him and raced in line; coming into the straight Bessie assumed the lead beating Two Step by half a length, with Rupert four lengths behind. For the race of the day, the Ladies' Bracelet, H. E. presented two prizes to the ladies who nominated the first and second horses. Warrior gave a lot of trouble at the start and the flag fell leaving him at the post. Gaylad made the running round the first bend, Harkaway's saddle slipped round, giving Captain Fife what looked like a bad fall, but fortunately he was unhurt. Pennant came to the front at the Old Pavilion and led up to the bend for home, when Viking, who had been lying a few lengths behind, came through his field and won by a length from Pennant. Details :—

WALER SCURRY.—For Australian and English Polo Ponies. Rs. 40 to winner, Rs. 20 to second and Rs 10 to third. —3 furlongs.

Major Campbell's g aus g Ivan, 11st 11lbs...	Owner	1
Capt Roome's br e m Chemisette, 12st 3lbs	Owner	2
„ Oake's b aus m Lady Algy, 11st 7lbs (declared 5lbs)	Owner	3
Col Desaraj Urs' b aus g Nishanbardur, 11st 7lbs	Capt Dick Cunyngham	0
Capt Fife's br aus m Hilda, 11st 7lbs ...	Owner	0

BETTING : 5 to 2 on Chemisette, evens Ivan, 3 to 1 the remainder.

Won by half a length ; five lengths between second and third. Time—40 secs.

NOVICE STAKES.—For all horses that have never won Rs. 50. W. A. and C. raised 2st 7lbs—7 furlongs. Rs. 40 to winner, Rs. 20 to second, Rs. 10 to third.

Major Campbell's br aus g Pennant, 11st 7lbs	Owner	1
Capt Fife's b aus g Right Angle, 11st 7lbs	Owner	2
Capt Dick Cunyngham b aus g Belgrove, 11st 7lbs	Owner	3
The Minor Zemindar of Marungapuri's b aus g Shikari, 11st 7lbs ...	Owner	0
Capt Browne's b aus g Barnet, 11st 7lbs ...	Capt Swan	0
Major A. F. Thompson's ch aus m Morven 11st 7lbs (declared 1st 5lbs) ...	Owner	0
Major Logan or Home's b e m Dodo, 11st 7lbs	Capt Roome	0
Capt Dick Cunyngham's ch aus g Christian, 11st 7lbs declared 4lbs.	Mr. Bannerman	0

BETTING : Pennant evens, Right Angle 2 to 1, the others 4 to 1.

Won by two lengths, six lengths between second and third. Time, 1min. 37secs.

ARAB SCURRY For bona fide c-b and Arab Polo Ponies.—3 furlongs. Rs. 40 to winner, Rs. 20 to second, and Rs. 10 to third.

Major Campbell's b a h Gladstone, 11st 7lbs	Owner	Dead heat
Capt D Cunyngham's b a g Rocket, 11st 7lbs	Owner	Dead heat
Major Logan, Home's b a g Medoc, 11st 11lbs —	Capt Fife	3
Maj. Logan Home's ch a g Bahadur 12st 3lbs	Capt Roome	0
Mr Patrickson's g a h Pole Star, 11st 7lbs ...	Owner	0

BETTING : 3 to 1 on Medoc, evens, Bahadur 3 to 1 agst. Gladstone 20 to 1 Pole Star 3 to 1 Rocket.

Dead heat half a length in the run off. Gladstone won by a head. Time—40secs.

THE TIARA STAKES.—Handicap for ponies. Rs. 40 to winner, Rs. 20 to second and Rs. 10 to third. 5 furlongs.

Capt Swans' b aus m Bessie, 9st 10lbs ...	Owner	1
Capt Mathew's b aus m Two Step, 10st 10lbs	Capt. Dick-Cunyngham	2
Major Logan, Home's ch a g Rupert 10st 7lbs	Capt Roome	3
Col Wood's ch aus m Kathleen, 9st 12lbs ...	Mr Patrickson	0
Capt Dick. Cunyngham b a h Lease of Life, 9st 7lbs	Capt. Mathews	0

Mr. Patrickson's b a h Racing Cup, 8st 7lbs The Minor Zemindar of Marungapuri.

BETTING : 5 to 1 Two Step, evens Rupert agst. 5 to 4 Bessie 5 to 1, Lease of Life, others any price.

Won by half a length; four lengths between second and third Time—1 min 11secs.

LADIES' BRACELET.—Handicap for horses. Rs. 40 to winner Rs. 20 to second Rs. 10 to third. 6 furlongs.

Capt Swan's b aus g Viking, 12st 6lbs ...	Owner	1
Major Campbell's br aus g Pennant, 10st ...	Owner	2
„ Vans Agnew's beek aus g Gaylad, 11st 2lbs	Owner	3
Mr C A Mackenzie's rn aus g Warrior, 11st 2lbs (declared 6lbs)	Owner	0
Major Logan Home's br aus g Harkaway, 10st 7lbs	Capt Fife	0
Col Grant's b cb h Prime. 9st 9lbs ...	Capt Mathews	0

BETTING : 3 to 1 agast Viking, 5 to 2 Gaylad, 6 to 5 Warrior, 4 to 1 Harkaway, 3 to 1 Pennant, 3 to 1 Prime.—Won by one length; three lengths between second and third. Time 1mim 26secs.

OPEN SCURRY. Handicap for ponies. 3 furlongs. Winner Rs. 40 second Rs. 20 third Rs. 10 3 furlongs.

Major Campbell's ch aus m Mary Jane, 12st 7lbs	Owner	1
Capt Roome's br e m Chemisette, 11st 10lbs	Owner	2
„ Oake's b aus m Lady Algy 11st 3lbs	Capt Fife	3
Col Desaraj Urs' b aus m Countess, 10st 10lbs	Capt Swan	0
Mr Day's dum aus g Jimmy 9st 7lbs ...	Capt Mathews	0
Zemindar of Kavalpara's b aus m Rajah, 8st 7lbs	Owner	0

BETTING : 6 to 4 agst Mary jane, evens Chemisette, 3 to1. each Lady Algy and Countess, 20 to 1 Jimmy, 5 to 1 Rajah

Won by a head two lengths between second and third. Time, 39⅕secs.

9TH UMBALLA STATION GYMKHANA.

STEWARDS :

COL. J. W. HAWKINS, R.H.A.	MAJOR J. C. CONNOR R.A.M.C.
MAJOR THE HON. H. G. HENEAGE, D.S.O., 12th Royal Lancers.	CAPT. C. GREGORY, 19th Bengal Lancers.
MAJOR G. L. HOLLAND, 34th Pioneers.	CAPT. J. F. C. MURRAY, 2nd The Black Watch.
MAJOR A. R. READE, The Welsh Regt.	CAPT. L. G. W. DOBBIN, Northamptonshire Regt.

Judge.—COL. ATHERTON, 12th Royal Lancers.

Starter.—MR. A. BEEDHAM, S.V.D.

Honorary Secretary—CAPT. BALLANTYNE.

Saturday, 16th May 1903.

POLO SCURRY.—Rs. 32. For ponies that have played regularly in Umballa that have never won a race value Rs. 50. Catch weights 11st 7lbs. Walers or English 7lbs. extras. 2 furlongs.

Capt A Brown's w a g Jessamine, 11st 7lbs	Owner	1
Mr Grant's br cb Mandarin, 11st 7lbs ...	Owner	2
„ Drummond's b cb m Perthshire, 11st 7lbs	Mr Pawson	3
Major Clifton Brown's ch a h Bubbles, 11st 7lbs	Owner	0

Won by a length ; a head between second and third.

HARNESS STAKES.—Rs. 32. For trappers regularly driven in Umballa that have never won a race of any description. 14-1 to carry 12st. Arab and C.B.'s allowed 7lbs. W.I. 2½ furlongs.

Capt Hobson's br aus g Jinks, 12st ...	Owner	1
Major Clifton Brown's ch aus m Coo-Ey, 11st 2lbs	Owner	2
Sergt Ellison's dun ch g Corruption, 8st 13lbs	Native	3
Mr Murray's dun cb h Umballa, 9st 11lbs	Mr Pawson	0
„ Buxton's b cb m Phyllis, 10st 9lbs ...	Mr Talbot	0

Won by half a length ; poor third.

HORSE PLATE.—Rs. 32. For all horses. Catchweights 11st. 7lbs. Winners of a race of any description once 4lbs., twice 7lbs., three times or oftener 10lbs. C.B's allowed 7lbs., Arabs 12lbs. ¼ mile.

Mr Pawson's ch e g Idleness, 11st 7lbs ...	Owner	1
„ Haywood's br aus g Jim, 11st 7lbs ...	Owner	2
„ Pawson's b aus m Manette, 11st 11lbs	Capt Brown	3
Capt Hobson's ch aus g Carrots, 11st 7lbs	Owner	0
Mr Grant's ch aus g Durbar, 12st ...	Owner	0

Won by two lengths.

UMBALLA PURSE.—Rs. 32 Arabs and C.B.'s 14-1, others 13-3½ that have never won a race of any description value Rs. 50 or over. W.I. Gymkhana winners once 3lbs., twice 7lbs., oftener 10lbs. ¼ mile.

Mr Drummond's ch cb m Mule, 10st 11b...	Mr Talbot	1
„ Pawson's br cb g Velvet, 11st 3lbs ...	Owner	2
Capt A Brown's w a g Jessamine, 11st 7lbs	Owner	3
Mr Symond's b cb h Sir Rodger, 11st 2lbs	Mr Grant	0
Major Greenly's b cb g Umballa II., 11st 2lbs	Owner	0

Won by a length ; half a length between second and third

Entries for Races,

MYSORE RACES.

First Day, Tuesday, 16th June, 1903.

THE ARAB PLATE—1½ miles.

1	Mr R B S's ...	... ch a h	... Sapphire
2	Lt.-Col A Sprot's	... ch a h	... Harefoot
3	Cap Thompson's	... b a h	... Pompom II.
4	Mr S A Wahed's	... b a h	... Dib
5	Mr W F Wormald's	... b a h	... Babyboy
6	Lt.-Col J Desaraj Urs'	... ch a h	... Rubric
7	Mr R R S ...	... br a h	... Padlock
8	Mr Ali-b n-Talib's	... b a h	... Moon
9	Mr Mustapha-bin-Talib's	.. g a h	... Chungiz

MACINTIRE PLATE—6 furlongs.

1	Cap J Randall's	... br aus m	... Blue Blood
2	Dr Spooner Hart's	... bk aus g	... Oberon, aged
3	Mr A A Apcar's	... br aus m	... Sister
4	Lt.-Col J Desaraj Urs'	... b aus g	... Trenton
5	Major Vans Agnew's	... bk aus g	... Gaylad
6	Mr L Robinson's	... br aus g	... Star
7	Cap J Randall's	... ch rn e g	... Dr Barnardo

THE FARM STAKES—5 furlongs.

1	Lt.-Col R G Jones'	... b cb m	... St Clair
2	Mr Liebenrood's	... b cb g	... Landwind
3	Cap W J Tatam's	... ch cb m	... Filigree
4	Col J P Grant's	... b cb h	... Prime
5	H H Aga Khan's	... br cb m	... Evensong

FREE DRAWING.
FULL FLAVOUR.
MANUFACTURED BY
SPENCER & CO., Ld., Madras.

JAVA DAWSON.

OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.
Sole Wholesale Agents in.
CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

6	Mr A A Apcar's	ch cb g	Phil
7	Mr W P Allardice's	cb g	Upstart
8	Col J P Grant's	ch cb g	Philistine
9	Mr J D Scott's	b cb h	Louis

THE MEDIUM STAKES—6 furlongs.

1	The Kumararaja of Pittapore's	b aus g	Shield
2	Major W M Campbell's	ch aus m	Mary Jane
3	Mr C P Graham's	ch aus m	Shot Silk
4	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	Rifleman
5	Mr A Sattar's	b aus m	Beccles
6	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b aus g	Minimus
7	Mr A P Symmond's	bk aus m	Cleopatra.

THE LILLIPUT PLATE—6 furlongs.

1	Mr R R S's	b a h	Sirjamal
2	Mr E Sydenham's	b a h	Syndic
3	Mr R St C Houston's	g a h	Dharwar
4	Mr S A Wahed's	b a h	Salvation
5	Aga S Shah's	b a h	Oriental
6	Mr O Dignum's	g a h	Essex
7	Capt R M Bell's	g a h	Defendant
8	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b a h	Delight
9	Mr Ali-bin-Talib's	b a h	Moon

Second Day, Thursday, 18th June, 1903.

H. H. THE MAHARAJA'S CUP—1 Mile and 3 furlongs.

1	Mr R R S's	ch a h	Sapphire
2	Lt.-Col A Sprot's	ch a h	Harefoot
3	Mr S A Wahed's	b a h	Dib
4	Mr W F Wormald's	b a h	Babyboy
5	Cap R M Bell's	g a h	Superb
6	Lt.-Col J Desaraj Urs'	ch a h	Rubric
7	Ditto	b a h	Delight
8	Mr R R Ss'	br a h	Padlock
9	Mr Ali-bin Talib's	b a h	Mameluke
10	Ditto	b a h	Moon.
11	Mr Mustapha-bin-Talib's	g a h	Chungiz
12	Mr E Sydenham's	b a h	Syndic

THE DEWAN'S CUP—1½ miles.

1	Mr Liebenrood's	b cb g	Landwind.
2	Col J P Grant's	b cb h	Prime
3	H H Aga Khan's	br cb m	Evensong.
4	Mr A A Apcar's	ch cb g	Phil
5	Mr W P Allardice's	cb g	Upstart
6	Mr J D Scott's	b cb h	Louis

THE BIRTHDAY CUP.—1¼ miles.

1	Major H C V Harrison's	ch aus g	Glenfield
2	Ditto	br aus g	Steelpen
3	Raja Venugopal Bhadur's	ch aus g	Jack O'Lantern
4	Lt.-Col H Armstrong's	b aus g	Knight Templar
5	Capt C T Swan's	b aus g	Viking
6	H H Aga Khan's	br c g	Ayrdale
7	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	Wallgrove
8	Mr A A Apcar's	b aus g	Goldsmith
9	Ditto	b aus g	Malto
10	Mr N C Chowdhury's	ch aus g	Tecoota
11	Mr Biswas'	b aus g	Promontory
12	Lt.-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b aus g	Trenton
13	Mr Kelso's	b aus g	Harpist

THE INSTALLATION CUP—7 furlongs.

1	The Kumararaja of Pittapore's	b aus g	Shield
2	Mr A P Symond's	bk aus m	Cleopatra
3	Major W M Campbell's	ch aus m	Mary Jane
4	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	Rifleman
5	Mr A Sattar's	b aus m	Beccles
6	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b aus g	Minimus
7	Mr C P Graham's	ch aus m	Shot Silk

THE STABLE CUP—5 furlongs.

1	Mr R R S's	bk aus g	Dumbell
2	Major H C V Harrison's	ch aus g	De Wet
3	Ditto	b aus g	Steelpen
4	Raja Venugopal Bahadur's	ch aus g	Jack O'Lantern
5	Capt C T Swan's	ch aus g	The Cardinal
6	Capt J Randall's	br aus m	Blue Blood
7	Major J Vans Agnew's	b aus g	Corrie Roy
8	Mr R Anketell Jones'	b aus g	Ombree
9	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	Wallgrove
10	Mr A A Apcar's	br aus m	Sister
11	Ditto	b aus g	Malto
12	Mr N C Chowdhury's	ch aus g	Tecoota
13	Mr Biswas's	b aus g	Promontory
14	Major F C Logan-Home's	ch aus g	Redoubt
15	Mr Kelso's	b aus g	Harpist
16	Major Vans Agnew's	bk aus g	Gaylad
17	Mr L Robinson's	br aus g	Star

Third Day, Saturday, 20th June 1903.

THE ARAB HANDICAP—9 furlongs.

1	Mr R R S's	ch a h	Sapphire
2	Lt-Col A Sprot's	ch a h	Harefoot
3	Capt Thompson's	b a h	Pompom II
4	Mr S A Wahed's	b a h	Dib
5	Mr W F Wormald's	b a h	Babyboy
6	Mr O Dignum's	g a h	Defendant
7	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	ch a h	Rubric
8	Mr Mustapha-bin-Talib's	g a h	Chungia

C. B. HANDICAP—1 mile.

1	Mr Liebenrood's	b cb g	Landwind
2	Col J P Grant's	b cb h	Prime
3	H H Aga Khan's	br cb m	Evensong
4	Mr A A Apcar's	ch cb g	Phil
5	Mr W P Allardices	ch g	Upstart
6	Mr J D Scott's	b cb h	Louis

THE ROYAL PURSE—1 mile.

1	Major H C V Harrison's	b cb g	Hampton Court
2	Mr A P Symond's	bk aus m	Cleopatra
3	Major W M Campbell's	ch aus m	Mary Jane
4	Capt C T Swan's	b aus m	Bessie
5	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	Rifleman
6	Mr A Sattar's	b aus m	Beccles.
7	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b aus g	Minimus
8	Ditto	br aus m	Acme
9	Mr C P Graham's	ch aus m	Shot Silk

THE PALACE CUP—1 mile.

1	Mr R R S's	bk aus g	Dumbell
2	Major H C V Harrison's	ch aus g	Glenfield.
3	Ditto	ch aus g	De Wet
4	Raja Venugopal Bahadur's	ch aus g	Jack O'Lantern
5	Capt F Jollie's	b aus g	Best Shot
6	Lt-Col H Armstrong's	b aus g	Knight Templar
7	Mr Liebenrood's	ch aus m	Latchkey
8	Capt C T Swan's	b aus g	Viking
9	Major J Vans Agnew's	b aus g	Corrie Roy
10	Mr R Anketell-Jones'	b aus g	Ombree
11	H H Aga Khan's	br c g	Ayrdale
12	Dr Spooner Hart's	b aus g	Wallgrove
13	Mr A A Apcar's	b aus g	Goldsmith
14	Ditto	b aus g	Malto
15	Mr N C Chowdhury's	ch aus g	Tecoota
16	Mr Biswas'	b aus g	Promontory
17	Major F C Logan-Home's	ch aus g	Redoubt
18	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b aus g	Trenton
19	Ditto	ch aus g	Leonidas
20	Mr Kelso's	b aus g	Harpist
21	Capt J Randall's	ch in e g	Dr Barnardo

CHAMMUNDI STAKES—1 mile.

1	Mr R R S's	b a h	Sirjamal
2	Mr E Sydenham's	b a h	Syndic
3	Mr R St C Houston's	g a h	Dharwar
4	Mr S A Wahed's	b a h	Salvation
5	Aga S Shah's	b a h	Oriental
6	Mr O Dignum's	g a h	Defendant
7	Capt R M Bell's	g a h	Essex
8	Ditto	g a h	Superb
9	Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs'	b a h	Delight
10	Mr Ali-bin-Talib's	b a h	Moon

BANGALORE, 1st May, 1903.

H. DONNE, Secretary, Mysore Races.

N. B.—Third Entries close 1st June, 1903.

Ponies.

W. I. T. C. Measurements.

POONA.

Horses Name.	Description.	Owner's Name.	Age.	Height.	Period.
Lady Cheltenhan	b e m	Mr. W. Bass	Aged	13-2½	For life.
Lady Lane	ch e m	Mr. W. Bass	Aged	14-0	For life.
S. P.	b e m	Mr. W. Bass	Six	14-1	For life.
Malakite	b a g.	Mr. Norton	Aged	14-0	For life.
Money Spinner	g a h	Col. Kavenagh	Six	14-½	For life.
Plum	b cb m	Vety. Capt. A. C. Newsom	Six	14-1	For life.

Sport in England.

(FROM OUR OWN SPORTING CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Friday, 8th May 1903.

THE TURF.

FOR once the Newmarket First Spring Meeting has not belied its name and from start to finish the atmosphere was mild and genial. Visitors to head-quarters thus enjoyed a welcome immunity from the worst rigours of a treacherous season, and, despite the frequent visitations of driving rain, their experiences were positively delightful in comparison with those of a fortnight ago. A soaking downpour on the night of the 30th ultimo was followed by a dubious, threatening morning, but the rain held off, and, though gloomy and dull the afternoon remained fine.

Evidence that it was May Day were forthcoming at every turn this morning. The streets were thronged with school children, laden with floral devices and garlands of all sizes and descriptions, and the rattle of money-boxes proclaimed the fact that coppers, at any rate, were plentiful. As a rule, the attendance on the last day of a Newmarket Meeting shows a decided falling off, and it was so on the present occasion, the One Thousand Guineas not proving sufficiently attractive to detain many of those who make a practice of returning to town on the morning of the final day. The card comprised half-a-dozen events, of which only one finished away from the stands. The going was in grand order, and good all-round sport was witnessed, but, owing to a hitch in the working of the starting-gate, we were within an ace having the One Thousand Guineas run over a second time

THE BRETBY HANDICAP—Of 335 sovs. Bretby Stakes Course (six furlongs).

Lord Howard de Walden's ch h Watershed, by Watercress—Parthenia, 5yrs, 8st 2lbs ... ... Halsey 1
Mr L de Rothschild's b c Proteus, 3yrs, 5st 9lbs ... ... J Jarvis 2
Mr J B Keene's b g Chacornac, 6yrs, 8st 9lbs ... ... Lyne 3
Prince Soltykoff's Leisure Hour, aged, 7st 11b ... ... Watts 0
Mr L Brassey's Arabi, 3yrs, 6st 7lbs ... Trigg 0
Count Lehndorff's St Briavels, 4yrs, 6st 10lbs ... ... Miller 0
Lord Dunraven's Salute, 3yrs, 6st 4lbs ... Griggs 0

(Winner trained by Beatty, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 7 to 4 agst Watershed, 9 to 2 Arabi, 5 to 1 Proteus, 100 to 15 Salute, 100 to 14 Leisure Hour, 10 to 1 St. Briavels, and 100 to 8 Chacornac.

Won by a neck; a head divided second and third. Arabi was fourth, St. Briavels fifth, and Leisure Hour last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min. 20⅗secs.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.

LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.

Durable and deliciously fragrant.

Rs. 2-12, Re. 1-8, Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.

According to size. From

J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

THE ONE THOUSAND GUINEAS STAKES—Of 3,800 sovs, for three-year-old fillies; 9st each. R. M. (one mile).

Lord Falmouth's b f Quintessence, by St Frusquin—Margarine	H Randall	1
Prince Soltykoff's b f Sun Rose, by Sheen—Nina	W Halsey	2
Mr W Raphael's ch f Skyscraper, by Velasquez or Ayrshire—Chelandry	D Maher	3
Mr J R Keene's Dazzling, by St Leonard—Splendour	L Lyne	4
Mr J Musker's Baroness La Fleche, by Ladas—La Fleche	O Madden	0
Lord Alington's You Go Off, by Sir Hugo—Fuse	M Cannon	0
Major Eustace Loder's Hammerkop, by Yallinule—Concussion	J H Martin	0
Sir J Blundell Maple's Kittywick, by Childwick—Kate Miller	F Hardy	0
Mr L Brassey's Red Lily, by Persimmon—Melody	K Cannon	0
Mr P P Gilpin's Star of the Sea, by Gallinule—Ethel	J E Watts	0
Sir F Blundell Maple's Girlie, by Royal Hampton—Minting Queen	W Lane	0
Mr W Brodrick Cloete's Guigne, by Cherry Tree—Sigh	H Jones	0

(Sir J Blundell Maple declared to win with Girlie.)

(Winner trained by J. Chandler, at Lambourn.)

BETTING AT THE START.: 15 to, agst Barones La Fleche 9 to 4 Skyscraper, 4 to 1 Quintessence, 100 to 7 Hammerkop, 20 to 1 any other (o.)

THE RACE.

Girlie and Kittywick were saddled away, and Guigne was the first to leave the paddock, cantering to the post in advance of Quintessence, Baroness La Fleche, You Go Off, Skyscraper, Star of the Sea, Sun Rose, and Red Lily, the last pair being Dazzling and Hammerkop. The white flag was hoisted at eight minutes past two, and when a start was effected four minutes later Sun Rose, Guigne, and Hammerkop became entangled in the webbing, the first to show in front being Skyscraper, Quintessence, and Baroness La Fleche, all on the left, with Dazzling, Girlie, and Kittywick in the centre, clear of Star of the Sea and Red Lily, the last trio being Guigne, Hammerkop, and Sun Rose, to the Bushes, where Quintessence took a slight lead of Skyscraper, Red Lily, Dazzling, and Baroness La Fleche. The latter lost her place descending the hill, and in the Dip Sun Rose took third place, well in front of Dazzling and Kittywick, but though Prince Soltykoff's filly overhauled Skyscraper close home, she failed to make any impression on Quintessence, who won by a length and a half; two lengths separated the second and third. Dazzling was fourth, Kittywick fifth, Baroness La Fleche sixth, You Go Off seventh, Hammerkop eighth, Star of the Sea ninth, Red Lily next, and Guigne last. An objection as to the validity of the start (lodged by Prince Soltykoff) was subsequently withdrawn. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min. 48secs.

Big with the fate of the Chester Cup and "Jubilee" Stakes the last and by no means the least important of the series of Spring Handicaps, the present week is one of the busiest and most eventful of the first half of the racing season. All that is required to make the next few days memorable is weather worthy of the month of the flowers, and at this moment it would seem as if the experiences of racegoers in this respect will be pleasant enough. A balmy southerly breeze rendered the atmosphere delightfully soft and mild in Chester on the morning of the 5th instant, as soon the thin mist which had enveloped the low-lying lands by the riverside was dissipated by the sun, and the day was bright and clear till three o'clock, when rain set in and spoilt the remainder of the proceedings. Freshened up by the recent downpour—which, by the bye, has caused disastrous floods in parts of the potteries—the Roodee was looking at its best. The vivid green of the fresh herbage was soothing to the eye, and the course bore signs of having been well and carefully tended. It was, as a matter of fact, rather on the soft side, but, though it got plenty of rain, the turf stood the work well and hardly showed any signs of wear when the sport concluded. The programme was framed upon precisely similar lines to that of a twelvemonth ago, and yielded a brisk and enjoyable entertainment, which was liberally patronised by the public. The Duke and Duchess of Westminster were present in the private stand, as were Princess Henry of Pless, Lord and Lady Arthur Grosvenor, and a large and fashionable gathering.

THE WYNNSTAY HANDICAP PLATE—Of 452 sovs. One mile and a half.

Mr L de Rothschild's b f Venus, by St Simon—Lady Loverule, 4yrs, 6st 7lbs	Trigg	1
Sir M FitzGerald's b f Happy Match, 4yrs, 6st 2lbs	J Jarvis	2
Mr J Collins's b g Decave, 4yrs, 7st 13lbs	W Lane	3
Duke of Portland's Mannlicher, 6yrs, 8st 9lbs	M Cannon	0
Mr Lauderdale's Golden Bay, 6yrs, 7st 5lbs	Watts	0
Mr G O Dobell's Murlingden, 4yrs, 6st 9lbs	Griggs	0

(Winner trained by Hayhoe, at Newmarket.)

BETTING 5 to 4 agst Golden Bay, 7 to 2 Decave, 5 to 1 Venus, 6 to 1 each Mannlicher and Happy Match, and 100 to 8 Murlingden (o.)

Won by four lengths; a like distance between second and third. Golden Bay was fourth and Murlingden last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2min. 45⅘secs.

THE STAMFORD TWO-YEAR-OLD PLATE—Of 185 sovs colts 9st, fillies and geldings 8st 11lb. Five furlongs.

Mr F Alexander's b f Bitters, by St. Serf—Mara, 8st 11lbs	M Cannon	1
Mr R W Cox's b g Glenbreck, 8st 11lbs	Maher	2
" T P King's br g Ambrose, 8st 11lbs	Mr G Thursby	3
" E Bonner's Coxcomb, 9st	Halsey	0
Lord Dunraven's Tamasha, 9st	Croft	0
Lord Crewe's Lady Wishfort, 8st 11lbs	Hardy	0
Mr J S Walley's McDuchess, 8st 11lbs	Walley, jun	0

(Winner trained by J. Porter, at Kingsclere.)

BETTING: Evens Bitters, 4 to 1 agst Ambrose, 5 to 1 Glenbreck, and 100 to 8 other (o.)

Won in a canter by five lengths; two lengths between second and third. Coxcomb was fourth, Lady Wishfort fifth, and McDuchess last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1 min 7⅕sec.

The Cup is the pivot on which the fortunes of the Chester Meeting turn, and a wet Cup day is nothing less than a calamity for all concerned. It must have been with feelings of grievous disappointment, therefore, that those who have the welfare of the old-establishmend meeting at heart awoke this morning to hear the ceaseless drip of the rain from a leaden and lowering sky. The thunderstorm which visited Chester just before the conclusion of racing developed into a merciless downpur, which would have done credit to a tropical monsoon, and the rain descended in sheets almost without cessation during

FULL FLAVOURED.

MADE SOLELY FROM THE BEST INDIAN TOBACCO.

SPENCER & Co., Ld.,

MADRAS.

SIESTAS.

Made in three sizes.

Extras 6 ins. long, Rs. 20 per 1,000.
No. 1, 5 " " " 15 " 1,000.
" 2, 4 " " " 14 " 1,000.

FACTORY: DINDIGUL, S. INDIA.

the night. No more glooming outlook for an important celebration could be imagined, and it speaks volumes for the pluck and hardihood of the votaries of racing that such a large crowd should have assisted at the proceedings, despite the emphatic hostility of the elements. They trudged through the muddy streets in thousands as train after train discharged its human freight at the portals of the ancient city. Having regard to the unpropitious conditions the attendance was a flattering one in every respect. The private stand held its full complement of aristocratic patrons, and the townfolk congregated along the old battlements and the riverside, as they have done for a century past. The going could not fail to be heavy, and was beginning to cut up towards the finish of the afternoon's racing; but the aggregate number of runners was large, and though a Kingsclere favourite had once more to play second fiddle in the Cup the stable supplied a couple of winners.

THE CHESTER CUP (Handicap).—Of 2,030 sovs (a cup value 50 sovs, and the remainder in species). Old Cup Course (nearly two miles and a quarter).

Mr G Thursby's b c Vendale, by the Bard—Water Lily (bred in U. S A.), 4yrs, 6sts 6lbs	C Trigg	1
Mr F Alexander's b c Throwaway, by Right-away—Theale, 4yrs, 7st 5lbs ...	F Hardy	2
Duke of Portland's ch c Caro, by Carbine—Nene-moosha, 4yrs, 7sts ...	Griggs	3
Mr J Collins' Carabine, by Carbine—Saint-field, 5yrs, 7st 13lbs	J B Watts	4
Lord Howard de Walden's St Maclou, by by St Simon—Mini, 5yrs, 9st 5lbs ...	M Cannon	0
Mr Reid Walker's Templemore, by St Hilaire-Little Widow, 5yrs, 8st 5lbs ...	W Halsey	0
Baron de Forest's Lognes, by Simonian—Barcarolle, 4yrs, 7st 9lbs ...	W Bray	0
Lord Carnarvon's Preen, by Sheen ... Coquette, 4yrs, 7st 2lbs (car 7st 4lbs)	J H Martin	0
Sir Edgar Vincent's Parody by Avington—Portree, 4yrs, 6st 7lbs (inc 7lbs ex)	G Janck	0
Mr Arthur James' Shellmartin, by Florizel II.—Bentesta, 4yrs, 6st 11lbs ...	J Plant	0
Mr L de Rothschild's Venus, by St. Simon—Lady Loverule, 4yrs, 6st 10lbs (inc 7lbs ex)	Heppell	0
Mr Sydney Platt's Monitress, by Trenton—Lady Detective, 4yrs, 6st 9lbs (car 6st 10lbs)	T L Miller	0
Mr R Croker's Liquidator, by St Frusquin—Eau d'Or, 4yrs, 6st	Jarvis	0
Mr A Stedall's Grand Deacon, by Freemason—L'Excepcion, 5yrs, 6st 4lbs. (car 6st 6lb)...	H Knott	0
Mr R C Thompson's Leviathan, by Isinglass—Galiana, 5yrs, 6st 9lbs ...	J Murray	0

(Winner trained by Duke, at Cranborne.)

BETTING AT THE START: 7 to 2 agst Throwaway, 11 to 2 Caro, 8 to 1 Carabine, 10 to 1 Vendale, 100 to 9 St, Maclou, 100 to 8 Liquidator, 100 to 7 Lognes, 100 to 7 Parody, 100 to 6 Templemore, 100 to 6 Preen, 20 to 1 Venus, 20 to 1 Monitress, 50 to 1 Shellmartin, 50 to 1 Grand Deacon, 50 to 1 Leviathan.

THE RACE.

Vendale was the first to leave the paddock, and led the parade from Grand Deacon, Shellmartin, Caro, Throwaway, Venus, Lognes, Liquidator, Preen, Monitress, Carabine, and Parody, the last pair being Leviathan and St. Maclou. Grand Deacon showed the way in the canter to Caro, Preen, Shellmartin, Vendale, Throwaway, and Monitress, and the white flag was hoisted at 3-17. After the start had been delayed by the fractiousness of Vendale—who badly kicked Lognes—and Monitress, the lot were despatched at 3-22, Caro being the quickest to show, in front of Vendale, St. Maclou, Monitress, Shellmartin, and Liquidator to the stand, where Vendale drew out with a clear lead of Caro, Shellmartin, St. Maclou, Monitress, and Leviathan, with Liquidator, Parody, and Carabine heading the middle division and Preen whipping in. At the railway turn Vendale and Leviathan held a two-length lead of Caro, who was in turn well clear of Shellmartin, Parody, and St. Maclou, another gap separating them from Templemore, Throwaway, Monitress, Carabine, and Venus, Grand Deacon now dropping back last. In the straight the second time there was little alteration, except that Vendale was then four lengths in front of Leviathan and that Shellmartin ceded his position to Parody, with Monitress, St. Maclou, Carabine, Throwaway and Venus in close pursuit; but at the Grosvenor turn Throwaway took third place clear of Carabine and Parody, a long gap separating them from St. Maclou, Liquidator, and Monitress. When fairly in the turn for home Throwaway joined Caro, and the pair reduced Vendale's lead to a length, but they failed to get on terms with Mr. Thursby's colt, who made practically the whole of the running and won by a length; three-parts of a length between second and third. Carabine was fourth, Parody fifth, St. Maclou sixth, Liquidator seventh, Preen eighth, Monitress ninth, Venus tenth, Leviathan eleventh, Shellmartin twelvth, Grand Deacon next, and Lognes last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 4mins 20⅘ sec.

The racing public are keenly appreciative of any steps taken by the authorities to enance their comfort or convenience, and the action of the Clerk of the Course at Chester in posting the result of the draw for places on the numberboard throughout the meeting met with unanimous approval. The same sort of thing has been done before, but never in quite such a simple and effective manner; and another move which has earned the plaudits of all interested in breeding is the addition, in the case of two-year-old races, of the pedigrees of all the competitors figuring on the card. It is in the gratification of these minor events that the secret of successful management lies. The presence of the Prince of Wales—who arrived from London accompanied by the Princess, on a visit to the Duke and Duchess of Westminster—gave a fillip to the closing chapter of the meeting, and the assembly in the private stands was even more distinguished and fashionable than it had been on the previous day. Moreover, there was a material improvement in the climatic conditions during the morning, the rain and gloom of the day before giving place to a mild, dry atmosphere, illuminated at intervals by furtive glimpses of sunshine. It was too pleasant to last, however, and the rain—which held off till after the third race—came down in torrents for the remainder of the afternoon. Nothing could prevent the going being heavy after the torrential downpour of the last two days, but a liberal covering of straw litter in Tattersall's Ring and the paddock went far cowards remedying the sodden conditions underfoot. The fields, tut down to narrow demensions in the majority of instances, but some interesting sport was witnessed, and three favourites were successful.

THE GREAT CHESHIRE HANDICAP STAKES (a high-weight handicap)—Of 900 sovs. One mile and a quarter.

Lord Stanley's ch c Pellisson, by Prisoner—Red Spider, 6yrs, 8st 7lbs ...	Maher	1
Lord Dunraven's b c Morganatic, 4yrs, 7st 11lbs	J H Martin	2
Prince Soltykoff's b c Coal Sack, 4yrs, 7st 7lbs	Watts	3
Sir J Blundell Maple's Simony, 4yrs, 8st 8lbs	W Lane	0
Mr E Carlton's Flavus, aged, 7st 8lbs ...	Boardman	0
„ B Gottschalk's Beamish, 4yrs, 7st 8lbs	O Madden	0
„ D J Jardine's Gardenhurst, 5yrs, 7st 3lbs	Heppell	0
Mr J Corlett's Lord of the Level, 3yrs, 6st 10lbs ...	Knott	0

(Winner trained by Mr. G. Lambton at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 100 to 30 agst Pellisson, 4 to 1 Flavus, 5 to 1 Simony, 6 to 1 Coal Sack, 7 to 1 Gardenhurst, 8 to 1 Morganatic, 100 to 12 Beamish, and 100 to 7 Lord of the Level (offered).

Won a fine race by a neck; three lengths separated the second and third. Flavus was fourth. Simony fifth, Lord of the Level sixth, and Beamish last Time by Benson's chronograph, 2mins. 27secs.

THE DEE STAKES—Of 632 sovs, for three-year-olds; colts 9st, fillies and geldings 8st 11lbs with penalties, and allowances One mile and a half.

Lord Farquhar's br c Gilbert Orme, by Orme—Wenonah, 8st 7lbs ...	Maher	1
Mr L de Rothschild's b c Gourgaud, 8st 7lbs	Cannon	2
Sir E Vincent's ch c Countermark, 9st 6lbs	W Lane	3
Duke of Portland's Belesselsky, 8st 4lbs (car 8st 5lb)	M Cannon	0
Lord Ellesmere's Ravina, 8st 4lbs ...	Halsey	0
Sir S Scott's c by St. Simon—Sierra, 8st 4lbs	C Madden	0

(Winner trained by Mr G Lambton, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 5 to 4 agst Countermark, 4 to 1each Gilbert Orm-and Gourgaud, 8 1 to the Sierra colt, and 10 to 1 any others (offered).

Won in a canter by three lengths; five lengths between second and third. Sierra colt was fourth and Ravina last. Time by Benson's cronograph, 2mins 58⅘secs.

TEXT OF THE LORDS' BETTING BILL.

The following are the full clauses of the Bill that Lord Davey has introduced in the House of Lords:

BETTING [HL.]

[3 EDW. 7.]

A Bill Intituled An Act to amend the Betting Acts of 1853 and 1874 and for other purposes. The Lord Davey. [Ordered to be printed 28th April, 1903.]

Be it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

'RESORTING' AND "RESORT."

1. The word "resorting" in section one of the Betting Act, 1853, and this Act, shall include applying by the agency of another person or by letter, telegraph, telephone, or other means of correspondence, and the word "resort," in section seven of the said Act, and in this Act, shall have the same meaning.

AMENDMENT OF S. 3 OF ACT OF 1853.

2. The provisions of section three of the Betting Act, 1853, shall extend and apply to any person opening, keeping, or using, within the United Kingdom, any house, office, room, or place for the purpose of any money or valuable thing being received by or on behalf of the keeper of any betting-house or office situate either within or without the United Kingdom.

AMENDMENT OF S. 7. OF ACT OF 1853.

3. The provisions of section three of the Betting Act, 1853, shall extend and apply to any person exhibiting or publishing, or causing to be exhibiting or published, any playcard, handbill, card, writing, or other advertisement whereby it shall appear that any house, office, room, or place is opened, kept, or used either within or without the United Kingdom for the purposes in the said section mentioned or referred to, or any of them, and to any person who shall invite other persons to resort to any house, office, room, or place either within or without the United Kingdom for the purposes aforesaid or any of them: Provided that, if it appear that any such advertisement or invitation has been published in any registered newspaper inadvertently and without knowledge onthe part of the proprietor or manager of the newspaper of the nature of the business advertised or the meaning of the contents of the advertisement, the penalty may be remitted by the court.

BETTING IN A STREET, ETC.

4.—(1). Any person exercising the business of a bookmaker or betting agent by betting or offering to bet with other persons or inciting other persons to bet with him, or receiving money or other valueable thing as consideration for any bet, or paying or settling any bets in any street or other public place, or any place to which the public have unrestricted access, or any house licensed for the sale of intoxicating liquors, shall be guilty of a misdemeanour, and shall be liable, if convicted for the first offence, to a fine not exceeding ten pounds, and for the second offence to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, and for any subsequent offence if convicted on indictment to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds or to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding six months, without the option of a fine, and, if convicted on a summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding thirty pounds or to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term not exceeding three months without the option of a fine: Provided always, that if a person be convicted under this section of betting with any person under the age of sixteen years or receiving money from or paying money to any such person or inciting any such person to bet with him he shall be liable for the first and every subsequent offence to the maximum penalty or imprisonment hereinbefore imposed for the third and subsequent offence

(2). All books, cards, papers, and other articles connected with such betting as aforesaid shall be deemed to be instruments of gaming, and any person so offending as aforesaid shall be deemed to be a rogue and vagabond within the meaning of fifth George the Fourth, chapter eighty-three, and shall be subject to be arrested and searched in accordance with the provisions in in that behalf therein contained.

(3). Any person who appears to the court to be under the age of sixteen years shall for the purpose of this section be deemed to be under that age unless the contrary be proved.

(4). For the purpose of this section, the word "street", shall have the same meaning as in the Public Health Act 1875.

NOTICE OF PROHIBITION OF BETTING.

5. The proprietors or persons having the control of any area within which sports are carried on may exhibit at the entrance or in some conspicuous place within the same, notices that betting is prohibited within the said area or some part thereof, and, in that case, any person who shall hold himself out as ready to bet with other persons, or incite other persons, or to bet with him, within the area where betting is so prohibited, shall be guilty of an offence under this Act, and shall be liable to the same penalties as he would have been under this Act if he had been convicted of betting in the street.

EXTENSION OF 55 VICT. C.4.

6. Any person who knowingly receives money from an infant as consideration for a bet to be made with him shall be guilty of an offence within section one of the Betting and Loans (Infants, Act, 1892, and shall be liable to the penalties imposed by that section, and the other provisions of the said Act shall be applicable) to him.

RECOVERY OF PENALTIES.

7.—(1). The penalties imposed by this Act may be recovered by proceedings under the Summary Jurisdiction Acts, and, in Scotland, in the manner provided by section four of the Betting Act, 1874, save where otherwise provided; and, in Scotland, "indictment" has the same meaning as in the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1887.

(2) The provisions as to arrest and search contained in Statute of fifth George the Fourth, chapter eigthy-three, shall, by this Act, be applied to offences under sections four and five of this Act committed in Scotland.

DEFINITIONS.

8. In this Act—

The word "bookmaker" means a person exercising the business of betting with persons resorting to him for the purpose:

The word "betting agent" means a person acting as agent for a bookmaker or for making bets between any two persons.

SHORT TITLE.

9. This Act may be cited as the Betting Act, 1903, and shall be read with the Betting Acts, 1853 and 1874.

CRICKET.

SURREY vs. WARWICKSHIRE.—There was no play at the Oval on Monday, for the heavy rain had so saturated the wicket that cricket was out of the question. The delay enabled Hargreave to take his place in the Warwickshire team; he had only arrived in England from Australia on the previous night. On Tuesday, J. F. Byrne, the new Warwickshire captain, won the toss, and made a good stand with Kinneir after Devey had fallen a victim to Jackson before a run had been scored. Kinneir played a much more attractive game than usual, and once hit three fours off an over from Lees. Quaife did not make a long stay, but Charlesworth and Lilley, paying pretty cricket, carried the score to 122 for four wickets before lunch time, the former being not out 22, and the latter not out 35. Soon after play was resumed Charlesworth was missed, and the two batsman seemed likely to gain a complete mastery over the bowling, but they separated when they had increased the total by 85 runs. The poor fielding of the Surrey team had much to answer for, and a great many catches were missed during the innings, which after the dismissal of Lilley, was interesting by reason of the batting of Charlesworth and Moorhouse. Jackson, who met with very little luck, bowled very well indeed. Of the Surrey batting there is little to be said. The wicket was gradually becoming more and more difficult, and although Holland and Hayes played excellent cricket after Hayward left, Hargreave suddenly became irresistible, taking the last six wickets in very rapid succession. With the close of the innings the day's play ended, and there is no better tale to tell of the final stages of the match. Rain during the night caused play to be postponed until twenty minutes past two, and Warwickshire declared with four wickets down. Surrey again fared badly against the bowling of Hargreave.

WARWICKSHIRE.

1st Innings.		2nd Innings.
Devey c Hayes, b Jackson	2	Lees, b Montgomery ...	14
Kinneir, c Hayward, b Montgomery ...	32	b Montgomery ...	0
J. F. Byrne, b Montgomery	22	c Davis, b Jackson ...	14
Quaife, l-b-w b Jackson ...	6
Charlesworth, c Hayes, b Jackson	64	b Jackson	7
Lilley, c Montgomery, b Jackson	44	not out	14
Santall, c Walker, b Jackson	0
Moorhouse, not out ...	34	not out	5
Whittle, c Lockwood, b Jackson	0
Hargreave, c Lees, b Hayward	9
Hopkins, c Lockwood, b Jackson	1
B 1, lb 7 ...	8	Bye ...	1
Total ...	222	Total ...	55*

*Innings declared closed.

SURREY.

1st Innings.		2nd Innings.
Hayward, c Moorhouse, b Santall	7	c Charlesworth, b Hargreave	2
Holland, c Lilley, b Santall	20	c Lilley, b Stantall ...	16
Hayes, c Charlesworth, b Hargreave	27	st Lilley, b Hargreave ...	18
Lockwood, c Devey, b Hargreave	2	l-b-w, b Hargreave ...	0
E. Wiltshire, c and b Hargreave	0	c Santall, b Hargreave ...	2
L Walker, b Hargreave ...	4	b Hargreave	7
Montgomery, c Hargreave, b Santall	3	c Charlesworth, b Hargreave	0
Davis, b Santall ...	0	not out	14
Lees, l-b-w b Hargreave ...	5	b Hargreave	1
Stedman, not out ...	5	c Byrne, b Hargreave ...	8
Jackson, b Hargreave ...	1	b Hargreave	0
Byes	8	Byes ...	1
Total ...	82	Total ...	69

WARWICKSHIRE.

	1st Innings. O.	M.	R.	W.	2nd Innings. O.	M	R.	W.
Jackson ...	44·5	10	96	7	14	3	31	2
Lees ...	9	2	28	0
Montgomery	32	7	85	2	13	4	23	2
Hayward ...	4	2	5	1

SURREY.

	1st Innings. O.	M.	R.	W.	2nd Innings. O.	M.	R.	W.
Hargreave ...	15·4	4	41	6	16·3	4	35	9
Santall ...	15	7	33	4	16	5	33	1

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12, Re. 1-8, Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.
According to size. From
J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

QUILL SPECIAL REEDS.

Head Office: MADRAS.
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta:
MESSRS. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

WATERPROOFS.

STANDARD QUALITIES at STANDARD PRICES.

DRAB VULCANIZED CHESTERFIELD COATS.

The "Lightweight." Light weight material throughly Waterproof.
Price, Rs. 4-4.

The "Improved Stormproof." Superior quality drab twill, thoroughly reliable and durable. Price, Rs. 8-14.

The "Impenetrable." All seams straped and sewn. Extra strong and durable.
Price, Rs. 12-14.

DRAB VULCANIZED INVERNESS CLOAKS.

The "Highland." No sleeves Drab Vulcanized Cambric, a good light quality thoroughly Waterproof. Price, Rs. 7-4.

The "Tirhoot." Thoroughly Waterproof with deep cape extra strong and durable.
Price, Rs. 12-8.

The "New Planter." Specially strong and durable suitable for Navy and rough usage. Recommended. Price, Rs. 17-8.

BLACK WATERPROOF CHESTERFIELD COATS.
THE "LONSDALEK."
Extra light weight and thoroughly Waterproof Coat.
Price, Rs. 5-12.

BLACK WATERPROOF CHESTERFIELD COATS.
THE "MONSOON."
Thin Black Twill, thoroughly Waterproof and reliable.
Price, Rs. 9-8 each.

MILITARY or CIVILIAN WATERPROOF CLOAKS.

SEWN and STRAPPED SEAMS.

The "Cronwallis" Khaki or Black. A strong quality Sewn and strapped seams, Black or Khaki, double texture paramatta, throughly rainproof eminently satisfactory.
Price, Rs. 19-12 each.

The "Hussar" Black or Khaki, sewn and strapped seams. Thoroughly hard wearing and improved with two pockets and riding slit, but no sword slit suitable for Civilian or military use. Fit for hard use and wear.
Price, Rs. 26-8.

MILITARY or CIVILIAN WATERPROOF CLOAKS.

SEWN and STRAPED SEAMS.
REAL REGULATION.

The "Dragoon" Black or Khaki. An improved shade and extra hard wearing quality. Sewn and straped seams, with sword and arm slits, arm slings, leg straps and chain collar.
Price Rs. 32-8.

The "New Scarboro!" Naval Regulation or Civilian Cloak, has detachable Circular Cape. Very best quality, Silk Paramatta, ventilator sleeves, riding slit and slings, and arm slings. Cape and Coat can be worn separately, if desired, Velost collar and chain fostner. Price, Rs. 47-8.

WHITEAWAY, LAIDLAW & Co., Calcutta.

ESTABLISHED 1847. ESTABLISHED 1847.

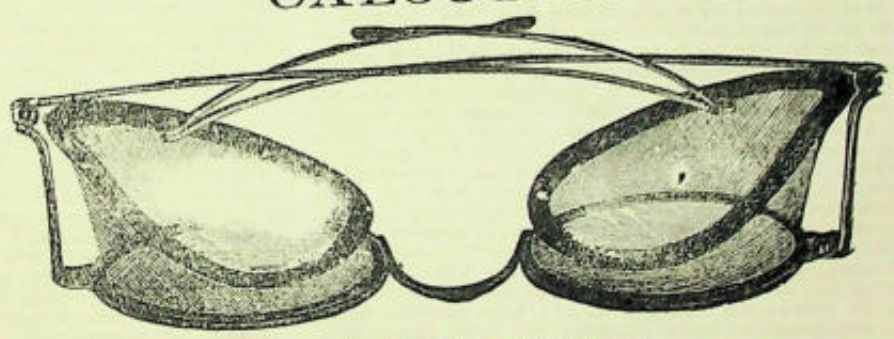
HAROLD & CO.

SOLE AGENTS FOR

JOHN BRINSMEAD & SONS.

By Royal Warrant to H. M. The King.
By Royal Warrant to H. M. The Queen.

NEW MODEL PIANOS.



The perfection of tone, touch and durability
Manufactured specially for India and extreme climates!
In solid Chippendale Mahogany of unique and artistic design.

Upright Grand, Iron Frame, full trichord ... .. Rs. 1,000
Cottage, Iron Frame, full trichord ... . „ 850-0

Other Pianos by the leading English and Continental Makers.
Particulars and Prices on application.

HAROLD & Co., Calcutta.

JAMES MURRAY & Co.,
CALCUTTA.

Eye-Preservers.

	Rs.	As.
Close-fitting, velvet edged or plain, full Gauze, with fine "optical" fla parallel glasse
Neutral, Green or Blue—	10	0
Best Steel Frames	12	0
Best Nickel	16	0
High-finish Silver
"D" Shape Preservers, fine "optical" parallel glasses, Neutral, Green or Blue, and with
Curl, Straight, or double Arms—	4	8
Strong Steel Frames, from	10	0
Light do., highest finish, from Rs. 7-8 to	10	0
Highest finish Nickel from	16	0
Do. Silver

Blue or Smoke-tinted Glass with Power can be fitted in any Eyepreserver frame at a little extra cost.

Awarded THE GRAND PRIX, Paris, 1902.

ROSS' Patent New Model PRISMATIC BINOCULAR GLASSES.

LONDON MADE. "The Great Power and Large Field of a Telescope in the Compass of an Opera Glass." HAVE NO EQUAL

"ONCE FOCUSSED ALWAYS READY

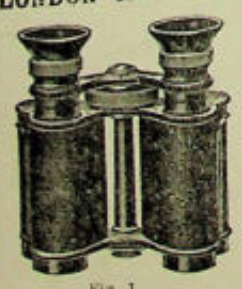


Fig. 1. With Simultaneous Focussing Adjustment.

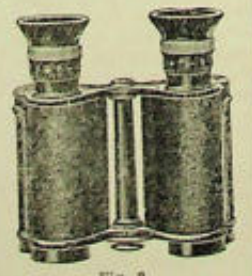


Power 8 times ..	£8	10	0 net.
„ 10 „ ..	9	10	0 „
„ 12 „ ..	10	10	0 „

Fig. 2. Focussing by Revolving Eyepieces only.

Power 8 times ..	£9	0	0 net.
„ 10 „ ..	9	0	0 „
„ 12 „ ..	10	0	0 „

LEATHER CASES INCLUDED.
Also Teleseopes, Photographic Outfits, &c.

Fig. 1.

Fig. 2.

PRICE LIST FREE.
Gold Medals and Highest Awards at all Great Exhibitions

ROSS, LTD., 111, NEW BOND STREET, LONDON, W.

Contractors to His Majesty's Governments, British and Colonial.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

Sold by all Leading Opticians and Dealers in Inida.

A very Popular

MESS AND CLUB

WHISKEY IN WOOD.

JOHN HOPKINS & Co.'s OLD SCOTCH
Per Gallon Rs. 13-8.
GUARANTEED 5 OVER PROOF.

Supplied in - - -
Cri çin a Hogsheads and Quarter Casks.

DEVEREUX & Co., Ld.

Wine Merchants and Mess Agents,

4, BANKSHALL STREET, CALCUTTA; ALSO AT BOMBAY AND LONDON.

Pianos

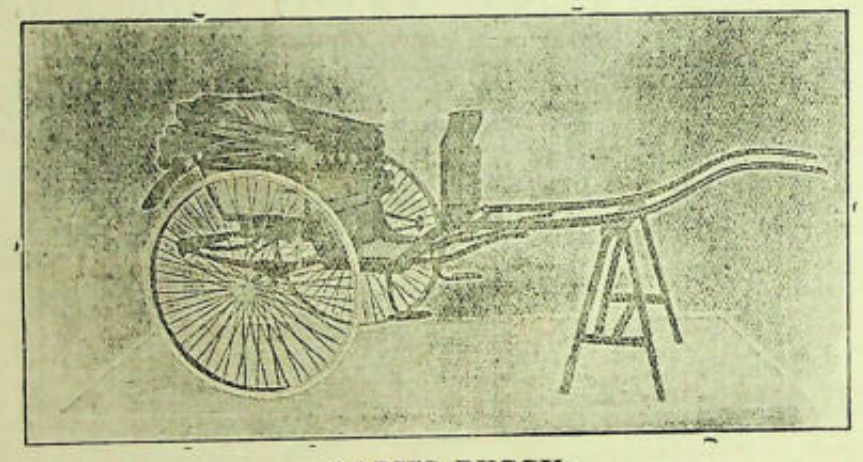
Now being returned from hire, most of them being brand new, are offered at special low prices.

Pianolas

A fresh shipment of these excellent Piano players just received.

Call or write for prices and particulars.

T. E. Bevan and Co.,



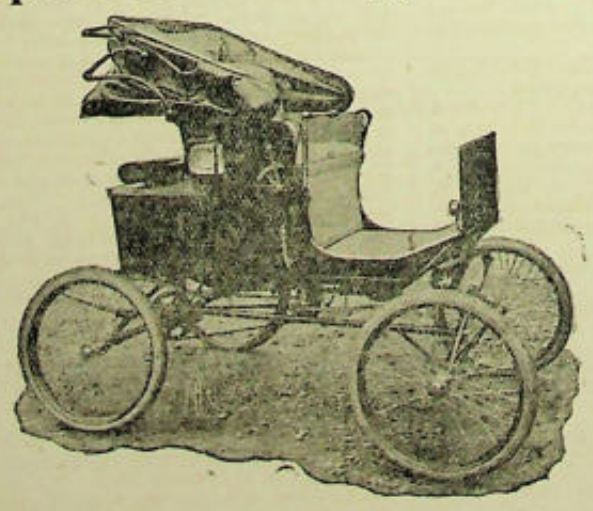
CALCUTTA.

STEUART & Co., Calcutta.

ESTABLISHED 1775.

COACH BUILDERS

TO HIS EXCELLENCY LORD CURZON.



LADY'S BUGGY.

THE

MOTOR TRANSPORT & SUPPLY Co.,

Importers and Suppliers of

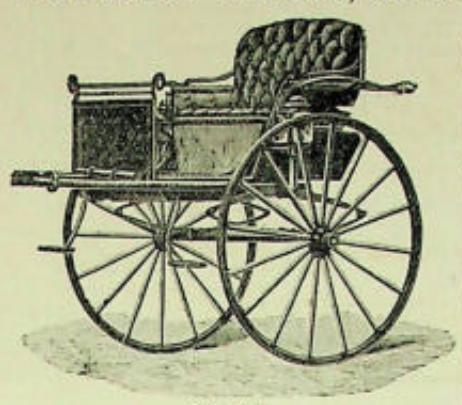
Heavy Steam Transport Vehicles of all descriptions.

All types of Motor Cars.

Particulars and Estimate from the Agents:—

SHAW WALLACE & Co.,

Green Street, BOMBAY.

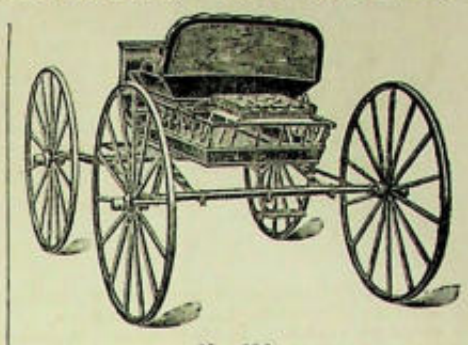


20, Strand Road, CALCUTTA.

CORTLAND

AMERICAN CARRIAGES.

Especially designedfor Indian Use.



VERY LIGHT WEIGHT, GREAT COMFORT, EASY DRAUGHT.

No. 61.

The "Henrietta" Car or Gig.

Light, strong, and very comfortable for one or two persons.
The balance is perfect, the riding easy.
A fine driving Gig, at a moderate price.
Trimmed Leather, and painted dark Green striped Carmine.
Specially adopted for rough roads and hilly districts.
Weight about 2¼ cwt.
Price, trimmed in Leather ... 25 Guineas.
Inclusive of Patent Lamps, Wings and Mat.
Suits horses 14 to 15¼ hands.

No. 096.

THE

"PLANTER'S BUGGY."

Especially designed for Indian and Colonial use. Is supplied in varnished natural wood Trimmed in russet leather, and with hood and side curtains. Has hind seat and step for Syce.

Price as shown ...	...	25 Guineas.
„ with russet hood	...	33 „
„ of Lamps extra	...	2 „
Pole with whippletrees, for pair horse extra ...	...	5 „

Suits horses 14 to 16 hands.

No charge for cases or packing.

DELIVERED TO DOCKS IN LONDON.

Bankers:—London and County Bank, Covent Garden.

Illustrated Catalogues and every information post free from the Makers.

CORTLAND WAGON Co.,

Henrietta Street, Covent Garden, LONDON, W.C

Cable Address:—"Eligible, London."

Re. 1-12 per pot.

A triumph of Pharmaceutical skill. Of exquisite flavour, readily taken by everybody, and strongly recommended by the profession.

Sole Manufacturers:—

KEMP & Co., Ld.,

Elphinstone Circle, BOMBAY.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SENIORS' MATCH.—Continuous rain on Sunday, and more of it on the next morning, made cricket on the first day of this match very unpleasant. There was no play until three o'clock. At first the bowlers held the upper hand, and only 47 runs were made in the first hour for five wickets; but Whittington and Whateley made things more lively and put on 42 for the next wicket. Afterwards Graham and Hunter played well, so that when stumps were drawn the total was 165 for ten wickets (twelve a-side). There was no play either on Tuesday or Wednesday.

MR. B. A. COLLINS' SIDE.

O M Samson (Hertford), c Crawford, b H-Amory	0	E G Whateley (New), c Bomford, b Mereweather	22
B L Peel (Hertford), c Bomford, b Worsley ...	22	A J Graham (Trinity), c Melver, b Worsley ...	20
L D Brownlee (Oriel), c Bomford, b Venables ...	9	B A Collins (Brasenose), b Carlisle	4
J E Raphael (St John's), c Bomford, b Venables ...	15	K O Hunter (New), not out	29
V H Cartwright (Corpus), c Bomford, b Venables	0	W L Sampson (Magdalen), b Worsley	0
J Whittington (Corpus), c Worsley, b Carlisle ...	33	H M Carrick (Hertford), not out	1
		Byes	9
		Total (10 wkts)	165

MR. R. S. Darling's Side: Hon. M. Herbert (Balliol), C. W. Melver (Hertford), L. Heathcote-Amory (Christ Church), H. Bomford (Balliol), H. M. Worsley (Magdalen), K. M. Carlisle (Magdalen), C. Burns (St. John's) J. A. Mereweather (Brasenose), H. E. Crawford (St. John's) C R. Venables (University), and S. G. Tinley (Keble).

MR. B. A. COLLINS SIDE.

	O.	M.	R.	W.		O.	M.	R.	W.
H'theoate-Amory	21	4	39	1	Tinley ...	4	3	2	0
Venables ...	25	11	52	3	Carlisle ...	5	1	17	2
Worsley ...	11	3	22	3	Darling ...	1	0	1	0
Mereweather ..	8	1	23	1

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY SENIORS' MATCH.—Owing to heavy rain on Sunday night there was no play on Monday. On Tuesday considerable progress was made with the match, the chief features of the day's cricket being the fine stand by E. J. Mann and H. C. McDowell, which produced 102 runs in an hour and a quarter. There was no play yesterday.

MR. G. HOWARD-SMITH'S SIDE.

E M Mann (Trinity), c Bashford, b McDonell...	37	R E Lambert (Trinity), not out	30
R F Worthington (Emmanuel), st J W Marsh, b McDonell ...	1	H Chapple (St John's), l-b-w, b Watson ...	3
H Bompas (Pembroke), c Bashford, b McDonell...	14	G Howard-Smith (Trinity), b McCorquodale ...	22
K R B Fry (Clare), b McDonell	0	H G Driffield (St Catharine's), b McCorquodale	0
E S Philips (Pembroke), st J W Marsh, b McDonell	28	P E Morris (Peterhouse l-b-w, b McCorquodale...	0
E Booker (St John's), c Godsell, b McDonell ..	9	A Buxton (Trinity), not out	2
		Byes 12, l-b 6, n-b 1	19
		Total	165

MR. J. W. MARSH'S SIDE.

J W Marsh (Jesus) b Driffield	11	F B Robert (Jesus), c Worthington, b Howard-Smith	4
R T Godsell (Trinity), c Fry, b Driffield ...	2	E J Mann (Pembroke), b Howard-Smith ...	63
A Scott Murray (Trinity), b Howard-Smith ...	13	H C McDonell (Corpus), b Phillips	50
J F Marsh (Jesus), c Buxton, b Howard-Smith	8	A M Bashford (Jesus) not out	10
C T Rudd (St Catherine's) c Howard-Smith, b Lambert	26	B 3, w 1, n-b 6	10
		Total (8 wkts) ...	197

E. G. McCorquodale (Trinity), T. H. Watson (Pembroke), and E. Jamieson (King's) did not bat.

MR. HOWARD-SMITH'S SIDE.

	O.	M.	R.	W.		O.	M.	R.	W.
McCorquodale ...	16	3	43	3	Roberts ...	3	0	25	0
McDonell ...	27	5	51	6	Jamieson ...	1	1	0	0
Watson ...	9	0	27	1

McCorquodale bowled a wide and a no-ball.

MR. MARSH'S SIDE.

	O.	M.	R.	W.		O.	M.	R.	W.
Driffield ...	23	5	57	2	Morris ...	6	1	17	0
H-Smith ...	22·3	3	55	4	Chapple ...	5	2	9	0
Buxton ..	5	1	14	0	Worthington ...	2	0	8	0
Lambert ...	5	0	18	1	Phillips ...	3	0	9	1

Phillips bowled one wide, Howard Smith five no-balls, and Morris one no-ball.

IMPORTANT RESULT.

a, b, c, d, etc., denote one, two, three, four wickets down, etc. e no wicket down, * signifies the home side, † innings declared closed.

FIRST CLASS MATCH.

	1st inn.	2nd inn.		1st inn.	2nd inn.
*LONDON COUNTY	122	26*a* SURREY		128	... —
THE CITY CHAMPIONSHIP.
Olympic ...	112*d* ... —	Anlaby	...	23	... —
LANCASHIRE LEAGUE.
Burnley ...	4*d* ... —	*Accrington	...	—	... —
*Bacup ...	51 ... —	Church	...	—	... —
*Lowerhouse ...	70 ... —	Colne	...	—	... —
Ramsbottom ...	68 ... —	*Nelson	...	12*a*	... —
GENERAL LANCASHIRE LEAGUE.
*Milnrow ...	103*f*† ... —	Middleton	...	—	... —
Moorside ...	73*d* ... —	*Dukinfield	...	—	... —
YORKSHIRE COUNCIL.
*Hull ...	65 ... —	Dewsbury	..	—	... —
Saltaire ...	65*f* — —	Brighouse	...	—	... —
KETTERING AND DISTRICT LEAGUE.
*Finedon ...	63 ... —	Irthlingboro'	...	25	... —
Bushden Town ...	38 ... —	*Wollaston	...	36	... —
Wellingbrough Twn	91 ... —	Raunds Weslyns	...	34	... —
*Rushden (2nd)...	108 ... —	Earls Barton	...	42	... —
*Harrowden ...	43 ... —	Welngbro'Ideal	...	39	... —
Wellaston (2nd)...	61 ... —	*Irthlnbro' (2nd)	...	24	... —
OTHER MATCHES.
Gretten ...	89 ... —	*Kettering	...	27*e*	... —
*Crauford ...	47 ... —	Denford	...	9	... —
Mr A E Lawton's XI ...	121 ... —	Matlock	...	51*i*	... —
*Northbrook ...	155i† ... —	Hornsey	...	52	... —
*Heathfield ...	107*g*† ... —	Honor Oak	...	36*c*	... —
Owens College ...	78 ... —	*Heaton Mersey ...	55*d* ... —
Wigan ...	72 ... —	*Manchester ...	61*e* ... —
*Thelvestern ...	77*h* ... —	Kersal ...	— ... —
Norwood ...	44 ... —	L & W Bank ...	89 ... —
Forest Hill ...	83 ... —	Dulwhich ...	54 ... —
Sheffield United ...	71*g* ... —	*York ...	— ... —
*Blackley ...	90 ... —	Levenshulme ...	30 ... —
*Silverdale ...	57 ... —	Crewe ...	112*f* ... —
Huddersfield ...	61 ... —	*Kirkheaton ...	78*d* ... —
Handsworth Wood	78 ... —	*Moseley ...	66 ... —
*Stoke ...	111 ... —	Burslem ...	65 ... —
Kendal ...	60 ... —	Lancaster ...	103 ... —
*Addiscombe ...	115 ... —	Beckenham ...	100 ... —
Sefton Park ...	27 ... —	*Eton Park ...	67 ... —
*Edgbaston ...	38 ... —	Wolverh'pton	125*f* ... —
*South West M'chster ...	56 ... —	M'chester Press ...	15*e* ... —
Notts Forest Wndrs	107*k*† ... —	Buddington ...	44 ... —
Kirkby Lonsdale	51 .. —	Morecambe ...	55 ... —
*Battersea ...	100 ... —	Walham Green ...	59*o* ... —
Kildare ...	186 ... —	Fulham ...	22 ... —
Granville ...	135 ... —	Charlton ...	67*i* ... —
Stanley ...	56 ... —	Champion Hill ...	49*f* ... —
Ravensbourne ...	108 ... —	Chapel Farm ...	85 ... —
Ilford ...	65 ... —	*Romford ...	58 ... —
London Devonians	80 ... —	Steckwell Park ...	60 ... —
Barnes ..	58 ... —	*Merton ...	35 ... —
*Beckenham ...	292 ... —	Gravesend ...	93 ... —
Alleyn ...	101 ... —	Cyphers ...	42 ... —
*West Kent Wandrs	69 ... —	Cyphers ...	56 ... —
*Private Banks ...	93 ... —	Bradfield Waifs ...	42 ... —
Kingston ...	50 ... —	West Sheen ...	100 ... —
Kensington Palace	91 ... —	South Ealing ...	41 ... —
Old Charlton ...	75 ... —	*Catford	153*d* ... —
Brixton Wandrs (A)	68 ... —	Nat Bk of India	93*k* ... —
Heyland ...	24 ... —	Forest ...	145 ... —
*Hounslow ...	100 ... —	Hammersmith	9 ... —
Zouaves ...	100*g* ... —	Paddington (B)	95 ... —
*Preston Priory ...	159*d*† ... —	Brightn Clifdn	85 ... —
Brighton St Peters	110*e*† ... —	Brighton & Hove Gas ...	104 ... —
Trinity Coll, Camb,	165 ... 138*e*†	Crusaders ...	129 ... 98*d*
Pembroke Coll, Cmb	251*g*† —	Christ's Coll ...	110*b* ... —
Peterhouse	53 ... —	Jesus College ..	152 .. —
St John's College	47 ... —	Caius College ...	124*i* ... —
Clare College	202 ... —	Emmanuel Coll ...	59*b* ... —
Gresham	69 ... —	Silver Star ...	56 ... —
Manor Park	109*d*† ... —	Goodmayes ...	10 ...56*e*
Southampton Trojans	125 ... —	Adelaide ...	46 ... —
*Worthing	140*f* ... —	Arundel ...	134 ... —
Richmond Town	54 ... —	Brockwell Park ...	79*i* ... —
Brighton Banks	107*d* ... —	St Bart's ...	148*b* ... —
Walsall	102 ... —	Kidderminster, ...	71 ... —
"Field"	38 ... —	Gresham Ath	38 ... —
Cavendish	41 ... —	*CheltnhmTwn	170 ... —

ATHLETICS.

ROYAL MILITARY ACADEMY SPORTS, WOOLWICH.—These sports were held on the Academy ground on the 4th instant, before a big gathering. Details:—

100 Yards Race.—G. M. Morrell, 1; G. H. Merriman, †-2; R. H. Wade-Gery, †3; F. W. Townend, 0; K. F. Freeland, 0; C. Geldard, 0. Morrell won by a yard; a dead heat for second place. In the run off Merriman proved victorious. Time—11½secs.

Wheel Race.—G. E. B. Dobbs, 1; F. C. Westland, 2; H. G. Bagnall, 3. Won easily.

Half-mile Race.—P. T. Blanford, 1; G. R. Burnett Stuart, 2; W. E. Perry, 3. Also ran: G. B. B. Trenchard, J. O. Sherrard, T. C. Newton, L. C. B. Deed, A. Izat, R. S. Ellis, H. W. Young and G. H. Merriman. Blanford ran strongly and with good judgment. He came away in the straight and captured first place by fully ten yards; about the same distance separated second and third. Time—2mins. 14⅕secs.

High Jump.—G. L. Olliver, 5ft. 3¾in., 1; V. Elliott, 5ft. 1¾in., 2; J. O. Sherrard, 0; H. I. Bulkeley, 0; E. W. S. Balfour, 0.

Throwing the Cricket Ball.—W. E. Mann, 90yds. 1ft. 7in., 1; P. T. Blanford, 87yds. 2. Other competitors were: S. M. Morrell, A. Izat, G. L. Olliver, C. Geldard, and A. Creery.

300 Yards Handicap.—J. O. Sherrard, 8 yards start, 1; C. Cotterill, 12, 2; G. H. Merriman, 2, 3. R. H. Wade-Gery, scratch, and seven others also ran. Only half a yard divided the first two, while the third was about the same distance off. Time—37secs.

Mile Race.—P. T. Banford, 1; G. R. Burnett Stuart, 2; W. E. Perry, 3. Also ran: G. C B. Trenchard, V. Drake-Brockman, G. S. Low, T. C. Newton, R. S Ellis, M. H. McConnell, A. Creery, and H. W Young. Blanford held a prominent position until the last lap when he came out and won by five yards: same distance between second and third. Time—5mins. 26⅕secs.

Long Jump—W. Leslie, 19ft. 6¼in., 1; R. H. Wade-Gery, 19ft., 2. H. L Bulkeley, F. W. Townend, and E. G. Howlett also competed.

Two-mile Race.—G. R. Burnett Stuart, 1; G. C B. Trenchard, 2; M. H McConnell, 3; G. S. Low, 4, H. G. Bagnall, P. T., Blanford, V. Drake-Brockman, L. C. B. Deed, R. G. Bignell, A Creery, and H. W. Young also started. Burnett Stuart attended by Blanford was early prominent, but the latter, after a mile had been covered in 5mins. 34secs., retired. Burnett Stuart then went right away from his field and ultimately reached the post quite three-quarters of a lap in front of Trenchard; fifty yards divided second and third. Low was just beaten on the tape for third place. Time—10mins. 54⅕secs.

Team Race (450 yards).—Winner. Third Class (W. Leslie, R. H. Wade-Gery, and F. N. Townend). Time—53secs.

Half-mile Handicap.—A Izat, 55 yards start, 1; R. S. Ellis, 80, 2. Won by twenty yards; six yards divided Ellis from G. Pearson, 45, who was third but did not qualify for a prize. W. E. Perry, 5, was the only other runner. Time—2mins. 13secs.

120 Yards Hurdle Race.—J. C. Crocker, 1; V. Elliott, 2; H. I. Bulkeley, 3. Also competed: R. H. Wade-Gery, T. C. Townend, and F. W. Pfeil. Won by a yard; a foot between second and third. Time—19⅕secs.

Putting the shot.—G. E. B. Dobbs, 32ft. 6in., 1; K. R. McCoughlin, 28ft. 6in., 2.

440 Yards Race.—G. H. Merriman, 1; V. Elliott, 2; W. R. H. Chapman, 3. R. H. Wade-Gery, W. E. Perry, F. W. Townend and J. O. Sherrard also competed. Won by a yard; same distance between second and third. Time—58⅖secs.

Strangers' Invitation Handicap (440 yards), for Eardley Wilmot Cup.—A. Marsden, Royal Naval College, 26 yards start, 1; J. B. Cargill, Royal Navy, 25, 2; H. B. Spring, R.M.C. Sandhurst, 26, 3. Also ran: G. de Smidt, R.M.C., 19; A. J. Burn, South London H., 25; and A. Goodall, London A. C., 26. Marsden finished very strongly a winner by a dozen yards; inches only divided second and third. Time—51⅕secs.

Obstacle Race.—R. H Wade-Gery, 1; Pengelly, 2; R. Giffard, 3; L. W. V. Rees, 4. The Obstacles included a big water jump, at which many of the competitors fell.

Donkey Race.—Winners, Messrs. Begbie and Gray.

Consolation Race.—H. G. Bagnall, 1; C. Gray, 2; L. McKenzie, 3. This event was decided over the obstacle course, Bagnall winning easily.

Silver Challenge Bugle, for the winner of the greatest number of leading events.—This prize, which is held for one year, fell to P. T. Blandford. The prize presented by the Governor, Major-General Jelf, for the winner of the greatest number of marks in all events (team race excepted), fell to G. R. Burnett Stuart.

Tug-of-war.—Term Challenge Cup was secured by the Third Class team, which also secured the Sports Challenge Cup

LONDON A. C. EVENING MEETING.—The leading event at Stamford Bridge on the 6th instant when the London A.C. held a members' meeting, was the ten-mile race for the club challenge cup. This trophy was presented to the club by Mr. S. F. Weall in 1877, and in the same year J. Gibb proved the first winner in 54mins. 47secs., which time, up to last evening, stood as a record for the race. Some very excellent running by the Cambridge Blue, A. S. D. Smith, has now caused that record to be beaten by 9⅘secs. Yesterday's race was a very fine one for the greater portion of the distance. J. H. Bessell for a long period pressing the Cantab very close. Last year's winner, Lieut. Hawtrey, was unable to compete, owing to absence abroad. The remaining events on the programme were putting the weight and throwing the hammer. Curiously enough, G. W. Clark beat H. A. Leeke in the former event, whereas at the inter-club meeting at Cambridge, in March, Leeke threw 4ft. better than Clark. Details:—

TEN-MILE CHALLENGE CUP.

A. S. D Smith, 54mins 37⅘secs	...	— 1
J. H. Bessell, 55mins 52⅕secs	...	... 2
E. S. Ward, 59mins 59⅕secs	...	... 3
G. J. Brassey, 60mins 56secs	...	... 4
E. R. Small, 61mins 32⅕secs	...	... 5

S. W. Fowler-Dixon and C. S. White also ran.

Smith at once assumed the lead, which he maintained for close on 3¼ miles. Ward meanwhile ran exceedingly well, but in the third mile he dropped behind, owing to stitch. Bessell, who for some time hung close to Smith shot in front at 3¼ miles, and thereafter this pair ran a very fine race. At the end of 14 consecutive laps Bessell held a slight lead, barely a yard separating him from Smith on the majority of these occasions, although Smith frequently got in front at the half laps, only to speedily lose his lead. At 7¼ miles, however Smith obtained a thirty-yard lead, which he increased to 200 yards before the completion of the eighth mile. Half a lap divided the pair throughout the ninth mile and maintaining the lead Smith went for club record in the last lap, being successful in lowering this by 9⅖secs. and wining by 400 yards from Bessell. Ward, who stopped several times owing to stitch, recovered himself, and finished third with a rare sprint up the straight. White retired at five miles, rare sprint up the straight.

MILE TIMES AND LEADER.

Mls.	Leader.	Time. M. S.	Mls.	Leader	Time. M. S.
1	Smith.....	4 58⅕	6 ...	Bessell ..	32 32⅕
2 ...	Smith ...	10 20⅘	7 ...	Bessell ..	38 14⅕
3 ...	Smith ...	15 47⅖	8 ...	Smith ...	43 36⅗
4 ...	Smith ...	21 18	9 ...	Smith ...	49 13⅘
5 ...	Bessell ...	26 55⅗	10 ...	Smith ...	54 37⅕

PUTTING THE WEIGHT HANDICAP.—G. W. Clark, allowed 2ft. 6in., 39ft. 10¼in, 1; W. E. B. Henderson, allowed 2ft. 38ft., 5¼ in, 2; H. A. Leeke, scratch, 37ft 7in., 3. Also competed: P. G. Masters, C. H Jupp, R. E. Wright, and R. H. Watson. The above distances include the allowances.

THROWING THE HAMMER HANDICAP.—P. G. Masters, allowed 25ft, 131ft 6in, 1; H. A. Leeke, scratch, 124ft 4¼in. 2.; W. E. B. Henderson allowed 7ft 121ft, 3. Allowances are included in the above distances. There were no other competitors

THE WEASEL.

Hunting.

THE OOTACAMUND HOUNDS.

MONDAY, 18th May, saw the pack at Golf Corner: the day for the most part was spent on the country between Golf Hill and Governor's Shola. The swamp below Campbell Copse was blank and the first run started with an outlying jack found not far from the Long Swamp; he gave us a brilliant little burst, but it could hardly be said to be an enjoyable one for, half the time the pack got away with only one or two of the field and traversed the ploughs on the sides of the hill near the Nungenal Valley; hounds stuck to their quarry well, and killed him as he tried to take refuge in an earth which proved so shallow that one of the hounds pulled him out of it. As hounds were being taken back to draw towards home a pig jumped up in their midst and it was impossible to stop them. They ran him through Sheffield and into some scent on the side of the hill above the Kenmund Bridle Path at Governor's Shola. There were three and a half couple damaged before the pig was shot by Captain Milner, who galloped back for his rifle. Nothing more was done, though Captain Fife drew down the Dartmoor Vale on the way back to kennels. The hounds spoke to a line once or twice but the scent was cold and they could not own it.

The early part of the day on Thursday, 21st was spent in pretty much the same country and we enjoyed a capital day's sport, the first gallop being particularly fast. A jack was found outside Mill's Covert, but at first hounds could not settle to it and scent seemed extraordinarily catchy. But getting a view they went off at a good pace and ran the jack into Jackal, and they were not twenty yards from his brush as he broke at the top of the covert over the Governor's Shola road, in the direction of Baikie Wood. He was not allowed to dwell here for hounds hustled him through and out at the top. Skirting along the top and leaving Porcupine Well to the left he ran down to the Nungenal Valley near Melkaval village, where hounds lost him. It was almost an impossibility riding here, the going was like glass and horses were sliding all the time. Returning to the upper downs the Master drew the open down Newmarket and in Rawlins' Nullah a jack was viewed, hounds were holloaed on and ran down to the bottom of Bluegums. Here two more jacks jumped up, so hounds divided, the main body of the pack crossed Governor's Valley and then ran along the Ridge through Governor's Shola to Sheffield, where they lost their jack. Hounds were very soon collected and taken back, to draw Newmarket again. At the top of Bluegums they got away and raced into the covert, while almost at the same moment a jack was viewed over the Peak into Rallywood. Hounds were put on and ran well through Rallywood and then turning righthanded ran into Sheffield and down the road to Foresters' Hut. The jack doubled back into Sheffield here and running straight through led hounds past Tiger Shola and down the Nungenal Valley to Dharma Tope, where he went to ground. The only two with hounds after the jack ran into Sheffield for the second time were Colonel Aylmer and the Master.

PYKARA.

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

MAYOS.

Head Office: Madras.
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

THE LAST RUN OF THE SEASON.

ON a hot April morning the small field which had mustered at the closing meet sat lazily in their saddles beneath the welcome shade at the covert edge. Even on the hill-top the faint breeze could not stir the foliage and every note of the huntsman's voice rang clearly through the wood from the valley below.

Half a dozen members of the hunt, divested of their gay apparel and clothed with studied negligence laboured to produce an impression of their complete indifference to the sport at hand. T'was the merest chance that brought them hither. They happened to have no engagement this morning, but were due at some meeting on the other side of the county at half-past three. No scent could possibly lie in hay-making weather, and hunting was hardly worthy of the name in this precipitous woodland country!

All this for the benefit of a handful of youthful sportsmen who displayed their ignorance of the fitness of the occasion by indulging in eager anticipation. But their influential example could not repress the excitment of a couple of schoolboys who sat "spoiling" for a run, while their sympathetic parents also forgot to assume the fashionable appearance of boredom.

'Hullo?" said an eager youth as a faint cry rose from the valley.

"Did you think it was a Holloa? observed an immaculate sportsman in pink." "I thought it was an old woman calling her hens myself!" Nobody laughed.

A small boy aged perhaps ten mounted on a twelve-hand Shetland pony, dispelled the uncheerful atmosphere by the incessant proposition in a shrill treble of unanswerable conundrums.

Weren't some of day best hounds out to-day? If we didn't find here did we think it probable there'd be a fox in Overton Ruffet? One was poisoned there last week! Wasn't it true that the huntsman could hunt the hounds just as well as the master?"

This last query especially directed to the absent master's dearest friend sent a cripple of suppressed merriment through the group of listeners.

But the hounds had passed through the covert and were moving across the green shoulder of the hill towards a coppice in the further valley. The pink coats of the servants, the huntsman's stained to a deep red, glittered in the sunshine and roused the youthful spectators to enthusiasm. The hound disappeared into the coppice, a young farmer moved down the hillside, the boys followed, and the blasè contingent formed a leisurely rearguard.

Blank again! Bitter disappointment on the faces of the boys, "I told you so" in large letters on those of the habitues.

We stood in a road at the bottom of the valley which bisected the coppice aforementioned, and the huntsman moved across the rough hillside to our front, the hounds feathering along a thick hedgerow parallel to the road. They had reached the shoulder of the hill, and the huntsman's coat alone remained in sight, when a distant whimper stilled the conversation on the roadway. A joyous burst of music followed, and was set to the rattling accompaniment of iron on macadam. Down the road till a lane to the right led up a sharp rise, whence the huntsman could be seen riding hard along the valley to our right front. Pushing on we saw the pack streaming up the opposite hill a fair half mile away. Some plough land at the top brought them to a check, but the last of the panting field had barely arrived, when a big black hound struck the line in a furrow, and pursued it in selfish silence. A comrade marked his eagerness and cantering forward to investigate rallied the pack with a cry of certainty. Swopping to the call like a flight of plover away they streamed again. Down into another valley, and while we scrambled in pursuit they breasted yet another hill, and strung out into a line the black hound leading yet, disappeared into a wood. We could hear them in full cry as we struggled on a bare dozen of us nor in vain pursuit of the flying huntsman. Skirting the covert we climbed slantwise over the shoulder, one or two jumping down to ease their mounts. When we arrived at the summit the hounds had run clean out of slight, but the huntsman leaping a fence in the valley showed us the line they were taking; up and down those banks that long brown horse took a power of catching. The shoulder of the hill sloped downward for a mile and at the end we found the pack at fault where a brook and a high-road crossed the line at right angles. The huntsman cast boldly forward across brook and road together, and struck the line beyond. Yet another exhausting bank up which the field slowly struggled, while the pack ran on into a big covert reaching to its submit. Passing through the wood we waited at its leeward edge while hounds worked doubtfully behind and below us. Ten minutes passed in silence and moving quietly back into the covert I came upon the extreme right wing of the pack, two hounds working steadily through the brushwood. A whimper reached us from far below, and they stopped their work to listen. Yet again, louder this time, but still they stood in doubt listening from nose to tail-tip; that cry had of yore deceived them.

Another note from below, no louder, no nearer, but the two hounds dashed instantly to the rallying cry. Hark! Hark! Ha-Hark to "Governor!" Far up the hillside they had recognized the call of a trusted comrade, and taking the hint I hurried out of the wood. None too soon. Forrard away! Forrard away! Forrard! Forrard! resoundedin the valley, and Master Reynard had again set out on his travels. I reached the open to see the pack poaring over a hedge in the bottom, and the field already scrambling down the bank in pursuit. The Shetland pony bolted past at a reckless gallop, and charged bravely down to the fence. But at the last moment his heart failed him and stopping short he caught his rider on his shaggy neck and pitched him back into the saddle. At the next fence a little old gentleman on a thoroughbred mare who had obtained a glorious start dismounted to pull down the obstruction, a couple of refusers still further diminished the field, the pace grew hotter, the sun no less, and a mile further on a mere handfull followed the huntsman into another deep valley.

Too warm for scent to lie! See them racing up the furrow yonder, the swift black hound again leading, three clear lengths ahead of them all!

When these hills! "'E aint fifty yard afore yer" yells an excited yokel at an open gate. Forrard on! Forrard on! Before us lies a huge brown wood, and into it hounds race without a check. This again lies on a steep hillside, and we coast along the bottom parallel to the racing pack. Four fields, three fences and a gate which last a cheery sportsman on a blown but gallant chestnut leaps down to open. The hill grows steeper, the cry of the hounds rings fainter, and the Huntsman bursting into the wood climbs straight up the bank towards them. Some follow him, but a few await the result of his investigations in the meadow below. Suddenly the music rings out loud and vengeful, the pack swings towards us, nearer and nearer. From the edge of the cover, a black be-draggled form crawls despairingly, and the hounds pouring over the fence in a wave of black, and tan, and white, roll him over to a triumphant "who-whoop".

An hour and three quarters from the find, half an hour from the last check, climbing hills all the time beneath a broiling sun! Still we jog homeward to our summer quarters pleased with the world in general and inclined for once to thank a kindly Providence for the more permission to live at all.

BLARNEY.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12, Re. 1-8, Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.
According to size. From
J. F Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

Polo.

OOTACAMUND TOURNAMENT.

THE FINALS.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE vs. 4TH HUSSARS.—These teams were to have met on the 15th instant but the match was postponed to the following day owing to a heavy rainstorm. A fast and interesting game was witnessed by a large number of people including Her Excellency Lady Ampthill.

First Chukker.—The Hussars were the first to break away and Lewin and Bell put in some good work; a combined rush a little later giving them a subsidiary. Then Government House got to work and after repeated attempts to break the Hussars' defence, Fyfe got through and sent the ball through with a long shot. Government House continued to press and Campbell and Logan Home rushed the ball through notching their second goal. They were ruled offside a little later and the chukker ended with the score—Government House, 2 goals; Hussars, 1 subsidiary.

Second Chukker. The game ruled fast and even, and neither side gaining any real advantage the chukker ended without any score.

Third Chukker.—Government House got away but the ball was returned and fast and even play followed. At last Barnes got in a splendid run but failed to score. Towards the end of the chukker a scrimmage near the Government House goal let in the Hussars and they added another subsidiary to their total. Score being Government House, 2 goals; Hussars, subsidiaries.

Fourth Chukker.—Lewin got a chance in front of the Government House goal and just missed scoring; the Hussars lost another chance from bad hitting and then their opponents got away and Logan-Home getting possession passed Barnes and scored a subsidiary. Government House continued to have the best of matters and at the end of the chukker Campbell made a fine run but missed: Fife returned the ball and they put on their third goal. Score—Government House, 3 goals, 1 subsidiary; Hussars, 2 subsidiaries.

Fifth Chukker.—With four minutes left, Government House kept up the attack. Then Lewin got away, but just as he was getting dangerous had the bad luck to break his stick. Oakes got possession next and taking the ball down scored the fourth goal for Government House and nothing further taking place they were left victorious by 4 goals and 1 subsidiary to 2 subsidiaries. Teams:—

4TH HUSSARS.			GOVERNMENT HOUSE.
Captain Caldbeck	...	1	Captain Oakes	...	1
Mr Bell	...	2	Major Logan-Home	...	2
Mr Lewin	...	3	Major Campbell	...	3
Capt Barnes	...	(back)	Capt Fife	...	(back)

Umpires.—General Richardson and Mr. Irving.

Lady Ampthill presented the Cups to the winning team.

Athletics.

THE MIDDLESEX REGIMENTAL SPORTS.

THE Middlesex Regiment celebrated "Albuera Day" on the 16th instant by regimental sports. The Colonel and Officers were "At Home" and a large crowd were present on the occasion. Entries were large and a very successful programme was carried through, some very creditable psrformances being put up. Appended are results:—

THROWING THE CRICKET BALL.—Salter 1, Bendle 2, O'Halloran 3. Distance—101 yards.

QUARTER MILE.—Hazeldine 1, Jones 2, Dodkin 3. Time—52⅗ secs.

100 YARDS FLAT RACE.—Hazeldine 1. O'Hallaran 2, Stringmore 3.

HURDLE RACE.—Stringmore 1, O'Halloran 2, Hardcastle 3.

LONG JUMP.—O'Halloran 1, Hazeldine 2, Sheppard 3. Distance—16ft. 8½ins.

SACK RACE.—Garrett 1, Mattocks 2, Pember 3.

TUG-OF-WAR.—G. Company.

PUTTING THE SHOT.—Mackay 1, Pateman 2, Dorling 3. Distance—29ft. 10ins. (18lb. shot).

HALF MILE RACE.—Hazeldine 1, Jones 2, Rowe 3, Soans 4.

QUARTER MILE OPEN.—Hazeldine 1, Mackay 2, Jones and Hardcastle 3.

LLOYD LINDSAY.—Roberts 1, Reed 2, Pember 3, Davy 4, Miller 5.

MILE RACE.—Soans 1, Hazeldine 2, Reeves 3, Burrell 4, Jones 5, Rowe 6.

SERGEANTS' RACE.—Smith 1, Price 2, Grey 3.

HIGH JUMP.—O'Halloran and Hardcastle 1, Stringmore and Snooks 2—4 ft. 11ins.

OLD SOLDIERS' RACE.—Hallam 1, Deacon 2, Roeam 3.

General Sir George Pretyman distributed the prizes, and received three hearty cheers, as also did Colonel Longe and the Officers of the Regiment.

Rowing.

CALCUTTA ROWING CLUB REGATTA.

President.—SIR ALLAN ARTHUR, Kt.
Vice-President.—MR. F. G. DUMAYNE.

COMMITTE.

MR. W. S. BURKE. | MR. C. W. N. GRAHAM.
MR. A. P. CAMERON. | MR. F. E. H. POWER.
MR. F. R. S. CHARLES.

Captain.—F. E. H. POWER.
Hony. Secy.—MR. W. S. BURKE.

Saturday, 23rd May, 1903.

UNDER heat conditions that suggested the burning fiery furnace of biblical renown and made the competitors sympathise with the unfortunate position of our old friends Shadrac, Meshac and Abednego the regatta was brought off this afternoon. A large number of invitations had been issued and the Club was "at home," but the attendance of members and their friends was rather disappointing, though, under the circumstances, excusable. As a couple of the races finished at the bend, a quarter of a mile from the club house, the executive had set afloat quite a little fleet of boats in which members were invited to paddle their fair guests up the stream, so as to enable them to see the races in comfort; but whether the ladies distrusted the skill and dexterity of the jolly young watermen or whether the latter found it too hot for extra exertion, the experiment was not quite a success, the boats were patronised by a few mere males, while the ladies either trudged along the bank or remained on the lawn and the competitiors were without that incentive to extra effort which follows as a matter of course when the fair sex are looking on.

The racing was interesting although the entries were by no means as full as they might have been. There were six in for the Junior Sculls which provided a surprise in the victory of H. A. Smyth to those who had not been following the practice very carefully. But to those in the know his win came as the well-deserved reward of consistent and steady preparation. He beat Stephenson with ease in his heat and sculled away from Watson in the finals. From the usual misfortunes which attend all attempts to get together crews of four men and a cox the Class Fours were not exempt. Two or three crews "bust up" owing to indisposition and defections and in the end there were only three crews to make the race and none of them really represented a "class", for there was an outsider or two in each boat. A short and scrappy preparation found Pritchard's crew the most favoured and in the end they won, though the luck was with them in the first heat, the contretemps in Venables' boat undoubtedly giving them the victory for the losers were overhauling them at every stroke as they neared the winning post. The Tub Pairs were contested by four crews and the racing was interesting enough. The Scratch Fours which usually wind up the afternoon were eliminated from the programme, whereat there was some mild grumbling, but as the proceedings were only just got through as daylight failed, the decision of the Committee was proved to be sound. The prizes were presented by Miss E. Dumayne. Appended are details.—

JUNIOR SCULLS—¼ mile.

1st Heat.

A. S. Barrow beat H. F. Pilcher. A runaway affair in which Barrow held his opponent safe all the way and won by several lengths. Time—4 mins. 8 secs.

2nd Heat.

H. A. Smyth beat B. Stephenson. Won easily by four lengths. Time—4 mins. 2 secs.

3rd Heat.

G. Innes Watson beat P. Blumenthal (scratched).

Barrow scratched leaving Smyth to meet Watson in the finals.

Final Heat.

H. A. Smyth beat G. Innes Watson. Smyth began to show out soon after the start and when they had completed a third of the distance was leading by a couple of lengths. Watson steered a splendid course, but got very short towards the finish. His opponent had the race in hand and, easing down, won by four lengths. Time—3 mins. 49 sec.

CLASS FOURS—¼ mile.

Heat 1.

Calcutta Station.		Kidderpore Station.
S. Carvill bow.		P. Blumenthal bow.
H. F. Pilcher 2.		A. M. Murchison. 2.
J. C. Buchanan 3.	beat	N. M. Ross, 3.
N. G. Pritchard str.		A. V. Venables str.
J. H. Allen cox.		W. C. Burke cox.

They went away to a level start, then Venables' crew began to go ahead when Ross slipped his button losing them quite four strokes, their opponets going right away. Venables' crew got going again and putting all they knew into it were just beaten by a bare half length after a plucky race. Time—3 mins. 5 secs.

Final.

Kidderpore Station.		Calcutta Station.
D. Carvill bow.		T. G. Evers bow.
H. F. Pilcher. 2.		J. Black. 2.
J. C. Buchanan. 3.	beat	C. M. Pope. 3.
N. G. Pritchard str.		L. Bagshawe str.
J. H Allen cox.		J. Wilson cox.

Pritchard's crew shot away at the start and when half the distance was completed were leading by a length and a half. Bagshawe set his men a long stroke, but they began to go to pieces, and Pritchard's crew won by three and a quarter lengths. Time—3 mins. 7 secs.

TUB PAIRS—¼ mile

1st Heat.

J. C. Buchanan bow.		W. C. Burke bow.
N. G. Pritchard str.	beat	W. S. Burke str.
Miss Kennedy cox.		Mrs. W S Burke cox.

They rowed fairly level to the, White house where Miss Kennedy's crew had a slight lead. Just as they were about to put on their spurt, bow in Mrs. Burke's boat slipped his button and it was all over with them, the other boat going on and winning.

2nd Heat.

A. M. Murchison bow.		G. I. Watson bow.
A. V. Venables str.	beat	L. R. Carter str.
Mrs. W. S. Burke cox.		Mrs. Barton cox.

They got away together and a good race ended in a victory for Mrs. Burke's crew by a length.

Finals.

Mrs. Burke's crew beat Miss Kennedy's crew.

Good steering gave Mrs. Burke's crew the victory after a good race.

Cycling.

CYCLING IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Friday, 8th May 1903.

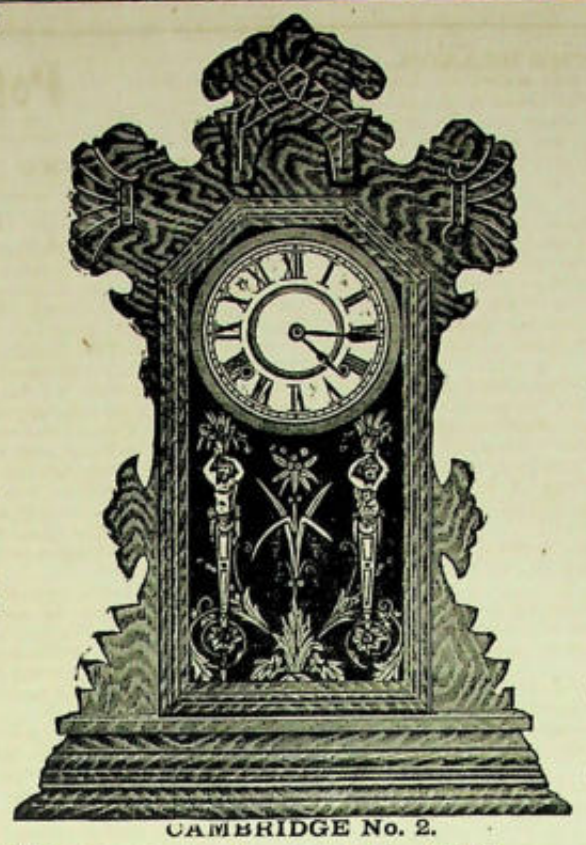
HOW the use of gear-cases has died out! Not so very many years ago, these useful accessories to a bicycle figured on at least seventy-five per cent. of machines, but now it is almost an exception to see a bicycle fitted with one. Why is this? To find the real cause one must look to the all-round reduction in prices, the adoption by makers of a standard price of £10 10s. or so for their machines, and the fact that a large number of present day cyclists only buy a machine for the convenience of having one to use occasionally, and consequently do not ride sufficiently to appreciate the advantages of a gear-case.

The reduction of price naturally compelled the makers to save in the cost of production as much as possible, and as gear-cases were luxuries, and not necessities, they were struck off at once. The standard price system is also to blame. If one man supplied a serviceable machine for £10 10s. minus a gear-case, he would reap far more trade than a man who charged £11 11s. for his cycles and supplied them with gear-cases, although, value for value, the two machines were identical. Naturally gear-cases were dropped. Still the fact remains, that a cycle with a gear-case runs far easier and smoother than one without, and those who can afford the little extra cost should certainly invest in one.

Those who are responsible for organizing cycle race meetings are not, in the majority of cases, business men; they do not study the market, so to speak, and provide events to the public taste. Like in the commercial world public taste is continually changing, and the shop or store-keeper who buys judiciously and makes a popular show is the one who rakes in the shekles. Sport promoters to be successful, must study the public taste and arrange their programmes accordingly.

At present, team races are very popular, and it is a class of race that is bound to produce capital sport, every rider striving his hardest to keep up the honour of his club. Then again, meetings of this character help to ensure a good gate, as friends of the rival clubs make a point of attending. Almost better than club contests are international team races like those the Polytechnic Cycling Club have arranged for this season. On 14th June a team of the above clubmen will be riding again



TEA PLANTER'S.

"TEA PLANTER'S" CLOCK,

Dial 12 ins. Height 24 ins.
EIGHT-DAY TIME,
HALF-HOUR STRIKE GONG,
ACCURATE TIMEKEEPER.
Rs. 21-0.
With Calendar,
Rs. 22-8.

THE GEM
CARRIAGE OR TABLE CLOCK
Dial 3 inches. Height 6½ inches.
Beautifully Finished in Antique Nickel.
One-Day Time,
Half-Hour Strike and Alarm.
Rs. 12-8.

CAMBRIDGE No. 2.

"CAMBRIDGE"
No. 2
Bracket Clock
For Office, Library, etc.
Height ... ... 22½ ins.
Width ... ... 14½ „
Dial ... ... 6 „
Eight-Day Time.
Half-Hour Strike Gong.
Assorted Pretty Designs in Dark Wood or Oak.
Rs. 10-8.

THE KNOCK-ABOUT WATCH
Keyless, Nickel Finish,
Beautifully Engraved back.
Handsome Design,
Strong, Good Timekeeper.
Cheap & acceptable present
Rs. 6-12.

Less 10 % discount for cash or V.-P.P.

TRAILL & Co., 20, British Indian Street. CALCUTTA.

four French amateurs in Paris, and the return match will be held at the Crystal Palace on 4th July. The Poly. team will consist of A. L. Reed, A. S. Ingram, H. W. Payne and R. Janson, a combination that will require some beating, judging by the record of these men thus early in the season.

On 2nd, May the Southern Cycling Club held its annual six hours' amateur race at Herne Hill track, when special interest was manifested in the event by reason of motor pacing being allowed. From the result of the meeting, it is very apparent that motor pacing will achieve a lot in regaining the interest of the public for long distance racing, the good assembly of spectators frequently showing their appreciation by outbursts of applause. Eight men started including Leon Meredith (fifty miles N. C. U. champion), W. R. Paterson (who twice before had won the race), and F. T. Burgess. From the second mile to the finish, Meredith held the lead, riding in the six hours the respectable distance of 180 miles 1,220 yards. Burgess came next with 157 miles 400 yards to his credit, and Paterson, third, 156 miles 630 yards.

One hears so much now about the decadence in cycling club life that it is interesting to learn that in Birmingham alone nearly sixty clubs hold their weekly afternoon run on Saturdays, and, what is more, have fairly good attendances. In other towns members support their club in a fairly enthusiastic manner, perhaps not quite so well as was the case in the eighties, but sufficiently so to warrant the continuance of such useful institutions. It was the introduction of the pneumatic tyre that first caused the falling away in club musters. Those members fortunate enough to possess pneumatics found that they had to be continually waiting for their solid-tyred brethren, whilst the riders on spider wheels, had to exert themselves to keep up with the air-shod cyclists. This naturally led to a division, the solid-tyred members going in one party, and the pneumatic-tyred members in another. Later on, when pneumatics became general, it was found that they raised such a cloud of dust that to ride in a body was no pleasure, and consequently small private parties were arranged amongst the members, who so arranged their runs as to fall in with the club at the tea-board.

The vicar of St. Mary-at-Hill, London, provides numbered storage in his church for cycles, free of charge, and conducts a short special service at 9 A.M., and 6-30 P.M. on Sundays, for cyclists who may wish to attend on their way out or on their return journey at night. The church is situate just on the London Bridge, on the main road for Kent.

Another cycling periodical has ceased publication; the Cyclers' News, after a stay of thirteen years, joining the now large majority of defunct journals that in their day devoted themselves solely to cycling topics. This paper will be greatly missed by cyclists in the northern counties of England, where it principally circulated, for it was undoubtedly a very popular paper amongst the clubmen of Lancashire, Cheshire, and West Riding of Yorkshire. At one time there were about eighteen cycling journals published, now there only remain Cycling, Cyclist, Irish Cyclist and Scottish Cyclist. The Irish Wheelman will shortly be amalgamated with the Irish Cyclist.

In these days when motoring for men of moderate means is so much under discussion, it is surprising how little attention has been paid by those that desire it, to the great increase in pleasure and lessening of expense that doing without a mechanician brings about. In cars of over 10 h. p. this is difficult, except for those with unlimited time on their hands, but with most small cars, with one or two cylinders, or perhaps even with some small cars of four cylinders, a man is not really essential. In hundred ways the difference is felt; the tyre bill, the petrol bill, the accessories bill, and the replacement bill will be reduced in an astonishing way, and this, combined with the mechanician's wages, makes a very considerable difference to the cost at the end of the year. In the Work of the World Mr. Henry Norman, M. P., draws attention to the fact that a motor car is not more intricate than a sewing machine, and surely as most women understand their sewing machines well, men might cease to be dismayed at the cars "works" and get to understand all about them, for there is no doubt that they would thereby double their enjoyment and halve their expenses. Although possessing no special knowledge, any man in a few weeks can learn how to keep his car in good running order and to diagnose and set right any little troubles that may arise on the road.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12, Re. 1-8, Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.
According to size. From
J. F Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

Cricket.

CRICKET AT OOTACAMUND.

GYMKHANA vs. VISITORS.—Played on the 16th instant, the visitors winning by five wickets. The Gymkhana went in first and put up 114, of which Capt. Milner and Gadsden were the chief scorers. The visitors made 115 runs for five wickets, Capt. Unthank (40) and W. W. Phillips (34 not out) playing brilliant innings. Score :—

GYMKHANA

Capt Milner, c Thirumal Raj, b Phillips ...	33
E H Gadsden, c Mullings, b Morrison ...	29
W E Lonsdale, c Phillips, b Morrison ..	0
C R Sherriff, c and b Phillips ...	2
Palacomaroo, run out ...	0
E R Udal, b Morrison ...	3
W Elwes, c Morrison, b Phillips ..	4
Swaminathan, l-b-w, b Phillips ...	15
Anthoo, not out	14
Shunmoogam, c Phillips, b Morrison	2
W E Clarke, c Smith, b Phillips ...	6
Extra ...	6
Total ...	114

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

	O.	R.	M.	W.
Morrison ...	17	41	0	4
Thirumal Raj...	3	21	0	0
Unthank ...	2	3	0	0
Phillips ...	11·4	40	0	5

VISITORS

J G Smith, c Udal, b Swaminathan ...	7
W W Phillips, not out	34
C Thirumal Raj, b Udal	0
Capt Unthank, c Gadsden, b Milner ...	40
C Morrison, b Milner	10
Major Gunn, b Sherriff	6
H N R Collyer, not out	7
C T Mullings ... }
Zemindar Shergoda ... } did not bat
Zemindar Marungapuri ... }
Zemindar Badagoda ... }
Extra	11
Total ...	115

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

	O.	R.	M.	W.
Udal ...	12	36	1	1
Swaminathan ...	9	38	1	1
Milner	3	11	0	2
Sherriff	2	19	0	1

The following account of the manner in which the Cesarewitch of 1860 was run is from the pen of William Day, the trainer of Dulcibella, by whose success one of the greatest handicap coups of modern times was accomplished.

"After saddling and cantering her, I saw Bennett"—a friend and neighbour, who also had a competitor running—"and asked him where Killigrew was: and being told that he was at the post, and that Jim Adams had his orders as agreed, I suggested that we should go together and impress them upon him. When we got to the post, I addressed myself to Jim, and said:

"'Mr. Bennett wants you to take hold of your old horse's head and come as well with him as you can directly you are off;' and turning to Bennett, I inquired, 'This is so, is it not?' to which he replied: 'Oh! yes, certainly.' And we parted. By doing this I was sure that Killigrew would be ridden to the best advantage in the opinion of his master and jockey, who both believed in his staying powers; and, for all I knew, he might have been fitter to run then than he was when I tried him. But I knew he would likewise be assisting my mare.

"My orders to Allan Sadler were to lie two lengths off Killigrew till he got to the Ditch, and then come as well as he could the rest of the way. Killigrew was first through the Ditch-gap, and Dulcibella next; and a long way before reaching the Bushes she was two or three hundred yards first, and all the rest bear, Killigrew being third or fourth.

"At this point I was stationed on a little duncoloured pony, about twelve hands high, but very fast; and I rode up by the side of the mare before the other horse, causing quite a sensation, as I afterwards heard, on the stand, where many people thought that I must have been run over by the ruck coming behind But their kindly feelings were relieved when they saw me pull out of the track and pass the winning-post with the horses in front Judge Clark the next day facetiously told me that "he had placed me second."

CRICKET AT MUSSOORIE.

MUSSOORIE vs. OAK GROVE SCHOOL.—Played on the 18th instant and resulted in a win for Mussoorie by 22 runs. This is the first time the School has been beaten on their own ground for five years. For the winners Fox and Newcomen played good cricket and Boileau was top scorer for the boys. Score :—

MUSSOORIE.

1st Innings.		2nd Innings.
P A Fox, b Boileau ...	13	run out ...	25
H Williams, b Turner ...	0	b Turner ...	11
A D Hickley, b Turner ...	6	c Hargreaves, b Turner ..	2
T H Pruce, c and b Turner	14	c Lovelace, b Boileau ...	2
Rev H Cowley, b Turner ...	5	c Turner, b Boileau ...	7
A G Newcomen, run out ...	11	not out ...	25
Major Steele, c and b Turner	15	b Turner ...	3
A J Biggie, not out ...	1	b Turner	6
T R Hill, b Turner ...	0	run out ...	0
S W Krieser, b Turner ...	0	b Turner ...	5
W Dickinson, c Whaley, b Turner ...	5	b Turner ...	7
Extras	7	Extras ...	7
Total ...	77	Total ...	100

OAK GROVE SCHOOL.

1st Innings.		2nd Innings.
Mr Lovelace, c Williams, b Cowley ...	4	c Biggie, b Cowley ...	2
Mr Harrer, b Pruce ...	6	b Fox	5
E Boileau, l-b-w Cowley ...	6	b Cowley ...	37
L Smith, c Cowley ...	9	c Newcomen, b Pruce ...	9
Mr Smith, c Williams, b Cowley ...	0	c and b Fox	0
F Ellison, b Cowley ...	8	b Pruce	4
B Whaley, l-b-w Pruce ...	0	b Pruce	2
Mr Turner, b Cowley ...	11	not out	13
E Milchem, b Pruce ...	1	c Fox, b Cowley ...	0
Mr Hargreaves, st Fox, b Cowley ...	5	b Pruce ...	1
P Simmons, not out ...	2	b Pruce	0
Extras	15	Extras ...	15
Total ...	67	Total ...	88

CRICKET CHIRPS.

THERE seem to be four things fairly settled at this moment. One that Ranjitsinhji will edit The Sun on Monday next; two, that he will play frequently this season, weather permitting, except for a fishing holiday in June; three, that the wider wicket is "off;" and four, that it has settled to rain for, seemingly, just as long as it likes.

If by editing The Sun the Kumar Shri causes it to shine he will earn the gratitude of every cricketer, for this disgusting weather following on last season's dismal experiences is getting beyond human patience. I suppose one ought to be grateful, however, that some cricket was possible at the Oval on Tuesday and Wednesday, particularly as it produced a finished match, so I will cease growling and get to a few salient features.

MacIver Jackson, the Mitsham born Surrey colt, has hit the sticks. He was congratulated all round on dismissing Charlesworth in Warwickshire's second innings of 55 for 4 declared, by bowling him, as since first appearing for the XVI vs. XI at the Oval last Monday week he had taken 23 wickets, 13 in first-class cricket, without hitting the wicket. As it is he goes on making favourable impressions on good cricketers and critics who, the best of them, are not blind to the fact that he has yet to meet a team who are all in practice, on a plumb wicket. That's where bowling ability tells. But, to give my readers in distant Hindostan a pen portrait of the new bowler. He is a tall youth some 5 feet 11 inches in his socks, and still in his teens. He bowls left hand slow round the wicket with a delightfully natural last-the-whole-season run-up and delivery. His slow tossed up ball just outside the off-stump "does" a little, just a little and is his best ball owing to its "drawing" proclivity. It will in its day, which ought to be anything from ten to twenty-five years, "draw" many and many a first-class batsman. Just as many and many first-class batsman will get to it and will hit it on the off-side for four or, on hard grounds, where it will not "do" so much, for six, and just as many batsmen will hook his faster ball for four. For, at present, his faster delivery is a gift pur et simple to every batsman able to hook. Whether he is trying to send down the famous going-with the-arm-ball that is in most left handers' repertoire or not I do not know, but, judged by the standard of excellence attained by his good length tossed ball, his faster delivery is tosh. This, age and experience, will cure of course, and though I would not go so far as to say he will be a successor to Peate or Peel and a contemporary of the great Wilfrid Rhodes, still the fact remains that Surrey ought in young Jackson to have found a certain wicket getter for many years to come. Expensive, I should imagine he will ever be.

"Surrey in the cart" was the remark of the man in the street about 4-30 P.M. two days ago. And for once he mentioned the truth this ever-present individual who usually tells you every horse in the race but the winner. Surrey were in the cart remained there and are there now. Not knowing quite what to complain about some of the critics went for the captaincy of L. Walker, others for the extraordinary play of one or two of the side who tried to hit. All these and similar minded critics were of course hopelessly wrong. They did not recognise the fact that Surrey has not for years been a difficult wicket side, nor the fact that the captain manage he never so well cannot prevent catches being dropped. No less than eight or nine times did Warwickshire batsmen escape on Tuesday, the majority of the chances being of the sort that the same men would catch nine times out of ten. Walker himself dropped a skyer at short leg before Charlesworth who got 66, had scored or at any rate made more than two or three notches. Such skyers always will be missed, they are the hardest of all chances. But the skipper was not alone in faulty catching as the above tale shows. So, why lay the defeat at his door?

As a strict matter of fact Hayward ought to have captained Surrey. An unwritten law invariably requires an amateur to captain a country side if one happens to be playing. There is no need for me to labour the question why this is so, but it is so and there is no denying it. And just as it is so, so is it a very big mistake. I would not mind betting that Walker would have been quite grateful to the Committee had they appointed Hayward captain, but as the state of the case as between amateur and professional now stands there is no help for it. In this case Walker is not by any means a regular member of the side. He has in fact yet to win his spurs in county cricket good cricketer though he undoubtedly is. And it is just this fact that makes Hayward's case so much stronger. An England cricketer with two trips to Australia at his back, ten to fifteen years' experience of County Cricket and goodness know's how many Gents and Players' matches on his record to be skippered by an amateur with not a single full season's experience of county, cricket. I suggest no feeling in the matter Tom Hayward is far too much of a gentleman and is too loyal to his employers for any such idea to be imputed to him, but all the same the je ne sais quoi must in some form or another exist in the team and while it exists—adieu to success in the field.

HOW'S THAT.

ARTHUR SHREWSBURY.

FEW cricketers have been longer before the public than Arthur Shrewsbury, whose sad death by his own hand we announce elsewhere; few can point to so long and so successful a career, and few, at his age, can claim the honour of heading their county's average list. Yet Shrewsbury, born in 1856, is still among the leading batsmen of the day and was actually selected in 1899 to play for England vs. Australia; the honour, however, he felt bound to decline, on the ground that he found the strain of county cricket as much as he could stand. At Nottingham, however, he showed, by scoring 51 and 34 against the Colonials, that their bowling had no particular terror for him, not a bad performance for a man of 43, who has worked long and hard in the cricket field, and is not quite immune from the horrors of rheumatism. As Shrewsbury is now entering on his twenty-fifth season of first-class cricket (he was absent in Australia in 1888) in England, to say nothing of four visits to Australia, and has for long been one of the crack batsmen for England, a full and complete record of his performances is impossible. The one way he abridges his biographer's task—he is no bowler, though in 1884 he was one of the English eleven, all of whom had a turn with the ball in the famous Test Match at the Oval. His absolutely largest score is the 267 which he made for his county vs. Sussex in 1860, and it may be added that he, together with most of the regular Notts batsmen, and especially Gunn, have always had a remarkable affinity for the Sussex bowling; so much so, that it was at one time said that the Sussex eleven ought to be able to bat, as they had had so many opportunities of a prolonged observation of the methods adopted by such masters of the art as Gunn and Shrewsbury. Though Shrewsbury has never reached 300, he has made over 200 on no less than ten occasions, three times against Middlesex, against whom he has, by the way, made 267 as well as against Sussex. His full tally of three-figure innings run to as many as fifty-four, a fine record indeed, but far indeed behind that of the one and only Champion. His average for the last ten years amounts to 40, though illness forbade cricket during 1894, but his best year was probably 1887, when he headed the list with so grand a record as 78, thereby exactly equalling W. G. Grace's figures in 1871. In the course of this year he scored eight centuries in England and three in Australia, headed by such totals as 267, 236 and 232 the last two made in Melbourne in March and December respectively. Out of his plethora of great performances it would be difficult to pick out one and say "This is Shrewsbury's best." The writer would select as his own choice the 106 and 81 made against the Australian XI of 1893 on a wicket so soft that Stoddart, who captained the English side, had some hesitation in batting first. It is told of Shrewsbury in connection with this match that as he proceeded to the wicket after lunch—being then not out—he turned round after getting through the pavilion gate and called out to Gunn "Have a cup of tea ready for me about five o'clock, Billy!" If the story is true, it illustrates the unique self-confidence of the man: if it is untrue, it proves what a large belief other people have in the self-confidence of Shrewsbury's. Confidence, indeed, is the keynote to Shrewsbury's play: from the first ball to the last he seems to have absolute control over the bowling; be it fast or slow, be the wicket easy or difficult, Shrewsbury always seems to be at home, and the ball to be in the middle of the bat, till one begins to wonder how on earth he ever gets out. He is by choice, we believe, and not by necessity, a slow scorer, one who cares not to hit or try to hit till he gets the exact ball that suits his temperament. It is all a mistake to think that he cannot hit, he can send the ball to the boundary at a high rate of speed, as those can testify who have seen him play and heard his rather high-pitched voice call to Gunn, his partner in many long stands: "Stay back, Billy!" Further, to show his command over the ball, may be quoted a favourite trick of his, viz., just hitting clear of mid-on or mid-off, but short of the long fields; if the opposing captain were taken in and brought the long fields up Shrewsbury would proceed to hit drives to the boundary till his ruse was discovered. The cut is his really great stroke, but few things come amiss to him, as bowlers have found out to their sorrow. It may safely be said of Shrewsbury that few men have had bowlers so completely at their mercy, and that though he seldom scored at any great rate it was always a treat to see the thorough supremacy of science. Shrewsbury has probably batted for more hours than any man in the world. It would not be right, however, to omit to state that we owe to him one innovation that is invading and spoiling the game, namely, the use of the leg to cover the wicket, making no attempt to play the ball with the bat; this we owe to Shrewsbury, as well as the practice of leaving off-balls severely alone; though as if to add insult to the bowler, he occasionally made a sort of pat at the air when the ball was well past him. He was always a good field but for many years had stood at point, catching or stopping the hardest hits with imperturbable skill. Shrewsbury has made four centuries against the Gentlemen, two at Lord's and two at the Oval.

THE LATE MAJOR SAMUEL EVAN BUTLER.

MAJOR SAMUEL EVAN BUTLER, better known as "Sam" Butler, was born at Colombo, Ceylon, 19th April, 1850, and died at Bath, after a long illness, on 30th April. He formed one of the Eton Eleven in 1868 and 1869, in the latter year developing into a fast bowler of merit, obtaining as he did forty-one wickets for 405 runs for his school, of which seven were secured at a cost of 75 in the two innings of Harrow. The match was remarkable as being only the second occasion since 1850 on which Eton had defeated Harrow and for an innings of 108 from the bat of C. J. Ottaway. Going up to Brasenose College, Oxford, he quickly made his mark, accounting for ten wickets in the Freshmen's Match of 1870, and eleven for 81 for sixteen Freshmen against the Eleven. This he followed up with ten for 113 on the side of the Eleven vs. Next Sixteen, and made his "Blue" practically secure. In the Oxford matches of that year his chief exploits were the capture of twelve wickets in the game against the Gentlemen of England whose totals were but 95 and 69, and his five wickets for 25 in the second innings of the M.C.C. at Lord's. In the University match, ever immortalised by the name of Cobden, he was tried but little, and only obtained one wicket. He was, however, a discomfited actor in the final stages of that dramatic finish. Going in seventh down when Oxford needed but four to win he at once let out at Cobden, but was magnificently taken with one hand by mid-off from a hit that would have been an easy four. How Cobden bowled the remaining two wickets with consecutive deliveries and landed Cambridge the winners by two runs is a matter of cricket history. With the bat Butler's best innings for Oxford, this year were 30 vs. the Free Forsters, 28 against the Gentlemen, and 25 against the M.C.C., at Lord's, an innings that included a spanking on-drive off Farrand's for seven, and three 4's. His runs were made in nineteen minutes, while against Cambridge he hit up a first innings of 18 in twelve minutes.

The season of 1871 was emphatically his red-letter year. For the University against the M.C.C. at Oxford he obtained six wickets for 24, of which four were captured in five balls. This match has an especial interest in the fact that the Hon. George, now Lord Harris, appeared as a Freshman against his University, and by playing an innings of 107 made sure of his "Blue," a feat which in quite recent years has been repeated by E. R. Wilson of Cambridge. In the return at Lord's Butler was even more successful, securing eight wickets for 25 in the first innings, including those of W. G. Grace and I. D. Walker. It was singular how frequently the latter batsman failed against his bowling. Butler's innings of 24, including four 4's, was the highest in the first hands of Oxford. Against Cambridge four days later he achieved the record triumph of taking the whole ten wickets in the first innings for 38 runs, the last six in fourteen balls, while the last four men were bowled scoreless. Of the 60 runs made by Cambridge from the bat, Yardley and Money made 48 between them. Butler bowled from the Pavilion end, and sent down a phenomenal succession of shooters. By the side of this performance his five wickets for 57 in the second innings seems almost tame. In the whole match he hit the stumps twelve times. In the supplementary match played to fill up time he assisted "Oxford and Cambridge" against the M.C.C., and with a lightning delivery sent R. D. Balfour's leg stump flying ten yards behind the wicket. He failed utterly with the bat in 1872, but obtained five wickets for 11 runs for his University against the Gentlemen, arriving on the ground when one wicket had fallen for 105, but helping to bring the total to a conclusion for 152. His other best things were five for 21 vs. Birkenhead Park, four for 25 vs. M. C. C. and six for 74 in a total of 250 in the first match the Dark Blues ever played with Middlesex. A strained arm handicapped him against Cambridge, and in common with the other bowlers he came in for punishment, his three wickets costing 88 runs. Yardley for Cambridge made 136, and the whole side 388, which stood as the record total till 1900, when it was beaten in the same match by both Oxford and Cambridge. In 1873 his batting greatly improved, but his bowling fell below his former standard, though he had the satisfaction of taking five for 48 in the first innings of Cambridge. In the second innings, as in 1870, he went in seventh down, but this time no catch at mid-off sealed his fate, as he had the great pleasure of making the winning hit. After leaving Oxford he played in the Canterbury Week of 1874, where he bowled well and also assisted the Gentlemen against his old University. In 1871 he assisted the Gentlemen at Lord's, where on a soaked wicket he could get no foothold, nor was he successful in the match at the Oval. Major Butler was a powerful man, six feet two inches in height, and bowled at a great pace, with a high action and good pitch. It is not a little singular that of his contemporaries in the University match Lord Harris, B. Pauncefote, W. Townshend and William Yardley were, like himself, born in India.

Football.

FOOTBALL IN CALCUTTA.

THE LEAGUE.

DALHOUSIE vs RANGERS.—These teams met on the Rangers' ground on the 20th instant and as was expected the visitors proved victorious. The Dals. began the game and Stewart tried a long shot which was returned and play followed fast and even. Then the Rangers got away and the visiting backs were given plenty to do. Russell sent in a long shot which Peake saved and returning the ball Stewart got possession and forced a corner which proved fruitless. The Rangers put in another couple of runs but were unable to score and the interval arrived with the teams even. On crossing over the Dals got away and Watts scored within a few minutes of the start, putting on a second goal almost immediately, shortly after Stimson headed the ball in but was ruled off side. The Rangers could not check their opponents and it was not long before Stimson scored the third goal. The home forwards played up pluckily, Russell, Cuthbert and O'Sullivan being most conspicuous. Towards the end of the game they forced a corner without result and the visitors were left winners by three goals to nil. Teams:—

DALHOUSIE.—Peake, goal; Margrett and Bushby, backs; Williams, Phelps and Dalling, half-backs; Echlin, Rosser, Watts, Stewart and Stimson, forwards.

RANGERS.—Whelan, goal; Whitie and Hughes, backs; Walker, Lees and O'Laughlin, half-backs; Boilard, Swan, O'Sullivan, Cuthbert and Russel, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. M. Remfry.

Y. M. C. A. vs. HOWRAH UNITED.—Played on the Association ground on the 20th instant, the visitors winning by two goals to one. The first half saw the home team with the best of the game. From the kick off Yackjee returned the ball and the Young Men invaded the visitors' territory. Simmons tried a long shot after some scrambling play, but Munden saved only to let in Young, who put the ball through. The home team continued the attack for the rest of the period and at half time were leading by a goal to nil. On resuming, the visitors were on their mettle and the half was not many minutes old when W. Smith equalised. The home team tried hard to get the lead but Howrah again attacked and Ferrier scored a second goal. The Young Men were unable to score and the game ended in a win for the visitors as stated. Teams:—

HOWRAH.—Munden, goal; Bennett and Burns, backs; Curtis, H. Osborne and E. Osborne, half-backs; W. Smith, J. Smith, Ferrier, Jackson, and Parry, forwards.

Y. M. C. A.—Williams, goal; Yackjee and Baldwin, backs; Street, Cooper and Power, half-backs; Crow, Young, Apcar; Simmons and Nyss, forwards.

Referee.—Mr J. Greig.

64TH R. F. A. vs. A. AND S. HIGHLANDERS.—Played at Barrackpore last Thursday on the Artillery ground. The game was very one sided, the visitors having the best of it all through and eventually winning by three goals to nil. Hutchinson, the home custodian, played a grand game and but for him the Highlanders would have put on more goals. The 93rd got the ball from the start and Hogg sent in a shot which Hutchinson saved. The home goal was then besieged and Hutchinson showed his sterling abilities saving all the shots. Several corners were obtained but without result. Then the Artillery goalkeeper was beaten by Lockhart, who registered the first goal which was quickly followed by Quin scoring after a tricky run. On changing ends the home goal was again bombarded and play ruled in the gunners' territory throughout. Hutchinson again rendered yeoman service and was only beaten in the last few minutes of the game by a hard shot from Hogg. The Argylls thus winning as stated. Teams:—

93RD HIGHLANDERS.—Coventry, goal; Silcock and Wallace, backs; McLean, McGovan and Mowat, half-backs; Pollock, Lockhart Quinn, Montgomery and Hogg, forwards.

64TH FIELD ARTILLERY.—Hutchinson, goal; Prince and Quin, backs; Corby, Nicoll and Donnelly, half-backs; Woods, Wratten, Shirt, Dods and Douglas, forwards.

HOWRAH vs. BURN AND COMPANY.—Played on the Howrah ground last Saturday, the home team winning by a goal to nil. They started by taking the ball into Burn and Company's half and a shot from Burns went wide. The ball was brought back and a foul against Jackson gave Wood an opening which he failed to turn to account. The Howrah men then made a combined rush and forced a corner, Ferrier heading the ball in from the kick. Burn and Co., played hard and Howrah had to concede two corners but no advantage accrued and the home team led at the interval. Burn and Co., attacked on changing ends and forced a corner: nothing resulted and Howrah transferred the ball to their opponents' half, Donnithorne relieving. At this juncture Ferrier retired with an injured knee and Burn and Co., kept up a continuous attack till the end of the game but were unable to score, Howrah winning as stated. Teams:—

HOWRAH.—Muden, goal; F. Bennett and H. Bennett backs, Curties, H. Osborne and E. Osborne, half-backs; Hart, Ferrier; Smith, Jackson and Burns, forwards.

BURNS.—Freeman, goal; McFadyen and Donnithorne, backs, Russell, J. Taylor and McLaughlin, half, backs, Cochrane, Wood, A Taylor, Bonor and Kerr, forwards.

Referee.—Mr Remfry, Y. M. C. A.

CALCUTTA vs. K. O. S. B's.—Played on the Calcutta ground on the 23rd instant, the home team serving up a surprise by beating their opponents by two goals to one. Calcutta forced matters at once and Cooper took the ball down and put in a fine shot; it was fisted out, but Fyfe getting possession rushed it through. The Borderers tested the home defence and played up hard, though they were unable to break through. Then Todd sent the ball to Fyfe, who dribbling neatly past the military back sent over to Cooper, the lattter scoring Calcutta's second goal. The home team nearly scored a third point shortly after. Then the Borderers came away and Buckley had to save several shots, Cassidy beating him at length with a hard one. On resuming after the interval the Borderers played all they knew to equalise and some fine combination was witnessed. Buckley stopped all the shots, however and Calcutta running down forced a corner without further result. For the rest of the game the visitors attacked the home goal, but the backs and custodian were in great form and kept them out till the end. Teams:—

CALCUTTA F. C.—Buckley, goal; Todd and Gillespie, backs; Maunder, Crawford and Walker, halves; Binning, Cooper, Fyfe, V. Sherman and Stewart, forwards.

K. O. S. B.'S.—O'Neill, goal; McChesnie and McDonald, backs; Campbell, Stewart and Davison, halves; Byers, Kennedy, Cassidy Bruce and Cregan, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. Batho, Calcutta Rangers.

Y. M. C. A. vs. DALHOUSIE.—These teams met on the 23rd instant and the Young Men created rather a surprise by beating their opponents by two goals to nil. The Association went away and play for the first ten minutes was confined to the Dalhousie half. Then Crow centred and Peake fisted out, but the ball hit Street and rebounded into the net. The visitors continued the attack and Street netted the ball once more but was penalised for handling. The Dalhousie men then began to play up and Williams was tested on a couple of occasions. A run down by Apcar, Brown and Simmons followed and Peake was called on to save. Even play closed the half. On resuming the Dalhousie men tried hard to equalise, rushing down and giving the Association backs plenty to do. Then Apcar and Street got a combined run and passing the Dalhousie backs Apcar put the ball through. The home team were unable to score and the game ended as stated. Teams:—

Y. M. C. A.—Williams, goal; Baldwin and Yackchee, backs; Power, Butler and Cooper, halves; Crow, Street, Apcar, Simmons and Browne, forwards.

DALHOUSIE.—Peake, goal; Margrett and Stimson, backs; Robinson, Phelps and Dalling, halves; Echlin, Rosser, Watts, Pooler and Botten, forwards.

Referee.—Sergeant Wallace, 93rd Highlanders.

RANGERS vs. A. AND S. HIGHLANDERS.—Once more the Rangers had to suffer defeat, the Highlanders gaining an easy victory over them last Saturday by five goals to nil. The military team opened the scoring soon after the start, Galbraith finding the net after a combined rush. Quin added another goal a few minutes later, and at the interval the Highlanders were leading by two goals. During the second half they continued to have the best of matters and put on three more goals, scored by Quin, Hogg and Galbraith. The Rangers, who had anything but a representative team, were unable to score and the game ended in a win for the 93rd as above.

CALCUTTA vs. A. & S. HIGHLANDERS.—The match between the above teams on the Calcutta ground last Tuesday was witnessed by a large crowd. During the opening part of the first half the game was rather uninteresting, but the Highlanders got away at last and a combined run resulted in Quinn finding the net. It was not long, however, before Fife equalised by heading into the net. Both teams played hard for the remainder of the half, but at the interval were still on level terms. The second half brought another goal to the Highlanders, Lockhart being responsible. The home team were unable to score and the soldiers thus won by two goals to one.

THE following is the position of Clubs to 26th May (inclusive):—

Name of Club.	Matches played.	Won.	Lost.	Drawn.	Points.	Goals. For	Agst.
93rd H'landers	... 4	4	0	0	8	12	1
Calcutta	... 4	3	1	0	6	6	3
Dalhousie	... 3	2	1	0	4	5	2
64th R. F. A.	... 3	2	1	0	4	6	4
Howrah	... 4	2	2	0	4	4	10
K. O. S. B.	... 2	1	1	0	2	5	2
Y. M. C. A.	... 3	1	2	0	2	3	4
Burns A. C.	... 3	0	3	0	0	0	4
Rangers	... 4	0	4	0	0	0	11

SURPLUS BOOKS.

Many Thousand Surplus Copies of Books always on sale (second-hand).
Also Books specially bound in Half Pig-skin, selected from the works of popular Authors, suitable for Garrison Libraries.
High-class Selections of the newest Books made for Libraries and Officers' Book Clubs.
All the Leading Periodicals obtainable, new or second-hand.
Newspapers supplied on Subscription, payable in advance.
All Lists of Books and Magazines on Sale—sent Post Free on Application.

MUDIE'S LIBRARY,

30-34, New Oxford Street, London.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The League competition has been advanced a stage further since these notes last appeared and now that the various teams have more or less settled down the play has been of a much higher standard and the matches have in a great many instances proved both exciting and well contested. The interest is, moreover, likely to be sustained right up to the finish as no one team has at present shown such marked superiority over the others as to render the final result a foregone conclusion. The results of the various matches so far leads one to anticipate that the chance of ultimate victory rests between the K. O. S. B., Calcutta, 93rd A. and S. H. and Dalhousie, but the competition is only in its early stages at present and there is still lots of time for a reshuffling of positions.

The Rangers have not yet been able to satisfactorily fill the vacancies caused by the inability of several of their regular members to turn out, and consequently defeat has been their lot with unfailing regularity. In their match against Dalhousie on the 20th they put up such a good fight during the initial half that hopes were entertained that they would at least manage to draw with their formidable rivals, but with the wind against them in the second half they proved quite unable to cope with the superior combination of the Dalhousie men who scored two goals within a few minutes of the restart and notched yet another point towards the close of the game. No fault is to be found with the Rangers' back division in which Lees and Whitie are always conspicuous, and in Whelan they possess a goal-keeper who is quite up to the average, but their forwards, with the exception of Russell and Cuthbert, are deplorably weak and every effort should be made to remodel the front rank. Watts played a remarkably fine game for Dalhousie and it was he who was instrumental in notching the first two goals for his side. Stimson, besides scoring the third point, did some good things and Peake in goal proved as safe as usual.

A poor game was the outcome of the meeting between Howrah and Y. M. C. A. which resulted in a victory for the trans-Hughli team by 2—1. The play during the first half was all in favour of the Young Men, who had the assistance of a stiff breeze, and although not making the most of their opportunities managed to cross over with a lead of 1 goal to nil, but this proved not to be sufficient to give them victory as Howrah, who played a most determined and accurate game, found the net on two occasions through the efforts of Smith and Ferrier. Apcar, the Y. M. C. A. centre forward, is a fast and tricky player, who with a little more experience of keeping in touch with his wing men, will prove of great service to his side, who are a level lot and show signs of becoming a dangerous combination. Ferrier and the two Smiths were noticeable for Howrah for whom Bennett and H. Osborne were also conspicuous.

The weakness of the 64th R. F. A. fresh from their victory over the Rangers, was exemplified to the full in their match with the 93rd Highlanders on Thursday last, which was played on the Barrackpore ground before a large number of spectators, as the visitors had the game all to themselves from start to finish and eventually won by 3—0. The feature of the game, however, was the magnificent goal-keeping of the home custodian, Hutchinson, who saved shot after shot in splendid style and it was entirely due to his efforts that the score was not very much heavier. The match was too one-sided to admit of description.

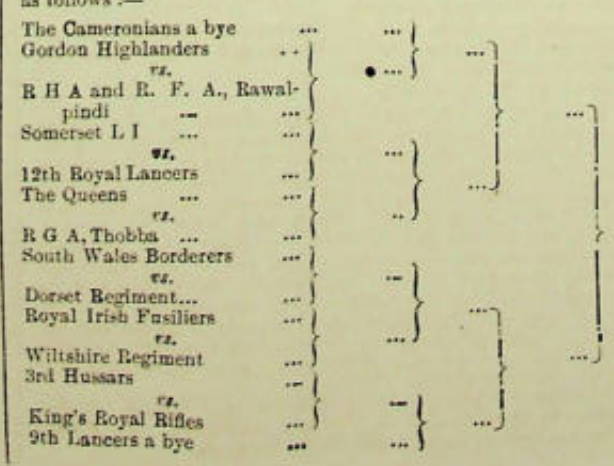
Saturday proved a day of surprises and few who have followed the form of the respective elevens could have anticipated the victories of Calcutta and the Y. M. C. A. over the K. O. S. B. and Dalhousie teams, but such was the case and in neither instance were the victories due to other than superior form on the day's play.

The Calcutta and K.O.S.B. match attracted a huge crowd to the Calcutta ground and they were rewarded by witnessing the best exhibition of football which has yet been displayed. The premier club placed what we feel sure will eventually prove their strongest team in the field, the only experiment being the inclusion of Binning on the right wing in place of Gould. A match of such importance and against such doughty opponents was a severe first test for a new player, and it was natural that nervousness should militate against Binning showing his best form, but he made few mistakes and is well worth an extended trial. Calcutta started by defending the Eden Gardens' end and almost immediately notched their first goal through Fife, who obtaining possession from Sherman, as the result of a combined effort with Stewart, tricked the opposing backs and put in an angular shot which O'Neil could not possibly be expected to save. Only a few minutes had elapsed, however, when the home forwards again rushed down in a body and Fife shot across the mouth of the goal, but Cooper was on the spot and headed through. Utterly taken by surprise at this onslaught it was some time before the present League champions could settle down to their usual game, but they eventually got into their stride and gave as pretty an exhibition of the short passing game as one could wish to witness. Cassidy, Byers and Kennedy worked hard and suntiringly and tested the home custodian with shots from all directions but Buckley was never in difficulties and fisted out, kicked and saved in magnificent style. The K.O.S.B's, however, were not to be denied and their efforts were at last rewarded as from a scrum in front of the Calcutta goal. Cassidy obtained possession and banged the ball into the net. Half time thus arrived with the score 2—1 in favour of the red shirts. During the second half the visitors had the best of the game, but they appeared to overdo the passing game and were weak in front of goal, and with the Calcutta back division rising to the occasion in surprising fashion the military team were unable to draw level and retired defeated after a great game by 2—

When all the side played so well it is difficult to select certain men for special praise, but Fyfe, Cooper, Todd and Buckley were undoubtedly the bright particular stars on this occasion. The Calcutta centre forward can seldom have played a finer game as apart from his individual efforts he contrived to keep the whole of the front rank together and consequently there was none of the raggedness which has been so apparent. Cooper was quick and full of resource, but we would recommend a little more attention to the ball and less to "downing" his man which though amusing to the spectators is not "the game." Todd at back was especially fine—he has a very sound defence in which his weight and strength assist him materially.

Universal pleasure was expressed at the very sportsman-like game played by the losers who took their defeat in the best possible spirit. Byers and McChesnie worked hard from start to finish and Cassidy gave several pretty exhibitions of dribbling and passing, but the left wing were not up to their usual standard.

Overconfidence combined with a dashing display on the part of their opponents were the causes which led to the defeat of Dalhousie by the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday last. Bushby, Williams, and Stewart were absentees from the Dalhousie ranks and this no doubt handicapped them to some extent, but at no period of the game did they play like a winning team and there was a lack of cohesion amongst the forwards which lost them several opportunities in front of goal. The first goal scored by the Y.M.C.A. was a somewhat lucky one, as after Peake had punched away, the ball rebounded off Street before the goal-keeper could recover. The rest of the first half was fairly even and had Rosser and Echlin played with less impetuosity and more curacy they would no doubt have scored. On the other side, Apcar and Street made several incursions into their opponents' territory but with no result and half time found the Young Men leading by 1—0. After the interval Dalhousie made great efforts to equalise, but their attempts were spasmodic and the Y.M.C.A. adding another goal ran out winners by 2—0.



Apcar, Street, Yackjee, Baldwin, and Butler all played well for the winners and Phelps and Watts were best for Dalhousie, but Peake was not in his usual form.

A rough game during which the football was of a mediocre description was the outcome of the meeting between Howrah and Burns. Howrah scored a goal in the first half through the agency of Ferrier which Kerr should have equalised shortly after the restart. Wood, who was playing centre for Burns, was very conspicuous throughout, but his shooting was faulty.

THE CHIEL

THE MURREE TOURNAMENT.

The ties in this tournament were drawn on the 21st instant as follows :—

Hockey.

HOCKEY IN BOMBAY.

THE AGA KHAN TOURNAMENT.

FIRST ROUND.

OXFORD BAND vs. ESPLANADE WANDERERS.—Played on the 18th instant and resulted in a win for the military team by four goals to nil. They had much the best of the game, the Wanderers only pressing them twice. The Band attacked on opening and scored two goals within a few minutes of the start. They kept up the attack and the civilians were unable to get away. The soldiers scored another goal, in spite of good work by the Wanderer's goal-keep, and crossed over leading by three goals to nil. The second half was not so fast and the Wanderers played up working the ball into the Oxford's circle on two occasions. The military team put on a fourth goal and did not extend themselves further, thus wining by four goals to nil. Teams :—

OXFORD REGIMENTAL BAND (Poona).—King, goal, Plumb and Pillick, backs ; Daubney, Rapson and Boatwright, half-backs ; Phillips, Dowling, Lieutenant Sullivan, Challen and Hewitt, forwards.

ESPLANADE WANDERERS.—Dhaigman, goal ; B. K. Panthakey, and P. N. Dandekar, backs ; K. Kamal, S. Kamal and S. M. Sauzgiri, half-backs ; Wagle, Gowrya, Gangaram, S. Abba, and K. Vithal, forwards.

Referees: Messrs. C. M. Ward and Gawthorne.

17TH BOMBAY INFANTRY vs. PIONEERS.—These teams met on the 20th instant and a fast and interesting game resulted in a win for the Infantry by two goals to one. The first half of the game was in favour of the Pioneers who kept up a series of attacks on the Infantry goal, all of which were unproductive of any score and the teams crossed over with a clean sheet. The second half produced a great change, the 17th began to play up and displayed good combination. They began the attack and Lieutenant Scott scored their first goal. They continued the attack but could not get past Antia who was in great form. Shortly after Lieutenant Robinson got away and after a fine run down put the ball through, scoring the infantry's second goal. The Pioneers then attacked but were unable to score till a misjudged kick by the 17th's goal-keep let them in and they scored their only goal. Teams :—

17TH BOMBAY INFANTRY.—Ambajee Sinde, goal ; Lieut. Carroll and Gani Beg, backs ; Iknack Sniknack, Abu Kudum, and Ambai Utchar, half-backs ; Sheik Oosman, Lieutenant Scott, Lieutenant Robinson, Jemadar Sakarao Tagtaya, and Havildar Swaji Utchar forwards.

PIONEERS.—A. Antia, goal ; V. Baloo and D. Moses, backs ; R. Spencer, N. Lam and M. Kapadia, half-backs ; P. Chinoy, J. Antia, S. Chothia, Bagid and P. Baloo, forwards.

Referees.—Messrs. C. M. Ward and V. Bromley.

R. G. A. vs TELEGRAPH.—These teams met on the 21st instant and rather an uninteresting game resulted in a win for the gunners by 6 goals to nil. They started off by scoring a goal and before half time arrived two more had been added by Lieutenant Roche. On changing ends the Artillerymen continued the attack and Munt put on a fourth goal before the half was many minutes old. The Telegraph never once invaded the military half and it was not long before another goal was put on by the gunners. Just before time Lieutenant McLean added their sixth point, the game ending as stated. Teams :—

GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPH RECREATION CLUB.—W. Murray, goal ; T. Woodard and E. Perkins ; backs ; A. Barry, W. Orr and S. Corner, half-backs ; J. Montgomery, T. Cassels, A. Speechley, G. Edwards and E. Reeves, forwards.

R. G. A.—Bombardier Hill, goal ; Bombardier Scrivener and Gunner Waite, backs ; Gunners Fazey, Pearce, and Bombardier Goodson, half-backs ; Gunner Wood, Lieutenant McLean, Gunner Munt, Lieutenant Roche, and Bombardier Knight, forwards.

Referees.—Messrs. C. M. Ward and V. Bromley.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.

LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.

Durable and deliciously fragrant.

Rs. 2-12, Re. 1-8, Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.

According to size. From

J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

BOMBAY GYMKHANA vs. ELPHINSTONE COLLEGE.—These teams met for the first time on the 18th instant, when the game ended in a draw of one all. The College put in a protest against the Gymkhana with regard to the goal scored by them from a penalty bully. The protest was overruled and on the 21st they met again when the College won by three goals to two. The College had the best of the opening exchanges and though they were driven back, they returned and put the ball through. Their opponents played hard, and an even game followed till just before half-time when the Gymkhana got away and Powell equalised. On changing ends, the College again opened the attack and another goal was scored from a long centre. The Gymkhana then pressed and several scrimmages in front of the College goal followed but without result. After a few minutes, however, the Gymkhana again equalised. Even play followed till near the end when the College rushed the ball down and scored their winning point. Teams :—

BOMBAY GYMKHANA.—P. J. Arnott goal; Barraclough and Lazenby, backs; Shuttleworth, R. Reid, and Gillam, half-backs; Hunt, Richardson, Powell, Scott, and W. Reid, forwards.

ELPHINSTONE COLLEGE.—R. J. Mody, goal; H. D. Gimi and J. D. Mody backs; N. N. Vakil, J. Antia, and N. Ashburner half-backs; B. J. Pleader, B. Desai, P. Vakil, N. Engineer, and M. Nakshalkhan forwards.

Referees.—Major Lynn, North Staffords, and Captain Terman

Bowls.

CALCUTTA GOLF CLUB vs. HOWRAH BOWLING CLUB.—The fourth and last of the matches arranged between these two clubs for this season took place on the green at the Golf Club last Saturday, and was watched with much interest by a number of members. Howrah had proved easily successful in the three previous encounters, but this time the Golfers had succeeded in getting together a more representative team with the result that after an exciting struggle they turned the tables and won by ten points—64 points to 54. Two rinks on each side, those of Mr. Steven and Mr. Dickson for Calcutta and those of Mr. Gilmour and Mr. Maxwell for Howrah were successful, and it was the long lead early established by the first-named which gave the Calcutta men their victory; the first, it may be mentioned for some considerable time. The closest game throughout was the one between Mr. Dickson's Calcutta rink and that skipped for Howrah by Mr Spiers, and the full results were as follows :—

RINK No. 1.

Calcutta Golf Club.—P. Hurll, W. Ross Smith, H. C. Begg, and W. D. Steven (skip.),—27. Howrah Bowling Club.—H Dick, J. Hunter, W. Shank, and J. Patrick (skip).—8.

RINK No. 2.

Calcutta Golf Club.—J. R. Stewart, J. G. Hewit, N. Mitchell Innes, and G. S. Hannah (skip),—10. Howrah Bowling Club—P. Bart, J. D. Ness, L. McLaren, and T. Maxwell (skip).—14.

RINK No. 3.

Calcutta Golf Club.—W. D. Cowan, F. H. Stewart, J. Smith, and W. E. G. C. Dickson (skip).—14. Howrah Bowling Club.—G. D. Gray, D. Cook, M. M. King, and R. Spiers (skip).—12.

RINK No. 4.

Calcutta Golf Club—W. T. Reid, D. Drimmie, Reg. Murray, and T. Drimmie (skip).—13. Total 64. Howrah Bowling Club.—J. Crawford, J. McMurray, H. Oxford, and J. Gilmour (skip).—20. Total 54.

Boxing.

THE POONA TOURNAMENT.

THE Poona Boxing Tournament, which may now be considered as a firmly established annual event, opened this year under most favourable auspices. Confidence—inspired by perfect management—in the justice and integrity of everything concerned with the proceedings tempted men from the most remote corners of this great Indian Empire to come and show their fistic skill and gallantly uphold the glory of their respective corps. That in such an event soldiers should preponderate is natural enough, but it seems a pity that the other services eligible to compete should have so sadly failed to avail themselves of the opportunity. The arrangements were the same as in previous years—a raised ring in the centre of a large enclosure capable of holding nearly two thousand men and surrounded by a zareba of konnauts, the whole being situated on the maidan inside the race course and nearly opposite the grand stand.

On the first night Major Grantham of the 3rd Bombay Cavalry and I understand himself a one-time bruiser and athlete, officiated as referee, while Captain Gresson of the York and Lancashire Regiment (with a D. S. O. and a wound—both honoured badges acquired in South Africa) and Captain Hobbs judged. Time was kept by that well-known Poona sportsman Mr. Tom Le Mesurier, while Captain Lewis acted as Master of the Ceremonies and generally "ran the show." The first night was devoted to Bantams and Light-weights and the ball was set rolling then.

Private Titt, Wiltshire Regiment, beat B. R. Robson, 60th Battery R. G. A.

Titt, an old performer on this stage, had the best all through of three rounds of fast fighting. A lot of round hitting Robson taking the floor twice and having his figure head damaged. Titt failed in his earnest endeavour for a knock out, Robson taking his gruelling in a laudable manner but second best all through. Then Corporal Young, 15th Hussars, beat Private Preston, Border Regiment.

Both opened cautiously and the first round called for little comment. Preston seemed to have all the best of the second round and little, if any, the worst of the third, but the judges gave winning points to the cavalry man. Many knowledgeable men thought a decider would have been advisable.

A brace of Bantams next claimed the cock pit and Drummer Miller, L Battery, beat Private McDougall, Oxford Light Infantry.

The gunner, a neatly made man, sent to the ring in beautiful condition, had a little the better of it all through the three rounds and won comfortably.

Following this Private Scurr, Suffolk Regiment, defeated Private Ramsden, 15th Hussars. Hammer and tongs from the start Scurr hitting his man all over for less than a minute and a half when the Hussar held out his mittens—not an interesting performance.

Then Private Cotton, Warwickshire Regiment, beat Private Stock, Royal Welsh Fusiliers. This bout too opened with fire works, each man putting all he knew into the shortest possible time. Cotton fighting well and sending Stock to ground from which he only rose on the final stroke, a close thing indeed for time. Cotton taking full advantage of his opportunity had his opponent stone cold after 60 seconds' fighting in the second round. After this Private Black, Lincolns, defeated Private Cockerton, the Buffs. Black in a striking costume of Mephistophelian red with a large "pearlie" on the mark, apparently completely over-awed his opponent and after 45 seconds' fighting Cockerton was unable to get back before the clock struck ten and was counted out.

Then Private Bowers of the Buffs met Private Brigsby of the Buffs. It is regrettable when a brace from the same regiment meet in the early rounds and one scarcely expected real slaughter. Whether "company" honour or what was at stake I know not, but the men set to with the most commendable good will and what promised to be an interesting display was abruptly closed by Bowers getting in a beautifully clean hit right on the point (and no mistake about it) sending his comrade to sleep for considerably over the regulation period.

Genuine business ensued then. Drummer Neat, G Battery R.H.A., beat Private Pearse, the Buffs. Both men fought with determination, taking and giving punishment well, Neat showing a trifle the more cleverness. A tendency to close fighting induced an inclination to hit a bit low which might perhaps have been checked earlier in the contest. Pearse got his man over the ropes and Neat looked like being counted out but just saved. Neat then got the best of the fighting and scored a lot when Pearse nearly altered the state of affairs by closing the wind supply. Time, however, came to Neat's aid, and he was rightly enough adjudged the winner on points.

A pleasurable fight then ensued when Private Higgins, York and Lancashire Regiment, beat Private Ashwick, East Surrey. A very evenly matched pair fighting with skill, vigour and fairness right through the three rounds and the verdict for a deciding round would have met with public approbation. A close thing indeed it must have been on points, but the judges agreed in favour of Higgins. Both men rightly met with popular appreciation, Ashwick getting a full share.

But the good wine was kept to the last when Lance-Corporal Blackman, 10th Hussars, beat Lance Corporal-Gaffney, Connaught Rangers. Of very different physique Gaffney, a beautifully modelled man, thick through and covered with muscle. Blackman thin and wiry little muscle to show but evidently all whip cord and though evidently a considerably older man soon demonstrated that no stiffness had yet set in. Gaffney rightly attempted to make use of his weight and strength, but Blackman fighting prettily and very quick with both hands and feet was very much alive to the exigencies of the occasion, getting away and slipping in with surprising quickness. In the second round the cavalry man assumed a lead fighting in excellent style and hitting with great celerity and precision and was unmistakeably the winner on points when time was called. A scientific honest fight, two good men doing their best and the cleverer man winning and we were all sent home in a good humour.

SECOND DAY.

The good fortune which inaugurated the opening ceremony received a complete knock out on the second day, when at the last moment a severe storm caused devastation. Nor was it till the last day of the week that proceedings could be resumed—hard lines on everyone and to none less than the competitors who had to keep at the high tension point of training for so prolonged a period. To the Light-Weights was deputed the honour of reopening the proceedings and when, Drummer Cook, G. Battery, R. H. A., beat Private Barry, Bedfordshire, Regiment, we were treated to an excellent bout, both men administering punishment with an ardour only equalled by their gluttony in receiving it. The verdict on points went to the slightly better man.

Little less excellent was the set to when Private Amger, Welsh Regiment, beat Private Fortune York and Lancashire Regiment. The latter had the longer reach and made good use of it. Amger warming up in the second round had distictly the better of the third and rightly won on points.

Then came the first "incident" of the evening when Private, Bolton, Lincolns, beat Private Nicholson, Welsh Fusiliers.

Bolton floored Nicholson with a finely delivered left Nicholson at the call of three rose to one knee, remaining in that position (as if expecting knighthood), while Bolton generously refraining from enacting his privilege, waited expectantly.

Appreciably after the call of time Nicholson rose to his feet and assumed surprise at being counted out and had to be ordered from the ring. The verdict meeting with general satisfaction. Then Coporal Baxter, Warwicks, beat Private McDougall, Oxford Light Infantry fighting him to submission and Private Warr, the Buffs, beat Private Sims Gordon, this but calling for little comment. Sims being disabled from a blow on the elbow.

Considerable excitement prevailed to see how Corporal Smith, 10th Hussars, shaped, as he came with a great reputation and was reputed to be something quite out of the common. He certainly was as a type of muscular development and an exponent of terrific force in hitting. It was fighting but it was not the science of boxing and with an intense love of the art I cannot but confess that I would not regret were it possible to so differentiate as to bar such a style of fighting from a Boxing Tournament.

Corporal Smith, 10th Hussars, beat Private Campbell, the Buffs.

Smith's style was crouching with his arms bowed and held low and almost invariably the right leg forward: his tactics—if they can be called tactics were to rush in administering terrific rights and lefts with overpowering results when they got home and Campbell was completely overpowered. Whether Smith's wonderful strength will in the face of his peculiar style avail against a real boxer who will meet his rush with a few straight ones remains to be seen.

The Middle Weights next claimed popular sympathy and Private Cundwick, Welsh Regiment, beat Private Dance, 1st Glosters, fighting him to a complete standstill.

A very grand fight was that when Private Ilott. The Buffs, beat Corporal Ranger, Welsh Regiment three times was Ranger (a beautifully made young fellow) sent to ground in the first round, twice by fair knock down blows and once losing his balance and it looked as all was over barring "up with the sponge." Taking warning from his juvenile lack of discretion he quickly pulled himself together and we were treated to beautiful free boxing by both men with considerable cleverness included. Excitement was increased when the referee (Colonel Longe of the Middlesex) gave the verdict for a deciding round and when the final decision was in Ilott's favour by points (and a close thing it must have been) the hearty applause so well deserved was no less for the gallant young loser who will be heard of again when time has added ring craft to his strength and courage.

Then Lance-Corporal Holloway, Royal Fusiliers, beat Lance-Corporal Regan Commanght Rangers.

The latter fought finely here last year and a good fight was anticipated. Early in the proceedings, however Holloway, knoked the Irishman over the ropes and he was counted out.

Gunner Jones R. G. A., beat Private Ryan, Oxford Light Infanty, hitting all over the place and fighting him to subjection.

A very grand bout next followed, when Bombardier Gibson, 12th Battery, R. F. A. beat Private Williams' Wiltshire Regiment.

Williams who got into the finals last year, had all the advantage of height and reach completely overtowering his sturdy little opponent who was, however, wonderfully clever and active. Interest was sustained throughout, both hitting with commendable determination. Gibson got the verdict on points, but there was little to choose and both men were warmly applauded.

Then the irresistible Corporal Smith, 10th Hussars, beat Private Jones, Warwick.

Smith fresh (absolutely fresh) from his victory on the heavy-weight bout competed in his own class. His reputation and previous exhibition of hitting proved too much for Jones, who retired damaged.

So ended the second evening's performance, and it is to be earnestly hoped the elements will prove unpropitious no longer and allow the remaining days to be got through without interruption.

Riding.

BUFFALO BILL ON THE ART OF RIDING.

[BY COL. W. F. CODY.]

IF I were asked to teach anyone how to ride I shouldn't want to do it. And yet, I guess I know as much about riding as any man. In the East, I believe, they teach people how to ride a horse: in the West you couldn't get a self-respecting broncho to stand for anything of that short. Riding is a gift. It's born in you or it isn't, and it won't take you long to find out if you can "keep your seat." Nearly everyone thinks he can ride a horse, a belief that leads to a great deal of trouble sometimes. It is a good deal easier for some people to run an automobile. In the far West, where the glorious prairies meet the sky line, a man doesn't have to take lessons in riding.

These prairies are the great riding schools of the world. Ranches are some fifty miles apart, and every little shaver who is old enough to walk almost, jumps on horseback and takes to it as the Eastern lad does to swimming. It's born in him. All his ancestors were horsemen, and he doesn't have to learn what's in the blood. When he gets old enough he becomes a cowboy, and then he gets his first cow outfit. A cow outfit is a string of range ponies—about fifteen or twenty of them—and he rides them, alternately, as the days come around. They don't get enough riding to take the spunk out of them, and they're always true to the bucking instinct of the broncho. The best way I know of to learn how to keep your seat is to get a variety of seats, such as the cow outfit offers the cowboy. If you've got the gift of riding you'll soon learn the knack of getting so firm a seat that horse and rider seem to be made in one piece. If you haven't got the gift the broncho will promptly prove it to you.

The greatest rider in the world is the "broncho—buster." He is the man who meets the wild horse of the west or south-west and tames him for practical service; corrals the horse, ropes him with his lariat, gets a blanket on his back, then a saddle, then a bridle, and mounts him. Then he does a bit of riding that has astonished the world. The best show-ring rider on earth would be lost on the hurricane deck of a bucking broncho. The broncho-buster is not particular about style, neither is the broncho, and it's a dead earnest fight for mastery between horse and man. Neither of them has had any lessons in riding, but they gather a whole heap of information about one another in a short acquaintance. Mr. Broncho gets pretty mad, and Mr. Broncho-Buster tells him in plain language what he thinks of him, and they snort and cuss and fight like wild ones, but neither of them has any hard and fixed rules. There's no riding master to help either of them out: it's just a triumph of Mr. Broncho Buster's genius for riding, over Mr. Broncho's genius for bucking. They get to be great friends—sometimes. Just as soon as horse and rider established an intelligent understanding they become as fond of each other as boon companions. The horse becomes a pet and will answer his master's whistle as faithfully as a dog.

Of course there are many different natures among horses as there are among men. There are wicked horses, as there are wicked men, but I believe much fewer. A horse is very sensitive to the control and ability of his rider and if he is badly managed he will take advantage any time. There's no better advice I can give to any man who wants to ride than to tell him to use as much sense as his horse. You can't have anything better than good horse sense. There's not much park riding out west, because the western pony has a style of his own, that makes a man on his back sit up, just the same. No rider in the west hangs on to the bridle reins so as to keep his balance in the saddle. No rider in the west yanks the horse's mouth to turn a corner.

All western horses are bridle-wise. The slightest pressure of the knee, or a mere tip of the bridle rein on the pony's neck, wheels him round in a flash. The curb bit is never used, except to control a horse. No one should ride with a short stirrup. The easiest position on a horse is to stand in your stirrups erect, so that you can slip the stirrup easily in case of trouble. And trouble is a thing you always want to be ready for. With a horse it is always the unexpected that happens.

I don't know anything about park riding from personal experience, but I cannot imagine anything more uncomfortable than a pigskin saddle, a short stirrup and an English trotting horse for a man who had to ride for duty or pleasure.

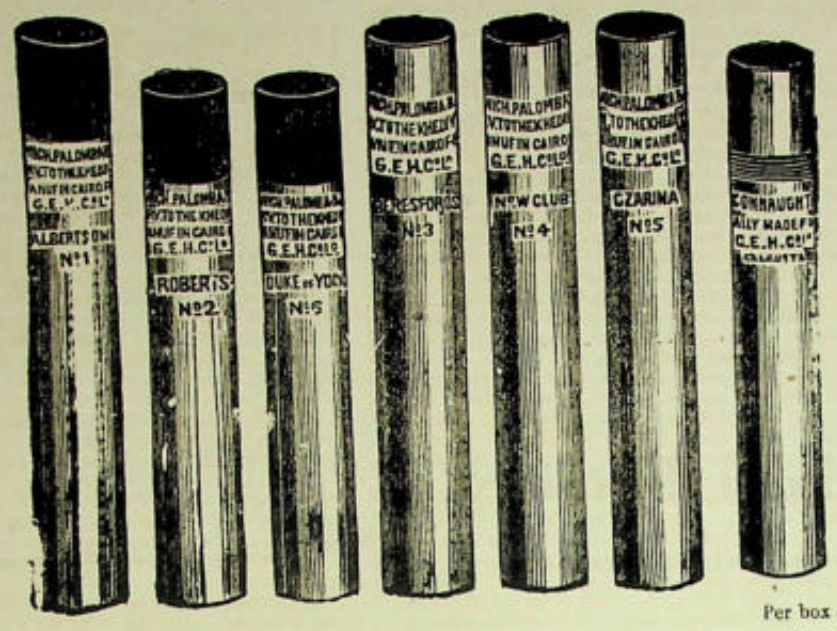
The United States cavalrymen have adopted the western horse and rider as representing the best kind of riding in the world. Nearly all recruits in the United States cavalry are taught to ride in one of the western cavalry posts, where the broncho and the prairies give him all the practice and all the room he wants.

I believe that I am the only man who has ever corralled in one arena the Mexican, the Cossack, the Indian and cowboy, mounted on their native ponies: and to those who study these things it is a remarkable exhibition of one fact, that good riders adopt almost the same methods.

The Cossack and the Mexican, the Indian and the cowboy ride with equal ease and carelessness.

It won't do to be afraid of a horse if you intend to ride him. Look him square in the eye when ready to mount, grip him with your knee when you're on him, and talk to him till he understands you. The more you talk to him the better. In the matter of getting control of a horse a great deal could be written, if writing could teach any one to ride a horse, which I don't believe for a minute. If there is one thing the riding school does not do, it is to teach you how to control a horse.

A man must be equal to or better than his horse. Mere brute force won't gain the esteem and respect of a horse, and these are qualities the rider must conquer before he can succeed. The only way to become expert in riding is practice. The best saddle is the army saddle, with high pommel and high back to rest the body as much as possible in long journeys; the worst gait is a trot; horses should be broken bridle wise; the best riding school in the world is the prairie.



The American range horse, in his natural state, is the wildest of the equine tribe. The so-called wild horse of the Cossack or the Arab does not compare with him for fierceness or ingenuity. In fact I have yet to find the horse that is his equal in resisting attempts at subjugation. He will kick, bite, strike with his four feet, and he alone knows the possibilities of bucking. No rider in the world except the American cowboy who has learned the art in the school of rough experience, is able to master the the untamed horse of the plains.

As an instance of the ferocity of these horses under certain circumstances, the case of the horse that killed the first Indian in the Pine Ridge campaign occurs to me. This horse was a range stallion called Sullivan, and he belonged to Big Baptiste, a well known scout. Baptiste was compelled to leave the place at the outbreak of hostilities and Sullivan was left behind with a number of other horses. As is generally known, it is the custom of these horses to form themselves into bands, each one with a stallion at its head. These released horses formed themselves into such a band, with Sullivan in charge. The Indians decided that they could make use of some of the mounts and one of their number roped one of the mares under Sullivan's charge and started to remove her. The infuriated stallion pursued him, seized the Indian with his teeth, hauled him off the horse on which he was riding and trampled him to death. Thus the first fatality of the campaign was due to Sullivan. The horse was afterwards retaken by his former owner and ridden by him.

It is natural to expect that animals of such spirit as this should display a high order of intelligence when finally broken. The strong instinct remains to stand them in good stead. The scouts and hunters of the west long ago learned this, and the more successful of them were accustomed to rely upon their horses.

EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES.

These are the finest Cigarettes imported into India, and are manufactured especially for this Company.

	Per box of 25 Cash. Rs. A.	Per box of 50 Cash. Rs. A.
Albert's Own (Gold Tipped)	1 14	3 12
Beresfords	1 6	2 12
New Club	1 4	2 8
Czarina	1 0	1 14
Duke of York, specially manufactured for Ladies (Gold Tipped)	1 0	2 0
Connaught, per box of 100	—	2 12

SPECIALITIES IN WHISKIES.

"BEEHIVE" BRAND,
Rs. 25 per dozen.
303 SPECIALITY,
Rs. 30 per dozen.
707 SPECIALITY,
Rs. 35 per dozen.

SAMPLE CASES OF WHISKIES.
To enable our customers to make a choice from our stock of Whiskies and to judge of their characteristics we shall be happy to put up one bottle of any six different Brands, and charge for them at the nett cash rate per dozen with special discount of 5 per cent.

"AULD" SCOTTIE.
Rs. 32-8 per dozen.
"NECTAR,"
Rs. 41 per dozen.
"GLENLIVET,"
Rs. 36 per dozen.

10 % Discount for Cash.

Great Eastern Hotel Co., Ld., Calcutta.

to discover Indians or game at a distance which they themselves could detect no trace of either.

The horse Buckskin Joe, which I owned years ago, was a good example of the effect of training combined with instinct He was the most skilled buffalo horse that ever lived. He knew just how to go after a buffalo and just how to avoid a vicious charge. It was hardly necessary to guide him in a hunt, and it was largely due to his ability that I was able on one occasion to kill sixty-nine animals in a single hunt. Many of the most clever trick and trained horses have been crosses between the blood of the eastern states and the cayuse, or plain pony. The horses which formerly did the Virginia reel in the Wild West were all of this kind.

When we come to the matter of endurance, too much can be said in praise of the American horses descended from the plains animals. They are particularly valuable for use in a rough or wild country, because they are so completely self-reliant. Oats and hay are not necessaries for the range horses. They have picked their living for so many generations back that it has become an instinct with them. If there is grass under the snow they know how to find it. They appreciate the sustenance that is to be found in twigs and buds and even in the bark of young trees.

In the case of our own horses that are taken from the range we find it necessary to teach them to eat oats. That may seem surprising, but it is true. Usually it is necessary to put them on short rations for a time, until they learn to like the grain, and we have had a few horses that absolutely refused to eat oats under any consideration. Such horses as these do not require pampering or fine food, and for this reason they are especially valuable for use in campaigning, as they are able to bear up under privations that would kill the ordinary horse. Moreover, they will thrive in any climate.

Another quality that mates the western horse a good campaigner is his toughness. He will endure an incredible amount of work. His capabilities in this direction were abundantly proved by the "thousand mile race" at the time of the World's Fair in Chicago, when every horse made the journey from Chadron, Neb, to Chicago without difficulty and arrived in good condition. In contrast to this is the famous Vienna race, in which the horses were killed.

In the course of my lifetime I have had occasion many times to put my horses to more severe tests than this one and I never have found them wanting. We all know the intelligence, beauty and affection of the high bred American horse. Add to this the hardihood, endurance and adaptability of the plains animal, and we have a product that the rest of the world cannot equal. I believe that the time is rapidly approaching when all the cavalry of Europe will be mounted on American horses, or at least on horses containing an admixture of American blood."—Breeder and Sportsman.

Sports.

ARTILLERY AQUATIC SPORTS.

THE annual aquatic sports of the field batteries stationed at Kirkee were held near Holkar's Bridge on the 21st instant. Heavy showers of rain caused a poor attendance; nevertheless the sports were a great success and were much enjoyed. Mrs. Carter, wife of Colonel Carter, commanding the R. F. A., distributed the prizes at the conclusion of the events. Details:—

100 YARDS SWIMMING RACE.—Br Martin, 29th F B, 1st; Gr Kemp, 18th F B, 2nd; Gr Quinn, 18th F B, 3rd.

HEADERS.—Gr Quinn, 18th F B, 1st; Gr Kemp, 18th F B, 2nd.

SWIMMING HORSES ACROSS RIVER.—Dr Strong, 29th F B, 1st; Br Martin, 29th F. B, 2; Gr Kane, 45th F B, 3.

TEAM RACE.—18th Field Battery.

DUMMY LIFE-SAVING RACE.—Br Martin, 29th F B, 1st; Dr Strong 29th F B, 2nd.

DUCK HUNT.—40th Field Battery 1st. Also competed:—18th, 29th and 45th Field Battery Teams.

CHARIOT RACE.—29th F B. w o.

OBSTACLE RACE.—Sap. Chandan Singh, Bo. S and M; 1st. Sap, Nursoo Shiennia, Bo. S and M; 2nd. Sap. Gangaram Appa. Bo. S and M; 3rd. About 30 competed. Time—3mins 30secs.

GREASY POLE.—Dr. Sandeman, 45th F B, 1st; Gr Lester, 45th F B, 2nd; Dr Miller, 29th F B, 3rd.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.
According to size. From
J. F Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

Swimming.

CALCUTTA SWIMMING CLUB.

THREE LENGTHS HANDICAP.—Preliminary heats in the Three Lengths Handicap were put through last Friday, the 22nd. Ten competitors faced the starter and the results were as follows:—

FIRST HEAT.

		Start.	Nett Time.
1st	A E B Siddons	16 secs.	1min. 26½secs.
2nd	J Chaplin	22 "	1 " 35⅘ "
3rd	A S Cox	18 "	1 " 36⅘ "
4th	F T Blockley	19 "	1 " 39 "

T W Greene also started, but did not finish.

SECOND HEAT.

		Start.	Nett Time.
1st	G Brown	6 secs.	1min. 20secs.
2nd	W S J Willson	18 "	1 " 33 "
3rd	K M Kennedy	10 "	1 " 27 "
4th	H G Remfry	15 "	1 " 32½ "
5th	H M Sherman	scratch.	not taken.

Mr. H. P. Henderson acted as starter and time-keeper and Mr. G. W. Batho as judge.

The Final Heat will be decided next Friday, 29th May, and will be followed by a Plate diving competition.

The Horse.

OOTACAMUND HORSE SHOW.

JUDGES AND COMMITTE.

Mr. H. Irwin.
Mr. C. A. Mackenzie
Capt. C. T. Swan.
Col. F. C. Cunliffe.
Major Gunn
Capt. S. S. Browne.
Mr. H. P. Hodgson.
Major W. McL. Campbell.
Capt. R. D'A. Fife.
Major Logan Home.
Major W. O. Fowler.
Col J. P. Grant.
Capt. W. H. Kay.

Honorary Secretary.—Capt. C. T. Swan.

First Day, Friday, 22nd May 1903.

The show opened this morning in showery weather, but it cleared up and by the afternoon Old Sol was shining gaily. There were a large number of spectators, including Lord and Lady Ampthill and the Maharajah of Mysore. Entries were not so good as in previous years, but there was no doubt as to the quality which this year was splendid. The judging was got through in good time and gave universal satisfaction. Details:—

HEAVY WEIGHT HUNTERS up to 13 stone and over. 1st Prize, Silver Cup; 2nd Prize, Silver Flask. Judges—Mr. H. P. Hodgson, Captain Packard, and Major Gunn.

Major Campbell's br aus g Pennant ... 1
Major Logan-Home's or aus g Harkaway ... 2
H E Lord Ampthill's rn aus g Arcot ... 3
Mr H Irwin's b aus g Kylemore—Commended.

Judges' Remarks.—A very good class, though one or two entries were wrongly classed.

LIGHT WEIGHT HUNTERS, 12 stone and under. 1st Prize, Silver Cup; 2nd Prize, Silver Flask. Judges—Mr. H. Irwin, Colonel Grant, and Major Fowler.

Captain Fife's b aus g Woodlands 1
H E Lord Ampthill's b aus g Audax 2
H E Lady Ampthill's ch aus m Atalanta—Commended 3

Judges' Remarks.—Class was very good and winner very difficult to select.

CORS—HORSES between 14 and 15 hands. 1st Prize, Silver Cup. Judges—Captain Packard, Mr. H. P. Hodgson, and Major Gunn.

Major Logan-Home's b e m Dodo 1
Mrs. Marjoribank's b aus g Nugget 2
Mrs. Tatchell's b e m Somerset—Commended.

Judges' Remarks.—A fair class, but the two Arabs were out of place.

CHARGERS.—1st Prize, Silver Cup; 2nd Prize, Silver Tobacco Box. Judges—Major Logan-Home and Captain S.S. Browne.

H H the Maharajah of Mysore's br aus g Southern Cross 1
Captain E de H Smith's ch aus h Rubicon ... 2
Mr. Bartholomew's ch aus g Rufus—Commended.

Judges' Remarks.—A good class; but it is very difficult to judge Arabs and Walers in the same class They should be separate. They were excellently schooled horses.

POLO PONIES under 14 1. Australian and English. 1st Prize, Silver Cup. Judges.—General Richardson and Captain Brown.

Captain Fife's br aus m Hilda 1
Maharajah of Mysore's br aus m Dainty ... 2
Mrs. Magrath's br aus g Pixie. Commended.

Judges' Remarks.—A good class.

PONY HUNTERS.—1st Prize, Silver Cup: 2nd Prize, Silver Flask; 3rd Prize, Silver Card Case Judges—Mr H P Hodgson, Mr C A Mackenzie, and Major Gunn.

Major Campbell's ch aus m Mary Jane 1
Colonel Gordon Price's br aus m Colleen 2
Mrs Tatchell's b e m Somerset—Commended.

Judges' Remarks.—A very good class.

JUMPING COMPETITION.—Ponies. 1st Prize. Silver Cup. Judges.—The Committee.

Captain Matthew's b aus m Two Step 1
Miss Brereton's gr aus m Nutmeg 2

Judges' Remarks—Two Step jumped excellently; but the class was poor

CHILDREN'S PONIES.—1st Prize. Silver Watch and Chain. Judge—Captain Browne.

Hon'ble Guy Russell's ch e m Atom 1

Driving Competition—For Ladies. 1st Prize. Brooch. Judges—The Committee.

Miss Morgan 1

Judges' Remarks.—Miss Morgan won, after a tie with Mrs. Magrath. A very good class.

The Naturalist.

BIRDS OF LUCKNOW.

VI.

INDIAN SAND-MARTIN [Cotili sinensis]. Chota ababil [H.]

Very common and a permanent resident, breeding in colonies in the banks of the Goomti, in railway cuttings, nullahs and similar places. The nest, which is a dirty collection of grass and feathers, is placed at the end of a hole, from 18 inches to 3 feet, or more, in length. The eggs, which are pure white, are three, sometimes four in number, I have found them in every month from December to May. They average ·66" × ·46".

SWALLOW [Hirundo rustica]. Ababil [H]. A common winter visitor, departing as soon as the warm weather sets in. The word "ababil" is applied indifferently to all swifts, martins, and swallows.

WIRE-TAILED SWALLOW [Hirundo smithii]. A permanent resident and partial to water, this lovely species is seldom found far from some pool or stream. It breeds with us during March and April,—possibly also in the "rains." The nest, a shallow mud cup lined with grass and feathers, after the manner of the swallow tribe, is usually placed under a bridge or culvert. The eggs are three in number, white, with spots and speckles of brick-red. They average ·73" × ·52".

SYKE'S STRIATED SWALLOW [Hirundo erythropygia].

The Red-rumped, or Striated, Swallow is common in certain localities during the cold weather and again in the "rains." I have not yet found its nest, but I am told on good authority that it breeds here I found its nest—a retort-shaped structure of mud—in an old fort near Delhi.

WHITE WAGTAIL [Motacilla alba].

MASKED WAGTAIL [Motacilla personata].

Both these species, which are commonly called "dhobin," are very numerous, the latter especially, during the cold weather. Many arrive as early as September, and do not depart until the end of April. They are to be found almost anywhere—about rivers and jheels, on lawns and ploughed lands, and numbers are to be seen beneath the trees in the gardens and topes, in company with other wagtails and pipits.

LARGE PIED WAGTAIL [Motacilla maderaspatensis]. Khanjan, Dhobin [H].

A permanent resident and common. It is found in pairs or singly—never, according to my experience in flocks—and rarely far from the water side. It breeds from March to May, but most eggs are hatched in the middle of April. The nest is a bulky structure of grass, tow, rags, feathers and hair, placed in some nook or hole under a bridge, in a native boat or other convenient spot. The eggs are three or four in number, greyish white in colour, spotted and blotched with various shades of brown. They average ·87" × ·63."

GREY WAGTAIL [Motacilla melanope].

Fairly common during the cold weather on the banks of rivers and jheels.

GREY-HEADED WAGTAIL [Motacilla borealis].

Particulary common in snipe jheels, where it and its allies are a veritable curse to the sportsmen. Often, when a snipe rises a dozen or more of these birds, and half as many sand pipers get up too, which is anything but an aid to improving one's shooting, or temper.

INDIAN BLUE-HEADED WAGTAIL [Motacilla beema].

Fairly common. Occurs, in company with other wagtails, on the jheels.

BLACK-HEADED WAGTAIL [Motacilla feldeggi.] Pilkya [H].

Common during the cold weather, particularly in rice-fields jheels, and irrigated ground. This species arrives early and departs late, many of the individuals having assumed their full handsome breeding plumage of black and yellow before leaving.

YELLOW-HEADED WAGTAIL [Motacilla citreola].

Hardly so numerous as the three species just mentioned, but frequents the same localities. It is of course only a cold weather visitor.

All, or nearly all, of these wagtails, pied, grey, and yellow, perch on trees if disturbed, rising up from the ground, and flying into the branches just like pipits.

HODGSON'S YELLOW-HEADED WAGTAIL [Motacilla citreoloides].

I once shot a specimen (♂) on the banks of the Goomti 1-1-1898, and another, obtained by Reid, is in the museum. It is of course only a cold weather visitor, and not I think common.

TREE-PIPIT [Anthus trivialis].

INDIAN TREE-PIPIT [Anthus maculatus].

Both these birds are common during the cold weather, the last-named especially. They occur in parties in fields and mango topes where they are often associated with wagtails. When disturbed they fly up into the lower branches.

BROWN ROCK-PIPIT [Anthus similis].

A cold weather visitor, not uncommonly met with on ploughed land and on waste ground round jheels, or on the open "usar" plains, and sun-baked maidans.

INDIAN PIPIT [Anthus rufulus].

A common and permanent resident, found indiscriminately in cultivated tracts, open plains, paddy fields and dhak jungles. It breeds from February to April and probably later. The nest is a neatly made structure of hair, lined with grass placed in the stump of a clump of patowal grass, or under some bush. The eggs, three or four in number, are greyish white spotted with brown and average ·78″ × ·57″.

EASTERN CALANDRA LARK [Melanocorypha bimaculata].

The only specimen I have seen was one brought by a native, who stated that he had captured it on one of the "usar" plains This was at the end of the cold weather.

INDIAN SKY-LARK [Alauda gulgula]. Chundul (H).

Fairly common and a permanent resident, though neither I, nor any one else that I know, of, has found the nest in Lucknow.

RUFOUS SHORT-TOED LARK [Calandrella dukhunensis]. Baghaira (H).

Occurs in large flocks on maidans, ploughed lands, scrub, grassy meadows or the edges of jheels, during the cold weather, and, as the late Mr. Reid remarked, "is looked upon as common property by almost all the hawk tribe." Amongst Anglo-Indians it goes by the name of "Ortolan," and numbers are caught in places for the table. Probably the allied species C. Brachydactyla also occurs, but I have not yet come across a specimen.

SINGING BUSH-LARK [Mirafra cantillans].

The only Lucknow specimen I know of is one skin in the Provincial Museum.

RED-WINGED BUSH-LARK [Mirafra erythroptera]. Aggia [H]. Hooded Lark [La Martinière boys].

This bird is a common and permanent resident, being found wherever there is scrubby ground, dhak jungle or waste land with grass and bushes. It is very common on the grass farm. It has a pretty little song, which it utters in the air, dropping all the while, with wings raised above its back; on to some bush or low tree Its nest is a loose structure of grass, usually carefully concealed under some tuft, or bush, and more or less domed—hence the name "hooded." Personally I have never found more than two eggs, though Hume and other writers give the full number as four. These, which are white densely speckled with brown and yellow, are usually laid between March and July. I rather think there are two broods each year, but I am not sure. The eggs average ·76″ by ·55″

CRESTED LARK [Galerita cristata] Chundul [H].

The Chundul is a popular bird with the natives, and numbers are caught and caged. A common and permanent resident, it is found chiefly on drier soil, but is numerous also along the high banks of the Goomti and also amongst the tamarisk (jhao) jungle on the sand bank islands of the big rivers. I have found its nest a small deep grass cup very loosely put together, on two occasions. 28th and 30th March each time with three eggs. These were whitish spotted and speckled with purple and brown and averaging ·82″ by ·64″

ASHY-CROWNED FINCH LARK [Pyrrhulauda grisea]. Duri [H].

The Black-bellied Finch Lark as Jerdon called this species is very common and a permanent re-ident It is chiefly found on "usar" plains and waste ground, where there is a thin sprinkling of grass tufts and how bushes. It breeds from January to May and probably later. Though so common, I have not found many nests—possibly I have not taken sufficient trouble. Those I have seen were all little neat cups lined with grass, but so loosely made that they could not be removed, placed in the ground under some stone or bush. The eggs always seem to be two in number. They are whitish, speckled with brown and grey and measure ·72″ × ·53″.

PURPLE SUNBIRD [Arachnechthra Asiatica]. Shakarkhora [H].

A very common and permanent resident, frequenting gardens and jungles where there are flowers, but eschewing, as a rule, more barren ground It is not, I think, very fond of mango-groves, though occasionally I have found it resting in those trees. It is far from shy, and many a nest have I seen in a verandah suspended to some hook, chick, or creeper. The breeding season, so far as I have ascertained, lasts from February to June, most eggs being laid before May. The nest is a pretty little egg shaped ball, with a hole at the side near the top, over which there is an awning or portico. It is formed of grass cobwebs, hair, chips, etc., and ornamented with the excreta of caterpillars. I have found them at all heights from 2 feet to 20 feet, and more, from the ground. Most, however, are placed low down The eggs are two in number—often three—greenish or brownish white in colour, thickly spotted and marked with various shades of brown and grey, and averaging ·63″ × ·44″.

TICKELL'S FLOWER-PECKER [Dicæum erythrorhynchum].

This little bird, known to the Martiniere boys as the "White-Honey-sucker" from the colour of its eggs, has been much overlooked. Apparently no naturalist quartered in Lucknow had ever noticed the species—which is really fairly common—until, prompted by the information given me by the schoolboys, I set to work to hunt it up. It is a permanent resident, and breeds with us in February and March—possibly at other times. The nest, a tiny grass ball with a hole in the side, is always carefully concealed amongst the foliage, and is one of the most difficult to detect. I have seen five—not one of which, I own, did I discover myself—in mango, bél tree, and quickset hedge (3). The eggs are pure white, two or three in number, and ·55″ × ·41″ in dimensions.

THICK-BILLED FLOWER-PECKER [Pipriconia squalidum].

A common and permanent resident, going about the trees in small parties hunting for insects. This bird, which is known to the Martinière boys as "Bull-Tit," makes a most lovely little purse-like nest suspended from a horizontal twig It is a felted mass of fibres, cotton down, etc., and is so covered with red scales of vegetable matter that it has a pink appearance. The whole fabric is so beautifully woven that it can be crumpled up in the hand without injury. The entrance is at the side, or rather the end. I have found it on many trees, sheshum, cotton, mango, neem, babool, etc., but the first-named is, I think, the favourite. The eggs, two or three, white or pinky-white, spotted and blotched with red and claret, are laid from February to May, most being obtained in March. They average ·62″ × ·44″.

W. J.

Travel and Adventure.

GOLD CLAIM PEGGING.

FROM THE POINT OF VIEW OF AN S. A. C. TROOPER.

THOSE among us who formed their ideas of claim pegging on scenes from "Jesse James, Frank Read," etc., were of course disappointed, the country does not lend the required colour to such events as described in the above "classics," there is nothing here to help the imagination, even if we had the old coach, Dead Eye Jim, hand over on his hip pocket and the rest of the stage figures I think it would all have fallen very flat. There was, however, much to interest, especially if the often clever, at times educated conversation of men who had travelled the world over, from Cape to Cairo, been at Klondyke, at Coolgardie seen the 81—82 rush, had any attraction. We left our Headquarters at H'berg beautifully clean, full of hopes of seeing exciting scenes, saddles laden with all kinds of impediment and after a 30 mile ride arrived, very dirty, very dispirited and minus a deal of equipment. On the following morning the moment the sun showed, the hundreds of assembled peggers were at liberty to race forward, peg out as much land in lots of 400 by 150 as they possibly could; our business was to see that no one was camped within the proclaimed area and no claims had already been staked and that at the appointed moment all started fair and square from the boundary line. Just like starting a great race with about 4,000 competitors. We were patrolling nearly all Monday night Tuesday morning, getting peggers out of old shafts within the boundary where they must have been rather more than uncomfortable, seeing that there was usually a foot or two of water at the bottom, and generally seeing that things were in order. Then put themselves to many discomforts to get ahead of rivals. I heard of one man paying what must surely be a record cab fare—£90 for 4 miles. At daybreak I was stationed about the middle of the farm and as the sun showed I expected to see whole impis coming over the skyline, meeting in the middle and having a desperate hand to hand encounter. Nothing of the kind, the area was so large that there was practically no rush. All I saw was suddenly hundreds of little black dots swarming down the long slope opposite me. Each dot would all at once stop, hurriedly knock in a pig, rush in 50 yards and in with another. Soon the whole air was alive with hundred of mallets tap, tap, tapping Then almost as quickly as they came they disappeared, the whole thing was over in 2 or 3 minutes. Some lucky few may make money, more lose, but in all sides there seemed to be a very pessimitic state of mind ruling. Peggers were willing to go to any length almost to secure claims but none of them seemed to have castles in the air in fact appeared almost indifferent as to the result of the gamble, for such it is. Heads or Tails this one and all seemed to realise, perhaps better so; there will be no bitter disillusion. On all sides the hand of the Jew Capitalist lay heavy; it is certainly no poor man's country this; the prices of all kinds of commodities are inflated beyond reason, although wages seem high they are in reality not so, on this account. Among all British born men, men who fought during the war and surely deserve something from the hands of their country, there is a general discontent chiefly because Government have allowed this country to become a general dumping ground for the worst class of aliens of all nationalities, men who can and do live under conditions and work for money that no Englishmen could. As regards the very pressing labour question they all considered there was adequate native labour if mines paid for it, and the right men sent to recruit. Government talk of importing Chinese. Will John Chinaman stay on the mines? Certainly not, if I know him at all. He will become a greater nuisance than the coolie. It gave me great pleaure to see one large Johannesburg firm of that nation, before which even the Red Sea gave way, defeated by their own weapons. They employed hundreds of men at £1 to £8 a day; these knew really nothing of pegging and cared less, all they thought about was to get their given number of pegs into the ground anywhere, the quicker the better. Result, most of their firm claims are disputed owing to their ground having been pegged over claims that had already been secured by smaller men who know their business and did it themselves. I may say that excepting this one firm's doings there was hardly a dispute of any kind such as there were being settled in a most friendly way.

In conclusion I may say that on Wilge point, the farm we were on, there were 4,000 peggers, who were kept in order by just 24 S. A. C. 15 minutes from the start the whole farm 4 miles in length was pegged without a fracas of any kind having taken place.

W. W.

EVERY owner of racehorses who embarks on the Turf should remember that he is, and will always remain, at the mercy of the jockey who wears his colours. When examined before the House of Commons' Committe on Gaming in 1844, Mr. John George Dixon, a remarkably outspoken cheesemonger and butterman, added that the best way to make a horse safe was to bribe the jockey on his back to pull him.

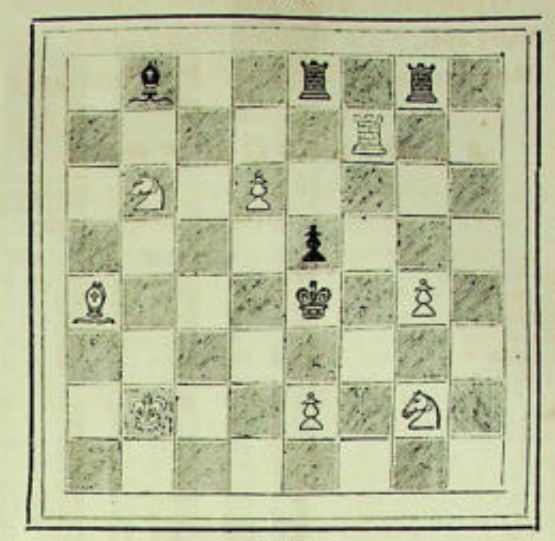
"Do you think," asked Lord Jocelyn, "it would be worth a jockey's while to risk his place by selling a race?"

"I have no sort of doubt," replied the butterman, "that there are many jockeys who do sell races."

"Does not a jockey's livelihood depend on his character?" asked Colonel Peel.

"No owner can tell whether his horse is pulled or not," responded Mr. Dixon; "and if the jockey be a good rider other people will employ him in spite of his reputation."

"What kind of people!" continued Colonel Peel.



"They are nearly all alike on the Turf—they are all trying to get money."

Frank, and even brutal, as was this opinion of Turf Morality fifty-nine years ago, there is a large section of the public at the present day who think that during the past half-century there has been little radical change for the better.

Chess.

PROBLEM NO. 19.

BLACK.

WHITE.

White to play and mate in three moves.

GAME NO. 20.

DR LASKER IN AMERICA.

THE following game was played by the well-known amateur Mr. Martinez who has crossed swords with many masters, including Zukertort and Steinitz.

(Ruy Lopez.)

White. A Martinez.	Black. Dr Lasker.
1. P to K 4	P to K 4
2. Kt to K B 3	Kt to Q B 3
3. B to Kt 5	Kt to B 3
4. Castles	Kt takes P
5. P to Q 4	B to K 2
6. Q to K 2	Kt to Q 3
7. B takes Kt	Kt P takes B
8. P takes P	Kt to Kt 2
9. Kt to B 3	Castles
10. R to K sq	P to Q 4
11. P takes P e. p.	B takes P
12. B to Kt 5	Q to Q 2
13 Q R to B sq	Q to B 4
14. Q to K 4	Kt to B 4
15. Q takes Q	B takes Q
16. Kt to Q 4	B to Q 2
17. B to K 3	K R to K sq
18. P to Q R 3	P to Q R 4
19. P to Q Kt 4	P takes P
20. P takes P	Kt to R 4
21. Kt takes Kt	R takes Kt
22. P to Q B 3	P to B 3
23. P to R 3	R to R 7
24. Kt to B 3	K to B 2
25. B to Q 4	R takes R, ch
26. R takes R	B to K 3
27. Kt to R 2	R to Q 7
28. Kt to B 3	R to Q 6
29. R to K 2	R to Q 8, ch
30. R to K sq	R takes R, ch
31. Kt takes R	B to K B 4
32. K to B sq	K to K 3
33. K to K 2	K to Q 4
34. Kt to Q 3	B to K 5
35. P to B 3	B to K B 4
36. K to Q 2	B to Kt 3
37. B to K 3	K to B 5
38. Kt to B 2, ch	K to Kt 6
39. Kt to Q 3	K to B 5
40. Kt to Kt 2, ch	K to Kt 6
41. Kt to Q 3	B takes Kt
42. K takes B	B to K 4
43. B to Q 4	P to R 4
44. B takes B	Resigns

JOHN ROBERTS the elder was, as it pretty well known champion for many years of English billiards. His nerve general physique, and powers of endurance were alike wonderful.

Thirty or forty years ago men played often times at billiards as they did at cards, for days and nights at a stretch, and at this "go as you please" sort of business old Roberts was simply a marvel, and his constitution was indeed an iron one. If the writer's memory serves him rightly, he once played "fifty's up" for fifty pounds a game, the one who gave in first to forfeit a thousand pounds. He and his opponent played for three nights and two days, only stopping to have a bit of "grub" and a drink every now and again, and after going on in this manner over sixty hours right off the reel, Roberts' antagonist fell down in a dead faint after losing a large majority of the games, whilst the old champion appeared as if he could have gone on for another week if he had been required to.

In matches for who could "stay" the longer he was never beaten. How they bet in those days, to be sure! and how many thousands had poor old John bet on games at the tables at the White Hart and the Rutland, at Newmarket, inthat spirited period!

THE City and Suburban has been won by many good horses in its time, notably Argonaut, Speculum, Thunder, Master Kildare, and Buccaneer, while many another "smasher" has been beaten therein, of whom Cremorne—second to Mornington in 1873—and the beautiful Petrarch may in particular be mentioned. Perhaps, however, the best animal that ever took part in the race was Bend Or, who carried 9st gallantly to the fore in 1881.

Few racehorses have been more popular with the public than this handsome chestnut son of Doncaster, who, after carrying all before him as a two-year-old, had a somewhat chequered career in the following season. True, he managed to snatch the Derby out of the fire by a head from Robert the Devil, but the latter beat him twice later in the season, though excuses may be made for Bend Or on the ground that he was always a delicate horse and difficult to train.

As a four-year-old, Bend Or made his first appearance at Epsom, where, as already mentioned, he carried off the City and Suburban. On that occasion he conceded no less than 2st. 6lbs to Foxhall, who was second and, bearing in mind what the American did later in the season, this stands out as the best performance of which the annals of the race contain any record.

Professor Richard, M. E.

OPERA HOUSE,

CALCUTTA.

Opposite New Market, Calcutta.

Doors open 9 p.m. Demonstration 9-30 p.m. sharp

Respectably Dressed Persons only

WILL BE ADMITTED.

ADMISSION FREE.

Under the Patronage of HIS EXCELLENCY the GOVERNOR of VICTORIA and the COUNTESS of HOPETOUN.

The Premier and Attorney-General, Hon. W. Shields, M. L. A. the Treasurer, the Hon Sir Graham-Berry, K. C. M. G., M.L.A.; the Minister of Mines, the Hon. A. B. Outrim, M. L. A.; the Postmaster-General the Hon. A. J. Peacock, M. L. A.; The Minister of Public Works, the Hon G. Graham M. L. A.; the Solicitor General, the Hon. G. Turner, M. L. A.; the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, the Hon Thomas Bent, M. L. A.; the Chairman of Committees, F. C. Masson, Esq., M. L. A.; Henry Foster, Government Secretary; Hon. Sir William Clarke, Bart.; and Lady Clark; Lieutenant-Colonel Hon'ble Sir F. T. Sargood, K. C. M. G., M. P.; and Lady Sargood; Hon'ble Sir Henry Wrixon, K.C.M.G., M.L.A., and Lady Wrixon; His Right Worshipful the Mayor of Melbourne; His Worship the Mayor of Collingwood; His Worship the Mayor and Mayoress of Richmond; Hon'ble Alfred Deakin, M.L.A.; Hon'ble C. J. Ham, M.L.C.; Hon'ble C. L. Thornley, M.L.C.; Hon'ble Edward Morcy, M.L.C.; Hon'ble James Pratt, M.L.A.; Hon'ble Agar Wynne, M.L.C.; Hon'ble J. F. Levien, M.L.A.; Hon'ble Jno. Gavan Duffy, M.L.A.; Hon'ble D. S. Wallace, M.L.C.; A. Harris Esq. M.L.A.; J. G. Taverner, Esq., M.L.A.; A. S. S. Bailes Esq., M.L.A.; G.H.; Bannot Esq., M.L.A.; Armytage Esq., M.L.A.; J. G Turner Esq., M.L.A.; J. S. Butter Esq., F.R.G.S.; J. A. Isaacs Esq., M.L.A.; Captain Salmon, M.L.A.; W. T. Carter Esq., M.L.A.; A. A. Arnot Esq., City Electrical Engineer, &c., &c.; and many of the Medical Practitioners; Chairman, E. L. Zox Esq., M.L.A.

PROFESSOR RICHARD, M. E.

Professor Richard, who has been affecting startling cures by means of his electric treatment, gave a farewell electric entertainment at the Town Hall on the evening of January 13th The entertainment was under the patronage of His Excellency the Governor, the Countess of Hopetoun, His Worship the Mayor and leading members of the Legislature, "and the people marvelled." Extraordinary Exhibition at the Town Hall. The Electric Healer and his subjects.

PROFESSOR RICHARD WORKS HIS WONDERS.

The Halt are made to Walk and the blind to See.

In these days of scepticism, when even seeing is not believing, and faith must be preceded by practical demonstration, no man can successfully lay claim to powers he does not possess The mountebank is soon discovered, and however the public may have regarded the claims of Professor Richard when he first came among us as an electric healer it must be admitted we have been given irrefutable evidence of the extraordinary powers he lays claim to—evidence sufficient to satisfy any ordinary mortal that he is not a mere pretender. He has not laid claim to any unnatural gifts, to the ability to perform miracles, yet he has accomplished cures in the presence of thousands of spectators that in other times and by other people would only be regarded as miraculous. However we may have hesitated to accept his claims to extraordinary healing powers, his exhibition at the Town Hall on Friday evening last in aid of the Creche must satisfy all who saw him operate on the subjects who presented themselves that he can accomplish great things. Amazed, the gazing public ranged around and still they gazed, and still the wonder grew.

The conditions under which the healer worked were against all possibility of fraud or empty pretence. He does not claim to work miracles, nor does he insist upon faith as a corollary to his cures. Such palpable nonsense he eschews; he, is an electric healer, pure and simple, and while he does not pretend to cure everything that comes before him, from a hunchback to a wooden leg, there are few cases to whom he does not give relief. The Town Hall was well filled on Friday night last, by an audience that had paid for admission, that had come to see these wonders for themselves, and on the platform were seated several representative citizens. Mr. Zox M. L. A., occupied the chair, and beside him were Messrs. Taverner and Foster, M.'s L. A.; Dr. L. L. Smith, M. L. A; Dr. Woinarski, and several others equally well-known, who watched every feature of the entertainment with evident care. Every provision was made to satisfy the spectators of the bona fides of the cases. The sufferers had to come provided with a letter of recommendation from a qualified physician, surgeon, magistrate, minister or priest certifying that they were fit cases for treatment, and unless we look upon half the persons of the metropolis, a few members of Parliament, and the great bulk of the suburban mayors as in league with the medical electrician, we must accept all those treated last Friday as "hopeless incurables." They came up as such but they went away in the enjoyment of great benefit.

The first subject treated was a young girl who had been almost hopelessly deaf for twelve years. She was accompanied by her mother, and was recommended by two well—known citizens. As the Professor remarked, it was like making a stone wall hear. The operation of making the deaf to hear was carried on in full view of the audience, with all the theatrical effect of slow music from the Orchestra in the background. The girl was nervous and frightened, crying loudly while under treatment, the "stone wall" heard and answered all questions put her in an ordinary tone of voice. The spectators thoroughly convinced of the efficacy of chained lightning, as a healing power when applied through the human system, applauded loudly. The patient is touched with no instrument, electricity being applied through the hands of the healer, the current causing no pain whatever. Case No 2 was a blindman from the Benevolent Asylum. He had not been seen for years. His eyes were in total darkness. Before being touched by the healer he was critically examined by the medical men on the stage, and pronounced as difficult a subject as a doctor could care to deal with. Yet in almost no time the man saw distinctly, distinguishing in form and color a number of articles held up before him. The torrent of applause that greeted this feat told of the undoubted satisfaction of everyone present.

The blind had been made to see and the deaf to hear, and as the next case presented itself, and Professor Richard proceeded to make the halt to walk the keenest interest was apparent everywhere. An old miner, the whole way from Englehawk, and recommended by the Mayor of that place, was carried up through the hall on a chair. His boots and socks were removed, and his trousers rolled up to his thighs. As the old wreck sat confronting the audience he looked a hopeless, pitiable object, suggesting the idea of one who had been resurrected from the grave for the purpose of the experiment. He was paralysed in both limbs—unable to use them in any way. The healer set to work running his hands over the emaciated legs, they began to show evidence of returning vitality, the healer working them up and down like pump handles, sending the stiffness flying out of the joints, and causing the owner to grow white with amazement. He had not seen those joints unbend for years, and he was so mute with delight that he could not give expression to his gratitude. The next case was a woman also suffering from paralysis of the legs. As her predecessor walked down the steps, she was carried up by four attendants, like an overgrown Queen of the May. She was placed behind a screen while her clothes were being adjusted for treatment, and when the screen was removed and she confronted the audience the spectacle was a strange one Her legs were absolutely bared She had not stood for eighteen months, and was recommended by the Mayor of Richmond, she was walking up and down the stage having even put on her own boots and stockings. The next case was also a paralytic—a most difficult subject. He, too, had to be carried up, but he walked down a very different man, cheering with delight.

The Professor called on those who had been publicly treated at the Athenæum to ascend the platform and there was a rush for the stage of men and women which a few weeks ago ranked as "hopeless invalids" and "incurables." Some carried their crutches with them, as a testimony of their marvellous cure.

The evening's exhibition was highly interesting and diverting, and closed with an electrical entertainment that caused a good deal of mirth. At the end the Professor illustrated his strange powers by taking a charge of horsepower electricity through his body. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded him for his entertainment.—The Melbourne Evening Standard January 14th, 1893.

MELBOURNE EVENING STANDARD, 7th February 1893.

PROFESSOR RICHARD.

HOW HE CAME TO MELBOURNE.

MISTAKEN FOR THE KING OF NAPLES.

THE STORY OF A FELLOW TRAVELLER.

EXTRAORDINARY NARRATIVE.

PROFESSOR RICHARD, AND HIS DEPARTURE BY YESTERDAY'S STEAMER.

The story told by Mr. S. is one that is best described as romantic. There is more romance in it than there is in nine-tenths of the three-volume novels of the period, for it arouses one's interest, and makes the hearer marvel at every turn. In 1883 Mr. S. was returning from London in the steamer Potosi. On reaching Naples several passengers were taken aboard and among them a man of more than ordinarily attractive presence.

"A magnificent barge, painted purple, with beautiful gilt lines and grand equipment, came alongside," says Mr. S. as he reclines in a chair and allows his mind to revel in the imposing picture as far back as 1893 in the Bay of Naples, which impressed itself upon his memory. "Three beautiful women, in the finest robes were seated in it with a man, whom they had evidently come to see off. The man himself was attired like a nobleman, and ordered the gondoliers about in the most approved fashion of the Orient. We all said it was the Prince of Naples or the King of Italy. The Duke of Plaza Toro was a fool to him. The captain ran up a flag in honour of the distinguished passenger, the sailors hauled his boxes up, the mysterious one came on board, and the ladies (we thought it was his highness's harem) waved their kerchiefs and sailed away. The man was Professor Richard; who the women really were I never found out. He took his quarters in a state cabin, however, and during the voyage attracted much attention by his genial manner."

They Caught a Tartar.

Lively Scenes in a Sleeping Car.

A Series of Surprises.

PROFESSOR RICHARD, SCIENTIFIC ELECTRIC HEALER TRAVELS BY TRAIN.

During the past few weeks a somewhat remarkable man has been giving healing exhibitions at the Athenæum Hall, and at his own private house, Spring Street, where a procession of the halt, lame, and infirm, the deaf and the dumb, paralysed and debilitated, may be seen going and coming at all hours.

It reminds the spectator in a minor way of the invalid pilgrimages to Lourdes, with the exception that in one case, the sufferers trust to faith, while in the other they trust to electricity.

Those who have attended the exhibitions at the Athenæum have seen some surprising things happen there. They have seen the halt made to walk, the paralysed dance round as if rejuvenated by some magic influence, the deaf made to hear, and sundry other feats performed that have made them marvel and wonder how it was done. There have been instances where this man has not succeeded, but, to do him justice, he has effected some surprising cures. If permanent, as some of the patients themselves would have us believe, then his powers are perplexing: if only temporary, they are still surprising, for in some of the cases treated, even temporary alleviation under the circumstances baffles comprehension.

A good story about the scientific electric healer comes from America, through which he travelled on a curing expedition incognito in 1891. He was riding on a sleeping car from New York to Philadelphia, and having had a heavier day than usual, slept more soundly than men travelling by rail generally do.

We occasionally experience the ticket nuisance here in Australia, but in some parts of America the traveller is worried out of his life by the incessant "ticket please" of the conductor. In the middle of your soup it is "ticket please." If you are having a pleasant tete-a-tete with an agreeable lady companion the conductor does not fail to break in at the most interesting period to demand to have a look at your ticket, until at last you feel like kicking the conductor, or abusing the company, or putting yourself under the wheels and ending your misery for ever.

In the middle of the night, the conductor of the car on the Philadelphia express decided to make his usual round. Everything went well until he came to the berth occupied by the electric healer, when something happened that relieved the monotony of the journey, and gave the conductor something to remember to the end of his days.

"Ticket, please," said the official with that most insinuating grace which makes most of us sit up in the soundest sleep and comply without a murmur. The scientific man sleeps on heedless of the appeal, either not hearing or not caring to hear, or, with the ulterior motive, it may be, of bringing about what subsequently happened.

"Ticket please" shouted the man in buttons, now leaning over the healer's prostrate form and blowing into his ear in a way that awakened everybody in the compartment, but without making the slightest impression on the sleeper. The case was hopeless. There was nothing for it but to take the traveller by the leg and shake him soundly, or drag him bodily on to the floor. Slipping his hand beneath the clothes the conductor prepared to take a grip.

The next minute the air was blue with execrations. The conductor had turned two double somersaults in quick succession and landed all of a heap in the corner.

All the passengers gathered round in their robes de nuit to see what was up. Some concluded that the conductor had a fit, while the astonished official could only point to the mysterious passenger and swear. A retired millitary man with a cork leg by way of demonstrating his valour, caught the sleeper rudely by the shoulder aroused him and demanded an explanation, but no sooner had he touched him than he stood on his head out in the passage, with his mechanical leg working away like a steam engine. The clamour only made the scientific man sleep the sounder for he moved not a muscle, and betrayed not the slightest evidence of enjoying the entertainment of which he was the cause.

When the train pulled up at the next station a couple of stalwart porters were called in to remove the strange passenger in berth A42, and without more ado proceeded to take him by the head and feet to drag him out The operation was disastrous. The porters had no sooner taken hold than they jumped to the ceiling and fell all of a heap on the floor. A policeman on the platform, hearing the noise, made for the scene, and did not hesitate to take the sleeper into custody. He took such a firm grip of the healer's arm that he could not let go While he screamed and danced, the mysterious one sat up in bed and innocently asked what all the row was about. Was the place on fire or had there been a collision? Everyone was too perplexed to speak. If they wanted anything he would be happy to assist them: but if they did not, would they kindly leave him to finish his slumbers The conductor came forward and politely asked to see his ticket, which was produced in due time, but ever since that day there is not a conductor of an American sleeping car that is not very careful to enquire if Professor Richard is on board.—Melbourne Evening Standard.

Extracts from the Calcutta Indian Mirror, 14th December 1895.

ELECTRICITY CURES—AN M. D. AND HIS PUBLIC TESTIMONIAL TO PROFESSOR RICHARD.

(To the Editor of the Indian Mirror, Calcutta.)

Sir,—The Calcutta public knows very well that since October 1894, I have been suffering from a serious illness, and had to relinquish my practice altogether. I had been suffering from Hæmoptosis (blood-spitting), fever, cough, hoarseness, and other complications. My case was given up as a hopeless one by my physicians, and up to this time the majority of the Calcutta public believe that I am not now in the land of the living, having been gathered to my fathers. My case was, indeed, a very bad and serious one. In six consecutive days I brought up more than six seers of blood and for four months continually I expectorated bloody sputa. I must state here frankly that I derived at times immense benefit from the able treatment of Kaviraj Bijoyratna Sen. But, unfortunately, the improvement each time was of a short duration as every fortnight or so I would bring up a large quantity of blood, and the fever would increase to 106°F.

Be that as it may, I placed myself under Professor Richard's treatment on the 15th October last. I had to be carried in a chair to my palankeen and I fainted when a mild electrical current was applied. From the third day of his special treatment I began to improve; the blood spitting ceased entirely. I am now almost well. I can now walk and drive about. I did not purposely so long publish an account of my case, simply because I was waiting to see if the benefit would last long.

My wife also had been suffering from Bronchitic Asthma since 1886. Since the last ten years she has been almost confined to bed—more especially in the winter. Since under treatment, she has been quite free from her complaints, and can now walk about freely without the least difficulty of breathing

I have seen many other bad cases benefited. I shall, however, mention only two. A European lady, about 65 years of age, was stone blind when she first came under this treatment. She can now see quite well by the help of one eye; the other eye, however, is still as bad as ever: the second case is that of Mr. Abb, formerly railway sergeant at Howrah, and now of Kotechanpore, Jessore. He was suffering from paralysis and softening of the brain, and his case was pronounced incurable by eminent European physicians. He is now "thoroughly cured." Space will not permit me to mention scores of other cases of cures.

The object of my writing to you this letter is to inform the suffering public of Bengal that the scientific method of the Professor is not a myth but is a new scientific system of cure. Those who are hopeless of a cure and have not benefited by other methods of treatment, ought to try his system without delay as the Professor's stay here will be till the 1st February 1896

As a medical man myself, I think it my duty to make known cases of cure by a method of treatment which I find practically quite sufficient of itself without the help of any drug. I must state here that I am under no obligation to the Professor for my treatment. I have paid his proper fees, but I am under a deep obligation to him for making me fit to pursue my avocation after an interruption of 14 months. Apologising for the length of this letter, I remain, yours, &c.,

BROJENDRA NATH BANNERJI, M.D.,
Calcutta.

Extract from the Amritra Bazar Patrika, Calcutta.
(13th February 1896).

ANOTHER PUBLIC TESTIMONIAL TO PROFESSOR RICHARD.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The other day you referred to Professor Richard's scientific mode of treatment by electricity. Here is a letter which has been received from the Rajah of Mymensing, and which will show how efficacious the treatment of the Professor is.

My dear Professor,

Thanks for your kind enquiry. I am keeping well, I have to apologise for not writing before and telling you how I kept my health after discontinuance of the electrical treatment under you. I am glad to say I have had no more pains or stiffness of the joints, though the treatment has been discontinued over six weeks. Now, you know my case was not a simple one. I had been suffering from gout, rheumatism, for four or five years, and had swallowed enough of drugs to convert my stomach into a medicine chest, but the benefit derived from the use of drugs has been comparatively poor when contrasted with the effect of your scientific method of cure.

I was at Deogur when I read your announcements of the wonderful cures you professed to effect by your new method of introducing electricity into the human system.

I confess I was not without my doubts, but I seldom run shy of a new idea, and can lift myself out of the groove if it be necessary.

I thought there was something reliable at the bottom of it and I made up my mind to give you a fair trial. I do not consider it now as money thrown away. I shall probably be leaving town shortly, and shall carry away with me a very pleasant recollection of your invariable courtesy and friendliness to your patients, and shall not forget in a hurry the two instances of your wonderful skill and power in driving out the fever and cramp from me by grasping my hands tightly while saying, "That cramp won't be there any more," and "That fever won't come again."

Wishing you every success in your noble enterprise.

I am very sincerely yours,

(Sd.) S. K. ACHARYA, Rajah Bahadur of Mymensingh, A. B

(Extract from the Times of India, and all the Bombay Journals:—

THE PROFESSOR'S SCIENTIFIC SKILL WORKS HIS WONDER OF WONDERS IN BOMBAY.

Bombay, 22nd September, 1900.

Dear Professor Richard—

An unexpected gift is thrice welcome and pleasing. May the enclosed testimonial, which I send you unsolicited, if not as a gift of any value to you at least as an expression of a grateful heart, and what you have done in my behalf of my daughter and family. I only wish that your stay here may prove as beneficial to the ailing citizens of Bombay as it has been to my family.

I need hardly assure you that you are at liberty to make any use of this testimonial you think fit, if it ever could be of purpose to you.

With an assurance of high esteem,

believe me,

Dear Professor RICHARD,

Ever gratefully yours,

HORMUSJEE PALONJEE MEHARJEE.

I have great pleasure in testifying to the eminent medical skill and the unrivalled merits of Professor Richard, whose advent in Bombay has been the means of saving the life of one of my children. My daughter about 22 years old had been suffering for more than 10 months before his arrival from consumption which fell disease I regret to say, had within the two preceeding years carried off three of my beloved daughters, all young and in bloom of life. When, therefore, the fourth showed similar symptoms, I lost no time in consulting and putting her under the treatment of some of the best medical men in Bombay, but to my and my family's utter despair it was of no avail. She had been daily wasting. We had all given her up for lost when professor Richard happened to arrive in Bombay, and hearing of his great name and on the testimony of excellent credentials he brought with him, I put her under his treatment, and I am to-day glad to say that she has so far recovered as to be capable of considerable exertion in the shape of long walks and otherwise feels strong enough to attend to her household duties. That leaves no doubt of her eventual complete recovery. I give this testimonial to the Professor altogether unsolicited, only out of regard to the truth and my duty as a citizen to the public, and in hopes that some ailing brother may find in this the necessary assurance of the Professor's merits. Otherwise than as feeling grateful for my daughter's life, I am under no personal obligation to Professor Richard, having paid his professional fees in full. I hope you will give this testimonial an early publication and oblige.

HORMUSIEE PALONJEE MEHARJEE

I have been ill for the last two years, and unable to attend my office on account of my serious illness. I have consulted the best physicians of Bombay. Everything that the profession could do for my case has been done. No money was spared, but everything failed even to give me relief still less a cure. I was practically given up, and my life was despaired of so much so that on Saturday, August 18th 1900, at 12 A. M., I was carried in a dying condition to Professor Richard's consulting rooms. My case is a complicated one, and well-known to the medical faculty in Bombay. It took the Professor a little while to decide if he would accept or decline my case. At last the Professor consented to accept my case under his private scientific treatment.

It was hard struggle between life and death. The Professor has given his special attention to my cure, and repeating his own words, said to my wife, who was very down hearted and was in despair. "Do not worry. Your husband will live if my 25 years' practical experience can be brought into action to save his life." And I am thankful to make it known for the benefit of the public in general that after two weeks of the Professor's hard labour I am now in a fair way to recovery and convalescence, if I continue to improve so rapidly I feel sure I shall resume my duties in four weeks from now. I make this statement not only for the public but also as a public thanks to Professor Richard.

For the special attention given to my case I have paid professor Richard his fee (in my special case, and I think it is quite cheap to save my life and the benefit I have received in such case. I should be much obliged if you will give the above an early publication. HIRALAL D. SARAIYA of the firm of Messrs. Hiralal, Mulla and Mulla, Solicitors, Bombay.

September 24th.—Mr. Hiralal is now, practically speaking, no longer an invalid, perfectly fit for his professional business.

ELECTRICITY IS RUNNING A TILT WITH THIS RAVAGING DISEASE OF CONSUMPTION.

Never before in the history of medicine has there been such tremendous activity in the elaboration of methods of curing consumption and general diseases as exist at the present time. From the highest to the lowest in the land, everyone has suddenly become alive to the subject since that day, a few months ago, when the Prince of Wales, now King, presided at a meeting whose object was to interest the public in the question of erecting sanatoria for the treatment of this deadly disease.

Few people indeed recognise in the ordinary daily routine of life of the terrible percentage of deaths due to the cause, for 1896, according to the returns of the Registrar-General the number of deaths directly attributable to consumption in one or other of its forms was close on 66 000. To put it in another way, the figures mean that the death rate of consumption was about one thousand and five per million of the population; still more startling is the fact which is to be drawn from the consideration of these figures, namely, that every day over two hundred people in Great Britain and Ireland catch the disease; on an average between eighty and one hundred will die either from consumption or from effect derived from the microbe which produces the disease.

The afflicted are bathed in a tremendous flood of electricity. Immediately it begins to act, with the result, which always occurs with electrical discharges, of the production of that modified form of oxygen, which scientists know by the name of ozone. It is much more active than oxygen as it oxydises every thing with which it comes in contact very quickly, and in this way it destroys all germs with which it comes in contact. The patient becomes permeated with the mysterious and subtle fluid. Two or three minutes afterwards the patient begins to expectorate a good deal and in this way gets rid of many of the germs which have been loosened through his breathing the revivifying air. While in addition he has a feeling of great lightness and well being.

Day after day the patient is subjected to the same treatment and according to the statements which have been published the rapidity with which the cure is effected is little short of miraculous. One girl was taken to his sanatorium weighing only 92 lb., and suffering from all the marked symptoms of consumption. After she had been treated for a short time she weighed 133 lb., a gain of 41 lb., and is completely well so that she is now about to be married. Another lady, the wife of a wealthy physician who was a victim to consumption, after having been treated for two weeks, was able to go up and down the stairs without any difficulty. Many other cases could be quoted if necessary.

The principle on which the system acts is by improving the nutrition, causing the growth of new cells, and oxidising the blood, so that the red particles become redder and more numerous, in much the same way as people are benefited who are sent up to the mountains for change of air. In addition to this the germs are killed, and the pores of the body are opened to allow the passage of the chemically active rays of light which are generated by the electricity.

It would therefore, seem that a new method of fighting this disease has been obtained and as soon as it becomes better known there is little doubt but that the patients who have consumption will not be condemned, as they practically have been in the past, to live the remainder of their lives face to face with death but will be able to banish that grim visitant from their company, and take their place in the world of activity, just as they were able to do before they had contracted, through causes more or less unknown, the germs of a malady which—whether it be slow, as it generally is, or whether it takes the form of what is known as "galloping consumption" is sure to end fatally.

Vide—Pearson's Weekly, June 3rd, 1899.

A MORNING AMONG BATTERIES.

SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL ELECTRICITY.

PRIVATE VIEW OF ELECTRIC HEALING.

HOW THE WITHERED ARE RENEWED.

A great number of people in Melbourne have had the opportunity of watching how Professor Richard, the scientific specialist, in his treatment of patients who submit themselves to his cure upon platforms restores vitality to withered limbs and infuses new energy into nerves unstrung by accident or disease. These experiments have been interesting enough, and have been full of instruction. But necessarily they could only be partially conclusive. The Professor was always careful to point out that he did not profess to be able to cure anybody by one or even two applications of the electric current. The public demonstrations were only useful to the extent to which they professed to be useful—as manifestations of the powers and possibilities of electricity in the cure of physical defects. Professor Richard's real works do not lie in the platform, demonstrations for the amusement and instruction of the public. He has a very considerable private practice which occupies him "from early morn to dewy eve" at the Spring-Street Consultation Rooms but it is there that he does the real work upon the success of which his reputation is staked.

In conversation with the Professor upon the subject of his science, he was asked whether he would allow a representative to spend a morning with him at his consulting room in order that his method might be observed at close quarters. "Certainly" said he. "I shall be happy to show you anything in my power, and you may see how the whole thing is done by watching the treatment of patients in various stages of cure."

That is how the visit came to be paid. At 10 o'clock the visitor rang at the door of the Professor's room and the dusky negro who is so imposing a member of the establishment, opened the door. In a few minutes the professor who was always hard at work, appeared from one of the rooms and bade the visitor welcome.

"You are at work early, Professor."

"Early! oh, bless you, I commenced at half-past six this morning. I have one or two patients who are hard at work in their own business during the day, and it is to oblige them I commenced so early. I also had two members of Parliament among my patients this morning. Yes, I have to begin early and then it seems I have never finished. Look in that waiting-room. There are a dozen people waiting their turns there, and I have a patient in every one of the six consulting-rooms ready for treatment."

"How many batteries have you at work then?"

"Six, one in each consulting room. If you like to come in I will show you, if the patients have no objection."

The professor asked the permission of each patient before allowing the visitor to enter with him. Here in the first room was a man half-stripped to be treated for sciatica, a bad nervous disease. He had already had two treatments. He was placed on the electric plates and the battery was set working. In his hand the Professor held a small silver-plated instrument, which he explained he used as a kind of compass, to find the locality of the nerves upon which he wished to operate. It was charged with electricity and as soon as it touched a portion of the skin there was a perceptible agitation of the nerves and muscles of the patient in the immediate area of the spot touched. The sciatic patient only occupied a very few minutes, and then we rapidly stepped along to another subject. It was a man who was stone deaf, but the Professor having examined him carefully, came to the conclusion that there was no organic defect but only an obstruction, which a few courses of electric treatment would remove. In the manipulation of the delicate muscles of the neck and face the Professor seemed to show very great skill and anatomical knowledge—a feature of his work upon which medical men made complimentary comments when he appeared publicly at the Athenæum Hall. "It is no use having the electricity unless you know just how and where to use it," explained the Professor. "You want to know precisely where the muscles are located and where the nerves are carried, and then by application of the current—so!—see!—you can influence the patient for good. A sound knowledge of the human frame in all its delicate organisation is the first requisite." In another room we found a new patient waiting—an Italian, afflicted with blindness. The Professor is an accomplished linguist, and speaks Italian, French, German, as freely as he speaks in English. He spoke to him in Italian and ascertained that the cause of the blindness was cataract. It was a serious case—almost a hopeless case—and it required careful examination before the Professor would undertake to deal with it. He examined it carefully and finally pronounced that he would take the case though he would not guarantee a cure. He applied the current to some of the facial muscles and touched about the region of the eye with his electrical "compass," and then fixed up an appointment for another occasion, when a longer treatment could be given.

And so we went from room to room. It is not pleasant work describing human diseases, and really the Professor's treatment cannot be well described. It must be seen, so much depends on the careful, accurate touches and the skilful swift discernment. There is art as well as science in it—"Nous" as well as knowledge. It is rather depressing work to a layman watching the hopeless and maimed and seeing their imperfections bared to the operator. Health is splendid, and disease in any form is hideous. But this feeling is redeemed by the looks of hope and confidence in the faces of the patients as they submit to the operation. It is noble science that can give relief—a cure to those who suffer, and it is a high vocation to be the practiser of such science.

Professor Richard.

30 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Reproduced from the "Wellington Times," New Zealand.

PROFESSOR RICHARD IN WELLINGTON.

Probably the greatest triumph that Professor Richard has achieved in New Zealand up to the time of publication has been during his season in Wellington. From the first night the success was assured. The people were not only taken by his unquestionable ability as a healer, but by the philanthropic liberality with which he gave his time and services to those from whom he could expect no reward. Cases were sent to him from the Benevolent Institution which he treated both publicly and privately, and the grateful acknowledgment from the patients and the master of the institution set the seal of genuineness on his desire to benefit suffering mortals and his undisputed ability to carry that desire out. His lecture at the Opera House on Sunday, 17th July, which in addition to the press notices, has been reported in full in these columns and was attended by the largest and most sympathetic audience which the Opera House has ever held, and the cases which were treated on that occasion so firmly established Monsieur Richard's reputation that private patients flocked to this consulting rooms. Professor Richard was urged to revisit Wellington, as there are many desirous of placing themselves under his scientific electric treatment.

Reproduced from the "Wellington Weekly Herald."

People may talk about faith-healing cures, but Professor Richard has knocked all those simple means into a "cocked hat" through his skilful application of his patent electricity. It was only in one of our last issues that we referred to the rapid strides which medical electricity was making in France as a curative agent but not until we witnessed the wonderful cures that professor Richard made in public before everybody, did we really believe in that system. It is quite evident that the secret of Prof. Richard's success lies in knowing how to use scientific electricity. Fancy a mob of deaf, and halt old buffers restored to their former functions! If Professor Richard lived in the "dark ages," he would be cut down as wizard, and either put on the frying-pan or sent down the river on a raft, but thanks to science and education, Professor Richard is allowed to live.

Reproduced from the "New Zealand Times."

Professor Richard, who has been practising in Wellington for the last four weeks, leaves for Christ Church this morning. His season has been a most successful one, not only in his public demonstration, but in his private practice, which has been phenomenally large during the time he has been here, notwithstanding, Professor Richard treated so many poor people gratuitously.

(Copy.)

To the Minister of State,

Earl Li Hung-chang,

Peking.

Your Excellency:—

I beg most respectfully to inform you that my friend Professor Richard has arrived in China for some time, and is exceedingly anxious to be able to see you but he is not to go straight to your office, consequently I humbly beg to offer this petition to introduce him to you. Professor Richard's Scientific Electricity as a cure of diseases in my presence is so skilful, it is our happiness in having such professional gentlemen in China.

My friend Professor Richard is an eminent specialist using Electricity for curing all kinds of sickness and is now in Shanghai, I saw many people who were suffering from sickness had been perfectly healed by him. My son was very ill and feels now better under him and will be radically cured shortly. Kindly grant Professor Richard permission to see you.

Thanking you in anticipation with my best compliments to you and your family.

I have the honour to be, Your Excellency, Your most obedient servant.

(Signed) Tsning Chang

Major General of Hom Shing Regiment, Froo Shan, Kinagnan, Shanghai, 9th moon. 23rd of Kwangson.

(Copy).

From the Chief Police Magistrate, Metropolitan Police Court Melbourne.

My Dear Professor Richard.

I have been asked urgently to bring the case of Miss Nina Ross under your notice to recommend her to you. If you can, by your wonderful treatment give her relief, you will earn the gratitude of her friends and family. When I left you the other day, on reaching home I found some friends from the country had come to dine with me, and it was late before they left, so that I missed your interesting entertainment. Trusting that I may not be trespassing too much on your generosity in recommending another patient to you. I am yours sincerely.

J. A. P.

Letter of introduction to Professor Richard from G. H. S., a well-known Police Magistrate of Sydney.

Reproduced from the "Bathor Times," the Editor.

On many occasions I have been present at Professor Richard's treatment of Scientific Electric Demonstrations and was astonished at his success in bad cases many persons will gratefully remember his generous and scientific services. I was at the first sceptical, but after what I saw had to confess that the man was thoroughly genuine. You will find Professor Richard an honourable man in business matters and a man with a kind heart too and as well able to fight opponents as you are to manage the parsons.

TO THE EDITOR, NEWCASTLE HERALD.

SIR,—Will you allow me space in your columns for the following remarks? Professor Richard is one of the most advanced scientific specialists of the present day. He has practised for many years in Australia and New Zealand; and were you to examine the documents he has in his possession, I think you would arrive at the same conclusion. Four or five months ago, I consulted the best specialists in Auckland, Christ Church, Sydney and Melbourne. One and all came to this conclusion that no mortal skill could remove the obstruction to my sight, and the only thing they attempted to do was to order very strong spectacles. I determined, however, as a last resort, to seek the Professor's advice. I have travelled thousands of miles in order that I might place myself under his treatment, and I am to-day in a position to say publicly that the mark is daily disappearing and I expect in two or three weeks to have my sight restored. Is this not a great triumph for electricity! If anyone doubt the veracity of these statements. I am to be found at W—and K—streets.—I am etc.

J. REI, Financial Agent.

Auckland, N. Z.

NEWCASTLE, April 29th, 1903

Professor Richard cordially welcomes the Medicial Profession at his public Entertainments and at his consulting rooms:—

No. 2, Chowringhee Lane, Calcutta.

Professor Richard, Medicial Electrician, Scientific Specialist in Electricity. Patented by British Royal Letters, Patent No. 2254.

Thirty years, experience.

Health is wealth. The wide-word cure of men, women, and children, without the use of knife or drugs. The New Scentific method for the cure of Paralysis, Deafness, Defective Sight, Rheumatism, Gout, Stiff Joints, Neuralgia, Spine troubles. Fits, Stuttering, Brain-trouble, Nerves and Histeria troubles; Youthful follies, Loss of Vitality and other Ailments susceptible to Electricity. Speial Scientific method of treatment for Consumption and Asthma, as named in vide Pearson's Weekly, London, 3rd June.

Professor Richard informs the Public that he is now permanently established in Calcutta, and reminds all whom it may concern that his numerous cures are still to be read in the Statesman and many of the Bombay and Calcutta Journals of November 3rd, 1895.

Printing expenses prevent the publication of thousands of testimonials and Press Critiques from all parts of the Globe. Such may be read at the consulting rooms.

As an illustration a twelve page Pamphlet is offered to all applicants free of Postage. Prompt attention is given to all communications.

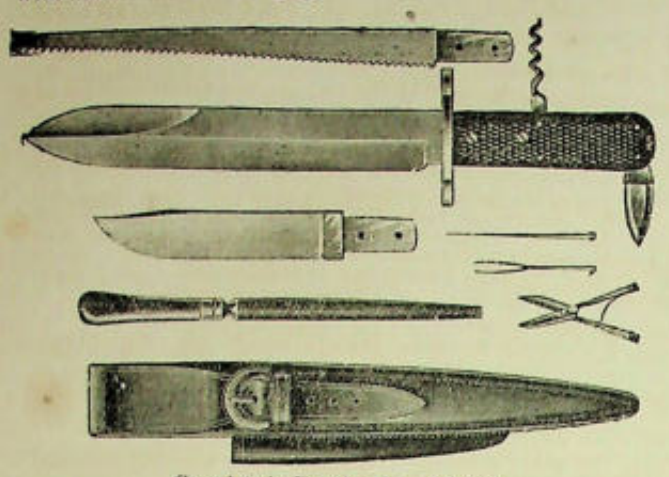
By special arrangement cases are undertaken in the Mofussil.

Special moderate terms are made for the Working Classes.

Professor Richard may be consulted in English, French, German, Spanish, etc., every day from 8 A.M. to 6 P. M., and Sundays to 1 P.M. only.

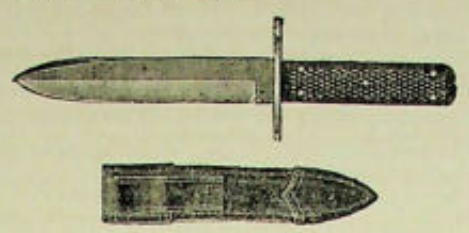
First preliminary consultation free to all comers,

Consulting rooms and residence now permanently established.



No. 2, Chowringhee Lane, Calcutta

HUNTING AND SKINNING KNIVES.



BEST SHEFFIELD MAKE.

With Leather Sheath. Rs. 8-0.

Complete in Sheath. Rs. 45 each.

Complete with Sheath.
No. 1367. Rs. 10-8.

Complete in Sheath.
No. 1359. Rs. 11-8.
No. 1356. „ 12-8.

Walter Locke & Co., Ld., "Locke" Buildings, Calcutta.

LONDON & LANCASHIRE
LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

HEAD OFFICE :—
LONDON : 66 and 67, CORNHILL, E.C.

CALCUTTA BOARD OF DIRECTION :

T. Fraser, Esqr., Manager, Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China.
E. H. Elles, Esqr., Messrs. Pigott Chapman & Co.
Alex. Forsyth, Esqr., Messrs. Graham & Co.

NEW BUSINESS, 1901.

SUMS ASSURED, £727,196. NEW PREMIUMS, £30,088.

The Net Premium Income is now £264,482, and the amount of £101,760, as the result of the past year's working, has been added to the Funds, which now stand at £1,629,502.

New policy holders participate in the large proportion of 90 % of the entire profits of the Company.

Applications for Agency invited. Special Terms.

APPLY TO—
Messrs. GRAHAM & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS,
9, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

BANK OF CALCUTTA,
LIMITED.

CAPITAL.

Subscribed	Rs.	15,00,000
Reserve Fund	„	15,00,000
Uncalled Capital	„	5,00,000

DIRECTORS :

Mr. D. YULE, Messrs. ANDREW, YULE & Co
„ H. E. McINNES, Messrs. J. THOMAS & Co.
„ NORMAN McLEOD, Messrs. McLEOD & Co.
„ D. KING.

CREDITS granted on approved Security, and every description of banking business transacted.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened and 2 per cent. per annum allowed on the daily balances.

FIXED DEPOSITS received at the following rates of interest :—

On Deposits fixed for 2 Years 5½ per cent. per annum.
„ „ „ „ 1 Year 5 „ „
„ „ „ „ 6 Months 4½ „ „
„ „ „ „ 3 „ 4 „ „

The Bank offers special facilities and advice to Constituents as to the purchase and sale of all Indian Securities, particularly the Shares and Debenture Stocks of Jute, Cotton, Tea, and Miscellaneous Industrial Concerns.

The Bank is prepared to guarantee the principal and interest of Debentures on its approved list on terms which may be ascertained on application.

Absentee shareholders' and investors' interests carefully watched.

Orders executed on the London Stock Exchange through London Branch.

For further information apply to—

CALCUTTA,
7th April, 1902.

D. KING, Agent.

LONDON BRANCH :—19, GREAT WINCHESTER STREET, E. C.

THE STANDARD
LIFE ASSCE. CO.

Revenue	£1,300,000
Bonus Declared ..	£7,000,000
Accumulated Funds ..	£10,300,000
Claims Paid ..	£21,000,000

For Forms, Prospectuses, etc., apply to
DOUGLAS STEWART, Secretary,
STANDARD BUILDINGS,
CALCUTTA.

GRINDLAY & CO., CALCUTTA.
GRINDLAY, GROOM & CO., BOMBAY.

BANKING.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened. | FIXED DEPOSITS received.
HOME AND FAMILY REMITTANCES made.

INVESTMENTS.

INFORMATION given regarding share market.
PURCHASES and SALES effected.
Grindlay's Monthly INDIAN INVESTORS' GUIDE supplied gratis.

PASSAGES.

HOMEWARD PASSAGES booked without charge.
PASSAGE CIRCULAR and complete list of sailings supplied gratis.

PACKAGES.

SHIPPED, cleared and forwarded.

THOS. COOK & SON
Bankers, Passenger & Forwarding Agents.

PASSAGES PROMPTLY ENGAGED by P. & O. Mail and all other Steamers, including non-Liners. Free of Charge or Commission.

Special Attention given to the selection of Berths and Social Grouping of Passengers.

Through Tickets issued available from any Railway Station in India to all parts of the Globe.
Continental Travelling Tickets issued, allowing breaks of journey at all places of interest.
Passengers with Cook's Tickets met and assisted at all Chief Ports and Cities.
Reduced Rates to Railway employes Planters, Family Parties, and Missionaries.
Outward Passages engaged and Tickets supplied from any part of the World to India.
Hotel Coupons available at over 2,000 Hotels.
Reduced Fares for Military Officers, Government Officials, and Missionaries to Europe viâ China and America.
Baggage received, shipped and cleared on arrival.
Packages received and forwarded at favourable cargo rates.
Life and Accident Insurance Polices issued, also baggage, &c., insured.
Drafts, Circular Notes and Letters of Credit issued for the use of Travellers in all parts of the World.
Sovereigns, Bank Notes, and Foreign Money bought and supplied.
Current Accounts kept, and Interest allowed when the Credit balance does not fall below Rs. 1,000.
Deposits received, Rate of Interest on application.
Interest, Pay, and Pensions collected and every description of Banking and Money Agency transacted.
Handbook of information sent free on application.

CALCUTTA,	BOMBAY,
9, Old Court House Street.	13, Esplanade Row.

RANGOON AND COLOMBO.

POLICIES ISSUED
BY THE
NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE Co.
Combine Life Insurance and Investment.

A security for family or estate and a provision for old age.

WRITE FOR PARTICULARS AND FOR
15 or 20 year sample policy to
RESIDENT MANAGER,
8, Old Court House Street,
CALCUTTA.

COCKBURN & Co.
— OF —
LEITH AND LONDON.
(ESTABLISHED 1796.)
WELL MATURED
HIGHLAND WHISKIES,
Of the highest class and most delicate blending.

Star Label	Rs.	34 per dozen.
Imperial Crown Label ...	„	38 „

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & Co.,
SOLE AGENTS,
1, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

NORTHERN ASSURANCE COMPANY.
ESTABLISHED 1836.
FIRE AND LIFE.

Capital	£3,000 000
Accumulated Funds	£5,698,300

OFFICES.

Head Office :—LONDON, 1, Moorgate Street.
Branch :—CALCUTTA, 101, Clive Street.
Fire and Life Insurance effected on the most favourable terms.
GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & CO.,
(Secretaries.)
101, Clive Street, Calcutta.

THE INDIAN FIELD.
8, Hare Street, Calcutta.

THURSDAY, 4th JUNE 1903.

THE LATEST THING IN BETTING "SYSTEMS."

IT is reasonable to suppose that systematic wagering has occupied the anxious attention of man ever since he discovered that betting is a losing game: and to attempt a glance at even a selection of the infallible methods of winning money which have been devised and advertised from time to time would be a task for the compiler of a book rather than for the writer of an article. The ingenuity betrayed by seekers after profit is well exhibited in the little essay contributed by Novus Homo to Baily's Magazine for May. The writer of this essay strikes out an entirely new line; presumably he gave up the study of form and horses and courses in despair, for the system whose success he now places before a world which ought to feel grateful is uncomplicated by any abstruse diagnoses of merit and performance on the part of either horse or jockey. Boldly sweeping these distressingly inconstant factors out of the sphere of his calculations he approaches the weighty business of finding winners in a spirit of beautiful impartiality accepting as his guiding star the Law of Averages as applied to details usually considered wholly irrelevant to a horse's chance: and we must admit that on his showing he makes out a case so good as to be positively laughable. His system has the merit, or demerit, of being practicable to anybody who has never seen a race in his life and knows no more about horses, courses, and weights than he does about spherical trigonometry. Under this alluring method you start from the theory that any sequence is bound to be interrupted sooner or later and the longer the sequence has run the more confidently may you bet on its collapse. You take into your consideration certain obvious factors; the horse's name; where he was trained; the weight he carries (but without reference to his performances, the company he is to meet or the distance), and if necessary the initial letter of his name and his age. You need not confine yourself to these factors; there is no reason why if you cannot satisfy yourself with the result of an estimate based thereon, you should not weigh others, such as the colours worn by jockey, the shape of the owner's nose or the height of the trainer. A simple example will suffice to show how the system is worked: we are going to make a modest investment on the Derby: and this is how we set about it as hopeful pupils of the writer of the Baily's essay. Had the horses, we first enquire, which won the Derby of the last few years, single names or double names ("saint" as a prefix shall not constitute a double name within the meaning of the Act?) Let us see, 1899 Flying Fox, 1900 Diamond Jubilee, 1901 Volodyovski, 1902 Ard Patrick. To restore the average the winner this year ought to be a horse with a single name, three winners out of the last four having borne double names, a circumstance which obliges us to look for a single name and one, if possible, near the beginning of the alphabet, Volodyovski's initial coming so near the end. At this point the exile finds himself cruelly handicapped by his ignorance of likely starters; but as the last available hand-book gives the names of about 180 entrants which were alive in March we may take his choice therefrom. He might do much worse than pin his faith to Aceful, who is alphabetically the first: the fact that Aceful fulfils two of the important requirements, a single name and "A" as his initial counts heavily in his favour. What public opinion thinks of his chances as indicated by the betting news is a matter with which we have nothing whatever to do: we are far more concerned to know where Aceful is training. He is in the care of Huggins at Newmarket, a fact which, we confess, presents difficulties to the beginner: for, be it understood, training quarters for the system purpose consist of Newmarket and elsewhere. Now, Ard Patrick was trained elsewhere—to be more precise at Beckhampton in Wiltshire, while, unless we are greatly in error of the three previous winners, Flying Fox was trained in Berkshire, and the other two at Newmarket. The Law of Averages seems to be as much in favour of a Newmarket trained horse winning as against it. Glancing in a moment of weakness at the betting (and little enough business has been doing apparently) we feel unable to entertain the chances of Songcraft: his initial brings him low down in the alphabet and we feel bound to take a horse who stands higher up; Rock Sand, the favourite, is of course out of the running altogether owing to his double name, and Rabelais is, alphabetically, little better than Songcraft. In the circumstances we pin our faith to the system and Aceful—with a mental reservation that ours shall be a microscopically small bet; not because we distrust the system which has given Novus Homo such satisfactory returns, but because we have doubts of our ability to apply its ingenuity successfully with our own untried hand.

In a handicap the question of weight (under the Law of Averages) imports another consideration. Let us take the last important handicap and see what we can make of that. The last three winners had double names, if The Grafter can be considered a double name with Australian Star and First Principal, so we must have a single name. The initials of all three point to the necessity of finding a winner whose name comes towards the end of the alphabet, so we may take our choice among Pistol, Valenza, Rayleigh, and Scullion. The circumstance that the winners of 1901 and 1902 carried each seven stone odd puts a horse carrying seven stone something out of court at once, so necessarily we eliminate Rayleigh at 7st. 2lbs. (who has obligingly met the system by coming in about last) which leaves us Pistol, Valenza, and Scullion who carried 8st. 4lbs. 8st. 4lbs. and 8st. 3lbs. respectively. Now touching the factor of age; the last two winners were five-year-olds; obviously the Law of Averages forbids the presumption that a five-year-old would win the City and Suburban again, so reluctantly but firmly we dismiss the idea of Valenza or Scullion, both five-year-olds, winning the race: which reduces us to Pistol whose initial, weight, and age point their several Average fingers to him as the winner. It is disturbing to reflect that results did not justify the system: Pistol could not do better than fourth; Valenza, whom we felt obliged to dismiss for the excellent reasons set out above, outraged the system by running a very good second. Over Norton, whose double name made naught of the temptation conferred under the system by a weight of 9st. 2lbs., was third, and the winner turned up in Brambilla, whose place in the alphabet alone was enough to disqualify him if the weight 7st. 11lb. had not been there also to convince us of the impossibility of his winning. Working upon a system so novel and so daring, we feel some disappointment: but after all the inventor only claims to find thereby a proportion of winners, and we must not expect too much. We must remember too that in our analysis of chances we omitted various things which an expert in this system might consider of high importance apart from our omission to take into account the place of training. The expert would no doubt have reflected that it is twenty years or more since a foreign owner won the City and Suburban and have considered the huge advantage M. Ephrussi enjoyed by reason of his nationality.

A system which, as Novus Homo assures is the case, results in the discovery of a good proportion of long priced winners, is not to be lightly laughed out of court and really when we consider the many and intricate factors which must be weighed in estimating the chance of any horse in any race, this method of working by names, training grounds, ages and average weights, is quite as likely to give sound results as another. We shall be curious to see if the Anti-Gambling League take any notice of it; the estimable persons who compose that body have always combatted the theory that "spotting winners" is a game of skill, and beyond question skill enters not at all into Novus Homo's system. There is a distinct necessity for knowledge and discrimination, if none strictly speaking for "skill," in estimating the chances of half-a-dozen horses meeting under a new set of conditions of weight, course, and distance, that estimate being based upon a careful analysis of previous performances and the application of old circumstances to new. The "Law of Average" on which the new prophet bases his calculations is the fundamental law of chance: and if the wideawake regenerators of public morality in England do not pounce upon this example of a betting system and use it as a weapon in their next assault upon the wicked we shall be much surprised. To the curious in these matters we commend the essay in question with its table of winners and determining factors duly set out: as before remarked, it deserves notice if only in recognition of its originality and ingenuity: the one thing we would like to know which the author does not tell us is, in what percentage of cases has his method of arriving at the probable winner succeeded and failed.

Special Telegrams.

THE OAKS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

THE OAKS STAKES.—Of 5,000sovs. by subscription of 50sovs. each, h ft or 5sovs. only if declared by the last Tuesday in March 1902, for three-year-old fillies 9st. each; the nominator of the winner to receive 400sovs. out of the stakes; if not sufficient surplus is obtained from subscriptions to give the second at least 200sovs. and the third at least 100sovs. The difference to be made up by the Race Fund; about 1 mile and a half. 271 subs. Closed 23rd July 1901.

London, Friday, 29th May 1903.

Mr J R Joel's b f OUR LASSIE, by Ayrshire—Yours, M Cannon 1
Major Eustace Loder's b f HAMMERKOP, by Gallinule—Concussion, H Martin ... 2
Mr W Raphael's ch f SKYSCRAPER, by Velasquez or Ayrshire—Chelandry, D Maher 3
Prince Soltykoff's b f SUN ROSE, by Sheen—Nina, W Halsey 0
Mr J R Keene's ch f DAZZLING, by St Leonards—Splendour 0
Mr C Russell's b f FLORINDA, by Florizel II—Wise Flower 0
Mr W Hall Walker's b f LADIES' MILE, by Ladas—Serpentine 0
Mr Arthur James's b f Mrs GAMP, by St Simon—Lucina 0
Lord Hamilton's br f VALVE, by Velasquez—Gas 0
Mr John Robinson's bl f ST HYLDA, by St Simon—Darkness 0

(Winner trained by C. Morton.)

Betting: 2 to 1 against Hammerkop, 4 to 1 Sun Rose, 6 to 1 Our Lassie, 100 to 7 Skyscraper.

Won by three lengths: a head between second and third.

Pedigree of the Winner.

OUR LASSIE (1900).

Yours				Ayrshire
Your Grace		Melton		Atalanta		Hampton
Grand Duchess	Galliard	Violet Melrose	Master Kildare	Peronia	Galopin	Lady Langden	Lord Clifden
Lozenge Ladylike	Galopin Mavis	Scottish Chief Violet	Lord Ronald Silk	Thormanby Woodbine	Velocette Flying Duchess	Kettledrum Haricot	Newminster The Slave

Winners since 1875.

Year.	Winner	Times.		Jockey.
1875‡	Lord Falmouth's Spinaway	2	49½	F Archer (7)
1876‡	M A Lupin's Enguerrande	2	50	Hudson (14)
1877	Mr. Pulteney's Placida	2	51½	H Jeffery (9)
1878†	Lord Falmouth's Jannette	2	51	F Archer (8)
1879‡	Lord Falmouth's Wheel of Fortune	3	2	F Archer (8)
1880	Mr Parkin's Jenny Howlet	2	49	J Snowden (13)
1881‡	Mr Crawfurd's Thebais ...	2	46	Fordham (12)
1882	Lord Stamford's Geheimniss	2	49	T Cannon (5)
1883	„ Rosebery's Bonny Jean	2	53	Watts (14)
1884‡	Mr Abington's Busybody	2	49	Cannon (9)
1885	Lord Cadogan's Lonely ...	2	43½	Archer (10)
1886‡	D of Hamilton's Miss Jummy	2	54½	Watts (12)
1887‡	D of Beaufort's Reve d'Or	2	50½	C Wood (9)
1888†	Lord Calthorpe's Seabreeze	2	42½	Robinson (6)
1889	„ R Churchill's L'Abbesse de Jourre	2	45	J Woodburn (12)
1890‡	D of Portland's Memoir ...	2	10½	J Watts (7)
1891‡	Mr Noel Fenwick's Mimi	2	54½	F Rickaby (6)
1892‡†	Baron Hirsch's La Fleche	2	43½	G Barrett (7)
1893	Duke of Portland's Mrs Butterwick	2	44½	J Watts (17)
1894‡	D of Portland's Amiable ...	2	50	W Bradford (11)
1895	Sir J Miller's La Sagesse ...	2	48½	S Loates (15)
1896	Lord Derby's Canterbry Pilgrim	2	45½	F Rickaby (11)
1897	Lord Hindlip's Limasol ...	2	45	W Bradford (8)
1898	Mr Jones's Airs and Graces	2	45½	W Bradford (13)
1899	„ D Baird's Musa ...	2	44	O Madden (12)
1900	Duke of Portland's La Roche	2	45½	M Cannon (14)
1901	Mr F Keene's Cap & Bells II,	2	44½	M Henry (21)
1902‡†	Mr Sievier's Sceptre ...	2	46½	H Randall (14).

Those marked ‡ won the One Thousand; † the St. Leger; § Formosa also ran a dead-heat for the Two Thousand with Mr. Crawfurd's Mosiem, the stakes being afterwards divided, and Moslem walking over.

‖ Enguerrande walked over after a dead-heat with Count Lagrange's Camelia.

Sporting Notes.

THE Simla Horse and Dog Show is fixed for the 6th instant, when a big programme has been arranged. Lord Suffolk is acting as Honorary Secretary, and aided by a strong committee the show ought to be a great success. The classes for horses include the following: Chargers, ladies' hacks, over and under 14 hands, C.-B. and Arab ponies, 14-2 and under, all horses over 14-2, polo ponies that have played in Simla during the season, English, Australian and Cape ponies, 14-2 and under. The dogs' classes include six classes for terriers; dogs and bitches being judged separately; dachshunds, poodles, retrievers and others having classes of their own. A jumping competition for horses and ponies will also be held. The best horse in the show will be awarded the Viceroy's Cup, while the Committee's Cup goes to the best pony.

Our Bangalore correspondent writes:—A really pretty little afternoon's sport was witnessed here on the 28th ultimo. Backers and fielders alike had their turns, but I have sent you full particulars elsewhere. Owing to the energy of Mr. Adams, of the 3rd Madras Lancers, it is likely that paper-chasing will be revived in Bangalore. On Saturday, the 23rd ultimo, a point-to-point race took place over a course of about 3 miles. Sweepstakes were offered both for horses and ponies, the former being won by Major Harrison, R. F. A., and the latter by Captain Claridge, 3rd Madras Lancers. Although the entries for the sweepstakes—especially the pony event—were not very numerous, some thirty riders took part in the gallop, including a fair number of ladies. It is intended by Mr. Adams to promote these paperchases weekly and Bangalore may look forward to some excellent sport in this direction.

It may perhaps interest some of his friends to hear that McQuade, who started a training stable in Bangalore some five or six months ago, has now about twenty-three horses and ponies in his charge, belonging to various officers in the station. Moreover, his horses have done not well, but—in their class—excellently. One pony of Major Harrison has scored five wins out of six starts, and McQuade has trained and ridden many other winners at Bangalore, Ootacamund, and Wellington. He has a good many animals entered for Mysore next month, and may come in in a handicap or two, but the class on the other hand may perhaps be too good. Whilst on the subject it may be said that the Mysore second entries are most satisfactory, but the handicapper will have his work cut out. How are you going to bring Minimus and Beccles together? And there are many such instances.

After his victory in the Derby Rock Sand stands favourite for the St. Leger at 11 to 10 on.

Camels are to be introduced into South Africa for transport and riding purposes: an experimental breeding farm is to be established near Salisbury, and the first trial will be made with camels from the Punjab, fifty of the animals being now on their way from India. There seems no reason why the camel should not do well in South Africa, as it has succeeded admirably in Australia, also in the Western States of America, and even in Europe. Wild camels have existed for years in Spain, and it is said that they increased in numbers there in the immense swampy lands which they frequented. In fact, camels are very hardy animals, and appear to bear variations of climate well, being found in temperate and torrid zones throughout the world.

Our Lucknow correspondent writes on 31st May:—We have had quite a giddy week here, in

A DELICIOUS SMOKE.
SPENCER & CO., LD.,
MADRAS.

TORPEDOS SPECIAL.

MILD WITH
PLEASAINT AROMA.
OBTAINABLE FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

spite of the fact that everyone who could by any means get away went up to Naini Tal for the Ranikhet week. You have already noticed Tuesday's Pagal Gymkhana at the Mahomed Bagh Club, so that I need only repeat that it was a great success. On Thursday came the seventh paperchase of the season, which was very well attended in spite of the fact that the mugginess of the atmosphere almost reminded one of Calcutta at its worst. The course, which was about three miles long, started at the Pontoon Bridge near La Martinière, and finished up at the Kookrail Bridge on the Barabanki Road. Among the starters I noticed Miss Williams, Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. Lawrence, Miss Porter, Mr. Douglas Straight, Captain Dunbar, Captain Winwood, Mr. Stafford, Mr. Sheridan, Mr. Berthoud, Mr. Shaw, Captain Forrest, Major Tonides, and several more. Mr. Straight got away with a rush, but could not keep in front, and after a rattling good run, Captain Dunbar came in first, followed by Mr. Stafford, Captain Winwood, and Mr. Sheridan, with Mr. Straight fifth, and the rest anyhow. The officers of the 5th Dragoon Guards were "At Home" after the run.

I said at the beginning of this letter that Tuesday's Pagal Gymkhana was a great success, and so it was. At the same time it must be admitted that "pagals" do pall now and then. A distinctly novel departure was made yesterday with a Water Gymkhana, which was organized by our Deputy Commissioner, Mr. A. L. Saunders, and held at the Swimming Bath attached to the Chutter Munzil Club. The Diving Competition (1) through hoops and (2) High Dive, was won by Mr. Stott, Major Newnham being a very good second. There were eleven entries. In the second event, diving for six plates, Captain Hutchison, C. M. S., won with great ease, bringing up his six in remarkably good time. Major Newnham was again second. Six entries. The third race, a three-lengths swim, was the success of the day. Mr. Stanley just beat Major Newnham and three others by the narrowest of margins. The next race, swimming one length under water, fell to Mr. Stott, Major Newnham being second for the fourth time. The comic element was reserved for the end, when the Mussuck Race and the Wrestling on Mussucks afforded considerable amusement to the onlookers, and apparently to the competitors themselves. Mr. Stanley won the Mussuck Race, and Mr. Douglas Straight, our D.S.P., the Wrestling. Mr. and Mrs. Saunders were "At Home" during this most enjoyable Gymkhana, which we all hope may be repeated at an early date.

In the course of some sensible reflections on the starting gate, its advantages and disadvantages The County Gentleman asks :—

What is to be done about the starting gate? The mishap which on Friday week materially interfered with Sun Rose's chance of placing the One Thousand Guineas to Prince Soltykoff's credit is but the latest of a series of regrettable incidents connected with the gate, and complaints against the present system of starting are becoming so frequent that the Stewards of the Jockey Club are certain before long to bring the matter up for discussion at one of their meetings. Opponents of the machine now enjoying the sanction of the Jockey Club are divided into two parties. The root-and-branch reformers are in favour of a retrograde movement pure and simple; in other words, they would abolish the system of starting by mechanical means, and go back to the old order of things, arming the starter with the flag only. Less drastic measures are advocated by the other section of those opposing the now official gate. These remain adherents of the mode of starting, but they urge that the Gray machine is virtually obsolete, that sundry improved patterns have been brought out since the Jockey Club adopted the system, and that every chance should be given to patentees to have their gates officially tested.

We should be extremely sorry to see the Jockey Club go back to any such antiquated system as starting by flag. In Australia, America, Austria, France, and practically in all other countries where racing is conducted on a scale of any importance, the flag has long since been abolished, and the various styles of gate in vogue there would seem to be giving satisfaction, for no serious complaints concerning them have ever reached us. Reading through the racing reports in the American and Colonial Press we seldom, if ever, encounter any outcry against the starting gate. That we in England are less fortunate is probably because of our proverbial tendency to move in grooves. Having adopted a certain pattern, the authorities have so far been apparently loth to devote attention to any other existing design, no matter how far in advance of the old style it might prove to be. But, in view of the disasters in the One Thousand Guineas and the Wokingham Stakes last season, together with other minor mishaps, the Jockey Club will be going directly against public opinion unless they make every effort to improve upon the present apparatus. One thing in particular upon which they cannot be too strict, is to have the gate properly fixed at all meetings, and not to have this important matter left in the hands of the totally inexperienced, as was said to be the case at Newmarket last week. When the dire result that can attend an accident to the gate considered—we can quote no more typical case than that of the Ascot fiasco—it must be perfectly obvious that it would be impossible to bestow too much care to the fixture of the poles and webbing; and, when these are fixed, due precautions should be taken to see that the machine is in proper working order. Especially should this be done in wet weather, as it is always possible for the damp to have a queer effect upon the apparatus. We cordially agree with the suggestion that it should be compulsory for the starer, or his deputy, to test the gate shortly before each race, for in this way the risk of accidents must be appreciably lessened.

It is not, however, solely on account of the few mishaps with the Gray machine that the use of the starting gate is meeting with opposition. One writer of standing misses no oppotunity of attacking it, and apropos of the One Thousand Guineas he considers it "a grievous drawback to the owners of racehorses that such a contrivance is in existence." He proceeds later:—"Will not the Jockey Club move in the matter? Horses are being ruined every day both in temper and legs, and put it to the racing community 'gate' or the good old-fashioned 'flag,' it would be long odds on the latter." We are quite at variance with him in this conclusion, for we think that if a racing plebiscite on the question could be taken, it would be overwhelmingly in favour of the retention of the gate. In regard to the statement that the tempers and the legs of racehorses are being ruined by the gate, we doubt very much whether there are more bad tempered horses on the Turf today than five years ago. There is, however, something in the charge that legs suffer, and we think that the start should be made less sudden. At present, the horse stands with his nose close to the webbing, and on the barrier being raised he is forced to jump swiftly into his stride if, especially in short distance events, he is to have anything to do with the finish. In the sprint races it is generally the horse best away that wins, and there is no doubt that certain animals acquire the knack of jumping off much more quickly than others. But this, at best, savours of a circus trick, and it can be of no assistance in improving the British thoroughbred. There is no doubt whatever that the sudden and jerky start is a severe strain to muscle and tendons, and we agree with those who consider it to be detrimental to racehorses generally. We see, nevertheless, not the slightest reason to condemn the gate on this account. The machine, we hold, has made for punctuality and fairness in starting. It could still be retained, yet the evil of which we have just written be entirely done way with. How this could be effected has been suggested by Mr. H. Custance. This old-time jockey and experienced starter with both flag and gate, proposes that instead of the competitors being brought in close proximity to the webbing, a broad chalk line should be drawn on the ground some yards behind the "gate," and that the field should be ranged up to that line. Not only would this obviate the great strain to horses in starting, but it would act as a further safeguard in preventing the entanglement of any of the riders in the webbing. [This has long since been done in Calcutta and on other Indian courses.—ED.]

It is only natural for the opponents of the starting gate to make much of those occasions on which it has figured to a disadvantage. But surely they cannot have forgotten the wretched delays occurring every day under the old system, and the numerous horses left at the post. Georgic's Cambridgeshire, in which Nunsuch, who could not well have lost, was hopelessly "left" at the flag-fall, and many other instances of bad starts will be readily called to mind by all race-goers. If memory of past discomforts is not lasting, one has only to turn up the files of the sporting papers of a few years back to read of lengthy waits between the races, caused by frequent false starts and breaks-away, and the impotence of the starter to cope with a large and fractious field. The first race started by the gate in England was the Tathwell Stakes at Lincoln, on 26th March 1900, and the current season is only the second in which the machine has been used for all races in England. Its advantages, in our opinion, have substantially outweighed its drawbacks, and the latter, such as they are, might, as we have pointed out, easily be remedied. Nevertheless, an official consideration of the matter would help to clear the air, charged at present with the dissension of the rival partisans of the gate and flag. In the meantime, the Stewards of the Jockey Club should give a fair trial to any of the modernised machines that may be submitted for their approval.

Full reports of the Quetta, Simla, Bangalore, Darjeeling and Dibrugarh meetings will be found in our Turf columns to-day.

Mr. Reginald Powell, the shipper, is expected up in Calcutta about the end of the month with a good selection of horses and ponies.

It is stated that D. Norton contemplates giving up training in favour of trading, and that he will shortly join the ranks of our Indian horse shippers.

The Madras bobbery packt met at Stirling's Road on the 27th ultimo. A small field turned out and a jack was started from the back of the Cunnee Kovil parcherry. Away he went in the direction of Kodambaukum Toll Gate, across the Nungumbaukum Tank ourn, then from the Kodambaukum station along the bund of Wolf's Crag till hounds eventually ran into him near "Far Away." Two more jacks were put up at Far Away, but were lost after a short burst, and darkness setting in hounds were whipped off.

The Caclutta Turf Club announces the dates of the Monsoon Meetings which will be found among our list of Indian Racing Fixtures. Programmes of the first three meetings are now available.

Our Poona correspondent writes:—The annual premonitory announcement from the Military Secretary regarding the Levée to be held by His Excellency on the 29th June, acts as a reminder to most of us to see how much of our full dress glory, our two enemies, the busy moth and the lazy dressing boy, have left us undamaged and points to the advisability of a personal inspection of cocked hats or those antediluvian toppers which are a source of joy to all beholders on these solemn pageantries. Many of them must I opine be of a fashion second only to the yellow silk "Beavers." The notification at any rate may be taken as the beginning of the influx of the little tin gods.

His Highness the Aga Khan on receipt of the sad news of his kinsman's death hastened back from Mahableshwar to Poona, doing the journey in his fine motor and accomplishing the journey in three and a half hours. "Scorching" His Highness has, I hear, absolutely forbidden.

Talking of scorching reminds me that our civic fathers have recently ruled that nine miles an hour is to be the maximum speed at which motors are to be permitted to travel within cantonment limits and that the driver of such conveyances shall be compelled to stop whenever the driver of a horse holds up a hand as a signal of distress. While sympathising with these orders it is sincerely to be hoped that horse steerers will not abuse this privilege to the needless exasperation of chauffeurs.

I am glad to announce the safe arrival at headquarters of Colonel Sheringham, M. F. H., and his hounds. The latter I have not had an opportunity of inspecting yet, though I promise myself the pleasure in the near future. From the passing glance I had of the gallant Master I can only opine that if his hounds are as fit as himself, members of the Poona and Kirkee Foxhounds have plenty of sport before them and will need to travel. Colonel Sheringham with characteristic promptitude is losing no time as I see a notice in the local paper to the effect that hounds will leave the kennels at 5-30 A.M. each morning for cub hunting. Many budding sportsmen and old stagers will, I feel sure, avail themselves of this thoughtful invitation—an innovation so far as I can gather on previous years, and a good one. There has, I am inclined to think, been a certain timidity on the part of the public in approaching uninvited the sacred precincts of the kennels.

The Nizam is on a shooting expedition in the Pakhal jungles and appears to be having good sport. On the 22nd ultimo, he bagged a fine tiger and two large cubs at a place called Chickut-Mautpalli, five miles from the camp, which is at Narsimpett.

SPENCER'S

No. 1, 4½ ins. long, Rs.16 per 1,000.
„ 2, 4 „ „ „ 15 „ 1,000.
„ 3, 3½ „ „ „ 14 „ 1,000

JAVAS

SPENCER'S
OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

Some time ago elk were considerably poached by natives in Norway and Sweden for winter meat. But the game laws are now strict, and fairly well enforced. Elk shooting was altogether forbidden in Norway for many years in the seventies and eighties, in order to save the animals from extinction; and now they can only be legally killed during the last three weeks of September. Unfortunately the law does not protect cow-elk. It only limits the number to be killed on each farm or forest. A native hunter, whose main object is meat, and who goes out for business, always kills the first elk he finds, even a cow with calf. The result is, that all forests not let to English or other sportsmen, who usually only kill bulls, generally deteriorate in their stock of elk.

A very ghastly crocodile story is unfolded by a native correspondent in the columns of a Bengalee journal. He writes:—Last Tuesday morning khubber was brought to me that a man had been carried off by a crocodile. I ran to the river bank where a large number of people had already gathered. The unfortunate man was one Mongol, a Mahomedan palki bearer. He was washing his face standing in water about a foot deep, when a crocodile sprang out of the water, caught hold of him by the right shoulder and carried him off. He was a robust young man of 30, but he could not even find time to make the least essay to save his life. Now, this monster was not quite unknown to the people of the locality. About a month ago it had made its appearance in a creek of the Padma, where it took up its abode.

Well, when I reached the spot from Teota, which is only one third of a mile distant, I saw nothing. I learnt from the people collected there that the crocodile had risen several times with its victim. A shikari was sent in a boat to search for the brute. Something black was then noticed at the junction of the creek with the main channel of the Padma. It turned out to be the crocodile, which jumped out of the water in an erect position, thus exposing about 6 feet of its body. What was stranger still was that the uncanny brute was seen violently striking its victim on the surface of the water as a dhobi strikes a cloth on his board. The shikari in the boat took the opportunity of this to fire two shots at it, but without success, the distance being great.

Again the crocodile emerged from the water and in the same way struck the surface as if the dead man was only a bamboo stick. At this time two steamers passed by the spot and nothing was seen of the crocodile for some time. So the search-boat, with the shikari in it, had to return disappointed, and the people began to disperse. I, however, did not give up my watch on the bank. I waited with my binocular ready adjusted. I noticed after a while that the brute was going to the other side of the river, but the current being strong and from other causes, the monster returned and came straight to the spot where the man had been caught, just passing within 50 yards of me.

It then again turned left, and went to the other side of the creek, where it began to make a meal of the unfortunate man. First, it caught hold of the head in its enormous jaws, gnawed the neck, and then, suddenly, so violently jerked the body that it broke, and the head, which was still in the monster's mouth, was instantly swallowed. The brute then jumped and immediately caught hold of the headless trunk, which was thrown at some distance by the jerk. At this stage a huge fish-eating alligator appeared on the scene and watched the proceedings without interfering. Shoals of turtle gathered round to partake of the crumbs from the rich man's table, while crows and kites began to swoop down to pick up bits of flesh floating on the water. I could see with my powerful prismatic glass even the blood flowing from the jaws of the monster as it kept munching its horrid food. It gradually broke piece by piece the arms by gnawing and jerking and swallowed them. At that time the shikari whom I had sent for in the meantime arrived, and crossing the creek fired at the brute; but the bullet from the ·440 bore magazine rifle recoiled from the monster's head. The crocodile noticed the assailant and dived with the remainder of its victim. It was then 10 o'clock, and I came home. I heard that the crocodile was again seen in the evening with the trunk of the corpse. Arrangements are being made to kill the brute.

The first entries for the big race meeting at Bangalore are disappointing, the waler event only filling well. The prospects for the Mysore Meeting are excellent, and it should turn out a great success.

The Simla race meeting is admitted on all hands to have been a signal success. The totalisator has enriched the funds in about Rs. 4,000, which speaks to the magnitude of its operations. The handicapper evoked the gratitude of race-goers as they were able to pick out four or five winners. There was one little rift in the lute and that was when Toe was pulled up by the Stewards for foul riding. On Jeanaroo, in the hurdle race, he forced Captain Holden on Grey Mist on to the rails and penned him there for fifty yards.

The Stewards suspended Toe from riding and have reported him to Calcutta. There is to be an extra day's racing on the 4th June.

BEHAR NOTES.

Messrs. Frank Rawlins, "Minor" Marsham, Jim Wilson, and Manisty were Mr. H. Denis de Vitre's guests at his "stick" at the Swaisingpur grasses on the 25th of May.

The weather was everything that could be desired, as it was a cloudy, and in consequence a cool, day; in the most central spot in the grasses, a large marquée tent was pitched, where cooling drinks and refreshments were always at hand.

At five o'clock sharp, Mr. de Vitre put his beaters into the grass—they numbering some four hundred men—while the "spears" scattered themselves about, and rode slowly along with the line. The grass—or rather jungle, as it was composed of course rank grass that had not been cut for years—was extremely difficult to beat, for it was a regular sea of grass, and gave small hopes of the "stick" being a successful one. Mr. Denis de Vitre looked after the beating coolies, and they, keeping an excellent line, advanced slowly and quietly through the thick heavy grass; every now and then a herd of nilgai would spring up, and after gazing with startled eyes at the long line of coolies and elephants would bound madly away, and disappear in the distance; a Blue Bull would then appear, and with head up, and slow, plunging strides follow in their wake; here and there a jackal would sneak away; but no pig! After beating for some time the "line" arrived at a likely spot—a small sheet of water and mud, surrounded by thick grass. More than extra care was taken, and everybody was on the alert. Suddenly without warning a boar got up and charged through the beaters, and made away through the jungle, closely followed by "Minor" Marsham, while Rawlins and Manisty raced for all they were worth to overtake him: de Vitre and Wilson, being on the extreme left, were quite out of the run, though they followed with the hope that a jink, or the pig turning might bring them up to the front. The going was heavy, and the horses had to bound and plunge their way through the thick undergrowth. Suddenly the "Minor" was seen to bend down, as if to give his spear, and the next minute he and his pony had disappeared—the pig had charged and his horse being unsteady reared up, and came down—the field came up, but the pig was lost. As he was apparently badly blown, and there was a small pool of water near the place where he was lost there was every chance of finding him again with the beaters; so everybody rode to the marquée tent, and refreshed themselves, while their horses rested with loosened girths alongside.

It was then decided to continue the "beat" at the spot where the pig had been found, and after that was finished bring up the coolies, and hunt out Mr. Pig, who had escaped.

The party then mounted and rode back to the coolies, and the "line" advanced again. After they had been beating for about ten minutes a fine old boar charged through the coolies, and made off at a great pace. Rawlins and Marshman, closely followed by the rest, were after him at once (as he crossed a small open in the grasses, he was seen to be a fine big chap)—into a even thicker and bigger mass of grass he disappeared. Rawlins was well on him, Marsham, Wilson, and de Vitre were close behind—a crash, the "Minor's" pony had turned turtle, and the pony's legs were seen in the air with its owner somewhere underneath it—nobody could stop however, as the pig was in front, though his career through the grass could only be traced by the slight dust that floated up on the still air as he forced himself through the dry undergrowth. Suddenly this stopped, and the pig was lost!

Luck seemed dead against the day's sport, as the pig had all the advantage on his side, as the grasses were so big and thick. The coolies were then taken over to the other side, where the first pig had been lost, and Messrs. Marsham, Wilson, Rawlins, and Manisty scattered themselves out, and rode with the beaters; while Denis de Vitre galloped off to change his horse that had been hurt in the last gallop.

The line had hardly advanced ten yards before out came Mr. Pig, looking very cross, and very tired; he made for a low patch of grass, closely followed by Wilson, and suddenly disappeared. The coolies were brought up, and he was found at once. This time he meant to fight, and though he could have easily escaped into some jungle alongside, he preferred giving battle to everybody and everything that came near him.

Rawlins was the first up to him on his chestnut Arab pony, and as he came up, the boar charged in; Rawlins' pony, though hard to beat on the polo ground, had never been tried as a pigsticker before, and the result was fatal. Just as Frank Rawlins was bending over to give his spear the pony lashed out violently; the pig getting his charge well home, and cutting the pony very badly high up, on the off hind leg, Rawlins had at once to take the pony off, as it was badly hurt. The pig then returned to receive Wilson, who was also riding a horse new to pigsticking; as he came in, Wilson's horse planted (he unfortunately not riding with spurs). Wilson's spear glanced off a thick hard coat of mud the pig's back was covered with, and the pig got well underneath his horse, cutting it slightly in two places on the near side.

Marsham then got a charge and succeeded in getting his spear in the pig's neck, leaving it there, as a mark in case the pig endeavoured to escape into the jungle alongside.

The pig then stood sullenly waiting for Wilson to attack him again, while the spear butt stuck up like the mast of a small boat above his head. As Wilson rode at him, the pig charged, and though Wilson stuck him in the neck, his spear was knocked out of his hands by the butt of Marsham's spear. So far the battle had resulted in a decided success to the pig, as he had cut two horses and practically disarmed two of the horsemen. Mr. Pig had picked on his position like an old general, as the place he stood at bay on was so cramped that it was extremely difficult to approach him, except at a slow pace; and he also took advantage of the grass to lie down and rest. the riders being unable to see him until their horses were almost alongside. His back was almost completely protected by a thick hard coating of mud, nearly an inch thick, which made it difficult to get the spear to penetrate.

Such was the position of affairs as Manisty rode up, and as he galloped up the pig galloped down on him. His spear got home, but broke off short above the blade. His syce running up at once handed him a new spear. Manisty then got another charge, and the pig succeeded in giving his horse a slight cut, as his spear failed to stop his charge, being stopped by the mud on the pig's back.

Marsham and Wilson then picked up their spears, and all three attacked the Boar, he charging and fighting each one as they came up; and after a battle of some ten minutes, he sank down and died with the "Minor's" spear in his heart—as gallant a pig as ever faced a spear. He was found to be an old 'un, with very short legs, and abnormally long tushes.

After resting the horses, and sampling Mr. Denis de Vitre's whiskey, the party mounted again, and the "beat" was continued. Nothing broke for some time, though a young Blue Bull caused some excitement by charging the coolies and bounding completely over one of the men's heads; then a pig broke, but as he was small, he was left alone, then two or three butchas dashed out, at last a fine boar broke away, and after a gallop was lost in the thick jungle.

The beaters were then put in at the place he was lost, but he was never seen again, and as the horses were by this time rather done up the party decided to stop beating and return to Nundnie factory.

Mr. H. Denis de Vitre made every effort to make the stick a success, the coolies worked well, and everything was well managed, but he was greatly handicapped by having such an enormous sea of grass to "beat," and it was greatly to his credit that a pig was "stuck" at all,—for unless Swaisingpur is burnt, it is nearly impossible to get anything out of the place.

I must mention about the boar killed, as he was a most unusual pig. He had rather a good head, grand tushes, and very short legs, which made him measure very small, for he only taped on the field 28", though he looked with his good head while he was fighting over 30". He was undoubtedly an old pig, and a real good "plucked 'un," for even after a

AN EXCELLENT SMOKE
. . WITH . .
DELICATE AROMA.
OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.

GOLD MOHUR BOUQUETS

SPENCER & CO., LD., Madras.
Factory: Dindigul.
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta:
MESSRS. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

charge, and after he had got the spear, he would follow up the pony for a bit, as if he couldn't have too much of it.

This pig who measured 28" on the field was measured a couple of hours after at Nundnie factory, after he had been brought in slung by the legs on a bamboo ; he then measured 30½ inches, a difference of 2½ inches !

Of course the correct measurement of a pig is the one taken on the field, as soon as he is dead.

But how many people are there—I have seen it done myself—who don't measure the pig until it arrives at the camp or factory?

A most incorrect measurement is the result, as the body is swollen by that time, and the legs have been well pulled out, after coming some distance slung on a bamboo by the legs.

I am afraid there is a good deal of hanky panky over a pig's measurement, but more by the class of man who is continually sneaking away ahead in the hopes of getting first spear, but not by the true sportsman whose main object is the gallop, and meeting the Boar afterwards in a fair fight. The former is intend only on the first prick ; the latter is keen on the whole sport, and only anxious that the pig should not escape, and doesn't care who gets "first" spear.

Athletic Notes.

THE Annual General Meeting of the Indian Football Association was held at the C.V.R. Headquarters last Friday evening, Mr. Maurice Remfry occupying the chair. The annual report, which will be found in our Football columns, was adopted and taken as read. The chairman then announced that a telegram had been received from His Honour the Officiating Lieutenant-Governor accepting the position of President of the Association. Mr. Macmillan proposed that they should put on record the late Sir John Woodburn's many services to the Association during the four years he was its President, which proposal was unanimously carried. The meeting then went on to the election of a council for the ensuing season which resulted as follows :—Mr. H. S. Ashton, Capt. E. R. Cureton, Mr. M. Remfry, Lieut. Paynter, Lieut. E. P. Cudlip, Mr. R. C. Mitter, Mr. A. Gangooly. Messrs J. Greig, F. E. Bushby and J. B. Clarke will take the places of Messrs J. Muir, D. L. Walker and P. McInnes, and Messrs N. G. Pritchard and L. M. Macmillan were re-elected Joint Honorary Secretaries. Mr. N. M. Ismail then proposed that silver medals should be presented to the winners of the Trades Cup Competition. This was seconded by Mr. A. Gangooly, and the proposal unanimously carried. A vote of thanks was recorded by the meeting to the Joint Honorary Secretaries for their valuable services during the past season. With the customary vote of thanks to the chair the meeting was adjourned.

Returning from the Calcutta Rowing Club at Kidderpore last Wednesday evening, Mr. A. P. Cameron, the popular Vice-Captain of the Club, met with a serious accident, which will keep him on the shelf for some time. The shriek from the whistle of an approaching engine—and, by the way, the drivers hereabouts indulge in an infinity of needless whistling—caused his horse to bolt and a collision with a lamp post overturned the trap, Mr. Cameron emerging from the accident with a broken ankle. Luckily Dr. Murray's carriage was down at the Club and the occupants arriving on the spot within a minute of the upset, had Mr. Cameron conveyed to his residence, where Dr. Murray arrived a few minutes afterwards and attended to his injuries. It is a piece of hard luck in which all his friends will sympathise while wishing him a speedy return to the boats and the towpath.

The cricket match between Notts and Leicestershire was drawn. In the first innings Notts made 739 for seven wickets and declared. John Gunn put up 294 and his brother William made 139. The partnership of the Gunns produced 367—a record for the third wicket.

On the 27th ultimo, Middlesex beat Gloucester by an innings and 118 runs ; Essex beat Surrey by three wickets ; Sussex beat Lancashire by nine wickets ; and the match between Yorkshire and Worcestershire was drawn.

So Jamsetjee, the Bombay racket marker, has achieved the summit of his ambition, and in defeating Browne twice, established his claim to the English professional Racket Championship. Well done indeed, oh, worshipper of the Sun !

Our Bombay correspondent writes :—At the time of the despatch of my last budget of notes the rain was coming down in torrents, and it looked none too promising for the Aga Khan Hockey Tournament. Not a few were of opinion that the monsoon had burst, but it was only a storm, and at the present time the sun is shining brightly, and we appear to be in for another short spell of hot weather. But I will leave the weather to take care of itself, and confine myself to a few remarks about the hockey which we have seen during the past few days, and we have had a lot of it, for drawn games and games postponed on account of the rain have resulted in three matches having to be played each evening in order to make up for lost time. When I sent off my notes on Saturday afternoon, it was, as I mentioned above, raining heavily, and play seemed out of the question that evening. But despite the unsatisfactory atmospheric conditions, considerable progress was made, for all three games were decided. The best contested, and the one in which most interest was evinced, was that between the Cathedral Old Boys' "A" team and the North Staffordshire Regiment, both Bombay teams. The game was well contested throughout and eventually resulted in a victory for the Old Boys by four goals to one. The winners, who won the cup in 1901, have been putting in a lot of practice this year, and took the field in the pink of condition, and it was their superior combination which gave them the victory. Of course, both teams were undoubtedly handicapped by the wet state of the ground, but they showed excellent form, the Old Boys being the smarter on the ball, and short passing was a feature of their play. Ward, at back for the Old Boys, who, I fancy, created a good impression in the Calcutta Rugby Football Tournament last year, was in grand form, and frequently got his side out of difficulties, while Green and Gawthorne did splendid work in the forward line, the latter scoring all four goals. For the soldiers Murray and Wilkins showed any amount of dash, while Rogers, in goal, kept out many dangerous shots. The same evening the "B" team of the Cathedral School suffered a hollow defeat at the hands of the Buffs, who had come down from Poona, while the Royal Scots defeated the 21st Bombay Infantry by one goal, after a closely contested game.

During the whole of Sunday and the greater part of Monday it rained heavily, but cleared off sufficiently to permit of two out of the three games arranged being played off on the latter day. In neither game, however, was the play of a very high order, but this was, to a considerable extent, due to the wet state of the ground. On the Oval the Cathedral Old Boys' "A" team secured another victory, beating the Elphinstone College by three goals to one. Play throughout was in favour of the Old Boys, but the collegians made a very plucky fight. The winners were constantly on the attack, but their forwards seemed somewhat weak in front of goal, repeated chances of adding to the score being thrown away by wild shooting. In the other match the Buffs disposed of the Band team of the Oxfordshire Light Infantry by four goals to nil. The game was of a more even character than the score would indicate, the Oxfords making many hot attacks on their opponents' goal. The Buffs' back division was, however, very safe, and on each and every occasion the Oxfords were driven back without scoring. Tuesday's play was productive of a bit of a surprise, our old friends the Royal Scots, who had so sportingly come down from Kamptee, being knocked out by the Royal Artillery (Colaba) by three goals to nil. The Artillerymen put on a couple of goals before play had been in progress more than ten minutes. Then the Royal Scots woke up, and from then up to half-time they were constantly on the attack, but their shooting was weak, while the defence of the Colaba players was very safe. After half-time the visitors continued to have the best of the game, but could not score, while, just before the close, the R.A. again put through, and

JAMES PYMM.
TURF ACCOUNTANT,
5 Wellesley Place, Calcutta.
Established 1890.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BEER.
ASK FOR PABST BEER
Sub-Agents.
A. H. WHEELER & Co., Bombay.
SPENCER & Co., Ld., Madras.
MURRAY & Co., Ld., Lucknow.
G. F. Kellner & Co., Calcutta and Branches.
DAVENPORT & Co., Calcutta,
Sole Agents & Importers.

T. Assheton-Smith, M.R.C.V.S. (Lond.), SPECIALIST IN THE TREATMENT
OF
TROPICAL DISEASES
OF
THE HORSE AND DOG.
184, Dharamtala Street, Calcutta.

EROOM & CO.,
CALCUTTA.

The N.-W. Soap Co., Ld.,
CALCUTTA & MEERUT,
MANUFACTURE
Three Leading Lines in Soap.
MOLINE
PERFECT FOR THE TOILET.
ELYSIUM
BEST FOR HOUSEHOLD USE.
AURORA
FAMILY TOILET, CHEAP & GOOD
ALSO
BEST CANDLES.
ASK THE MERCHANT
With whom you deal for these Articles.

SPENCER'S CIGARS ARE OBTAINABLE AT MESSRS. BEWLAYS'.
Establishments 49, 74, 77 & 156, Strand, W.C.; 143, Cheapside, E.C.; 55, Queen Victoria Street, E.C.;
5, First Avenue Hotel Buildings, Holborn, W.C.; and 90B., Regent Street, London, W.

left the field winners by three goals to nil. The same evening the Bombay Educational Society beat the 62nd Battery R.F.A. by six goals to one. The concluding game in the second round and two games in the third round were played off on Wednesday. The former, between the 19th Bombay Infantry and the Ahmedabad Companies of the North Staffordshire Regiment, was won by the 19th by four goals to one, while, in the third round, the Byculla Education Society played a drawn game of one goal each with the 1st Infantry Hyderabad Contingent. The third game, and the one in which most interest was taken, was that between the 17th Bombay Infantry and the Cathedral Old Boys. The first half was very evenly contested, each side scoring a goal. Soon after the re-start the Infantry obtained the lead, but after this there was no holding the Old Boys, who put on three more goals, and won by four goals to two.

The semi-final round was entered upon on Thursday when the Cathedral Old Boys met the Royal Artillery (Colaba). Both teams had shown good form in the previous matches in which they had taken part, and a keen encounter was anticipated by the large number of spectators who surrounded the Oval, and in this they were not disappointed, for it proved to be one of the most interesting and exciting matches played in the Tournament. At the outset the soldiers attacked, but could not break through the Old Boys' defence. After a while they were driven back, and, after a scrimmage in front of goal, Greene sent into the net for the civilians, who, at half-time, crossed over with a lead of one goal to nil. The second moiety was very evenly contested, play being rapidly taken from one end of the ground to the other. The defence of both sides proved sound, however, and for a time there was no further scoring. But eventually the Old Boys added to their score as a result of a brilliant effort by Greene, who dribbled the whole length of the ground and scored amidst much enthusiasm. This was all the scoring, the Old Boys thus winning by two goals to nil. The following evening the Buffs, who got into the semi-final round as a result of a three to two victory over the 19th Bombay Infantry, met the team of the Byculla Education Society, and a well-contested game was witnessed, both sides doing their fair share of attacking. At half-time the Buffs held a lead of two goals to one, while in the second moiety each side scored a goal, the Buffs thus winning by three goals to two, and qualifying to meet the Old Boys in the final.

There was a very large attendance of spectators to witness the final yesterday, Saturday afternoon, and those who went in the anticipation of seeing a good game were in no way disappointed, for from start to finish play was of a very fast order, and full of excitement. Both sides were fairly confident, but the Old Boys were rather the better favourites. At the outset the Bombay players had rather the best of matters, but play had only been in progress twenty minutes when the Buffs broke through their opponents' defence and drew first blood. From now up to half-time the Old Boys made strenuous efforts to score, but failed to do so, and the Buffs crossed over with a lead of one goal to nil. The second moiety was productive of plenty of excitement, and good play was warmly cheered by the supporters of the respective teams, a large detachment of the Buffs, who had come down from Poona to cheer their comrades to victory, being especially demonstrative. Time after time the Bombay players made warm onslaughts on their opponents' goal, but the defence of the soldiers was sound, and when only five minutes remained for play it looked as if the Cup would again be taken to Poona—it was won last year by the Shropshire Light Infantry, who were then stationed at Poona, and who defeated the Old Boys. Four minutes before time, however, Ward found the net with a low shot, and made the score one all. There was no further scoring, despite the fact that extra time was played, and the match was consequently replayed on Monday.

The game on Monday resulted in another draw, neither side being able to score. In the replay on Tuesday evening, however, the Boys won by three goals to one. Up to half-time there was no score, but after the re-start the Boys scored two goals in rapid succession and continued the attack, but eventually were driven back and the ball put into the net. The excitement was intense when the holders made another hot onslaught on their opponents' goal. Ten minutes remained for play when they again found the net, but greatly disappointed were their supporters when off-side was given against them. A minute later the Boys rushed to the other end and scored the third goal, and won the Cup. The winners showed the better combination and thoroughly deserved their victory. The Cup was handed to the winners by Mrs. Riddell, and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Riddell made a neat speech paying a tribute to the sportsmanlike spirit in which the tournament had been conducted and congratulating the winners on their success.

The Committee who have in hand the arrangements for sending the team of native cricketers to England next year have just received a letter from the Secretary of the Yorkshire County Club, in which he says his Committee will have much pleasure in "guaranteeing your share of the gate proceeds (for a match to be played in Yorkshire) to be £100. My Committee wish your project success." Lord Hawke has also written to the Honorary Secretaries to the same effect. This is very satisfactory news, and the success of the tour is now practically assured. Then, His Highness the Maharajah of Bikanir has subscribed the sum of Rs. 1,000 towards the expenses of the tour, while a number of other subscriptons of substantial amounts have reached the Honorary Secretaries. There is one question in connection with the constitution of the team which will have to be considered shortly, and that is whether A. H. Mehta, the Parsee bowler, who is now attached to the ground staff at Old Trafford, can be included in the team. When he was invited to become a member of the team, there was nothing to show that he intended proceeding to England to become a professional cricketer. The native team for England will be a strictly amateur one, and Mehta's inclusion might cause a good deal of awk wardness both to the team and to himself. Personally speaking, I hope the Committee will find some way out of the difficulty, for the absence of Mehta would be a distinct loss to the team and his place would be difficult to fill. I think, I may say without fear of contradiction, that he is about the best native bowler we have; he had no small share in the crushing defeat which the Parsees inflicted on the Oxford University Authentics on the occasion of their visit to Bombay.

The proposed athletic contest between Oxford and Cambridge and Harvard and Yale has fallen through.

At Thorpe (Surrey), on 6th May, a professional named Kimber took five wickets with successive balls for Thorpe St. Mary's against Bracknell. Altogether he took 7 wickets for 12 runs.

Another Australian cricketer, J. A. Cuffe, has just arrived in England with the object of qualifying for Worcestershire. He is a left-handed medium-pace bowler, and is regarded as a player of great promise in Sydney, where he has been playing the last two seasons. He bats right-handed, and as he is now only twenty-three, bids to come along when he obtains experience in first-class cricket.

Mr. E. H. Miles has won the Amateur Tennis Championship for the fifth year in succession, beating Mr. Vane Pennell in the finals; the latter retired hurt in the third set.

Among the foreign crews at Henley this year will be representatives of the Union Boat Club of Boston, who have entered for the Grand Challenge Cup.

Can there be any truth in the rumour that the Stock Exchange walk has fired the Calcutta brokers with a desire to show them in the old country that we can still keep our end up out here, and that a walk is being organised from the Outram Statue to the Royal Exchange bar?

Tom Burrows, the club swinging crank, has been at it again. Recently, at Capetown, he swung Indian clubs continuously for forty hours fifteen minutes. And what of it? This monotonous business only testifies to his powers of endurance: it must have been a terribly wearisome show, and if endurance is the only thing worth noting, why we've seen a half-starved punkah coolie put up almost as good a performance.

Boxing is booming in South Africa just now. Big purses are plentiful, but the public want to see a good show for their money, and therefore the "fake" artist is at a discount.

A motor cyclist in expressing his complete satisfaction and confidence with the Dunlop motor tyres fitted to his machine, states his experience in an interesting letter to the Dunlop Co. It bears out exactly what we have often asserted—the wonderful durability of the tyres made by the company. He states:—"I have now covered 5,730 miles on your 2in. motor tyres with only one puncture, due to a French nail. The tyres are as good as ever, and I am sure they will take me comfortably another 5,000 at least. On my next machine I shall insist on having 2in. Dunlop motor tyres, as there is no tyre like them." This letter speaks volumes for the wearing qualities of Dunlops.

All motorists and cyclists have at various times had encounters with dogs, and the following story describes a little experience of this kind. A driver of a motor-car had the misfortune to run over a fine fox-terrier, and, at once pulling up, he went back to the apparent owner, expressed his regret at the occurrence, and gave him a sovereign. Then he drove off while the man observed: "That's what I call a real gentleman. Now, I wonder whose dog that was!"

The Poona Boxing Tournament was a remarkable success in every particular: a full report of the concluding days' proceedings appears further on.

The Calcutta Referees' Association held a general meeting at the C.V.R. Head-quarters on Monday, Mr. M. Remfry occupying the chair. The Rules of the Association, which had been drawn up by the Committee, and which will be found in our Football columns, were read and passed. Mr Pritchard announced that Mr. H. S. Ashton had consented to be President of the Association and he was duly elected. Mr. Pritchard also proposed Mr. G. W. H. Batho as Honorary Secretary of the Association. Mr. E. E. Rope seconded the proposition, and Mr. Batho was unanimously elected, the meeting closing with the usual vote of thanks to the chair.

The Ladies' Golf Championship of 1903, played at Portrush, went all in favour of the Irishwomen, who opened the meeting by inflicting a severe defeat on their English sisters in a team match ten a side and who subsequently contributed three out of the four competitors in the semi-final round of the Championship in the persons of Miss Rhona Adair, who eventually regained the laurels which she has worn before, Miss Walker-Leigh, and Miss M. E. Stuart; the fourth was Miss F. Macbeth of the Lytham and St. Ann's Club, a sister, we understand, of Mr. Norman Macbeth, junior, who is so well known as a golfer both out here and at home. She made a most gallant fight and it was only bad putting which caused her downfall before Miss Walker-Leigh, and that not until two extra holes had been played.

Next mail will bring us detailed news of the Open Amateur Golf Championship. There were no less than 142 competitors, an easy record, but one which necessitated no less than five days' play, and it seems a great pity that so many players who have not the least chance of winning are allowed to enter. Some system of a qualifying competition by medal play, such as was introduced four years ago with success in our Indian Amateur Championship, should surely be tried with a view to limiting the numbers and time. All the amateurs of note have entered with the exception of Mr. Charles Hutchings, the holder of the championship, who has been laid aside by rheumatism for some time past and is, to the universal regret, debarred thereby from defending his title. Looking to his intimate knowledge of the Maribield course and the consistently good golf which he has been playing for a long time, Mr. Robert Maxwell must certainly have started favourite, though report has it that "Johnnie" Ball is once again at the very top of his best game, as proved by his recent fine score at Holylake.

A bicycle polo match was played at Bangalore on Tuesday between Bangalore and Madras, the home team winning by four goals to three. Of the visitors Flannaghan was most prominent, while Oakley was the most conspicuous of the Bangalore team.

FLOR DE SUMATRA
SPENCER & Co MADRAS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE
DEALERS.
TORPEDSO.

SOLE WHOLESALE
AGENTS
in CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY
OAKES & Co.
FLOR DE SUMATRA
SPENCER & Co MADRAS

General Notes.

THE dance given by Their Excellencies the Viceroy and Lady Curzon at Viceregal Lodge last Thursday was a great success. There were nearly three hundred people present.

The Simla News says it is not improbable that His Excellency the Viceroy may run down to Calcutta in July—a very pleasant month here—in connection with the Victoria Memorial Institute.

Those people in Calcutta who find solace in the reflection that they are not so badly off as somebody else, may take heart when they read that the temperature recorded at Jacobabad last week was 121 degrees.

We have to thank Messrs. T. E. Bevan & Co., of Calcutta, for a copy of their recently issued special pianoforte catalogue, a well printed publication and one through which a musician will glance with pleasure.

All anxiety concerning the water-supply of Simla has been removed by the recent heavy showers. Sportsmen, however, did not welcome the rain, as the races were greatly interfered with and the first day of the cricket match between Simla and the Outstations was completely spoiled.

Dr. R. S. Smith, medical officer of the City of Corinth, lying in the Kidderpore Docks, was found dead in his cabin last Friday. The post-mortem examination showed that death was due to heat apoplexy. Just a week before Dr. Smith granted a certificate of death of the ship's carpenter from heat apoplexy.

His many friends will hear with great regret of the death of Mr. W. Cooper, one of Karachi's leading brokers, who died at Quetta on the 27th ultimo of heat apoplexy. Mr. Cooper was very popular in Karachi, especially among the mercantile community, with whom he had been connected since 1879.

Mr. W. B. Cotton, C.S., Joint Magistrate of Agra, was bitten by a dog on the 28th ultimo. He was sitting smoking when the brute snapped at him and inflicted a severe bite on the hand. Mr. Cotton immediately made a rough cautery with the live end of his cigar before applying other remedies, and having reason to believe the dog was mad, has gone up to Kasauli for treatment.

Some dine by music and like it, others work by music and like that also. At the Ardath Tobacco Company's factory in Worship Street, where many girls are employed, the proprietor, desiring to promote the pleasure of his employés, has provided a large gramophone, which at set hours discourses pleasant music in the work-rooms, to the keen enjoyment of the girls. The proprietor finds that the girls perform their duties as well and as quickly with the music as they did without it.

More Bombay jerry building! On the 31st ultimo a brand new house, to which the finishing touches were being given, collapsed, killing four people and severely injuring several others. These premises, close to the Crawford Market, were known as the Sitaram Buildings and the lower rooms were occupied by the "Windsor Bar" in which several Europeans were refreshing themselves at the time of the fatality. A gunner, a British sailor, a Parsee and a Mahomeden were killed on the spot, a bombardier, who was entombed for 2½ hours, had a leg and an ankle broken, and others received extensive wounds and cuts. Of course Bombay is scandalised: they are quite used to the collapse of old buildings, but this is more than they can stand, and they cry aloud for enquiry and punishment.

One of the popular journals has started a crusade against bridge, which, it says, has seized not only married men, but married women and young girls. Archdeacon Sinclair says: "The playing of bridge for high stakes has become a grievous evil, and from all I hear it is seriously on the increase. The present period reminds one of the days of the Regency, when women of high position remained indoors, throughout the day, with blinds drawn, playing faro. Many men, myself among them, absolutely refuse to play bridge with women. Women have been known to stand up when they have lost three rubbers, and hysterically accuse some unfortunate male player of cheating in front of a room full of people." He adds: "In the clubs, which were never card-playing clubs, they are playing bridge with higher stakes than ever. In country houses life is becoming impossible."

London Week by Week.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Friday, 15th May 1903.

MESSRS. RAVEN HILL and Sheldon Williams' exhibition of "Durbar and Indian Life" pictures in Bond Street deserves more patronage than it was getting on the day of my visit, for some of the drawings is uncommonly clever. Neither of the artists are particularly strong in horseflesh: the best horse pictures are those touching polo, and one of these by Mr. Sheldon Williams is admirable. The drawings that most appealed to me are Mr. Raven Hill's types of character. His "Thing of Beauty at the Aden Club," a mincing, smiling negro is very happy: to come nearer your address "Bombay City Men" is full of repressed humour: so is the "Official Photographer" at the Durbar: but the pick of the lot is the portrait of the Khitmagar at Laurie's, Agra; one of the cleverest sketches of native character I remember. In their fidelity to life they recall the illustrations in that once notorious book Curry and Rice, but are conceived in a more indulgent spirit and lack the cruelty of the Curry and Rice pictures while possessing all their point. Mr. Sheldon Williams has been caught by the colour and parade of the Durbar and deals for the most part in representative groups: many of his drawings are remarkable for their breadth and boldness of treatment: his choice of subjects is good and covers such diversity of spectacles as the parade of Mutiny veterans and the Alwar State carriage with its elephant four-in-hand.

* * * * * *

My critic on the hearth does not share my opinion as to the praises due to these pictures, and I was going to say, in extenuation, that she has never been East of Suez, but it occurs to me that her taste in pictures never does agree with mine, for which reason, being sensible people, we rarely now go to exhibitions or galleries together. This was an exceptional matter, as she thought my knowledge of the gorgeous East might be serviceable to her. As I said, we did not agree: and walked home on opposite sides of the street exchanging bitter personalities across the traffic.

* * * * * *

London is crammed: and I doubt not will be more crammed than ever now the Court is returning from Edinburgh. The congestion of street traffic seems to grow worse every season, but thank heaven (or the L.C.C.) the street widening process at Knightsbridge is practically finished, and as soon as the repaving is done the jam there will be relieved. Writing of traffic recalls the fact that a Parliamentary Committee is investigating two Bills touching the re-establishment of steamer traffic on the Thames. A private company presents one Bill and our brave L.C.C. the other. The L.C.C. witnesses are quite sure that Londoners are anxious to see the river utilised and would not mind if the Council ran steamers at a loss involving an extra half-penny rate for the next four or five years. Speaking as a ratepayer I certainly think it desirable that there should be a frequent service of passenger steamers on the river to relieve the streets; but I much prefer that the contingent loss should be undertaken by private enterprise and not by the rates. The L.C.C. has not managed the business entrusted to to it so well that I clamour for enlargement of its responsibilities. It has a net debt of nearly 29 millions as it is, notwithstanding the steady increase in both rates and rateable area.

* * * * * *

Really the amount of money in this country is enough to make one ill—when one hasn't got any. Thirty millions were wanted for the Transvaal loan. Three per cent. if you please. The Bank of England kept its fist closed and was slow to lend: and yet the thirty millions was subscribed 39 times over, 1,174 millions being offered! I am willing to concede that every one—every single financier and speculator asked for three times as much loan stock as he had money to pay for; and yet even then you have enough cash at call to pay off the National Debt or very nearly. The incident is full of morals: you can draw your own: the one that presents itself to my jaundiced vision is that three per cent. of unimpeachable security must be a great deal harder to get than it ought to be in a country like this.

* * * * * *

Mr. Justice Byrne gave judgment in the Cavendish vs. Strutt case on Wednesday. The settlement executed by that rather light-headed young explorer is set aside, the Judge feeling satisfied that he did not properly understand what he was doing. There is some rather hard hitting all round in the judgment: Mr. Cavendish is told plainly that though he is a fool, he is not such a fool as he tried to appear in Court. Major Strutt is admonished that while it was clearly desirable for Mr. Cavendish to make over control of the remains of his property to other hands, a man who makes use of the ascendancy he has gained over a mind weak in business matters, to secure large advantages to himself appears in a somewhat shady light. Dr. Ranger, the blind Solicitor, who took instructions about the deed of settlement from the designing Major, is told that he failed in his duty. A singular and significant feature of that deed was that neither Dr. Ranger nor Major Strutt understood its provisions, but were quite certain that Mr. Cavendish did!

* * * * * *

The planchette, table-rapping, spirit-raising feature of the affair which so tickled the public fancy were weighed at what I venture to think exactly their true value by the Judge, who said that his view of the case would have been the same had no such feature existed. He regarded the spiritualistic business, at which Major Strutt connived, as instrumental in enabling that Friend of Wealthy South to strengthen his influence over Mr. Cavendish. Of Mrs. Strutt the Judge charitably held she honestly believed in the silly jugglery she conducted. So it ends. I have been hearing numerous tales about Mr. Cavendish during the last few weeks: he exemplifies the truth of the adage concerning a fool and his money. When a young man keeps open house in chambers in Piccadilly and doesn't even know the names of the chance acquaintances he picks up and takes home with him: when he jumps at any wild cat scheme for making or spending his money: when he is at pains to advertise his indifference to expenditure, his property by the most natural of processes finds new owners.

* * * * * *

The case in its "spiritualistic" aspects recalls the amazing suit of Lyon vs. Home, which occupied Vice-Chancellor Giffard for nine or ten days in 1868. I was not interested in law cases myself in those days, but an elderly barrister gave us a sketch of it at dinner last night, moved thereto by the Cavendish and Strutt case. It seems that a rich widow, Mrs. Lyon, was so profoundly impressed with the performances and gifts of a table-turning spiritualist named Daniel Home that she made him a present of £30,000, that was Home's story: but it transpired in evidence that he, by his supernatural talents, had rapped up the spirit of Lyon deceased and Lyon deceased had notified his anxiety that his relict should provide for Home in a substantial way. Obedient Mrs. Lyon provided in manner aforesaid. Afterwards, in a lucid interval, she wished she hadn't. And matter of fact lawyers were entrusted with the task of extracting that thirty thousand from the pockets of Home. The astonishing feature of the business was the defence made: among forty witnesses who bore testimony to the genuineness of Home's telephonic connection with the spirit world were men respected in all departments of life. Judge Giffard, however, had his own views about the affair, and remorselessly crabbed the proceedings of the eminent "medium" as mischievous nonsense designed to delude fools on the one hand and to encourage needy adventurers on the other.

* * * * * *

Well done the Godalming Committee of the Surrey Hospital Nursing and Convalescent Home! To repair a defective Bank balance they held a Grand Imaginary Concert last Monday night selling tickets for real half crowns and shillings. It was hardly complimentary to the local talent, but the coin came in as freely for the Grand Imaginary as it had done for the real concert held a week or two earlier. I can understand it myself. I would always pay to be let off attendance at an amateur concert.

PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

OBTAINABLE .. FROM .. ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

GOLD MOHURS.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS in CALCUTTA: Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

It has been a busy week again in the dramatic world. Saturday night saw the Prince of Wales open again, piece musical comedy The Schoolgirl; book by Henry Hamilton and Paul Potter. Lyrics by Charles Taylor, music by Leslie Stuart. The Schoolgirl is going to be a success: about that I have no possible, probable shadow of doubt: it is pretty to look at, the music is bright and catchy if not strikingly original, the dialogue is clever: and there is dash and go about the piece. Cicely Marchmont (Marie Studholme) is the Schoolgirl: we find her in the garden of the convent school in despair because "her people" have fixed the date of her marriage to Sir Ormesby St. Leger, rich middle-aged baronet, who doesn't care for her and for whom she doesn't care. She wants her penniless artist lover, Edgar Verney, who has gone amissing somehow. Enter Lilian Leigh (Miss Edna May) with news that Edgar has sold a picture to Peter Overend (Mr J. A. Warden), stockbroker. Lilian undertakes to ascertain Edgar's whereabouts from Overend and (Act II) is mistaken for a new typewriter. This capacity she adopts and thereby discovers that Overend is swindling her own father and Cicely's father, and with an adroitness and business capacity only found behind the footlights manipulates types and telegrams, etc., so as to make the fortunes of the two papas and of Sir Ormesby and Edgar to boot.

*** *** ***

Sir Ormesby, who is only marrying Cicely because his friends want him to, accommodating party that he is, is "switched off" Cicely by the attractive Lilian to clear the way. In Act III we find Edgar surrounded by pupils in his studio: the pupils get tired of work and decide to have a dance, which is uncommonly well arranged and winds up the play with effect, everybody being made happy who deserves it according to the agreeable convention of unreal life. It was not very clear why a lot of smart girls should be skipping in and out of Overend's office; but if you want all things tangible and proper in musical comedy, you'd better stay at home. Edna May had the lion's share of work and applause: Marie Studholme's part was small, but she did what she had to do well: Miss Violet Cameron as the Mother Superior had the great reception of an old favourite. The men were all uncommonly good: Mr. G. P. Huntly as the accommodating Sir Ormesby gave us a real creation. Mr. Warden as Overend also claims mention.

*** *** ***

It is a little difficult to know how to take Mr. Martin Harvey's conception of Napoleon in The Exile, which play, by Messrs. Lloyd Osbourne and Austin Strong, appeared at the Royalty on Saturday. The scene is, of course, Longwood and friends of the Emperor are plotting his escape, without his knowledge. I suppose everyone who has read anything about Napoleon has his own conception of him: and all I can say is that the author's Napoleon is not mine. Granted that the exile lay at St. Helena "with banked fires," so to speak, the fires were still there, surely! Mr. Martin Harvey Napoleon's fires are black out: he has no more spirit, no more symptom of repressed potentialities—there is no more of the caged lion resigned (wish to goodness I could say what I mean) than there is about a bankrupt parson in an almshouse. He is appreciative of civilities, polite to and about women (shade of the first consul!) and he plays prettily at drilling children—a sort of Napoleon pussy cat.

*** *** ***

Part of the house liked this kind of Napoleon very much: Sir Hudson Lowe (who doesn't come on at all) was the villain and his petty tyrannies (oh, so petty!) were boo'ed and The Exile's washily pathetic speeches, for which the original would have kicked him round the island, won murmur of sympathetic applause tempered by damp sniffings. Here lies the clue to the moulding of Martin Harvey Napoleon; it appeals to the sympathies of the upper circle and regions about, and makes naught of mere history. If Mr. Barlow had stepped out of Sandford and Merton and pointed morals over M. H. Napoleon's sick bed, it had been quite in harmony. The circumstance that Mr. Martin Harvey makes up into an uncommonly life-like Napoleon, according to accepted standards, only aggravates the offence. To my thinking, Fletcher, the enthusiastic young soldier who worships the demi-god whom he is set to guard, was the man of the play. Mr. Herbert Sleath scored heavily in this character, and his naturalness was the more striking by the side of the leading part. Mr. Henry Vibart's Bertrand was full of dignity and had a satisfying pre-Victorian air about it.

*** *** ***

The interest of Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace produced at Wyndham's on Tuesday lies largely in its authorship: we sadly need recruits to the ranks of playwrights and Mr. Hubert Henry Davies is a young playwright and promising. His dialogue is full of humour, never forced; the author has a strong sense of comedy and his characters, his women very particularly, are created with a skill that indicates something like genius. In a word Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace is a wonderfully good play for a first attempt and Mr. Davies may safely reckon on a hearing in future. The weak spot is the plot. Mrs. Gorringe's necklace was stolen by young Cairns and suspicion turned upon Captain Mowbray, rich, blameless, Bayard-Galahad. Captain Mowbray saw Cairns hide the stolen necklace, but is silent. Cairns is his friend. Bus. Nothing will induce Mowbray to open his mouth. To seal his lips tighter when on the verge of arrest, Isabel Kirke, adored of Mowbray, marries Cairns privately. After this Mowbray's lips of course are corked and double sealed.

*** *** ***

Mowbray is arrested: whereupon Cairns writes a full confession, urges Isabel to marry Mowbray and goes away to kill himself: thus the play ends as satisfactorily as you can expect. It is a pity Mr. Davies felt it incumbent upon him to have a plot at all: still more that he used one so over at the knees, sprung in the sinews, so spavined and worn out. Nobody believes in Mowbray's guilt and there is no mystery: that is the weakness. As I said before the characterisation and dialogue make the play: Miss Marie Illington as the silly, vain Mrs. Jardine, Miss Mary Moore as the vulgar and sillier Mrs. Gorringe and Mr. Alfred Bishop as Colonel Jardine are inimitable. Miss Mabel Terry Lewis as Isabel Kirke had the strongest acting part and right well she sustained it. Sir Charles Wyndham was Mowbray and made the most of him; but it is essentially a Wyndham part, such as we know well.

*** *** ***

When the Veronica mutiny affair was brought to light through the instrumentality of the cook, I ventured to opine that the story lacked the ring of truth and that no addition to the annals of crime on the high seas was in the future. I am sorry to say I was quite wrong. The story was true and even worse in its details than that cook's tale first made it appear. The criminals were three Germans, of whom one Rau was ringleader: their accomplice, Thomas, turned King's evidence and bore out the main features of the story told originally by the negro cook. After the captain, officers and two of the crew had been murdered, some under circumstances of peculiar savagery, Rau made up a story to explain the rôle he intended the survivors should adopt as castaways: and two more of the crew who could not get the tale by rote were shot. It was the feebleness of the tale framed by Rau that provoked suspicion in the first place; the men of the Brunswick who picked them up, asked questions of course and Rau had not foreseen all the enquiries nor was he able to explain how the survivors had escaped with all their personal property in a newly-caulked boat from a burning wreck. These were a few of the points that excited doubts in the minds of the rescuers, apart from the cook's prompt request to be given a bunk away from his fellow "survivors." It seemed improbable that men with a rope round their necks should depend on so feeble a tale as the cook disclosed with the facts. The satisfactory sentence of death is the result.

*** *** ***

Piccadilly was crowded last evening about afternoon tea time. The attraction was the arrival of the motor cars which had run from Glasgow on the "non-stop" trials which have excited so much attention. It was not possible to see more of the competitors than enabled one to observe that they and their cars stood in most urgent need of washing. The G. N. R. is good enough for me, thanks.

ONLOOKER.

In these days of fancy prices for yearlings it may come as a surprise to many of our readers to learn, or perhaps we should say be reminded, of the fact that when Galopin was sent up for sale as a yearling at Mr. Blenkiron's place, Prince Batthyany was able to secure him under the hammer for 520gs. It was on John Dawson's advice that the colt was bought by the Prince, and how amply his judgment was vindicated has been recorded in Turf history.

Shikar.

AN EKA FIRE.

WE were not to go into recess quarters without further experiences of the exigencies of jungle life, as about a week before our sojourn in the Mymensingh terai terminated, dense volumes of smoke sweeping up from the south and south-west one day about noon, told us the usual eka fires had commenced. The damp character of our immediate surroundings rendered the camp secure enough, though we had to reckon upon a possible stampede of animals fleeing to the forest-clad hills, but embayed as we were there was little fear of our being unable to turn them in the right direction. Lest a spark should set light to the grass roofs of the "lean-to" we covered all in with fresh palmyra leaves—toko as the Bodis call these. Here and there where the eka strips ran right up to the foot of the slopes, the light brush-wood on the steep sides of the latter affording means of escape for what scared creatures were in the ocean of flaming grass. Unluckily, it is these vias that also furnish the connection by which the annual fires spread from plain to hill denuding the plateaux of their verdure for a couple of months, besides bringing forth the growth of coarse herbage that successive burning engenders. An isolated teelah well in the terai, but yet high enough to enable us to see over the low forest between it and the flaming bheel land, gave us a coign of vantage overlooking the avenues of escape mentioned. Jack, we knew, who lurks on the outskirts of the eka would hie him off to the ditches and jungle patches near the bustees at the first crackle, or else seek refuge in the sedges and kuggra immediately bordering the water, amid which, now and again, an inquisitive head popped up to see what all the row was about.

The sight was grand, as the wall of flame full 30 feet in height swept on in a convex fan-like form forcing twos and threes of swamp deer out into the open, together with sundry pigs, but none of the larger beasts were caught napping; what buffaloes there may possibly have been, were either safe under water with the exception of the snouts, and though the men averred they could see the occasional protrusion of horns we failed to discern them. We counted seven parties of bheelwah that ran the gauntlet between the eka on fire and the next belt as yet untouched, but they crossed far out of range, so we concerned ourselves with watching the grounds along the hill base. A couple of mutna showed for a minute or two on different spurs, pausing to look back, but instinct, or former experience, led them to continue their retreat with all haste; doubtless had we taken up a position on the hills themselves many more animals would have been spotted. As the fire approached the forest proper, it was pitiable to notice the number of fowl that fled before the dense vapour, which rolling up into the branches of the trees must have suffocated hundreds of young birds in the nests, and by forcing the ground game from their eggs caused similar destruction among them also; more mature chicks, though escaping the present danger, were compelled to congregate in such circumscribed areas as to fall easy prey to their several enemies, it being too early in the season for them to take wing; the parent birds being obliged to abandon their broods. Sambhur as a rule do not lurk in eka while forest is available, and though the soaring of the conflagration sent them scampering about in the underwood we did not notice many break up the spurs. One stag proved an easy prize as he trotted past our stand, and had we not been in too great a hurry to secure him the three hinds and one six or seven months' batcha, who formed his family, could have been had as well, but, scared at the call of the leader or catching sight of us on the knoll, they wheeled round into the forest ere we could get a shot. Considering the number in the neighbourhood I was astonished at neither seeing nor hearing elephants, so presume they have some occult means of judging the proper time to recess.

Inasmuch as the fire in the plains was concerned all was over in a couple of hours, but the flames were making headway up the spurs. As far as the eye could reach what had a few hours before been a grand sea of grass surmounted with the ever-nodding plumes (white or the delicate pink) naught remained but an immense expanse of grey ashes, covered with entanglement of interlaced burnt stems; the mature grass was of course fully consumed, but the recent green growth remained and we could now fully realise the extent of the asylums the water fowl find in these parts; the number of pools seemed to be doubled. We had to allow full twenty-four hours to let the heat subside ere venturing on the ground, a jaunt rewarded by two head of horns whose owners had evidently been caught in a denser network than usual, their charred remains being duly appreciated by our men; we did not explore very extensively for the exertion of traversing such a massed network, to say nothing of being half choked by the fine ash that rose at each step made the exertion hardly worth while. Our chance came the fourth morning after the fire, when just at dawn, by sneaking along the base of the hills, we got two sambhur and a bheelwah buck, who the salt in the ashes had enticed out of cover. As the last was grassed in his endeavour to gain the wood we heard the crashing of some heavier animal, but though making all haste to get round a

Flor de Sumatra Brand
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

BEACONSFIELDS

Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

jutting out bluff failed to see what it was. It was not one of the cat tribe, as on these occasions and until the ground is thoroughly cooled they take good care to keep their distance. An unlucky porcupine had come to grief by running into a cul de sac between two rocks, where probably he'd have been safe enough had not a rotten limb of a tree, all aglow, fallen in the entrance; the poor wretch being half roasted was regarded as a grand prize by the youngster who lighted on him.

Continuing our trudge till rather late in the afternoon we had taken no notice of the weather, till the rumbling of distant thunder over in the direction of Tura warned us to hurry back to shelter, for though the shikari may make light of a simple drenching there are other considerations to be taken into account when the elements are on the rampage in these parts. If you brave it out in the open you find that the hail runs to the size of pigeon eggs, so unless provided with the stout cane shield called a katrap, which by the way does not always prove efficient, the next best thing is to take to the water if near at hand and deep enough: a good thick puggree, which should be invariably warm, will protect the head; in fact, take a lesson from the beasts of the wallows—the buffa'o. It is hardly needful to dwell on the danger of resorting to tree trunks for refuge, the many riven stumps around forming ominous enough warning of the consequences. In the forest itself though from the number of trees the chances of being struck down are minimised, so thoroughly impregnated are the rocks with iron of one kind or the other, that they are frequently shattered as if by artificial blasting and there is no reason to doubt the truth of reported injuries from stone splintering, so unless the roamer has some urgent inducement to tramp about these parts till late in the season, he should vacate ere that for north-westers set in. When the bheels fill up a bit and the streams are navigable you're quite safe in a covered dingy, bar accidents incidental to navigation. Our necessary business being completed I decided to get into more civilised quarters to bid farewell to as good a camping ground in the back slums as need be desired, marching through the almost interminable orange groves to the eastward, to Bolagunge on the Terriah river, breaking the journey at Shella for one night; in the middle of which we were roused by a gentle reminder that the regions below the earth had not yet settled down from the disturbance of six years since.

PHEAOW.

A LEOPARD AND A LAD.

IT was in the hot weather some time in the eighties that I was holding early morning court at Nilphamari. Into the court room bounced an excited villager and shouted that they had shut up his only son in a house with a bagh, so I promptly shut up the learned pleader, who, in conjunction with the flip flap of the punkah, had been for half an hour drousing me into stealthy but soothing naps. We all woke up with a start. I believe the pleader was more than half asleep himself and the following order was entered in my diary: The court having just received information of the hiding place of a notorious bad character adjourns in order to arrange for his arrest. The place was but three miles off and I was soon on my pony and with gun in hand I went for it all I was worth. John Gilpin was not in it. I have never pretended to be able to witch the world with feats of horsemanship. Often when out with hounds and I take a jump I do not despise a momentary seat somewhere between my horse's withers and its ears; but I never come off, I shake gaily back into the pigskin. This system of riding has at times been commented on by my fair friends, who may have been behind me at the time. They never did it twice though. It generally went something like this: as we sat on our nags watching the jack being worried up slides Mrs. C. and with a wink and a broad grin to the others remarks:

"What a lovely bit of sky that was just over your saddle as we took that last jump Mr. B.," to whom I answer: "Now you know it was not the sky you were admiring Mrs. C." Result: we promptly set off to find another jack, while Mr. C. has to get down and tighten up his saddle girths. Now where the Dickens have I got to? . . . . Well when subsequently I came to look at what I had got over, and the pace of that ride I decided to keep it dark from my Saidpur friends. They knew the country and would raise eyebrows of sorrowful reproach. That they might dub me one of the offspring of Ananias, I could have stood. It had happened before and so was a mere fleabite; but I greatly feared that this time they might swear I was the reincarnate father of that notorious gentleman and my natural modesty shrank from such an honour as being considered worthy of being styled the founder of such an illustrious line.

However to continue the story. I soon got to the village and found a crowd at a cautious distance from a hut with a closed and barred tatti door, or jhamp. Getting off my nag and loading my gun I went up to it. I was told that the hut was divided into two, the dividing tatti wall being only about seven feet high and not going right up into the roof. The animal had bounced in at the open door, flooring, without hurting, a lad who was standing at the entrance, and scrambling over the partition wall. Luckily the door connecting the two rooms being closed and padlocked, it had crept between some sacks of ginger, and had remained there without further sign. With more sense than one would have given them credit for, both the boy and the crowd had it seemed remained quite quiet after the first low hurried entreaties of the boy to be allowed out. Very quietly I had the fastenings undone, and the door gently opened while I stood guard. When the lad, who had been crouching close beside it half crawled, half tumbled out, he promptly, strange to say, began to vomit. We soon fastened the door up again and going round to the end of the house I had Mr. Spots pointed out to me through a small hole in the tatti. I had just caught sight of two green eyes watching me from the dark when she promptly charged the place I was trying to get my gun barrels through, then she got on the ginger bags, scrambled over the partition wall and sat down in the corner of the larger room, there I got a fair aim at her and laid her out with one shot in the shoulder.

It appears that very early in the morning Mrs. Spots had been seen to seize a small cow close to the village. On being frightened off it she had retreated to a small patch of grass near by. This the men of the village set fire to and being thus forced to break cover and there being no no other jungle on that side of the village, she had made straight for the houses, I suppose with the idea of merely passing through to the jungle beyond. However that may be, into the village she darted, followed by a crowd of men. Not liking this attention and being headed off by some people coming the opposite way with fish nets, she made a bolt for the first place of refuge she could see, this happened to be an open door; and in she bolted knocking down a boy who was just inside, but not so much as drawing a pin's point of blood from him. Before he knew where he was or could pick himself up, the tatti door had been clapped to and fastened, and the villagers being too afraid to open it again when they found out a lad had been shut up, had sent for me. It was not the only leopard I have been called to shoot in a house.

POLITYE.

Fishing.

COMMON-SENSE IN FISHING.

THE success of an angler depends largely on the amount of common sense exercised.

The hunter when in quest of game exerts all his cunning which consists of careful forethought coupled with good judgment. If the game is wary, he takes into consideration the direction of the wind and how he can best approach with the least possible noise or lure the game to him without being seen until the quarry is within range.

It is quite probable that fish are possessed of as much instinct or intelligence regarding their self-preservation as most birds and animals: certainly they are as quick to discern any unnatural movement and take instant fright, and when in this state they have no idea of taking food.

It is very rarely the case that the angler gives the proper attention and careful consideration necessary to get within fishing range. The two senses which are most prominent in the organization of fishes are those of feeling and seeing. Most anglers of experience take heed of the latter sense, but the former as a rule is not given due consideration. A heavy jar of any kind in the vicinity of the bank of lake or stream is communicated to the water, and fish will frequently take greater alarm from an unseen disturbance than something that can be detected by vision, as in the one case the nature of the foe is unknown, while in the other their instinct has taught them the ways and means to best protect themselves from threatening danger. While it is undoubtedly true that fish will become accustomed to the presence of an angler if he remain quiet, and will return to their usual quarters after a time, still, much time is lost through lack of careful approach before they will again resume feeding. The skill of an angler in hooking or landing a fish or the fineness of equipment is of no avail provided they are not in a state of perfect tranquility when the lure is presented.

In the art of angling there is scarcely a limit to the amount of skill that can be displayed in all the details necessary for success. It matters little how much time or study one has devoted to the subject, there is constantly some new phase presenting itself or something of an interesting nature to be learned. In the preparation of selection of the tackle, the skill of one angler over another is really a question of common sense. Eliminate all the scarecrows possible, have your tackle as fine as you can and answer the purpose: give the fish credit for at least enough intelligence not to take anything which exhibits the fraud too prominently; always keep as close to nature as the component parts of your tackle will permit; and use the same caution you would in creeping on a flock of ducks around a bend in the river or any other game that one has to excercise great care and forethought to outwit.

It is a common saying with many anglers that they can sit all day with rod in hand in perfect contentment without getting even a nibble. While there is no question but that to the overwrought mind the refreshing breezes and delightful scenery is invigorating and restful, after months of hard labour amidst the humdrum and clatter of city life, and the sense of relaxation is more than pleasant to contemplate, nevertheless, the enjoyment must be infinitely more keen, and both mind and body receive greater benefit when a feeling of enthusiasm pervades the system and a desire to excel in this, one of the noblest of sports.

I will venture the assertion that even among the most indifferent, the sensation of a sharp tug on the line and the bend of the rod will set the blood tingling and awaken the dormant energy to a strong desire and determination to win the fight if possible, and land the fish which is bravely and heroically putting forth all his strength and resources to escape from his unknown and unseen foe. When the capture has been effected and the beauty lies before you, one cannot help but admire the pluck and endurance of the vanquished, and almost wish that he had been the victor.

The common sense fisherman will tell you that when fishing from a boat he throws his bait as far as possible in order to avoid being seen, and also that the conditions surrounding the fish may not be disturbed; he will tell you that he endeavours to present the lure in a life-like and appetizing manner, and give it a motion approaching nature to the best of his ability. The tackle will be fine, and the hook so well concealed that the fish sees nothing but the bait. Some time ago while reading a work on angling, the name and author of which I cannot now recall, I extracted the following, which I jotted down in my note book, and as it so aptly illustrates the common-sense principle on which I am writing, I herewith reproduce it:

"By observation you will soon know that you must not show yourself to the intended capture, and therefore you must not be too close to the water's edge; if it is necessary for casting your fly, you must make yourself as little visible as possible."

After all these points have been taken into consideration it will be seen that while skill in the manipulation of rod and reel is desirable, and only long years of experience can attain this, that the most important factor and the one which was responsible and contributed most to the weight of the basket on the homeward march was allopathic doses of horse sense applied when and where most needed.—Shooting and Fishing.

Correspondence.

All MSS. should be addressed to the Editor.
The writer's name and address are required with every communication.
Letters and enquiries from anonymous correspondents will not receive attention.
Under no circumstances are questions answered by post.
Correspondents whose questions, remain unanswered, will please understand that we are unable to give them the information asked for.

IDENTIFICATION OF SPECIES.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—My dogs some time ago turned out of a small cave an animal I take to be some sort of badger. I bagged it, but unfortunately the skin has gone to pieces, so I am unable to send it down for your inspection; but here is a description of it:—Length about 3 feet (somewhat less), tail 4 inches, snout pointed, small ears tipped black, grey body on top, and grey forehead, black underneath, black face and muzzle, long whitish claws something like a bear's.

I send the skin of a pigeon I shot the other day; will you very kindly identify it for me.

H. S. T.

[The animal is evidently the Indian Ratel, Mellivora indica. The pigeon is the speckled Wood Pigeon, Alsocomus Hodgsoni.—ED.]

TWO SPORTING QUERIES.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—Will you or any of your readers be kind enough to furnish me with the following information and oblige:—

(a) What are the big game shooting fields of Bengal, Behar, and Assam, where all sorts of big game are available and what are their seasons?

(b) How the stains inside the barrels of a gun or rifle may be thoroughly removed?

KASIMBAZAAR, 1st June 1903. A. N. ROY.

A GOOD DOG WANTED.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—Some time back you published a paper upon the scenting powers of the pariah and other dogs. Dog fanciers, who must number not a few among the readers of your journal, would confer a benefit on the planting community hereabouts if they could recommend some dog keen enough to be laid on to the trail of those gentlemen of the road who have been making so free with our remittances of late. We cannot get the genuine Kuki pie hereabouts, but no doubt subscribers to The Indian Field have pups of some reliable cross-breeds to spare up to the desired mark.

MOULVI BAZAR, 29th May 1903.

SLEUTH HOUND.

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

FLOR DE SPENCER.

Head Office: Madras
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

POULTRY BREEDING IMPROVEMENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—Now that the passenger season is at its slackest might I appeal through your columns to the "stewards in charge" on board our liners to bring out well-selected eggs in incubators, or even half-grown chicks. In common with other fanciers I am not quite satisfied with country raised poultry from imported stock. Country breeders either don't seem to exercise sufficient care to guard against crossing or else a constant strain of genuine stock is required. Mr. Finn's recommendation is all very good, but we want heavier birds than the Minorcas. Years ago some English ducks were imported and sent to Cherrapoonjee—appropriate place for water fowl—and the effect is still visible though getting gradually fainter. In fact all over India our poultry is in need of improvement and, without urging mofussilites on to fancy breeding, with farms springing up along our lines of railways, it is time that attention should be directed to poultry rearing.

CALCUTTA, 1st June 1903. MURGI.

MONTAGUE R. MURRAY & CO.,

TAXIDERMISTS,
HARDA (G. I. P. RY.)
Central Provinces.

Shooting Trophies of all kinds artistically set up at moderate prices. European supervision, best materials, skilled labor, prompt attention to orders.

Shooting-Parties - -
Supplied with Camp Equipage, Commissariat &c.
Young Sambhur, Chital and Hyænas for Sale.

Safe, Simple and Economical.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

THE Security is unsurpassed, the funds being now over Two Millions Five Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling, and claims to Four Millions Seven Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling have already been paid.

CITY OF GLASGOW LIFE ASSURANCE CO.,
5, LYON'S RANGE, CALCUTTA.
ESTABLISHED 1838.

R. B. RODDA & Co.,
PRACTICAL
GUNMAKERS,
[Established 72 years.]
2, WELLESLEY PLACE, CALCUTTA.
Illustrated Catalogue Post Free.

BREAKWELL & Co
COACH BUILDERS,
171-2-4-5-6,
Dhurrumtollah Street,
CALCUTTA.

SPORTING NOTICE.

D. TAYLOR, Trainer, who has had over 25 years, experience of training race horses in India and Ceylon has returned from Australia, and has opened his Training Establishment in Lucknow, where he will be pleased to summer race horses and ponies, and train them for their engagements for the coming Racing Season.

Is opened to a private engagement.
Testimonials on application.
For terms, &c.,

Please apply to—
D. TAYLOR, TRAINER,
Dilkusha, LUCKNOW.

INDIAN FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION.

Cadet Battalion Challenge Cup.
Elliot Challenge Shield.

Entries close 1st July. Apply to—
N. G. PRITCHARD,
Jt. Hony. Secy., I.F.A.

CALCUTTA GOLF CLUB.

A Bogey Competition will be held from Monday 1st to Tuesday 30th June.

The annual Competition for The Bombay Medal (Handicap) will take place on Friday and Saturday, 12th and 13th instant.

BY APPOINTMENT TO
H. E. Baron Curzon of Kedleston.

LYON & LYON,
PRACTICAL GUN and RIFLE MAKERS,
16, Chowringhee Rd., Calcutta.

Repairs.—We give special attention to all kinds of Gun Repairs, having separate workshops and special workmen and machinery for this class of work. Guns fitted with new stocks, Barrels rejointed, browned, and re-bored, and old Guns done up as new at a small cost. Estimates given.

Warehousing.—Guns carefully kept through the hot season and rains, and during owner's absence from India, the charge being Eight Annas per mensem, including Insurance risk.

Our illustrated Sporting Catalogue post free on application.

LYON & LYON,
Practical Gun and Rifle Makers,
16, Chowringhee Rd., Calcutta.

Ballistite.
THE KING OF
SMOKELESS POWDERS
Smokeless—Waterproof—Odourless.

Nobel's New "Nile" Snipe Cartridge.

A High Class Smokeless Cartridge at the price of ordinary Black Powder, Colour Maroon.

Gauge.	Length	Powder.	Shot.
12-bore.	2½ inches.	25 Grains.	1 oz.

Per 100. Per 500. Per 1,000
Rs. 9-0. Rs. 43-0. Rs. 84-0
RETAILED BY ALL GUNMAKERS.
WHOLESALE OF
GILLANDERS ARBUTHNOT & CO.,
AGENTS.

MANCHESTER CUP.
ROYAL HUNT CUP.

Starting Price Commissions executed on principal English races.

A list of probable Starters and Jockey will be sent post free to any part of India on receipt of address.

For S. P. rules, code, principal fixtures, &c., &c, apply to—

BEATTIE BROS.,
Watson's Hotel, Bombay.
Telegrams :— "Beattie, Bombay."

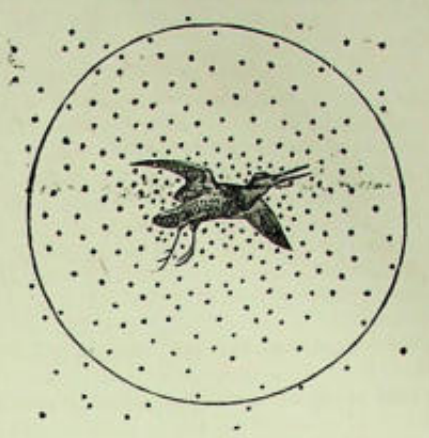
CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA.

Surplus Lands.



The surplus lands belonging to the Corporation on Harish Chundra Mukerjee's Street, close to the maidan and the Presidency General Hospital in Ward No. 22, have been marked off into nine plots (of an average area of about 8½ cottahs), suitable for the building of residential pucca houses. Lithographic plans may be had on application to the Assessor of the Corporation, on payment of one rupee per plan.

Offers are invited for the leases of these nine plots, for a period of sixty years. The construction of only masonry buildings will be permitted, the plans being subject to the approval of the General Committee

Applications will be received by the Secretary up to the 1st of July 1903.

MUNICIPAL OFFICE, Calcutta, the 22nd May 1903. | FRED. GAINSFORD, Secy. to the Corporation.

WILDFOWLER CARTRIDGES.

Facsimile-circle 22 inches diameter at 35 yards. Number of pellets in circle 237, killing circle 33. This diagram represents the shooting of any good choke-bore gun with our WILDFOWLER Cartridges loaded with 42 grs. Amberite, 1⅛ oz. No. 8 shot.

Lucknow prices, rail freight being taken into consideration, are identical with those charged by the leading Calcutta Gunsmiths.

MURRAY & Co.,
LIMITED,
LUCKNOW.

WILLIAM RUTLEDGE.
NATURALIST,
DEALER IN WILD ANIMALS,
Birds, Dogs, Poultry, &c.,
38, SOUTH ROAD, ENTALLY, CALCUTTA

"TAXIDERS PRESERVATIVE POWDER"

5 lbs. tin Rs. 3, 10 lbs. tins Rs. 5 (V. P. charges extra.) The only safe and effectual preparation for preserving skins and heads of animals, whether Pachyderms, Great Mammalia or Reptiles with instructions in skinning, etc.

Apply to—TAXIDERMISTS,
C. SWARIES & Co.,
15, Mohamed Crescent's Lane, Calcutta.

GULMARG TOURNAMENTS COMMENCE.

Golf Challenge Shield for Ladies and Gentlemen, 17th to 22nd August; Polo Shield 24th to 29th August. Apply to—
General Hony. Secy., Srinagar.

The Calcutta Tramways Co., Ld.

FOR SALE.

The opening of the Company's system by Electric Traction has released a number of serviceable C.-B. geldings suitable for Phaeton, Trap, and Hack work generally: amongst them are also a number of good saddle horses.

The horses can be seen at any time during the day at the Company's Chowringhee Depot, 1, Russa Road, on application to the European Foreman in charge.

MARTYN WELLS,
MANAGING AGENT.

CALCUTTA, 15th April 1903.

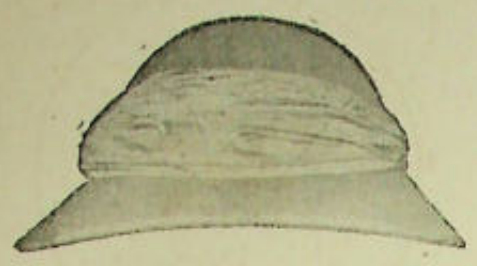
200 Pictures of the Delhi Durbar,
Handsomely bound in Vellum.
10 Rupees only.
Third Improved Edition.

Contains all the chief events, elephant procession, 29 pictures proclamation, opening exhibition, review of retainers, grand review, sports, fireworks, principal camps, Church service, etc., etc.

The Press says: "For cheapness and excellence combined it is unsurpassed." "Purchaser obtains very full value."
"Comprises an extremely varied and well chosen selection."
WIELE & KLEIN, Madras, Official Photographers to the Durbar Exhibition.



INDIAN FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION.

Challenge Snield Competition,
Trades Challenge Cup Competition.
Entries close 20th June.

Apply to—
N. G. PRITCHARD,
Jt. Hon. Sec., I.F.A.

THE RANKEN HELMET.

Registered No. 386596.

Made of compressed cork, covered Grey Felt, not affected by rain, as durable as three pith hats, smart appearance, good ventilation and protection.

Price, Rs. 21-0. Cash Rs. 19-0.

Or with Plain Grey Silk Pugree,
Rs. 24-0. Cash Rs. 21-0.

—:o:—

RANKEN & Co.,

Calcutta, Simla, and Lahore.

Pure Yalumba

Wines

South Australia.

BURGUNDY

CONTAINS

Natural Iron.

FIRST PRIZE

10,000 galls

—:o:—

CLARET

Sound, Pure and Wholesome.

FIRST PRIZE

15,000 galls

From all Leading Merchants

S. SMITH & SON

Yalumba Vineyards,

Adelaide, South Australia.

The ABBEY IMPROVED CHILLED SHOT

Co., Ld.

HEAD OFFICES:

22, Dean St., Newcastle-on-Tyne.

For finish and penetration Sportsmen say

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

Importers when sending Indents

ASK FOR

THE ABBEY IMPROVED CHILLED SHOT MAKE

Our output of Chilled Shot exceeds the combined output of Chilled Shot of all other shot Companies in Great Britain.

N.B.—Please note that this Company has no connection with the so called Newcastle Chilled Shot Company which has gone into liquidation.

MANTON & Co., Gunmakers,

Have a fresh stock of

FOOTBALLS

(Association and Rugby.)

BRYAN'S

"The County" Football	Rs. 12	8 cash.
"Grasshopper" ,, ...	,, 11	8 ,,
The "Blenheim" ,, ...	,, 8	8 ,,
Spare Rubbers, best Vulcanised	,, 3	0 ,,

Nets, Goal Posts, Guards, Rules, etc.

ADDRESS:

13, OLD COURT HOUSE ST., CALCUTTA.

HOWRAH FLOUR MILLS CO., LD.,

Ramkistopur, Howrah,

CRUSHED FOOD

FOR

HORSES & CATTLE

Fresh Bran, Oats, Gram,

AND

Flour of all qualities.

ANDREW YULE & Co.,

Managing Agents,

7, Clive Row, Calcutta.

F. CHAPMAN & Co.

"TATTERSALLS,"

No. 1, Bhowanipore Road.

Arrived per S S Euryalus well-matched pairs, hacks, hunters, polo ponies from 12-2½ to 14-1; also 6 well-performed race ponies imported by the well-known shippers.

Mr "Billy" Griffiths
Mr W. Burgess.
Mr. H. Smith.
Mr. P. Gilder.

Every trial given to intending purchasers by the undersigned.

F. CHAPMAN & Co.

J. F SNUGGS & Co.,

Established 1870.

TAXIDERMISTS & TANNERS

TO H. M.'s IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT, HARDA, C.P

For further particulars apply to us; or our only Agents:

Messrs. GORDON & Co., 37, Apollo Street BOMBAY,

where Trophies of every description are for sale also we can supply our Firm's ponies, carts, etc., to Shooting Parties.

ESTABLISHED 1870.

KASHMIR CHECK PUTTOOS

EFFECTIVE, durable and inexpensive, for shooting, cycling and golfing suits.

Obtainable through
A A's or COCKBURN'S AGENCY,
Srinagar, Kashmi.

CHARLES LANCASTER,

Gunmaker by Royal Warrants to H.M. the King,
H.I.M. the German Emperor,
H.R.H. Prince Christian,
H.I.H. The Grand Duke Vladimir
H.R.H. The Duke of Orleans,
&c., &c.,

AWARDED SIXTY FIRST-CLASS PRIZES, MEDALS AND DIPLOMAS.

Invites Inspection of his Latest Improvements in

SING E & DOUBLE TRIGGER

HAMMERLESS EJECTOR GUNS AND RIFLES

The Ejector consisting of

TWO PARTS ONLY,

Allows ease and rapid loading and re-loading, together with little or no force to open or close the gun.

Prices from £22 to 63 net cash.

SPECIAL SIDE LOCK

HAMMERLESS EJECTOR GUN.

EITHER SINGLE OR DOUBLE TRIGGER.

£35 net, or in leather case, with fittings, £40 net.

GUNS FOR TRAP SHOOTING

A SPECIALITY.

(ASK FOR SPECIAL LIST.)

"THE COLINDIAN" (Regd.)

ONE OF THE MOST SUCCESSFUL

BALL & SHOT GUNS,

from £27 net.

Charles Lancaster still maintains his position as expert Gun fitter and Coach. Attendance and Lessons given by Experts at his Private Shooting Grounds, near Willesden Junction, N.W.

Single and Double Trigger Try Guns.

TOWER FOR "HIGH BIRD" PRACTICE.

Sportsmen at home or abroad should ask for Special Cartridges List giving

"PRICES AT A GLANCE."

"THE ART OF SHOOTING."

Sixth and Popular Edition, 2s. 6d.; postage 6d. extra.

SECOND-HAND GUNS.

Guns by other makers taken in exchange or altered to fit if necessary.

ILLUSTRATED PRICE LIST AND ESTIMATES FREE.

Kindly quote this paper and state requirements.

PRIVATE SHOOTING GROUND

Near STONEBRIDGE PARK, N.W

Frequent Trains to Willesden Junction from all parts.

151, NEW BOND ST., London, W.

ESTABLISHED 1826.

"PIGSTICKING,"

A SET OF FOUR PICTURES

1 THE MEET
2 THE BURST
3 THE SPEAR
4 THE KILL

BY ALBERT DUBUS

Every Sportsman should possess a set. The finest work of the kind ever offered to the public.

Rs. 8 per set, unmounted.

Apply Manager—"THE INDIAN FIELD,"

CALCUTTA.

THE ORIENTAL GAS Co., Ld.

GAS COKE.

Reduction in Price.

The Oriental Gas Company, Limited, have resolved to reduce the price of the Coke produced at their works from 22nd April 1903, and until further notice as follows:—

1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the Town Area at (6 annas per maund) ... ... Rs. 7-8-0

1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the Suburban Area ... ... Rs 7-12-0

All Coke sieved through a ¾ inch mesh.

Gas Coke is Smokeles and Cleanly and Superior to any solid fuel for domestic purposes.

All complaints about Coke or demands for pice custom (dustoorie) should be made direct to the Manager.

N.B.—The carter must be relieved of his load within an hour of his arrival, else 4 annas per hour will be charged for unnecessary detention.

GAS WORKS, SEALDAH, Calcutta, 22nd April 1903.

D. COATS NIVEN,
Manager.

FOUR SHOOTING PICTURES.

REPRODUCED IN PLATINOTYPE

From the original sketches, specially drawn to illustrate the book. "Small Game Shooting in Bengal and some of their habitat" by "Raoul."

Size of Picture, 10¼×8¼ inches.

Mounted on thick white plate sunk mounts, measuring 18½×14 inches.

1. Snipe shooting in Bengal.
2. Partridge shooting in Bengal.
3. Duck shooting in "Bhil" or Marsh.
4. Geese shooting on "chur" or sandbank.

SPECIAL PRICE,

Rs. 12 per set.

Apply—Manager "The INDIAN FIELD."

FOR SALE.

Leopard skins, cured, dressed, head stuffed and mounted on cloth. Complete @ Rs. 35 each.

Two pairs of Buffalo horns with skull mounted on shield, @ Rs. 40 and 25 each.

Apply to—

J. HENRY & Co.,
THE "TAXIDERMY HOUSE,"
Bowbazar P.O., Calcutta

FOR SALE.

A few real well bred dogs by imported parents and prize winners

Wire haired Fox Terrier Dog "Jind Melton Bang Up" for Rs. 200. Winner of first prize last Simla Dog Show.

Wire haired Fox Terriers, puppies, 2 Bitches, Rs. 80 each by Jind Bango" ex "Jind Sweetheart;" born 12th March 1903, both Sire and Dam imported, and Sire is winner of 12 prizes at the different Dog Shows out here.

Irish Terrier Dog "Jind Larry" for Rs. 200, by "Jind Blowhard" ex "Jind Doreen;" born 3rd, November 1902.

Sire imported and winner of 12 prizes in England and 5 prizes at the different Dog Shows out here.

Irish Terrier's puppies, 1 Dog Rs. 100 and 2 Bitches at Rs. 80 each, by "Jind Brodick;" ex "Jind Brookvile" born 16th March 1906. Both Sire and Dam just imported Sire is winner of two 1st and one 2nd prize at the Dog Shows in England, and never been shown out here.

Thibet an Terrier "Kim" for Rs. 100.

Apply—Superintendent, JIND KENNELS, JIND STATE.

POLO PONIES FOR SALE.

	B. A. G., LOYALTY	... ...	Rs. 800
2.	B. A. G., TIETAIL	... ...	„ 800
3.	B. A H., MAXIM ...	... ...	„ 800
4.	CH. C.-B. M., NAUTCH GIRL	... ...	„ 700
5.	GR. A. G., UNCAS ...	... ...	„ 600
6.	CH A. G., FREDERIC	... ...	„ 800
	GR. C.-B. H., IRONSIDES	... ...	„ 500
	CH. A. H., GINGERBREAD	... ...	„ 500
	B. A. H., RABONDIA	... ...	„ 250

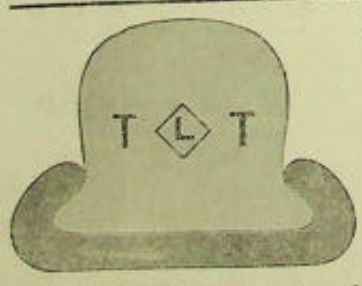
The above are all good polo ponies and are for sale cheap so to take advantage of an opportunity to buy raw ponies.

Most of them have played in all tournaments the regiment have taken part in since 1899



All believed practically sound and open to any offers, as must be sold.

Apply to—POLO SECRETARY,
24th Regiment (S.W. Borderers), Dalhousie.

FOR SALE.

A double barrel 16-bore shot gun by George H. Daw, London, in case.

Apply—Q E D. c/o Manager,
"The Indian Field."

ECONOMISE NERVE TISSUE

By using Our

Section of Steel Rim and Rubber Tyre.

RUBBER CARRIAGE TYRES.

We stake our faith in Tyres of this brand which are all guaranteed for one year. Many of the leading Coachbuilders use them exclusively. Prices and particulars free on application to

W. H. THORNS & Co.,

15, HORNBY ROW, BOMBAY.

CHAMPION & CO.

Have left for Europe and will return to Calcutta for the 1st Extra Meeting in December.

The Turf.

INDIAN RACING FIXTURES.

NAME OF RACES	Month.	Date.	For Prospectus see page.
Mysore	June	16, 18 & 20
Bangalore	July	14, 16 & 18
Poona Races & Steeplechases	Sept.	23 26 28 30
		Oct. 3 5 & 10	574
Simla Autumn	Oct.	6 & 8	522
Simla Gymkhanas ...	June	13 20 & 27
Ditto ...	July	4
Lucknow Autumn Sky ...	Oct.	22, and 24
Umballa Autumn ...	Nov.	3, 5 & 7
Lucknow Autumn (Army Cup)	„	26	575
Meerut Autumn	„	12, 14 & 17
Lucknow Autumn ...	„	21, 25 & 28
Calcutta First Extra ...	Dec.	12
„ Second Extra ...	„	19
„ First Meeting ...	„	24 26 29 & 31
„ Second Meeting ...	Jan.	16 & 23
Tollygunge Steeplechases ...	„	2 & 9
Calcutta Third Extra ...	„	30
„ Fourth „ ...	Feb.	6
Dibrugarh ...	„	2 4 & 6
First Calcutta Monson	Aug.	8
Second do do	„	15
Third do do	„	22
Fourth do do	Sep.	5
Fifth do do	„	12

CLOSING DATES OF ENTRIES.

LUCKNOW AUTUMN SKY ...	First ...	... 1st Sept.
	Second ...	... 15th Oct
CALCUTTA FIRST EXTRA ...	...	... 8th Dec.
CALCUTTA SECOND EXTRA ...	...	... 15th Dec.
CALCUTTA RACES FIRST MEETING	First ...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second ...	... 1st Dec.
CALCUTTA RACES SECOND MEETING	First ...	... 1st Dec.
	Second ...	... 9th Jan.
	Third ...	... 16th Jan.
TOLLYGUNGE STEEPLECHASES 1ST DAY	First ...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second ...	... 1st Dec.
TOLLYGUNGE STEEPLECHASES SECOND DAY	First ...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second ...	... 2nd Jan.
POONA	First ...	... 4th Augst.
	Second ...	... 25th „
	Final ...	... 8th Sept
CIVIL SERVICE CUP ...	Second ...	... 1st July.
	Third ...	... 16th Sept.
	Fourth ...	... 1st Dec.
	Final ...	... 20th Jan.
BANGALORE	First ...	... 1st June.
	Second ...	... 20th June.
	Third ...	... 1st July.
MYSORE	Third ...	... 1st June.
LUCKNOW AUTUMN ...	First ...	... 15th Aug.
	Second ...	... 1st Oct.
	Third ...	... 14th Nov.

INDIAN SPORTING FIXTURES.

POLO.

POONA OPEN TOURNAMENT	...Sept. 15th, 16th, 19th & 24th
GULMARG POLO TOURNAMENT ...	24th to 29th August

CRICKET.

BOMBAY V PARSEES (Bombay) ...	13th 14th & 15th Aug.
BOMBAY V PARSEES (Poona) ...	21st 22nd & 23rd Sep.

THE HORSE.

TOLLYGUNGE HORSE AND DOG SHOW	... 1st January 1904.
SIMLA HORSE AND DOG SHOW ...	... June 6th.

SPORTS.

OOTACAMUND SKITTLE GYMKHANAS	June 15th, & 27th

FOOTBALL.

DURAND TOURNAMENT, SIMLA ...	... 14th to 25th Sep.

HOCKEY.

GOLF.

GULMARG TOURNAMENT ...	17th to 22nd August

SWIMMING.

CALCUTTA S. C.

TWO LENGTHS HURDLES HANDICAP ...	... 5th June.
FOUR LENGTHS HANDICAP ...	... 19th June.
FINAL HEAT DITTO ...	... 26th June.

ENGLISH RACING FIXTURES.

Manchester Cup (1¼ miles)	Friday, June 5
Grand Prix de Paris (1 mile 7 furlongs) ...	Sunday, June 7
Duchess of York Stakes, Hurst Park (1¼m)	Saturday, June 13
Ascot Stakes (2 miles)	Tuesday, June 16
Prince of Wales's Stakes (1 mile 5 furlongs)	Tuesday, June 16
Gold Vase (2 miles)	Tuesday, June 16
Royal Hunt Cup (7 furlongs 166yds) ...	Wednesday, June 17
Gold Cup (2½ miles)	Thursday, June 18
New Stakes (5 furlongs 136yds) ...	Thursday, June 18
Hardwicke Stakes (1¼ miles)	Friday, June 19
Nothumberland Plate (2 miles) ...	Wednesday, June 24
July Stakes, Newmarket (5 fur 142 yds) ...	Tuesday, June 30
Eclipse Stakes (1¼ miles)	Friday, July 17
Liverpool Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs) ...	Friday, July 24
Stewards' Cup, Goodwood (6 furlongs) ...	Tuesday, July 28
Goodwood Plate (2 miles)	Wednesday, July 29
Goodwood Cup (2¼ miles)	Thursday, July 30
Brighton Cup (1¼ miles)	Wednesday, Aug. 5
Great Northern Leger (1 mile 5 furlongs)	Wednesday, Aug. 19
Great Ebor Handicap (1¾ miles) ...	Wednesday, Aug. 26
Gimcrack Stakes (6 furlongs)	Thursday, Aug. 27
Great Yorkshire Handicap (1 m 6 f 132 yds)	Tuesday, Sep. 8
Champagne Stakes	Tuesday, Sep. 8
The St. Leger (1 mile 6 furlongs 132 yds.)	Wednesday, Sep. 9
Doncaster Cup (about 2 miles) ...	Friday, Sep. 11
Prince Edward Handicap (1¼ miles) ...	Saturday, Sep. 26
Jockey Club Stakes (1¾ miles)	Thursday, October 1
Duke of York Stakes (1¼ miles) ...	Saturday, Oct. 10
Cesarewitch Stakes (2 miles 2 furlongs) ...	Wednesday, Oct. 14
Middle Park Plate (6 furlongs) ...	Friday, October 16
Cambridgeshire Stakes (1 mile 1 furlong) ...	Wednesday, Oct. 28.
Dewhurst Plate (7 furlongs) ...	Thursday, Oct. 29
Lincoln Autumn Handicap (1¼ miles) ...	Tuesday, Nov. 10
Liverpool Autumn Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs)	Friday, Nov. 13
Manchester November Handicap (1¼ mile)	Saturday, Nov. 28

ENGLISH SPORTING FIXTURES.

Open Golf Championship	11th June.
Oxford vs. Cambridge (Lord's) ...	2nd July.
Amateur A. A. Meeting	4th July.
Gents vs. Players (Lords)	6th July.
Henley Regatta	7th July.
Eton vs. Harrow (Lord's)	10th July.
Gents vs. Players (Oval)	10th July.
Rugby vs. Marlborough (Lord's) ...	29th July.
R. Y. S. Regatta	4th August.
America Cup First Race	20th August.
Dublin Horse Show	25th August.
Stanley Cycle Show	20th November.
Cattle Show (Agr. Hall) ...	7th December.

CONTENTS.

LEADING ARTICLE—The Latest Thing in Betting Systems ... 99
SPECIAL TELEGRAMS ... 99
SPORTING NOTES ... 100
ATHLETIC NOTES ... 103
GENERAL NOTES ... 105
LONDON WEEK BY WEEK ... 105
SHIKAR ... 106
FISHING ... 107
CORRESPONDENCE ... 107
THE TURF.—Indian Racing Fixtures; Closing Dates of Entries; Indian Sporting Fixtures; English Racing Fixtures; English Sporting Fixtures; Simla Summer Races; Quetta Spring Meeting; Bangalore Races; Darjeeling Sky Races; Dibrugarah Sky Meeting; Colombo Monsoon Meeting ... 113
SPORT IN ENGLAND ... 114
HUNTING ... 119
CRICKET ... 119
FOOTBALL ... 119
POLO ... 121
GOLF ... 21
HOCKEY ... 121
BOWLS ... 122
BOXING ... 122
SWIMMING ... 123
THE HORSE ... 123
THE NATURALIST ... 124
THE STORY TELLER ... 124
CHESS ... 124
CARDS ... 124

THE INDIAN FIELD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The absence of any notice to discontinue the Paper at the expiry of the period subscribed for will be considered as an intimation to renew the subscription, which will be charged accordingly.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Rs. 22 per annum or with mofussil postage ...	Rs. 25	0
„ 12 for 6 months „ „ ...	„ 14	0
„ 6 for 3 „ „ „ ...	„ 8	0

Single copy eight annas.

To avail themselves of the benefits of the Advance Rates subscribers must pay—

Annual Subscriptions ...	Within 2 months.
Half-yearly do. ...	Do. 1 month.
Quarterly do. ...	Do. 1 fortnigh

RATE of SUBSCRIPTION with FOREIGN POSTAGE Payable in Advance.

For twelve months ...	£1	15 0
„ six months ...	£1	0 0

RATES FOR CASUAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rs. 2-8 per inch for the first four insertions.

Rs. 1-4 per inch for subsequent insertions.

Ten lines to the inch.

W. S. BURKE & Co., Proprietors.
8, Hare Street CALCUTTA.

SOLE ADVERTISING AGENT IN ENGLAND
FOR "THE INDIAN FIELD."
Mr. L. J. JARVIS.
"Granville House" Arundel St. Strand.
LONDON

POPULAR MARTELL BRANDIES
In Britain and Greater Britain

*One Star, Two Star, Three Star
Rs. 41. Rs. 44. Rs. 47.
To be had of all respectable Traders.
Samples from
THE SOLE AGENTS
KRIEG & Co.,
Wholesale and Retail Merchants
8, Hare Street. CALCUTTA.

SIMLA SUMMER RACES.

STEWARDS:

BRIG.-GENL. E. BEATSON. | LT.-COL. THE HON. E. BARING.
MAJ.-GENL. SIR E. L. ELLIOT. | LIEUT.-COL. MORGAN.
SURG.-GENL. SIR T. GALLWEY. | COLONEL H. GOAD.

MAJOR MARKER.

Honorary Secretary.—LORD SUFFOLK.
Judge.—COL. C. DE C. HAMILTON.
Starter.—CAPT. C. WIGRAM.
Clerk of the Scales—MAJOR SHEA.

Second Day, Thursday, 28th May, 1903.

THE whole of Wednesday afternoon a furious storm of hail and rain prevailed and it was not till dark that it enhausted its force and left the Annandale ground a complete swamp. It looked any odds against any racing being held to-day. There was no bookmaker and no odds on this question were offered or laid. The executive were determined not to be baulked by any freaks of nature and they set about with a will to rectify matters. A gang of workmen were early put on the job and supervised in person by Colonel Baring, Lord Suffolk, and Captain Wigram the course was drained, the wet surface scraped off and fresh cinder laid down. Thursday broke clear and fine and the sun helped to supplement the ardous efforts of the workers so that the announcement by posters that the races would be held came as a welcome surprise and though neither Lord or Lady Curzon, Lord Kitchener, Sir Charles Rivaz or Sir Andrew Fraser were present there was a very large and fashionable gathering which took a keen and active interest in the proceedings. The card showed very full fields for each of the six events, but the declarations reduced the actual starters to very small numbers. This fact in no way damped the ardour of the public for they crowded, in fact mobbed the totalisator windows and all through the afternoon the clerks could not issue tickets fast enough and over every race numbers of intending speculators were left unserved. Almost every pony in every race was more or less backed. There was only one accident and this was in the first race when Peninsular II, who was made favourite, slipped up on turning a corner and came down, but fortunately neither pony nor rider Penton was hurt. The winner of this race was Euphrates, who was also well supported, and after the race he was sold to General Elliot. The course was heavier to-day and the timing slower than on the previous day. Details:—

MAIDEN STAKES.—Rs. 200 to winner, Rs. 50 to second, Rs. 20 to third. For Maiden Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-0 and under. C.-B's. 14-0 to carry 11st. 10lbs., Arabs 14-0 to carry 11st. W. I. 4½ furlongs.

Hon'ble D Bingham's g a h Euphrates, 10st 3lbs	Owner	1
H H Kour Sahib of Patiala's b a h Rock Sand, 11st 7lbs	Mr Barrow	2
H H Kour Sahib of Patiala's ch a h Brat II, 10st 2lbs	Toe	3
Mr Douglas's ch cb h Star Light, 12st 7lbs	Capt Hughes	0
Col Hon'ble E Baring's b a p Peninsular II, 10st 11lbs	Penton	0

Peninsular II and Euphrates in company led out, then half way the former fell and leaving Euphrates with a clear lead and he won by six lengths; the same distance separated the second and third. Time—1min. 8secs.

HACK STAKES.—Rs. 150 to winner, Rs. 20 to second. For bona fide hacks 14-1 and under that have never started in a flat race value Rs. 50 or over. Arabs and C.-B's C.W. over 11st. others C. W. over 12st. About 1¼ furlongs.

Capt Wigram's b aus g DeWet, 12st ...	Lord Suffolk	1
Mr Caulfield's ch cb m Iconoclast, 11st ...	Owner	2
„ Ogilby's b e m Death or Glory, 12st ...	Owner	3

DeWet, who had the bulk of the public support, soon left his two companions and keeping the lead to the end won easily by two lengths; a bad third. Time—1min. 9⅘secs.

MERCHANTS' PURSE.—Rs. 200 to winner, Rs. 50 to second, Rs. 20 to third. For English and Australasian ponies 14-1 and under. ponies 14-1 to carry 12st. W. I. About 1 mile.

Major Grimston's gr aus m Greymist III, 10st 13lbs	Capt Holden	1
Mr J J Pawson's bk aus m Busy Bee, 10st 7lbs	Penton	2
H H Kour Sahib of Patiala's b aus m Jeanaroo, 10st 11lbs	Toe	3
Col Hon'ble E. Baring's b aus m Magdalen, 11st 2lbs	Owner	0

Jeanaroo was a strong favourite and he with Greymist forced the running for the first circuit, then Jeanaroo fell back and busy Bee began to creep up to Greymist, but Captain Holden kept her going and finally won all out by a length; two and a half lengths between second and third. Time—2mins. 25secs.

THE SIMLA ARMY CUP.—Rs. 200 to winner, Rs. 50 to second and Rs. 20 to third. A high weight handicap for maiden Arab ponies 14-1 and under, the property of Officers of His Majesty's Army on full pay. G. R.'s About 7 furlongs.

Capt Wigram's br a h Wainfleet, 10st 10lbs	Lord Suffolk	1
„ Baldrey's b a h King Edward, 10st 5lbs	Mr Barrow	2
Mr Badger's ch a p Homrook, 10st 4lbs ...	Capt Hughes	3

Wainfleet was a hot favourite. Lord Suffolk at once took him to the front and then half way gave him a steadier which helped King Edward to get up and the latter's backers began to experience the joys of paradise, but ere the home turn Wainfleet again drew away and came in an easy winner by three lengths; half a length divided the second and third. Time—1min. 47⅖secs.

ARAB STAKES.—Rs. 200 to winner, Rs. 50 to second, Rs. 20 to third. For Arab ponies 14-0 and under; 14 hands to carry 11st. 7lbs. W. I. About 1, 400 yards.

H H Kour Sahib of Patiala's b a h Brigand, 11st 9lbs	Capt Peacock	1
Mr Baldrey's b a p Shelter, 10st 4lbs ...	Mr Barrow	2
Capt Steward Capper's g a p Cinque Port (late Tabliss), 11st 11b ...	Owner	3

Cinque Port was suffered to lead for a brief space, then Brigand, the favourite, beautifully ridden and attended by Shelter, came to the front and the Patiala horse holding Shelter safe won by a length; two lengths between the second and third. Time—1min. 44⅕secs.

THE KELLNER CUP.—Rs. 200 to winner, presented by Messrs. Kellner & Co., and Rs. 50 to second, and Rs. 20 to third from fund. A handicap for all ponies 14-1 and under that have started in a Steeplechase or Hurdle Race since 1st April 1902. About 1½ miles.

Col Hon'ble E Baring's ch a p Nabob, 9st 2lbs	Penton	1
Capt Mappins's b aus g Rifleman II, 11st...	Capt Peacock	2
Mr Mordaunt's ch a p The Abbot, 9st 4lbs	Mr Barrow	3

Nabob had the most call in the betting. Nabob and Rifleman went away from the start and after a hundred yards The Abbot caught up to them and shortly Nabob was steadied, leaving the other two to make the running, then ere reaching the last turn for home Nabob came to the front, and though Captain Peacock on Rifleman made a splendid effort, Nabob won comfortably by two lengths; the same distance between the second and third. Time—3mins. 9⅕secs.

(BY SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

Third Day, Saturday, 30th May, 1903.

The meeting came to a very successful termination to-day, and all concerned in its working deserve a special meed of praise. Details:—

SIMLA CUP.—About 1,400 yards.

Koer Sahib of Patiala's Tom, 9st 4lbs ...	Mr Barrow	1
Mr Baldrey's Shelter, 9st 3lbs ...	Penton	2
Koer Sahib of Patiala's Brigand, 11st 7lbs	Toe	3

Tom was favourite.
Won by a length; the same distance separating second and third. Time.—1min. 45⅖secs.

HURDLE HANDICAP.—About 1½ miles.

Mr Mordaunt's The Abbot, 9st 5lbs ...	Penton	1
Koer Sahib of Patiala's Jeanaroo, 10st 9lbs	Toe	2
Capt Mappin's Rifleman II, 9st 12lbs ...	Capt Peacock	3

Also ran: Greymist III, 11-7.
The Abbot was first favourite.
Won by three lengths; one length between second and third. Time—3mins. 9⅕secs.

SNOWDON STAKES.—About 4½ furlongs.

Mr Douglas' Sweetheart, 10st 4lbs ...	Capt Hughes	1
Capt Stewart Capper's Jewell II, 10st ...	Hon D Bingham	2
Col Hon E Baring's Magdalen, 11st 7lbs	Owner	3

Also ran: De Wet, 9-4.
Sweetheart was strong favourite.
Won by a length; one and a half lengths separating second and third. Tim—1min. 2⅖secs.

LONGWOOD STAKES.—About ½ mile.

Mr Reynolds' Envoy, 9st 6lbs	Capt Hughes	1
Col Hon E Baring's Peninsular II, 10st 3lbs	Penton	2
Koer Sahib of Patiala's Shahjehan, 11st 7lbs	Hon D Bingham	3

Also ran: Wainfleet, 9-1; Cinque Port, 8-7; and Holmrook, 8-10.
Peninsular and Shahjehan were favourites.
Won by a length and a half; one length dividing second and third. Time—57secs.

THE MAHASU STAKES.—About 1 mile.

Mr Douglas' Starlight, 10st 11lbs ...	Capt Hughes	1
„ Badger's King Edward, 8st 9lbs ...	Beehan	2
Koer Sahib of Patiala's Rock Sand, 9st ...	Mr Barrow	3

Starlight and Rock Sand were equal favourites.
Won by a length; twenty lengths between second and third. Time—2mins. 4⅕secs.

CONSOLATION STAKES.—600 yards.

The Hon D Bingham's Ruby, 9st 10lbs ...	Owner	1
Col Hon E Baring's Dingo, 10st 8lbs ...	Lord Suffolk	2
Koer Sahib of Patiala's Shahjehan, 10st 11lbs	Mr Barrow	3
Mr Badger's Holmrook, 9st 3lbs ...	Beehan	0

Also ran: Benefit, 11-7; Busy Bee, 11-7; Iconoclast, 9-11; and Pannag, 9-2.
Dingo was first favourite.
Won by half a length; the same distance between second and third, and a close fourth. Time—38⅕secs.

QUETTA SPRING MEETING.

STEWARDS:

COLONEL A. KEENE. | MAJOR H. L. SHOWERS.
MAJOR H. M. MAXWELL. | CAPTAIN BARRY-DREW.
J. SMITH, ESQ. | „ BENWELL.

Clerk of Course—MAJOR H. M. MAXWELL.
Clerk of Scale—CAPTAIN A. L. TARVER.
Starter—F. BEATY, ESQ.
Honorary Secretary—CAPTAIN P L. GROVE.

Second Day, Thursday, 28th May 1903.

ANOTHER excellent day's sport was witnessed here this afternoon by a large and fashionable gathering of spectators; the card was an excellent one, the fields ruled fairly large and some very close finishes were witnessed. We are sorry at the untimely end which was fated out for Barnaby Rudge in the chase; he came down at the sixth fence and had to be destroyed and much sympathy is felt by everyone for the loss his sporting owner, who is a good all-round sportsman, has sustained.

THE BEGINNERS' PURSE.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third. For Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-2 and under, others 14 hands and under, that have never started for a race value Rs. 50 or over before the first day of the meeting. Above heights to carry 12 stone W. I. 3 furlongs.

Mr Menzie's b a p Najib, 9st 4lbs (car 9st 8lbs)	Capt Benwell	1
Mr J Smith's ch cb m Songstress, 11st 8lbs	Mr Beatty	2
Mr G H Anderson's ch cb m Ladybird, 9st 4lbs	Juman Shah	3
Mr O'Hara's sk w g Federation, 10st 7lbs	Mr Martin	0
Capt Grove's g cb m Moti, 9st 7lbs ...	Owner	0

BETTING: 5 to 2 on Songstress, 6 to 1 against each Najib, Ladybird, Federation, and Moti.

They raced abreast for a space, then Najib, Songstress and Moti showed in front till within the rails the latter died away, Najib and Songstress came on and after a great race the former won by half length; length and half between second and third. Time—40⅖secs.

HANDICAP CHASE.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second Rs. 50 to third. For Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-2 and under, others 14-0 and under, that which started on the first day. Steeple-Chase Course about 1¼ miles.

Mr Leah's b cb m The Lamb 9st 13lb (car 11st 21b)	Owner	1
Mr J Smith's b a h Lucky Star, 9st 3lbs ...	Capt Grove	2
Capt Barry-Drew's g a g Gazetteer (10st 11lbs car) 10st 10lbs	Martin	3
Mr S W Anderson's b a g Barnaby Rudge, 9st 10lbs	Egan	fell

BETTING: Evens Lucky Star, 5 to 4 Barnaby Rudge, 3 to 1 Gazetteer, 10 to 1 The Lamb.

Barnaby Rudge showed out in front till the sixth fence, where he came down, and Lucky Star followed by Gazetteer with Lamb in the rear now took the lead till the last fence, where Lucky Star and Gazetteer both came down, leaving Lamb to come in an easy winner by fifty lengths from Lucky Star; two hundred yards between second and third.

THE QUETTA HANDICAP.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third. A Handicap for ponies which started on the first day. 5 furlongs.

Mr S W Anderson's b w m Grace, 9st 4lbs (car 9st 7lbs)	Churchward	1
Mr Menzies' b a g Zarafshan, 9st 6lbs ...	Capt Grove	2
Capt Minogue's g a g Greylet, 9st (car 9st 2lbs, ...	Egan	3
Capt Barry-Drew's b a g Mustapha, 8st 1clbs	Mr Wallis	0
Capt Eastwood and Mr Newcome's b cb g Sportsman, 9st	Bai Ram	0
Sir Ghaus Baksh's b a h Nasaralla, 8st 7lbs	Juman Shah	0
Major Maxwell's b cb g Richmond, 10st 7lbs	Mr Beatty	0
Messrs Hughes' and Smith's b cb g Queer Fish, 8st 7lbs (car 9st 6lbs) ...	Capt Moore	0

BETTING: Evens Richmond, 2 to 1 Greylet, 5 to 1 each Grace and Zarafshan. 6 to 1 Queer Fish, 10 to 1 each Mustapha, Sportsman and Nasaralla.

Grace jumped off in front, made all the running and won a good race by three-quarters of a length; half a length between second and third. Time—1min. 11⅖secs.

THE QUETTA ST. LEGER.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third. Handicap for all C.-B. horses which started first day 1 mile.

Capt Benwell's ch w m Aureole, 10st 7lbs	Owner	1
Mr S W Anderson's b w g Here's Luck, 10st 7lbs	Churchward	2
Capt Eastwood and Mr Newcome's, bl w g Black Snake, 10st 5lbs	Mr Beatty	3
Mr Giles's b w g Oxide, 9st (car 10st 4lbs)	Capt Moore	0
Mr. J Smith's b w m Bidinia, 9st 8lbs ...	Capt Grove	0

BETTING: 6 to 4 on Aureole, 2 to 1 against Here's Luck, 6 to 1 Black Snake, 8 to 1 Bidinia, 10 to 1 Oxide.

Oxide bolted before the start and took no part in the race. Aureole went off with the lead, which he maintained to the end and won by one and a half lengths; four lengths between second and third. Time—1min. 54⅕secs.

THE SIBIAB HANDICAP.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third. For Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-2 and under, which have never won a race value Rs. 40 or over before the first day of Meeting. 4 furlongs.

Mr O'Hara's b a p Golden Eagle, 10st 10lbs	Mr Beatty	1
Kazi Jalial-ud-din's ch a h Delhi Durbar, 9st 2lbs	Juman Shah	2
Major Showers' b a p Kapurthala, 10st ...	Egan	3
Capt Price's b a h Terror, 9st 2lbs ...	Capt Grove	0
Capt Grove's g cb m Moti, 9st 5lbs ...	Capt Moore	0
Mr Menzie's b a p Najib, 9st 7lbs ...	Capt Benwell	0

BETTING: 6 to 4 against Delhi Durbar, 3 to 1 Golden Eagle, 5 to 1 each Kapurthala, Terror, Najib, 6 to 1 Moti.

They ran in a bunch till within the distance Golden Eagle, Delhi Durbar and Kapurthala drew to the front, and after an exciting finish Golden Eagle won by a neck; same distance between second and third. Time—56⅖secs.

THE JHALAWAN PURSE.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third. A Handicap for Arab and C.-B. ponies that started on the first day. 1 mile.

Mr Ingham's ch a h Ginger, 11st 5lbs ...	Churchward	1
„ Menzie's b a p Zarafshan, 9st 8lbs ...	Egan	2
Capt Grove's b a h Rubicon, 10st 8lbs ...	Owner	3
„ Hislop's ch a h Roburite, 9st 3lbs ...	Capt Moore	0
Mr O'Hara's b cb g Tam, 9st	Bai Ram	0
Major Showers b cb m Sib, 8st 7lbs ...	Juman Shah	0
Mr S W Anderson's br cb g True Blue, 11st	Mr Beatty	0

BETTING: 6 to 4 against Rubicon, 2 to 1 Ginger, 3 to 1 each Zarafshan, True Blue, 20 to 1 the rest.

Ginger jumped off with the lead, which he maintained to the end, finally winning by a length and half; a short head between second and third. Time—2mins. 0⅖secs.

(BY SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

Third Day, Saturday, 30th May 1903.

This day's racing brought a most successful meeting to a close: the attendance was again large and the arrangements perfect. The card was an excellent one and provided great sport which was watched throughout with keen interest. The executive deserve great credit for the success which has attended the meeting throughout, and it is hoped the Autumn fixture next September will meet with an equal success.

BALUCHISTAN CUP.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second Rs. 50 to third. A handicap for all C.-B. horses that have started at the meeting. 6 furlongs.

FREE DRAWING.
FULL FLAVOUR.
MANUFACTURED BY
SPENCER & CO., Ld., Madras.

JAVA DAWSON.

OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.
Sole Wholesale Agents in
CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY, OAKES & Co.

Major Maxwell's Richmond, 10st 12lbs	...	Mr Beaty	1
Nawab Shahbaz Khan's Hazari, 9st	...	Native	2
Khushdil Khan's Phurrie, 8st 7lbs	...	Juman Shah	3
Nawab Shahbaz Khan's Mir Bauz, 8st 4lbs		Native	0

BETTING: Evens Richmond, 2 to 1 agst Hazari, 5 to 1 Phurrie, 10 to 1 Mir Bauz.

Richmond drew away from the start, made all the running and won by five lengths; ten lengths between second and third. Time—1min. 30secs.

SAMUNGLI PURSE.—Rs. 200 to winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third. A handicap for ponies that started in either the Scurry stakes on the first day, or the Beginners' Purse on the second day. 3 furlongs.

Kazi Jallaluddin's Delhi Durbar, 9st 11lb (car 9st 5lbs)...	...	Egan	1
Capt Wilkinson's Judy, 10st 5lbs	...	Churchward	2
Mr Menzies' Najib, 9st 12lbs ...	...	Capt Benwell	3
Capt Grove's Walnut, 8st 7lbs	...	Juman Shah	0
Ditto's Moti, 8st 12lbs (car 9st 11lb)	...	Owner	0
Col Yates' Rudolf, 8st 7lbs (car 8st 9lbs)		Mr Wallis	0
Mr O'Hara's Federation, 8st 12lbs	...	Bai Ram	0
„ J Smith's Songstress, 11st	...	Mr Beaty	0
Capt Hislop's Dawn, 8st 12lbs (car 9st 7lbs)	...	Owner	0
Mr Dyer's Junglie, 8st (car 8st 13lbs)	...	Capt Moore	0

BETTING: 6 to 4 on Songstress, 2 to 1 each Delhi Durbar and Judy, 4 to 1 Najib, 6 to 1 Federation, 8 to 1 each Walnut, Moti, Rudolf, Dawn, and Junglie.

After considerable delay they were sent away when Delhi Durbar, followed by Judy, showed in front and maintaining his position to the end won by a length; a length and a half between second and third. Time—43½secs.

TAKATU PURSE.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third. A handicap for all ponies that have started at the meeting. 5 furlongs.

Mr Anderson's Grace, 9st 12lbs	...	Churchward	1
Messrs Hughes and Smith's Queer Fish, 9st		Capt More	2
Capt Hislop's Roburite, 9st ...	...	Owner	3
Major Maxwell's Richmond, 10st	...	Mr Beaty	0
Mr Menzies' Najib, 9st 5lbs ...	...	Capt Grove	0

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Grace, 2 to 1 agst Richmond, 5 to 1 Queer Fish, 6 to 1 Najib, 10 to 1 Roburite.

Grace early showed the way, was never headed and won by a length and a half; a length between second and third. Time—1min 12secs.

GOLD CUP.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third. A handicap for all horses that have started at the meeting. R. C.

Mr J Smith's Bidinia, 9st 5lbs	...	Capt Grove	1
Capt Benwell's Aureole, 11st 12lbs	...	Owner	2
Mr Anderson's Here's Luck, 10st 7lbs	...	Churchward	3
Capt Eastwood and Mr Newcome's Black Snake, 10st 3lbs	... ...	Mr Beaty	0

BETTING: 6 to 4 on Aureole, evens Here's Luck, 6 to 1 Bidinia, 8 to 1 Black Snake.

Bidinia, attended by Aureole and Here's Luck, soon assumed the lead and though Aureole made an effort near the distance she failed to get near Bidinia, who won by a length; eight lengths between second and third. Time—2mins. 15secs.

PANIR PLATE.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third A handicap for all ponies that have started at the meeting 1 mile.

Mr Anderson's True Blue, 10st 3lbs	...	Mr Beaty	1
Capt Grove's Rubicon, 10st 11b	...	Owner	2
Mr Menzies' Zarafshan, 9st 11lbs	...	Capt Hislop	3
Capt Minogue's Greylet, 9st 3lbs (car 9st 4lbs) ...	...	Egan	0
Mr Ingham's Ginger, 11st 6lbs	...	Churchward	0
„ Davidson's Oriel, 9st ...	...	Capt Hislop	0

BETTING: 6 to 4 on Ginger, 2 to 1 agst Rubicon, 4 to 1 each True Blue, Zarafshan and Greylet, 6 to 1 Oriel.

Ginger, followed by Rubicon and Greylet, made the running at a great pace till near the distance, where he was done. Here True Blue, coming through, challenged and shortly drew away and won by a length; three lengths between second and third.

CONSOLATION STAKES.—Rs. 200 to the winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third. A handicap for all ponies that have run at the meeting and not won. ½ mile.

Capt Eastwood and Mr Newcome's Sportsman, 8st 12lbs	...	Bai Ram	1
Major Showers' Kapurthala, 10st 7lbs	...	Egan	2
Capt Hislop's Roburite, 9st (car 9st 5lbs)		Owner	3
„ Price's Terror, 8st 12lbs	...	Capt Grove	0
Sir Ghaus Baksh's Nasaralla, 8st 12lbs	...	Juman Shah	0
Messrs Hughes and Smith's Queer Fish, 8st 10lbs (car 9st 3lbs)	... ...	Capt Moore	0
Capt Barry Drew's Mustapha, 8st 12lbs	...	Mr Malbis	0

BETTING: 6 to 1 agst Kapurthala, 3 to 1 Terrior, 4 to 1 Roburite, 6 to 1 each Sportsman, Nasaralla, Queer Fish, and Mustapha.

Sportsman and Kapurthala in company cut out the running, and, after a good race to the distance, the former drew away and won by a length; two lengths between second and thid. Time—56½secs.

HUNT CHASE.—Rs. 200 to winner, Rs. 100 to second, Rs. 50 to third. A handicap chase for all ponies that have started at the meeting. Steeplechase Course about 1¼ miles.

Mr J Smith's Lucky Star, 10st Capt. Grove W. O.

BANGALORE RACES.

Second Extra Day. 28th May 1903.

STILL does plucky little Bangalore keep her head above water—and well above water—in South Indian racing. On the 28th May a really nice little afternoon's sport took place, and the presence of a couple of well-known bookmakers on their way to the forthcoming big meetings in Mysore and Bangalore, greatly enhanced the interest of the proceedings. Conducted by Mr. Jotter, Band Master of the 6th Dragoon Guards, the Band of the 1st Moplah Rifles played an excellent selection of music, whilst "fair women and brave men" were present to a very fair extent, although many prominent Bangaloreans are still away on the Nilgiri Hills. The weather was absolutely delicious—cloud without rain—and with regard to the racing, it was only fair give-and-take between backers and fielders although the latter probably had a bit the best of it. With regard to the racing, as each event is described in its place it is unnecessary to say more here.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant
Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle
According to size. From
J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

Events and results:—

THE NOVICE STAKES.—Rs. 125, of which the second pony will receive 25. For ponies that have never won a race of the value of Rs. 50 or over. ¼ mile.

Mrs Randall's br aus g Assegai, 10st 13lbs	...	Capt Randall	1
Mr Gwyer's g a h Cat, 9st 3lbs	...	Mr Knight	2
Capt E J R Peel's bk aus m Starlight, 10st 10½lbs ...	...	Owner	3

BETTING: 3 to 1 on Assegai, 2 to 1 agst Starlight and 10 to 1 Cat.

Cat led for a furlong, when Assegai came through and won easily by a length; four lengths between second and third. Time—59½ secs.

THE ARAB WELTER.—Rs. 125, of which the second pony will receive Rs. 25. For Arab ponies 14-1 and under. 6 furlongs.

Mr E Sydenham's b a h Syndic, 11st 7lbs	...	Capt Randall	1
Lieut-Col A Sprot's ch a h Harefoot, 10st 10lbs	...	Capt Dougall	2
Capt R M Bell's g a h Essex, 9st 7lbs	...	Col Armstrong	3
Mr Strickland's ch a h Little Tom, 9st 9lbs		Mr Fischer	0

BETTING: 7 to 4 on Essex, 2 to 1 agst Syndic, 4 to 1 Harefoot, and 6 to 1 Little Tom.

It was never thought that a little pony like Syndic could carry the weight home, and Essex was heavily backed.

The favourite made running for a couple of furlongs, but declined to gallop when challenged and Mr Sydenham's beautiful little pony galloping out to the last stride carried his big weight home in really first-class style a length in front of Harefoot. Essex was third three lengths away. Time—1min. 28½secs.

THE PONY STEEPLECHASE.—Rs. 125, of which the second pony will receive Rs. 25. For ponies 14-1 and under. About 1¾ miles.

Mr Spooner Hart's br aus g Good Chap, 10st 7lbs ..	... ...	Burns	1
Mr Anketell Jones' b e m Lady Abbess, 11st 10lbs ...	... ...	Capt Randall	2
Mr Waterhouse's b aus m Flight, 12st 3lbs		Owner	3
„ Knight's b a h Mish Mish, 9st 10lbs ...		Owner	0

BETTING: 6 to 4 on Lady Abbess, 2 to 1, each agst Flight and Good Chap and 10 to 1 Mish Mish.

Lady Abbess came away from the start with Flight at her girths and Mish Mish last. The latter soon ran out, and the two former went into the country side by side, with Good Chap lying four or five lengths behind. Burns' mount was jumping badly, but he kept him on his legs, and joined issue with the leaders at the half mile post, subsequently coming away and winning without an effort. The official verdict was two lengths, but it looked much more—with plucky litte Flight, utterly crushed by the big weight, three lengths behind the second pony. Time—3mins. 31⅗secs.

THE PLATER STAKES.—Rs. 125, of which the second pony will receive Rs. 25. For ponies. 5 furlongs.

Mr R P Symonds', bk aus m Cleopatra II, 10st 7lbs ...	... ...	Col Armstrong	1
Mr Graham's ch aus m Shot Silk, 7st 10lbs		Baboth Singh	2

BETTING: 5 to 2 on Cleopatra II and evens Shot Silk.

One was a racing pony and the other a polo pony, and it was almost ludicrous to see Col Armstrong hanging on to the favourite. He let her go a few strides from home and won in the commonest of canters by a neck. Time—1min. 13⅗secs.

THE HORSE WELTER HANDICAP.—Rs. 125, of which the second horse will receive Rs. 25. For Chargers and Hacks that have never won a race of the value of Rs. 100 or over. ½ mile.

Mr L Robinson's br aus g Star, 11st 7lbs ...		Meah Jan	1
Capt E J R Peel's b aus h The Gaffer, 11st 11b ...	... ...	Owner	2
Major A C Hamilton's ch aus h Rubicon, 11st 4lbs ...	... ...	Capt Randall	3
Mr Kidd's b aus m Jess, 10st 7lbs		Mr Waterhouse	0
Col J P. Grant's ch c b g Philistine, 10st ...		Burns	0

BETTING: Evens The Gaffer, 2 to 1 Star, and 4 to 1 each Rubicon, Jess, and Philistine.

Star got the best, and The Gaffer and Jess the worst of a bad start, and Mr Robinson's horse held the command throughout winning by a length, with Rubicon double that distance behind the favourite. Time—54secs.

THE POLO RACE.—Rs. 125, of which the second pony will receive Rs. 25. For bonâ fide Polo ponies 14-1 and under that have regularly played polo. Certificate from Polo Secretary to accompany entry. 2 furlongs.

Mr Gwyer's b a h Burgundy, 10st 11b ...		Mr Saunders	1
„ Graham's br aus g Kepplar, 11st 6lbs...		Capt Randall	2
„ R Anketell Jones' ch a g China, 11st 7lbs ...	... ...	Capt Dougall	3
Capt E J R Peel's ch a h Ruby, 9st 12lbs...		Capt Tatam	0
Mr Knight's b a h Mish Mish, 9st 4lbs ...		Mr Waterhouse	0
Capt A T Cole's gr a h Augustus, 9st ...		Mr Knight	0

BETTING: 6 to 4 agst China, 2 to 1 Kepplar, 4 to 1 Burgundy, 6 to 1 each Ruby and Mish Mish and 8 to 1 Augustus.

A veritable scurry, in which Burgundy got home by a length with Kepplar half a length in front of China. Time—29⅗secs.

DARJEELING SKY RACES.

STEWARDS.

L. Hare, Esq., I. C. S.
E. H. C Walsh, Esq., I. C. S.
A J. Shillingford, Esq.
C. P. Andrews, Esq.
Allan Davys, Esq.
Lieut.-Col. Trench, 2nd West Ridings
Major Cockburn, R. A.
Major Wimberley
W. H. Edwards, Esq.
Capt. Harding Newman, A.-D.-C.

Capt A. J. Welch, Honorary Secretary, "Edelweiss," Darjeeling.

With power to add to their number.

Clerk of the Scales.—Major Wimberley.
Judge.—Lt.-Col. Trench
Starter.—C. P. Andrews, Esq.
Clerk of the Course.—Capt. A. J. Welch.

First Day. Friday. 29th May. 1903.

CAPTAIN WELCH and the Executive are to be congratulated on the success of the races just concluded. It has been an exceedingly pleasant meeting and everything went harmoniously, the catering for the public and the sportsmen being in the usual style, which has gained for Darjeeling a happy reputation. The first day was originally fixed for the 27th, but at the time fixed for the first race a deluge of rain (kindly note I do not use the words Jupiter Pluvius) came down and the course was converted into a lake. Racing was consequently out of the question, and the programme was put off till next day. The weather was all that could be desired the following afternoon, and all Darjeeling and the District found their way down to Lebong, and were rewarded by witnessing some excellent racing. The most important race, the Lieutenant-Governor's Cup, was handsomely won by The Duke, who was excellently ridden by that fine horseman, Captain Travers, who got every ounce out of him and snatched a half length victory from the handsome mare Comely. Mr. Galstaun's new C. S. Cup candidate Rosalea also ran in this race, but made a very sorry exhibition She got off badly, was ridden badly, and finished in the rear division. We had no chance of seeing whether this was wrong form as Mr. Galstaun inadvertently omitted to send in his declarations for the second day. Mr. Walker was much commiserated on his mishap in the "Garrison Stakes." Richard was a certainty, but his saddle slipped soon after the start and he was pulled out. However, Mr. Wellesley, a popular young officer here, stepped into the breach, and brought his mount along with a rare rattle at the finish, getting home almost on the post.

The second day also proved an ideal racing day, and the favorites rolled home with the persistency which is so productive of objectionable language on the part of that ubiquitous individual "the bookmaker"—6 favorites and 2 second favorites! but the long-suffering punters must have an innings sometimes. Tightrope was sent up to win the Lieutenant-Governor's Cup, but having won more than the advertised limit, was not qualified to run, so the winner, The Duke, was challenged to a match at the weights. The race was a great one. The Duke forced the pace and kept a length or so ahead the whole way, and it was only entering the straight that Tightrope made an effort to challenge, but the Duke full of running answered gamely to the call of his rider, and passed the post on easy length to the good. Charlie Bobby, and Comet cut the course in their respective races, while Richard in the "Burdwan Cup" attempted to gallop up a sheer wall, giving a youth we have here, named Byrne, a nasty fall and a severe shaking. The following were the particulars:—

NOVICE STAKES.—For a Cup value Rs 49. For Arabs and C.-B.'s 14-1 and under, and others 13-3 and under, that have never won a stake value Rs. 40 or over. Arabs and C.-B.'s 14-1 and others 13-3 to carry 12st. W.I. ¼ mile.

Mr A J Shillingford's b cb m Ringlet, 10st 13lbs ...	... ...	Mr Metcalfe	1
Mr F Chamberlain's br cb m Zulu Girl, 10st 7lbs ...	... ..	Capt Travers	2
Mr C F Andrews' b a p Bridegroom, 10st 4lbs ...	... ...	Mr Davis	3
Mr A T Walker's g aus g Richard, 12st ...		Owner	0

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Ringlet, 3 to 1 Richard, 4 to 1 Zulu Girl, 8 to 1 Bridegroom.

LOTTERIES.—Tickets Rs. 20. Ringlet Rs. 60, Richard Rs. 45, Zulu Girl Rs. 15. Dainty Rs. 5, Bridegroom Rs. 5.

Zulu Girl got away with the lead and led the pace a cracker for the first round, when Ringlet commenced to come up, the other two being distanced. At the far end entering the straight Ringlet closed and a good race home resulted in a verdict for the daughter of Ringmaster by a length.

HABSA PLATE.—For a Cup value Rs. 49. For all Bhutia ponies 13-1 to carry 11st. W.I. Previous winners of Rs. 40 or over once 7lbs., twice 14lbs., three times or over 21lbs. extra. 1 mile.

Mr Mackie's g b g Comet, 10st 2lbs	...	Mr Pickering	1
Mr K Shempa's g b g Bahadur, 8st 7lbs	...	Mr Galstaun	2
Mr Price's g b g Chota Sahib, 11st 2lbs	...	Mr Parsons	3
Mr Pulford's bl b g Albert, 8st 7lbs	...	Lord Dundas	0
Mr Palden's g b g Chukmuk, 11st 9lbs	...	Mr Metcalfe	0

BETTING: 6 to 4 Bahadur, 3 to 1 Comet, 7 to 5 Chota Sahib, 10 to 1 Albert, 20 to 1 Chukmuk.

LOTTERIES:—Tickets Rs. 200. Chota Sahib Rs. 65, Bahadur Rs. 55, Comet Rs 45, Albert Rs. 10, Chukmuk Rs. 10.

Bahadur and Chota Sahib raced in company for half the journey, Comet close up behind. At the last turn Comet was taken to the front and won a good race by a length, Chota Sahib close up third.

DESERT STAKES.—For a Cup value Rs. 49. For Arabs and C.-B.'s. 14-1 and under that have never won a stake value Rs. 50 or over. 14-1 to carry 11st 7lbs. W.I. ¼ mile.

Mr A J Shillingford's b cb m Ringlet, 10st 6lbs ...	... ...	Mr Metcalfe	1
Mr C J Pickering's b a h Chieftain, 8st 13lbs ...	... ...	Mr Byrne	2
Mr L Hare's grey a g Wasib, 11st 7lbs		Mr A T Walker	3
Mr C Harrison's ch a g Gareth, 10st ...		Owner	0
Capt. Harding-Newman's b a p Nettle, 10st 6lbs ...	... ...	Mr Pickering	0
Mr. F Chamberlain's b cb m Zulu Girl, 10st		Capt. Travers	0

BETTING: Evens Ringlet, 3 to 1 Chieftain, 3 to 1 Gareth, 5 to 1 Nettle, 6 to 1 Zulu Girl, 8 to 1 Wasib.

LOTTERIES:—Tickets Rs. 200. Ringlet Rs. 50, Gareth Rs. 30, Zulu Girl Rs. 20, Nettle Rs. 80, Chieftain Rs. 5, Wasib Rs 0.

Ringlet again proved her superiority over the field by a comparatively easy win. A good race for second place.

THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR'S CUP.—For a Cup value Rs. 49, presented by H.H. the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. For all ponies 14-1 and under that have never won a race value Rs. 500 or over. English and Australasians 14-1, 12st 2lbs; Arabs and C.-B's 14-1, 10st 4lbs. W.I. Penalties—Winners of a race value Rs 200 or over, once 5lbs, twice 8lbs, oftener 10lbs. Ponies that have never won a race value Rs. 50 or over allowed 7lbs. 1 mile.

Mr A Keelan's br aus g The Duke, 11st ...		Capt Travers	1
„ A J Shillingford's b cb m Comely, 9st 6lbs ...	... ...	Mr Metcalfe	2
Capt Harding-Newman's b a p Hindustan, 8st 5lbs ...	.. ...	Mr Fenton	3
Mr Galstaun's bl aus m Rosalea, 10st 2lbs		Mr Chater	0
„ Samuel's b aus m Coquette, 10st 5lbs		Mr Parsons	0

BETTING: 4 to 6 on Rosalea, 2 to 1 Duke, 3 to 1 Comely, 8 to 1 Hindustan, 10 to 1 Coquette.

LOTTERIES: Tickets Rs. 200. Rosalea Rs. 80-75, Duke Rs. 50-0 40, Comely Rs. 40-25, Coquette Rs, 20-25, Hindustan Rs. 15-10.

Hindustan led the field for the best part of the journey, with Comely second and The Duke next. At the last turn Hindustan fell back and Comely went on attended by The Duke, and a grand race down the straight with a determined finish by Capt. Travers resulted in The Duke securing the verdict by half a length, Rosalea scared all the other competitors, but she never made a bid for the race at any time.

POLO SCURRY.—For a Cup value Rs. 49. For all polo ponies that have played regularly in the Darjeeling and Jalpaiguri districts during the current season. Best of three heats without dismounting. Catch-weights over 11st 7lbs. ¼ mile.

Mr A T Walker's g aus g Bobby	...	Owner	1
„ L Hare's b a p El Rasim ...	...	Mr Metcalfe	2
„ C P Andrews' b a p Bridegroom	...	Mr Davis	0
„ Hammond's b aus g Tarquin	...	Mr Pickering	0

BETTING: 1½ to 1 Bobby, 2 to 1 El Rasim, 3 to 1 Bridegroom, 6 to 1 Tarquin.

LOTTERIES: Tickets Rs. 200. Bobby Rs. 40, El Rasim Rs. 20 Tarquin Rs. 5, Bridegroom Rs. 5.

Bobby won two heats in succession with El Rasim second.

THE COOCH BEHAR CUP.—For a Cup value Rs. 49, presented by H.H. the Maharajah of Cooch Behar. For English and Australians 13-2½ and under, and Arabs and C.-B.'s 14 hands and under that have never won a race value Rs. 50 or over. Arabs and C.-B.'s 14-0 and others 13-2½ to carry 12st. W. I. 5 furlongs.

FULL FLAVOURED.
MADE SOLELY FROM THE BEST INDIAN TOBACCO.
SPENCER & Co., Ld.,
MADRAS

SIESTAS.

Made in three sizes.
Extras 6 ins. long, Rs. 20 per 1,000.
No. 1, 5 „ „ „ 15 „ 1,000.
„ 2, 4 „ „ „ 14 „ 1,000
FACTORY: DINDIGUL, S. IN DI

Mr Price's b aus g The Swell, 11st 11lbs Mr Parsons 1
„ A J Shillingford's b cb m Ringlet, 11st 11lbs ... ... Mr Metcalfe 2
Mr Payne's g cb m Lightning II, 11st 2lbs Mr Byrne 3
Mr C J Pickering's ch a p Ronald, 11st 3lbs Owner 0

BETTING: 4 to 6 on Ringlet, 2 to 1 Swell, 5 to 1 Lightning 10 to 1 Ronald.

LOTTERIES: Tickets Rs. 200. Ringlet Rs. 50, Swell Rs. 45, Lightning Rs. 15, Ronald Rs. 5.

Lightning went away with the bac, with Ringlet next and The Swell close up. Lightning, however, was soon done with, and with Ronald hopelessly in the rear the race resolved into a match between Ringlet and The Swell. The latter ran gamely enough and wearing down the mare beat her by about a length.

GARRISON STAKES.—For all ponies 14-1 and under, bonâ fide the property of officers of the Garrison and to be ridden by the same that have never won Rs. 40 or over. 14-1 to carry 12st 7lbs. Arabs and C.-B's allowed 2lbs. W.I. 5 furlongs.

Mr F H B Wellesley's b a g Charlie, 9st 10lbs ... ... Owner 1
Mr C J Pickering's b a h Chieftain, 8st 3lbs Capt Travers 2
Lord G Dundas's ch cb m Lassie, 9st 13lbs Owner 3
Mr A T Walker's g aus g Richard, 10st 13lbs Owner 0
„ A T Walker's g aus g Bobby, 10st 10lbs Mr Gall 0

BETTING: Evens Richard, 4 to 1 Bobby 5 to 1 Charlie, 5 to 1 Chieftain 6 to 1 Lassie.

LOTTERIES: Tickets Rs 200. Walker's stable Rs. 90, Lassie Rs. 20, Chieftain Rs. 10, Charlie Rs. 5.

Richard went out the hope of the Garrison, but unfortunately his saddle slipped soon after the start, and Chieftain went on with Lassie, Charlie whipping in. At the far corner Charlie was set going and to the surprise of everyone he caught the leaders in the straight, and there ensued a great race between the three, Charlie just securing the verdict by a neck; Lassie half a length off third.

THE FRED ARCHER PLATE.—Rs. 20 to the first and Rs. 10 to the second. For all Bhutia ponies that have been regularly hired out in the station, to be ridden by N.-C. O.'s or men of the Garrison. Catch-weights 11st 7lbs. 5 furlongs.

This was the usual amusing finale to the day. About 16 started and amused the onlookers no end by deeds of horsemanship The winner turned up in the Gillafon whose horse ran off the course, but he got it going straight again, and won amidst great applause.

Second Day, Saturday, 30th May, 1903.

THIBET STAKES.—For a cup value Rs. 49. A handicap for all Bhutias. 1 mile.

Mr K Shempa's g b g Bahadur, 9st 3lbs ... Mr Galstaun 1
„ Price's g b g Chota Sahib, 11st 7lbs ... Mr Parsons 2
„ Mackie's g b g Comet, 11st 5lbs ... Mr Pickering 3
„ Palden's g b g Chukmuk, 10st 12lbs ... Mr Metcalfe 0
„ Pulford's bl b g Albert, 8st 5lbs ... Lord Dundas 0

BETTING: 1½ to 1 Comet, 1¼ to 1 Bahadur, 2½ to 1 Chota Sahib, 20 to 1 Chukmuk, 20 to 1 Albert.

LOTTERIES.—Tickets Rs. 200, Bahadur Rs. 45, Chota Sahib Rs. 45, Comet Rs. 35, Albert Rs. 5, Chukmuk Rs. 5.

Bahadur was at once taken to the front, and keeping ahead the whole way won from Chota Sahib by a length; Comet a length off third.

HIMALAYAN PURSE.—For a cup value Rs. 49. A handicap for all Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-1 and under that have never won Rs. 50 or over. ¾ mile.

Mr C J Pickering's b a h Chieftain, 9st 4lbs ... ... Mr Parsons 1
Mr Pickering's b a h Ronald, 9st 4lbs ... Capt Travers 2
„ F Chamberlain's br cb m Zulu Girl, 9st 7lbs ... ... Mr Metcalfe 3
Mr McKenzie's g cb m Asthore, 10st 12lbs Mr Walker 0

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Chieftain, 3 to 1 Asthore, 5 to 1 Zulu Girl, 10 to 1 Ronald LOTTERIES.—Tickets Rs. 200, Pickering's stable Rs. 70, Zulu Girl Rs. 45, Asthore Rs. 20.

Zulu Girl dashed away at the start and held a good lead for half a mile when she shot her bolt, and Chieftain took command, followed by Ronald. Ronald made a great effort down the straight but Chieftain had the legs of him and won easily by a length and a half.

THE RAJSHAHI CUP.—For a cup value Rs. 49, presented by the Commissioner of Rajshahi. For all ponies bonâ fide the property of Owners, Managers and Assistants of Tea Gardens in the Darjeeling, Rajshahi and Jalpaiguri districts and to be ridden by the same, that have been regularly ridden on gardens up to 15th May 1903. W I 14-1 to carry 12st. 7lbs. Bhutias allowed 3st, Arabs and C.-B's. 21lbs, previous winners of Rs. 40 or over once 5 lbs, twice 10 lbs, three times or over 14 lbs. extra. 5 furlongs

Mr T E Metcalfe's b aus m Norah, 10st 9lbs ... ... Mr Metcalfe 1
Mr C P Andrews' b a p Bridegroom, 9st 4lbs ... ... Mr Mackie 2
Mr Wilfrid's b cb g Rufus, 9st 4lbs ... Mr Davis 3

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Norah, evens Bridegroom, 4 to 1 Rufus

LOTTERIES.—Tickets Rs. 200, Rufus Rs. 50, Norah Rs. 30 Bridegroom Rs. 30.

Norah took the lead attended by Bridegroom, but she soon shook him off and sailed home an easy winner

MATCH FOR Rs. 50.—5 furlongs.

Mr Keelan's br aus g The Duke, 10st 12lbs ... ... Capt Travers 1
Mr Samuel's Tightrope, 10st 3lbs ... Mr Parsons 2

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Tightrope, 1½ agst. The Duke.

The Duke was taken to the front and kept there right up to the winning post. Tightrope hung on to him the whole way and attempted a challenge down the straight, but The Duke answering gamely forged ahead and won nicely by a length.

HURLINGHAM VASE.—For a cup value Rs. 49. A handicap for all polo ponies that have played regularly in the Lebong Station game during the current season. 3 furlongs.

Capt Harding-Newman's b a p Hindustan, 12st ... ... Mr Parsons 1
Lord G Dundas' ch cb m Lassie, 9st 7lbs... Owner 2
Mr F H B Wellesley's b a g Charlie, 11st 7lbs ... ... Owner ran out

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Hindustan, 3 to 1 Lassie, 4 to 1 Charlie.

LOTTERIES.—Tickets Rs. 200, Hindustan Rs. 55, Lassie Rs. 30 Charlie, Rs 25.

Hindustan took the lead followed by Charlie, but the latter ran out at the bend past the stand, and as Lassie could not make Hindustan gallop he won in a canter.

THE BURDWAN CUP.—For a cup value Rs. 49, presented by H. H. the Maharajah of Burdwan. Handicap for Arabs and C.-B.s 14-1 and under, others 13-3½ and under that have never won a race value Rs. 200 or over. ¾ mile.

Mr Price's b aus g The Swell, 9st 12lbs ... Mr Parsons 1
„ Shillingford's b cb m Ringlet, 9st 9lbs Mr Metcalfe 2
„ A T Walker's g aus g Richard, 7st 7lbs Mr Byrne fell

BETTING: 6 to 4 on Ringlet, evens The Swell, 5 to 1 Richard

LOTTERIES: Tickets Rs. 200, Ringlet Rs. 60, The Swell Rs. 60, Richard Rs. 15.

Ringlet gave a lot of trouble at the post, and extinguished her undoubted chance by the state she worked herself into. She ran with no heart in the race and The Swell sailed ahead the whole way, winning easily by a couple of lengths.

Richard jibbed at the start and got off very badly, going in hopeless pursuit of the others. At the bend near the stand he cut the course and ran up a perpendicular bank several feet, and then fell back giving his rider, young Byrne, a severe fall.

KINCHINJUNGA PLATE.—For a cup value Rs. 49. A handicap for all ponies that have run on the first day. 1 mile.

Mr A J Shillingford's b cb m Comely, 10st 11lb ... ... Mr Metcalfe 1
Mr Samuel's b aus m Coquette, 10st 5lbs ... Mr Parsons 2
„ C J Pickering's b a h Chieftain, 8st 7lbs Mr Galstaun 3
„ C J Pickering's ch a p Ronald, 8st 7lbs Owner 0
„ A T Walker's g aus g Bobby, 8st 5lbs ... Capt Travers out

BETTING: 6 to 4 on Comely, evens Coquette 5 to 1 Chieftain 8 to 1 Bobby, 20 to 1 Ronald.

LOTTERIES.—Tickets Rs. 200, Coquette, Rs 95, Comely, Rs 75, Bobby Rs. 10, Pickering's stable Rs. 10.

Coquette went out the hope of the backers and made a bold bid for victory, but Comely was always handy and challenging down the straight a great race ensued, the country bred getting the verdict on the post by a bare half length: Chieftain half-a-dozen lengths off third. Bobby ran out.

MATCH FOR Rs. 40.—1 mile.

Mr Price's Chota Sahib 1
Mr Gill's Comet ... ... ran out.

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Chota Sahib, 1½ to 1 Comet. Comet got the best of the start, but extinguished his chances by running out at the first turn, having Chota Sahib to walk over for the stakes.

LEBONG PURSE.—For all Bhutia ponies, the property of natives, and to be ridden by the same.

Seven started for this race which was better run than usual. The winner turned up in the pony which was ridden by Private Gillafon in the Fred Archer Stakes, this time ridden by a Chinese boy who rode on the withers a la Tod Sloan

DIBRUGARH SKY MEETING.

STEWARDS.

J F GRUNING ESQ I C S | M M HADOW ESQ
C H HOLDER ESQ | S S HAWKINS ESQ
F E WINSLAND ESQ | E C S BAKER ESQ
Honorary Secretary.—E C STUART BAKER ESQ.

Tuesday, 26th May 1903.

JUNCTION STAKES.—Rs. 100 Handicap for ponies 13-1 and under owned by men who have never won a Race value Rs. 100 or over. Distance 3 furlongs.

Dr Rae's b aus m No Trumps, 10st 10lbs ... Mr Sherwill 1
Mr Pengree's bk aus m Gypsy, 10st 10lbs... Mr Green 2
„ E M Wood's sk aus m Corona, 9st 10lbs Mr Baker 3
„ Semple's b aus m Killarney, 11st 0lbs ... Mr F Holder 0
„ J F Gruning's b aus m The Waif 10st 4½lb ... ... Mr Bell 0
Mr Glennie's b aus g Drayton, 10st 3lbs ... Mr W Holder 0

Won by a length and a half; two lengths between second and third. Time—42⅘ secs.

STEEPLECHASE.—Rs 200 Handicap for ponies 13-1 and under that have never won a Steeplechase or Hurdle Race value Rs. 200 or over. 1½ miles.

Mr Hutchinson's b aus m Invernet 12st Mr Sherwill 1
„ E Holders sk aus m Sketch 11st 2lbs Mr Ball } fell
„ Copeland's b aus m Partridge 9st 9lbs Lalsing }

Won any how.

ASSISTANTS' RACE.—100 to winner 50 to second Handicap for all ponies 13-1 under owned by Assistants and others on Tea Gardens drawing Rs. 300 or under a month. Distance ¾ mile.

Mr Bundock' br aus m Butcha 11-7 ... Mr F Holder 1
„ Green's b aus g Paddy 11-7 ... Mr Green 2
„ Soole's b aus m Bona Fide 10-5 ... Mr Soole 3
„ Allen's b aus g Bullfinch 11-1 ... Mr Allen 0
„ Langley's ch aus m Tottie Fay 10-8½ ... Mr Sherwill 0

Won by 6 lengths; 2 lengths between second and third. Time 61⅘ Secs.

LAKHIMPUR STAKES.— Rs. 100 Handicap for ponies 13-1 and under that have never won a race value Rs. 100 or over. Distance ¾ mile.

Mr Rae's b aus m No Trumps, 11st ... Mr Sherwill 1
„ E Wood's sk aus m Corona, 10st 7lbs ... „ Bell 2
„ A Copeland's cr aus m Betsy, 10st ... „ Baker 3
„ Glennie's h aus g Drayton, 10st 10lbs ... „ Green 0

Won, hard held, by a length; three lengths between second and third. Time 60⅘secs.

THE MAY STAKES.—Rs. 200 Handicap for Ponies 13-3 and under. Distance ¾ mile.

Mr Gruning's b aus m Lady Jane, 11st ... Mr Sherwill 1
Messrs Falkiner and Holder's bk aus m Jura, 10st 7lbs ... ... „ Green 2

Won by six lengths. Time 56⅘secs.

POLO RACE.—Rs. 100 Handicap for Polo ponies 13-1 and under (Certificate as per General condition 7 must accompany entry, or it will be refused.) Distance 5 furlongs.

Mr F Holder's b aus m Burleighsque, 10st 6lbs ... ... Mr W Holder 1
„ F Holder's b aus g Mannlicher, 11st 7lbs ... . Owner 2
„ G E Collins' b aus m Coronation 11st Mr Allen 3
„ Copeland's b aus g Pheasant 9st 11½lbs Mr Baker 0
„ Bundock's b aus m Butcha, 10st 7lbs ... Mr Sherwill 0

Won by a short head; two lengths between second and third. Time—56⅘secs.

BUGGY STAKES.—Rs. 100 Handicap for ponies 13-3 and under that have been regularly driven. Distance ¾ mile.

Mr F Holders' b aus g Mannlicher, 11st 7lbs ... ... Mr F Holder 1
Mr Hutchinson's b aus m Invernet, 11st ... Mr Sherwill 2
Mr E Holder's sk aus m Sketch, 10st ... Mr Green 3
„ A Copeland's cr aus m Betsy, 9st 7lbs... Mr Semple 0
„ Semple's b aus m Killarney 10st 7lbs... Mr. Bell 0
„ Gannon's b aus m Blue Bottle, 11st 2lbs Mr Ball 0

Won by four lengths: two lengths between second and third. Time—1min. 32secs.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.
According to size. From
J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

COLOMBO MONSOON MEETING.

First Day, Wednesday, 21st May 1903.

THE opening day's sport was brought off in splendid weather and a programme of six races carried through. There was a large attendance and good sport witnessed. Mr. Bartleet secured two wins with Poor Me and Mr. Farquharson's stable also had two wins. The race of the day was the last one, the Havelock Handicap. Caloola seemed to have matters his own way and looked like winning his second race of the afternoon when Boniface, finely ridden by his owner, came away and won on the post. Lansdowne and Mr. Quayle shared riding honours. Details:—

MONSOON STAKES.—Rs. 200, and Rs. 50 to the second horse. For Maiden Horses. Weight for age and class raised 1 stone. Entrance Rs. 10. 6 furlongs.

Mr R Farquharson's Boveric, 10st 1½lbs ... Winslow 1
„ C C Herbert's Rapier, 10st ... Lansdowne 2
Capt A C Pitman's Mountaineer, 10st ... Owner 3

Also ran: Mr. W. Bartleet's Gretna (Abboo) and Mr. Eric Watson's Nisi Prius. The last-named was left at the post owing to an accident to the saddle.

BETTING: 6 to 4 on Boveric, evens Rapier, 10 to 1 agst any other.

Totalisator paid Rs. 3.

Won easily by two lengths; a very bad third, and Gretna was completely out of it. Time—1min 23⅕secs.

GRAND STAND STAKES.—Rs 300, and Rs 50 to the second Horse. For Horses 14-2 and under. Handicap. Entrance Rs. 10. 5 furlongs

Mr. Bartleet's Poor Me, 9st 12lbs ... Lansdown 1
„ J Quayle's Winnie, 10st 3lbs ... Owner 2
„ R Farquharson's Rebecca, 10st 11b ... Owner 3

Also ran: Capt. Gooch's Redstone (Owner), Mr Montague's Good Girl (Wiles). Mr Heather's Silk (Mr Murland).

BETTING: Evens Rebecca, 2 to 1 Good Girl, 4 to 1 Winnie, 5 to 1 Poor Me, 6 to 1 Redstone, 10 to 1 Silk.

Totalisator paid Rs. 10.

Won by a comfortable length; a similar distance separating Winnie and Rebecca. Time—1min. 7⅘secs

BEDOUIN STAKES—Rs. 300 and Rs. 50 to the second horse. For Arab Galloways. W.I. 14 hands to carry 11st. Entrance Rs. 15. 5 furlongs.

Mr Heather's Sheik, 9st 11lbs ... Mr Quayle 1
„ Farquharson's Tirah, 10st 9lbs ... Owner 2
Capt G Bayley's King William, 9st 11lbs Owner 3

Also ran: Mr. Brace's Silver One (Wiles) and Capt Gooch's Lord Bobs (Mr. Murland).

Evens Tirah, 2 to 1 Sheik, 4 to 1 against, any other.

Totalisator paid Rs. 7.

Two lengths between second and third Time—1min. 13⅘secs.

AUCTION STAKES.—Rs. 300. For Horses. Weight for value If entered to be sold for Rs. 800, to carry 11st 7lbs; 7lbs allowed for every reduction of Rs. 100 down to Rs. 300. Entrance Rs. 15. 5 furlongs.

Messrs Ayrtoun and Heather's Caloola (Rs 700) 11st ... ... Mr Quayle 1
Mr D H William's, Afreet (Rs. 600) 10st 7lbs ... ... Winslow 2
Mr John Quayle's Dexter (Rs 400) 9st 7lbs S David 3
„ R J Farquharson's The Greek (Rs 300), 9st ... ... David 0

BETTING: Evens Caloola, 6 to 4 Afreet, 4 to 1 any other.

Totalizator paid Rs. 3

Won by a length. Time 1-6⅘.

GALLOWAY STAKES.—Rs. 200 and Rs. 50 to the second horse. For Galloways that have not won a race of Rs. 500. W. I. 14 hands to carry 11 stone, Entrance Rs. 15. 5 furlongs.

Mr Bartleet's Poor Me, 10st 8lbs ... Lansdowne 1
Mr Heather's Silk, 10st ... ... Mr Murland 2
Mr H P Borrett's Peeress, 10st 6lbs ... Capt Gooch 3

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Poor Me. No other betting.

Totalisator paid Rs. 3.

Poor Me assumed the lead immediately and kept it, passing the judge's box at the commonest of canters. Time—1min. 10secs.

HAVELOCK HANDICAP.—Rs. 500, and Rs. 100 to the second horse. Handicap for Horses Entrance Rs. 30. 6 furlongs.

Mr R Farquharson's Boniface, 10st 11lbs... Owner 1
Messrs Ayrtoun and Heather's Caloola, 9st 9lbs ... ... Mr Quayle 2
The Alipore Clique's Anster, 10st 2lbs ... Lansdowne 3

Also ran: Captain Gooch's Devotee (Owner) Messrs Ayrtoun and Heather's Reply (Captain Pitman), Mr. Quayle's Dexter (S. David).

BETTING: 3 to 1 agst. Anster, 4 to 1 Boniface, 10 to 1 agst any other.

Totalisator paid Rs. 5.

Won by half a nose. Time—1min. 21½secs.

Few mares have ever gained a higher position on the roll of equine fame than the late General Pearson's famous filly, Achievement, winner, among other races, of the One Thousand Guineas and St. Leger of 1867. She was never tried but once, and this was somewhat against the wishes of her trainer, but General Pearson liked to know the best or the worse of them at home.

"Let them learn what the prickers mean," he would say, though he betted, if at all, on a small scale: and in March, 1886, he and Mr. Sutton—the General's racing friend and confederate—tried Achievement at 10lbs with a seven-year-old mare called Grisette, half a mile and a hundred yards, when the young one won in a canter by six lengths; and on the Tuesday in the Craven Meeting she met her first engagement, the Beacon Stakes over the last half-mile of the B. C.

"What a certainty! The best two-year-old I ever tried in my life," said Mr. Sutton, as the mare, not half-extended, swept past the post two lengths in front of Verulam; a remark made to himself in the excitement of the moment (for Mr. Sutton used to put it down heavily when he fancied them) but which was not lost on at least one bystander, who never failed to follow the mare throughout the whole of that wonderful year, wherein she ran thirteen times, beating such horses as Hermit, Fripponnier, Marksman, and all that was most gilded of the equine youth of the day, being beaten herself only twice—once when in the Clearwell Stakes she attempted to give 3lbs to Plaudit, and succumbed by a head, and the second time when, in the Middle Park Plate The Rake avenged for Mr. Pryor the defeats of Fripponnier, Verulam, etc., the mare giving 5lbs and going down by two lengths.

Unfortunately Achievement, who was a daughter of Stockwell, was not fated to perpetuate her excellence at the stud, dying almost as soon as her Turf career ended. That she was a remarkable mare, both as regards speed and stamina, need scarcely be doubted, and her victory in the Champagne Stakes at Doncaster was, perhaps, more easily gained than has been any success in that famous race.

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

QUILL SPECIAL REEDS.

Head Office: MADRAS.
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta:
MESSRS. STANLEY OAKES & Co

Sport in England.

(From our own Sporting Correspondent.)

London, Friday, 15th May, 1903.

THE TURF.

THE public can look with the utmost confidence to the enjoyment of sport of a high order when the Kempton Park Spring Meeting comes round, and those who failed to derive pleasure from to-day's entertainment must assuredly be difficult to satisfy. If anything, there was a surfeit of solid fare in the programme, which extended to seven items, and by the time the curtain was rung down with the Westminster Handicap the scheduled hour for the finish had been exceeded by twenty minutes. The keen interest always evinced by the King in our national pastime found expression in his patronage of the first day's meeting. His Majesty, who journeyed over from Windsor by motor-car, accompanied by Lord Marcus Beresford, came with the object of seeing his colt, Plumassier, make his bow in public in the May Three Year Old Plate, for which he was installed favourite, but unfortunately the royal candidate failed to realise expectations. A raw and misty morning augured none too well for the comfort of visitors to the picturesque Sunbury enclosure, a cold wind rendering the atmosphere decidedly chilly for May. The dubious outlook did not deter a large company from putting in an appearance, however, and the regular passengers by the South-Western Railway being strongly supplemented by formidable contingents who arrived by the new electric trams at frequent intervals, the attendance was a capital one in every department. By the time that racing got into full swing the conditions improved, and the sun infused a little warmth and life into the proceedings. The strength of the fields was well maintained, nearly eighty combatants taking part in the seven races, and the going, though on the soft side, was not as heavy as might have been expected.

The Stewards' Handicap—Of 880 sovs. Six furlongs.

Mr J B Joel's b c His Lordship, Ayrshire—Emita, 4yrs, 7st 10lbs	O Madden	1
Mr A James's b c Achaicus, 4yrs, 6st 12lbs (car 7st)	Watts	2
Sir J Blundell Maple's br c Nabot, 4yrs, 7st 10lbs	W Lane	3
Lord Carnarvon's Mauvezin aged, 9st ...	Maher	0
Mr A Cohen's Master Willie, aged, 9st ...	Boardman	0
„ E L Heinemann's Valenza, 5yrs, 7st 13lbs	Janek	0
Mr A M Singer's O Donovan Rossa, 6yrs, 7st 11lbs	Mustow	0
Mr H B Duryea's Acefull, 3yrs, 7st 5lbs ...	J H Martin	0
„ L W Winans's The Raft, 6yrs, 7st 4lbs	Miller	0
Lord Durham's King's Limner, 4yrs, 7st 3lbs (car 7st 4lbs)	Hardy	0
Mr T Southall's Energetic, 5yrs, 7st 3lbs...	Summerfield	0
„ H J King's Mimicry, 4yrs, 7st 11b ...	Griggs	0
Sir J Thursby's Grave and Gay, 4yrs, 6st 5lbs (car 6st 6lbs)	Trigg	0
Sir R Waldie Griffith's Akbar, 3yrs, 5st 11lbs	J Jarvis	0

(Winner trained by Morton, at Wantage.)

Betting:—11 to 4 agst Grave and Gay, 6 to 1 each His Lordship and Acefull, 7 to 1 Achaicus, 8 to 1 Nabot, 100 to 8 each Mauvezin, Master Willie, Valenza, and King's Limner, and 100 to 6 any other (offered).

Won by a short head; three lengths between second and third. King's Limner was fourth, Valenza fifth, Grave and Gay sixth, Vitula colt seventh, Energetic eighth, Mimicry ninth, The Raft next, and Acefull and Mauvezin the last pair. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min 17⅘secs.

The May Three-Year Old Plate,—Of 1,130 sovs; three-year-olds; colts 8st 10lbs, fillies and geldings 8st 7lbs; with penalties and allowances. New Jubilee Course (one mile and a quarter).

Major E Loder's b f Hammerkop, by Gallinule—Concussion, 9st 5lbs ...	J H Martin	1
Sir G Faber's b or br c Playbill, 8st 5lbs ...	M Cannon	2
His Majesty's b c Plumassier, 8st 11b ...	H Jones	3
Sir E Cassel's Sermon, 9st 8lbs... ...	Halsey	0
Sir J Blundell Maple's Child Princess 8st 2lbs	W Lane	0
Mr C Meyer's Carbineham, 8st 11b ...	Trigg	0

(Winner trained by Huggins at Newmarket.)

Betting: 2 to 1 agst Plumassier, 5 to 2 Sermon, 5 to 1 Playbill, 6 to 1 Hammerkop, 10 to 1 Child Princess and 100 to 7 Carbineham (offered)

Won easily by three-quarters of a length; a bad third. Sermon was fourth and Carbineham last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2mins 17secs.

Launched into fame at a single bound by the victory of that popular idol, Bendigo, under the welter burden of 9st. 7lbs, the Great "Jubilee" Handicap may be said to have been born with a silver spoon in its mouth. The good fortune which attended the inauguration of the new venture and started it on a successful and prosperous career has jealously and sedulously watched over its interest ever since, with the result that its high prestige has been worthily maintained. For this the glorious weather always associated with the celebration has doubtlessly been mainly responsible. Sunny skies and summerlike conditions have by long usage become the prescriptive right of patrons of Kempton's great handicap, and, despite a dubious outlook, the fates came to their rescue again and provided a day with which until late in the afternoon, little fault could be found. Clad in a wealth of spring verdure, the park was looking almost at its best, though the blossoms of the chesnuts and lilac, usually the brightest features of a brilliant function, were conspicuous by their absence. Notwithstanding that the King again honoured the proceedings with his presence, the attendance, did not exceed the average. On the Members' Lawn, it is true, the muster was a huge one, as it invariably is on such an occasions but on the far side of the course the public, who had thronged the park in their thousands on the Easter Bank Holiday, were but thinly represented, and the new electric tramway service from Shepherd's Bush to Hampton did not meet with anything like the support anticipated. The going, if on the soft side, was in capital order, and there was plenty of life and go in the entertainment, atonement for the failure of most of the favourites being forthcoming in the success of the best-backed horse for the great race of the day.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.
According to size. From
J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

The 17th Year of the Kempton Park Great Jubilee Handicap—Of 2,635 sovs. One mile and a quarter.

Mr A P Conlifle's b h Ypsilanti, by Galore—Stefanette (bred in USA) 5yrs, 8st 11b	B Dillon	1
Mr George Faber's b c Duke of Westminster, by Orme—Gantlet, 4yrs, 7st 11lbs	F Hardy	2
M E de Blaskovitz's b c Hazafi by Orwell—Ollyannines, 4yrs, 7st 9lbs ...	W Lane	3
Sir E Cassel's Handicapper, by Matchmaker—Agnes Osborne, 5yrs, 8st 2lbs (inc 5lbs ex)	W Halsey	0
Mr H I Higham's Royal George, by Royal Sovereign—Queen Anne, 5yrs, 8st 6lbs	K Cannon	0
M Ephrussi's Alencon, by Clarion—Artemis, 4yrs, 8st 3lbs	G Stern	0
M M Caillault's Reine des Fleurs, by Bruce—Illusion, 6yrs 8st 2lbs	J Childs	0
Mr T Simpson Jay's Floriform, by Florizel II—Maid of Athol, 5yrs, 8st 2lbs ...	H Jones	0
Mr R Crocker's Rodrigue II by Lutin—Rose of York 4yrs, 7st 11lbs ...	J Jarvis	0
Mr J Lewis's Valiant, by Ladas—Surprise Me Not, 4yrs, 7st 10lbs	J E Watts	0
Sir E Vincent's Pistol, by Carbine—Wenonah, 4yrs, 8st 11b	O Madden	0
Lord Carnarvon's Robert le Diable, by Ayrshire—Rose Bay, 4yrs, 8st ...	H Randall	0
Mr G A Prentice's Pekin, by St Simon—Lady Yardley, 4yrs, 7st 9lbs ...	H Aylin	0
Mr T Corns's Rightful, by Rightaway—Repletion, 4yrs, 7st 3lbs	J Boardman	0
Mr J R Keene's Kearsage, by Kingston Flying Squadron, 4 yrs, 6st 12lb	C Trigg	0
Mr W M G Singer's Bellivor Tor, by Wolfs Crag—Belle Haine, 4yrs, 6st 10lbs ...	B Janek	0
Mr S Darling's Fermoyle, by Florizel II Deception, 4 yrs, 7st 11b (inc 3lbs ex)	J H Martin	0
Mr L Brassey's Black Fancy, by Ladas—Black Duchess, 4yrs, 6st 13lbs ...	T L Miller	0
Mr A James's Mabon by St Serf—Eistedfod 3yrs, 6st 12lbs...	J Plant	0

(Winner trained by Fallon at Netharavon.)

Betting: 7 to 2 agst Ypsilanti, 6 to 1 Pistol, 100 to 12 Kearsage, 100 to 12 Handicapper, 10 to 1 Robert le Diable, 10 to 1 Alencon, 100 to 8 Royal George, 100 to 6 Bellivor Tor, 20 to 1 Rightful, 20 to 1 Fermoyle, 20 to 1 Floriform, 20 to 1 Valiant, 25 to 1 Duke of Westminster, 25 to 1 Pekin, 25 to 1 Hazafi, 25 to 1 Mabon, 33 to 1 Black Fancy, 50 to 1 Reine des Fleurs 50 to 1 Rodrigue II.

The first to leave the paddock was Royal George, who was followed in the parade by Ypsilanti, Alencon, Reine des Fleurs, Floriform Rodrigue II., Handicapper, Valiant, Pistol, Robert le Diable, Duke of Westminster, Pekin, Hazafi, Rightful, Kearsage and Bellivor Tor, the last trio being Fermoyle, Black Fancy, and Mabon. They turned and cantered in the same order, and the white flag was hoisted at 3-27 an excellent start being effected two minutes later. Hazafi, Duke of Westminster, Kearsage, Ypsilanti, and Robert le Diable, almost in a line made play from Alencon and Valiant, this lot being clear of Pistol and Black Fancy, with Rodrigue II. and Pekin the last pair. So they ran for about three furlongs, when Ypsilanti took a slight lead of Duke of Westminster, Hazafi, and Handicapper, with Black Fancy, Valiant, and Reine des Fleurs heading the remainder, and the favourite, making the rest of the running, stalled off the determined challenge of Duke of Westminster (the pair drawing clear away by themselves) and won by a length and a half; six lengths separated the second and third. Handicapper was fourth, Black Fancy fifth, Valiant sixth, Reine des Fleurs seventh, Rightful eighth, Pistol ninth, Fermoyle tenth, Alencon eleventh, Rodrigue II. twelfth, Mabon thirteenth, Kearsage fourteenth, Floriform fifteenth, Royal George sixteenth, and Pekin last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2mins. 12-⅘ secs.

The Durham Plate—Of 174 sovs; weight for age, with allowances. One mile and a half.

Mr W. M. G. Singer's b c By Trenton. Great Dame, 3 yrs. 7st 4lbs	O Madden	1
Sir John Thursby's b h Fighting Furley, 6 yrs, 9st 9lbs	Mr Thursby	2
Mr J Buchanan's br c Correlo, 3 yrs, 7st 4lbs	J E Watts	3

(Winner trained by A. Taylor, at Manton.)

Betting: Evens each Great Dame colt and Fighting Furley and 20 to 1 agst Correo.

Won readily by two lengths; a bad third.

In striking contrast to the First Spring Meeting, with its special attraction in the shape of the One Thousand and Two Thousand Guinas, the Second Spring fixture, which is the last of this series of reunions on the Heath is invariably a quiet and unostentatious gathering. An abundance of rain has fallen in East Anglia during the past fortnight, and it began to look as though those chronic grumblers, the agriculturists would for once be deprived of a legitimate cause for complaint. They are not easily satisfied, however, and it now appears that there is too much water about to please them. This was certainly the case at head-quarters, the torrential downpour causing parts of the town to be temporarily flooded out, the upshot being that the local fire engine had to be requisitioned to pump the water out of the cellars of one of the hotels. The Heath bore evidences of the recent stormy visitations the ground being on the soft side everywhere, whilst in the Abingdon Dip the going was slightly holding. Few but regular patrons of those meetings were in evidence, the muster all round being a very light one, and, indeed, there was little to attract folks to the racecourse side. The wind still remains in a cold quarter—north east, to be precise—and, notwithstanding that there were occasional fugitive glimpses of sunshine, the atmosphere was bitterly cold for the middle of May. Fields ruled large, and the entertainment proved enjoyable.

Details of the principal races.—

The New Market Handicap— Of 905 sovs. A. F. (one mile two furlongs).

Lord Farquhar's b h Bistonian, by Carbine—St. Bets, 5 yrs, 7st 12lbs	H Aylin	1
Mr E Clayton's ch h Patron Saint, 5 yrs, 5st 12lb (car 6st)	Janek	2
Mr E L Heinemann's ch m Valenza, 5yrs, 7st 6lbs	O Madden	3
Sir R Waldie Griffith's Veles, 5 yrs, 8st 11b	J H Martin	0
Sir E Vincent's Pistol, 4 yrs, 7st 6lbs ...	Trigg	0
Sir J Blundell Maple's The Bishop, 5 yrs, 7st 10lbs	W Lane	0
Capt Laing's Padlock II., 5 yrs, 7st 9lbs ...	Hardy	0
Lord Ellesmere's Joshua, 4 yrs 7st, 4lbs ...	Watts	0
Sir J Kelk's Orbel, 5 yrs, 6st 9lbs ...	J Jarvis	0
Mr H B Duryea's Acefull, 3 years, 6st 12lb	Miller	0
Mr L de Rothschild's Royal Ivy, 4, 6st 6lbs	J Murray	0

(Winner trained by Lambton, at Newmarket.)

Betting: 5 to 1 agst Patron Saint, 6 to 1 Acefull, 7 to 1 each Pistol and Joshua, 8 to 1 The Bishop, 100 to 12 Veles, 10 to 1 Valenza and Royal Ivy, 100 to 9 Padlock II., and 100 to 8 each each Bistonian and Orbel (offered).

Pistol, in the centre, showed the way to Acefull, on the lower ground, Patron Saint and Royal Ivy, on the top ground, with Bistonian and The Bishop next, in advance of Veles and Valenza for half the journey, when Royal Ivy took a slight lead of Valenza, Bistonian, and Patron Saint, but Bistonian, drawing to the front in the Dip, stalled off the challenges of Patron Saint and Valenza, and won by a length and a half; half a length between second and third. Royal Ivy was fourth, Orbel fifth, Pistol sixth, The Bishop seventh, Acefull eighth, Veles next, and Padlock II. last throughout. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2mins 12⅘secs.

A Trial Plate—Of 395 sovs: weight for age, with selling and other allowances. Dewhurst Plate Course (seven furlongs.

Mr A Stedall's b h Most Excellent, by Freemason—L'Exception, 6 yrs, 8st 9lb (£200)	Halsey	1
Lord Cadogan's b g Viper, 5 yrs, 8st 6lbs (£200)	Maher	2
Sir E Vincent's b h Wabun, 5 yrs, 9st 4lbs	Trigg	3
Lord Derby's Outsider, 4 yrs, 8st 13lbs (£500)	H Aylin	0
Mr J Wallace's Caelmon, 5 yrs, 8st 9lbs (£200)	B Jarvis	0
Mr J C Dyer's Sandbag, 5 yrs, 8st 9lbs (£200)	Walker	0
Mr F Hardy's St Beurre, 6 yrs 8st 9lbs (£200)	Fagan	0
Mr T P Hope's Ravenshengh, 6 yrs 8st 4lb (£200)	Knight	0
Mr D J Pullinger's Carrigavalla, 5 yrs, 8st 9lb (£200)	Boardman	0
Sir J Blundell Maple's Bowery, 4 yrs, 8st 4lbs (£200)	W Lane	0
Major Joicey's Plum Pecker, 3 yrs, 7st 7lbs (£200)	Watts	0
Mr. E Dresden's Wedding Peal, 3 yrs, 6st 13lbs (£500)	Janek	0
Mr E L Heinemann's Avocation, 3 yrs, 6st 13lbs (£200	Dawson	0 (Winner trained by A Sadler, at Newmarket.

Betting: 7 to 2 agst Bowery, 4 to 1 each Most Excellent and Outsider, 7 to 1 each Viper and Wabun, 10 1 each St Beurre and Ravenshengh, and 100 to 8 any other (offered).

Won by a couple of lengths; a head divided the second and third. Ravenshengh was fourth, Outsider fifth, St Beurre sixth, Sandbag seventh, Plum Pecker eighth, Carrigavalla next and Wedding Peal last. The winner was bought in for 250gs. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min. 32⅕secs.

The Burwell Stakes—Of 420 sovs, for three-year-olds; colts 8st 10lbs, fillies and geldings 8st 6lbs; with penalties and allowances. Last mile and half mile of T.M.M.

Lord Ellesmere's br c Kroonstad, by Kilwarlin—Sabra, 9st 11b ...	H Jones	1
Rear-Admiral Lambton's ch c Ruy Lopez, 8st 3lbs	Maher	2
Sir E Cassel's b c The Knight, 8st 3lbs ...	Halsey	3
Mr L Brassey's Arabi, 8st 10lbs ...	K Cannon	0
Lord Dunraven's Morgendale, 8st 3lb ...	Croft	0
Sir R Waldie Griffith's Chalo, 8st 3lbs ...	J H Martin	0

(Winner trained by J Dawson, at Newmarket.)

Betting: 6 to 4 agst Ruy Lopez, 7 to 4 Kroonstad, 5 to 1 The Knight, 10 to 1 Arabi, and 20 to 1 each Morgendale and Chalo (offered)

Won by a head; two lengths separated the second and third. Morgendale was fourth, Arabi a long way last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2mins 44⅘ secs.

Just for once the weather made up its mind to give us a real taste of its quality, and the Newmarket Stakes day broke in inimitable splendour. There had been a suspicion of frost during the night, but the wind had veered round into the south-west, and the soft, genial atmosphere was more suggestive of May than anything previously experienced in the last fortnight. To breathe the strong, bracing air of the Bury Hills in the early hours was exhilarating to a degree and more people were to be seen taking stock of the morning exercise gallops than has lately been the case. Overhead the larks were in full chorus and for the time being the conditions and environments were in harmony with the calendar. It was too glorious to last, but, though the sun was obscured by clouds for the greater part of the afternoon, the rain held off and the day was enjoyable enough. The sad news of the death of the veteran, John Dawson, was circulated betimes, and much symmathy is felt for his son, the St. Albans House trainer, in his bereavement. Messrs. Tattersall's Sale at Park Paddocks was but thinly attended, and even the Newmarket Stakes failed to attract anything like a representative gathering to the precincts of the Rowley Mile stands. Fields ruled large, and the interest was well sustained.

The Newmarket Stakes—Of £3,651 15s.; three year olds: colts 9st, fillies 8st 11lb A. F. (one mile two furlongs)

Sir D Cooper's b c Flotsam by St. Frusquin—Float, 9st	D Maher	1
Mr A James's b c Rabelais, by St. Simon—Satirical, 9st	K Cannon	2
Lord Derby's b c Gay Gordon, by St. Frusquin—Broad Corrie, 9st	H Aylin	3
Mr Douglas Baird's Martinet, by Martagon—Silene, 9st	M Cannon	4
Sir E Vincent's Countermark, by Worcester—Assay 9st	J H Martin	0
Lord Farquhar's St Evremonde, by St Frusquin—Ejector, 9st	L Lyne	0
Sir J Blundell Maples' Merry Saint, by St Serf—Mereden, 9st	W Lane	0
Mr Sydney Wargrave's Sizergh, by Kendal—Primrose, 9st	O Madden	0

(Winner trained by Blackwell, at Newmarket.)

Betting: 6 to 5 on Flotsam, 5 to 2 agst Rabelais, 100 to 8 Martinet, 100 to 7 Countermark, 100 to 6 Sizergh, 20 to 1 agst Gay Gordon, 50 to 1 Merry Saint, 100 to 1 St. Evremond.

Sizergh was the first to leave the paddock and cantered to the post, followed at intervals by Merry Saint, Rabelais, Gay Gordon, St. Evremonde, Martinet, and Flotsam, with Countermark bringing up the rear. The white flag was hoisted at two minutes past three, and five minutes later Mr. Willoughby despatched the lot to a capital start, Flotsam, on the top ground, being the first to show in front of Martinet, in the centre, and Sizergh, on the lower ground, with Merry Saint and Countermark next, and Rabelais galloping at the heels of Flotsam for a furlong, when Sizergh lost his place and Gay Gordon took third position, with Merry Saint and Countermark in close attendance. So they ran till descending Bushes Hill, where Rabelais and Gay Gordon challenged Flotsam, but they failed to make any impression on the favourite who won by a length and a half; six lengths separat

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

MAYOS.

Head Office: Madras.
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

WATERPROOFS.

STANDARD QUALITIES at STANDARD PRICES.

DRAB VULCANIZED CHESTERFIELD COATS.

The "Lightweight." Light weight material throughly Waterproof.
Price, Rs. 4-14.

The "Improved Stormproof." Superior quality drab twill, thoroughly reliable and durable. Price, Rs. 8-14.

The "Impenetrable." All seams straped and sewn. Extra strong and durable.
Price, Rs. 12-14.

DRAB VULCANIZED INVERNESS CLOAKS.

The "Highland." No sleeves Drab Vulcanized Cambric, a good light quality thoroughly Waterproof. Price, Rs. 7-4.

The "Tirhoot." Thoroughly Waterproof, with deep cape extra strong and durable.
Price, Rs. 12-8.

The "New Planter." Specially strong and durable suitable for Navy and rough usage. Recommended. Price, Rs. 17-8.

BLACK WATERPROOF CHESTERFIELD COATS.
THE "LONSDALE."
Extra light weight and thoroughly Waterproof Coat.
Price, Rs. 5-12.

BLACK WATERPROOF CHESTERFIELD COATS.
THE "MONSOON."
Thin Black Twill, thoroughly Waterproof and reliable.
Price, Rs. 9-8 each.

MILITARY or CIVILIAN WATERPROOF CLOAKS.

SEWN and STRAPPED SEAMS.

The "Cornwallis" Khaki or Black. A strong quality Sewn and strapped seams, Black or Khaki, double texture paramatta, throughly rainproof eminently satisfactory.
Price, Rs. 19-12 each.

The "Hussar" Black or Khaki, sewn and strapped seams. Thoroughly hard wearing and improved with two pockets and riding slit, but no sword slit suitable for Civilian or military use. Fit for hard use and wear.
Price, Rs. 26-8.

MILITARY or CIVILIAN WATERPROOF CLOAKS.

SEWN and STRAPED SEAMS.
REAL REGULATION.

The "Dragoon" Black or Khaki. An improved shade and extra hard wearing quality. Sewn and straped seams, with sword and arm slits, arm slings, leg straps and chain collar.
Price Rs. 32-8.

The "New Scarboro" Naval Regulation or Civilian Cloak, has detachable Circular Cape. Very best quality, Silk Paramatta, ventilator sleeves, riding slit and slings, and arm slings. Cape and Coat can be worn separately, if desired. Velost collar and chain fostner. Price, Rs. 47-8.

WHITEAWAY, LAIDLAW & Co., Calcutta.

ESTABLISHED 1847. ESTABLISHED 1847.

HAROLD & CO.

SOLE AGENTS FOR

JOHN BRINSMEAD & SONS.

By Royal Warrant to H. M. The King.
By Royal Warrant to H. M. The Queen.

NEW MODEL PIANOS.

The perfection of tone, touch and durability
Manufactured specially for India and extreme climates
In solid Chippendale Mahogany of unique and artistic design.

Upright Grand, Iron Frame, full trichord ... .. Rs. 1,000
Cottage, Iron Frame, full trichord ... . ,, 850-0

Other Pianos by the leading English and Continental Makers.
Particulars and Prices on application.

HAROLD & Co., Calcutta.

JAMES MURRAY & CO., CALCUTTA.

ROUND EYE SPECTACLES.

For Billiards, Shooting, and General Out-door Sports.

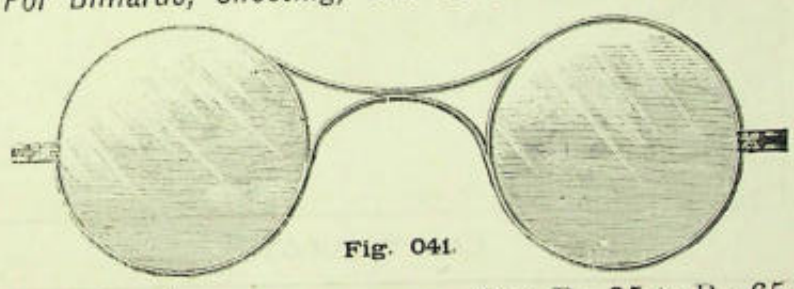

Fig. 041.

Gold, fine glasses ...	... from Rs. 35 to Rs. 65.
Silver ,, ,, ...	.. ,, ,, 15.
Light Nickel frames, fine glasses ...	... ,, 8-0.
,, Steel ,, ,, ,, ...	... ,, 5-8.
Gold filled	... ,, 18.

For Tinted Lenses, convex or concave, in lieu of white, add Rs. 2 extra to above quotations.

For Brazilian Pebbles, in lieu of glasses, add Rs. 5 extra to above quotations.

EVERY DAY MENUS

— BY —

W. S. BURKE.

Editor of the "INDIAN FIELD."

Rs. 2 per copy.

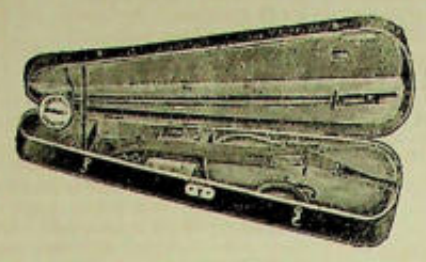
Messrs THACKER SPINK & CO., CALCUTTA.

— OR —

The Manager, the "INDIAN FIELD."
CALCUTTA.

A very Popular
MESS AND CLUB
WHISKEY IN WOOD.

JOHN HOPKINS & Co.'s OLD SCOTCH
Per Gallon Rs. 13-8.
GUARANTEED 5 OVER PROOF.



Supplied in - - -
Origina Hogsheads and Quarter Casks.

DEVEREUX & Co., Ld.
Wine Merchants and Mess Agents,

4, BANKSHALL STREET, CALCUTTA; ALSO AT BOMBAY AND LONDON.

T. E. BEVAN & CO.'S

VIOLIN SETS.

Comprising Violin, Case, Bow, Tuning Pipe, extra Strings and Instruction Book.

These Instruments are not "Toys" and the Cheapest is well made.

		Rs.	A.
No. 1.	The "Learner's" Set complete	15	0
„ 2.	The "Academy" Set complete	20	0
„ 3.	The "Artist's" Set complete	30	0
„ 4.	The "Paragon" Set complete	35	0
No. 5.	The "Superior" Set complete	45	0
„ 6.	The "Eclipse" Set complete	55	0
„ 7.	The "Premier" Set complete	65	0

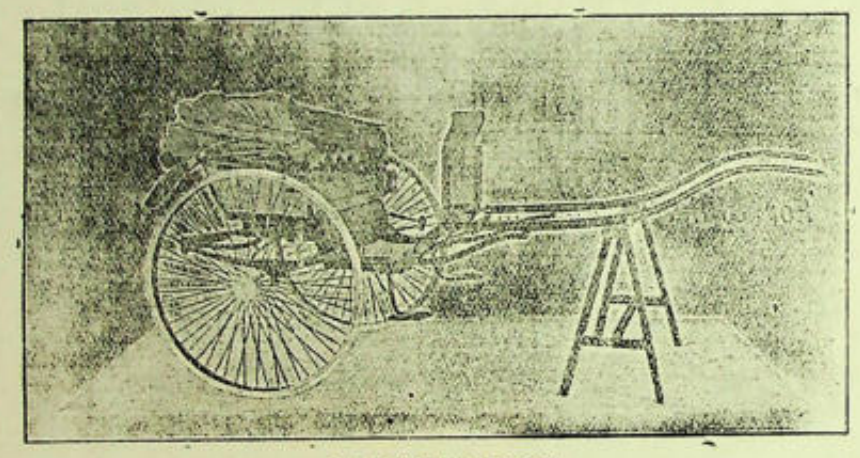
These Sets are guaranteed the best value for the money and are

VERY SUITABLE FOR PRESENTATION.

Strings and Fittings of the best quality and fresh Supplies every week.

T. E. BEVAN & Co.,

THE LONDON MUSICAL DEPOT,



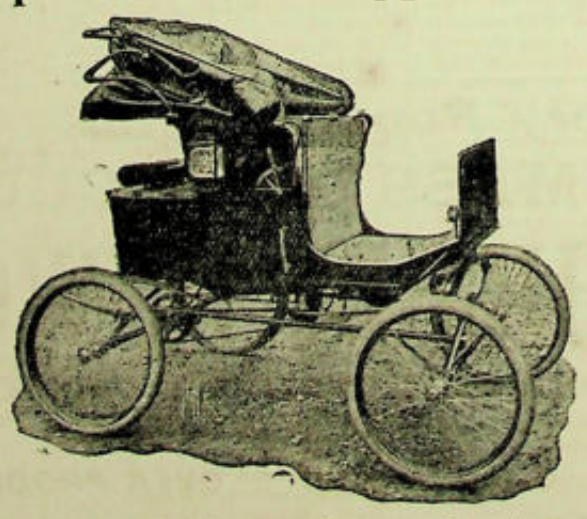
CALCUTTA.

STEUART & Co., Calcutta.

ESTABLISHED 1775.

COACH BUILDERS

TO HIS EXCELLENCY LORD CURZON.



LADY'S BUGGY.

THE

MOTOR TRANSPORT & SUPPLY Co.,

Importers and Suppliers of

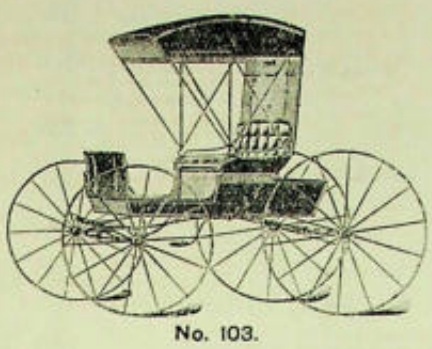
Heavy Steam Transport Vehicles of all descriptions.

All types of Motor Cars.

Particulars and Estimate from the Agents:—

SHAW WALLACE & Co.,

Green Street, BOMBAY.



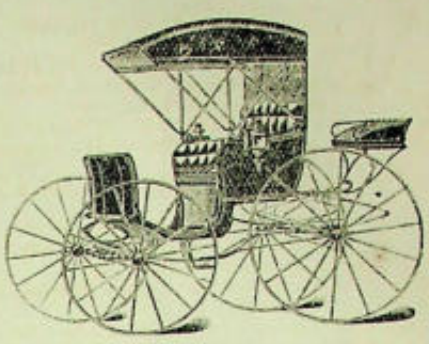
20, Strand Road, CALCUTTA.

CORTLAND

AMERICAN CARRIAGES.

Especially designedfor Indian Use.

VERY LIGHT WEIGHT, GREAT COMFORT, EASY DRAUGHT.



No. 103.

Spring Buggy.

A popular Buggy for general use, strong and elegant. Has room for carrying parcels Fitted with waterproof rubber hood and side curtains.

Price as shown . 28 Guineas.
Best lock-socket Lamps 2 „
Syce seat and step 3 „

No. 576.

"Princess" Three Spring Phaeton.

A very high class vehicle for Ladies and general use. Trimmed best dark green broadcloth. Has best leather hood and side curtains. Has rumble for servant Painted dark green.

Price, including lamps, 55 Guineas.

No charge for cases or packing.

DELIVERED TO DOCKS IN LONDON.

Bankers:—London and County Bank, Covent Garden.

Illustrated Catalogues and every information post free from the Makers.

CORTLAND WAGON Co.,

Henrietta Street, Covent Garden, LONDON, W.C

Cable Address:—"Eligible, London."

CANNANORE COTTON FABRICS

Awards:—2 Gold and 2 Silver Medals.

TROUSERINGS, COATINGS.

Imitation Tweeds, Mixtures, Shikari and plain Materials, etc. Corduroys, Drills, Riding Canvas, Ginghams in neat and fancy patterns, Cotton Shirtings elastic and light texture, a substitute for Flannel.

TABLE LINEN.

Damask Table Cloths and Napkins, Diamond Table Cloths and Napkins, Toilet Table Covers and Teapoy Covers.

BED AND TOILET LINEN, etc.

Counterpanes for Single and Double Beds.
Sheeting, Plain and Twilled, for Single and Double Beds.
Face and Hand Towels, Honeycomb Bath Towels and Bath Sheets.

Natural Grey Wool Stockinette Underclothing.
Cotton Jersey Shirts and Banians.

TAILORING DEPARTMENT.

Under the supervision of a European Cutter. Orders are kindly solicited.

Basel Mission Weaving Establishment,

CANNANORE, MALABAR.

ed the second and third. Martinet was fourth, St. Evremonde fifth, Countermark sixth, and Sizergh last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2mins 10⅘sec.

A MAIDEN (at entry) TWO-YEAR-OLD RACE—Of 276sovs; colts 8st 12lbs, fillies and geldings 8st 9lbs; winners extra, with selling allowances. Rous Course (five furlongs).

Lord Rosebery's b f Chelys, by Sir Visto—Chelandry, 8st 9lbs	Watts	1
Sir J Thursby's b c John O'Gaunt, 8st 12lbs	Mr G Thursby	2
Mr J B Joel's b f Statuette, 8st 9lbs	M Cannon	3
Duke of Devonshire's c by Campan—Red Wing II, 8st 12lbs	Randall	0
Mr E L Heinemann's Tiger, 8st 12lbs	S Loates	0
„ L E B Homan's c by Rightaway—Repletion, 8st 12lbs	Boardman	0
„ L de Rothschild's St Felix, 8st 12lbs	K Cannon	0
Prince Soltykoff's Dario 8st 12lbs	Halsey	0
Lord Wolverton's Golden Touch, 8st 12lbs	H Jones	0
Sir J Blundell Maple's Caterham, 8st 9lbs	W Lane	0
Lord Penrhyn's Cockatrice, 8st 9lbs	G McCall	0
Sir E Vincent's Rabenstein, 8st 9lbs	J H Martin	0
Mr E Dresden's c by Florizel II—Butterine, 8st 2lbs (£200)	Lyne	0
„ Arthur's g by Buccaneer—Eastern Rose, 7st 13lbs (£200)	C Loates	0
„ L Brassey's Fantasy, 7st 13lbs (£200)	Hardy	0
„ R Sherwood's f by St Angelo—Luffness, 7st 13lbs (car 8st) (£200)	Croft	0
„ A Stedall's f by Orvieto—Orxema, 7st 13lbs (£200)	O Madden	0

(Winner trained by P. Peck, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 2 to 1 agst John O'Gaunt, 5 to 2 Statuette, 4 to 1 the Orxema filly, 100 to 12 Chelys, and 100 to 6 any other (offered.)

Won by a head; two lengths between second and third. Phantasy was fourth, Cockatrice fifth, Luffness filly sixth, Orxema filly seventh, Butterine colt eighth, Golden Touch ninth, Rubenstein next and Eastern Rose gelding last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min. 4⅘secs.

Sparse as the attendance had been throughout the Second Spring Meeting, there was the usual thinning out of visitors by the early trains, and it is specially noticeable that of the few ardent sportswomen who find their way to head-quarters many habitually forego the final act of the entertainment. In doing so they display good judgment, as the rush to catch the return specials from Newmarket to town on the closing afternoon is an ordeal to be studiously avoided by the gentler sex notwithstanding that the Great Eastern Railway Company provide an excellent service of trains. The early exodus of many society folk left a mere sprinkling of spectators to participate in the pleasures of to-day's gathering, and those who shook the dust of the racing metropolis off their feet early missed the least enjoyable day of the meeting. Heavy banks of clouds obscured the sun throughout the day, but the atmosphere was mild and balmy, and happily the threatened rain held off. The card was framed pretty much upon the lines of a twelvemonth ago, except that the Claiming and Selling Plate, which fell to Crown Imperial, has gone by the board—as these events seemed likely to do—its place on to-day's programme being taken by a Selling Race, decided Across the Flat. The going was in grand order, and the victory of Mead in the Payne Stakes invested the proceedings with unusual interest, and was the signal for a popular outburst of enthusiasm.

THE PAYNE STAKES—Of 655 sovs; three-year-olds; colts 8st 12lb, fillies and geldings 8st 9lbs; with penalties and allowances. Last mile and a half of the Cesarewitch Course.

His Majesty's ch c Mead, by Persimmon—Meadow Chat, 9st 11b	H Jones	1
His Majesty's br c Persistence, 8st 7lbs	J E Watts	2
Mr J H Houldsworth's b c Eoscene, 8st 7lbs	M Cannon	3
Mr R J Newman's Cock of the Roost, 8st 12lbs	D Maher	0
Mr L Brassey's Saltpetre, 8st 7lbs	K Cannon	0
Mr Fairie's Eon, 8st 4lbs	O Madden	0
Prince Soltykoff's Paregoric, 8st 7lbs	Halsey	0

(A declaration was made to win with Mead.)

(Winner trained by R. Marsh, at Newmarket.)

BETTING:—9 to 4 on Mead, 8 to 1 agst Cock of the Roost, 100 to 8 Eoscene, 100 to 7 Paregoric, and 20 to 1 each Persistence, Eon, and Saltpetre (offered).

Won easily by a length and a half; four lengths between second and third. Cock of the Roost was fourth, Eon fifth, and Paregoric last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2min 4⅘sec.

The BEDFORD TWO-YEAR-OLD STAKES—Of 630sovs: colts 8st 10lbs fillies and geldings 8st 7lb, with penalties and allowances. Rous Course (five furlongs).

Mr L Brassey's b c Merryman, by Bay Ronald—Merry Miser, 9st	M Cannon	1
Lord Stanley's br c by Melange—Kilmorna, 8st 5lbs	Maher	2
Lord Harewood's b c Almscliff, 8st 7lbs	Miller	3
Mr R Sherwood's Ilkley, 8st 11b	Croft	0
Mr W O Whitney's c by Persimmon—Surprise Me Not, 8st 10lbs	J H Martin	0
Mr E C Clayton's Blue Vinny, 8st 4lbs	G McCall	0
Lord Dunraven's Festal Air, 8st 11b	Griggs	0
Mr W Bass's f by the Rush—Ripplestream, 8st 11b	O Madden	0
Mr Ingle's Santa Maria, 8st 11b	Boardman	0
Prince Soltykoff's Chlora, 8st 11b	Halsey	0
Mr G Lambton's Sophie Arnold, 8st 4lbs	H Aylin	0

Winner trained by H Sadler at Newmarket.

BETTING—7 to 4 on Kilmorna colt, 5 to 1 agst Merryman, 100 to 8 Chlora, and 20 to 1 any other (offered.)

Won easily by two lengths; a head divided the second and third. Chlora was fourth, Surprise Me Not colt fifth, Blue Vinny sixth, Sophie Arnold seventh, Santa Maria eighth, and Ilkley last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min 4⅘sec.

THE BREEDERS' STAKES—Of 477 sovs, for two-years-old; colts 8st 12lbs, fillies and geldings 8st 9lb; winners extra. Rous Course (five furlongs).

Mr S B Joel's ch c Week End, by Rightaway—Samadi, 8st	Watts	1
Sir J Blundell Maple's b g Ireland, 8st	W Lane	2
Mr L de Rothschild's b f Quisisana, 8st 3lbs	K Cannon	3
Mr L Brassey's Tom Thumb, 8st 3lbs	Halsey	0
Mr T Jennings' Merry, 8st	Hardy	0
Mr E C Clayton's Kill Hill, 8st	G McCall	0
Sir G Farrar's Matchmaid, 8st 4lb	Randall	0
Sir R Waldie Griffith's f by Prisoner—Vitula, 8st	J H Martin	0
Lord Stanley's Masterpiece, 8st	H Aylin	0

(Winner trained by T Cannon, Jun. at Stockbridge.)

BETTING: 13 to 8 on Ireland, 7 to 1 agst Quisisana, 8 to 1 Tom Thumb, and 10 to 1 agst any other (offered).

Won by three-quarters of a length; a length and a half between second and third. Kill Hill was fourth Vitula fifth. Tom Thumb sixth, Merry seventh, and Masterpiece last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min 4⅘sec.

CRICKET.

LANCASHIRE vs. LEICESTERSHIRE.—Played at Leicester on 11th, 12th and 13th, May. In the Leicestershire team, V. F. S. Crawford and Gill were making their first appearance for the county; on the other hand Tyldesley was absent from the Lancashire XI. There was no play on Monday. After a few overs on Tuesday morning, during which Lancashire lost two wickets for 6 runs, rain came down and stopped play until after lunch. When play was resumed Sharp proved to be in good form, his 54 being the chief score in the innings of 164. At the close of the play the home side had made 69 for the loss of Mr. Wood's wicket, and so had none the worst of the play. Yesterday, however, run-getting proved a somewhat difficult matter, Barnes and Webb bowling so effectively that the nine outstanding wickets of Leicestershire realised but 55 runs. Possessing a lead of 40, Lancashire commenced their second venture, and, but for Maclaren's fine innings of 91, would probably have been dismissed for 50. Barnes and Webb again proved in rare form and assisted by a capital piece of bowling on the part of Littlewood, enabled Lancashire to gain a substantial victory.

LANCASHIRE.

First Innings.		Second Innings.
A C Maclaren, lbw, b Odell	6	b Odell	91
Ward, b Marlow	0	b R Crawford	17
R H Spooner, b Odell	3	c Knight, b Marlow	5
A H Hornby, b Odell	30	c Marlow, b King	5
F H Hollins, c V Crawford, b King	18	b Odell	12
Sharp, c De Trafford, b King	54	c and b Odell	13
Cuttell, b King	1	c R Crawford b King	1
Barnes, c Gill, b Odell	30	c and b Odell	2
Littlewood, not out	13	c Whitehead, b Odell	0
Webb, b Odell	2	not out	3
Radcliffe, c Whiteside, b King	0	c Knight, b Marlow	0
B 3, lb 3, nb 1	7	Extras	4
Total	164	Total	153

LEICESTERSHIRE.

First Innings.		Second Innings.
C J B Wood, b Barnes	22	c Hollins, b Barnes	6
Whitehead, b Webb	41	b Webb	4
Knight, c Littlewood, b Barnes	7	b Barnes	4
King, run out	1	b Webb	2
V F S Crawford, c Spooner, b Barnes	6	b Webb	5
R Crawford, c Maclaren, b Webb	10	c Cuttell, b Barnes	17
Gill, st Radcliff, b Webb	7	c Cuttell, b Webb	6,
C E de Trafford, c Spooner, b Barnes	20	c & b Littlewood	23
W W Odell, c Ward, b Webb	1	c Maclaren, b Littlewood	6
Whiteside, b Barnes	7	not out	2
Marlow, not out	0	b Littlewood	2
Extras	2	Byes	8
Total	124	Total	85

M. C. C. & GROUND vs. YORKSHIRE.—Played at Lord's on 11th, 12th and 13th May. Drawn. As usual, when so many counties are playing championship matches, the M. C. C. found great difficulty in getting together a good team; indeed they had to rely almost entirely on their professionals, and both in batting and bowling the side was very weak. There was no cricket on Monday or Tuesday. Yesterday, the ground in front of the pavilion proving unplayable, the practice ground was utilised, this being the first occasion upon which an important match had been contested in that enclosure. Walker Wainwright bowled with great effect for the Yorkshiremen, obtaining six wickets during the innings for 49 runs, and giving great promise of future excellence. In one over he disposed of Llewellyn, Board and Beldam, the score then being 88. Braund and Trott both batted well, the latter claiming 37 out of 55 in 35 minutes. Rhodes and Brown opened the county's innings in fine form, sending up 59 ere a wicket fell. The fine start, however, was not maintained, only Rhodes appearing able to cope successfully with the attack. When the last wicket fell at 181, he was still undefeated with 98 to his credit, having carried his bat right through the innings. His display was a very fine one, considering the state of the ground. Runs were always difficult to obtain, and a definite result never appeared possible.

M.C.C. AND GROUND.

Wrathall, c Hirst, b Wainwright	12	Llewellyn, b Wainwright	1
Hearne (A), b Haigh	26	Beldam (G W), c Wilkinson, b Wainwright	0
Braund, b Rhodes	35	Board, lbw, b Wainwright	0
C. C. T. Doll, b Haigh	0	Hearne (J T), not out	13
G. S. F. Griffin, b Haigh	1	Byes	4
Thomson, c Ward, b Wainwright	4	Total	133
Trott (A E), b Wainwright	37

YORKSHIRE.

Brown, b Llewellyn	30	Whitehead, b Braund	10
Rhodes, not out	98	Lord Hawke, b Beldam	4
Denton, b Trott	12	Hunter, c Thompson, b Braund	4
Wilkinson, c and b Thomson	3	Ward, b Braund	0
Hirst, b Thomson	0	B 4, lb 5 nb 2	11
Haigh, c Hearne (A), b Trott	1	Total	184
Walker Wainwright, c Hearne (J T), b Trott	11

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY vs. GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND.—With Rawlin and Cranfield. Played at Cambridge on 11th, 12th and 13th May. The Gentlemen of England won by 42 runs. It rained nearly all day at Cambridge on Monday, and no play was possible. On Tuesday the Varsity, with the exception of Phillips and Harper, could do very little against the bowling of Bosanquet and Cranfield. The Gentlemen, on the other hand, soon began to make the Cambridge bowling look easy. The stand of the day was effected by Poidevin and Bosanquet, who by means of very bright cricket, added 103 runs, whilst together for the third wicket in 55 minutes. Poidevin's display was probably the better of the two, though Bosanquet's was of a very high standard. The former's chief hits were a 5 and nine 4's, and the latter's seven 4's. Yesterday the Varsity gave a very feeble display and but for the partnership of 94 by Dowson and Fry would have cut a very sorry figure indeed. Although Dowson gave an easy chance when 40 to Bradley at extra cover-point, his innings was a very praiseworthy one. He batted an hour and three-quarters, and hit eight 4's. Cambridge eventually had to acknowledge defeat by 42 runs.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY.

First Innings.		Second Innings.
C H M Edden, lbw, b Rawlin	8	b Cranfield	5
H C McDonell, st Marsh, b Cranfield	1	c Weigall, b Bradley	11
E W Mann, c Johnson, b Cranfield	5	b Hartley	5
E S Phillips, b Bosanquet	22	b Hartley	0
E M Dowson, b Rawlin	0	b Bradley	73
L V Harper, c Poidevin, b Cranfield	21	b Hartley	1
K R B Fry, lbw, b Cranfield	3	lbw, b Bosanquet	22
F R Wilson, b Bosanquet	1	b Cranfield	2
H S Bompas, b Cranfield	1	c Marsh, b Bradley	2
R P Keigwin, st Marsh, b Cranfield	1	b Cranfield	0
G Howard-Smith, not out	0	not out	0
Byes 3 lb 1, w 1	5	Extras	7
Total	68	Total	128

GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND.

C J Burnup, c Fry, b Dowson	18	Rawlin b McDonell	1
E W Dillon, b McDonell	7	J C Hartley, run out	25
L O S Poidevin, b McDonell	69	J W Marsh, run out	21
B J T Bosanquet, c Mann, b Edden	64	Cranfield, st Bompas, b McDonell	5
P R Johnson, lbw, b McDonell	4	W M Bradley, b Dowson	5
G J V Weigall, b Dowson	13	Byes 5, nb 1	6
		Total	238

SUSSEX vs. WORCESTERSHIRE.—Played at Brighton on 11th, 12th and 13th May. Sussex won by 163 runs. The Sussex eleven for this match was at its full strength—for Newham and Braun seem only to play now when some of the big guns are away, and it is necessary to have somebody who can make runs—while Worcestershire included in their ranks Keene, a young Surrey professional who has qualified. Keene is a left-hand bowler of medium pace, and on the first day he did well enough to impress the critics favourably. Sussex made a most unpromising start, for Fry began the season by losing his wicket to a brilliant caught and bowled before he had scored. Vine and Killick then, as so often before, put a good appearance on the game before they were separated, and a little later C. L. A. Smith played such a good innings that his place in the team ought at last to be safe. Ranjitsinhji disappointed the spectators, who had to fall back on some hitting by Butt. Vine was sixth out, after batting patiently and well for an hour and three-quarters. When Worcestershire went in Fry almost immediately brought off a great catch at square leg, which disposed of Bowley, after which Wheldon and Bromley-Martin made a stand. When played excellent cricket for an hour and a half. stumps were drawn Worcestershire had lost 7 wickets 96. Some lively batting by Wilson on Tuesday morning the cricket interesting, and when the innings came to an was only 34 runs behind that of Sussex. When Vine dismissed for one run things did not look well for Sussex in second innings, but Killick and Fry were both in form, and put on 75 runs during their partnership. After taking an hour and 50 minutes to reach his half-century, Fry scored very rapidly, his driving being superb. Apart from a chance to the bowler when 31, he made no mistakes during the four hours his innings lasted. He hit twenty 4's, eight 3's, and fourteen 2's, and with Smith as a partner added 152 runs for the fourth wicket. The position of Worcestershire was not an enviable one when play commenced yesterday, as they were 379 runs in arrears, and had nothing better to hope for than a draw. The visitors under the circumstances, naturally adopted stone-walling tactics, but they did not prove equal to the task of beating the clock. H. K. Foster and Wheldon were both seen to advantage, the former's display being particularly good. Butt caught five and stumped one.

SUSSEX.

First Innings.		Second Innings.
C B Fry, c and b Arnold	0	c Arnold, b Bird	174
Vine, c and b Arnold	43	b Arnold	1
Killick, b Keene	20	c and b Wilson	36
Relf, c Keene, b Arnold	15	b Arnold	8
C L A Smith, b Wilson	34	run out	46
Marlow, c Gaukrodger, b Bird	8	c Gaukrodger, b Bird	24
K S Ranjitsinhji, lbw, b Wilson	11	c Bird, b Keene	27
Butt, b Arnold	21	c Wilson, b Keene	10
Cox, b Keene	10	not out	0
Tate, not out	1	B 11, lb 7, w 1	19
Bland, c Gaukrodger, b Keene	6
B 3, lb 1 w 2	6
Total	175	Total (2)*	345

* Innings declared closed.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

Bowley, c Fry, b Relf	5	c But	16
Wheldon, st Butt, b Tate	53	c But d	52
G Bromley-Martin, b Relf	12	b Bla	30
Arnold, run out	0	b Bl	4
H K Foster, lbw, b Tate	14	b Ta	84
Gaukrodger, c Butt, b Tate	6	lbw	0
A W Isaac, c Butt, b Bland	4	c B	3
Smith, lbw, b Bland	5	b Bl	14
Bird, not out	14	b Bl	0
Wilson, b Bland	20	b Bl	2
Keene, run out	6	not o	2
Leg-byes	2	B 6 1	9
	141	Total	216

NOTTS vs. DERBYSHIRE.—Played at Trent Bri e on 11th, 12th and 13th May. Notts, won by six wickets. There was no play in this match on Monday owing to rain; but on Tuesday good progress was made, the bowlers having much the best of the situation. No one among the Derbyshire men managed to get going, but for Notts Jones and Iremonger made an excellent start, putting up 47 for the first wicket. After this, however, the bowlers began to make headway and in the end the lead on the first innings was only 64. Yesterday Derbyshire fared badly against Wass only Ellis making any serious resistance to the bowling and were all out for 118, or only 52 ahead. After a bad beginning, Notts won easily.

DERBYSHIRE.

First Innings.		Second Innings.
L G Wright, c Dixon, b Wass	17	run out	8
C A Ollivierre, b Hallam	15	b Hallam	27
Storer, c Jones, b Wass	6	b J Gunn	18
Needham, c Gunn (J), b Hallam	8	b Hallam	0
Ellis, run out	1	c Gunn (J), b Dixon	44
T Forester, c Iremonger, b Hallam	15	b Wass	6
A E Lawton, b Wass	0	c Gunn (J), b Wass	0
Humphries, c Gunn (W), b Gunn (J)	8	c Oates, b Wass	3
Warren, c Iremonger, b Gunn (J)	5	b Wass	0
Hulme, c Stanton, b Hallam	6	b Wass	0
Bestwick, not out	0	not out	7
Bye	1	Extras	3
Total	82	Total	116

NOTTS.

First Innings.		Second Innings.
A O Jones, c Storer, b Hulme	23	not out	37
Iremonger, b Hulme	24	c Ellis, b Warren	0
Gunn (W), c and b Forester	17	c and b Warren	1
Gunn (J), c Ellis, b Warren	58	run out	1
J A Dixon, b Forester	0	c Warren, b Bestwick	6
Gunn (G), c Lawton, b Warren	1	not out	4
Rev H Staunton, b Forester	2
Anthony, not out	13
Oates, b Warren	0
Hallam, c Warren, b Forester	2
Wass, c Bestwick, b Warren	1
B 4, lb 1	5	lb 2, b 2	4
Total	146	Total (1 wkt)	53

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.
According to size. From
J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

DERBYSHIRE.

	First Innings. O	M	R	W		Second Innings. O.	M.	R.	W.
Wass ...	... 15	2	48	3	...	21·3	7	43	5
Hallam ...	... 17·2	6	30	4	...	15	5	30	2
Gunn (J)	... 4	3	3	2	...	9	4	18	1
	Anthony				...	7	4	7	0
	J A Dixon				...	8	1	15	1

Wass and Gunn (J) each a no-ball.

NOTTS.

	First Innings. O	M	R	W		Second Innings. O	M	R	W
Bestwick	... 11	2	41	0	...	12	3	15	1
Forester	... 14	3	43	4	...	1·3	0	9	0
Warren ...	... 9	2	17	4	...	11	4	25	2
Hulme ...	... 13	2	40	2

SURREYS v. WARWICKSHIRE.—Played at Edgbaston on 11th, 12th and 13th May. Drawn. It was found impossible to begin this match on Monday, while on Tuesday there was more rain, and another postponement was necessary. On Wednesday, owing to the saturated state of the ground, no play was possible until 2-40 and what cricket took place was not of a very serious character. The score best tells its own tale.

SURREY.

Hayward, b Charlesworth	38	Holland, c Hargreave, b Whittle ...	16
E Wiltshire, b Santall ...	0	L Walker, not out ...	6
Hayes, c and b Santall ...	8	Montgomery, b Whittle ...	2
Brockwell, c and b Charlesworth	16	Extra	1
		Total (6 wkts)	*87

Lockwood, Clode, Strudwick, and Jackson did not bat.
* Innings declared closed.

WARWICKSHIRE.

T S Fishwick, b Jackson ...	7	Lilley, c Hayward, b Montgomery ...	14
Devey, c Jackson, b Montgomery	22	Kinneir, not out ...	9
J F Byrne, st Strudwick, b Jackson	4	Charlesworth, b Montgomery	6
Quaife (W.G.), c Walker, b Montgomery ...	9	Byes	3
		Total (6 wkts) ...	74

Santall, Moorhouse, Whittle and Hargreave did not bat.

IMPORTANT RESULTS.

The letters a, b, c, d, &c., denote one, two, three, four wickets down, &c., x no wicket down, *signifies the home side, †innings declared closed.

CAMBRIDGE FRESHMEN'S MATCH.

	1st inn.	2nd inn.		1st inn.	2nd inn.
E.M. Dowson's Side...	119	.. 259	C.H.M. Ebden's side	74	... —

OXFORD FRESHMEN'S MATCH.

W Findlay's Side	..150	...130	W H B Evan's Side	101	...58*b*

LANCASHIRE LEAGUE.

*Colne	... 77*c*	... —	Accrington	... 70	... —
*Ramsbottom	... 30*x*	... —	Enfield	... —	... —
Lowerhouse	... 121*i*†	... —	*Church	... 16*d*	... —
*Rishton	... 98	... —	Nelson	... 56*c*	... —
*Burnley	... 110*c*†	... —	Haslingdon	... 61*c*	... —
*Brooklands	... 79	... —	Sale	... 72	... —
Manchester	... 69*e*	... —	*Longsight	... 67	... —
Broughton	... 131	... —	*Stockport	... 41	... —
*Huyton	... 155	... —	Western	... 72	... —

BIRMINGHAM LEAGUE.

*Moseley	... 34	... —	Dartmouth	... 34	... —
*Stourbridge	... 94	... —	Mitchell's and Butler's	... 91	... —
Aston Unity	... 165*h*†	... —	*Smethwick	... 42*d*	... —

NORTH STAFFORDSHIRE LEAGUE.

Silverdale	... 31*e*	... —	*Tunstall	... —	... —
*Fenton	... 124	... —	Crewe	... 40	... —
Stoke	... 14*x*	... —	*Bignall End	... —	... —
*Leek	... 49	... —	Porthill	... 41*e*	... —
Longton	... 59	... —	*Norton	... 49*a*	... —
*Burnslem	... 91*e*	... —	Leek Highfield	... ...	... —

KETTERING AND DISTRICT LEAGUE.

*Burton Latimer	59	... —	Rothwell Town	... 32	... —
Desborough (2nd)	53	... —	*Gretton	... 49	... —
*Gt Oakley	... 20*a*	... —	Stoke Albany	... 11	... —
Kettering Engineers	64	... —	*Rothwell (2nd)	... 30	... —
Rushden Town (2nd)	15	... —	*Irchester	... 14	... —
*Wellaston (2nd)	59	... —	Rushdn Wslyns	... 34	... —

OTHER MATCHES.

Liverpool	... 160*g*†	... —	*Sefton	... 90	... —
*Eccles	... 56*b*	... —	Manchstr Cffrd	... —	... —
Whalley Range	... 67*g*	... —	*Macclesfield	... 22	... —
*Warrington	... 33*h*	... —	Bootle	... 28	... —
Owen's College	... 135*d*†	... —	*Knutsford	... 84	... —
Southport	... 78*i*	... —	*Wigan	... 77	... —
*Windsor Home Park	... 100	... —	Kensington Pk.	... 67	... —
Barnes	... 160*e*†	... —	*Mr J. C. Lovell's XI.	... 45*e*	... —
Christ's Coll., Camb.	... 124	... —	Selwyn College	... 63	... —
Peterhouse Cl., Cmb.	... 124*b*	... —	Caius College	... 102	... —
Jesus Coll., Cambridge	... 11*f*	... —	St. Cathrn's Cl.	... 196	... —
*Bedford Gram. School	... 91	... —	Wadham Coll., Oxford	... 80	... —
Leinster Ivanhoe...	26	... —	*Desboro Town	... 24	... —
*Kettering C.T....	75	... —	Kettering B. C.	... 23	... —
*Burton Latimer C. T.	... 70	... —	Isham	... 22	... —
*Brighton St. John's	... 163*d*†	... —	Preston Park	... 34	... —
Hayward's Heath	65	... —	Shoreham	... 53	... —
Trinity Hall, Cam	88	... —	Corpus College	... 29	... —
*Royal Naval College	... 221*f*	... —	H. M. S. Good Hope	... 183	... —
U. C. S. Old Boys	35*b*	... —	*Uxbridge	... 12	... —
*Hem Artillery Co.	56*e*	... —	University Col.	... —	... —
*Blackheath	... 171*d*†	... —	M. C. C. & Grnd	... 26*e*	... —
*Middlesex Asylum	... 98	... —	Upper Tooting	... 4*x*	... —
Beckenham	... 82	... —	*Upper Tooting	... —	... —
*Kew	... 77*g*	... —	West Sheen.	... 76	... —
*Old Charlton	... 137*h*†	... —	Dulwich	... 14*a*	... —
*Addington	... 40*k*	... —	Bromley Town	... —	... —
*Clifton	... 113*d*	... —	Horwich	... 71*h*	... —
Norwich	... 93	... —	*Winsford	... 50*e*	... —
*Sutton	... 140	... —	Addiscombe	... 136	... —
Chelsea Polytechnic	46	... —	*Battersea Poly....	36	... —
London County	109	... —	*S. Thomas' Hsp	68	... —
Kensington	... 64*a*	... —	*Turnham Grn	... 61	... —
Newbury Park	... 134	... —	*Leatherhead	... 131	... —
Chiswick Park	... 71*a*	... —	*Richmond	... 62	... —
L. C. C.	... 107*b*	... —	*Hampton Wick	45	... —
Maidenhead	... 101	... —	*Slough	... 68*f*	... —
*St. Hampton Trojans.	... 250	... —	Weston Park	... 39	... —

Owing to the unfavourable weather a large number of matches all over the country could not be played.

GOLF.

PROFESSIONAL GOLFERS' ASSOCIATION TOURNAMENT.—Formed three years ago, this Association, which claims the Prime Minister as president, works for the benefit and advancement of the professional golfer. It is customary to hold three tournaments in the course of the year—in the North Midlands, and south of England. All so far have been successful. That held yesterday, by kind permission, on the links of the Hanger Hill Golf Club, was the seventh since instituted and the first of the present year. It was remarkably successful in every respect The entrants numbered 87, a record, the previous highest total being 56, and nearly all put in appearance. Favoured by beautifully fine weather, a large and fashionable company watched the proceedings, many of them following the play of the cracks with keen interest There were ten prizes for competition, including the championship "Tooting Bec" Cup. This was again secured by the holder, James Braid. In the morning the Romford professional went round in 73—the best for the course is 72. His details were: Out 4 4 5 6 4 4 4 3 4—38; home, 4 6 3 3 3 4 4 4 4—35. Total, 73. Second round: Out 5 3 5 5 4 4 4 3 5—38; home, 4 5 5 2 5 5 4 4 4 4—37. Total, 75. Vardon and Jack White also obtained 73 for the first round. Vardon's score was: Out, 4 3 5 4 4 4 3 4; home, 5 5 4 4 4 4 4 4 4—73. Second round: Out, 4 3 5 5 4 4 4 4; home, 5 7 4 3 4 5 4 5 3. Total, 78. White's scores were: First round: Out, 4 2 7 5 4 4 5 3 3; home, 5 6 4 4 5 5 3 5 4. Total—78. Second round Out, 5 3 4 5 4 4 4 2 5; home, 6 5 4 3 3 4 4 5 3. Total, 73. Braid gave an exceptionally fine display, considering that the greens after the recent heavy rains were decidedly slow. As usual his driving was a strong feature. It will be noted that White and Vardon tied for second place. Other winners were J. Sherlock, T. Yeoman, Rowland Jones, J. McLaren, W. Hunter, R. Thomson, Jack Milne, E. Gray and J. Bradbeer. Special awards for assistants went to A. F. Kettley, Mid-Surrey, aggregate, 167; Joshua Taylor, Mid-Surrey, 168; and A. Hills, Sevenoaks, 171. In distributing the awards, Lord Walter Gordon Lennox, captain of the Hanger Hill Golf Club, warmly complimented Braid, and announced that the club prize for the best performance for the 18 holes would be divided between Braid, Vardon, and White, who each scored 73. Mr. C. E. Mieville (hon. sec. of the Professional Golfers' Association), in a short speech, returned thanks on behalf of the professionals to the Hanger Hill Club for their generous hospitality and their promised donation to the Association's Benevolent Fund. Details:—

	1st Rnd.	2nd Rnd.	Aggregate.
James Braid, Romford ...	73	75	148
Harry Vardon, South Herts ...	73	78	151
Jack White, Sunningdale ...	78	73	151
J Sherlock, Oxford University ...	75	82	157
Tom Yeoman, Seaford ...	78	79	157
Rowland Jones, Wimbledon Park ...	81	77	158
J McLaren, Norbury (handicap 6) ...	76	82	148
W Hunter, Richmond ...	79	80	159
R Thomson, North Berwick ...	78	82	160
Jack Milne, Neasden ...	83	77	160
Ernest Gray, Littlehampton ...	77	83	160
J Bradbeer, Finchley ...	82	78	160
A McLaren, Hampstead ...	82	79	161
H A Hunt, Reigate Heath ...	78	83	161
J B Batley, Bushey ...	81	81	162
A Tingey, West Herts ...	82	81	163
W R Thomson, Beckenham ...	83	80	163
Alex Thomson, North Surrey ...	82	81	163
A Mitchell, St. Leonards-on-Sea ...	78	85	163
E H Risebro, Chiswick ...	78	85	163
W G Toogood, Rochford ...	82	82	164

The other returns were: A. J. Howlett, Puttenham, 167; J. Randall, Sundridge Park, 185; G Charles, West Middlex, 174, W. M. Winton, Acton, 177; G. H. Cawsey, Malvern, 164; D. Anderson, Bromley and Bickley, 168 *T. Whitehead, Acton, 175 E. Newberry, Strawberry Hill, 189; R. Mundy, Churston, 179; S. J. Cooper, Ealing, 174; H. R. Chestney, Burnham Beeches 169, J Hepburn, Home Park, 167; John Ross, Sutton, 167, W. H. Eve, Wanstead, 190; Bob Monro, Royal Wimbledon, 172; H Strong, Cambridge, 168; D. Stephenson, Huntercombe, 167; H. Cawsey, Ashford Manor, 171; A. F. Kettley, Mid Surrey, 167; J. Kinnell, Royal Norwich, 170; T. Walker Sevenoaks, 172; *G. Henson, Hanger Hill, 172; A Simpson Maidenhead 173 P. G. Wyatt Horne Bay, 173; J. D. Higgs, Hanger Hill, 189; C. Clay Banelagh, 180; G. Morton, Royal St. George's 185; C. W. Pope, Hastings, 174; A. E Robb, Eastbourne, 183; *Joshua Taylor, Mid-Surrey, 171; Jack Rowe, Forest Row, 169; A. Gray, Gravesend, 168; R. Wakerley West Essex, 171; R. G. Hepburn, Royston, 189; Peter Paxton, Hanger Hill, 174; W. P. Lewis, King's Norton, 166; *A Hills, Sevenoaks, 171.

*Asterisk denotes assistant.

TENNIS.

THE AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.—Steering safely through the preliminary stages of the above competition with victories over Messrs. E. A. Biederman and R. K. Cross and Major Cooper Key, Mr. Vane Pennell became qualified to challenge the holder, Mr. Eustace H. Miles, for the championship, and the contest duly took place on the 9th instant at the Queen's Club, West Kensington. The weather being overcast, the light was not too good for the players, but the decians and gallery overlooking the court were crowded with interested spectators, amongst whom were Major-General Minto Elliot, Major A. Cooper Key, Captain St. G Daly, Messrs. J. F. Marshall, F. Dames Longworth, H. S. Mahony, C. Clay, A. D. Horne, and Plant (New York A. C.). The contest proved a most one-sided affair, and Pennell was well beaten when an unfortunate accident brought the match to an early termination. Miles placed the ball down the side wall very wide of Pennell, and, in attempting to make the return, the challenger could not stop himself and struck his shoulder violently against the building. Pennell fell to the ground, but soon recovered, only to find himself unable to proceed after another stroke had been won. He, consequently, retired and Miles became champion for the fifth year in succession. Details:—

E. H. Miles (Mariborough and Cambridge) (holder) beat V. Pennell (Charterhouse and Cambridge) (challenger) by two sets to love (6—0, 6—2) and two games to one in the third set (Pennell retiring owing to injury) or 14 games to 3.—Miles started in great form and, from the first, it was obvious that, if anything, his form has improved since last year. The holder not only hit very hard, but his length and placing were excellent, and Pennell was kept continually on the move. The first was a love set to Miles, the challenger only winning three strokes, but Pennell who, it must be said, had the worst of the luck, managed to secure the first game in the second set. Miles soon equalised with game to love, and went to 3—1 before Pennell scored again. Subsequently, the Old Carthusian stood no chance, and lost the second set at 6—2. Pennell looked like making a fight of it in the third set, but after alternate games had been won the accident referred to above happened in the fourth game, with the score standing fifteen all. Pennell could not go on, and had to retire, leaving Miles the winner. A Dooley marked and called the match, which lasted 42mins.

PREVIOUS WINNERS.

1889. Sir Edward Grey, Bart.	1896. Sir Edward Grey Bart.
1890. E. B. Curtis.	1897. J. B. Gribble.
1891. Sir Edward Grey. Bart	1898. Sir Edward Grey, Bart.
1892. H. Earnest Crawley.	1899. E. H. Miles.
1893. H. Earnest Crawley.	1900. E. H. Miles.
1894. H. Earnest Crawley.	1901. E. H. Miles.
1895. Sir Edward Grey. Bart.	1902. E. H. Miles.

CYCLING

INTERNATIONAL CYCLING AT PONTYPRIDD.

On Saturday, the 9th instant, the mixed meeting, promoted by the N. C. U., at Pontypridd, produced some good racing. The recent rains had little effect on the cinder track, and some fast times were made. Results:—

HALF-MILE PROFESSIONAL HANDICAP—Grogna (Belgium), scratch, 1; Piard (France), scratch, 2; Bassett (Pontardulais), 72 yards start, 3. Won by only a few inches. Domain (France) was beaten a few inches for third place. Time—1min. 2secs.

ONE MILE SCRATCH RACE.—Piard (France), 1; Domain (France), 2; Tom James (Mountain Ash), 3. James made a great effort to overtake the Frenchmen, who won by inches only. Howard (London) was fourth. Grogna (Belgium) was, beaten by James in his heat. Time—3min 46⅗sec.

QUARTER-MILE AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP OF SOUTH WALES (CENTRE).—C. E. Baker (Carmarthen), 1; T. S. Lake (Pontypridd), 2; W. J. Powell (Bridgend), 3. Time—33⅘sec.

The standard time was 33sec. and time limit 45secs.

FIVE-MILE SCRATCH RACE.—Mayer (Germany), 1; Heller (Austria), 2; James (Mountain Ash), 3. Won by half a length; the same distance dividing the second and third. Domain and Howard were close up. Time—17min 0⅘sec.

HALF-MILE AMATEUR HANDICAP.—T. S. Lake (Pontypridd) 76 yards start, 1; A. Eddins (Pontypridd), 60 2; C. E. Baker (Carmarthen), 25, 3. Won by a length. Time—1min 1sec.

FIVE-MILE MOTOR SCRATCH RACE.—H. C. Prickett (Cardiff), beat Josh Williams (Cardiff) by nearly two laps. Time—8mins 40secs.

BOXING.

THE NATIONAL SPORTING CLUB.

Judging from his display of last night, Jimmy Handler, of New York, must have lost a good deal of the form he possessed at the time he scored the victories he is credited with over men like Charley McKeevor, Dick O'Brien, and Mysterious Billy Smith. True, he was labouring under a very great handicap in meeting "Slounch" Dixon, of Stepney, the last-named having an advantage of pretty nearly 3stone in weight. On the strength of his doings in the States, odds of 2 to 1 were betted at the start on the New Yorker, but so indifferently did he box that at the end of the second round Dixon was a pronounced favourite at 5 to 2. Handler appeared unable to keep his feet, and, with Dixon awkward on his legs, the men fell about the stage in quite a remarkable manner For four rounds it was more of a tumbling match than a boxing contest, and the antics the two cut in regaining their feet and in assisting each other to rise caused no end of amusement. The competitors, on the other hand, fought in a serious and determined manner, and, if science was wanting, hard knocks were more than plentiful. Slow as he is, Dixon, who took the ring a mountain of flesh, was faster than the American. Handler, as stated, seemed all abroad for the first few rounds, and though he hung on in wonderfully plucky fashion he seldom had the better of the exchanges. Throughout the men slogged for all they were worth punched and punched with no thought whatever of science. Power of hitting was with the Londoner, in addition to which his blows had more precision than those of Handler. The last-named appeared to rely mainly on a right-handed swing. This Dixon invariably avoided, and at the end of a hard and gruelling encounter the verdict went his way. Dixon fought remarkably well under his burden of flesh, while no man could have shown more pluck and grit than the loser.

TEN-ROUND CONTEST.

Slouch Dixon (Stepney) beat Jimmy Handler (American).—Bill Higgins and Harry Paul were behind the Englishman; the American was squired by Bill Baxter and Charley Pendley. Handler is a middle-weight, and Dixon a decided heavy-weight; in fact the latter looked nearly three stone the heavier, despite which he was in good condition—for him. To open with, Dixon led twice lightly on the face, and then drove the American reeling on to the ropes, with a flush left on the mouth Dixon slipped down, and Handler's sportsmanlike action in assisting him to rise was cordaly appreciated. Twice again Dixon shook the American with facers. In the second round Dixon again began strongly; thrice he reached the face, and getting near the ropes, put left and right on the Yankee's body very forcefully. Handler swung lightly on the jaw, and then, in some half arm exchanges, both rolled on the mat. So far, Dixon had made all the running. There was more slipping to the floor in the third round, the spectators regarding these antics amusedly. Handler was rather more effective this time, Dixon being slow at close quarters. At the fourth meeting, Dixon drove a heavy one in the face, and then again both went down. Some half work followed, the Stepney man using the right usefully on the body. Coming away from a clinch, the American tried a right high on the jaw, which fairly shook up the big man. The fifth round saw some alteration in the Londoner's tactics; he tempted Handler to lead, and then hooked him heavily on the ribs and stomach. At the opening of the sixth term Handler got right and left on the side of the head, to which Dixon responded with "rib roasters" and several hooks aimed for the mark which the American managed to avoid. The latter was taking a deal of punishment. Handler chopped his man on the jaw in the seventh round, but there was little steam behind it, and returning to the attack the Stepneyite forced him to the ropes, fibbing merrily with both hands. Coming up for the eighth time Dixon half-caught the Yankee with a swinging right. He was dazed for a moment, but quickly recovered. Hereabouts Handler was distressed, but he fought dead game. Once Dixon sent him staggering through the ropes. Handler made a fine effort to retrieve his fortunes in the ninth round. Thrice he swung on the cheek, and then made his adversary wince with a short body jolt. As the round ended Handler thought the bout had finished. He shook hands but his seconds quickly explained the mistake. He smiled, and resumed For the final set-to both were tired, the American far more so than the Englishman. Dixon was always superior. In the last half-minute Handler chanced the right for the jaw, but Dixon was inside. At the close the verdict was easily secured by the Stepney man. His adversary got a big cheer as a very game loser.

ATHLETICS.

A SHRUBB v. 10-MILE RECORD.—In the presence of a large attendance of spectators at Preston Park, Brighton, last evening, Alfred Shrubb of the S.L.H., tried to lower W. G. George's ten-mile record of 51min. 20secs., he being the scratch man in a handicap arranged by the Brighton and County Harriers. A slight but puffy breeze was blowing and this was against him. He did five miles in 25mins 15secs, but in the sixth and eight miles accomplished slow times, and, though he finished with a fine spurt, he was 10 ⅖sec outside George's figures. A. Albridge was second, three quarters of mile away, and S. J. Woolly, of the Highgate Harriers, third. The handicap resulted in a win for J. G. Cox, of Brighton, with 5min start, his handicap time being 51min 12secs; Woolly, 4min. 15secs. start, was second, and Shrubb third. In the other events R. J. Heather won the club 100 yards handicap from the 7½ yards mark, whilst W. Foster, 30 yards start, secured the mile club handicap, the respective times being 10 4-5secs and 4mins39secs.

THE WEASEL.

ON AN

ELLAMS

DUPLICATOR

you can print in a few minutes, without any mess or trouble, Hundreds of Copies—both in Hand or Typewriting—of Circulars, Letters, Quotations Agendas, Menus, Specifications, Maps, Requisition for Tenders, Price Lists, List of Articles for sale, Notices of all descriptions, Drawing or anything else. Recommended by the Typewriter Companies and adopted by H. M. Government, all the large Railway Companies and thousands of the largest firms all over the world.

Prices, Specimens & Full Particulars on application.

The "Collector" Despatch and Stationery Box.—14½ × 11 × 4½, with tray, spaces for Ink, Ruler, Envelopes, &c., Stationery Rack inside lid. Lined inside Terra Cotta and outside highly enamelled Black and Gold fillets. Fitted with leather Strap, secure two Lever Lock and two Keys.

Rs. 17-8.

THE', COLLECTOR' DESPATCH, BOX.

LESS 10 PER CENT. DISCOUNT FOR CASH OR V.-P.P.

TRAILL & Co., THE CHEAPEST HOUSE IN INDIA FOR STATIONERY AND PRINTING. CALCUTTA.

Hunting.

OOTACAMUND HOUNDS.

SPORT was very poor on Monday, 25th May, when hounds met by invitation at Fernhill, the residence of H. H. the Maharajah of Mysore. It was a pleasant morning as regards weather, but too hot for riding and scent was almost nil. About 7 o'clock Captain Fife moved off to draw and we had a long jog out to Rees Corner. The Long Swamp was tried first and hounds found, but the line was stale. They hunted slowly round by Bagmair's Hill to Elmhurst Corner and then round the other side of the hill. Blackmore Vale was the next draw, but hounds did not find till we were near the Trebel Crossing and when they did they only ran for a few hundred yards. The whole morning was spent in this manner. Bluegums was drawn last, but with no better luck.

Thursday was also a disappointment, as there was a good run missed. The meet was at the kennels for the first time this year. The Master moved off while a mist was down, but it soon cleared off and the day was hot and fine. The open down Cocky's Course was first tried, and hounds hunted slowly at first on finding near Elmhurst Corner. They hunted over Elmhurst Crossing and up Bagmairs Hill to Mills Court, but turning leftwards from here they hunted along the banks of the stream till the Master cast them up a nullah and they began running faster. Leaving the long Swamp on the left they ran over One Tree Hill to Dreadnaught and from here to Baikie In this covert a fresh brace of jacks was disturbed and hounds divided. The hunted one with about four and a half couple broke near the top, but did not run far and they lost him in a patch of bracken and brambles at the top of the hill. Another couple ran one of the fresh jacks down to the Fair lawns Valley before they were stopped, but the main body of the pack had a capital run to themselves straight down the Mungenal Valley and on to the Emreal Valley between Ooty and the Kundah Hills. They were not found till a Badaga coming from that direction was able to tell of their whereabouts. It was found they had run their jack to ground. In consequence of sport having been so poor this week there is to be a tie day on Saturday.

PYKARA.

Cricket.

CRICKET AT MUSSOORIE

MUSSOORIE vs. COMBINED SCHOOLS.—On the 25th ultimo the station played an eleven composed from Mussoorie Schools, and had rather an easy win by 51 runs. Price for the station played a fine innings for 68, while, Turner of Oak Grove School distinguished himself with the ball, taking seven wickets. Score:—

MUSSOORIE.

T H Pruce, lbw Boileau	68
H Williams, c Fox, b Turner	2
Rev H Cowley, c Quarry, b Turner	1
Daubeny, b Turner	0
A G Newcomen, b Turner	0
G Goutiere, b Turner	18
L Smith, c Drake, b Turner	4
E J Riggie, b Boileau	0
P G Collen, c Quarry, b Drake	11
G Slater, b Turner	6
Reed, not out	15
Extras	5
Total	130

COMBINED SCHOOLS.

Fox (St George's College), c Pruce, b Daubeny ...	6
Quarry (Modern School), b Pruce	11
Drake (St George's), b Pruce	4
Boileau (Oak Grove), c Smith, b Cowley	19
Behrmann (St. George's) b Pruce	0
Eagles (Philander Smith's), c Slater b Cowley ...	19
Turner (Oak Grove), c Riggie b Cowley	2
Jahans (Philander Smith's), b Cowley	0
Fitzpatrick (St George's) c Slater, b Cowley ...	2
Domingo (St Fidelis'), not out	0
Lovelace (Oak Grove), b Pruce...	10
Extras	6
Total	79

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS

LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.

Durable and deliciously fragrant

Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.

According to size. From

J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

Football.

FOOTBALL IN CALCUTTA.

THE LEAGUE.

RANGERS vs. BURN & CO.—After three defeats the Rangers won their first match in the competition on the 27th ultimo when they defeated Burn & Co. by three goals to nil. The match was played on the Rangers' ground, but there were not many spectators. The Engineers began the attack and Whelan had to save several hard shots. Then play was transferred to the visitors' ground and Clerici drew first blood for the home team. The Engineers tried hard to equalise, but were not successful. Again the ball was worked down to their end and one of the backs missed his kick letting in Pell, who put on the Rangers' second goal On changing ends the home forwards rushed down but were checked by Ward and interesting play in mid field followed for a space. Then a rush by the Rangers gave Swan a chance and he beat Freeman with a fine shot. On resuming an act of Hooliganism on the part of one of Burn & Co.'s halves compelled the referee to order him off the field. A penalty kick followed which Swan failed to turn to account and the match ended in a win for the Rangers by three goals to nil. Teams :—

RANGERS.—Whelan, goal; Whitie and Lees, backs; Russell, Walker, and Boilard, halves; Williams, Clerici, Pell, Swan, and Mabert, forwards.

BURNS A. C.—Freeman, goal; Dodds and McFadyen, backs; Donnithorne, Ward, and Russell, halves; Taylor, Cochrane, Kerr, H. Bonnar, and J. Bonnar, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. H. Remfry, Y. M. C. A.

K. O. S. B. vs. DALHOUSIE.—This match was keenly contested on the Calcutta ground on the 27th ultimo and resulted in a well-deserved victory for the military by three goals to one. The Dalhousie men were the first to attack, but the Borderers brought the ball back and Peake was kept busy: he kept his charge intact, however, and then Echlin and Alexander got away, but back came the Borderers and the Dals. were hard pressed, Bushby at length conceding a corner Nothing resulted and the civilian team made some good runs and the K.O.S.B. custodian had to save several difficult shots which he did in grand style. A penalty for a foul gave the Dals. a chance; Watts took the place, but the goal-keep saved wonderfully. Half time arrived without any score. On resuming the Dalhousie men rushed down and it was not long before Watts opened the scoring. The Borderers then besieged their opponents' goal and a penalty for a foul charge gave Byers a chance of equalising. Play ruled very exciting now and after an effort by the local team Cassidy gave the visitors the lead. The Dalhousie men were completely outplayed and Bruce adding a third goal gave them the victory by three goals to one

Y.M.C.A. vs. 64th R.F.A.—Played on the Association ground last Thursday, the home team winning by two goals to nil. The opening exchanges ruled very even, then Wood went away for the gunners; Yackjee relieved him of the ball and it was transferred to the other end where the Young Men took up the attack. The artillery goal was besieged and the custodian eventually beaten. On crossing over the gunners tried hard to equalise and Williams had to save several shots: then the Association went away and did all the attacking. Apcar putting on another goal Several shots were sent in, but no more scoring took place, the Y. M. C. A. winning as stated.

CALCUTTA vs. DALHOUSIE.—Played on the Dalhousie ground the 30th ultimo and resulted in a pointless draw. Neither side was representative and the display not the most brilliant. The Dalhousie men were the first to get dangerous and Buckley cleared in fine style. The Calcutta custodian was penalised for carrying but Echlin sent over the bar. The home team continued to press but Gahan relieved and then the visitors invaded the Dalhousie territory. Several shots were sent in but all went wide. Calcutta then forced a corner without result and the interval arrived with the home team attacking. On changing ends the Dalhousie forwards continued the attack and Buckley had to save shots from Rosser and Stimson. Then Calcutta got going and Peake had rather a warm time but he kept all the shots out in grand style and play was transferred to the opposite end where it remained till the whistle sounded. Teams :—

DALHOUSIE.—Peake, goal: Margrett and Bushby, backs: Phelps, Wallace, and Dalling, half-backs: Echlin, Rosser, Watts, Affleck and Stimson, forwards.

CALCUTTA.—Buckley, goal: Dennis and Gahan, backs: Pierson, Gillespie, and Walker, half-backs: Binning, H. Sherman, Fyfe, V. Sherman, and Stewart, forwards.

REFEREE.—Mr. A. O. Henry.—Rangers F. C.

A. AND S. HIGHLANDERS vs. K.O.S.B'S.—These teams met at Dum-Dum last Saturday when the Highlanders won a good game by three goals to one. The visitors got going and a sudden rush resulted in Lockhart drawing first blood. The Highlanders kept up the attack and in spite of good defence by the Borderers Quinn got through and put on a second goal. The home team played hard and at last Cassidy got past and passing to Byers the latter forced a corner. Byers placed the kick with good judgment and Coventry had to concede another corner from which Byers put the ball through. After half time play ruled midfield for a spell then the Highlanders attacked again and kept their opponents busy Hogg scoring the third goal. The Borderers were completely outplayed and the match ended in a a win for the visitors as stated. Teams.—

93RD HIGHLANDERS.—Coventry, goal; Wallace and Silcock, backs; McLean, McGowan and Mowatt, half-backs; Pollock, Lockhart, Quinn, Montgomery and Hogg, forwards.

K.O.S.B.—O'Neil, goal; Allen and Macdonald, backs; Bradley, Stewart and Tait, half-backs; Byers, Kennedy, Cassidy Creagan and Bruce, forwards.

REFEREE.—Gunner Nicoll, 64th R. F. A. (Barrackpore.)

Y.M.C.A. vs. BURN AND CO.—The Association went across the river to play Burn and Co. last Saturday and an evenly contested game ended in a win for the visitors by a goal to nil. The Association took the ball down and began an attack forcing two corners in quick succession but without result. A free kick against Simmons allowed the home team to get away and Kerr sent in a hard shot which Williams saved. Burn and Co. continued to press but Cooper got the ball away and passing to Street the latter ran down the field when near the goal he sent over to Apcar who headed the ball into the net. The home team played hard and forced a corner but nothing accrued and the young men crossed over with the lead. Resuming the visitors had the best of the exchanges They rushed down but Macfadyen relieved, Cooper then sent in a fine shot which was saved in masterly fashion; at this juncture Apcar was injured but soon returned to the field. For the rest of the game Burn and Co kept up an attack on the visitors goal, but they were unable to net the ball and the association ran out winners by a goal to nil Teams.—

Y.M.C.A.—Williams, goal; Yackjee and Baldwin, backs; Brown, Butler and Cooper, halves; Godfrey, Street, Apcar, Simmons and Crow forwards:

BURNS' A. C.—Dodds, goal; McFadyen and Donnithorne, backs; Wood, Russel and Cochrane, halves; Bonnar, H Bonnar, Kerr Taylor and Freeman, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. Ribbins, Howrah F. C.

RANGERS vs. HOWRAH.—A draw of one goal each was the result of this match played on the Rangers ground last Saturday. Howrah had the best of matters during the first half though nothing was scored, wild shooting losing them a number of chances. Up and down play opened the second half then the Rangers obtained a corner and Russell dropped the ball into the mouth of the goal, Whitite heading it into the net The visitors played up at this and after a persistent attack Jackson equalised just before time. Teams—

RANGERS.—Whelan, goal; Anderson and Brown, backs; O'Laughlin, Lees and Russell Jr. half backs; Maybert, Clericy, Whittie, Williams and Russell Sr. forwards.

HOWRAH.—A Bennett, goal; F Bennett and H. Bennett, backs; Morrow, H Osborne and E Osborne, half backs; Hart Smith Curtis, Jackson and Brown, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. M Remfry, C. F. C.

Y. M. C. A. vs. K. O. S. B's. The Association served up a surprise on Monday when they met and defeated the Borderers on the Dalhousie ground. The Young Men began hostilities and Apcar taking the ball down had a shot which just went over. Back came the Association a second time and Power sent in a long shot. The Borderers custodian tried to fist out but misjudging the pace at which the ball was descending fisted it into his own net. Then each team attacked in turn but neither side got any material advantage though the Borderers were somewhat disconcerted at the vigour of the civilians attack. On changing ends the soldiers began to play up and Cassidy equalised from a melee Up and down play followed a shot by Crow which just failed to get through. Then Apcar got possession and rushing down had the goal at his mercy when he was badly fouled. Yackchee took the penalty kick, which was awarded and gave the Young Men the lead. Play ruled fast and furious till the end of the game, the Y. M. C. A. keeping the Borderers out and coming out victorious by two goals to one. Teams.

Y. M. C. A.—Goal, Williams; backs, Baldwin and Yackchee; half-backs, Power, Butlin, and Cooper; forwards, Crow, Simmons, Apcar, H. Street, and Godfrey.

K. O. S. B.—Goal, O'Neil; backs, McDonald and O'Connell; half-backs, Campbell, Stewart and Davidson; forwards, Byers, Kennedy, Cassidy, Neilson, and Tait.

Referee—Mr Batho, Rangers F. C.

A. & S. HIGHLANDERS vs. DALHOUSIE.—Played on the Highlanders' ground on the 2nd instant and resulted in a draw of one goal each. The first half was pointless but on resuming the Dalhousie opened the scoring. Peake in goal for the visitors was at his best and the goal they obtained was rather a lucky one, the ball rebounding off Quin into the net after having been once fisted out.

64TH R. F. A. vs. BURN AND CO.—These teams met on the Rangers' ground last Tuesday when Burn & Co. won by a goal to nil. During the first half the Engineers did most of the attacking and after Hutchinson had been tried by several shots Freeman put the ball into the net. On changing ends the game ruled very even and neither team getting any further advantage the Engineers won as stated.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The principal feature of the past week's football has undoubtedly been the defeat of the League Champions of 1902 by the Y. M. C. A., which took place on the Dalhousie ground on Monday last. In view of the success which has recently attended the "Young Men" it was generally anticipated that they would give the Dum-Dum team a good game but there were few, if any, who ventured to predict that they would ultimately prove victorious.

The K. O. S. B. have shown an unaccountable loss of form and their defeats by Calcutta, the 93rd, and now the Y. M. C. A. have sent them so far down the League table that their chance of regaining the first position is remote in the extreme, especially as the Fort team do not show any signs of tarnishing the unbeaten record they now hold.

The match between Calcutta and the 93rd Highlanders which took place on the ground of the former was brimful of interest from start to finish and the result was in doubt right up to the call of the time. Both teams were strongly represented and the final score of 2—1 in favour of the military fairly represents the superiority of the winners on the day's play, although had Cooper and Fyfe been able to take advantage of the undeniable chances they both had in the second half, a different result would have been arrived at. The Calcutta forwards lacked that dash and combination which characterised their play against the K.O.S.B., and although they gave a few glimpses of combined work their efforts were principally confined to individual runs in which Cooper was continually conspicuous. Fyfe was not in his usual form and Sherman was disappointing, but Stewart showed pace and cleverness on the left wing and some of his centres from the extreme corner were beautifully placed. Gillespie and Maunder were the two shining lights of the back division, and Buckley was as sound as usual in goal.

The Argyll's play was clever and forceful and they excelled in their head work, a feature of the game in which Calcutta have much to learn Quinn and Hogg proved very fast and tricky and the defence was safe in the hands of Wallace and McGowan.

The Howrah Club placed a very poor side in the field against the 64th R. F. A., and consequently had to admit defeat by 5 to 1. The game was very one-sided but, this victory ought to give a much-needed fillip to the Barrackpore team and their supporters

The meeting of Dalhousie and the K. O. S. B. was not noticeable for particularly good football, but it was intensely interesting by reason of the closeness of the struggle which within a few minutrites of the call of time seemed certain to end in a drawn game. At the interval no score had been registered by either side, but shortly after the restart the Dalhousie forwards rushed down in a body and Watts found the net with a shot that O'Neil could not possibly save. The applause which greeted this had hardly subsided, however, before a penalty was given against Margrett for foul play and Byers at last broke down the brilliant and untiring defence of Peake and thus made the scores level. After this there was only one team in it, and the K. O. S. B. front dark completely outplayed their opponents and with Cassidy and Bruce scoring within a few minutes of each other the Dum-Dum team left the field victorious by 3—1. The winners were undoubtedly the best side and it was only Peake's wonderful defence that prevented a larger score.

Tait, Cassidy and McDonald were conspicuous for the K. O. S. B. and Stimson worked hard for Dalhousie.

The Rangers after a game that was entirely devoid of any pretensions to good football, beat Burns by 3 goals to love, a result for which they are indebted to their custodian Whelan, who kept goal in splendid style throughout. Burns were unfortunate to lose as they had the major portion of the game, but their shooting lacked sting and accuracy. Rough and foul play was the order of the day, which if repeated will doubtless end in the football season of the delinquents being shortened. The encounter between Calcutta and Dalhousie on Saturday last drew a large crowd to the ground of the latter team, and a keen, not brilliant game was the result. The "Red Shirts" took the field with a very weak side, as Cooper, Maunder, Crawford, and Todd were all absentees, and this meant a reshuffling of positions which entirely disorganised the team. The younger Sherman partnered Binning on the right wing, Gillespie was brought up to centre half, and Dennis and Gahan were played at full back. Dalhousie were without Stewart, but otherwise had their strongest available side, under the circumstances Calcutta did well to draw with them. The home team had the best of the game during the initial half, but after the restart the premier club did most of the pressing, but the two goal keepers both played magnificently and repeatedly earned rounds of applause for their fine work. The Calcutta forwards were slow and their efforts spasmodic for which no doubt the heat was mainly responsible Both the Shermans played well, the elder one especially giving a better display than he has yet done this season, but Binning has not yet got used to the altered conditions of a hard ground and bumping ball which prevail out here. Gillespie worked hard, but was out of place at half back, and both Gahan and Dennis gave a somewhat patchy display.

For Dalhousie, Margrett's defence was very sound and Stimson and Rosser were the pick of the forwards, but Watts has not yet shown the form of which we know he is capable.

As was expected would be the case the Highlanders prevailed over their old rivals, the K. O. S. B. on Saturday last, when the two teams met on the ground of the latter at Dum-Dum.

It was a great game and a fine exhibition of clever football was given by both teams. The pretty but somewhat dainty combination of the homesters could make little or no headway against the sturdy defence of the visitors in which McGowan and Wallace were always to the fore and the K. O. S. B.'sdefence was not equal to withstanding the combined and vigorous onslaughts of Hogg, Montgomery and Quinn, who were ably assisted by Pollock. As in the match against Calcutta the Borderers allowed themselves to be taken by surprise at the start, and the 93rd forwards rushing down in a body Lockhart banged the ball, past O'Neil before the home team realised the position. After this the exchanges were fairly level, but the Highlanders were constantly dangerous and after several unsuccessful attempts Quinn obtaining possession from a pass by Pollock registered the second goal for his side. Shortly after, however, Byers scored for the Borderers from a corner and half time found the score 2—1 in favour of the visitors. Subsequently, however, the 93rd added a further goal through Hogg and thus won the match by3—1.

Byers and O'Neil were conspicuous for the losers whose methods are too dainty when opposed to such teams as the Highlanders—and McGowan, Quinn and Hogg played best for the Fort team.

Howrah met the Rangers on the ground of the latter on Saturday last and the match ended in a draw of 1 goal all. The game was a very level one throughout, as it was not until the second half that Whitie draw first blood for his side, but this was not sufficient to give the Rangers victory as just on the call of time Jackson scored for Howrah. The Bennetts as usual defended well for the trans-Hooghly team whose shooting was of the wildest description, while Whelan and the half-backs were noticeable for the Rangers.

THE CHIEL.

THE MURREE TURNAMENT.

FIRST ROUND.

Gordon Highlanders beat Rawalpindi Gunners by one goal to nil.

Somerset Light Infantry beat 12th Royal Lancers by four goals to nil.

The Queen's beat R. G. A. Thobba by three goals to nil.

South Wales' Boaderers beat Dorset Regt. by two goals to nil.

Royal Irish Fusiliers beat the Wiltshire Regt. by three goals to one.

2nd King's Royal Rifles beat 3rd Hussars by two goals to one.

SECOND ROUND.

The Queen's beat Somerset Light Infantry by two goals to one.

Cameronians beat the Gordon Highlanders by two goals to nil.

2nd King's Royal Rifles beat 9th Lancers by three goals to nil.

South Wales' Borderers beat Royal Irish Fusiliers by two goals to nil.

SEMI-FINALS.

2nd King's Royal Rifles beat South Wales Borderers by three goals to nil.

Queen's beat Cameronian Highlanders.

INDIAN FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL REPORT.

IN submitting the report of the I. F. A. for 1902, the Council before entering into the ordinary matters connected with the working of the Association, desire to place on record the deep regret with which they and the members received the news of the death of Sir John Woodburn who had been the President of the Association since 1898. The late Sir John Woodburn always evinced the greatest interest in football and in 1899 and 1900 was frequently present at, not only the senior matches, but also at many of the Junior Competitions. In 1901, when the Royal Irish Rifles won the Challenge Shield, our late President was present throughout that memorable game which the Royal Irish Rifles played with the 42nd Highlanders and presented the Shield to the winners accepting in turn as a souvenir of the occasion the football which had been played with that afternoon.

Mr. William K. Brown has also passed from amongst us and his untimely death is mourned by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance and by the Football public of Calcutta, both native and European Mr. Brown was, with Mr. Percy Willder, Joint Honorary Secretary of the I. F. A. in 1897, in which year he captained the Dalhousie Football Club to victory for the Challenge Shield. "W. K." was a footballer in the very first rank and an exponent of the game who had few equals His last appearance before the public was in the Civil vs. Military Charity Match, played in June, when it will be remembered he figured in the half-back line and greatly distinguished himself. The Council beg to submit their sympathies to his widow and record with deep regret the loss of so true and good a sportsman.

We feel assured that members of the Association and supporters of Association Football will alike agree that the past season has in no way been inferior in any circumstance to previous years, and the fact that the interest in Soccer continuess unabated and is considerably on the increase, is distinctly proved by the large number of competitions not connected with the I. F. A. which have been inaugurated during the past season. These competitions while being under the direct control of their respective Committees are nevertheless to a very great extent advised by the Council of the I. F. A and it is pleasant to report that in no single instance have any disputes or reports in connection therewith been submitted to the Council of the I. F. A. without an amicable settlement being effected, thereby avoiding punitive measures with their consequent illfeeling amongst Clubs. This is a matter of congratulation to the Association and the Council feel assured that if Clubs will endeavour to work and play their matches in the right spirit of the game, a good deal of trouble and annoyance will be spared, not only to themselves but to the Association. Dealing on this subject the Honorary Secretary feels it his duty to here mention that in the competitions for the Elliott Shield and Cooch Behar Cup, the latter of which is now regarded by the native community as of equal importance with the Challenge Shield Competition, the competing Clubs should endeavour, as much as possible, to educate their respective supporters, especially in the latter stages of the competition, to restrain their enthusiasm, as a too prominent display of delight is not always conducive to a friendly termination of any game, be it Soccer or Cricket. It is to be hoped that the foregoing remarks will be read in the light and spirit they are intended to convey. The rules of sporting etiquette apply to spectators and competitors alike.

COUNCIL.—The Annual General Meeting was held on the 19th May at the Dalhousie Institute. The late Sir John Woodburn was again unanimously elected President, and Messrs H. S. Ashton (C.F.C.), H. M. Remfry (Y M.C.A.), J. Muir (D.F.C.), D.L. Walker (D.F.C.), P. McInnes (Calcutta Rangers), Lieutenant-Paynter (R. A., Barrackpore), Lieutenant-Forbes (93rd Highlanders), Captain Cureton (K.O.S B's.), K. Mitter (Sova Bazaar), A. Gangooly (National Association) as members of the Council, and Messrs. N. G. Pritchard (C. F. C.) and L. Macmillan (Calcutta Rangers) as Joint-Honorary Secretaries).

DISPUTES.—It is a matter of great regret that the Council of the I. F. A. were called upon to investigate a report submitted by the Mohun Bagan Club against certain members of the Medical College Football Club for assault after the conclusion of their tie in the third round of the Trades (Junior) Cup Competiton. It having being proved to the satisfaction of the Council after due enquiry that a player of the latter Club was guilty of the charges brought against him, he was suspended for twelve months from 19th September 1902 to 19th September 1903. Similarly a member of the Kumartoli as also a member of the Howrah Sporting were suspended from the same dates and for the same time for gross misconduct on the field. It is to be hoped that these suspensions will have the desired effect of warning Clubs that incidents of such a nature can meet with but one result and that gentlemanly conduct is essential for the proper conduct of every competition.

ALTERATIONS OF RULES.—A Special General Meeting was held at the Dalhousie Institute on the 13th July when several alterations in the rules were carried out and passed. Copies of same were duly forwarded to all Clubs and revised issue of the Rules are now in the press and expected to be ready for issue early in July.

CHALLENGE SHIELD.—It is to be hoped that this trophy, which is well worth playing for, will in the coming season draw more Regimental Teams from the different parts of India. The prospects of the competition so far are exceedingly roseate, both from a civilian and military point of view and the entries of the latter are expected to increase very considerably, but depend entirely on their movements. Thirteen teams or one less than the year previous, the Y. M. C A. having decided not to enter, took part in this competition, and it was a pity that in the end the South Lancashire Regiment, who have for the past few years been looked upon as a "home" team, having played for the Shield more ofter than any other military team, found it impossible to come down for the tournament. The Royal Irish Rifles very sportingly, notwithstanding their recent transfer to Fyzabad, come down to defend the trophy which they so gallantly appropriated the previous year by their meritorious victory over the redoubtable 42nd Highlanders. They met the Dalhousie Football Club in the 2nd round of the competition and the old civilian club in gaining a victory by 2 goals to 1 and subsequently qualifying for the finals delighted the hearts of their many admirers with an assurance that they would ere long regain the high standard of form and reputation at the game, which but a few years ago seemed to be their monopoly. Their defeat in the final round at the hands of the 93rd Highlanders was by no means a disgrace as from beginning to end they played with a spirit and dash characteristic of their old selves.

The ever popular and genial Scotsmen of the 93rd, were loudly cheered as they left the field the proud possessors of the Challenge Shield at their first venture, and though they were installed equal favourites with the R I. R. for the competition, it was expected the civilian team would give them a hard game, the result exceeded all expectations and the match was productive of the finest football which had been seen in the city for many years past. At the conclusion of the game Mrs. H. S. Ashton very kindly presented the Shield and gold medals to the winners and silver medals to the runners up.

TRADE'S CUP.—Eighteen teams entered or one less than last year, the formation of a Club at Gaurangdi and their entry for this competition being welcomed by all They met Jamalpur in the semi-finals and after one drawn game played at Asansol had, for want of time, to scratch in favour of their opponents. The National Association who won this trophy in 1900, defeated the Seebpur College (holders) in the third round and Mohun Bagan in the semi-finals and are again to be congratulated on winning the tournament as they well merit their success.

COOCH BEHAR CUP.—This is a very popular competition amongst native Clubs, and although the entries obtained were two less than the previous year the interest in the several matches had by no means diminished. The Mahomedan Sporting Club, exhibiting excellent form throughout, annexed the trophy for the first time, and their success was to a great extent due to the efforts of their popular Honorary Secretary who spared no pains in looking after the proper coaching of the team.

CADET CUP.—Eight teams entered and the form shown especially by La Martinière who own the Cup, reflects the greatest credit on those responsible for the high standand of play attained by the young volunteers. La Martinière now hold the record of wins for this competition, this being the fourth time they have carried off the Cup.

ELLIOTT SHIELD.—Ten entries. The C. M. S. High School showed very good form throughout and eventually won the Shield defeating Madrassa in the finals by 1 to nil.

CHARITY MATCHES.—The Council decided to hold a Civil vs. Military Charity Match on the date of His Most Gracious Majesty's accession to the throne which was made the occasion of a public holiday. Owing, however, to the King's serious illness and also to the fact of a general misunderstanding which prevailed especially after various contradictory reports had been circulated, the crowd was not so great as would have been the case otherwise, and the "Gate" in consequence only took Rs. 572-5-0 nett. The interest of a number of people in the second Charity Match which was the finals of the Challenge Shield was considerably less than in previous years, and this was no doubt accounted for by the fact that the Royal Irish Rifles, the brilliant heroes of 1901, had been defeated by the popular civilian team, the Dalhousie Football Club, in the second round. The unfortunate scratching of the South Lancashires let the 79th Co., R. G A into the semi-finals, and though they played a sound game fore and aft they had to acknowlege defeat by 5 goals to nil. The K. O. S. B's were unlucky indeed in losing no less than four of their best men before they met the redoubtable 93rd Highlanders in the semi-final. The latter came full of a keen desire to recompense the regiment for their failure in the League Competition, and were, to all appearances, confident of being able to do so. From start to finish the Scottish Borderers were outplayed, outgeneralled, and finally beaten more decisively then any team has been since the inauguration of the Challenge Shield.

This left Dalhousie and the representatives from the Fort to fight out the issue. Dalhousie renewed an acquaintance with the Cupholdership by the medium of a well skilled cool and masterful exhibition. Both teams played most cohesive football, but the 93rd were obviously the better side and in the latter stages of the game showed better training and fitness. The Colonel and officers of the 93rd very kindly allowed the Regimental Band to play on the ground, a favour which was much appreciated.

The nett proceeds of both the above matches amounted to Rs. 2,271-5-0 and were divided as follows :—

		Rs.	A.	P.
Calcutta Hospital Nurse's Institution	...	1,000	0	0
St. Mary's House of Charity ...	...	200	0	0
Little Sisters of the Poor ...	...	200	0	0
St. Vincent's Home	...	200	0	0
Entally Orphanage	...	200	0	0
District Charitable Society ...	...	271	5	0
St. Andrew's Colonial Homes, Kalimpong		200	0	0
Total Rs.	...	2,271	5	0

The thanks of the Council are due to the members of the Clubs who kindly assisted on both occasions and also to the various gentlemen who rendered valuable assistance as referees during the season.

REFEREE'S ASSOCIATION.—The Council have much pleasure in stating that a general and practical response has been received from all the clubs towards the formation of a Referee's Association. A special general meeting was held at the Volunteer Headquarters on the 11th May 1903, and after some discussion on the more important matters connected therewith it was unanimously agreed to have such an Association with the object of providing duly qualified and fit persons to act as referees in the different matches. The preliminary arrangements and the framing of Rules, etc., have been entrusted to a Commitee comprised of the following :—

Messrs. G. W. Batho, M. Remfry, E. E. Bope, J. Greig and N. G. Pritchard.

N. G PRITCHARD, } Joint-Honorary Secretaries
L. M. K. MACMILLAN, } and Treasurers, I. F. A.

THE CALCUTTA REFEREE'S ASSOCIATION.

THE following rules were adopted at the meeting held at the C. V. B. head-quaters on Monday, 1st June 1903 :—

1. The Association shall be called the Calcutta Referee's Association.
2. The objects of the Association shall be :—
   (a) To ascertain the competency by examination or otherwise, of persons willing to act as Referees, to admit such as Members, and to appoint them to matches
   (b) To protect its Members against unfair treatment and unjust criticism.
   (c) To publish annually in April the Hand-book, which shall include the names and addresses of Members and the Rules of the Association.
   (d) To improve the status of Referees in general, and to secure recognition by the Indian Football Association.
3. There small be two classes of Referees. Class I shall consist of Referees who are deemed to be qualified to act in I. F. A. Shield and Calcutta Football League matches ; Class II shall consist of Referees who are deemed to be qualified to act in all other matches.
4. (a) Clubs competing in I. F. A. Shield and Calcutta Football League matches requiring Refersees from the Association shall pay an annual subscription of Rs. 5.
   (b) Clubs taking part in all other competitions and requiring Referees from the Association shall pay an annual subscription of Rs. 3. All subscriptions to be paid on or before the 15th April.

BOOKS! BOOKS!!

MUDIE'S LIBRARY, EXPORT DEPARTMENT.

BOOKS FOR OFFICERS' CLUBS AND PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

SELECTED FROM

Mudies' clearance Catalogue (100 pages) to the value of £20 and upwards will be forwarded Freight Free to any seaport in India, China, and Japan.

The Clearance Catalogue contains Popular Works of TRAVEL, SPORT, HISTORY, BIOGRAPHY, SCIENCE and FICTION.

Small parcels of books can be sent by Parcel Post at Current Rates; larger consignments are packed in tin-lined cases, and shipped as freight per steamer or sailing vessel. Lined cases supplied at moderate charges and insurances effected at current rates.

All leading periodicals obtainable, New or Second-hand.

Illustrated and other newspapers supplied on subscription payable in advance.

All List of Books and Magazines on sale sent post free to any address an application.—

MUDIE'S LIBRARY, 30-34, New Oxford Street; London,

ENGLAND.

5. (a) The management of the Association shall be vested in a Council of 5 Members one of whom shall be the Honorary Secretary; 3 to form a quorum.

(b) The Council shall be elected from Referees in class I by ballot at the Annual General Meeting of the Association which shall be held in April for the purpose of such election, and for the transaction of other business, of which due notice has been given.

6. The Council shall examine the qualification of applicants who desire to become Members of the Association, compile and issue official lists of Referees, consider questions which arise on the laws of the game, and make recommendations to the Council of the Indian Football Association, and deal with questions affecting Referees as may be necessary.

7. The Council shall have power to fill any vacancy occurring during their term of office.

8. Candidates for Membership may apply at any time. Each application shall be made on a form to be obtained from the Honorary Secretary.

9. The Association will use its best endeavours to send a Member to act as Referee upon application. Applications should be sent in to the Honorary Secretary three clear days before the day fixed for the match, and that the Secretary shall reply thereto as soon as possible.

10. When a Referee is required for a match to be played out of Calcutta, his travelling expenses shall be paid to the Association by the Home Club.

11. (a) The Honorary Secretary shall convene a General Meeting on receiving a requisition to that effect signed by not less than ten Members or by order of the Council.

(b) Subject to an appeal to a General Meeting, the Council shall have power to expel from the Association or otherwise deal with any Member guilty of misconduct as they may think fit.

12. In the event of any alteration being considered necessary in the above Rules, notice of the proposed alteration shall be sent to the Secretary on or before the 1st April, and notice of such proposed alteration, with any alterations proposed by the Council, shall be sent to each Member with the notice convening the Annual General Meeting at least seven days prior to the date of such Meeting. No such alteration shall be made in the Rules unless supported by at least two-thirds of the members present at the Annual General Meeting, or at a Special General Meeting called for that particular purpose.

Polo.

THE BERESFORD TOURNAMENT.

(By Special Telegram.)

THE first ties in the polo tournament for the Beresford Challenge Cup were played off at Simla on Monday, the 1st June, before a very small gallery. Lord Kitchener came down later to witness the game, in which his Staff were engaged. The first game was between the Bengal Cavalry, represented by Major Shea, General Beatson and Colonel Cookson (back), and the 12th Royal Lancers, represented by Major Clifton-Brown, Captain Bailey and Captain Brown (back). The umpires were Colonel Kennard and Major Grimston. The Bengal Cavalry team fairly held the young Lancer team and came out victors by four goals and three subsidiaries. The second game was between the Commander-in-Chief's Staff, comprising Major Maxwell, Colonel Hamilton and Captain Brooke (back), and the Welsh Regiment, represented by Mr. Mathias, Captain Ready and Mr. Vernon Harcourt (back). This was a more lively game: the Staff were better mounted and outplaced and outplayed the Welsh team, who played on resolutely to the finish, the Staff winning by eight goals and four subsidiaries to one goal and two subsidiaries.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.

LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.

Durable and deliciously fragrant.

Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle,

According to size. From

J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

Golf.

CALCUTTA GOLF CLUB.

THE ST. ANDREW'S TANKARD.—This competition was decided on Friday and Saturday last, and resulted in a win for Mr. E. A. Woodhouse with a gross score of 97—12=85 nett, Messrs. T. B. Peterkin and C. P. Lomax being equal second, two strokes behind. The scoring all round was very poor, and indeed Mr. Stuart Smith's 88 was the only scratch score under 90; this was due partly no doubt to the heat, but still more to the putting greens which are naturally suffering greatly from the drought. The best cards sent in were as follows:—

E A Woodhouse	...	...	97—12=85
T B Peterkin	...	...	91— 4=87
C P Lomax	...	...	93— 6=87
C Engel	...	...	94— 7=87
J E Smith	...	...	88 scr. 88
E Watson	...	...	97— 9=88
B O Robert	...	...	100—12=88
T Desmond	...	...	90 scr. 90
W J Reid	...	...	94— 4=90
Major F J Drury		...	100—10=90
C F Keys	...	...	102—12=90
J M Annan	...	...	104 14 90

MAY "BOGEY" COMPETITION.—The first of the two annual nine-hole competitions against an imaginary "Bogey" score was also held on the maidan links throughout May, and closed last Saturday, when it was found that 112 cards had been taken out, and that the best score returned was one of 5 up by Major Drury, who received a start of four strokes on the nine holes from the "gallant colonel" and he accordingly takes the sweepstakes. Mr Engel was four up, and there were many other good winning cards sent in, a clear proof that the Bogey score is too liberally framed for the Haskell ball. The Committee have therefore very rightly reduced the "Bogey" figures for each nine holes from 43 to 42 for the competition which will last the whole of the current month, and it is probable that another season a still further reduction will be necessary. The best cards sent in were as follows:—

	Strokes received.	Result.
Major F J Drury	4	5 up.
Chas Engel	3	4 ,,
Thos Drimmie	scr	3 ,,
T B Peterkin	2	3 ,,
Major J M Fleming... ...	2	2 ,,
Capt J M Burn	3	2 ,,
G Gillespie	3	2 ,,
R W Williamson	5	2 ,,
C F Keys	6	2 ,,
H R Cobbold	5	1 ,,
D K Hall	5	1 ,,
J K Chase	1	All Square
John Smith	2 ,,	,,
D A Cuthbert	2 ,,	,,
C P Lomax	2 ,,	,,
J H Hechle	3 ,,	,,
R Bignell	5 ,,	,,
R A C Thomas	5 ,,	,,
J M Annan	5 ,,	,,
D Drimmie	5 ,,	,,
A H Pope	6 ,,	,,
W R Smith	5	1 down
G K Stein	6	1 ,,
H E Chappel	6	1 ,,
T Nicoll	6	2 ,,
J A Tassie

THE MADRAS GOLF CLUB.

THE VIZIANAGRAM CUP.—The Spring Competition for the Vizianagram Cup came to an end on the 25th ultimo and resulted in a win for Mr. Annan, who beat Mr. Symonds in the final by 2 up and 1 to play. This is the second occasion on which Mr. Annan has secured this prize, having won it last May. Details of the competition:—

First Round.

Longhurst (2) beat Macdonald (2) by 1 up.
Balston (3) beat Pope (4) by 4 and 3.
Ross (6) beat Dene (5) by 3 and 1.
Annan (2) beat Carruthers (4) by 1 hole after a tie.
Symonds (3) W. O., Turner (6) scratched.
Mitchell (3) W. O., Hooper (2) scratched.
Gibbs (6) beat Chatterton (4) by 1 hole.
Taylor Mitchell (4) beat Robinson (3) by 1 hole.

Second Round.

Longhurst W. O., Balston scratched.
Annan beat Ross by 4 up and 3.
Symonds beat Mitchell by 2 up.
Taylor Mitchell beat Gibbs by 2 up.

Third Round.

Annan beat Longhurst by 4 up and 3
Symonds beat Taylor Mitchell by 4 up and 2.

Final Round.

Annan beat Symonds by 2 up and 1.

GOLF AT KARACHI.

SERVICES vs. COMMERCE.—Great interest was taken in this match for which eleven couples turned out. The Service won six matches and Commerce four, but those four were substantial victories, and when the number of holes came to be added up, Commerce could show 20 to the Services' 19, and thus were winners of 1 hole over the 11 couples who started. Only one couple came in square—Messrs Smith and McConaghy, but there were other matches almost as close. McHarrison was in the best of form, doing the record in 52, but Col. McCloghry secured the first three holes in 4's, and finished 1 up. Mr Brice was also at the top of the game, and but for a 9 at one hole would have had a score under 50: as it was he was 3 up, though Mr. Jacob did a 53 round. Appended are results:—

Commerce.	Holes up.	The Services.	Holes up.
Mr Lang ...	–	Rev A Cant ...	6
,, Harrison	–	Col McCloghry	1
,, Brice ...	3	Mr Jacob ...	–
,, Miller ...	–	Major Duhan ...	2
,, Earle ...	–	Mr Cumming ...	4
,, Tod ...	–	Dr Summers ...	2
,, Smith ...	0	Mr McConaghy	0
,, Jones ...	–	Colonel Cubitt	4
,, Chetham	4	Mr Corbett ..	–
,, Lucas ...	9	,, Willborne	–
,, Nicoll ...	4	,, Olliver ...	–
Total ...	20	Total ...	19

Hockey.

HOCKEY IN BOMBAY.

AGA KHAN TOURNAMENT.

CATHEDRAL OLD BOYS vs. NORTH STAFFORDS.—These teams met on the 23rd ultimo and an interesting game resulted in a win for the Old Boys by four goals to one. The match was played throughout in drizzling rain. The Old Boys went away at the start, but after the first burst play ruled very even in mid field, then the military team worked the ball down and the right wing sent in a shot which completely beat Spilling. Brilliant play on both sides followed, then Gawthorne got possession and equalised. The Old Boys rushed the ball down again shortly after and registered a second goal. Crossing over the Staffords began to force matters and the Old Boys had to play a defensive game. At last they got away and after one unsuccessful attempt Gawthorne put on their third goal. A heavy downpour of rain did not improve the ground and its slippery state accounted for numerous falls Ten minutes before the close the Old Boys made their fourth goal and won as stated. Teams:—

CATHEDRAL OLD BOYS.—J. Spilling, goal; C. M. Ward and R. W. Roberts, backs; N. George, E. D. Smith, and P. Hepworth, half-backs; W. Samways, A. F. Wickham, A. Spilling, A. Gawthorne, and A Greene, forwards.

NORTH STAFFORDSHIRE REGIMENT.—Pte. Rogers, goal; Lieut Armes and Corpl. Wilkin, backs; Lance-Corpl. Shirley, Lieut. Murray and Corpl. Grove, half-backs; Lance-Corpl. Shelley, Capt. Fox, Lieut. Lyons, Lieut. Locker and Pte. Sutton, forwards.

Referees.—Major Aitken and Lieut. Roche.

ROYAL SCOTS vs. 21ST BOMBAY INFANTRY.—Played on the 23rd ultimo. Rain before the match had made the ground slippery and falls were the main feature of the play. The Scots opened the scoring soon after the start and before the interval had added another goal. The Infantry scored one goal during the first half. Play was rather fast in the second moiety, but neither team managed to put on any further score and the Scots won by two goals to one.

CATHEDRAL OLD BOYS vs. ELPHINSTONE COLLEGE.—Played on the 25th ultimo resulting in a win for the Old Boys by three goals to one. Both teams played a good game, but though the College played well they were inferior to their opponents. Soon after the start one of the Cathedral half-backs while endeavouring to defend the goal sent the ball into his own net. Good play followed and it was not long before the Old Boys had equalised. Crossing over with the scores even the Old Boys worked hard and Wickham soon registered their second goal after a grand shot. They continued to have the best of matters and just before the end Wickham sent in a grand centre to Gawthorne, who had no difficulty in finding the net. Teams :—

CATHEDRAL OLD BOYS.—J. Spilling, goal; C. M. Ward and R. W Roberts, backs; R. Fido, E. D Smith and P. Hepworth, half backs; N. George, A. F. Wickham, A. Spilling, A. Gawthorne and A. Greene, forwards.

ELPHINSTONE COLLEGE :—E. D. Nanavati, goal; H. D. Gimi and J. D. Mody, backs; N. N. Vakil, J. Amin, and N. Ashburner, half-backs; B. J. Pleader, B. Desai, P. Vakil, N. Engineer, and G. J. Karaka, forwards.

Referees.—Major Aitken and Mr. A. Powell.

BUFFS vs. OXFORD L. I. BAND.—The Band had to acknowledge defeat on the 25th ultimo, their opponents beating them by 4 goals to nil. The opening exchanges ruled very even, though the Buffs displayed better combination. Then a good combined run gave Rhodes his chance and he scored the Buffs' first point The Band made great attempts to get even, but their opponents again got away and Templeton scored from close quarters. The Oxfords had the best of the beginning of the second half; they besieged the Buffs' goal and a hard shot was sent in which the Buffs' custodian saved. They had to concede a corner later, but nothing resulted and the Buffs going away scored two goals in quick succession.

19TH BOMBAY INFANTRY vs. E & F Co.'s THE STAFFORDS.—These teams met on the 25th ultimo and a hard game resulted in a draw of one goal each. Though ten minutes extra were played each way neither side could score and the tie was replayed the next day. The game was all in favour of the Infantry who had the best of things throughout. They scored one goal before half time, but after the interval they put on three more. The Staffords only scored just before time, there opponents thus winning by four goals to one.

BOMBAY EDUCATION SOCIETY vs. 62ND BATTY. R.F.A.—Played on the 26th ultimo and resulted in a win for the Civilian team by six goals to one. The match was a very one-sided affair, the boys keeping up a continuous attack. Lieut. Christie met with a nasty accident soon after the start, being hit below the eye with the ball. When half time arrived the Byculla team were leading by two goals to one. On changing ends they had matters all their own way and putting on four more goals won as stated.

THIRD ROUND.

BYCULLA EDUCATION SOCIETY vs. 1ST INFANTRY H. C.—The first meeting between these teams resulted in a draw of one goal each, but when the tie was replayed last Thursday the Byculla team proved victorious by two goals to one The match was full of interest and well contested throughout.

ROYAL SCOTS vs. R.A. COLABA.—These teams met on the 26th ultimo, the artillerymen winning by three goals to nil. They had the best of the opening and the game had not been in progress three minutes when the gunners got going and with a combind rush broke the Scots' defence and put on their first goal. Even play followed till the ball was sent into the Scots' territory by a long hit and the gunners' left wing getting away put it into the net. For the remainder of the first half the Scots had the best of the game and besieged the artillery goal but were unable to score. On resuming the Scots were again hard at work but could not break the gunners' defence After a hard struggle the artillerymen again broke through and a fine shot added a third goal to their score leaving them victors as stated.

17TH BOMBAY INFANTRY vs. CATHEDRAL OLD BOYS—Played on the 27th ultimo. The soldiers were the first away and gave their opponents plenty to do, Lieut. Scott scoring after the game had been in progress a few minutes. The Old Boys forced matters, but in spite of repeated attempts were unable to score. At last just before the interval Greene ran the ball down and from a scrimmage in front of goal Gawthorne netted the ball, thereby equalising. On changing ends the soldiers again exhibited good form and beating Spilling with a difficult shot again assumed the lead. Fast play followed and then Greene got possession and running the length of the field put the teams on even terms once more. Another run by Greene enabled Gawthorne to put on a third goal for the Old Boys. Exciting play in which the soldiers were beaten followed, then Green got away yet again and added a fourth goal. A penalty bully for a foul near the Infantry posts gave no result and the Old Boys ran out winners by four goals to two.

THE BUFFS vs. 19th BOMBAY INFANTRY.—These teams met on the 27th ultmo and the game had not been in progress five minutes when each team had scored a goal. The Buffs rushed down and their right wing scored with a high shot. The Infantry equalised almost immediately and play ruled very fast and even till the Buffs once more got away and rushed the ball into the net. Not long after a centre by Major Aitken gave the Infantry centre forward his chance and he scored, the interval arriving with the score two goals all. Crossing over play was midfield for a time, then the 19th broke through and just missed scoring. The Buffs next had their turn and rushing down a third goal was scored from a mêlee. They worked hard to get a bigger lead but were unable to break the Infantry defence and when time arrived were victors by three goals to two.

SEMI-FINALS.

CATHEDRAL OLD BOYS vs. R.A. COLABA.—A large crowd witnessed this match on the 27th ultimo and as was expected the Old Boys proved victorious. The Gunners had the best of the beginning and forced the Old Boys back to their twenty-five, but they were unable to pierce their defence and their opponents at length broke away. Midfield play followed and then the Old Boys went down with a combined run and a scrimmage before the Artillery goal resulted in Greene putting the ball through. The gunners tried to equalise but were unsuccessful and the interval arrived with the score unchanged. The second half was very fast and the Old Boys going away quickly forced a corner without result. Up and down play followed till Greene again got possession and after a splendid run down put the ball through for a second time. The gunners worked hard to get even but failed in spite of vigorous efforts during the last few minutes and the Old Boys won by 2 goals to nil.

THE BUFFS vs. BYCULLA EDUCATION SOCIETY.—Played on the 28th ultimo before a large crowd when a splendid game was witnessed. The Buffs opened by rushing the ball down, but the boys saved and invading the opposite twenty-five scored from an opening given them by a miss. The Buffs played rather erratically and the Boys kept up a hard pressure and nearly added another goal. The soldiers then pulled themselves together and forcing their way back equalised from a penalty bully. They put in another rush and lost a fine chance by one of the forwards lifting the ball over the net. Both teams worked hard and exciting play followed ending in the Buffs putting on a second goal. After the interval the soldiers rushed the ball down but were brought up by "sticks." The boys then attacked and breaking through equalised the score. The military team began to outplay their opponents and kept up a continuous attack. The Byculla goal-keep defended his charge in fine style, but at last he was beaten and the Buffs notched their third goal. A last rush by the boys was brought up by the soldiers' backs just as the whistle sounded leaving the Buffs winners by three goals to two

THE FINALS.

(By special Telegram)

CATHEDRAL OLD BOYS vs. BUFFS.—These teams met on no less than three occasions before a final decision was arrived at. On Saturday and Monday the games ended in draws, but on Tuesday after a splendid game, which caused the greatest excitement, the Old Boys beat their opponents by three goals to one.

HOCKEY AT BANGALORE.

BANGALORE vs. MADRAS.—Teams representing Madras and Bangalore respectively, tried conclusions on the hockey ground of the Essex Regiment in Bangalore on the 30th May, when the officers of the Essex Regiment were "At Home" to their friends, their band played an excellent selection of music and a numerous company witnessed the play. It was hard luck on Madras that owing to one reason or another they left many of their best men behind, but as a matter of fact the Bangalore players who appeared as substitutes did Yeoman service for the visitors. For some time after the start the Madras men were fairly penned and corner succeeded corner in rapid succession, although nothing tangible resulted. Torkington netted the ball at last, but was ruled off-side, and play continued to be in favour of the home team. The Bangalore combination was palpabaly superior but Madras defended stoutly and Scovell was applauded for several good saves. A five run by Flannaghan, the Madras centre forward afforded the visitors temporary relief, but Marsden and Torkington by good work on the Bangalore left wing brought the ball back, and Grant scored with a marvellous shot which gave Scovell absolutely no chance. Half-time arived soon afterwards with Bangalore in a majority of one goal.

After the restart Bangalore continued to press, although Ricketts and Brierley were towers of strength at half-back, Catty scored the second goal for the home team after about five minutes' play. Madras were once or twice dangerous, but there was no getting past Patterson at back and the home forwards continued to show good combination, Grant scoring an excellent goal, and Abbay following suit almost immediately afterwards. Play continued to be fast, but there was only one team in it, and when the whistle sounded the homesters retired winners by four goals to nil, a result which hardly gives a fair idea of their superiority, for they were attacking almost throughout.

Teams:—

MADRAS.			BANGALORE.
G V Scovell, Goal		...	Raymond, Goal
W A Turner	Backs	...	Patterson	Backs
G L Ricketts			H Kelly
G F Brierley	Half-backs		Marsden	Half-backs
Raymond Simpson			Walce
J B Cunliffe			Young
J H A Stephenson	Right Wing		Abbay	RigatWin
J J O'Kelly			White
E B Flannaghan	Centre	...	Grant, Centre
C Wood	Left Wing		Catty	Left Wing
P S Coleridge			Torkington

Referee.—Captain G S Cottell.

Bowls.

CALCUTTA GOLF CLUB.

HANDICAP BOWLS TOURNAMENT.—An interesting handicap tournament at Bowls on the American principle was held on the Golf Club green during May, and to the practice gained therein it is not unfair to attribute the success of the Calcutta Bowls against Howrah in their last match after so many consecutive defeats. Nine couples entered for the tournament as follows: Messrs. W. E. G. C. Dickson and F. H. Stewart (scratch) G. S. Hannah and W. D. Steven (scratch), T. Drimmie and T. D. Wood (1), W. D Cowan and J. Smith (2), P. Hurll and J. R. Stewart (3), Reg. Murry and N. M. Mitchell Innes (3), J. G. Hewit and W. Ross Smith (4), W. T. Reid and E. J. Wright (3), and D. Drimmie and Dr. W. Forsyth (6). Opinions were at the start fairly evenly divided as to the probable winners, but Mr. Dickson, who is now quite the strongest player in the Club, was in first rate form, and being well supported by his partner, won their eight matches hands down and so carried off the prizes presented by the Club.

Boxing.

THE POONA TOURNAMENT.

THIRD DAY.

IT was not till Tuesday that the third day's fighting was permitted by the elements to be brought off when the Bantams claimed first tenancy of the ring. Private Scurr, Suffolks, beat Drummer Miller, L Batter R. H. A. Miller opened hostilities knocking Scurr off his pins. In the second round the latter assumed the offensive, and taking a commanding lead knocked his man out in the third period, having previously knocked him through the ropes

Then Private Cotton, Warwicks, beat Private Black, Lincolns. Short but sweet. After a minute and-a-half of fireworks Cotton knocked Black clean over the ropes and off the platform, Black failing to come into the ring before call of time. The Committee in view of similar eventualities decided that while in such cases the time-keeper should continue counting second might assist their man to his legs and on to the platform. After this Drummer Neat, G. Batter, R. H. A., beat Private Bower, the Buffs A poor display of science, Neat eventually catching his opponent a knock-out blow on the point. A much more interesting fight was that when Private Higgins, York and Loncashire beat Lance-Corporal Blackman, 10 Hussars. The latter, a wiry neat boxer, made an excellent fight with a heavier and longer-reached man and was keenly seconded by the redoubtable Corporal Smith. Higgins won a close fight on points.

Then the Light Weights invoked public favour and a really enjoyable scrap took place, when Private Tilt, Wilts, defeated Gunner Deary, 40th Batter, R. F. A. Tilt, looking the perfection of training skill, tried to force the fighting but got none the better of the first round. In the third round condition told the inevitable tale, and Tilt won fairly comfortably on points, having his man played out. A good honest fight.

Corporal Young, 15th Hussars won the next bout, Corporal Smith 1st Devons failing to enter the ring

A neat fight and an interesting one ensued when Drummer Thomas 55th Batter, R. F. A. beat Corporal Blake Royal Fusiliers. The latter is marvellous like his more celebrated brother of the same rank and regiment who won last year both in appearance and style, but as yet lacks his terrific hitting power and ring craft. Thomas, much the lighter man, showed quite exceptional activity and cleverness in ducking, and completely puzzled young Blake. Thomas, who by no means spent his entire time on the defensive, rightly winning on points. A very neat display.

Then followed an officers' competition, when Lieut. McMillan, Gordons, beat Lieut. Guy-Lee, Buffs'. McMillan with a brilliant public school record and towering over Lee never gave the latter a chance, fighting round and round the ring till he had been stone cold. McMillan boxes in beautifully academic style, and has great strength and reach, and one would like to see him fully extended.

Then came the Middle Weights. Private Stephenson, Gordons, won. Private Cundwick, Welsh. Regiment, failing to come to the scratch.

Then followed the incident of the third night and a deplorable one when Corporal Smith, 10th Hussars, beat Private Holloway, Royal Fusiliers, Popular feeling was clearly strong against Smith's style of fighting, and while this may show a commendable appreciation of scientific boxing as opposed to sheer brute force, it can be considered as no excuse whatever for the conduct of Holloway, who, after about 15 seconds' fighting, closed with his man, grappled and flinging him over the ropes straight way proceeded to strike him while down. He was pulled off and needless to say promptly disqualified. Smith was lifted to his legs smiling, and kept his temper in truly commendable manner. It was a strange indication of popular feeling that the shouts which ensued (and were of course promptly quenched) were not of execration for Holloway's desperately foul fighting or appreciation for Smith's command of temper, but were for "Good, old, "Olloway." Altogether a most discreditable display.

It is pleasurable to be able to turn to a very different bout, when, after the necessity for an extra round Bombardier Gibson, 12th Battery, R. F. A., beat Private Hott Buffs. Nothing could have been finer as a display of plucky fighting with a commendable amount of science. The one slight blot was the necessity for twice cautioning Gibson for hitting low, but it was in close fighting and not through any wilful intent. Failing to separate the men a deciding round was given when the award was given to Gibson a decision which failed to meet with universal approbation.

The evening's amusement was brought to a close when Gunner Jones, R.F.A., beat GunnerChapman, G. Battery, R.H.A. Proceedings opened with mutual unscientific slogging, Jones getting a bit the better of the first two rounds. Chapman quite a lad, showed unusual gluttony for taking punishment and evoked considerable approbation by the plucky man in which not only pulled himself together but actually got the better of the final round. Jones, however, properly got the verdict on points. Not a scientific display, but manly, honest, fair fighting, and consequently wholesome.

FOURTH DAY.

Fine weather continuing boxing was resumed on Wednesday night and it was calculated that few less than 2,500 people thronged the huge arena—a clear testimony to the popularity of the show. Before fighting commenced, Captain Lewis (who is clearly immensely popular with the soldier) on behalf of the Committee, administered a thoroughly deserved censure and warning relative to the disgraceful incident in connection with the Smith-Holloway bout on the previous night and it was gratifying at least to find that his few well-chosen and manly words bore the most desirable results.

The Light Weights opened the ball, and Drummer Cook, G. Battery, R.H.A., beat Private Bolton, Lincolns,

Poor boxing of the rough-and-tumble order, and interesting only in that the men were evenly matched, Cook eventually winning on points.

Then Private Tilt, Wilts, walked over Private Amger not entering the ring. This led the way to a very sporting contest in which Corporal Baxter, Warwick, beat Corporal Young, 15th Hussars. The first two rounds were very lively, both meaning business and Young making up in greater cleverness what he lacked in physical strength. Baxter just managed to outlast him in the third round winning on points A brace of good men.

Following this Private Warr, Buffs, walked over, as Drummer Thomas, 55th Battery R. F. A., owing to an injury, could not compete.

Then came the 3rd round of the Middle Weights and excitement was rife when Carporal Smith, 10th Hussars beat Private Stephenson, Gordons. When it was seen that Stephenson stood up in the most unflinching manner to the redoubtable Smith's furious onslaughts and actually took the offensive and administered quite as much as he took, suppressed feelings found vent, and the Referee had to warn the public that he would stop the fight if such unseemly interruption took place again. Smith's brutal style of fighting and his bull-like bellowing as he rushed in certainly fails to appeal to public sentiment. After the second round had been in progress, about 35 seconds, Smith got in one of his terrific left handers and further proceedings interested the game Stephenson no more.

Then Bombardier Gibson, 12th Battery, R. F. A., beat Gunner Jones R. G. A. A capital bout all through, Gibson, though smaller, making up for deficiencies in stature by cleverness, and with neat straight hitting style wore his man down and won cleverly on points.

The second and final round of the officers' competition then took place and Lieut. MacMillan, Gordon's, beat Lieut. Trenchard, R.E. The latter who looked like having at least 2 stone the worst of the weights, fought in the gamest possible manner and plastered MacMillan's middle piece with peculiar vigour—he found it difficult to get to MacMillan's figure head, the latter officer towering head and shoulder over him. It was the usual story of the good big 'un beating the good little 'un and MacMillan getting Trenchard beaten in the second round and dazed after a knock down, knocked him out with a deadly left-hander. Trenchard got his full share of applause when he came to. But what a pity it is that with the scores of fine English lads in the full fettle of youth who come out yearly that but three in all India could be found to face the music! Is it quite creditable?

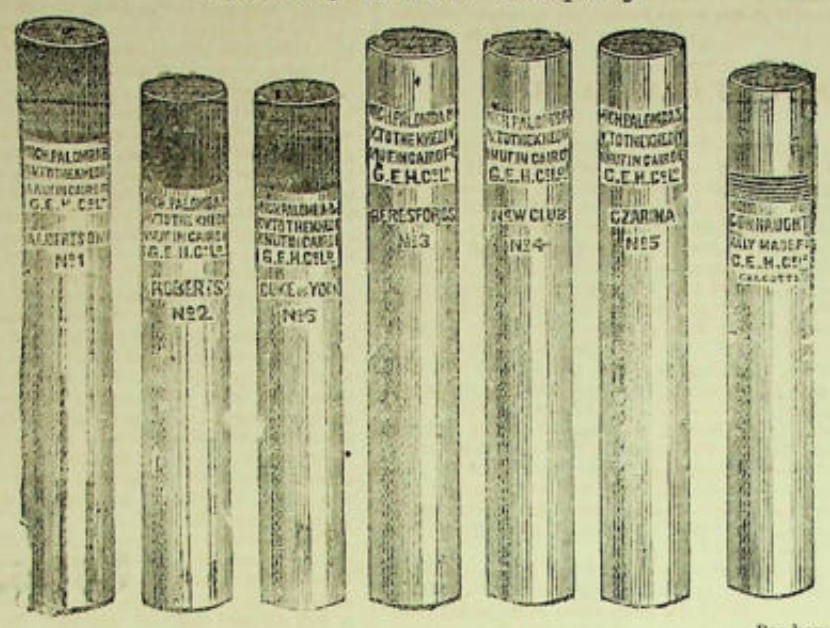
Following this the devastator Corporal Smith, 10th Hussars, met and defeated Private Gray, Wilts.

The latter like his predecessor stood up to his doughty little opponent with great vigour, but after less than a minute's slogging Smith got in a terrific prod on the ribs near the mark and Grey collapsed.

Then Private Smith of the Lincolns walked over Sergeant May of the Suffolks, who has unhappily spent most of his time in Poona in hospital, being unable to appear.

This leaves the two Smiths in for the final of the heavy weights and a terrific contest is anticipatedas the Lincoln man is said to be one not likely to be intimidated by his opponent's ferocious preliminaries or overwhelmed by his up-to-now irresistable onslaughts.

Then the little Bantams claimed the pit and Private Scurr, Suffolks, beat Private Cotton, Warwicks. A good fight was looked forward to and this looked like being fulfilled till Scurr got in a rather lucky one (as it seemed) on the point knocking Cotton out of time.



After this Private Higgins, York and Lancashire, beat Drummer Neat, G battery R. H. A. Very lively fighting without much science, and blood was soon on tap on both sides. Eventeally Higgin got in a feeler on the temple, Neat being unable to get to his legs before the fateful ten was counted.

Next came the semi-finals of the Light Weights, when the all-conquering Private Tilt, Wilts, beat Drummer Cook, G. Battery R. H. A. This was Cook's second fight in the evening, while Tilt had had a walk over. This and Tilt's beautiful fitness had the almost inevitable result and he fought Cook to a standstill on the first round.

Then Private Warr, the Buffs, beat Corporal Baxter, Warwicks. Warr, quite a novice in one of the local regiments, shaped in excellent style and has a beautifully-developed physique. He had, however, all the worst of the first two rounds, and it looked all over as regards the verdict. To the surprise and delight of the public, he took the initiative on the final bout, coming up marvellously fresh after the amount of punishment he had received from the hard hitting Baxter and fighting with a grand determination wore Baxter down to a complete standstill and knocked him out just before time. A really fine performance for such a lad who must have a brilliant future before him. A fine fight to send us home rejoicing.

EGYPTIAN CIGARETTES.

These are the finest Cigarettes imported into India, and are manufactured especially for this Company.

	Per box of 25 Cash. Rs. A.	Per box of 50 Cash. Rs. A.
Albert's Own (Gold Tipped)	... 1 14	3 12
Beresfords	... 1 6	2 12
New Club	... 1 4	2 8
Czarina	... 1 0	1 14
Duke of York, specially manufactured for Ladies (Gold Tipped) ...	... 1 0	2 0
Connaught, per box of 100	... --	2 12

SPECIALITIES IN WHISKIES.

"BEEHIVE" BRAND,
Rs. 25 per dozen.
303 SPECIALITY,
Rs. 30 per dozen.
707 SPECIALITY,
Rs. 35 per dozen.

SAMPLE CASES OF WHISKIES.
To enable our customers to make a choice from our stock of Whiskies and to judge of their characteristics we shall be happy to put up one bottle of any six different Brands, and charge for them at the nett cash rate per dozen with special discount of 5 per cent.

"AULD" SCOTTIE.
Rs. 32-8 per dozen.
"NECTAR,"
Rs. 41 per dozen.
"GLENLIVET,"
Rs. 36 per dozen.

☞ 10 % Discount for Cash.

Great Eastern Hotel Co., Ld., Calcutta.

Jupiter Pluvius being auspicious the tournament was brought to a successful close on Thursday night. The event selected for the "curtain raiser" was the finals for the Middle Weights wherein Corporal Smith, 10th Hussars, beat Bombardier Gibson, 12th Battery R. F. A.

No one anticipated a fight—and anticipations were fully realized. Gibson held out his mittens after 20 seconds' sparring. A wise though perhaps not wholly edifying proceeding in a final.

Next followed a six-round contest between Private Nicholson, Welsh Fusiliers and Corporal Young, 15th Hussars. This was a pretty display of sparring and effectively served its purpose as a pour passer and Corporal Young's knock out was a dramatic effort worthy of other boards. This contest need scarcely, I think, be treated in a very serious light. Nicholson was awarded the verdict, Young's "knock out," out-lasting the time-keeper.

A very different bout was the one which next occupied public attention, when Private Tilt, Wilts Regiment, beat Private Warr, the Buffs. This was a very delightful fight. Tilt, the old stager, trained to admiration and taking every liberty with his fitness, dancing all round his man for an opening. Warr, quite a lad fresh to the mysteries of the ring and doing his trainer great justice, shapes in academic style, has proved himself to have indomitable pluck keeps his head and boxes in admirable style with lots of cleverness. When he has acquired a bit more ring craft and to take the initiative more readily, he will I anticipate make a really fine boxer. Tilt was on the offensive throughout, his usual tactics longing to get one of his slashing left-handers in. Warr fought with most commendable calmness for such a youngster lasting finally through the entire three rounds of very fast fighting, and Tilt was only able to win somewhat cleverly on points. Both received a well-deserved ovation. A fine performance next ensued when in a six-round contest Private Stephenson, Gordons, beat Private Williams, Wilts. It was soon obvious to the nearest novice that this was no more "time passer." Stephenson had all the best of the weights, strength and weight. Williams fighting with much determination and the better skill led cleverly on the first two rounds, when Stephenson woke up to the seriousness of life and making full use of his advantages laid Williams out in the fifth round. A very fine fight and genuine business from start to finish. Then came the finals of the Bantams, when Private Scurr, Suffolks, beat Private Higgins, York and Lancashire. Here, too, Scurr looking mightily big for his class had all the best of nature's advantages, and it was entirely through Higgins, unusual cleverness in avoiding that the fight was sustained so well. Higgins, after getting a smasher, came to the scratch in the gamest possible manner and fought out time, but Scurr had always the verdict safe in his favour.

A pretty exhibition and no child's play was the six-round contest between a brace of Hussar Feather Weights, when Corporal Blackman, 10th, defeated Private Ramsden, 15th. In this instance youth was not served, and Young's experience—and a very neat clever boxer he is—enabled him to gain the decision on points.

This brought proceedings to the final fight and excitement was intense at the redoubtable Corporal Smith of the 10th Hussars meeting his namesake Private Smith of the Lincolns, who may be remembered as a fine fighter with all the advantages of great strength and height in his favour. Towering high over his indomitable little opponent and with two stone to the good, it certainly seemed as if the little champion had tackled a big job. And it was with difficulty that complete silence was kept or rather restored when it was seen that the Lincoln giant had distinctly the better of the first terrific hitting round. Nor was there much to choose in the second round, both administering and receiving terrible punishment with equanimity. In the final round the Hussars' fighting was quite irresistible and risking all he rushed in at his huge opponent and felled him with a cruel blow under the jaw. Rising in the gamest way before call of time, it was obvious that he was wholly dazed and it was impossible not to admire the manly forbearance with which Corporal Smith withheld coup de grace, and the Referee promptly grasping the true state of affairs stopped further slaughter, a decision which met with universal approbation. Consequently Corporal Smith, 10th Hussars, beat Private Smith, Lincolns and won the heavy weights of the tournament.

While I cannot admire the Hussar man's style from a scientific aspect, none can fail to admire his magnificent physique and the most gallant manner in which he treated the unflattering, and I must add grossly ungenerous, reception from the audience. No less gallant and brave was his treatment throughout of his opponents under one special circumstance at least (to which I would fain not refer) of a most trying character to any man's temper. His power of hitting has certainly been a revelation.

Colonel Bayley made a few remarks at the close of proceedings on behalf of that fine Polo player, Colonel Onslow, who had that day received a bad blow at his favourite game. Colonel Bayley, while complimenting the competitors and especially Corporal Smith, regretted that he was unable to extend it to the audience. He finally thanked the officials mentioning each by name—not forgetting the time-keeper—for their able and skilled assistance. Colonel Onslow distributed the prizes, the special prize to the brace who contributed the best fight of the meeting being awarded to Private Gibson, 12th Battery, R.F.A., and Private Hott, the Buffs, an award which was very fully deserved. So ended the Poona Boxing Tournament of the year of grace 1903, and to Captain Lewis and those who so ably assisted him all praise is due to the admirable organization which, despite the elements, brought this great tournament to so successful a conclusion. Its benefits are incalculable, long may it continue.

Swimming.

CALCUTTA SWIMMING CLUB.

Friday, 29th May, 1903.

The final heat at the three lengths (100 yards) handicap was contested to-day, and resulted in a hollow win for A. E. B. Siddons, who is displaying remarkably fine form. Results as follows:—

FINAL HEAT.

		Start.	Nett Time.
1	A. E. B. Siddons ...	16 secs.	1min. 25 secs.
2	W. S. J. Willson ...	18 "	1 " 31½ "
3	J. Chaplin	22 "	1 " 36½ "

4 G. Brown also swam, but was disqualified for starting before his time.

In the Plate Diving Competition, which followed, A. L. Clarke secured first prize with 21 out of 24 plates down, and H. M. Sherman took second place with 19 out of 24 plates. The next event will be a two lengths hurdle handicap on Friday, 8th June.

The Horse.

OOTACAMUND HORSE SHOW.

COMMITTEE AND JUDGES:

H. Irwin., Esq. | Col. J. C. Cunliffe.
C. A. Mackenzie, Esq. | Major W. O. Fowler.
Capt. C. T. Swan. | Major Gunn.
Major W. L. Campbell. | Col. J. P. Grant.
Capt. R. D'A. Fife. | Capt. S. S. Browne.
Major Logan-Home. | Capt. W. H Kay.

H. P. Hodgson, Esq.

Honorary Secretary—Capt. C. T. SWAN.

Second Day. Saturday, 23rd May 1903.

TO-DAY we had most perfect weather and the attendance, which on the first day was very poor, was much larger. Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Ampthill were present and Lady Ampthill gave away the prizes after the show was over. In the Hack Class, Viking was given the prize, Her Excellency Lady Ampthill's Atalanta being a very good second. The Hack Pony Class produced a great show. There were nineteen entries almost any of which one would have been glad to own. His Excellency's Amberite carried off the prize, Rupert was placed second and The Bee third. In the C.-B Class for horses and ponies, Prime was the only one in it for make and shape. Ladies' Saddle Horses was won by Her Excellency Lady Ampthill's Atalanta, who had perfect manners. Atlas, also owned by Her Excellency, was second. This was a very good class with twelve entries. Ladies' Saddle Cobs and Ponies came directly after and was won by an Arab Blackcock, who was well shown off by the owner, Mrs. Horne. H. H. the Maharaja of Mysore carried off first and second prizes in the Arab Ponies. The Thorough-bred Horses produced six exhibits. Miss Anderson's Angeline was awarded first prize. A strong class turned out for Arab Polo Ponies, Major Logan-Home's Rupert just securing the verdict from Captain Calbeck's Fareed. The Horse Jumping was the most interesting event of the show, the winner, the Maharajah of Vizianagram's br aus g Captain, being a beautiful jumper, and after the competition jumped over a rope held by two syces in the ring. Single Harness Horses was won by Mrs. Boddam's Starlight, while the Pony Harness went to Mr. Sutherland Orr's Winifred. Many people were surprised that Major Campbell's Bumps was not even placed. His action seemed better than any of the others. The Driving Competition was won by Captain Swan driving Bessie. Details:—

CLASS V.

HACKS HORSES.—Prize, Silver Cup; 2nd prize, Hair Brushes.
Capt Swan's b aus g Viking 1
H E Lady Ampthill's ch aus m Atalanta 2
H E Lord Ampthill's b aus g Andax 3
Judges.—Major Fowler, W. O. Home, Esq., H. P. Hodgson, Esq.

CLASS VI.

HACKS PONIES.—1st Prize, Silver Cup; 2nd Prize, Silver Flask.
H E Lord Ampthill's brn aus g Amberite 1
Major Logan-Home's ch aus g Rupert 2
Capt Barr's gr aus g The Bee 3
Judges.—Col Cunliffe, H. P. Hodgson, Esq, Major Gunn.

CLASS XI.

C. B. HORSES AND PONIES.—Silver Cup.
Col Grant's b h Prime 1
Capt Matthew's g m Nutmeg 2
Judges.—Major Fowler, Capt Packard, Capt Browne.

CLASS VII.

LADIES' SADDLE HORSES.—1st Prize, Silver Cup; 2nd Prize, Clock; Special Prize, Gold Bracelet.
H E Lady Ampthill's ch aus m Atalanta 1
H E Lady Ampthill's br aus g Atlas 2
Mrs George's b aus g Corunna 3
Judges.—Capt. Packard, W. O. Home, Esq.

CLASS VIII.

LADIES' SADDLE COBS AND PONIES.—1ST Prize, Silver Cup; 2nd Prize, Clock; Special prize, Bracelet.
Mrs Home's blk a h Blackcock 1
Mrs Hay's b aus g Snip 2
Major Kirkpatrick's b aus g Brisbane 3
Judges.—Capt Packard, Col Cunliffe.

CLASS X.

ARAB PONIES.—1st Prize, Silver Cup; 2nd Prize, Cigarette Case.
H H The Maharaja of Mysore's g r a p Nur-e-Cachashim 1
H H The Maharaja of Mysore's g a p Tutor ... 2
Major Logan-Home's ch a g Bahadur 3
Judges.—Col. Grant, C. A. Mackenzie, Esq, Major Gunn.

CLASS IX.

THOROUGH-BRED HORSES.—Silver Cup.
Miss Anderson's b aus m Angeline 1
Judges.—Col. Cunliffe, H. Irwin, Esq, Major Fowler.

CLASS XII (b).

POLO PONIES UNDER 14-1.—1st Prize, Silver Cup; 2nd Prize, Cigarette Case.
Major Logan-Home's ch a g Rupert 1
Capt Caldbeck's b a g Fareed 2
Major Campbell's g a p Iron Stone 3
Judges.—Capt. Browne, Capt. Packard, Capt. Kay.

CLASS XVII.

JUMPING COMPETITION FOR HORSES.—1st Prize, Silve Cup; 2nd Prize, Silver Cigar Tube.
The Raja of Vizianagram's b aus g Captain ... 1
Mr Bartholomew's ch aus g Rupert 2
Judges.—The Committee.

CLASS XV.

SINGLE HARNESS HORSES.—1st Prize, Silver Cup.
Mrs Boddam's b aus g Starlight 1
Judges.—Col. Cunliffe, Col. Grant, H P Hodgson, Esq.

CLASS XVI.

SINGLE HARNESS PONIES.—Prize, Silver Cup.
Mr Sutherland Orr's Winifred 1
Col Desara Wrs' Quickstep 2
Judges.—Col. Cunliffe, Col. Grant, H. P. Hodgson, Esq.

CLASS XVIII.

DRIVING COMPETITION.—Prize, Scarf Pin.—Captain Swan.
Judges—The Committee.

Mr. Parker, owner of Joe Miller, winner of the Chester Cup, and other well-known horses, was a man of great physical strength, which he knew how to use to the best advantage. It was owing to this circumstance, perhaps, that he only once in his life had a dispute over a bet. This was at Shrewsbury, under the following circumstances:—

Mr. Parker offered to take five ponies to one about a horse he was running, and someone said, "Done, Mr. Parker!" and, giving the name of Jones, made his exit from the ring as quickly as possible for fear of recognition. The horse was beat, and the next morning the money was claimed.

"Why," said Parker, "you are not Jones. I never laid the bet with you!"

"Oh! yes, you did, Mr. Parker," replied the fellow; "and here it is in my book," pointing to the entry.

It then flashed across Mr. Parker's mind that he had been "done," a thing which of all others he objected to.

Thus frate, he expressed himself in most emphatic terms, and catching poor little "Jones" by the throat, proceeded to frighten him out of a year's growth,

"It was Quince that laid you the bet," explained the culprit, when allowed to speak; "and he said if I could get it he would give me £5, for he felt sure you would know him if he came for it himself."

The said Quince was a whilom penciller who was in default to Mr. Parker, among others, and he showed considerable discretion in not turning up in propria personæ for a settlement.

The Naturalist.

A NEW MONKEY.

At the last Scientific Meeting of the London Zoological Society on 17th March, Mr. Oldfield Thomas, so well known for his researches among "rats and mice and such small deer," exhibited the skin of a much more sensational animal—in short, a new and very remarkable monkey. This beast, which came from Kwei-chow, in China, belonged to the genus Rhinopithecus, the members of which are allied to the Langurs, but distinguished by having noses "tip-tilted like the petal of a flower." The best known is Rhinopithecus roxellana, a very large and brilliantly coloured monkey, bigger than the great Himalayan Langur (Semnopithecus schistaceus), and showing much of a rich golden-chesnut in its colouring. The new species, which is to be named Rhinopithecus brelichi, is even larger than its ally, the tail alone being more than a yard long. This makes it the largest of all known monkeys except the great African baboons and the anthropoid apes. In colour, however, the new species is not so striking as many monkeys, although remarkable enough in its way. Its general hue is slaty-grey, with yellowish patches on the fore-arms and thighs, and a white one on the back between the shoulders. The gentleman, who obtained the specimen, and after whom it was very properly named, Mr. Henry Brelich, was present at the meeting

LONG-TAILED JAPANESE FOWLS.

THE curious long-tailed breed of Fowls, originating from Japan, has long been known to English fanciers under the name of Yokohamas or Shinowaratas. It is, however, seldom kept or seen, and Mr. J. T. Cunningham therefore did good service in exhibiting at this meeting two living cocks of the breed, with which he had been making experiments in order to find out the cause of the extraordinary growth of the tail-feathers, tail-coverts, and saddle-hackles in the cocks. A good bird of this breed has tail-feather the length of which runs into yards, and although neither of Mr. Cunningham's specimens could boast of a feather even a yard long, one had grown feathers of over 2 feet 9 inches. This was originally the least promising individual of the two exhibited, and Mr. Cunningham is inclined to attribute the superior length of feather which it had manifestly attained to the fact that he had daily manipulated its tail-feathers by gently stroking and pulling them. It is true that, as might have been expected, several of the feathers had come out under this treatment, but successors to these had appeared, and had continued to grow even beyond the ordinary moulting season; so that this inferior specimen had surpassed the more promising bird which had been left alone and had moulted in due course. Of course more experiments are needed to show that the manipulation of the feathers was the cause of this extra growth, but no one can deny that the present result, so far as it goes, is extremely interesting.

These birds themselves, excepting for the elongation of the above-mentioned feathers, were common place to a degree and resemble nothing so much as the ordinary Indian poultry. They had single combs, and clean legs with the ordinary four toes; while as to colour they were what a fancier would call very bad "duckwings;" i.e., they were coloured much like the jungle-cock, except that the neck-hackle and saddle were straw-yellow instead of red. As the combalso varies according to the strain, if is evident that no point has been attended to in this breed beyond the elongation of certain feathers; this is present also in the hen, though her tail-feathers and coverts are only a little longer than in ordinary fowls. This point should therefore be carefully looked for by anyone who has a chance of buying a supposed pair of this curious breed.

A FADING RHINOCEROS.

At the same meeting were exhibited by Mr. W. L Sclater, the temporary Secretary, some photographs of the nearly extinct White Rhinoceros (Rhinoceros simus) taken from a dead animal by Mr. C. R Saunders, C. M. G., Chief Magistrate and Civil Commissioner of Zululand. It was satisfactory to learn that the specimen had met its death by misadventure, having strayed away from its protection limit and been killed by natives. As so few specimens of this grand animal appear to be left that they can be individually counted, it is surely time for Government to intervene and appoint a Rhinoceros-keeper whose sole duty should be to look after these last specimens of a vanishing race, whose interest is more than merely scientific, as it is good for food and the largest generally edible animals.

F. FINN.

STRAY NOTES.

Though hyænas and badgers differ greatly in size and are not often found in the same habitat, this occasionally does happen, the same being true of wild dogs and wolves, thus novices, whose acquaintance with these animals has been but seeing behind bars in zoos, may mistake one for the other, quite apart from excited imagination magnifying or minifying proportions. In dense undergrowth under the uncertain light prevailing in all forests one sees a gray object slinking off and has neither time or mayhap nerve, to determine whether the stripes or bars run longitudinally or the reverse, hence the two animals first mentioned are very frequently confused with one another. The wolf and dhole hunt in packs as a general rule, but in the neigh bouhook of halitations slin about singly keeping well under cover, pounding on their prey and rearing it off so quickly that the started spectator in this case also jump to hasty conclusions. In all sudden encounters men of the steadiest nerve and experience are apt to be misled. Unless of course a scrimmage results, the animal is seen but for an instant and only a mere patch of him at most. Of course serious results now and again attend these errors leading the ardent hunter to followup a dangerous antagonist under false impression and many instances can be adduced of this. Some of these adventures have also a ludicrous side. Once a timber feller in scram bling up a rocky gully rushed back post haste, arriving at a planter's bungalow averring he had come fullbut on a tigress about to bear the "pleasing punishment:" guns were loaded lethal weapons seized and a formidable posse proceeded to the spot, but on cautiously peeping over the intervening boulder, indecated by the man, the cause of his perturbation was found to be a rottenlog freely bespattered with bright yellow fungii; the illusion of a hasty glance in the dim uncertain light being excusable enough. The fact of the presumed animal being in such a secluded spot, coupled with excited imagination supplying the assumed detail. We have known the trailing tail of a lungoor monkey send a well armed party of men flying, presenting as it did, swaying to and fro, the appearance of the caudal appendage of something else; a little reflection and the sight of the tuft would have shown the absurdity of the surmise.

Muddling up the identify of snakes is of every-day occurrence leading to a great deal of reckless destruction of useful reptiles, but the very classification under that name is enough for most people to whom the beguiler of our "first mother" is regarded as the progenitor of each and all, and to whom undying enmity is a sacred matter, yet the amount of good snakes accomplish in freeing us from depredators in the shape of rats, mice, etc., is enormous. This ignorant causeless enmity extends to frog, toads, lizards and other friends of man. Truly a course of natural history is sadly wanted in these days of "higher" education.

The Story Teller

THE PIXIE CROSS. A NEW YEAR STORY.

OUT on Dartmoor, some two miles from Tavistock, stands a small grey Pixie Cross. Lonely and pathetic it stretches out its cold stone arms in kindly fashion, as though to warn and protect unwary travellers against the dangers of the disused quarry yawning at its feet.

And the legend of the cross is this:—

Years ago, one New Year's Eve, a farmer, distraught by grief and shame at the ruin brought upon himself and his little daughter by his debts, entered the old stone quarry with the intention of taking his own life

The Pixies, living beneath the quarry, hearing his sobs and groans and being kindly little bodies in the main, to save a soul alive, hastened to his rescue, giving him gold enough, and to spare, only stipulating that once every ten years he should give them in return, any one thing in his possession which they demanded.

Ten years passed. The farmer and his daughter, now a lovely young girl, happily betrothed to a neighbouring farmer, had lived in extreme comfort on the Pixie wealth. On New Year's Eve, the Pixies true to the bond, came to claim their due, and seeing the girl, became so enamoured of her charms they claimed her as their reward.

Vain all prayers and all expostulations. The Pixies remained inexorable and carried her off. One boon they granted her—an hour for prayer at the foot of the Pixie Cross. Flinging herself upon the ground at the foot of the Cross, the weeping girl implored the good God to send her aid, and even as she prayed a clear white light illuminated the moon, forming a bright path, leading straight to her lover's cottage, while down the way of light passed an angel form, conducting by the hand her sorrowing lover.

At the sight of this heavenly vision, the Pixies, poor soulless things, uttering piercing screams fled to their subterranean home.

The fainting girl, clasped close in her lover's tender arms, was borne to her father's house, and next day happily united to the man of her heart.

The farmer, full of thankfulness, honourably returned to the Pixies twice the borrowed sum of money.

* * * * *

New Year's Eve, and the eve of my wedding day. To-morrow I must marry Sir Alwyn Griffith. Three months ago I learned that father stood on the brink of ruin, and to save him, our home, our old honourable name, he had said I must marry money. How I hated it all. Years ago all the love of my life was given to Jack, but he was poor, and father refused to hear our tale, and so it came about that on New Year's Eve, at the foot of the old Pixie Cross we met to say "Good bye." Said it with breaking hearts, eyes blinded with tears and trembling lips that clung in one last despairing kiss.

"Only be true to me darling" Jack had whispered, "and I'll marry you yet. I swear I will! Here at the little cross I'll meet you again one New Year's Eve, and then you'll be mine for ever." Then he left me, sailing next day with his regiment for India.

For the last time I crept out in the dusk of the afternoon with a cruel aching bitterness of heart to keep my useless tryst with Jack. He would never come now, and to-morrow!—I shuddered as I thought what to-morrow would bring.

Full of my wretched musings, I hastened along, never noting in my misery the gathering gloom and softly falling snow. Almost before I knew it it was dark, pitch dark, and the snow fell heavily thick blinding flakes.

Not for an hour, however, did I turn my face in the direction of home, leaving the little cross with anguish for I had clung to it as my one remaiuing link with hope. For some time I struggled on, following the direction I knew must lead to the road, but presently, feeling at a loss, I glanced anxiously round, only to discover to my intense dismay that a thick mist had arisen, blotting out even the darkness, and converting the world into one vast white sheet, which every moment became more dense as the snow fell steadily.

Helplessly, aimlessly, up and down I wandered, hither and thither, vainly seeking some sign, some familiar landmark until at last utterly worn out, and frantic with fear and weariness I struck my foot a violent blow against a projecting stone and flinging out my arms to break my fall, found myself clinging once again to the old stone cross.

Too exhausted to rise, faint with the pain of the blow, I crouched down at its foot, pressing my cheek against its cold grey form.

Hours passed—hours of pain and fear, but I clung there motionless not daring to leave my only refuge, fearing the dangers of the quarry lying, as I knew, at my very feet.

Gradually as time went on, I seemed to drift from a state of frozen numbness of body and frenzied anguish of mind, to a dreamy warrnth and indifference.

Vague thoughts, sounds and visions drifted across my half paralyzed brain and bye and bye, my dazed thoughts glided off to the old legend of the cross.

Losing my own personality I fancied myself that girl of long ago, praying in dire distress for God's aid and her lover's presence.

Yes! Surely there through the darkness gleamed the clear white light! The angel too—its great white wings folded, paced slowly down that blinding pathway, while behind I knew my lover walked too.

Full of joy I tried to cry out, to rise, to meet them. Panting I raised myself painfully, slowly by the aid of the cross to my knees, holding out eager arms to those I knew awaited me.

Then the light faded, and sobbing I sank back, but the next instant my lover's arms were round me, warm kisses raining on my cheeks and lips, then the vision ceased. Some cord snapped in my bursting brain, and I knew no more.

* * * * *

Hours later I languidly knew that I could think again.

How warm it was—how comfortable. Feebly I tried to stir, but my limbs were still weighed down by a heavy warmth above them. Gradually things grew clearer. Warm kisses were pressed frantically on my lips and eyelids and a voice.—Ah! so dear a voice I should know it all the world over, murmured broken words of delight and endearment into my ear.

Ah well! perhaps my life was over. "Can I be dead" I wondered lazily "and is this heaven?"

But after all there was something very earthly in the next sound which penetrated my clouded intellect. "Damn it" I heard with startling distinctness, "she is gone off again, What the Dickens shall I do now?"

Roused to fuller consciousness by these strange remarks I at last succeeded in opening my eyes, to find myself to my unbounded astonishment extended at full length on the cushioned seat of a first-class railway carriage, covered from head to foot with a huge fur rug, and last—most wonderful of all—my head resting with the utmost confidence upon the shoulder of a man, while the man himself knelt by my side on the carriage floor, the more conveniently to convey to my lips those same warm kisses I mentioned before.

For a moment I gazed in the wildest amaze, then flinging my arms round the man's neck I returned the kisses with heartiest fervour.

"Thank God, he said, when he could speak once more, you've come round at last." And "Oh Jack" I gasped in the same breath, "where are we and how did you come."

Jack held me more closely to him, and explained "we're half way to Plymouth" he said and I came because its New Year's Eve and I said I would."

"Two months ago my uncle died leaving me his heir. Of course I came to you straight, sweetheart, just in time for New Year's Eve.

Yesterday I landed. This evening I drove to your father's house, only to find Sir Alwyn Griffiths' promised bride was missing! Your father told me all. He and the servants are searching the other side of the moor. He thought you must be there, but I knew where you were" (with a laugh that was half a sob) "and I didn't wait to explain. We'll send them a wire to-morrow dearie.

"My cab was at the door and I drove like the dev-er-um drove like anything you know to the cross roads, there by the aid of one of the carriage lamps I found you. Now I've eloped with you! See my pet?

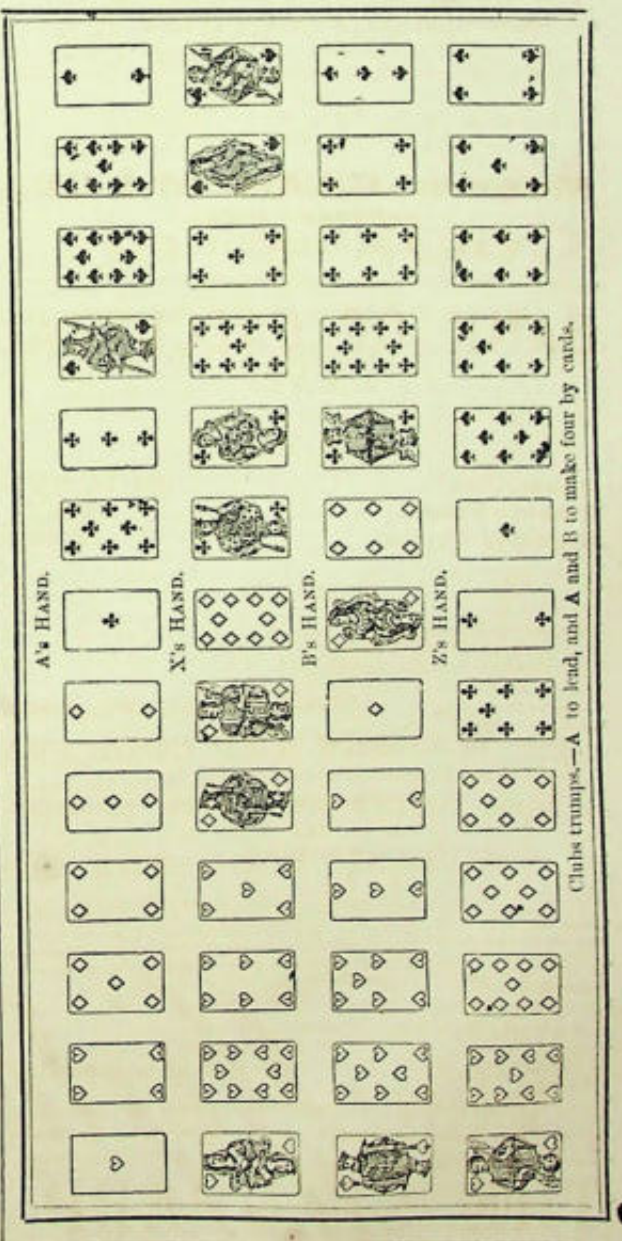
"But Jack" I gasped—the wedding—tomorrow—what will they do."

Jack chuckled, "All right little woman, cheer up. You shall have a wedding to-morrow, only a change of bridegroom."

"I took out a special license this morning. I have waited so so long dear heart," he went on wistfully." I knew you'd marry me at once if you cared to marry me at all, are you vexed I made so sure?" he whispered. And I? I crept closer to the dear true heart, and kissed the pleading eyes, and Jack seemed to need no other answer.

GRACE GRANT JESSE.

Chess.



SOLUTION TO PROBLEM No. 19.

White.	Black.
1. R to Q B 7	1. B takes R
2. K to B 3	2. Anything
3. Mates accordingly

Cards.

WHIST.

DOUBLE DUMMY PROBLEM No. 10.

"ANCHOR" LINE (HENDERSON BROS) Ld.

S. S. "MASSILIA."

SAILING FROM CALCUTTA TO LONDON

About 27th June, 1903.

This first-class new Steamer, 5091 tons, has superior accommodation in large and airy rooms on the Bridge Deck for about 60 Saloon Passengers.

Surgeon and Stewardess carried.

Fare to London. Rs. 550. Return from Liverpool, Rs. 850.

Concessions allowed to families, Railway employes, Missionaries, Tea Planters, and Hospital Nurses.

For further particulars—

Apply to—GRAHAM & Co.,

9, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Agents.

NEW "GEM" SAFETY RAZOR.

INDISPENSABLE TO TRAVELLERS.

CAN BE USED ON BOARDSHIP AND IN THE TRAIN.

None Better, None Safer, None Cheaper.

Complete in small tin box, artistically enamelled.
Sizes, 2½ inches high
by
,, 1 inch diameter.

Price	Rs. 6 0	each.
Spare Blades	,, 4 0	,,
Strops	,, 2 8	,,
Stropping Machines	,, 6 0	,,

NOT A TOY.

A REAL USEFUL ARTICLE.

Walter Locke & Co., Ld., "Locke" Buildings, Calcutta.

LONDON & LANCASHIRE

LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

HEAD OFFICE:—

LONDON: 66 and 67, CORNHILL, E.C.

CALCUTTA BOARD OF DIRECTION:

T. Fraser, Esqr., Manager, Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China.
E. H. Elles, Esqr., Messrs. Pigott Chapman & Co.
Alex. Forsyth, Esqr., Messrs. Graham & Co.

NEW BUSINESS, 1901.

SUMS ASSURED, £727,196. NEW PREMIUMS, £30,088.

The Net Premium Income is now £264,482, and the amount of £101,760, as the result of the past year's working, has been added to the Funds, which now stand at £1,629,502.

New policy holders participate in the large proportion of 90% of the entire profits of the Company.

Applications for Agency invited. Special Terms.

APPLY TO—

Messrs. GRAHAM & CO.,

GENERAL AGENTS.

9, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

BANK OF CALCUTTA,

LIMITED.

CAPITAL.

Subscribed	Rs. 15,00,000
Reserve Fund	,, 15,00,000
Uncalled Capital	,, 5,00,000

DIRECTORS:

Mr. D. YULE, Messrs. ANDREW, YULE & Co
,, H. R. McINNES, Messrs. J. THOMAS & Co.
,, NORMAN McLEOD, Messrs. McLEOD & Co.
,, D. KING.

CREDITS granted on approved Security, and every description of banking business transacted.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened and 2 per cent. per annum allowed on the daily balances.

FIXED DEPOSITS received at the following rates of interest:—

On Deposits fixed for	2	Years	5½	per cent. per annum.
,, ,, ,, ,,	1	Year	5	,, ,,
,, ,, ,, ,,	6	Months	4½	,, ,,
,, ,, ,, ,,	3	,,	4	,, ,,

The Bank offers special facilities and advice to Constituents as to the purchase and sale of all Indian Securities, particularly the Shares and Debenture Stocks of Jute, Cotton, Tea, and Miscellaneous Industrial Concerns.

The Bank is prepared to guarantee the principal and interest of Debentures on its approved list on terms which may be ascertained on application. Absentee shareholders' and investors' interests carefully watched.

Orders executed on the London Stock Exchange through London Branch.

For further information apply to—

CALCUTTA, 7th April, 1902. D. KING, Agent.

LONDON BRANCH:—19, GREAT WINCHESTER STREET, E. C.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSCE. CO.

Revenue	£1.300,000
Bonus Declared ...	£7,000,000
Accumulated Funds ...	£10.300,000
Claims Paid ...	£21,000,000

For Forms, Prospectuses, etc., apply to

DOUGLAS STEWART, Secretary,

STANDARD BUILDINGS,

CALCUTTA.

GRINDLAY & CO., CALCUTTA.
GRINDLAY, GROOM & CO., BOMBAY.

BANKING.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened. | FIXED DEPOSITS received.
HOME AND FAMILY REMITTANCES made.

INVESTMENTS.

INFORMATION given regarding share market.
PURCHASES and SALES effected.
Grindlay's Monthly INDIAN INVESTORS' GUIDE supplied gratis.

PASSAGES.

HOMEWARD PASSAGES booked without charge.
PASSAGE CIRCULAR and complete list of sailings supplied gratis.

PACKAGES.

SHIPPED, cleared and forwarded.

THOS. COOK & SON

Bankers, Passenger & Forwarding Agents.

PASSAGES PROMPTLY ENGAGED by P. & O. Mail and all other Steamers, including non-Liners. Free of Charge or Commission.

Special Attention given to the selection of Berths and Social Grouping of Passengers.

Through Tickets issued available from any Railway Station in India to all parts of the Globe.
Continental Travelling Tickets issued, allowing breaks of journey at all places of interest.
Passengers with Cook's Tickets met and assisted at all Chief Ports and Cities.
Reduced Rates to Railway employés, Planters, Family Parties, and Missionaries.
Outward Passages engaged and Tickets supplied from any part of the World to India.
Hotel Coupons available at over 2,000 Hotels.
Reduced Fares for Military Officers, Government Officials, and Missionaries to Europe viâ China and America.
Baggage received, shipped and cleared on arrival.
Packages received and forwarded at favourable cargo rates.
Life and Accident Insurance Polices issued, also baggage, &c., insured.
Drafts, Circular Notes and Letters of Credit issued for the use of Travellers in all parts of the World.
Sovereigns, Bank Notes, and Foreign Money bought and supplied.
Current Accounts kept, and Interest allowed when the Credit balance does not fall below Rs. 1,000.
Deposits received, Rate of Interest on application.
Interest, Pay, and Pensions collected and every description of Banking and Money Agency transacted.
Handbook of information sent free on application.

CALCUTTA, 9, Old Court House Street. | BOMBAY, 13, Esplanade Row.

RANGOON AND COLOMBO.

POLICIES ISSUED

BY THE

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE Co.

Combine Life Insurance and Investment.

A security for family or estate and a provision for old age.

WRITE FOR PARTICULARS AND FOR
15 or 20 year sample policy to

RESIDENT MANAGER,

8, Old Court House Street,

CALCUTTA.

COCKBURN & Co.

— OF —

LEITH AND LONDON.

(ESTABLISHED 1796.)

WELL MATURED

HIGHLAND WHISKIES,

Of the highest class and most delicate blending.

Star Label	Rs. 34	per dozen.
Imperial Crown Label ...	,, 38	,,

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & Co.,

SOLE AGENTS,

1, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

NORTHERN ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1836.

FIRE AND LIFE.

Capital	£3,000 000
Accumulated Funds	£5,698,300

OFFICES.

Head Office:—LONDON, 1, Moorgate Street.
Branch:—CALCUTTA, 101, Clive Street.
Fire and Life Insurance effected on the most favourable terms.

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & CO., (Secretaries.)

101, Clive Street, Calcutta.

THE INDIAN FIELD.

8, Hare Street, Calcutta.

THURSDAY, 11th JUNE 1903.

TRAINING AND CONDITION.

WHEN will some athlete who has given attention to the subject take pen in hand and compile a few pages on the subject of training in this country? The appearance of a very practical and sensible little book on Daily Training, by Messrs. E. F. Benson and Eustace H. Miles indicates that ideas on the subject of getting fit and keeping fit are undergoing changes, and that old hard-and-fast rules about training are growing into disrepute. American authorities went deeply into the allied questions of feeding and training some years ago, and the fruits of their enquiries were embodied in a book full of facts and figures wherein the relative values of proteids, carbohydrates, fats and the other constituents of our daily fare were duly set out and considered with almost portentious solemnity. Authorities in England have done much the same thing from time to time, but we doubt whether the average runner or rowing man cares much about the chemical aspects of his dinner: what he does want to know is how he can bring his physical forces up to concert pitch with the least self-denial and least risk of breakdown: a consummation far more difficult to arrive at in this climate than in England.

Messrs. Benson and Miles' book appeals to us by its sweet reasonableness: the author of that comet of a season yclept "Dodo" is practically a vegetarian: Mr. Eustace Miles, known as one of the finest tennis players in Britain, has no leanings toward an ascetic régime: the two authors have their own ideas about feeding and those ideas are diametrically opposed, but each proves that his principles are right by the convincing circumstance that each is in the best possible physical condition for regular exercise: not be it noted, wound up to concert pitch for some one great effort of energy and strain that will be over in a few minutes; but in that hard condition which enables a man to ride all day or shoot all day and feel only agreeably tired at the end of it.

The doctrine of these two authors is that the road to condition is for no two men the same. Jones will thrive and put on muscle on a diet of beef steak and cabbage, while Thomson will attain thereby to nothing more satisfactory than dyspepsia: what is needed is that each man who wishes to get himself into good condition should first arrive at a good and complete understanding with the organ that rules him—his stomach. It is a humiliating fact, but we cannot get away from it: that organ is the master and it must be consulted first. When the man who with mistaken vanity calls himself the "owner" of the organ which rules him knows what he can eat and drink to the best advantages—let us say when he knows what fuel will produce the best head of steam, he has laid the sure foundation of knowledge on which to proceed with his training whether for one supreme effort or for continuous "condition."

It is a curious thing that for generations we have accepted as incontrovertible the truth that "one man's meat is another man's poison," yet we should have insisted upon what may fairly be called a cast-iron régime for training magnificently blind to the ordinary diet of the subject. To take a conspicuous example the training of the crews for the Varsities Boat Race is conducted on these fine old cast-iron lines; the marvel is not that the men should turn out so fit on the day of the race, but that they should turn out at all: but we may find explanation in the fact that simple fare, such as their training requires, suits most men tolerably well if it do not produce the best results in each individual. As one of a team it may be desirable to bow to the autocratic methods of the trainer and make the best of the régime his theories sanction: but the runner or the oarsman who is playing for his own hand is well advised if he consult none but his own appetite and his own feelings. It is probable that the over-indulgence in meat which is a feature of our normal régime at home is less considerable in this country: for one thing we feel the need of meat less in a hot climate: the sight of a hot meat dish is very often repugnant to us in the hot weather; and for another bazaar chops and steaks are not sufficiently appetising to tempt us to exceed. To say that meat is not necessary to a man in training would be to dogmatise, and the principle it is sought to establish is that the diet of a man in training is not a subject about which it is possible to be dogmatic. One man may reach his physical best on a diet purely vegetarian, which indulgence in the same by another man differently constituted might lay the experimenter on his back.

The difficulty of the athlete in this country is seldom that of keeping down superfluous tissue. The circumstances under which we live during a goodly part of the year are all against accumulations of what the medicine man delicately calls "adipose deposit," and men who take a reasonable amount of exercise corrected by a reasonable quota of pegs, unless naturally predisposed to "lay on beef" need have little difficulty about keeping the body in condition. The difficulty with a good many of us is to retain, in a high temperature, a sufficiency of tissue to work up into muscle; and to do the physical work necessary to attain to condition without unduly taxing the system.

It is perhaps the first article of the orthodox training creed that a smoker must for the time being deny himself the luxury of smoke, and turn his back resolutely on cheroot, pipe, or cigarette; the last—an insult to a healthy smoking appetite as we maintain—being allowed as a generous concession to human frailty after dinner. Now, we quite concede that excessive smoking and training are incompatible; nay, he must be a very robust man who without detriment to his steadiness of hand and nerve generally can smoke his twelve or fifteen cheroots a day, week in week out year after year. Such over-indulgence must tell in the long run and no man can continue it and come near his physical best: but it is quite another thing to stop the regular but moderate smoker's tobacco as essential to training him. If he feel none the worse of his smoke there can be no reason for stopping it: and feel none the better for cutting off his smoke the deprivation is doing him no good. It is acknowledged that to suddenly check a habit is liable to produce untoward consequences: some of us have realised this in a mild form when for relaxed throat we have felt bound to forego our smoke for a day or two: the first result, within our own experience, is that it is less easy to sleep: while abstinence from tobacco if prolonged for any reason is, we are informed, on sound authority, productive of evil consequences to temper—or, as the victim himself would say, to his nerves. It is quite certain that any incident of training which affects a man's powers of sleep or unsettles his nerves, should be dropped out of the régime after fair trial has proved that the subject does not readily accommodate himself to the change in his mode of life.

The matter of exercise is equally one for each man to arrange for himself: indoor work on what is known as the Macdonald-Smith System is strongly recommended by many who have followed it with satisfactory results, and these extension exercises devised to bring all the muscles into play in turn are suitable for everyone. We observe that Messrs. Benson and Miles do not approve of the use of dumb-bells: heavy dumb-bells notoriously have a tendency to make the user slow and we go with the authors in our preference for exercises without mechanical appliances of any sort as being more conducive to activity and bringing the muscles more naturally into good development. It is easier to lay down rules for exercises than for diet: the muscular system is the same in every man, and if we lay dumb-bells, bell bars, clubs and kindred tools aside we cannot go far wrong in our endeavours to make the most of systems of exercise calculated to swell the muscles and open the chest. The new school of muscular training lays great and proper stress on fresh air and proper breathing—it is a curious thing, but it seems that comparatively few men whose occupations are sedentary do breathe properly. In this regard we have the pull over men at home who spend the better part of the day within doors: save during the hot weather we can live with open doors and windows and breathe fresh air.

Special Telegrams.

THE MANCHESTER CUP.

(From our own Correspondent.)

THE Manchester Cup of 3,000 sovs. (200 sovs. in plate, the rest in specie), added to a handicap sweepstakes of 25 sovs. each, 10 ft.; winners (selling races excepted) after 7th May at noon, 3lbs.; twice or once of 400 sovs. 7lbs.; twice of 400 sovs. or once of 1,000 sovs. 10lbs. extra; second to receive 300 sovs. and the third 100 sovs.; entrance 5 sovs., the only forfeit if declared by Tuesday next. Cup Course (one mile and half). (52 subs.)—Closed 6th January.

London, Friday, 5th June.

Ld Howard de Walden's ch c ZINFANDEL, by Persimmon—Medora, 3yrs, 6st 2lbs ... 1
Mr W R Reid's b c CLIFTON HALL, by Galloping Lad—Lady Clifton 4yrs, 6st 11lbs 2
Mr J Lowry's ch c BACHELORS BUTTON, by Winkfield—Milady, 4yrs, 8st 1lb ... 3
(Winner trained by C. Beatty, Newmarket.)

Betting: 13 to 8 agst Our Lassie, 7 to 1 Clifton Hall, 8 to 1 Zinfandel, 20 to 1 Bachelor's Button.

Won by a length and a half; bad third. Eleven ran.

Winners since 1878.

1878	Mr J Houldsworth's Attalus	3	6	1	Hopkins (16)
1879	„ H Bragg's Lartington...	3	6	1	Bell (18)
1880	„ F Gretton's Isonomy ...	5	9	12	T Cannon (21)
1881	Capt Machell's Valour ...	6	8	9	F Archer (18)
1882	Lord Ellesmere's Wallenstein	5	8	5	C Wood (15)
1883	Mr R Peck's Primrose II	4	7	6	C Wood (16)
1884	Mr J Hammond's Florence	4	7	2	S Loates (18)
1885	Sir R Jardine's Borneo ...	4	7	1	F Barrett (15)
1886	Sir R Jardine's Riversdale	3	6	1	W Glover (10)
1887	Mr Somers's Carlton ...	4	8	9	G Barrett (14)
1888	Lord Bradford's Merry Andrew	3	6	1	G Chaloner (9)
1889	Mr L de Rothschild's Cotillon	4	8	3	F Barrett (16)
1890	Lrcd R Churchill's L'Abbesse de Jouarre ...	4	8	8	T Cannon (18)
1891	Mr Vyner's Lily of Lumley	5	7	0	Bradbury (13)
1892	Mr B Maple's Balmoral ...	4	7	6	Woodburn (14)
1893	Mr Buchanan's Shancrotha	5	7	1	Mullen (14)
1894	Mr Buchanan's Shancrotha ...	6	7	12	Woodburn (16)
	Sir R Jardine's Red Ensign	4	7	7	Finlay
1895	Prince of Wales's Florizell II	4	8	1	Calder (11)
1896	Mr Buchanan's The Docker	5	7	6	Allsop (10)
1897	Mr E M Inglis's Piety ...	4	7	3	S Chandley (9)
1898	Mr R C Vyner's King Crow	4	6	10	H Luke, jn (10)
1899	Mr J Hammond's Herminius	5	8	13	M Cannon (7)
1900	Duke of Portland's La Roche	3	7	9	K Cannon (12)
1901	Mr J Dawson, jun's Rambling Katie ...	4	6	3	J Childs (12)
1902	Mr A M Singer's Rambling Katie	5	6	11	J E Watts (15)

THE GRAND PRIX.

(From our own Correspondent.)

GRAND PRIX de Paris of 200,000fr. (8,000sovs); if the winner is foaled in France the breeder will receive 15,000fr. (600sovs) in addition; 150,000 fr. (6,000sovs given by the City of Paris, and 50,000fr. 2,000sovs) by the five Great Railway Companies, for entire colts and fillies, foaled in 1900, of every description and country; added to a sweepstakes of 1,000fr. (40sovs) each, 600fr. (24sovs) ft., and 500fr. (20sovs) only, if declared by 10 P.M. on the Wednesday preceding the race, or 100 fr. (4sovs) only, if declared by 10 P.M on the 2nd of May, 1903; the second to receive 20,000fr. (800 sovs) and the third 10,000fr. (400sovs), out of the stakes; weights, colts 58 kilos (about 9st 12lbs). fillies 56½ kilos (about 8st 13lb); about 3,000 metres (about one mile and seven furlongs).—478 subs. Closed 17th September 1901.

Paris, Sunday, 7th June, 1903.

M Edmond Blanc's ch c QUO VADIS, by Winkfield's Pride—Filomena, Pratt ... 1
M Edmond Blanc's ch c CAIUS, by Reverend—Choice, Thomson 2
M Edmond Blanc's b c VINICIUS, by Masque—Wandora, Lane 3
M W M K Vanderbilt's b c ALPHA, by Fripon—Prima 0
M P Aumont's b f CAMISOLE, by Simonian—Dormeuse 0
M M Caillaut's ch c SANS PROFIT, by Lutin—Profiterolle 0
M Gaston Dreyfus' b c JOHN BULL, by St Damien—Julia 0
M H Cheri R Halbronn's cd c FRISQUET, by Masque—Mrs Freeman 0
Baron E de Rothschild's ch c VERTUMNE, by Galeazzo—Vernal 0
M Ephrussi's bc AVIGNON, by Persimmon—Avarice 0
Prince Pierre D'Arenberg gr c GRADIGNAN, by Caudeyran—Grey Powder ... 0
Baron A de Schickler's bc EX VOTO, by Le Sancy—Golden Rod 0
M P Aumont's bc VIEUX PARIS by Simonia—Verveine 0
M M Caillaut's ch c LAISSER PASSER, by La Capricorne—Lady Lilian 0

Betting: 5 to 1 agst Quo Vadis.

Won by three-quarters of a length; two lengths between second and third.

Sporting Notes.

THE starting gate continues to afford much "copy" to the English sporting press and a fillip has been given to the discussion by the action of a home contemporary in inviting the opinion of trainers and other experts as to the advisability of its continuance as a means of despatching horses. Judging by the letters published there seems to be a wide divergence of opinion on the subject, many holding the "machine" up to execration, while others, whose views are entitled to equal respect, are just as strong in their support. There is not one, however, but has something to say in condemnation of the methods at present adopted, and even those in favour of the barrier argue that the horses should be started from a walk, or else should be drawn up in line some few yards behind the webbing.

When the last mail left England, trouble was brewing over the result of the race for the Prix de Diane (French Oaks) which was won by Rose de Mai, owned by Count de Saint-Phalle. There were one or two duels on the tapis, and, although everyone is convinced that Count Saint-Phalle is above suspicion, some very harsh judgments were expressed respecting those who are known to have aided in the organisation of a purely American coup, arranged so as to steer clear of racing law. Enquiries made by the Stewards of the Jockey Club show that the filly was cantered on Aigles on the morning of the race, with Sloan up, and under the supervision of Brethes, the nominal trainer for M. Charron. Racing law has been cleverly evaded to carry out a plan concealed behind the irreproachable reputation of Count Saint-Phalle. The Stewards have communicated to the journals the fact that the Committee has fined Brethes a couple of thousand francs (£80) for having used the gallops without permission, and considering that "Tod" Sloan galloped the filly, and should, as a former jockey, have known that previous authorisation ought to have been obtained, and also that no permission had been given—thus constituting himself guilty of the same offence as the trainer—the Committee of the Jockey Club announce that the said "Tod" Sloan is excluded from all enclosures on the racecourse and from all ground belonging to the Jockey Club. This is the most severe sentence that could be passed.

Mr. F. Beaty, the Official Starter to the C. T. C., will work the starting gate at the Calcutta Monsoon Meetings.

Disaster has overtaken the ambitious experiment of the Koer Sahib of Patiala, who sent that unfortunate animal Record Reign to race in France. The horse took part in four jump events, won a couple of them, fell in the third, fell in the fourth, and having broken his leg had to be shot. Poor brute!

First Entries for the Bangalore Races will be found further on: they are good and we quite expect to find that the confidence of the executive will be justified. Second Entries close on the 20th instant.

Our old friend Harry Goldspink was well on the spot with his Derby selection. In a letter dated 22nd May and received by the last mail he writes:—"The Derby looks a real good thing for the favourite; if anything beats him it will be Vinicius. I place them Rock Sand, Vinicius, and Flotsam; but the race will be a thing of the past by the time you get this."

A DELICIOUS SMOKE.
SPENCER & CO., LD.,
MADRAS.

TORPEDOS SPECIAL.

MILD WITH
PLEASANT AROMA.
OBTAINABLE FROM
RESPECTABLE ALL DEALERS.

It is proposed to hold a gymkhana at the Tollygunge Club on Saturday, the 20th instant. There are six races on the card; two for ponies, of which one is a hurdle scurry over 6 furlongs, and the other a half mile flat race. A race for hacks over 3 furlongs, the Charger Stakes, owners up, and the Opening Handicap of half a mile each, provide for the big division and there is a 3 furlongs event for polo ponies. Entries close at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, 16th June.

The following gentlemen have been appointed to act as Stewards of the Western India Turf Club during the absence of General Burnett, Lt.-Col. Cleary Hill, and Lt.-Col. Bull, M.D., I.M.S., viz.:—Brig.-General Bingham, Captain the Hon'ble C. F. Greville, and C. A. B. Beatty, Esq.

What's this story we hear about a certain Calcutta lady (hitherto conspicuous on the Red Road in a smart tum tum) having set out in the said vehicle on a driving tour across India? We await news of further developments with much interest.

Our Lucknow correspondent writes as follows on 7th June:—It has been warming up here lately with a vengeance, and with the thermometer well over 90 degrees in the bungalow it might have been expected that last Thursday's paperchase would not have been particularly well attended. But our local sportsmen appear, salamander-like, to revel in the heat, and there were no fewer than twenty-one starters drawn up at the appointed spot at the level crossing on the Sultanpur Road. The course laid out was that known as the Sultanpur circular course, over which the Paperchase Cup races are held. Among the starters I noticed Mrs. Ryves, Miss Porter, Miss Williams, Major Ionides, Captains Davis and Winwood, and Messrs. Shaw, Watson, Story, Maunsell, Gage, Stanley, Symons and Gardiner. The course is an exceptionally good one from the spectators' point of view, as all the jumps except three are well in sight. Mrs. Ryves got away with the lead, but was passed at the first jump. A very good run ended in Captain Davis coming in first, with Captain Winwood second. The officers of the Royal Artillery were "At Home" after the run. The Paperchase Cup will, I understand, be run for on the 18th. I also hear that we are to have another Water Gymkhana next Saturday. The last one was so signally successful that the next is being eagerly looked forward to.

"Bridge Topics" by "Lynx," which we foreshadowed a few weeks ago, will make its appearance very shortly in the form of a charming little brochure, most tastefully got up by the Caxton Press. The work itself is thoroughly comprehensive and up to date. It will be published by Messrs. W. Newman & Co. at Rs. 2 net.

The following is Mr. Cursetjee Dhunjee Shaw's handicap on the Maharajah's Cup, 1 mile 3 furlongs, to be run for on the second day of the Mysore Races :—

	st..	lbs.
Mameluke	11	3
Chungiz	9	5
Sapphire	8	5
Moon	8	2
Rubric	8	1
Dib	8	0
Babyboy	7	12
Delight	7	7
Padlock	7	1
Syndic	7	0
Harefoot	6	4
Superb	6	0

Top weight not accepting, weights raised 7lbs.

The Beresford Polo Tournament came to a conclusion on the 8th instant with the match between the Viceroy's Staff and the Commander-in-Chief's Staff. The latter team did not play up to their usual form and the Viceregal Staff won an overwhelming victory by seven goals, and eight subsidiaries to two subsidiaries.

Our Bangalore correspondent writes:—Paperchasing is reviving much in Bangalore, and two took place last week under the management of Lieutenant Adams, 3rd Madras Lancers. On each occasion there was a sweepstake for horses and ponies respectively, the entries being fair. Major Harrison, R.F.A., won the first "All Horse" Sweepstake, whilst Captain Claridge, 3rd Madras Lancers, was successful in the pony event. At the second "chase" Mr. Anketell-Jones, 6th Dragoon Guards, was first home in the Horse Sweepstakes, the pony race being annexed by Mr Graham, 3rd Madras Lancers.

At both meets there was a large non-competing field which was let go a few minutes after the sweepstake riders, and the result has been two excellent and enjoyable rides, whilst many people were out on wheels. At the first paperchase, the officers R. A. were "At Home" to their friends at the finish, whilst at the second, Lieutenant Adams entertained a good many guests in his bungalow. The distance ridden was about three miles in each case, and the above rides are only the forerunners of a regular chase every week, of which I hope to send you fuller particulars when they get into a more orthodox shape than at present.

I have been on the race-course pretty often of late in the mornings, and recent rain has put it into very fair condition, although the grass is rather on the heavy side. There are quite a lot of horses here, but most of the best will not be seen in public until Poona, and with regard to the Mysore meeting, it seems the general impression that winners should not be very difficult to find, some seven or eight of the horses going being considerably too good class for their opponents. This is to a great extent the case, and it is apparently almost impossible to bring some of the animals together. Minimus is entered for three events, and reading through his opponents' names, it would seem not to much matter what the handicapper pu's on his back.

In the country-bred class it is pleasant to see that all the three events have filled, but if anything can beat Evensong it will only be Upstart, who is galloping wonderfully well, and creating a most favourable impression. Louis is also said to be smart, but he does not take the eye in his gallops as does Mr. Allardyce's horse. As to the Arabs, they are always uncertain, but there do not appear to be any local animals good enough to tackle those from the other side—by the way although they have sent us fair quality, quantity is alas! conspicuous by its absence—and Chungiz, Moon and Sirjamal will probably do well be the weights what they may. Amongst trainers neither Fergusson nor Watson will go to Mysore, although the former is represented by a couple of horses, Oberon and Wallgrove; and these with Harpist, Promotory, Malto, Tecoota and Jack O'Lantern constitute about the best class which will be seen at the meeting. Lansdowne, Thompson, McQuade, and O'Neill will be riding, and also probably Fenton, these being the only European jockeys I have heard of with the exception of a new rider from Colombo whose name I believe is Brown.

The gay folks at Simla held a novel entertainment on the 9th instant, a gymkhana by moon light at Annandale. A large number of people dined at the club after the Polo Tournament and a perfect night added to the great success of the proceedings. Sixteen entered for the Gentlemen's Obstacle Race, but owing to the dim light and competitors finishing in a bunch it was found impossible to place the winner. Mrs. Buck with five points out of six won the tilting for ladies for which there were 15 entries. The "Lloyd Lindsay" for ladies and gentleman in pairs was won by Mrs. Atkinson and Captain Holden; 16 pairs competed. The same couple also won the Thread and Needle Stakes with Mrs. Buck and Major Poynter a close second.

Our Poona correspondent writes:—His Excellency the Governor and Lady Northcote are expected to arrive in Poona from Mahableshwar's heights and shady glades on the 8th instant and the first public function at present advertised is the Levée on the 29th. With reference to the latter I notice an innovation from previous years' procedure. Formerly any one who had previously attended a Levée was entitled to make obeisance at succeeding ones without question or demur. Under recent mandate it is necessary for all desiring to attend to submit an application to that effect to the Military Secretary to His Excellency the Governor and to each permitted to attend a card will be sent by that high functionary, such cards being brought by the holders at time of admission. This wise regulation has come none to early for one has jostled against individuals, whose claims to attend a levée of the King's local representative were certainly not apparent at first sight.

I was lucky enough to get a prolonged passing glimpse the other morning of Colonel Sheringham and his hounds while at exercise. They are a level but distinctly small lot of hounds. I did not notice a big hound among them, but they look a very sporting, varminty pack, and as their fitness to run under such skilled attention and care may be taken as assured: there seems little doubt but that good sport is in store for followers of this distinguished hunt. There is, however, another department of Indian hunting which requires little less care and attention if perfect success is to be achieved and this in the Bombay hunt, I am assured on all sides, is carried to the pitch of perfection and to this was, I hear, due to a large extent the record season recently brought to so successful a close. The mantle of Elijah has fallen on Elishah in the matter of an Honorary Secretary, and Major England of the Royal Artillery has taken over that onerous and thankless task from his brother of the Royal Fusiliers. Major England has himself I hear had experience in the gentle art of hunting hounds somewhere up north and as there is also I am told a one-time master of the Poona pack in that fine horseman, Major Edwards of the 3rd Cavalry, Poona is indeed rich in talent. Indeed the sole dread seems to be the possibility of the proverbial evil of two many cooks. However it is earnestly to be hoped that all will remember that but one king reigns. There is but one M. F. H, and his word must be law. Few I hear have responded to the courteous invitation to be at the kennels at 5-30 A.M., and there is still a difficulty as to efficient whips. But surely there must be some hard bitten lads with a taste for hunting in Poona.

Last month the Prevention of Cruelty to Wild Animals Bill was moved in the House of Commons by Mr. Corrie Grant. This Bill is intended to do away with "certain spurious kinds of sport," and protect certain animals, such as deer, hares, rabbits, and pigeons, which, although nominally wild, are to some extent confined, and are released only for the purpose of being hunted or shot. If this Bill became law it would, practically, do away with pigeon and starling shooting, as well as coursing and stag hunting. Sir F. Banbury severely criticised the Bill, and in the end succeeded in "talking it out."

It is not generally known that a man who has a watch in his pocket has also in his possession a reliable compass by which he can always tell his position. By pointing the hour hand to the sun, South will be found exactly half-way between the hour hand and the figure XII. on the watch, counting forward up to noon, but backward after the sun has passed the meridian. Here is an example. Presuming that it is eight o'clock, you point the hour hand, indicating VIII., towards the sun, and the figure X. will be due South. If it is four o'clock, then by following the same directions the figure II. on the watch dial will show the exact South.

A great deal has been written upon improving the breed of our horses, stock, etc., but we do not recollect any one taking up the claims of the Indian donkey. Yet when we see the enormous loads carried by this despised little creature, bearing in mind at the same time their value as milk providers for invalids and children, one would imagine the advisability of introducting fresh blood would occupy attention. For general purposes we need not indent upon the elaborate studbred stallions or dams, but the ordinary jacks or jinnies one sees at home on the heaths and seaside sands would answer all requirements, and as the patient beasts cost little to keep, are docile, good tempered and stand the climate either of the plains or hills well, the small dots of the rising generation would benefit more by exercise on their backs, than in the perambulators and go-carts that cramp limbs and encourage that dulce far niente our little folks are too much indulged in. The marked improvement in donkey breeding that followed Lord Shaftesbury's initiative in England half a century since should prove an incentive to people out here to follow the example. The suggestion applies to natives and Europeans alike, especially in the present day, when artificial locomotion threatens to almost sever those intimate relations between horse (donkey) and man which has endured from prehistoric times.

Captain Randall, while schooling a horse over fences on the Bangalore course came a heavy cropper on Tuesday and broke his collar bone. This is a piece of hard luck to a keen sportsman, and just before the Mysore Meeting too. It was this owner's racing pony, Ada, which so damaged herself lately and died of her injuries a day or two ago.

SPENCER'S

No. 1, 4½ ins. long, Rs.16 per 1,000.
„ 2, 4 „ „ „ 15 „ 1,000.
„ 3, 3½ „ „ „ 14 „ 1,000

JAVAS

SPENCER'S
OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA.
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

BEHAR NOTES.

One of the most enjoyable ways of spending a morning is to go out with two or three others, beat out a "grass" on the chance of turning a pig out, find him there, and after a rattling run kill him in the open.

Messrs. F. W. Needham, C. Macdonald, Justin, Finch, and Reeves on Thursday, the 28th of May, went with spears and beaters to examine a grass near Meghoul Factory; and as they were lucky enough to start and slay a very good pig, I will describe how he was found and killed.

The grass ran in a long narrow strip on the edge of a river, while on the other side the jungle extended for a considerable distance and was quite impracticable for beating with any success.

The coolies were put into the narrow piece of grass, and after they had been at work for some time a sow and a butcha broke out and went across country; and as nothing else was seen, it looked as if it was going to be a blank day. Luckily, however, one of the party riding behind the beaters called to his syce, who was walking alongside him with an extra spear, to poke the spear into a thick piece of scrubby grass; this the syce did, and up jumped a fine big boar. Away he went, followed by Needham, Finch, and Macdonald. He hadn't much pace, but escape was easy for him if he made for the river; so he was not pressed too hotly, but was carefully nursed by the three riders in the direction they wanted him to take. Suddenly as the grass got low and thin, the boar saw his mistake and turning tried to make for the river.

Needham spurred his horse up, and galloping along on the near side waited for a charge; but, no, Mr. Pig would not accept the challenge, as he was intent on reaching the river and escaping to the other side.

Needham then pressed on with the intention of heading the pig off, while Justin Finch, and Macdonald came up. The going was bad here, being hard, black, dried up mud, pitted with holes where the wild pig had been rootling. The river was getting closer and closer, when suddenly the boar turned and charged Finch. Somehow or other Finch's spear missed its aim and the pig succeeded in getting its charge well home; luckily, however, for some unknown reason, his pony was not ripped, or badly cut; but escaped with a few scratches.

Needham then rode at the boar, whose blood was up and who, now seeing escape cut off, intended to make a good fight of it; for as Needham galloped up to the pig, the latter put all his weight and strength into a grand charge, but he had met his match here as "Bobbie" Needham is too old and experienced a pigsticker to make a mistake, and his spear went deep into the pig's back. The pig then charged Macdonald and he also gave him a spear, but in the mêlée got his pony slightly cut. There is very little more to be told—a few more charges and a few more spears, and the pig lay dead on the ground.

He turned out to be a big, broad, heavy boar with a grand head and good tusks, and taped on the field full 33 inches.

What a wonderful animal a pig is for concealing himself! Sometimes a grass will have to be beaten three and four times with elephants and coolies before he will appear.

In this "stick" the line of coolies must have actually passed over him, and he would have undoubtedly never been found, but for one of the pigsticking party noticing a pariah dog sniffing and smelling at a patch of grass; and as he rode past, he told his syce to prog it with a spear he was carrying, and the pig came out.

The Hajapore "stick" last month turned out a failure, which was a great disappointment, as it was looked upon as being a certain success, though it was no fault of the host, Mr. Vere Ramsay, who made the most excellent arrangements.

There is a Kanti "stick" again this month, and if they do as well as they did at the last time there should be very good fun.

Beauty

For keeping the skin cool, preventing and curing sunburn, prickly heat, freckles, insect bites, wrinkles, sore eyes, rashes etc., there is nothing as harmless or as efficacious as Icilma Natural Water. Sold by Army and Navy Stores, Bombay and Calcutta.

Icilma, 142, Gray's Inn Road, London, W. C.

Athletic Notes.

THE finals in the Murree Football Tournament between the Queen's and the King's Royal Rifles ended after a very evenly contested game in a win for the Queen's by two goals to one.

There are evidently some keen golfers in the National Bank, Bombay. In a match—Bankers vs. World—played last week the Bank sent in no less than nine players, and might have sent in a tenth, but for the accident of a damaged knee.

The match between Oxford University and Gentlemen of England, details of which will be found in our English Sporting letter, was a triumph for B. J. T. Bosanquet. He scored 108 in 70 minutes, and in the second innings of Oxford took 6 wickets for 31 runs in 15 overs. His batting was something quite out of the common, and worthy of that of C. I. Thornton in the old days, when there really were big hitters. In his innings were included three sixes and sixteen fours.

Our Bombay correspondent writes:—The annual Lawn Tennis Handicap Tournament in connexion with the Bombay Gymkhana has just been brought to a close. In the ordinary course of things it should have wound up a fortnight or three weeks ago, but the unusual rain towards the end of last month delayed the final from being played in the singles. The players left in to contest the final were Mr. H. Cheetham (−15½) and Mr. W. Reid (−30). The last-named has met with conspicuous success in Tennis this season—he started by winning the Marryat Cup and then the West of India Cup, both scratch competitions. He and his partner (Mr. Russ) were heavily handicapped in the doubles of the handicap tournament and suffered defeat; but on Monday night he got the better of Cheetham after three good sets. As to the play on that occasion, Cheetham started off by winning the first game of the opening set, but Reid secured the next two, and when eight games had been played the latter, whose placing was decidedly good, had won five games to his opponent's three, and eventually secured the set 6—4. The second set went all in favour of Cheetham, who played up very strongly—after both players had won a couple of games, Cheetham secured the next four, and the set 6—2. The concluding set was productive of some excellent play, but at one time it looked as if Reid would win easily. Cheetham won the opening game, while Reid secured the next three, his placing being very accurate, while Cheetham was playing by no means so well as he had done in the previous set. After this, however, he improved considerably and five games all were called. The eleventh game, however, went to Reid, who thus won 6—4, 2—6, 6—5. The winner's performances during the season have been consistently good, and had he won the doubles his record would have been hard to beat. In his style of play he has become much steader of late and improvement of this kind has doubtless been responsible for much of his success.

The recent rain has caused a marked improvement in the golf links, and as a result, there is a considerable increase in the number of players who now turn out of a morning. A match was played a morning or two since; the Bankers challenging the World, the teams being composed of sixteen a side. The result was a victory for the World, due largely to the manner in which Messrs. E. E. Coombs and W. L. Shaw dealt with their opponents, the former defeating Mr. J. D. Johnston by six up, and Mr. Shaw gaining a similar victory over Mr. S. T. Hutchison. The scores were: the World, 25 holes; Bankers, 7 holes.

Bombay people, and especially racquet players, have been following with interest the play in England of Jamsetjee, the Bombay Gymkhana racquets marker, who so easily beat Browne for the World's Championship. He was, however, unable to get a match with Peter Latham because he could not find the necessary backing, Latham declining to play under a stake of £500 aside. When this latter announcement was made, two members of the Parsee community offered, through the Times of India, to find the stake, and the news was cabled home to Mr. F. W. Shaw, who took a prominent part in sending Jamsetjee to England. A private wire received in Bombay a few days since stated that Jamsetjee was leaving England on 4th June, but that Mr. Shaw hoped to arrange a match against Latham next season. In order that there shall not be the slightest doubt as to the stake, the two Parsee gentlemen referred to above have deposited the £500 with the Times of India. Interviewed on the subject, Mr. Dorabji J. Tata deprecated the idea of throwing the whole burden on two individuals only, and expressed the opinion that the whole Parsee community should subscribe towards the amount. He suggests that the money should be raised by means of small amounts. He undertakes to collect the subscriptions, and appeals to the Parsees to treat the question as one concerning the whole community, and not to let go the present golden opportunity of recognising the merits of a Parsee, who has the rare honour of being a world's champion.

Details are to hand this mail of the Amateur Golf Championship, which has just been decided over the links of the Honourable Company of Edinburgh Golfers at Muirfield, and it is quite clear that the meeting was in every way no less successful than had been anticipated, while the victory of Mr. Robert Maxwell will have given great pleasure throughout Scotland, and The Indian Field can also arrogate some credit to itself for having predicted his success. Muirfield has always been a happy hunting ground of Mr. Maxwell's since his first appearance in the Amateur Championship when it was held there last in 1897, when the final was fought out by those two then unknown young amateurs, the late Dr. A. J. T. Allan and Mr. J. Robb, but Mr. Maxwell achieved the feat of the meeting in putting out Mr. John Ball and Mr. H. H. Hilton, both at the height of their fame, Mr. Maxwell then went abroad for some time, but since his return has been quite the most prominent figure in Scottish Amateur Golf, and his many notable achievements at St. Andrew's, Muirfield, and North Berwick, and his consistently fine performances, both in the Amateur and Open Championships, together with his commanding and effective style and his steadily brilliant play will have combined to render his victory as well deserved as it was popular. And there is no golfer more liked than Mr. Maxwell whether on the links or off them. The veterans had their full share of the laurels at Muirfield headed by Mr. Horace Hutchison, who, in spite of his indifferent health for so many years, is still nulli secundus in knowledge of the game and actual technical skill, while Mr. Angus MacDonald, the popular Edinburgh Burgess player, ruffled it with the best of them and by his defeat of Mr. Ball won a fine feather for his black velvet bonnet. The younger players too distinguished themselves duly, especially in the persons of Mr. Hermon de Zoete, who made a splendid fight against Mr. Maxwell in the semi-finals, Mr. F. Mackenzie of St. Andrew's and Mr. Horace Castle, the Chiswick amateur, who received the well-earned honour of a place in the English team for the international match. As usual there were various upsets. Mr. Hilton, who succumbed after a tie to Mr. H. W. Beveridge, the slashing Oxonian golfer of a couple of years back. Mr. J. L. Low, and Mr. S. Mure Fergusson, who should surely have held Mr. Ballingall, being among the victims. Anglo-Indian golfers will have been sorry to see Mr. Norman Macbeth put out so early in the tournament, but it is no disgrace to him to have gone down before Mr. Andy Stuart, little though that excellent golfer has been seen in the big events of late years.

The meeting was as last year to close with a team match between England and Scotland, the result of which will not be known until next mail. Scotland holds by much the same players as at Hoylake last year, but Mr. Charles Hutchings, Mr. H. C. Ellis and Mr. J. A. T. Bramston are all absent from the English side, and though the result is sure to be close, Scotland should win. Not so with the international professional encounter to be held in connection with the Open Championship in June at Prestwick, the Scottish team is already selected, but though a strong one with A. Herd, Braid and Jack White to lead it, England (cum Jersey) should be still stronger with Taylor and the redoubtable Vardons at the head of affairs. In fact Jersey might well put a team of its own into the field with the three Vardons, Ray, Renouf and Gaudin, as suggested in this week's Golf Illustrated and in years to come this match might easily develop into an all-comers' international encounter with amateurs and profes-

AN EXCELLENT SMOKE
. . WITH . .
DELICATE AROMA.
OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.

GOLD MOHUR BOUQUETS

SPENCER & CO., LD., Madras.
Factory: Dindigul.
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta:
MESSRS. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

sionals playing, side by side for the honour of their respective countries.

On the 3rd instant Somerset was beaten by Middlesex by 112 runs, Worcestershire beat Warwickshire by three wickets, and Hampshire beat Derbyshire by 26 runs.

The matches between Notts and Surrey, Sussex and Gloucestershire, and Yorkshire and Lancashire were drawn.

Sussex has beaten Somerset by eight wickets.

Middlesex beat Yorkshire by nine wickets on the 6th instant. Lancashire was beaten by Kent by 177 runs. Surrey defeated Leicestershire by 28 runs and the match between Notts and Essex was drawn.

General Notes.

ABOUT a dozen officers were present at the Ladysmith dinner held at Simla on the 3rd instant.

A big dinner was given at the United Service Club, Simla, last week by the Police Commission.

Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Curzon left Simla last Friday for Mashobra en route for Naldera.

Rumour has it that Miss Kathleen P. Emmett's novel "A Girl Soldier" (F. V. White and Co., 14, Bedford Street, London, W. C., 6*s*.) will be among the most popular of the newest publications. It is printed in bold type and is said to be a fascinating book with which to wile away a sultry afternoon in the plains.

Some time ago we referred to a gharry accident at Rangoon in which Captain Eccles was injured, fracturing his right foot. It is with regret that we have to announce the death of the popular captain. The injured limb had to be amputated, but the patient was unable to stand the operation. Captain Eccles joined the Irrawady Flotilla Company in 1884, and at the time of the accident was in command of one of the steamers.

News reaches us from Bombay of a fatal accident to Dr. W. Morrison, who has been on special plague duty in India for the last three years. He was staying with the Principal of the Technical Institute and was injured on the 5th instant by a fall down stairs which proved fatal. Dr. Morrison had been suffering from insomnia, and it is believed that he fell over the banisters when walking in his sleep.

The Eton dinner given by Messrs. C. W. N. Graham and R. G. Thomas was held in Calcutta last Thursday, the following gentlemen being present: The Hon. Mr. C. E. Buckland, Messrs. C. W. Foley and A. F. Simson, the Hon. Mr. Justice Harington, and Messrs W. Graham, E. C. C. Haythorne, A. M. Clark, G. Akers-Douglas, J. Kennedy, L. W. Ogilvy, R. Jardine-Paterson, E. L. Ralli, E. F. Schilizzi, L. Pape, C. W. Graham, R. D. Thomas, and J. H. Allen. Messrs. Garth and Pearson were unavoidably absent.

A very pretty wedding took place on the 27th ultimo at Dibrugarh, the "high contracting parties" being Mr. John Frederick Gruning, Deputy Commissioner of Lakhimpur, and Miss Mabel Lydia Baker, daughter of the late Mr. E. B. Baker, Deputy Inspector-General of Police. Everybody in the station was there, the church was very nicely decorated, the presents numerous and costly. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. E. C. Stuart Baker, the well-known sportsman-naturalist and a reception after the ceremony was held at the club, Mr. and Mrs. Baker doing the honours.

The following gentlemen attended the Old Etonian dinner given by H. E. Lord Curzon at Viceregal Lodge, Simla, on the 4th instant:—His Excellency Lord Curzon, Col. the Hon. J. Byng, 10th Hussars, Lt.-Col. the Hon. E. Baring, Military Secretary to the Viceroy, Major H. S. P. Davies, Deputy Commissioner, Simla, Lt.-Col. A. E. Sandbach, Commanding N. E. Narbadda Disdrict, Lt.-Col. H. G. H Kennard, 5th Dragoon Guards, Major W. G. Wolridge-Gordon, the Black Watch, Major H. A. L. Tagart, 15th Hussars, Major H. Clifton Brown, 13th Lancers, Major R. J. Marker, A.-D.-C. to the Commander-in-Chief, Capt. H. H. Norman, Northampton Regt., Hon. M. C. A. Drummond, the Black Watch, Mr. J. J. Dawson, 12th Royal Lancers, Mr. R.J.I. Ogilvy, 4th Dragoon Guards, Mr. R. W. Oppenheim, 4th Dragoon Guards, Mr. E. Crawshay Williams, R. F. A., Mr. A. E. Duff, the Black Watch, Mr. R. B. Wood, 12th Royal Lancers, Mr. N. G. B. Henderson, the Black Watch, the Hon. A. Hill Trevor, Imperial Yeomanry.

London Week by Week.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Friday, 22nd May 1903.

THE Royal Military Tournament opened last Friday. It is on the usual lines, the conspicuous novelty being the Durbar Pageant in which the elephants are real, but in which, I am glad to say, the parts of natives are taken for the most part by British Reservists. There was one false note in this spectacle: it struck me, and I think a good many others, as a mistake to bring on a group of cripples to represent worn-out veterans. The presence of this detachment was not in accord with the festive nature of the display, and answers no good purpose so far as any one can see. The King and Queen were at the Hall on Saturday, having arrived from Scotland the previous day. It sometimes crosses my mind to hope that His Majesty enjoys his self-imposed duties as much as he appears to do: he does not spare himself. Even a King must be glad when it is time to get into bed, though His Majesty, when heir-apparent, seemed able to manage with less sleep than any member of his suite. So said they who oft-times would have sought their pillow and could not because their Lord was tireless.

***

His Majesty went in State to Kew on Wednesday afternoon to open the new bridge. Fate so willed that the omnibus on which I journeyed arrived at Hyde Park Corner, just in time to be stopped by the police to allow the Royal procession to cross from Constitution Hill into the Park. The King was looking remarkably well, and the Queen the same.

***

There are some real symptoms of summer at last. I don't refer to the cuckoo which is reported to have arrived at Putney, or to the belated swallows; but to the weather. We have had three positively fine days and two warm ones this week; quite worthy of mention after weeks and weeks of rain.

***

It has been in my mind since the Park began to fill of an afternoon, to refer to the vast improvement in the turn-out of the motor cars and their drivers. Until this year nineteen cars out of twenty were conspicuous for their deplorable dirtiness a hundred yards away: and it was apparently the sacred duty of every driver to dip his shapeless tarpaulins in an oil tank and take a roll in the dust before he mounted his box. A grimier set of villains than the motor drivers of yester year you would not find out of a stoke hold. Now we have changed all that. Nineteen drivers out of twenty have clean faces; fifteen out of twenty wear a smart uniform and cap, a compromise between those of an hotel porter and a German bandsman; un-English but clean, and quite a large proportion of the motors themselves are free from the stains of much travel; and are as nearly fit as these things can be to take their place in the stream of nicely turned out carriages in the Park.

JAMES PYMM.
TURF ACCOUNTANT,
5, Wellesley Place, Calcutta.
Established 1890.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BEER.
ASK FOR PABST BEER
Sub-Agents.
A. H. WHEELER & Co., Bombay.
SPENCER & Co., Ld., Madras.
MURRAY & Co., Ld., Lucknow.
G. F. Kellner & Co., Calcutta and Branches.
DAVENPORT & Co., Calcutta,
Sole Agents & Importers.

T. Assheton-Smith, M.R.C.V.S. (Loud.),
SPECIALIST IN THE TREATMENT
OF
TROPICAL DISEASES
OF
THE HORSE AND DOG.
184, Dharamtala Street, Calcutta.

EROOM & CO.,
CALCUTTA.

The N.-W. Soap Co., Ld.,
CALCUTTA & MEERUT,
MANUFACTURE
Three Leading Lines in Soap.
MOLINE
PERFECT FOR THE TOILET.
ELYSIUM
BEST FOR HOUSEHOLD USE.
AURORA
FAMILY TOILET, CHEAP & GOOD
ALSO
BEST CANDLES.
ASK THE MERCHANT
With whom you deal for these Articles

SPENCER'S CIGARS ARE OBTAINABLE AT MESSRS. BEWLAYS'.
Establishments 49, 74, 77 & 156, Strand, W.C.; 143, Cheapside, E.C.; 55, Queen Victoria Street, E.C.;
5, First Avenue Hotel Buildings, Holborn, W.C.; and 90B., Regent Street, London, W.

The Royal Society's first conversazione was held at Burlington House on Friday night. The rooms as usual were crowded with the Eminent in science, Law, "pol'tic, all tings" as Count Smorltork said: and the exhibits, when a mere ordinary average man out of the street could understand them, were very interesting. There were several exhibits to show us what progress has been made in reducing electricity to order and making it earn somebody's living. Sir Oliver Lodge's "stand" (?) devoted to wireless telegraphy engaged a lion's, a small lion's, share of attention; Sir William Crookes as expected devoted his stall (again "?") to radium. Two new gunsights appealed to a lower order of comprehension: Dr. Common's "collimating" gunsight, capable of use by day or night, will, I imagine, be heard of in a wider field than Burlington House. The Rev. John Bacon of ballooning celebrity shewed photographs, some very extraordinary and some very curious, taken from high altitudes. The Martinique photoes naturally attracted a crowd. Most to your address I suppose were Dr. Leonard Roger's five sea snakes, from Eastern waters, conspicuous for the finality of their attentions. Here is a question for your natural history expert, by the way: If the cobra, krait and such other engaging reptiles are equipped with poison glands for legitimate purposes of home defence, why should sea snakes be even more poisonous when, in the nature of things, prying humanity can rarely disturb them?

***

While hovering thus enviously in the outer dark on the confines of science, it is worth mentioning that the authorities at the Middlesex Hospital report "extremely satisfactory results" obtained with the X-rays and ultra-violet rays in the treatment of that most hideous and horrible of diseases lupus. They also report that the effects of the X-rays in cancer cases are remarkable "as they clearly produce wasting of the morbid growths to which they are applied." The question yet to be solved is whether the rays exert any influence on the constitutional or other conditions on which cancerous growths depend: time and experiment will throw light on this important point.

***

What will science accomplish next? A few days ago a doctor was giving us a sketch of a new apparatus which, when secured upon the forehead of a stone-blind patient, conveyed to his brain the impressions he would otherwise have received through his eyes. That doctor had much to say about the mysteries of hypnotic suggestion and "psychic blindness" induced for experimental purposes, whereby it had been proven that patients could be made to see through opaque screens. But I flounder in deep waters. Please refer to Mr. Myers on "Human personality" (1400 octavo pages of smallish type, in two volumes). which appeals equally to the profound searcher after truth and to the frivolous (when he has mastered the language) who would harrow his midnight dreams with authentic ghost stories.

***

Miss Ellen Terry's revival of "Much Ado" was fixed for Tuesday night, but has been postponed until to-morrow night. A new feature is to be the introduction of madrigals some of which will be sung between acts—no bad innovation when the curtain remains down for long.

***

The dramatic event of the week has been Mr. Tree's production of Mr. Claude Lowther's "The Gordian Knot" at His Majesty's. There are twenty-two characters in the cast, but only three have anything to do with the working of the play. The interest hinges on the endeavours of Roger Martins (Mr. Tree) to rescue his friend the Vicomte de Selignac (Mr. Rober Taber) from the wiles of Gabrielle Melville (Miss Olga Nethersole) actress and courtezan. Gabrielle is a mantrap and nothing else: she lures men on, wins their affections, and casts them off. Me, I grow old and critical of motive and felt small sympathy for Selignac in his agony of love and jealousy when Gabrielle ceased to conceal her true colours; her realism is, perhaps, a blot. One ought to sympathise with Selignac, who gives his crippled friend Martins the cue to cutting the knot when he says: "Her death or mine!" Gabrielle, the actress, has a new play on hand and is considering a death scene for it, when Martins (Act III) comes to her boudoir and, in answer to her query, says he has come to kill her. "Yes" says Gabrielle who thinks Martins is one of her victims. "Let us make a death scene!" She recites one passage involving the use of a dagger. Martins does not "rise" to it. Then she plaits her yellow hair in two long thick tails, and suggests another scene wherein her murderer is to strangle her with her own hair. Martins pounces upon her and in two minutes it is all over, Selignac hammering the while at the locked door. This last act is both dramatic and powerful, which is more than one can say for the preceding two. The first is simply dull. Mr. Tree's make-up was a marvel and he grasped the potentialities of the part. I liked Mr. Taber's Selignac too.

***

Country Girl at Daily's has acquired a new outfit in the shape of fresh songs and "business." The main lines of the play are wisely left as they have been during sixteen months of crowded houses, but there are some changes in the cast. Miss Octavia Barry replaces Miss Maggie May as Princess Mehelanch, and Miss Olive Morrell takes the part of Marjory Joy vice Miss Lilian Eldée. Miss Evie Greene continues to play Nan, and does it, if possible, with more life and go than ever. Of course Mr. Huntley Wright is still there: his new song in petticoats "When I was a Girl" was only eclipsed by Miss Ethel Irving's "The Worst Woman in London," a skit on the ridiculous Adelphi piece, which, by the way, has been taken off this week. Either for its merits, which are high, or because it tickled the fancy of the house, that song was thrice encored.

***

I suppose "The Worst Woman in London," was too bad for her West-end acquaintance, or the play itself was not up to the mark. Whatever the reason, it is gone, nightshirt and all, to be replaced by An Entirely New and Original Drama by Walter Melville, in four acts, consisting of thirteen scenes. "The Worst Woman" was not up to much, but the Entirely New and Original which replaces her is worse. There may be people to whom "Her second time on Earth" will appeal, but I cannot imagine who or what they are. The thing is beneath contempt; the titles of the scenes read like the chapter headings of the dreadfullest penny dreadful; that indeed is what the latest Adelphi piece is, a crude, blood and thunder novelette tinkered into some sort of dramatic form. If it survives for a week I shall be surprised, and yet I dont know. The late Mr. Carlyle's dictum that men are mostly fools comes to mind.

***

Last week's budget was such a heavy one that I omitted mention of the little passage of arms between Mr. Martin Harvey and the Times. The Thunderer did not notice the appearance of "The Exile" at the Royalty and the reason came out next day. Mr. Martin Harvey's usual complimentary stall ticket was sent to Printing House Square and per return of post came a cheque for cost from "Mons. Walkley." The obvious meaning was that Mr. A. B. Walkley wishes to criticise freely, which he has qualms about doing from a free seat. Mr. Martin Harvey expressed his surprise and asked for return of the ticket if Mr. Walkley, or the Times could not accept it as a courtesy; and back it went: and concerning the merits or demerits of "The Exile" the voice of Authority was mute. The Times it appears has made a rule that it must and will pay for its critic's seat. Sir H. Irving, Sir Charles Wyndham and others accept the rule and the half guineas with stoic fortitude, but Mr. Martin Harvey is not of their way of thinking. Rather a nice point is raised by this new rule of sending the newspaper critic as an ordinary spectator. Can an ordinary spectator write in a newspaper his mind about a play that doesn't impress him favorably, and successfully defend an action for libel in the courts afterwards? His position as a member of the outside public appears to differ essentially from that of the recognised critic who is invited to come, see, and criticise. In the former case his opinion is unasked; in the latter it is formally sought; and if the author or the management, the Jones or the Martin Harvey, doesn't like the opinion, the critic's answer is, why did you ask for it? This seems to be the view of the Higher Courts, as witness reversal of the judgment which gave a provincial manager damages against a provincial paper for a hostile critique a few months ago.

***

By the way I have not seen any mention in English papers of a little incident which occurred at the gala performance at the Opera on the occasion of the King's visit to Paris. The issue of tickets was most jealously supervised and nobody, whose social and moral standing was not above the lightest breath of criticism, was granted access to the sacred function. Before the curtain went up, however, the attention of the expectant audience was attracted by the proceedings of two officials who approached a lady very quietly dressed in black, and escorted her out of her place and out of the house. The moment the lady rose she was recognised as La Belle Otero of the music hall stage; perhaps the most beautiful, certainly the most notorious, woman in Paris to-day. How she got her ticket we can guess easily enough; but how one so well known to everybody managed to get past the jealously watched doors of the opera is a mystery. The unusual absence of the diamonds Otero always displays in the evening may possibly explain how her very-carefully chosen dress disguised her identity.

***

"In Dahomey" at the Shaftesbury is a kind of musical comedy in which nearly all the performers are negroes. "In Boston" would be an equally correct title as most of the action occurs there. The plot is a trifle vague, but that does not matter as the fun depends on the business. Mr. Williams, as a detective, is uncommonly good, and is like nothing I have ever seen on the stage. To say that he is a fat and foolish negro, grumpy and unlucky, will not convey much notion of the fun he gets out of his part, nor are his methods easy to describe. The man is a born comedian and that is the secret of it. The music and songs are capital, and will catch on. We could dispense with some of the knockabout business. How unconventional the whole entertainment is you may guess, from the fact that the conductor sang most of the songs with his orchestra. Also when the curtain fell nobody knew the show was over, and remained in satisfied expectancy till the band furnished the necessary hint with the National Anthem.

***

The Coroner's jury have found a verdict of wilful murder against the man Dougal in the Moat Farm case. With the evidence before them it is not easy to see what other verdict they could have arrived at, but having regard to the lapse of time and the purely circumstantial nature of the evidence, it remains to see what clever lawyers can do for the accused.

ONLOOKER.

Review.

A NEW HEALTH PRIMER.

WHATEVER Lieutenant-Colonel Ranking puts his hand to we invariably find to be remarkable for thoroughness and practical value; consequently we were not surprised on receipt of a little brochure, recently sent out by him and entitled "Practical Hints on the Preservation of Health in India," to find these characteristics in their most conspicuous form. The author makes no claim for a position for this little work among what we may call the standard works of medical reference, scientific or domestic, but he lays down in the most concise manner possible and in the plainest and most convincing language directions for those who wish to preserve their health amidst the dangers and trials inseparable from existence in this country. The book is not intended in any way to take the place of skilled medical advice, its main object being to assist us in cases of emergency, to help us to relieve those innumerable ills and inconveniences, which go a good way to make up the white man's burden in the shiny East, and by the inculcation of common-sense rules of hygiene to assist us in warding off the more serious forms of sickness and disease. In the course of some fifty small pages we are given the principal rules by which we should order our daily life; our common ailments are next dealt with, together with a brief chapter in the First Aid style on injuries and wounds, and this is supplemented by a chapter on the equipment of drugs, sick room diet, etc. It is a first-rate little book and should be on the shelf of every careful haus frau in town, in the bungalow of every planter and mofussilite and somewhere among the kit of every military officer and sportsman in the country.

Practical Hints on the Preservation of Health in India. By Lieut-Col. George S. A. Ranking: I. M. S. Calcutta, Thacker, Spink and Co.

THE MEMSAHIB'S BOOK OF COOKERY

IF legibility of print and convenience of size, setting aside the excellence of its contents go for anything in the recommendations of a book, then does the little volume, The Memsahib's Book of Cookery yclept before us commend itself to the heart of every memsahib.

Not so very little either, for it consists of some five hundred and odd pages, exclusive of blank sheets—ever useful for writing one's own recipes out on—divided into Introductory Remarks, Choti Hazri Dishes, Bari Hazri recipes which comprise a separate list of Breakfast Rolls and Scones, with full directions for their compounding; a chapter devoted to spiced and cured meat; cakes for afternoon tea as well as richer and more pretentious ones; a separate chapter each on sandwiches and soups—two comestibles which if properly made appeal perhaps to the heart of the mere male as much as any; while there are also receipes for entrees, relèves, and forcemeats, which every memsahib who considers the daily question of what her household shall eat, and wherewithal it shall be fed, will find more than useful. There are learned dissertations on the pudding

FLOR DE SUMATRA SPENCER & Co MADRAS
OBTAINABLE . . FROM . . ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.
TORPEDOS.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS in CALCUTTA: Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.
FLOR DE SUMATRA SPENCER & Co MADRAS

general, as well as directions for making under separate heads, delicious plain puddings of cornflour, rice and arrowroot, macaroni, etc., while jellies, creams and pastry are not forgotten. For the hints on savouries everybody who has suffered under the tyranny of an oft repeated sikkim. will be grateful, while the couple of chapters on dessert will make all who are far from Peliti and Isaia comparatively independent of these well-known confectioners. Chutneys, sauces, jams, jellies, sweet cheeses, and liqueurs, cups, etc , have all received the writer's careful attention, while the invalid and even the total abstainer are also catered for !

In addition to various useful household hints re medicines, poultices, cleaning, etc., etc. this useful volume closes with general hints to those going home on dress, furnishing, and housekeeping, besides ideas on what to get and where to get it, the writer ingenuously adding that she adds this chapter "hoping not only to add to its popularity, but also because I wish to be of real help to my readers." And this very possibly "Carrie Cutcrewe" may be if the readers of her book go through it carefully and adapt rather than implicitly follow her advice, which as she herself says, partakes, after all more of the nature of hints than hard-and-fast rules She advises every memsahib hailing straight from India, more especially if "arriving as we generally do at the beginning of the London season.....not to trust to the fashions of India, but to write ahead and to have a costume, hat, etc., in readiness for you on your arrival in England, otherwise you will find you will start by being in a flurry, so anxious will you be to look as others do all around," and that, of course, is fatal to the choice of either suitable or inexpensive garments. "Carrie Cutcrewe" recommends a dress-maker—whose name it is scarcely fair to give, but which may be easily ascertained by any one who cares to know, by the purchase of The Memsahib's Book of Cookery who will. on receipt of a "well-fitting bodice, your measurements, photo, age, and any little idiosyncrasies you may possess, ' upon your arrival delight you with a tout ensemble "which will entirely please not only yourself, but also the most aristocratic and fastidious of your relatives and friends." The dress-maker who can do this must indeed be a genius! We cannot vouch for her, we have only "Carrie Cutcrewe's" word to go upon, but this talented person is recommended with apparently much confidence, and has besides the great advantage of her prices being "more moderate than the best milliners."

A notice of The Memsahib's Book of Cookery would not be complete without mention of the alphabetical Hindustani vocabulary of various domestic and culinary terms for which the young housekeeper in India is so invariably stumped. Quite one of the features of the book, it supplies a long-felt want, though there is one word that might, we think be added with advantage and that is—"crisp." How many of our readers know the native word for this, and what memsahib, be she ever so learned can direct the presiding genius of the kitchen in his own tongue to send up the Topsi match as it should be sent, properly fried and crisp. "Carrie Cutcrewe" does not err on the side of avoiding plain speaking. Almost her first remark is trenchant and to the point. "A dirty kitchen is a disgrace," she says, and later on when advocating the use of Sanitas as a disinfectant, says it "must be used for drains, etc., and the daily flushing of the same should be seen to by every mistress of a house, and not left to servants. In this opinion we thoroughly concur, and if the perusal of The Memsahib's Book of Cookery leads even a few memsahibs to the same opinion, it has fulfilled one of its purposes. That the book is a popular one is evidenced by the fact that its second edition has sold out, and the copy now lying before us is the first of a third edition.

The Memsahib's Book of Cookery. By Carrie Cutcrewe. Third Edition. Calcutta: Thacker, Spink & Co. 1903

Shikar.

CHRISTMAS WEEK IN THE TERAI.

THE only way, to my mind, of spending Christmas is out in the forest. There can hardly be two opinions on this point, as anyone with the opportunity would prefer the free-and-easy life of the forest to the constraint and stilted enjoyments of a mofussil station. Christmas morning, in such a station, is ushered in to the discordant strains of the foofoo band, which ill-replaces the less discordant wails of the Christmas waits at Home. Their clamant notes must be stilled, either by gifts, or language unfitted for the season which breathes peace on earth and good will to men. Exit foofoo band, enter the dalli bearers in all their glory of tinsel and gendas, with their collections of plums, sugarcandy, and all the other things which go to make up their Christmas offerings. The unfortunate man who is detained at the Sadr to undergo this ordeal, must then prepare for church and the rest of the forms and ceremonies of the day. But to what purpose to retail the "weary round the irksome task," which the day imposes on all who are within reach of social influences ?

What could be more joyful than to wake to the shrill clarion of the jungle cock. Could the foofoo band for one moment vie with it ? Do you lazily turn over in bed, and anathematize chanticleer, and tell the bearer to "jao hakao ?" No! You meet the red jungle-fowl half way, and to his "Merry Xmas" you wish him good fare, and see that he gets it. Can the dallis for one instant hold their own against a brace of jungle murghis ?" "Is there a man with soul so dead" who would say, yes, to this ? If so I pity him and his indigestion, and his sore head, consequent on a preference for the foofoo band and "other things" at Head-quarters.

It requires an effort to be up on the first crow of the murghi, but nevertheless it is done, and with coolie at heels, each man is off in a different direction through the forest to well-known haunts of the fowl ; for to stock the larder is the first thought ; the big game shooting will come later on, and indeed may be met with on the way to the murghi grounds A sure and certain find for murghi is an old camp ground, and a few minutes' beat in the grass and bushes round will reward you with the sight of a few fowl. But unless you have been wary in your approach, it is doubtful if you will get them, for it is a clever little bird you are after, and long years of persecution have sharpened his wits till, with the exception of the pea-fowl (not your domestic kind, shot in the neighbourhood of villages, but the wary jungle bird) there is no bird more difficult to approach. If every man who went out were to bring in a couple of birds, they have done well ; for it rarely happens that you can get in a left and right, unless, of course, there is a beat ; and then, if the fowl are numerous, your bag will be correspondingly large ; for, once on the wing, the murghi is an easy bird to hit. But the murghi is not as numerous now as it once was, and large bags are not the invariable rule. The great drawback, if drawback it can be called, to shooting him in the morning, is that the grass in which he is found is dripping wet with dew, and the trees to which he flies when put up are dewy shower-baths. One may not care, but it is still uncomfortable to walk for a couple of hours with sodden boots and breeches wet to the knees, while drops of dew, cold as ice, dribble their way down under your collar. But if you want your murghi you must take your wetting.

All are at home for breakfast at 10 o'clock, for the ladies have decided that, unless special permission has been given, all must be in for this meal and for dinner. For the rest we are free to come and go as we like. The usual question "what have you got" greets each as he comes up, and unhappy is the man who has nothing to show for his wetting. It is the knowledge of this ordeal which steadies the hand and eye when the birds rise, and nothing can equal the satisfaction of the man who can lay down as many birds as the others, and may be one or two more.

At breakfast the plans of the day are discussed, and finally the beat for the day is settled. The more momentous question of the division of the party is left to settle itself, and, gathering the coolies and guns, we all start off on a long walk to the spot selected. On the way we drop the beaters, and, when well up we take up our positions, a couple at each post, and await developments. The beaters are a long time coming, and though silence has been strictly enjoined, it is difficult to refrain from the opportunity thus afforded one. The silence of the forest, the strangeness of the surroundings, and the pleasant companionship, all invite conversation, and the stern mandates of the tyrant who rules the beat are forgotten, or only remembered to be disobeyed. It may be disastrous to the chances of sport I admit, but then you can't have everything in this life. Presently, in the expectation of hearing the shouts of the beaters, there is a silence all along the line, and the impressive quiet of the forest is broken only by the tapping of the wood pecker, as he jerks his way up the stem of a tree a hundred yards away, or the switchback flight of the hornbill is heard as he wends his undulating way across the valley. The silence is so great, that the tapping of the wood-pecker sounds as loud as the chopping of the woodman's axe, and the calls of the beaters, which now ring out in raucous howls, are distinctly heard, though more than a mile away. You are now all alert, and every move in the forest, within range of vision and how circumscribed is that range, is noted, and you find what a bad place has been given you. It strikes you forcibly that you might have cut down that clump of grass, put aside those twigs, and taken up your position with your back to the tree behind which you now crouch. You might have made yourself more comfortable while you were about it, and a sitting posture, with possibilities of slewing round to the right or left, would have been better than kneeling. But no slewing round is allowed, as you have to remember that there are others in the hank besides yourself, even though you cannot see them. You are apt to forget this when game is afoot, and getting passed you, though it should be the thought uppermost in your mind. There is a quick rustle in the leaves just in front of you, and then it stops, while the shouts of the beaters are getting nearer now. Your heart gives an uncomfortable flutter, and you wonder if you will be steady enough to shoot straight. Will it be a quick shot or will he give you a standing one ? Ten to one he will break and go past like the wind. While you are wondering what is going to happen and preparing for it, the beaters have come up, and by their redoubled howls and yells you know that something has broken back and you are certain it must have been a beauty, as each beater will tell you afterwards. There is a shot to the left of you "that was A.'s rifle that spoke, wonder what he got !" Again there is a shot, this time from your next-door neighbour. "Hang it ! Why won't the beast in front break ?" There has not been a sound from him for some minutes now, and the beaters are quite close. Surely he will break now. It is a breathless and despairing moment, for there is the first beater tapping the tree within a few feet of where your game was ; but now, alas ! is not ; for nothing breaks and he must have sneaked away quietly and gone in another direction. A few more shots and shouts and the beat is over. Every beater you come across tells you that many animals broke back, and all, without exception, carried big heads. Each man could have touched one or more with his stick ; and you make a mental resolution that you will go with the beat the next time. But what has the beat produced ? Your neighbour who had a shot tells you that something went by, but he did not see quite clearly, and of course is not sure that he hit it. There are no traces of blood, so we wait news from the others. A. is directing the hank and sends for us. With an autocratic wave of his hand he directs us to get up the hill to the right, while he shows the beaters a new line of country. "Yes, but what did you shoot ?" He's too busy with his men to answer you, and sorrowfully you conclude that the beat has been a blank. But no, one of the beaters who carried a spare gun comes up, grinning, to say he has shot a pig. He is somebody's orderly, and considers himself entitled to blaze away his master's cartridges at whatever passes. God help the unfortunate beaters. But luckily on this occasion, the pig stopped the ball. We find on comparing notes that everything broke back Never mind, better luck next time.

We are soon at our new posts, and as we have a ravine sweeping away from us down for some hundreds of feet, we have a clear view of the beat, as it advances up the valley. There is enough cover to hide any amount of game, but it is patchy, and as soon as anything is afoot, even though it is a karkar, it will be spotted ever so long before it approaches the guns, and as the sides of the enclosing ridges are steep and stony, nothing can move along it without giving ample notice of its coming. As the eye falls into the ravine it is swept down into the valley and out over the plain, covered at the foot of the hill with dense forest, which gives way to grass lands through which run many stream-beds, most of them dry, but some holding broad, shallow streams, which look like ribbons of silver winding with many a bend towards the Ganges, which lies a broad, blue belt, midway between the hill we are on and the Gori Range. Away to our left front rises the mighty mass of the Himallia, and there on the most distant spur, stippled in white and occasional flashes of the glass-fronted verandahs, lies Masuri. The plain is cumbered with heavy clumps of jungle, and many is the likely spot noted for future beats. But the shouting of the beaters comes up to us, faint at first, for they have started right away at the mouth of the ravine, where it debouches on the plain, and with stops placed at intervals along the ridges, hope to drive all before them. And with the noise of the howling, and the rolling of the stones, echoed and re echoed by the steep walls of the ravine, it would not be surprising if they made even the trees move up to the guns. But a scared sambhur lies very close, and never will he move till he knows where his danger lies. But a heavier crash than can be made by a falling boulder warns us that at least one sambhur is in the beat, and presently there are two shots, and a mighty crash. Was it a falling stag or did he break away with a magnificent disregard of what, to us, appeared an impenetrable barrier of bamboo clumps and twining creeper ? We haven't got much time to speculate, for just below us a falling boulder, followed by what we judge to be half the hillside attracts our attention. Nothing can break immediately below us, for we are posted at the very end of the ravine, where it ends in a cul de sac. But with a sudden rush, whatever was below us, scrambles up the hill on our left, sending dozens of boulders clattering down the valley, and breaks away to our left. We see the glint of antlers and know that a sambhur, favoured by the clump of bamboos at our side, has got away, and the quick snapshot has failed to stop him. There is no time to swear, for a karkar, taking advantage of the diversion caused by the stag, has gone by, and your fair partner, who has not left her place, tells you that there is something else coming up. Determined not to be done this time, you cover the spot which is indicated by a movement in the bushes, and presently find yourself intently studying, over the sights of your rifle, the movements of a beater ! For you the day is over. There has been a good deal of firing, and as far as game goes the drive has been a successful one. On your right there has been a fearful clatter, and two shots but from something overheard, you judge, with no result. Your left-hand neighbour has bagged two sambhur, one as it was making off over a ridge a couple of hundred yards to his left, and the other on the far side of the ridge just beaten. The ridge is a razor-backed one, common in the Siwalikhs, and the poor brute fell a hundred feet before he struck the stream bed. Another sambhur has gone away wounded. And this is the net result of a very exciting drive in which five guns took part.

However slaughter is not our only object, and we have had a most enjoyable afternoon, and now for tiffin. We retire along the plateau, which is found on nearly all the hills here, and select a shady creeper—covered, bamboo clump to rest under. Rugs are spread and guns are cast aside, and, with well earned ease, we discuss the good things provided. We go over the day again and point out to each other how it was that we did not get that sambhar, or karkar, or chital stag, as the case may be. After "Irish" or "Scotch" has been carefully put away we find the day is a bit warm, and some of us who hate to waste any of the hours of daylight, are rather sorry we did not join the ladies in their tea. But before we are quite in the land of dreams, the indefatigable A. has arranged us all for the photograph which usually winds up the day's outing. On the elephants the ladies make their way home by the shortest path through the forest, while the men find their way as best they can on foot. Those who have confidence in their bump of locality go alone and unattended, in the hopes that, being alone, there will be less noise and more chance of game. Others who are not so learned in forest lore and ways, are content to take a coolie, while the remainder take the beaters and beat their way home. None arrive without some-

PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

OBTAINABLE . . FROM . . ALL RESPECTABLE DE ALERS.

GOLD MOHURS.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS in CALCUTTA : Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

PURE INDIAN LEAF GOLD MOHURS TRADE MARK SPENCER & Co. MADRAS

thing to relate, and before we scatter to our tents to dress for dinner, there has been a fresh exchange of notes, and everyone knows what befell everyone else.

The dinner is one of the jolliest. What if the turkey was left behind by that fool of a man who was told to be very careful to bring it along. It is well and appropriately replaced by that tender pea-hen, which was picked up two days' ago by A., when he was laying out the camp. The partridges and murghis could not be excelled, for were they not the first fruits of the shoot shot on our way from the station? And the conversation is shikar, for who are so keen as the ladies who grace the table! They have had a day of it which would have knocked up nine out of ten of their less fortunate sisters, who have chosen to stay at home, and they have not even complained of their complexions. They have faced all sorts of weather in many camps, and are not going to be beat by a little heat and inconvenience now. And they are keener than the keenest of us men. Our hearts were rejoiced at dinner when it was announced that the party would not break up till after the Darbar holidays, instead of on New Year's Day, as had been the case in former years, and the party which gathered round the blazing log-fire was in no mood to retire early, even though most of us were fagged.

A row in the huts, which lay a couple of hundred yards away from our camp, elicited the remark that a panther was making free with the forest rangers' cattle for his Christmas dinner. But we were surprised next morning to learn that the remark, made at random, and laughed at, was true. Next morning we got khabar that there had been a kill not far from the camp, and we then learnt that a tiger had taken up his residence in the jungle close by, and had committed no little mischief in the last few days. We hadn't enough elephants to beat this gentleman out, but we made his acquaintance, in a singular fashion, a few days before the shoot gave over. The daughters of our hostess were out in the jungle one morning alone and unattended, when much to their surprise they saw the tiger standing within a few yards of them and looking at them. The younger girl would hardly believe that it was a tiger, and not till the elder had pointed out the tail of the beast waiving from side to side, did she feel convinced that she was at last in the presence of an animal both had been longing for years to see. Their position was decidedly a dangerous one, for had the tiger been hungry, or put out, he could have helped himself to either girl, had he been so minded and there was nobody to say him nay. The girls never lost their heads, but pluckily stood their ground, and were more curious than frightened. The tiger not liking their attitude, and not being in want of a meal, walked slowly into the grass, and left the girls to themselves. They soon brought the khabar to us, and in an hour's time we had our line posted, and the beat turned out two animals—one was the tiger the girls had seen, and he was a magnificent fellow, while the other we could not make out, as he was too quick in his movements for us to see him fairly. We were certain he was a tiger, though as he was evidently in company with the other fellow. The animals both broke too far off, and turned past the right flank of the beaters. The tiger offered only a "fore and aft" shot, and the lucky man to whom it was offered failed, greatly to his own disgust, to bring it off. The second one gave only a snap shot, which was also unsuccessful.

Our beats were varied by days of still-hunting, when each man taking a gun coolie went his own way after fur or feather, as his fancy dictated. In these expeditions the guns were frequently accompanied by the ladies, and so keen were they that they never objected to any sort of ground which turned up, and were even ready to subject themselves to the rule of silence. Those who elected for birds rarely came back empty handed, as the jungle was always good for a couple of murghis to those who knew their runs. And pea-fowl also were to be had for the finding. Blacks were very hard to get unless flushed during a beat, or a morning's walk on the road-side. Those who flew higher and went for big game, had a more arduous and less successful time of it; for the forest floor is a carpet of dead leaves and dry grass, and to get noiselessly through this requires the reputed soft tread of the Red Indian. Not even a panther can get through without making a mistake sometimes, as one found to his cost one day. That was a fortunate day for the writer, for after a few minutes' silent walk through the forest he was able to send karkar home, and in another hour he sent back his coolie to bring up men to take a panther back to camp. In the interval of waiting, he wounded two sambhar stags, one of which was lost: the other was picked up three days after. The evening added three pea-fowl to his bag. But this was an exceptional day. As a rule a stealthy walk through the forest at about a mile an hour results in nothing, but a pain in the back, as one has to constantly stop and stoop to look under the low-hanging branches to get a sight of the game, which has probably heard and seen one long before one has suspected its presence, and once warned good-bye to all chances of getting a shot at it, for, with a sudden rush, the animal will, on finding that it has been discovered, break away through the jungle and take to the hills on either side of the valley up which one is stalking. There is no lack of game in these valleys, but it takes a deal of finding. Up on the hills their forms are to be found all over the place, and many is the rush which tells the sportsman that the game he is after needs more careful handling than he is giving them. Chance occasionally does favour one, and a karkar, or a chital stag, caught napping, pays the penalty of his unweariness. Kills every here and there proclaim that the tiger and panther are numerous, but it is rarely that such game is encountered while on foot, and if one feels that such a chance must not be thrown away, one must be careful not to bungle, or the consequences will be disastrous.

To our amusements in camp was added the experience of a sanai ride down the Ganges, to Hardwar. These sanais are inflated nilghai skins, anointed with evil-smelling pine oil. Across two of these a native cot is tied, on which two people can sit, facing in opposite directions. Two men, each supported on similar skins, one each lying with their feet in the water, swim by the cot, one on either side, and so guide the raft down the river with no little skill. The undulating motion of the skins as they are borne swiftly down the river, is a delicious sensation, and the ease with which the swirling rapids are shot, adds no little to the enjoyment of the journey. The scenery is frequently diversified by the sight of otters, ducks, and coots, while down in the clear depths of the stream fish of any believable size can be seen disporting themselves. And it is not impossible that if the journey was taken in the morning or evening, a shot at a thirsty stag, sambhar, chital, or parha, or even something more worth having, would be obtained.

Everything must come to an end at last, and though a lot remains unchronicled, so must this veracious account of our Christmas camps.

MAUSER.

A DEAD ELEPHANT.

As the discovery of the remains of wild animals seems to be a rare thing, possibly the following instance may be of interest:—

Several days ago some of the coolies employed on working plans by me in this division brought back to camp a fair pair of elephant's tusks and reported that they had found a larger tusker lying dead in the sample area which they had counted out.

From their description, and as they seemed to think that the elephant's death was due to an accident, I thought the remains might be worth visiting. Accordingly I went to the place next day and observed as well as I could, considering the smell, the position, and surroundings of the carcase.

It was lying at the source of a small nulla. The surrounding jungle was densely evergreen, consisting of trees, canes, and the creeping bamboo (Dinochloa Maclellandii). A nearer approach revealed the swollen carcase of a full-grown elephant, lying on his back with the top of his shoulders wedged in between the banks of the streamlet, his legs in the air, his mouth open, and his trunk hanging over in a down-stream direction—a disgusting sight.

The streamlet in question hardly deserved the name, being only the commencement of a little rivulet. It was about three feet deep and just wide enough to keep an elephant placed on his back (if such a thing can be imagined) in position. The elephant had apparently slid on his side down a steep bank about 10 feet above where he was found.

I do not think this elephant's death was due to his accidentally falling off the bank, getting wedged in the stream and being unable to extricate himself. From the appearance of the bank the ground had not given way, and the elephant appeared simply to have fallen on his side and slid gradually down the slope into the position in which he was found.

What further makes me be of opinion that the elephant was in a dying condition when he fell off the slope is that the banks of the stream being of a soft sandy soil, by struggling an elephant could easily extricate himself, and there appeared to be no signs of any struggling having taken place.

Perhaps this was a case of an elephant's death being due to snake-bite. There was a large swelling just above the knee of one hind leg, but this may have been due to putrefaction.

The lower part of the stomach and part of one hind leg had been eaten by a tiger, who had settled in the neighbourhood and was paying periodical visits to the remains, but it is improbable that the tiger had anything to do with the elephant's death.

H. W. A. WATSON.

In the Indian Forester.

When Mr. Ten Broeck first patronished the English Turf, some forty-five or fifty years ago, it was generally remarked by English trainers that in their gallops the American horses were clothed more heavily and more frequently than they approved of. Dick Pryor at that period trained Mr. Ten Broeck's horses, and at the same date William Day was the most successful trainer of handicap runners. Mr. Ten Broeck, with that keenness of vision and judgment which characterised him, noted this.

"How is it," he said to William Day, "that you beat us so often in handicaps, and yet I think our horses are better than yours, and the handicappers treat us quite as fairly?"

"I think," was the reply, "you use too much clothing."

Mr. Ten Broeck shortly afterwards said to his trainer, "William Day says we use too much clothing."

"Oh! he's a d—d fool!" retorted Pryor.

"Possibly," replied Mr. Ten Broeck: "but what d—d fools we must be when we can't beat him with better horses!"

Correspondence.

All MSS. should be addressed to the Editor.
The writer's name and address are required with every communication.
Letters and enquiries from anonymous correspondents will not receive attention.
Under no circumstances are questions answered by post.
Correspondents whose questions remain unanswered will please understand that we are unable to give them the information asked for.

IMPORTED FOWLS.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—In your issue of 4th June I see a letter signed "Moorghi" suggesting that stewards of liners bring out fowls and eggs. Has "Moorghi" ever tried eggs from Mr. Meik's farm at Pakour? He has from six to eight hundred fowls, and pays long prices for them. He also breeds ducks and geese. Pakour is only six hours' rail from Calcutta and Mr. Meik's farm well repays a visit.

POLITVE.

RACING QUERY.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—To decide a bet will you kindly inform me through the medium of your journal whether the famous mare La Fleche is a so-called "Triple Crown" wearer and, and if so, in what respect?

DAGONET.

[Baron Hirsche's La Fleche was a treble event winner in 1892 when she won the One Thousand Guineas, the Oaks, and St. Leger.—ED.]

WHIST QUERY.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—I shall be much obliged if you will favour me with your opinion on the following point: A partners B against C. and D. Rupee points are agreed upon with five rupees on the rubber. A. and B. win the first game by five tricks to one and the second by five tricks to three, what amount will C. and D have to pay A and B?

KING OF SPADES.

[If the five rupees on the rubber is an extra bet, A and B win a double the first game and a single the next—five points and the five rupees for the rubber—ten rupees in all.—ED.]

TENNIS QUERY.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—Will you kindly decide the following: A and B play C and D in a tournament and win the first set. The second set has gone as far as 9 all when the players agree that it is too dark to continue should the whole match be replayed? Should the first set won by A and B count and the second set continued at 9 games all, or should the first set count, and the second set be replayed?

DEUCE.

[The whole match should be replayed. There is no rule on the point; but the invariable custom is to replay the whole match as has been often done in Calcutta tournaments.—ED.]

WHIST.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE INDIAN FIELD."

SIR,—I should like to criticise the play of Whist-hand No. X in your issue of 21st May.

A having shown a very strong suit in Clubs, B determines, having no suit of his own except Trumps, to play entirely for his partner's hand, and so, to my mind, is wrong in finessing in Trick 3, when I maintain he should play the Ace of Trumps, and then have a third round of them at once.

X and Z, who are playing to try and save the game, after winning two tricks in Hearts, should leave that suit and try Spades, their only chance being that X holds the Ace, or at any rate, Queen. As X holds both, he and Z make 6 tricks.

G. S.

KASHMIR, 30th May 1903.

A FEW NOTES ON SNIPE.

SIR,—I see a good deal of correspondence of late in your paper about snipe, and perhaps the following notes may prove of interest to your readers.

When I first came out to Bengal early in the seventies the general belief then was that snipe never arrived in Bengal before the first week in September, and that it was not worth while going after them till the 15th September. Many a time have my elders laughed at me as a silly young fool because I went to look for them in August. A noted snipe shot at Dacca in 1878 or 1879 scoffed at me promising me a gold mohur for every snipe I shot that day. It was one 20th August I came home with seven and a half couple But I never saw those gold mohurs!

In 1875-76 no one in Chittagong thought of going after snipe till 15th September or at least not before the 7th September. Two friends of mine A. F. B. and A. F. D. with me started a sweep for the first snipe of the season. I won it three years, my dates being 16th August, 14th and 13th August. Since my time, for I am told the idea caught on and many others joined, I understand that the date of the first snipe has been brought to 9th August.

Flor de Sumatra Brand
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

BEACONSFIELDS.

Factory: Dindigul, Southern India.

SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

A friend won these sweeps several years, and instead of buying a new pewter every year he has had place, year, and date engraved on his original mug, and I do not think that mug is quite a thousand miles from Kodala Tea Garden. It is a curious fact that for many years hardly a pintail was ever shot in Chittagong, and even now, though a few may be found, still the principal snipe of the district is the pintail. Your correspondent is quite right in opining that pintails are the first to arrive and the last to leave Bengal. This at least has been my experience. Talking of pintails I have been told that their pin feathers, as well as the "Artists'" feather on each wing which has a point like a needle are splendid for retouching photos up with. Not being a photographer I cannot say if it is a fact.

Regarding shooting them in every month of the year, I have done so in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, and I do not see why it could not be done in other Bengal districts, provided there are secluded undisturbed bheels overgrown with rushes and grasses, which you alone know of, or at least which are left quite undisturbed. But where will you find such now-a-days, when every fourth man in a village has a gun. Years ago I knew of many such in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and Hume and Marshall in a note, in their book, "Game Birds of India," have mentioned the fact of birds being shot all the year round. I have frequently shot snipe in the beginning of May. When I say snipe I mean I have flushed and bagged one or two stray birds, they have generally been pin tails

I once shot a snipe in the heart of a heavy forest jungle, there was no marsh near, and it was bobbing and running along a pebbly banked stream for all the world like a sandpiper which I at first took it for.

Painted snipe at times collect together, and I have seen as many as thirty or forty in one clump of bushes. It was in the month of April or May. I was placed as a stop, while a line of elephants was beating up to me for tiger. I naturally stood very still in my howdah, and I soon noticed these painters scuttling about under some wild rose bushes that grew near a piece of water. I have seen nearly as many together near the Thandasurrie Tea Garden in the Chittagong Hill Tracts. I had shot for many a year out here before I made the acquaintance of the jack snipe; but one season I was shooting over a bheel just behind the cemetery at Rungpur with a Mr. De D. we got about fifteen to seventeen couple, ALL jack snipe. I believe this is very unusual.

Talking of Rungpur reminds me of a very large snipe I shot there. I have looked up my diary. Here is the entry:—

"19th November 1890. Half a mile on the old Nisbetgung road, at Rungpur, flushed from a masonry culvert near a casuarina tree, and bagged a snipe, it weighed ten-rupee pieces and one eight-anna bit. Its bill was two and a half inches long and very slender."

I wish I had sent it to some authority to see. I believe it may have been a wood snipe.

Of course all old hands know; but for the benefit of your younger readers I would advise them if possible to shoot snipe after a moonlight night, the more moon the better, the birds feed better and consequently next day are not so wild. During September and August when the bheel water is very hot should birds have disappeared from a bheel they were on the day before, then let our young gunner try not only any jungle near, but make some boys go over any ploughed up ground near and the shady side of hunds. It's odds that the birds are hiding under the shady side of a turned-up clod, that is if it's in the heat of the afternoon.

POLITYE.

MONTAGUE R. MURRAY & CO.,

TAXIDERMISTS,

HARDA (G. I. P. RY.)

Central Provinces.

Shooting Trophies of all kinds artistically set up at moderate prices. European supervision, best materials, skilled labor, prompt attention to orders.

Shooting-Parties - -

Supplied with Camp Equipage, Commissariat &c.

Young Sambhur, Chital and Hyenas for Sale.

Safe, Simple and Economical.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

THE Security is unsurpassed, the funds being now over Two Millions Five Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling, and claims to Four Millions Seven Hundred Thousand Pounds Sterling have already been paid.

CITY OF GLASGOW LIFE ASSURANCE CO.,

5, LYON'S RANGE, CALCUTTA.

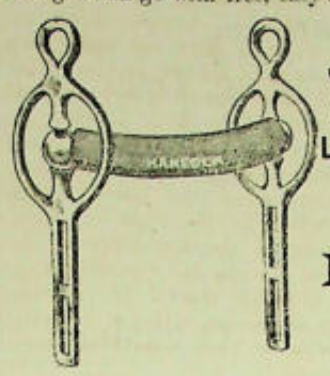
ESTABLISHED 1838.

R. B. RODDA & Co.,

PRACTICAL

GUNMAKERS,

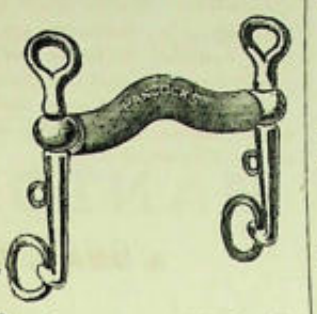
[Established 72 years.]



2, WELLESLEY PLACE, CALCUTTA.

Illustrated Catalogue Post Free.

The New Patent Rubber "A-1" Curl Bit Mouth Covers



By means of which in a few seconds an ordinary straight bar, Cambridge, low part or snaffle-jointed mouth bit can be converted into one with a soft mouthpiece.

Your horse will not plunge or fret, but will come up straight and go with free, easy action.

For Snaffle Jointed Mouth, Cambridge, or Low Portmouth and Mullen Mouth Bits.

Rs. 3-8 each

For Straight Bar Mouth Bits.

Rs. 2-12 each.

PARTLY UNCURLED TO SHOW PRINCIPLE

Any one can fit them in a few seconds.

MURRAY & CO., LD.,

LUCKNOW.

BREAKWELL & Co

COACH BUILDERS,

171-2-4-5-6,

Dhurrumtollah Street,

CALCUTTA.

ROYAL HUNT CUP.

Starting Price Commissions executed on principal English races.

A list of probable Starters and Jockey will be sent post free to any part of India on receipt of address.

For S. P. rules, code, principal fixtures, &c., &c, apply to—

BEATTIE BROS.,

Watson's Hotel, Bombay.

Telegrams:—"Beattie, Bombay."

WILLIAM RUTLEDGE.

NATURALIST,

DEALER IN WILD ANIMALS,

Birds, Dogs, Poultry, &c.,

38, SOUTH ROAD, ENTALLY, CALCUTTA

"TAXIDERS PRESERVATIVE POWDER"

5 lbs. tin Rs. 3, 10 lbs. tins Rs. 5 (V. P. charges extra.) The only safe and effectual preparation for preserving skins and heads of animals, whether Pachyderms, Great Mammalia or Reptiles with instructions in skinning, etc.

Apply to—TAXIDERMISTS,

C. SWARIES & Co.,

15, Mahamed Creszent's Lane, Calcutta.

The Calcutta Tramways Co., Ld.

FOR SALE.

The opening of the Company's system by Electric Traction has released a number of serviceable C.-B. geldings suitable for Phaeton, Trap, and Hack work generally: amongst them are also a number of good saddle horses.

The horses can be seen at any time during the day at the Company's Chowringhee Depot, 1, Russa Road, on application to the European Foreman in charge.

MARTYN WELLS,

MANAGING AGENT.

CALCUTTA, 15th April 1903.

CHARLES LANCASTER,

Gunmaker by Royal Warrants to H.M. the King, H.I.M. the German Emperor,

H.R.H. Prince Christian,
H.I.H. The Grand Duke Vladimir,
H.R.H. The Duke of Orleans, &c., &c.,

AWARDED SIXTY FIRST-CLASS PRIZES, MEDALS, AND DIPLOMAS.

Latest Productions in Single or double Barrel HIGH-VELOCITY RIFLES, for Smokeless Powders and Cupro-Nickel expanding or Solid Bullets, in ·256, ·303, ·370, ·400, and ·450 calibres.

Specially recommend. The "Ross" straight-pull Magazine Rifle, with controlled Platform, for stalking or big game.

In ·256, ·275, ·303, ·370, & ·400 calibres, from £15, £20, and £25.

MANNLICHER-SCHONAUER, MAUSERS, &c.

MAGAZINE PISTOLS, AND REVOVERS

ALWAYS IN STOCK.

The "Harris" Rifle Magazine, also "Ross Lifter" for Bolt Rifles.

ROOK, RABBIT, & TARGET RIFLES.

With Hammer, £5 net.

Ditto Hammerless, £12 net.

B.L. ·22 Miniature Rifles for Target Shooting, from 18s.

Cartridges, 1s. 3d. per 100.

Sportsmen at home or abroad should ask for Special Cartridge List giving

"PRICES AT A GLANCE."

"CLAY" PIGEON TRAPS,

Complete £1 12s. 6d.

Targets, 4s. 6d. per 100, or 500 Barrel 17s. 6d. Suitable Cartridges, with Smokeless Powder for "Clay" Bird Shooting, 85s. and 75s. per 1000, delivered free by goods train for cash with order.

"PYGMIES" 2in. CARTRIDGES, 8s. PER 100.

Charles Lancaster still maintains his position as expert Gunfitter and Coach. Attendance and Lessons given by Experts at his Private Shooting Grounds, near Willesden Junction, N. W.

Single and Double Trigger Try Guns.

TOWER FOR "HIGH BIRD" PRACTICE.

"THE ART OF SHOOTING."

Sixth and Popular Edition, 2s. 6d.; postage 6d. extra.

SECOND-HAND GUNS

Guns by other makers taken in exchange or altered to fit if necessary.

ILLUSTRATED PRICE LIST AND ESTIMATES FREE.

Kindly quote this paper and state requirements

PRIVATE SHOOTING GROUNDS,

NEAR STONEBRIDGE PARK, N. W.

Frequent Trains to Willesden Junction from all parts.

151, NEW BOND ST., LONDON, W.

ESTABLISHED 1826.

GULMARG TOURNAMENTS COMMENCE.

Golf Challenge Shield for Ladies and Gentlemen, 17th to 22nd August; Polo Shield 24th to 29th August. Apply to—

General Hony. Secy., Srinagar.

200 Pictures of the Delhi Durbar,

Handsomely bound in Vellum.

10 Rupees only.

Third Improved Edition.

Contains all the chief events, elephant procession, 20 pictures proclamation, opening exhibition, review of Volunteers, grand review, sports, fireworks, principal camps, Church service etc., etc

The Press says: "For cheapness and excellence combined it is unsurpassed." "Purchaser obtains very full value." "Comprises an extremely varied and well chosen selection."

WIELE & KLEIN, Madras, Official Photographers to the Durbar Exhibition and D. MACROPOLO, & Co., Calcutta.

INDIAN FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION.

Challenge Shield Competition,

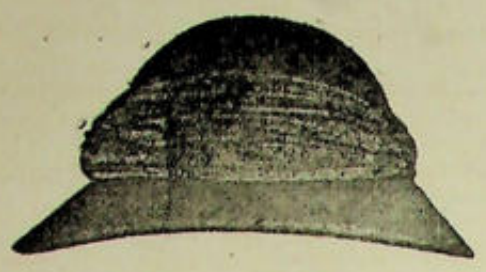
Trades Challenge Cup Competition.

Entries close 20th June.

Apply to—

N. G. PRITCHARD,

Jt. Hon. Sec., I.F.A.



CALCUTTA GOLF CLUB.

The annual competition for the Bombay Medal (Handicap) will take place on Friday and Saturday, 12th and 13th instant.

A Bogey competition will be held from Monday, 1st, to Tuesday, 30th June.

THE RANKEN HELMET.

Registered No. 386596.

Made of compressed cork, covered Grey Felt, not affected by rain, as durable as three pith hats, smart appearance, good ventilation and protection.

Price, Rs. 21-0. Cash Rs. 19-0.

Or with Plain Grey Silk Pugree,
Rs. 24-0. Cash Rs. 21-0.

—:o:—

RANKEN & Co.,

Calcutta, Simla, and Lahore.

Pure Yalumba

Wines

South Australia.

BURGUNDY

CONTAINS

Natural Iron.

FIRST PRIZE

10,000 galls

—:o:—

CLARET

Sound, Pure and Wholesome.

FIRST PRIZE

15,000 galls

From all Leading Merchants

S SMITH & SON

Yalumba Vineyards,

Adelaide, South Australia.

ASCOT

THE ROYAL HUNT CUP,

Wednesday, June 17.

THE GOLD CUP.

Thursday, June 18.

Starting Price Book on each of above events.

☞ Send for Rules of Business.

ATKINSON & CO.,

TURF ACCOUNTANTS.

61, Ross Road, Howrah, Calcutta.

Manton & Co.'s

·360 Bore

High Velocity

Single Barrel Rifles,

Suitable for

Sambur, Ovis Ammon, Tiger, &c.

Weight about 7½lbs.
Muzzle Velocity 2010 ft. secs.
Striking Energy 2,700 ft lbs.
Supplied in canvas case with cleaning implements.

Price, Rs. 350-0 cash.

MANTON & Co.,

GUN-MAKERS,

13, Old Court House St., CALCUTTA.

HOWRAH FLOUR MILLS CO., LD.,

Ramkistopur, Howrah.

CRUSHED FOOD

FOR

HORSES & CATTLE

Fresh Bran, Oats, Gram,

AND

Flour of all qualities.

ANDREW YULE & Co.,

Managing Agents,

7, Clive Row, Calcutta.

F CHAPMAN & Co

"TATTERSALLS,"

No. 1, Bhowanipore Road.

Arrived per S S Euryalus well-matched pairs, hacks, hunters, polo ponies from 12-2½ to 14-1; also 6 well-performed race ponies imported by the well-known shippers.

Mr "Billy" Griffiths
Mr W. Burgess.
Mr. H. Smith
Mr. P. Gilder

Every trial given to intending purchasers by the undersigned.

F. CHAPMAN & Co.

J. F. SNUGGS & Co.,

Established 1870.

TAXIDERMISTS & TANNERS

TO H. M.'s IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT, HARDA, C.P

For further particulars apply to us: or our only Agents:

Messrs. GORDON & Co., 37, Apollo Street BOMBAY,

where Trophies of every description are for sale also we can supply our Firm's ponies, carts, etc., to Shooting Parties.

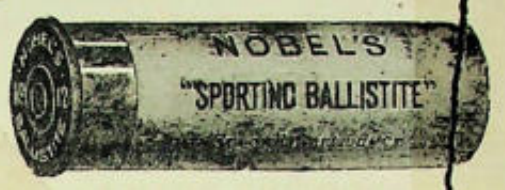
ESTABLISHED 1870.

KASHMIR CHECK PUTTOOS

Effective, durable and inexpensive, for shooting, cycling and golfing suits.

Obtainable through
A A's or COCKBURN'S AGENCY,
Srinagar, Kashmi.

Ballistite.



THE KING OF

SMOKELESS POWDERS

Smokeless—Waterproof—Odourless.

Nobel's New "Nile" Snipe Cartridge.

A High Class Smokeless Cartridge at the price of ordinary Black Powder, Colour Maroon.

Gauge.	Length	Powder.	Shot.
12-bore.	2½ inches.	25 Grains.	1 oz.

Per 100.	Per 500.	Per 1,000
Rs. 9-0.	Rs. 43-0.	Rs. 84-0

RETAILED BY ALL GUNMAKERS.

Wholesale of

GILLANDERS ARBUTHNOT & CO.,

Agents

BY APPOINTMENT TO
H. E. Baron Curzon of Kedleston.

LYON & LYON,

PRACTICAL GUN and RIFLE MAKERS,

16, Chowringhee Rd., Calcutta.

Repairs.—We give special attention to all kinds of Gun Repairs, having separate workshops and speci l workmen and machinery for this class of work Guns fitted with new stocks, Barrels rejointed, browned, and re-bored, and old Guns done up as new at a small cost. Estimates given.

Warehousing.—Guns carefully kept through the hot season and rains, and during owner's absence from India, the charge being Eight Annas per mensem, including Insurance risk

Our illustrated Sporting Catalogue post free on application.

—:o:—

LYON & LYON,

Practical Gun and Rifle Makers,

16, Chowringhee Rd., Calcutta.

"PIGSTICKING,"

A SET OF FOUR PICTURES

1 The Meet
2 The Burst
3 The Spear
4 The Kill

BY ALBERT DUBUS

Every Sportsman should possess a set. The finest work of the kind ever offered to the public.

Rs. 8 per set, unmounted.

Apply Manager—"THE INDIAN FIELD,"

CALCUTTA.

THE ORIENTAL GAS Co., Ld.

GAS COKE.

Reduction in Price.

The Oriental Gas Company, Limited, have resolved to reduce the price of the Coke produced at their works from 22nd April 1903, and until further notice as follows:—

1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the Town Area at (6 annas per maund) ... ... Rs. 7-8-0
1 Load (20 maunds) delivered within the Suburban Area ... ... Rs 7-12-0

All Coke sieved through a ¾ inch mesh.

Gas Coke is Smokeless and Cleanly and Superior to any solid fuel for domestic purposes.

All complaints about Coke or demands for pice custom (dustoorie) should be made direct to the Manager.

N.B.—The carter must be relieved of his load within an hour of his arrival, else 4 annas per hour will be charged for unnecessary detention.

Gas Works, Sealdah, Calcutta, 22nd April 1903.

D. COATS NIVEN,
Manager

FOUR SHOOTING PICTURES.

REPRODUCED IN PLATINOTYPE

From the original sketches, specially drawn to illustrate the book. "Small Game Shooting in Bengal and some of their habitat" by "Raoul."

Size of Picture, 10½×8½ inches.

Mounted on thick white plate sunk mounts, measuring 18½×14 inches.

1. Snipe shooting in Bengal.
2. Partridge shooting in Bengal.
3. Duck shooting in "Bhil" or Marsh.
4. Geese shooting on "chur" or sandbank.

SPECIAL PRICE,

Rs. 12 per set.

Apply—Manager "The INDIAN FIELD."

SPORTING NOTICE.

D. TAYLOR, Trainer, who has had over 25 years, experience of training race horses in India and Ceylon has returned from Australia, and has opened his Training Establishment in Lucknow, where he will be pleased to summer race horses and ponies, and train them for their engagements for the coming Racing Season.

Is opened to a private engagement.
Testimonials on application.
For terms, &c.,

Please apply to—

D. TAYLOR, TRAINER,
Dilkusha, LUCKNOW.

INDIAN FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION.

Cadet Battalion Challenge Cup.
Elliot Challenge Shield.

Entries close 1st July. Apply to—

N. G. PRITCHARD,
Jt. Hony. Secy., I.F.A.

SALE OF ELEPHANT.

Name	...	Captain Gunning.
Sex	...	Male.
Probable age	...	58 Years.
Size	...	8' 5".

Trained for dragging timber in forests and carriage of baggage.

The Elephant is now in the Kurnool District. Persons wishing to make a reasonable offer of purchase should apply to the undersigned, Waltair, Vizagapatam District.

May 17th, 1903. A. W. LUSHINGTON,
Ag. Conservator of Forests, N. C.

FOR SALE.

SANDY—Bay Waler Gelding, about 15-2, age 7 years, a perfect pigsticker, trapper and lady's hack, also a good charger, confidential in every way, up to 15 stone. Except splint, which never affects him, believed perfectly sound. Price Rs. 600.

MASK,—Dark Brown T.-B. Gelding, 15-1½, age about 8 years, very good trapper and carries a lady, with a light weight, would make an A-1 charger, as he is quite quiet and stands fire, believed quite sound. Price Rs. 500.

Some English COWS and HEIFERS, very good animals.—For price and particulars.—

Apply to—
R. FINCH,
DALSING SERAI, T. S. Railway.

FOR SALE.

Leopard skins, cured, dressed, head stuffed and mounted on cloth. Complete @ Rs 35 each.

Two pairs of Buffalo horns with skull mounted on shield, @ Rs. 40 and 25 each.

Apply to—

J. HENRY & Co.,
THE "TAXIDERMY HOUSE,"
Bowbazar P.O., Calcutta

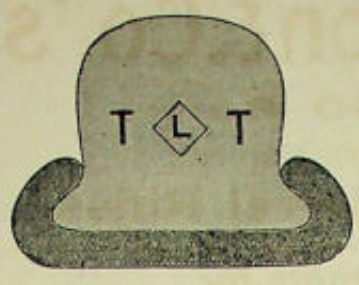
FOR SALE.

A few real well bred dogs by imported parents and prize winners
Wire haired Fox Terrier Dog "Jind Melton Bang Up" for Rs. 200. Winner of first prize last Simla Dog Show.

Wire haired Fox Terriers, puppies, 2 Bitches, Rs. 80 each by Jind Bango" ex "Jind Sweetheart;" born 12th March 1903, both Sire and Dam imported, and Sire is winner of 12 prizes at the different Dog Shows out here.

Irish Terrier Dog "Jind Larry" for Rs. 200, by "Jind Blowhard" ex "Jind Doreen;" born 3rd November 1902.
Sire imported and winner of 12 prizes in England and 5 prizes at the different Dog Shows out here.

Irish Terrier's puppies, 1 Dog Rs. 100 and 2 Bitches at Rs. 80 each, by "Jind Brodick;" ex "Jind Brookvale" born 16th March 1906. Both Sire and Dam just imported Sire is winner of two 1st and one 2nd prize at the Dog Shows in England, and never been shown out here.



Thibet an Terrier "Kim" for Rs. 100.

Apply—Superintendent, JIND KENNELS, JIND STATE.

FOR SALE.

A double barrel 16-bore shot gun by George H. Daw, London, in case.

Apply—Q E D. c/o Manager,
"The Indian Field."

ECONOMISE NERVE TISSUE

By using Our

Section of Steel Rim and Rubber Tyre.

RUBBER CARRIAGE TYRES.

We stake our faith in Tyres of this brand which are all guaranteed for one year. Many of the leading Coachbuilders use them exclusively. Prices and particulars free on application to

W. H. THORNS & Co.,

15, HORNBY ROW,* BOMBAY.

CHAMPION & CO.

Have left for Europe and will return to Calcutta for the 1st Extra Meeting in December

The Turf.

INDIAN RACING FIXTURES.

NAME OF RACES	Month.	Date.	For Prospectus see page.
Mysore	June	16, 18 & 20
Tollygunge Club Gymkhana...	June	20
Bangalore	July	14, 16 & 18
Poona Races & Steeplechases	Sept.	23 26 28 30
		Oct. 3 5 & 10	574
Simla Autumn	Oct.	6 & 8	522
Simla Gymkhanas ...	June	13 20 & 27
Ditto ...	July	4
Lucknow Autumn Sky ...	Oct.	22, and 24
Umballa Autumn ...	Nov.	3, 5 & 7
Lucknow Autumn (Army Cup)	,,	26	575
Meerut Autumn ...	,,	12, 14 & 17
Lucknow Autumn ...	,,	24, 26 & 28
Calcutta First Extra ...	Dec.	12
,, Second Extra ...	,,	19
,, First Meeting ...	,,	24 26 29 & 31
,, Second Meeting ...	Jan.	16 & 23
Tollygunge Steeplechases ...	,,	2 & 9
Calcutta Third Extra ...	,,	30
,, Fourth ,, ...	Feb.	6
Dibrugarh ...	,,	2 4 & 6
First Calcutta Monson	Aug.	8
Second do do	,,	15
Third do do	,,	22
Fourth do do	Sep.	5
Fifth do do	,,	12
Poona 1st Extra	July	25
,, 2nd ,, ...	Aug.	1
,, 3rd ,, ...	,,	7
,, 4th ,, ...	,,	8
,, 5th ,, ...	,,	15
,, 6th ,, ...	,,	22
,, 7th ,, ...	,,	26
,, 8th ,, ...	,,	29
Secunderabad	July	30 & Aug 1
Tezpore	Dec.	1 3 6
Dacca	Jan.	7 9 12

CLOSING DATES OF ENTRIES.

LUCKNOW AUTUMN SKY ...	First ...	... 1st Sept.
	Second ...	... 15th Oct
CALCUTTA FIRST EXTRA ...	...	... 8th Dec.
CALCUTTA SECOND EXTRA ...	...	... 15th Dec.
CALCUTTA RACES FIRST MEETING	First ...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second ...	... 1st Dec.
CALCUTTA RACES SECOND MEETING	First ...	... 1st Dec.
	Second ...	... 9th Jan.
	Third ...	... 16th Jan.
TOLLYGUNGE STEEPLECHASES 1ST DAY	First ...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second ...	... 1st Dec.
TOLLYGUNGE STEEPLECHASES SECOND DAY	First ...	... 2nd Nov.
	Second ...	... 2nd Jan.
POONA	First ...	... 4th Augst.
	Second ...	... 25th ,,
	Final ...	... 8th Sept
CIVIL SERVICE CUP ...	Second ...	... 1st July.
	Third ...	... 16th Sept.
	Fourth ...	... 1st Dec.
	Final ...	... 20th Jan.
BANGALORE	Second ...	... 20th June
	Third ...	... 1st July.
LUCKNOW AUTUMN ...	First ...	... 15th Aug.
	Second ...	... 1st Oct.
	Third ...	... 14th Nov.

INDIAN SPORTING FIXTURES.

POLO.

POONA OPEN TOURNAMENT	...Sept. 15th, 16th, 19th & 24th
GULMARG POLO TOURNAMENT ...	24th to 29th August
CRICKET.
BOMBAY v PARSEES (Bombay) ...	13th 14th & 15th Aug.
BOMBAY v PARSEES (Poona) ...	21st 22nd & 23rd Sep.
THE HORSE.
TOLLYGUNGE HORSE AND DOG SHOW	... 1st January 1904.
SPORTS.
OOTACAMUND SKITTLE GYMKHANAS	June 15th, & 27th
FOOTBALL.
DURAND TOURNAMENT, SIMLA ...	... 14th to 25th Sep.
HOCKEY.
GOLF.
GULMARG TOURNAMENT ...	17th to 22nd August
SWIMMING.
CALCUTTA S. C.
FOUR LENGTHS HANDICAP ...	... 19th June.
FINAL HEAT DITTO ...	... 26th June.

ENGLISH RACING FIXTURES.

Duchess of York Stakes, Hurst Park (1¼m)	Saturday, June 13
Ascot Stakes (2 miles)	Tuesday, June 16
Prince of Wales's Stakes (1 mile 5 furlongs)	Tuesday, June 16
Gold Vase (2 miles)	Tuesday, June 16
Royal Hunt Cup (7 furlongs 166yds) ...	Wednesday, June 17
Gold Cup (2½ miles)	Thursday, June 18
New Stakes (5 furlongs 136yds) ...	Thursday, June 18
Hardwicke Stakes (1½ miles)	Friday, June 19
Nothumberland Plate (2 miles) ...	Wednesday, June 24
July Stakes, Newmarket (5 fur 142 yds) ...	Tuesday, June 30
Eclipse Stakes (1½ miles)	Friday, July 17
Liverpool Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs) ...	Friday, July 24
Stewards' Cup, Goodwood (6 furlongs) ...	Tuesday, July 28
Goodwood Plate (2 miles)	Wednesday, July 29
Goodwood Cup (2½ miles)	Thursday, July 30
Brighton Cup (1½ miles)	Wednesday Aug. 5
Great Northern Leger (1 mile 5 furlongs)	Wednesday, Aug. 19
Great Ebor Handicap (1½ miles) ...	Wednesday, Aug. 26
Gimcrack Stakes (6 furlongs)	Thursday, Aug. 27
Great Yorkshire Handicap (1 m 6 f 132 yds)	Tuesday, Sep. 8
Champagne Stakes	Tuesday, Sep. 8
The St. Leger (1 mile 6 furlongs 132 yds.)	Wednesday, Sep. 9
Doncaster Cup (about 2 miles) ...	Friday, Sep. 11
Prince Edward Handicap (1½ miles) ...	Saturday, Sep. 26
Jockey Club Stakes (1½ miles) ...	Thursday, October 1
Duke of York Stakes (1½ miles) ...	Saturday, Oct. 10
Cesarewitch Stakes (2 miles 2 furlongs) ...	Wednesday, Oct. 14
Middle Park Plate (6 furlongs) ...	Friday, October 16
Cambridgeshire Stakes (1mile 1 furlong) ...	Wednesday, Oct. 28.
Dewhurst Plate (7 furlongs) ...	Thursday, Oct. 29
Lincoln Autumn Handicap (1½ miles) ...	Tuesday, Nov. 10
Liverpool Autumn Cup (1 mile 3 furlongs)	Friday, Nov. 13
Manchester November Handicap (1½ mile)	Saturday, Nov. 28

ENGLISH SPORTING FIXTURES.

Oxford vs. Cambridge (Lord's) ...	2nd July.
Amateur A. A. Meeting	4th July.
Gents vs. Players (Lords)	6th July.
Henley Regatta	7th July.
Eton vs. Harrow (Lord's)	10th July.
Gents vs. Players (Oval)	10th July.
Rugby vs. Marlborough (Lord's) ...	29th July.
R. Y. S. Regatta	4th August.
America Cup First Race	20th August.
Dublin Horse Show	25th August.
Stanley Cycle Show	20th November.
Cattle Show (Agr. Hall)	7th December.

THE INDIAN FIELD.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The absence of any notice to discontinue the Paper at he expiry of the pertod subscribed for will be considered as an intimation to renew the subscription, which will be charged accordingly.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

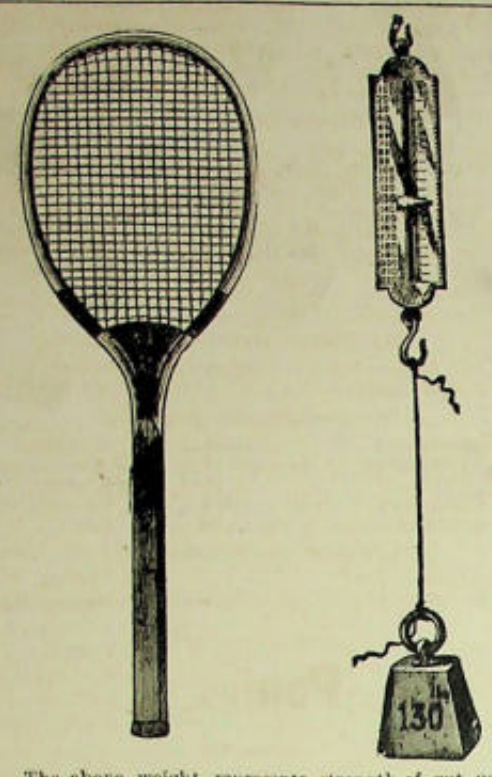
Rs. 22 per annum or with mofussil postage ...	Rs. 25	0
,, 12 for 6 months ,, ,, ...	,, 14	0
,, 6 for 3 ,, ,, ,, ...	,, 8	0

Single copy eight annas.

To avail themselves of the benefits of the Advanc Rates subscribers must pay—

Annual Subscriptions	...	Within 2 months.
Half-yearly do.	...	Do. 1 month.
Quarterly do.	...	Do. 1 fortnight.

RATE of SUBSCRIPTION with FOREIGN POSTAGE Payable in Advance.



For twelve months	...	£1 15 0
,, six months	...	£1 0 0

RATES FOR CASUAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Rs. 2-8 per inch for the first four insertions.
Rs. 1-4 per inch for subsequent insertions.
Ten lines to the inch.

W. S. BURKE & Co., Proprietors,
8, Hare Street CALCUTTA.

SOLE ADVERTISING AGENT IN ENGLAND
FOR "THE INDIAN FIELD."
Mr. L. J. JARVIS.
"Granville House" Arundel St. Strand.
LONDON

The above weight represents strength of gut used in the manufacture of J. Salter & Son's Racket and tennis Bats.

SALTER'S

RACKET RACKETS & BALLS,
TENNIS RACKETS & POLO HEADS

1st quality only.

May be obtained from the following firms :—
EROOM & CO., Calcutta.
WALTER LOCKE & CO., Calcutta, Simla, Lahore
MANTON & CO., Calcutta.
WATTS & CO., Calcutta, Simla, Rangoon, Lahore.
MURRAY & CO., Lucknow, Karachi, Cawnpore, Naini Tal.
ROWE & CO., Rangoon, Mandalay, Moulmein & Bassein.
SPENCER & CO., Madras.
OAKES & CO., Madras.
TREACHER & CO. Bombay.
BADHAM, PILE & CO., Bombay.
GANDA SING UBEROI & CO., Sialkote.

J. SALTER & SON.
Manufacturers of Indoor and Outdoor Games and Sports,
ALDERSHOT, ENGLAND.

CONTENTS.

LEADING ARTICLE—Training and Condition 125
SPECIAL TELEGRAMS 126
SPORTING NOTES 126
ATHLETIC NOTES 128
GENERAL NOTES 129
LONDON WEEK BY WEEK 129
REVIEW 130
SHIKAR 131
CORRESPONDENCE 132
THE TURF.—Indian Racing Fixtures; Closing Dates of Entries: Indian Sporting Fixtures; English Racing Fixtures; English Sporting Fixtures; Simla Open Gymkhana Races; Colombo Monsoon Meeting; Racing in South Australia 136
ENTRIES FOR RACES 137
PONIES 137
SPORT IN ENGLAND 137
HUNTING 143
POLO 143
ROWING 144
CYCLING 144
CRICKET 144
FOOTBALL 144
GOLF 146
LAWN TENNIS 146
BOWLS 146
YACHTING 146
SWIMMING 146
THE HORSE 147
THE NATURALIST 147
THE STORY TELLER 148
CHESS 148
CARDS 148

"PERFECTION" WHISKY,

The most popular drink of the day,

Rs. 32 PER DOZEN,

USED IN THE

ARMY AND NAVY.

As there are other Brands of Whisky sold under the name of "PERFECTION," please see that you get

D. & J. McCALLUM'S

In Mallet-shaped Bottles, sealed with their sea

SOLE AGENTS:

KRIEG & Co.,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,
8, Hare Street, Calcutta.

SIMLA OPEN GYMKHANA RACES.

Thursday, 4th June, 1903.

THIS extra day to the three days' racing just concluded, took on wonderfully and a very flattering response was made by owners. Very satisfactory fields turned out and we witnessed some capital sport, there was a very full attendance. The handicapper accomplished his task creditably, for not only did he put punters off but outsiders when they did get home won after a hard struggle. The threatening storm held off till after the last race and then it burst with all its fury.

THE FLYERS' PLATE.—Rs. 49. A handicap for Arab and C.-B ponies 14-1 and under. About 1,400 yards.

Mr Mordaunt's ch a p The Abbot, 10st 7lbs — Lord Suffolk 1
Capt Baldrey's b a p Shelter 9st 5lbs ... — Mr Southey 2
Lala Jai Lall's ch cb g Pannag, 8st (car 8st 7lbs) ... ... — Native 3

Shelter had the bulk of support; he held the lead for the first circuit, then The Abbot drew up to his girths and they led in this order till in the last few strides The Abbot got on terms and finally won on the post by a head; a bad third. Time—1min. 36⅖secs.

THE NOVICE STAKES—Rs. 49. A handicap for Arab and C.-B. ponies 14-1 and under that have never started in a race value Rs. 50 or over. About ½ mile.

Capt Knapp's ch a g Flashlight, 11st 7lbs. — Capt Holden 1
Mr R B Wood's ch a g All Sir Garnet, 10st 5lbs ... ... — Mr Percy Smith 2
Mr R Oppenheim's b a g Reserved, 11st 4lbs ... .. — Capt Peacock 3
Capt Tancred's gr a p Chanticleer, 11st 7lbs ... ... — Mr Mant 0
Mrs Hawkins' g a h Melody, 11st 4lbs ... — Hon D Bingham 0
Mr Crawshay's gr a p Pelican, 11st 4lbs ... — Owner 0
Capt Onslow's ch cb m Eileen, 11st ... — Mr Pawson 0
Col. Baring's dun a p Wavebeam, 9st 11lbs .. .. — Lord Suffolk 0

All Sir Garnet had a slight call in the betting over Flashlight. These two at once drew clear of the field and had the race to themselves, Flashlight winning by half a length; two lengths between the second and third. Time—1min. 8⅖secs.

THE POLO STAKES.—Rs. 49. For maiden Arab and C.-B. Polo ponies 14-1 and under. C. W. over 10st 7lbs. About 5 furlongs

Mr F G Connolly's b a g Kilfinane, 10st 7lbs ... ... — Capt Peacock 1
Mr R Oppenheim's b a h Albemarle, 10st 7lbs ... ... — Hon D Bingham 2
Capt Stewart Capper's gr a p Cinque Ports, 10st 7lbs ... ... — Owner 3
Mr Reynolds' g cb m Searchlight, 10st 7lbs — Mr Pawson 0

Searchlight was a hot favourite. She with Albemarle cut out the work, but after a hundred yards the favourite fell out and shortly Kilfinane began to improve his position and catching Albemarle in the run home won by a length; a head between the second and third. Time—1 min. 8⅖secs.

THE HARD LUCK STAKES—Rs. 49. A handicap for ponies that have run and not won at Simla Summer Races, 1903. About 4½ furlongs.

Col E Baring's b aus g Dingo, 11st 7lbs ... ... — Owner 1
Mr J J Pawson's blk aus m Busy Bee, 11st 10lbs ... ... — Owner 2
Mr J G Morrison's b cb m Cuba, 9st ... — Hon D Bingham 3
Mr Caulfield's ch cb m Iconoclast, 11st 4lbs — Mr Crawshay 0
Capt Badger's b a p King Edward, 9st 7lbs ... . — Mr Southey 0

Dingo and King Edward favourites. Cuba attended by King Edward led off, but turning the first corner the latter ran wide and let up Dingo, who shortly took the lead and came in a comfortable winner by a length from Busy Bee, who snatched second honours by a head on the post. Time—1min. 6⅕secs.

THE HACK STAKES.—Rs. 49. For bonâ fide hacks 14-2 and under that have never won a race value Rs. 50 or over. Arabs and C.-B's. 14-2 to carry 11st., others 14-2 to carry 12st 7lbs.

W. I. R C

Capt Ready's b cb g Butcha, 7st 8lbs (car 8st 13lbs) ... ... — Mr Southey 1
Col Capper's b aus g Circassian, 11st 9lbs ... ... — Capt S Capper 2
Capt Drummond's blk c m Waterwitch, 8st 3lbs (car 9st 6lbs) ... ... — Capt Holden 3
Capt Peacocke's b aus g Australia, 11st 9lbs ... ... — Owner 0
Capt Armstrong's b cb m Fioradora, 10st 8lbs ... . — Lord Suffolk 0
Major Tagart's g a g Bismarck, 10st 2lbs — Hon D Bingham 0
Mr Crawshay's g cb m Rosette, 10st 2lbs... — Owner 0
„ R Oppenheim's ch a h Scimitar, 8st 12lbs (car 10st 7lbs) ... ... — Mr P Smith 0

Australia and Scimitar favourites. Butcha and Waterwitch drew to the front and led round to the last turn, where Butcha drew away and won by a length easily Circassian coming up strong at the end beat Waterwitch for second place by a length. Time—60 secs

THE SUMMER PLATE.—Rs. 49. A welter handicap for all ponies 14-1 and under About 1¼ miles.

Mr Mordaunt's ch a p The Abbot 11st 4lbs — Capt Holden 1
„ Douglas' ch cb h Starlight, 11st 4lbs ... — Col Hon E Baring 2
Capt Mappins's b aus g Rifleman II, 11st 7lbs .. .. — Lord Suffolk 3
Mr J J Pawson's blk aus m Busy Bee 11st 4lbs ... ... — Owner 0

All four were about equally backed. It was a fine race. Starlight made the running from Rifleman and Busy Bee with The Abbot in rear till in the last circuit The Abbot overhauled his field and came in a winner by two lengths; one length between the second and third. Time—3mins 2secs.

COLOMBO MONSOON MEETING.

STEWARDS.

F. C. ALLEN, Esq. | A. R. A. HEATH, Esq.
CAPT. R. F. K. COOCH, A.-D.-C. | F. J HADDEN, Esq.
CAPT. A. C. PITMAN, R.A. | HERBERT WHITE, Esq.

Official Handicapper and Clerk of the Scales.—F. J. HADDEN, Esq.

Starter.—E. J. WEATHERALL, Esq.
Time-keeper.—C. W. BOOTY, Esq.
Secretary.—F. W. WALDOCK, Esq.

Second Day, Saturday, 30th May, 1903.

THE second day's proceedings were brought off in splendid weather and a large attendance pronounced them a great success. Fair fields turned out for the six races and good sport was witnessed.

Details :—

MONSOON HANDICAP.—Rs. 200, and Rs. 50 to the second horse. For horses entered in Monsoon Stakes. Handicap. 1 mile.

Mr R J Farquharson's Boverie, 10st 11lbs ... ... — 1
„ C C Herbert's Rapier (by Bread Knife—Gloriola), 9st 12lbs ... . — 2
Capt A C Pitman's Mountaineer, 9st ... ... — 3
Mr Wilton Bartleet's Gretna, 9st ... ... — 0

Mr Eric Watson's Nisi Prius was scratched.

BETTING: Evens Rapier, 2 to 1 agst Boverie, 3 to 1 Mountaineer, 10 to 1 Gretna.

Totalizator paid Rs. 6.

Won by a length. Time—1min 53secs.

GRAND STAND HANDICAP.—Rs 200, and Rs. 50 to the second horse. For horses entered in Grand Stand Stakes. Handicap. 5 furlongs.

Mr John Quayle's Winnie, 10st 3lbs ... — Mr J Quayle 1
Mr W B Bartleet's Poor Me, 11st ... — Lansdown 2
Capt R F K Gooch's Redstone, 10st 4lbs — Owner 3
Mr Heather's Silk, 8st 6lbs ... ... — Mr Murland 0
Mr Walthew's Young Hyson, 7st ... — David 0

Mr Farquharson's Rebecca and Mr Montague's Good Girl were scratched.

BETTING: 6 to 4 on Poor Me, 2 to 1 Winnie, 3 to 1 Redstone, 8 to 1 Silk, 10 to 1 Young Hyson.

Totalizator paid Rs. 3.

Won by a length. Time—1min. 7secs.

FAREWELL PLATE.—Rs. 300, and Rs. 50 to the second horse. For horses entered in the Auction Stakes. Handicap Entrance—Rs. 15. 6 furlongs.

Mr J Quayle's Dexter, 9st 6lbs ... — Owner 1
Messrs Ayrtoun and Heather's Caloola, 11st 4lbs ... ... — Lansdown 2
Mr Farquharson's The Greek, 8st 11lbs ... — Wiles 3
„ D H Williams' Afreet, 9st 10lbs ... — Winslow disqualified.

Messrs Ayrtoun and Heather's Reply was scratched.

BETTING: 6 to 4 agst. Dexter, 2 to 1 Caloola, 3 to 1 Afreet, 4 to 1 The Greek.

Totalizator paid Rs. 6 on Afreet, first past the post.

Won by three-quarters of a length; Caloola half a length behind. Time— 1min. 21⅕secs.

Lansdown on Caloola lodged a complaint against Winslow on Afreet for bumping, which the Stewards upheld, and awarded the race to Dexter, Caloola being placed second.

BEDOUIN HANDICAP.—Rs. 300, and Rs. 50 to second horse. For horses entered in Bedouin Stakes. Handicap. 6 furlongs.

Mr J M Brace's Silver One, 10st 7lbs — Wiles 1
„ Wilton Bartleet's Tact, 8st 12lbs ... — Lansdown 2
„ Heather's Sheik, 1 st 3lbs .. ... — Mr Quayle 3
„ R J Farquharson's Tirah, 10st 9lbs ... — Owner 0
Capt G E Bayley's King William, 9st 8lbs — Owner 0
„ R F K Gooch's Lord Bobs, 8st 7lbs — Mr Murland 0

BETTING: 6 to 4 agst Tirah, 3 to 1 Tact, 4 to 1 each Sheik and Silver One, 6 to 1 any other.

Totalizator paid Rs. 12.

Won by a short head; half a length separating Tact and Sheik, and Lord Bobs and Tirah half a length behind. Time—1min. 28secs.

GALLOWAY HANDICAP.—Rs 300, and Rs. 50 to the second horse. For Galloways. Handicap. 6 furlongs.

Mr W B Bartleet's Poor Me, 11st ... — Lansdown 1
„ R J Farquharson's Rebecca, 9st 2lbs — Mr J Quayle 2
„ H P Bartlett's Peeress, 9st 6lbs ... — Wiles 3
„ Montague's Good Girl, 9st 11lbs ... — Mr Murland 0

Mr Heather's Silk and Mr Walthew's Young Hyson were scratched.

BETTING: 2 to 1 on Rebecca, 3 to 1 agst Good Girl and 4 to 1 each Poor Me and Peeress.

Totalizator paid Rs 8.

Won a grand race by a neck; two lengths between second and third. Time—1min. 22⅕secs.

CINNAMON GARDENS HANDICAP.—Rs. 500, and Rs 100 to the second horse. For horses entered at the Meeting. Handicap 1 mile.

Capt R F Gooch's Devoted, 10st 3lbs .. — Lansdown 1
Mr R J Farquharson's Boniface, 11st ... — Owner 2
„ John Quayle's Dexter, 8st 8lbs ... — Mr J Quayle 3
Messrs Ayrtoun and Heather's Reply, 9st 11lb ... ... — 0

The Alipore Clique's Anster and Mr Farquharson's The Greek were scratched.

BETTING: 6 to 4 agst Devoted, 2 to 1 Boniface, 4 to 1 Reply, 5 to 1 Dexter.

Totalizator paid Rs 5.

Won by half a length; three-quarters of a length separating second and third. Time—1min. 51secs

After the Farewell Plate (the third race) was run. Afreet was put up for sale and bought in at Rs. 700.

RACING IN SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

S. A. J. C. AUTUMN MEETING.

GOODWOOD HANDICAP.—Of 400 sovs.; the second horse to receive 80 sovs and the third 40 sovs. out of the stake. For three-year-olds and upwards. Three-quarters of a mile

Mr S King's br g Trochon, by St Swithin—Black Rose, aged, 8st 9lbs ... — S Willis 1
Mr N McEachern's b c Chatter, by Carlyon—Small Talk, 3 yrs, 7st 10lbs — J McDonald 2
Mr J Rowen's c m Tiptop, by Thunderbolt—Quality, 5 yrs, 8st 3lbs .. — J Barden 3
Mr G Burgess's c h Fortune Teller, by Othello—Idle Girl, aged, 9st 7lbs ... — R Gough 0
Mr E Kelly's br g Mairp, by Priam—Happy Bride aged, 9st 5lbs ... — W Curran 0
Mr R Howie's b g Prospero, by Clonard—Themis, 5 yrs, 9st ... ... — W Lake 0
Sir Rupert Clarke's br g Fairy States, by Hova—Judy Mo, 4yrs, 8st 7lbs ... — R Lewis 0
Mr W Moran's br or bk m Adelaide, by Lochiel—Beryl, 5yrs, 8st 7lbs — F Bullock 0
Mr J Rowen's c g Florin, by St Swithin Dime, 6 yrs, 8st 3lbs ... ... — J Mott 0
C N Kinman's b g Manlock, by Padlock—Menugoru, 4 yrs, 8st 2lbs .. ... — R Trewartha 0
Mr E Kelly's br g Boaz, by Eiridspord—Ruth, 4 yrs, 7st 8lbs ... ... — F Foulsham 0
Mr G A Gibson's b or br f Enigma, by Tostig—Riddle, 3 yrs, 7st 6lbs ... — T Mathews 0
Mr C Smith's br g Stuart King, by Clan Stuart—Regina 4yrs, 7st 5lbs ... — G Anwin 0
F Burmeister's b g Ybraw, by Sunrise—Vixen, aged, 7st 5lbs ... ... — J Butlin 0
Mr C N Kinman's c g Silver, by Broken Hill—Primula, 3yrs, 7st 5lbs ... — J O'Brien 0
Mr H Roberts' c m Lady Stanhope, by Lochiel—Busybody, 4 yrs, 7st 2lbs ... — A Anderson 0
Mr W Clark's c c Royal Oak, by Carlyon—Sylvan Queen, 3 yrs, 6st 13 lbs ... — B Carslake 0
Mr S J Jacob's b f Footmark, by Thunderbolt—Footstep, 3 yrs, 6st 12lbs ... ... — D J Hall 0
Mr J F Henderson's b m Nita Carlyon, by Carlyon—Thora, 5yrs, 6st 9lbs ... — W Burns 0
Mr J H Hill's b m Profit, by Thunderbolt—Prosperity, 6st 7lbs ... — H McCann 0
Mr S Ferry's g m Pandora, by Prince Consort—Harriet, aged, 6st 7lbs ... — B Burnett 0

Amount in totalizator, £3,900 10s. Dividend for £1 tickets £7 5s.

Won by half a head from Chatter, with Tiptop half a head off third. Royal Oak, who was finishing very fast, was fourth, Fairy States fifth, Manlock sixth, Profit seventh, Enigma eighth, Lady Stanhope ninth, Fortune Teller tenth, Ybraw eleventh, while the last lot were Silver, Nita Carlyon, Mairp, Prospero, Stuart King and Boaz. Time—1min 15⅕secs.

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN STAKES.—A sweepstakes of 5 sovs. each with 250 sovs. added; the second horse to receive 50 sovs. and the third horse 25 sovs. out of the stake. For two-year-olds—colts, 8st. 10lbs.; fillies, 8st. 8lbs. (geldings at time of starting allowed 5lbs.). The winner of any two-year-old stake (not a handicap) of the value of 150sovs., 10lbs. extra; of 200sovs. and upwards, 14lbs. extra. (25 subs.) 7 furlongs.

Sir Rupert Clarke's br f Sweet Nell, by Haut Brion—Novelette II, 9st 8lbs ... R Lewis 1
Mr F W Allen's b c St Vincent, by Carlyon—Lady Doris, 9st 6lbs ... ... H J Morrison 2
Mr A Nicholson's c f First Fleece, by Carlyon—Golden Fleece, 8st 8lbs ... S Willis 3
Mr F Bansemer's b c Caerleon, by Carlyon—Sylvan Queen, 9st 6lbs... ... A Anderson 0
Mr T E Bart Smith's br f Martinique, by Wallace or Bill of Portland—Hortnese J Barden 0

Amount in totalizator, £1,752 5s. Dividend for £1 tickets, £1 16s.

Won easily by two and a half lengths from St. Vincent, with First Fleece three and a half lengths off third. Martinique was fourth and Caerleon last. Time—1min. 31secs.

THE ST LEGER STAKES—Of 10sovs. each, with 250sovs. added; the second horse to receive 50sovs. and the third horse 25sovs. out of the stake. For three-year-olds—colts, 8st 10lbs; fillies, 8st. 8lbs. (geldings at time of starting allowed 5lbs.) (88subs). 1¼ miles and 132 yards.

Mr H R Dixson's b f Cross Keys, by Padlock—Scuffle, 8st 8lbs ... ... H J Morrison 1
Mr Fitzgerald's c c Sojourner by Pilgrim's Progress—Winnifred, 8st 10lbs ... C Quinn 2
Messrs Clark and Robinson s or c Rienzi, by Carlyon—Brown Alice, 8st 10lbs ... W Ross 3
Mr G Anderson's cg El Koran, by Koran—Virago 8st 5lbs ... ... J McDonald 0

(Winner trained by C. Quinn.)

Amount in totalizator, £1,800 10s. Dividend for £1 tickets, £11 7s.

ADELAIDE CUP—Of 800sovs; the second horse 160sovs. and third 80sovs. out of the stake. For three-year-olds and upwards. Winner of the S.A.J.C. St. Leger Stakes of 1903 to carry not less than 7st. 12lb. One mile and five furlongs.

Mr Fitzgerald's c c Sojourner, by Pilgrim's Progress—Winifed, 3yrs, 8st 3lbs ... W Hopwood 1
Mr C Lenny's c g Avalon, by Strathmore—Chintz, aged, 8st 3lbs ... ... W Bevenev 2
Mr H G Wheeler's b g Rapid Pilgrim, by Pilgrim's Progress—Lady Bevis, 4yrs, 6st 12lbs ... ... D J Hall 3
Mr H R Dixson's b f Cross Keys, by Padlock—Scuffle, 3yrs, 7st 12lbs ... H J Morrison 0
Mr J Scobie's br m Annotate, by Annesley—Calida, 6yrs, 9st 8lbs ... ... W Ross 0
Mr J Gove's c g Lieutant Bill, by Pilgrim's Progress—Ringarooma, 4yrs, 9st 7lbs... R Lewis 0
Mr A B Pearson's br h Flagship, by The Admiral—Leona, 5yrs, 9st 5lbs ... J Barden 0
Mr W H Fell's br g Australian, by The Australian Peer—Ophelia, aged, 9st 2lbs F Bullock 0
Messrs H and C Hughes's b g Combat, by Carnage—Maid of Honour, 6yrs, 9st E Turner 0
Messrs Nicholns and McKeon's b g Orphan Boy, by Navigator—Golden Image, 6yrs, 8st 10lbs... ... ... R Trewartha 0
Mr R Phillips's b m Novitiate, by Malvolio—Initial, 6yrs, 8st 5lbs ... ... S G Thomas 0
Mr C N Kidman's b g Adjuster, by Off Colour—Swing ... ... J O'Brien 0
Mr A Cherry's b g The Sailor, by Off Colour—Swing, aged 8st ... ... J McDonald 0
Mr W Clarke's br c Rienzi, by Carlyon—Brown Alice, 3yrs, 7st 13lbs ... E Sutherland 0
Mr J Rowen's c g Florin, by St Swithin—Dime, 6yrs, 7st 7lbs ... ... B Carslake 0
Mr J Hewton's b g Eland, by Malvolio—Adelaide, 6yrs, 7st 7lbs ... ... A Anderson 0
Mr C Mallen's br m Magda, by Bill of Portland—La Tosca, 4yrs, 7st 3lbs ... S Willis 0
Mr T Keily's c g Lorne, by Lonsdale—Swing, 5yrs, 7st 2lbs ... ... F Foulsham 0
Mr F Winch's c g The Bird, by Splendour—Canary, aged, 6st 12lbs ... ... G Anwin 0
Mr T Matson's b h Tapioca, by Goldsborough—Vermicelli, aged, 6st 12lbs... R Hopwood 0
Sir Rupert Clarke's b f Grattana, by Grafton—Roxana, 3 yrs, 6st 11lbs ... B Porter 0
Mr J Patterson s b m Tinfoil by Neckersgat—Tinmine, 5 yrs, 6st 8lbs ... C King 0
Mr A B J Francis's br g Quandong, by Lord Cochrane—Wilangra mare, 6 yrs, 6st 8lbs ... ... L Sluice 0
Mr N McEachern's br h Discussion by Light Artillery—Small Talk, 4 yrs, 6st 7lbs ... ... J Butler 0

(Winner trained by J. H. Hill.)

Amount in totalizator, £4,375 15s. Dividend for £1 tickets, £13 11s.

Won by two lengths from Avalon, with Rapid Pilgrim a neck off third. Cross Keys was a nose off fourth, and then came Lieutenant Bill fifth, Adjuster sixth, Combat seventh, Florin eighth, Magda ninth, Annotate tenth, Flagship eleventh, Quandong twelfth, Rienzi thirteenth, and Discussion fourteenth, while the last lot were Eland, Orphan Boy, Grattana, Tinfoil, Tapioca, and Lorne. Time—2mins 51secs.

An incident in connection with Blink Bonny's Derby and Oaks victories in 1857 is not without interest. Charlton the jockey, took his own saddle to scale for his Derby mount on the mare, and it was not until she was about to be saddled for the Oaks that it was known how narrow an escape he had from a mishap which wood have completely settled the filly's chance A well-known Northern sporting gentleman undertook to see the jockey weigh out on the Oaks afternoon, and when he was looking over Charlton's equipment, the Newcastle turfite, being struck by the odd and rickety appearance of the saddle, remarked. 'You are not going to ride with that?"

"Oh! yes," replied the jockey. "I used it for the Derby, and, in fact, I have ridden many and many a race on it."

Upon hearing this, the Northern gentleman said, "I should think you have. Let me see those stirrup irons.'

A careful examination of the stirrups disclosed the fact that one of the irons had been so severely strained when last used that a slight pull now broke it into pieces. Here was a dilemma! A suitable saddle not being procurable, new stirrup irons were obtained, and the old saddle tinkered up so as to hold Charlton through the race. Both the trainer and his friend, however, were considerably relieved in mind when Blink Bonny got home without accident, and succeeded in first catching the judge's eye.

Entries for Races,

BANGALORE RACES.

ENTRANCES FOR 1st June 1903.

First Day, Tuesday, July 14th.

THE HIGH GROUND STAKES—About 2¼ Miles, S. C.

1 Major J Vans Agnew's ... b aus g ... Cowboy
2 Mr F de Gruchy's ... b aus m ... Water Lily
3 Dr Spooner Hart's ... bk aus g ... Oberon
4 H H Sultan of Jahore's ... b aus g ... Gaulme
5 General Sir G T Pretyman's br aus g ... Mainspring

MACINTIRE PLATE—6 furlongs.

1 Major J Vans Agnew's ... bk aus g ... Gaylad
2 Capt E J R Peel's ... b aus g ... The Gaffer
3 Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs' ... b aus g ... Red Coral
4 Major H C V Harrison's ... b aus m ... Coree Belle
5 Mr N R Chowdhury s ... br e m ... Bouquet
6 Capt J Randall's ... ch rn e g ... Dr Barnardo, Autumn Leaf

THE PONY TRIALS—5 furlongs.

1 Capt Morris's ... ch a g ... Barty
2 Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs' ... g a h ... Ptarmigan
3 Mr E Sydenham's ... b a h ... Syndic
4 Lt Col A Sprot's ... ch a h ... Harefoot
5 Major H C V Harrisons's ... b ch g ... Hampton Court

THE TRIAL STAKES—1¼ miles.

1 Major J Vans Agnew's ... b aus g ... Corrie Roy
2 Lt Col J Desaraj Urs' ... b aus g ... Trenton
3 Mr N R Chowdhury's ... ch aus g ... Tecoota
4 Mr K D Biswas' ... b aus g ... Promontory
5 Dr Spooner Hart's ... b aus m ... Wallgrove

THE PADDOCK STAKES—5 furlongs.

1 Mr A Sattar s ... br aus g ... Ocean
2 Mr R L Kindersley's ... br e m ... Freda
3 Capt W J Tatam's ... ch ch m ... Filigree
4 Mr C P Graham's ... ch aus m ... Shot Silk

THE ARAB PLATE—1 mile.

1 Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs' ... ch a h ... Rubric
2 Mr W F Wormald's ... b a h ... Baby Boy

Second Day, Thursday, July 16th.

THE CLOISTER CUP—1¼ miles, over S. C.

1 Mr W F Wormald's ... b a h ... Baby Boy
2 Dr Spooner Hart's ... br aus g ... Good Chap
3 Mr R Anketell-Jones's ... b e m ... Lady Abbess
4 „ C P Graham's ... ch aus m ... Shot Silk

THE LEONIDAS PURSE—7 furlongs.

1 Mr A Sattad's ... b aus m ... Beccles
2 Major H C V Harrison's ... b ch g ... Hampton Court
3 Mr A P Symond's ... bk aus m ... Cleopatra II
4 The Kumara Raja of Pittapore's ... b aus g ... Shield

THE EASTERN PLATE—¾ Mile.

1 Capt Morris's ... ch a g ... Barty
2 Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs' ... g a h ... Ptarmigan
3 Mr E Sydenham's ... b a h ... Syndic
4 Lt-Col A Sprot's ... ch a h ... Harefoot

THE HORSE SCURRY—5 furlongs.

1 Mr Liebenrood's ... ch aus m ... Latchkey
2 Major Logan-Home's ... ch aus g ... Redoubt
3 Major J Vans Agnew's ... b aus g ... Corrie Roy
4 Ditto Ditto ... bk aus g ... Gaylad
5 Capt E J R Peel's ... b aus g ... The Gaffer
6 Lt.-Col J Desaraj Urs' ... b aus g ... Red Coral
7 Ditto Ditto ... ch aus g ... Leonidas
8 Major H C V Harrison's ... ch aus g ... De Wet
9 Mr N R Chowdhury's ... br e m ... Bouquet.
10 Mr Kels's ... ... b aus g ... Harpist
11 Kumara Raja of Pittapore's ch aus g ... Jack O'Lantern
12 Ditto Ditto ... ch aus g ... Kingfisher
13 Mr L Robinson's ... br aus g ... Star
14 Capt J Randall's ... br aus m ... Blue Blood
15 Ditto Ditto ... ch rn e g ... Dr Barnardo
16 Mr R Anketell Jones' ... b aus g ... Ombree,

H. H. THE MYSORE MAHARAJAH'S CUP.—R. C. and 200 yards

1 Capt E J R Peel's ... b aus g ... The Gaffer
2 Lt.-Col J Desaraj Urs' ... b aus g ... Trenton
3 Mr R L Kindersley's ... b nth am h St. Rule
4 Major H C V Harrison's ... ch aus g ... Glenfield
5 Lt-Col H Armstrong's ... b aus g ... Knight Templar
6 Mr A A Apcar's ... b aus g ... Godsmith
7 Ditto ... ... br aus g ... Milburn
8 Mr N R Chowdhury's ... br e m ... Bouquet
9 Mr K D Biswas's ... b aus g ... Promontory
10 Mr Kelso's ... ... b aus g ... Harpist
11 Dr Spooner Hart's ... b aus g ... Wallgrove

THE HEBBAL STAKES—½ mile.

1 Mr A Sattar's ... br aus g ... Ocean
2 Mr D William's ... b aus g ... None Such
3 Capt W J Tatam's ... ch ch m ... Filigree

Third Day, Saturday, July 18th.

THE STEWARD'S PURSE—About 2½ miles, S.C.

1 Major J Vans Agnew's ... b aus g ... Cowboy
2 Mr F de Gruchy's ... b aus m ... Water Lily
3 Dr Spooner Hart's ... bk aus g ... Oberon
4 H H Sultan of Jahore's ... br aus g ... Gaulme
5 General Sir G T Pretyman's br aus g ... Mainspring

THE CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

1 Capt Morris' ... ... ch a g ... Barty
2 Mr E Sydenham's ... b a h ... Syndic
3 Major H C V Harrison's ... b ch g ... Hampton Court
4 Capt W J Tatam's ... ch ch g ... Filigree

THE ALL-HORSE HANDICAP—5 furlongs.

1 Mr Liebenrood's ... ch aus m ... Latchkey
2 Major Logan-Home's ... ch aus g ... Redoubt
3 Major J Vans Agnew's ... b aus g ... Corrie Roy
4 Ditto ... bk aus g ... Gaylad
5 Capt E J R Peel's ... b aus g ... The Gaffer
6 Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs' ... b aus g ... Red Coral
7 Ditto ... ch aus g ... Leonidas
8 Major H C V Harrison's ... ch aus g ... Harpist
9 Mr Kelso's ... b aus g ... Jack O'Lantern
10 Kumara Raja of Pittapore's ch aus g ... Star
11 Mr L Robinson's ... br aus g ... Blue Blood
12 Capt J Randall's ... br aus m ... Dr Barnardo
13 Ditto ... ch rn e g ... Ombree,
14 Mr R Anketell-Jones' ... b aus g ...

THE EXCELSIORS STAKES—5 furlongs.

1 Mr A Sattar's ... b aus m ... Beccles
2 Ditto ... br aus g ... Ocean
3 Capt E J R Peel's ... bk aus m ... Starlight
4 Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs' ... br aus m ... Acme
5 Mr R L Kindersley's ... ar e m ... Freda

THE AUGUST STAKES—1¼ MILES.

1 Major Vans Agnew's ... b aus g ... Corrie Roy
2 Capt E J R Peel's ... b aus g ... The Gaffer
3 Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs' ... b aus g ... Trenton
4 Mr R L Kinderseleys' ... b nth am h St Rule
5 Major H C V Harrison' ... ch aus g ... Glenfield
6 Lt-Col Armstrong's ... b aus g ... Knight Templar
7 Mr A A Apcar's ... b aus g ... Goldsmith
8 Mr K D Biswas's ... b aus g ... Promontory
9 Mr Spooner Hart's ... b aus g ... Wallgrove

THE DESERT HANDICAP—1¼MILLES.

1 Lt-Col J Desaraj Urs' ... ch a h ... Rubric
2 Mr W F Wormald's ... b a h ... Baby Boy

THE DEWAN'S PURSE—¾MILE.

1 Mr Liebenrood's ... br ch g ... Landwind
2 Col J P Grant's ... b ch h ... Prime
3 Ditto ... ch ch g ... Philistine
4 Mr A A Apcar's ... ch ch g ... Phil
5 Mr J D Scott's ... b ch h ... Louis

2nd Entries close 20th June, 1903.

BANGALORE, 2nd June 1903.

H. DONNE,
Secretary, Bangalore Races.

Ponies.

C. T. C. Measurements.

CALCUTTA.

THE following ponies were classed, aged and measured at Calcutta, on the 22nd May 1903, by the Official Measurer:—

Pony's Name.	Description.	Owner's Name.	Age.	Height.	Period.
Fanny	b aus m	Capt J. Ward	Aged	13-0	For life.
Little Eva	dk b or br aus m	Mr G. B. Paris	Aged	13-3¼	For life.
Matsa	ch aus m	Messrs. F. Chapman & Co	Aged	13-2¼	For life.

THE following horse was classed, aged, and measured at Calcutta, on 22nd May 1903 by the Official Measurer:—

Horse's Name.	Description.	Owner's Name.	Age.	Height.
Reinzette	ch e m	Mr. K. G. Banerjee	3	14-2¼	—

W. I. T. C. Measurements.

POONA.

THE following pony was classed, aged and measured, by the Official Measurer, W. I. T. Club, at Poona, on the 18th May, 1903:—

Scattercash	g a h	Capt Hon'ble C. F. Greville	4	14-0	31st March, 1904.

BOMBAY.

THE following pony was classed, aged and measured, by the Official Measurer, W. I. T. Club, at Bombay, on the 25th May 1903:—

Cinder	bk aus m	Mr. A. W. P.	6	14-1¼	For life.

Sport in England.

(FROM OUR OWN SPORTING CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Friday, 22nd May, 1903.

THE TURF.

THE clashing of two such fixtures as Gatwick and Haydock Park cannot have any appreciable effect upon either, and Messrs. Platt had every cause to be satisfied with the results of to-day's gathering In addition to the Metropolitan division, who filled the well-arranged special trains from Victoria and London Bridge, the Southern contingent is always well represented here, and every advantage was taken by the public of the convenient service to and from Brighton. Thus, by the time the ball was set rolling the enclosures presented quite a holiday appearance, and the band of the Royal Marines enlivened the proceedings by playing a tuneful selection of popular airs from their vantage ground on the Members' Lawn There was a time in the morning when appearances favoured a wet day, but happily the threatened downpour held off, and, with the solitary exception of a passing shower prior to the opening event, the afternoon proved fine. The conditions improved steadily hour by hour, and it was in a blaze of sunshine that the last race was run. A drying wind, assisted to some extent by the solar rays, had effectually counteracted the soaking effects of the recent rainfall, so that the going was in capital order. Interest in the sport was well maintained, and backers held their own in their exchanges with the Ring.

Details of the principal race:—

THE ALEXANDRA HANDICAP—Of 877 sovs. Six furlongs.

Sir J Miller's b h Cossack, by Ayrshire—Kosakin, 5yrs, 9st 2lbs ... ... Maher 1
Mr Ivor E Hughes s b or br h Engineer, 5yrs, 7st 11b (car 7st 3lbs) B Dillon 2
Sir R Waldie Griffith's br c Loch Leven, 4yrs, 6st 13lbs ... ... Griggs 3
Mr W C Whitney's Ballantrae, 4yrs, 8st 6lbs ... ... J H Martin 0
Mr J Lewis s Valiant, 4yrs, 7st 10lbs ... H Aylin 0
„ R W B Jardine's Tar Brush, 4yrs, 7st 10lbs ... ... O Madden 0
Major Jolcey's Sterling Balm, 4yrs, 7st 4lbs Trigg 0
Mr A James's Achaicus, 4yrs, 7st 7lbs ... Watts 0
„ H J King's Mimicry, 4yrs, 7st 6lbs ... Hardy 0
„ Horsman's Goldrush, 4yrs, 6st 12lbs ... Knott 0
Prince Soltykoff's Leisure Hour, aged, 6st 12lbs ... ... J Lane 0
Mr R Dalgleish's Pitch Dark, 3yrs, 6st 8lbs (car 6st 9lbs) ... — Miller 0
Mr B Ellam's Switch Cap, 3yrs, 6st ... Plant 0

(Winner trained by Blackwell, at Newmarket.)

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

FLOR DE SPENCER.

Head Office: Madras
Factory: Dindigul Southern India.
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co

BETTING: 5 to 2 each agst. Cossack and Achaicus, 8 to 1 Sterling Balm, 10 to 1 Engineer, 100 to 7 each Tar Brush and Pitch Dark, and 20 to 1 any other (offered).

Won a fine race by a short head; a length and a half separated the second and third. Switch Cap was fourth, Sterling Balm fifth, Achaicus sixth, Pitch Dark seventh, Mimicry eighth, Leisure Hour next, and Goldrush last. Time by Benson's chronograph, 1min. 19secs.

The liberality of the Gatwick executive in offering prize money to the amount of £2,000 on the second day was well rewarded, the number of runners reaching a high aggregate, whilst class was fairly well represented. The closing stage of the fixture was not destined to pass by without encountering the hostility of the elements. Frequent cold showers with no compensating sunshine during the intervals detracted considerably from the comfort of the spectators, who turned up in even greater force than on the previous day, with the result that the London and Brighton Railway Company found their accommodation taxed to the utmost, and special trains had to be hastily improvised. Beyond being slightly dead, the going was in first-rate order and from first to last there was no lack of "go" in the proceedings Backers had again to put up with a series of disappointments, only one first favourite, in Dolores Olga, succeeding in catching the judge's eye, whilst the race of the day, the valuable Prince's Handicap, saw the improving but unfancied Wavelet's Pride cut down a big field of useful handicap horses in irreproachable style to the consternation of the talent, who sought in vain for any encouragement to support the stout son of Fernandez.

Appended are details of the chief race:—

THE RINCE'S HANDICAP—Of 827 sovs. One mile and a half.

Major J. D. Edwards's b h Wavelet's Pride, by Fernandez—Wavelet, 6 yrs, 7st 11lbs	Compton	1
Lord Derby's br h Andrea Ferrara, 5 yrs, 7st 4lbs	H. Aylin	2
Mr J Sloncombe's ch h Grey Tick, aged, 7st 6lbs	Watts	3
Mr Spencer Gollan's Seahorse II., aged, 8st	Knott	0
„ H. Lindemere's Congratulation, 5 yrs, 7st 5lbs	B Dillon	0
Sir J. Miller's Rondeau, 3 yrs, 7st 3lb ...	Martin	0
„ E. Vincent's Parody, 4 yrs, 6st 10lbs ...	Trigg	0
Mr T. Corns's Rightful, 4 yrs, 6st 7lbs ...	Dicker	0
„ S. Platt's Monitress, 4 yrs, 6st 10lbs ...	Griggs	0
Lord H de Walden's Amoret II., 4 yrs, 6st 10lbs	Miller	0

Mr H. J. King's The Wag was weighed for by Plant, but threw his jockey on the way to the post, and did not come under the starter's orders.

(Winner trained by owner, at Ogbourne.)

BETTING: 9 to 4 agst Rondeau, 5 to 2 Congratulation, 11 to 2 Andrea Ferrara, 100 to 8 each Wavelet's Pride, Grey Tick, Parody, and Rightful, 100 to 7 Monitress, and 20 to 1 any other

Won by a length and a half; four lengths separated the second and third. Congratulation was placed fourth, Monitress was fifth, Rondeau sixth, Parody seventh, Seahorse II. eighth, and Rightful last. The Wag was weighed for by Plant but bolted and threw his rider on the way to the post and did not come under the starter's orders. Time by Benson's chronograph, 2mins. 47 secs.

As is usually the case in the week preceding the Derby, the attention of racegoers is divided between the Northern and Western circuits, sport being conducted at York and Doncaster simultaneously with that at Bath and Salisbury. These are one and all fixtures of very old standing, but the two Yorkshire reunions are perhaps the richer in historical association, in addition to which their programmes are more liberally endowed. The fact that of twenty-eight horses despatched from Newmarket by the early specials yesterday morning twenty-four were consigned to York, whereas only a quartette journeyed westwards, bears eloquent testimony to the popularity—especially amongst a certain class of owners—of the Northern tryst, and once more the lion's share of the prize-money was secured by horses trained at "head-quarters." The Spring Meeting here has never taken quite such a hold on the affections of the sport-loving community as that held in August, but few of them would dream of foregoing a day's racing in the precincts of the venerable city, and it was good to see thousands of holiday folk wending their way coursewards in an unbroken procession through the forenoon. By the time the ball was set rolling Knavesmire was thronged with all sorts and conditions of spectators, the vast majority of whom were well content to witness the equine struggles without committing themselves to speculation even of the most modest description. The going was heavy, as a result of the recent continuous rains but good fields contested nearly all the events, and genial sunshine and balmy breezes characterised the opening of the Northern campaign.

THE GREAT NORTHERN HANDICAP PLATE—Of 445 sovs. One mile and a half.

Mr G Faber's b f Loveite, by St. Frusquin —Orle, 4yrs, 8st	Hardy	1
Mr K Carlton's ch h Flavus, aged, 7st 12lbs	W Lane	2
„ F Langstaff's br c Catty Crag, 3yrs, 6st 13lbs	Miller	3
Lord Ellesmere's Pax, aged, 9st ...	Halsey	0
Sir J Kelk's Orbel, 5yrs, 8st 11lb ...	J Jarvis	0
Lord Derby's Andrea Ferrara, 5yrs, 8st 6lbs	Maher	0
Mr L de Rothschild's Pom Pom, 4yrs, 7st 6lbs	Watts	0
Mr C Perkins's Roseburn, 3yrs, 6st 8lbs ...	Murray	0
„ G G Tod's D'Orsay, 3yrs, 6st 7lbs ...	Janek	0
„ D J Jardine's Nestor, 5yrs, 6st 10lbs ...	Hoppell	0

(Winner trained by J. Porter, at Kingsclere.)

BETTING: 2 to 1 agst Andrea Ferrara, 5 to 1 Loveite, 6 to 1 Roseburn 8 to 1 Catty Crag, 100 to 12 D'Orsay, 10 to 1 each Flavus, Pom Pom, and Nestor, and 100 to 7 any other.

Won easily by three lengths; four lengths between second and third. Orbel was fourth, D'Orsay fifth, Pom Pom sixth, Andrea Ferrara seventh, Roseburn next, and Pax last throughout.

THE ZETLAND STAKES.—Of 200 sovs, for two-years; old colts 8st 12lbs, fillies and geldings 8st 9lbs with penalties and allowances. T Y C (five furlongs).

Mr T W P Rivis's b g Rosebury, by Crewberry—Lady Cadeby, 8st 6lb ...	Dalton	1
Mr J Joicey's ch c by Raeburn—Alberta, 8st 6lbs	Maher	2
Mr J Gadola's br f La Mandchourie, 8st 6lbs	Hare	3
„ J Bell's Lass o' Gowrie, 8st 6lbs ...	Caley	0
Lord Durham's c by Florizel II.—Diablerie, 8st 9lbs	Watts	0
Sir J Blundell Maple's Stately Lady, 8st 6lbs	W Lane	0
Mr G G Tod's Miss Flite, 8st 6lbs ...	J McCall	0

(Winner trained by T Anson at Malton.)

BETTING: 3 to 1 agst Alberta colt, 7 to 2 Stately Lady, 4 to 1 Rosebery, 6 to 1 Diablerie colt, and 10 to 1 any other.

Won in a canter by a length and a half; two lengths separated the second and third. Diablerie colt was fourth, Stately Lady fifth, and Miss Flite last throughout.

The doubtfuly bred dragon who officiates in the capacity of weathercock high upon the church tower of St. Martin-cum Gregory was seen to be facing due east on the morning of the 20th instant as soon as it was light enough to discern his sinuous form silhouetted against the dark and angry sky. Seeing that the monster bears on his off-wing the date of 1771, his veracity on a simple matter of the kind should be beyond question, but he was caught napping for once, as a move out of doors soon proved what little breeze there was coming in fitful puffs from south-west A raw, misty atmosphere seemed to portend rain and, indeed, a sprinkling of moisture made itself felt more than once during the early hours. Few people patronised the exercise gallops, and things were unduly quiet. The city walls did not attract quite so many sightseers as usual, and the Minster, half enveloped in scaffolding, was deserted by the time a resumption was made. However, the course was crowded again, and the stands and enclosures presented a busy appearance. A somewhat earlier start was effected at half-past one and the programme, contained half-a-dozen items as against seven yesterday Unfortunately the afternoon turned out showery, but the rain did not amount to much, and a capital day's sport was provided, a gratifying feature of the proceedings being the pronounced success of Northern-trained horses.

THE FLYING DUTCHMAN HANDICAP PLATE—Of 275 sovs. One mile.

Mr T W P Rivis's b c The Foreman, by Bend Or or Orme—Crusade, 4yrs, 7st 4lbs	Miller	1
Mr C H Hannam's b c Raven's Flight, 4yrs, 8st	J H Martin	2
Sir J Kelk's b h Mirus, 5yrs, 9st 11b (inc 7lbs ex)	Maher	3
Mr D J Jardine's Gardenhurst, 5 yrs, 8st 11b	Heppell	0
Mr. C Perkins's Triplands, 5yrs, 8st ...	W Lane	0
„ J Sweeney's Simonhatch, 3yrs, 6st 7lbs	Murray	0
„ B Eliam's Pitch Battle, 3yrs, 6st 2lbs	J Jarvis	0

(Winner trained by T Anson at Malton.)

BETTING: 85 to 40 agst Raven's Flight, 3 to 1 Mirus, 6 to 1 each Triplands and Simonhatch, 8 to 1 The Foreman, 10 to 1 Pitch Battle, and 20 to 1 Gardenhurst.

Won by a length; six lengths between second and third. Gardenhurst was fourth, Pitch Battle fifth, and Simonhatch last throughout.

THE LONDESBOROUGH PLATE—Of 215 sovs; weight for age, etc. One mile and a half.

Mr E A Wiener's ch c Skiograph by Rightaway—Clouded Yellow, 3yrs, 8st 2lbs	Heppell	1
Major W H Fife's b c St Phocas, 3yrs 7st 7lbs	Miller	2
Mr G Seeman's br c by Galloping Lad—mino, 3yrs, 7st 10lbs	G McCall	3
„ H J Newman's Cock of the Roost, 3yrs, 8st	W Lane	0
„ W Sanderson's Melsary, 3yrs, 7st 2lbs	Harvey	0

(Winner trained by Kennedy at Richmond.)

BETTING: 13 to 8 agst Skiograph, 5 to 2Cock of the Roost, 5 to 1 each St Incas and Mino colt, and 7 to 1 Melsary.

Won easily by six lengths; two lengths separated the second and third. Cock of the Roost was fourth.

The town of Doncaster presents a vastly different appearance during the Spring Meeting from that associated with the all-important September function In contrast to the stress and turmoil which make a perfect pandemonium of the place on the St. Leger day, the streets early this morning were a marvel of peace and quietness, and it was not until approaching noon that the peripatetic vendors of butterscotch, racecards, pork pies, and "paddock finals" combined to make life hideous with their raucous clamour The sun had reached its meridian before the stream of holiday-makers began to set course-ways, but the townsfolk turned out in their accustomed strength, and, supplemented by visitors from York, Leeds, and the adjacent hives of industry, they made a brave show on the spreading Town Moor by the time the ball was set rolling. Happily the conditions were all that could be desired. A soft south-westerly breeze and brilliant sunshine were the accompaniments to which the meeting was inaugurated and the summerlike weather was all the more welcome by reason of having been long deferred. A few days ago the course had been very heavy, but the turf had recovered wonderfully in the meantime, and to-day the going was in good order, if inclined to be soft. Fields reached average dimensions, and some capital sport was witnessed.

THE DONCASTER SPRING HANDICAP—Of 555 sovs. The Sandall Mile.

Mr L de Rothschild's ch h Kunstler, by Juggler—Doreas, 5yrs, 7st 2lbs ...	Murray	1
Sir J Blundell Maple's b f Simony, 4yrs, 8st 3lbs	W Lane	2
Mr C Schlesinger's b h the Wyvern, aged, 6st 9lbs	Miller	3
Sir E Vincent's Waban, 5yrs, 8st 5lbs ...	Maher	0
Lord Durham's King's Limner, 4yrs, 7st 8lbs	Watts	0
Mr T Southall's Cherokee, 5yrs, 6st 11lbs...	Knight	0
„ C H Hannam's Raven's Flight, 4yrs, 7st 11b	J H Martin	0
Mr H J King's Amurath, aged, 6st 10lbs ...	Barnard	0

(Winner trained by Hayhoe, at Newmarket.)

BETTING: 5 to 2 agst Simony, 9 to 2 Waban, 5 to 1 Kunstler, 6 to 1 King's Limner, 8 to 1 Raven's Flight, 100 to 8 each Cherokee and The Wyvern, and 100 to 6 Amurath.

Won easily by three-quarters of a length; two lengths separated second and third. King's Limner was placed fourth, Raven's Flight was fifth. Waban next, and Cherokee last.

THE PORTLAND STAKES (high-weight Handicap)—Of 260 sovs One mile and a three furlongs.

Mr Reid Walker's ch g Courlan, by Gallinule—Clarion, 6yrs, 10st 9lbs ...	Halsey	1
Mr J Thompson's b f Suezath, 4yrs, 8st 10lbs	Lawn	2
Mr H Flaval's b c Lad O'Wax, 4yrs, 8st 5lbs	Fagan	3
Major J M Gordon's Wolf, 6yrs, 9st 9lbs ...	Watts	0
Duke of Devonshire's Slowburn, aged, 9st 11b	K Cannon	0
Lord Farquhar's f by Simonfault—Asteria, 4yrs, 8st 11lbs	Maher	0
Mr T Jennings's Bayona, 3yrs, 8st ...	J H Martin	0

(Winner trained by W. Robinson, at Farhill.)

BETTING: 5 to 4 agst the Asteria filly, 7 to 2 Lad O' Wax, 7 to 1 Suezath, 8 to 1 Bayona, and 10 to 1 each Courlan, Wolf, and Slowburn.

Won by half a length; two length between second and third. Slowburn was fourth, Asteria filly fifth, and Wolf last throughout.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.
According to size. From
J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

CRICKET.

SURREY vs. WORCESTERSHIRE.—Played at Worcester on 14th 15th and 16th May and abandoned.

SURREY.

First innings.		Second innings.
Hayward, c and b Bird	31	b Wilson,	15
Holland, b Keene ...	23	b Wilson,	12
Hayes, b Wilson .	102	c Wilson, b Arnold	2
Lockwell, b Arnold ...	2	b Arnold	0
Brockwell, b Bird ...	51	c Gaukrodger, b Arnold	0
E. Wiltshire, b Arnold	13	st Gaukrodger, b Arnold	33
L. Walker, lbw, b Arnold	2	b Arnold	5
Clode, c Keene, b Bird	0	c Smith, b Arnold	23
Montgomery, b Bird	1	b Wilson	6
Strudwick, b Arnold	6	b Arnold	6
Jackson, not out ...	0	not out	0
B 1, lb 2 w 1 ...	4	Lb 5, w 1 ...
Total	235	Total	108

WORCESTERSHIRE.

Bowley, c Strudwick, b Lockwood ...	0	Pearson, c Walker, b Brockwell ...	0
Wheldon, c Hayward, b Lockwood...	20	A. W Isaac, run out	2
Smith, c Strudwick, b Lockwood ...	10	Bird, lbw, b Montgomery	0
H.K.Foster, c Jackson, b Brockwell...	35	Wilson, c Clode, b Brockwell ...	0
Arnold, not out	67	Keene, run out	5
Gaukrodger, c Strudwick, b Brockwell	0	Leg-bye	1
		Total ...	140

Second innings: Bowley, not out, 7; Foster, not out, 17; extras, 3.—Total (for no wicket), 27.

LANCASHIRE vs WARWICKSHIRE.—Played at Old Trafford on 14th, 15th and 16th May and abandoned.

LANCASHIRE.

First innings.		Second innings.
A C Maclaren, b Hargreave ...	0	c & b Hargreave ...	20
Ward, b Santall	3	c Kinneir, b Santall ...	8
Tyldesley, c Quaife, b Hargreave	32	c Whittle, b Hargreave ...	53
R H Spooner, c and b Moorhouse	24	st Lilley, b Hargreave ...	1
A H Hornby, b Hargreave ...	4	c Charlesworth, b Hargreave ...	3
Sharpe, c and b Santall ...	13	c Fishwick, b Moorhouse ...	3
A Eccles, b Santall ...	6	c Lilley, b Hargreave ...	0
Barnes, b Hargreave ...	1	c & b Moorhouse ...	4
Littlewood, c Charlesworth, b Hargreave ...	5	not out	5
Webb, c Hargreave, b Santall ...	6	b Moorhouse ...	4
Blomeley, not out	2	st Lilley, b Hargreave ...	0
B 3, lb 3 ...	6	B 6, lb 4, w 2 ...	12
Total ..	102	Total	113

WARWICKSHIRE.

Devey, run out	2	T. S. Fishwick, b Barnes	4
Kinneir, b Barnes	26	Santall, c and b Littlewood	0
J. F. Byrne, C Tyldesley, b Barnes ...	0	Whittle, c Spooner, b Littlewood	8
Quaife, b Barnes ...	4	Hargreave, not out ...
Charlesworth, lbw, b Barnes	4	B 9, lb 2	11
Lilley, c and b Littlewood	31
Moorhouse, b Webb ...	13	Total ...	103

ESSEX vs. YORKSHIRE.—Played at Leyton on 14th, 15th, and 16th. May. Yorkshire won by 261 runs. It is hardly likely that any Essex man felt at all confident that his county might, with equal luck on both sides, succeed in beating Yorkshire in this match, for the Yorkshiremen are always the most formidable in a season like the present. They have so much batting and so much bowling of a high class, that a side which is not particularly strong in either of these branches of the game must be more or less out of the running. From the very first the Yorkshiremen looked like winning without much difficulty. It was not that any startling batting was shown, but man after man showed good form, and seemed determined to make runs; indeed Brown, jun., alone failed to secure double figures. Perhaps the best cricket on the first day was shown by Haigh, but Denton, Brown, sen., Lord Hawke and Rhodes all played sound, and for the most part, methodical cricket. When the innings ended, Essex had to bat twenty minutes, but after Brown, jun., had bowled a very fast over, and Buckenham had been l. b. w. to Haigh, Sewell, who had gone in first, appealed, justly enough, against the light, and stumps were drawn. On the next morning things went very badly indeed for the home team, and disasters came in such quick succession that seven wickets were down for 36. Young and Kortright then saved the situation, and the follow-on was saved. In the Yorkshire second innings there was the same methodical batting, although not as many men made good scores as in the first innings On the other hand, Tunnicliffe played a great defensive game, being at the wickets for two hours and a half, during which he occasionaly made some powerful hits. Lord Hawke also did particularly well. Just before six o'clock the innings came to an end, and in the last twenty minutes Essex had a sad time, losing Sewell, Young and Mead for two runs, so that the task for the morrow was as nearly hopless as possible—332 runs to be made with seven wickets in hand. Haigh and Hirst were nearly irresistible on Saturday, but Perrin, Tremlin, and especially Kortright, were seen to some advantage with the bat.

YORKSHIRE.

First innings.		Second innings.
Tunnicliffe, b Tremlin ...	15	c Kortright, b Buckenham ...	62
Brown (sen.), Buckenham ...	28	b Buckenham ...	18
Denton, c Tremlin, b Buckenham	32	c Turner, b Buckenham ...	8
Wilkinson, c Tremlin, b Mead ...	15	c McGahey, b Young ...	18
Hirst, c Tremlin, b Young ...	16	b Young ...	9
Rhodes, c Sewell, b Mead ...	24	b Mead ...	16
Haigh, b Tremlin	44	c Turner, b Buckenham ...	3
Walker Wainwright, b McGahey	13	c Mead, b Tremlin	18
Lord Hawke, b Mead ...	20	b Young ...	25
Brown (jun.), c Gillingham, b Tremlin	6	b Young ...	10
Hunter, not out	11	not out ...	2
B 14, lb 2	16	B 8, lb 1 ...	9
Total ...	240	Total ..	189

FREE DRAWING.
FULL FLAVOUR.
MANUFACTURED BY
SPENCER & CO., Ld., Madras.

JAVA DAWSON.

OBTAINABLE EVERYWHERE.
Sole Wholesale Agents in
CALCUTTA:
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

WATERPROOFS.

STANDARD QUALITIES at STANDARD PRICES.

DRAB VULCANIZED CHESTERFIELD COATS.

The "Lightweight." Light weight material throughly Waterproof.
Price, Rs. 4-14.

The "Improved Stormproof." Superior quality drab twill, thoroughly reliable and durable. Price, Rs. 8-14.

The "Impenetrable." All seams straped and sewn. Extra strong and durable.
Price, Rs. 12-14.

DRAB VULCANIZED INVERNESS CLOAKS.

The "Highland." No sleeves Drab Vulcanized Cambric, a good light quality thoroughly Waterproof. Price, Rs. 7-4.

The "Tirhoot." Thoroughly Waterproof, with deep cape extra strong and durable.
Price, Rs. 12-8.

The "New Planter." Specially strong and durable suitable for Navy and rough usage. Recommended. Price, Rs. 17-8.

BLACK WATERPROOF CHESTERFIELD COATS.
THE "LONSDALE."
Extra light weight and thoroughly Waterproof Coat.
Price, Rs. 5-12.

BLACK WATERPROOF CHESTERFIELD COATS.
THE "MONSOON."
Thin Black Twill, thoroughly Waterproof and reliable.
Price, Rs. 9-8 each.

MILITARY or CIVILIAN WATERPROOF CLOAKS.

SEWN and STRAPPED SEAMS.

The "Cornwallis" Khaki or Black. A strong quality Sewn and strapped seams, Black or Khaki, double texture paramatta, throughly rainproof eminently satisfactory.
Price, Rs. 19-12 each.

The "Hussar" Black or Khaki, sewn and strapped seams. Thoroughly hard wearing and improved with two pockets and riding slit, but no sword slit suitable for Civilian or military use. Fit for hard use and wear.
Price, Rs. 26-8.

MILITARY or CIVILIAN WATERPROOF CLOAKS.

SEWN and STRAPED SEAMS.
REAL REGULATION.

The "Dragoon" Black or Khaki. An improved shade and extra hard wearing quality. Sewn and straped seams, with sword and arm slits, arm slings, leg straps and chain collar.
Price Rs. 32-8.

The "New Scarboro" Naval Regulation or Civilian Cloak, has detachable Circular Cape. Very best quality, Silk Paramatta, ventilator sleeves, riding slit and slings, and arm slings. Cape and Coat can be worn separately, if desired, Velost collar and chain fostner. Price, Rs. 47-8.

WHITEAWAY, LAIDLAW & Co., Calcutta.

ESTABLISHED 1847. ESTABLISHED 1847.

HAROLD & CO.

. . SOLE AGENTS FOR . .

JOHN BRINSMEAD & SONS.

By Royal Warrant to H. M. The King.
By Royal Warrant to H. M. The Queen.

NEW MODEL PIANOS.

The perfection of tone, touch and durability
Manufactured specially for India and extreme climates
In solid Chippendale Mahogany of unique and artistic design.

Upright Grand, Iron Frame, full trichord ... .. Rs. 1,000
Cottage, Iron Frame, full trichord ... ... „ 850-0

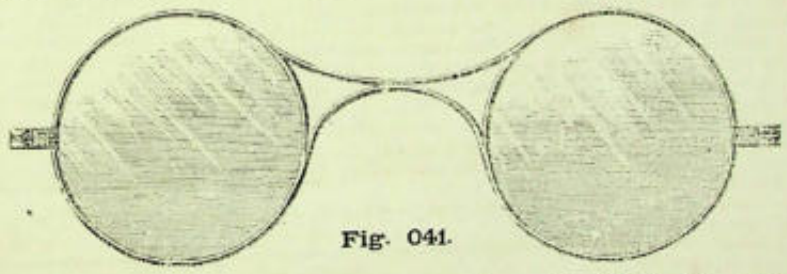
Other Pianos by the leading English and Continental Makers.
Particulars and Prices on application.

HAROLD & Co., Calcutta.

JAMES MURRAY & CO., CALCUTTA.

ROUND EYE SPECTACLES.

For Billiards, Shooting, and General Out-door Sports.



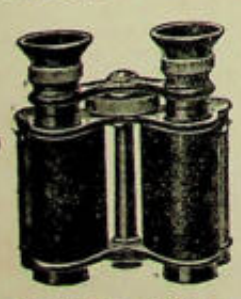


Fig. 041.

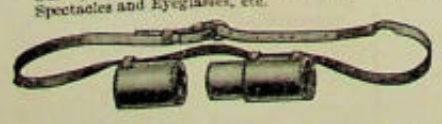
Gold, fine glasses	... ...	from Rs. 35 to Rs. 65.
Silver „ „	... ..	„ „ 15.
Light Nickel frames, fine glasses	...	... „ 8-0.
„ Steel „ „ „	...	... „ 5-8.
Gold filled	... ...	... „ 18.

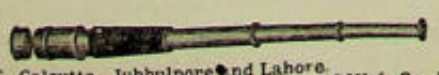
For Tinted Lenses, convex or concave, in lieu of white, add Rs. 2 extra to above quotations.
For Brazilian Pebbles, in lieu of glasses, add Rs. 5 extra to above quotations.

ROSS Ltd.

Manufacturing Opticians.
111, New Bond St. LONDON.
Established 1830.



TELESCOPES FOR LAND AND SEA.
Used by Naval and Military Officers and Yachtsmen in all parts of the World.



FIELD AND MARINE GLASSES.
Cannot be excelled for brilliancy o definition. Prices low. Inspection invited.

PHOTOGRAPHIC CAMERAS,
And Aparatus. Complete Outfits for every purposes. Quality guaranteed.

CATALOGUES, FREE BY POST.
Of Lenses, Field Glasses, Telescopes, Surveying and Drawing Instruments, Spectacles and Eyeglasses, etc.

New Model Patent, Prismatic Binocular.
The Power of a Telescope in the Compass of an Opera Glass.

Contractor to H. M. Government.
Highest Awards at all Great International Exhibitions.

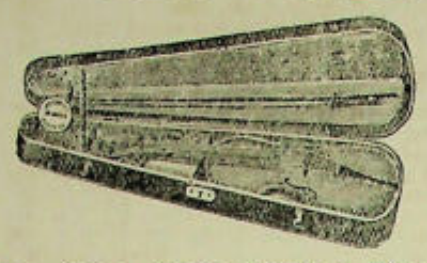
Sold by JOHN BLEES, Calcutta, Jubbulpore and Lahore. OAKES & Co., Madras. P. ORR & Co., Madras. BARTON SON & Co., Bangalore. COOKE & KELVEY Calcutta, Simla and Lahore. TREACHER & Co., Ld., Bombay. ARMY & NAVY Co., Operative Society, Ld., Bombay and Calcutta. J. G. BECHTLER & Co., Allahabad and Mussoorie, and all Leading Opticians and Dealers.

A very Popular

MESS AND CLUB

WHISKEY IN WOOD.

JOHN HOPKINS & Co.'s OLD SCOTCH
Per Gallon Rs. 13-8.
GUARANTEED 5 OVER PROOF.



Supplied in - - -
Original Hogsheads and Quarter Casks.

DEVEREUX & Co., Ld. Wine Merchants and Mess Agents,

4, BANKSHALL STREET, CALCUTTA; ALSO AT BOMBAY AND LONDON.

T. E. BEVAN & CO.'S

VIOLIN SETS.

Comprising Violin, Case, Bow, Tuning Pipe, extra Strings and Instruction Book.

These Instruments are not "Toys" and the Cheapest is well made.

		Rs.	A.
No. 1.	The "Learner's" Set complete	15	0
„ 2.	The "Academy" Set complete	20	0
„ 3.	The "Artist's" Set complete	30	0
„ 4.	The "Paragon" Set complete	35	0
No. 5.	The "Superior" Set complete	45	0
„ 6.	The "Eclipse" Set complete	55	0
„ 7.	The "Premier" Set complete	65	0

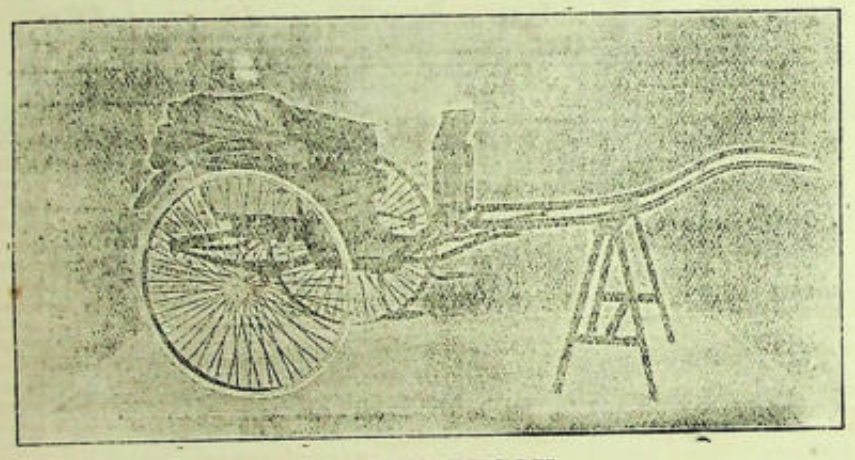
These Sets are guaranteed the best value for the money and are

VERY SUITABLE FOR PRESENTATION.

Strings and Fittings of the best quality and fresh Supplies every week.

T. E. BEVAN & Co.,

THE LONDON MUSICAL DEPÔT.



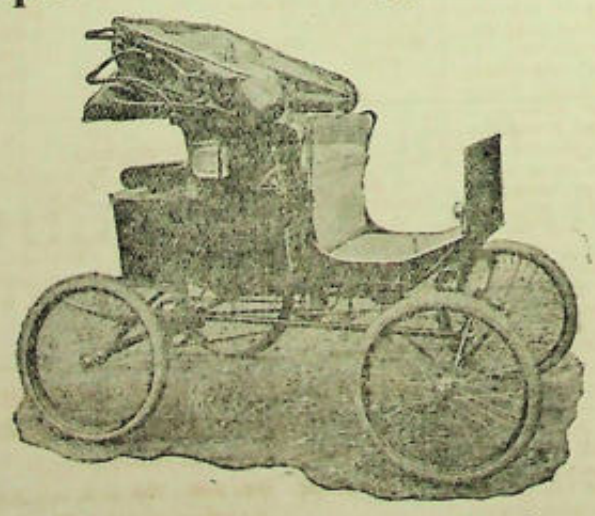
CALCUTTA.

STEUART & Co., Calcutta.

ESTABLISHED 1775.

COACH BUILDERS

TO HIS EXCELLENCY LORD CURZON.



LADY'S BUGGY.

THE

MOTOR TRANSPORT & SUPPLY Co.,

Importers and Suppliers of

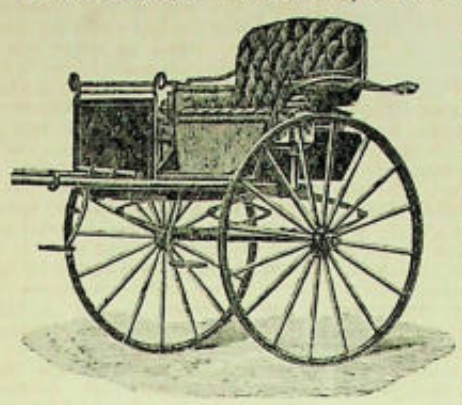
Heavy Steam Transport Vehicles of all descriptions.

All types of Motor Cars.

Particulars and Estimate from the Agents:—

SHAW WALLACE & Co.,

Green Street, BOMBAY.

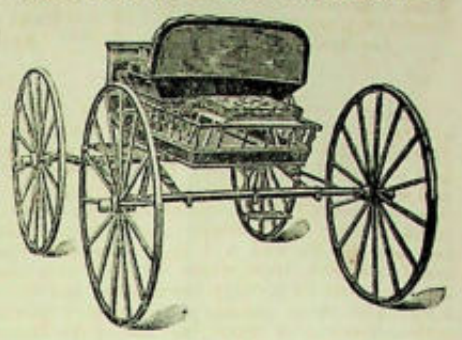


20, Strand Road, CALCUTTA.

CORTLAND

AMERICAN CARRIAGES.

Especially designedfor Indian Use.



VERY LIGHT WEIGHT, GREAT COMFORT, EASY DRAUGHT.

No. 61.

The "Henrietta" Car or Gig.

Light, strong, and very comfortable for one or two persons.
The balance is perfect, the riding easy.
A fine driving Gig, at a moderate price.
Trimmed Leather, and painted dark Green striped Carmine.
Specially adopted for rough roads and hilly districts.
Weight about 2¼ cwt.
Price, trimmed in Leather ... 25 Guineas.
Inclusive of Patent Lamps, Wings and Mat.
Suits horses 14 to 15¼ hands.

No. 096.

THE "PLANTER'S BUGGY."

Especially designed for Indian and Colonia use. Is supplied in varnished natural wood Trimmed in russet leather, and with hood and side curtains. Has hind seat and step for Syce

Price as shown ...	...	25 Guineas
„ with russet hood	...	33 „
„ of Lamps extra	...	2 „
Pole with whippletress for pair horse extra ...	...	5 „

Suits horses14 to 16 hands.

No charge for cases or packing.

DELIVERED TO DOCKS IN LONDON.

Bankers:—London and County Bank, Covent Garden.

Illustrated Catalogues and every information post free from the Makers.

CORTLAND WAGON Co.,

Henrietta Street, Covent Garden, LONDON, W.C

Cable Address:—"Eligible, London."

CANNANORE COTTON FABRICS.

Awards:—2 Gold and 2 Silver Medals.

TROUSERINGS, COATINGS.

Imitation Tweeds, Mixtures, Shikari and plain Materials, etc. Corduroys, Drills, Riding Canvas, Ginghams in neat and fancy patterns, Cotton Shirtings elastic and light texture, a substitute for Flannel.

TABLE LINEN.

Damask Table Cloths and Napkins, Diamond Table Cloths and Napkins, Toilet Table Covers and Teapoy Covers.

BED AND TOILET LINEN, etc.

Counterpanes for Single and Double Beds.
Sheeting, Plain and Twilled, for Single and Double Beds.
Face and Hand Towels, Honeycomb Bath Towels and Bath Sheets.

Natural Grey Wool Stockinette Underclothing.
Cotton Jersey Shirts and Banians.

TAILORING DEPARTMENT.

Under the supervision of a European Cutter. Orders are kindly solicited.

Basel Mission Weaving Establishment,

CANNANORE, MALABAR.

ESSEX.

First innings.			Second innings.
Buckenham, lbw, b Haigh	...	5	not out	3
Sewell, b Hirst	...	3	b Haigh	1
Tremlin, b Hirst	...	4	c Hunter, b Hirst	13
P. Perrin, b Haigh	...	0	b Hirst	17
C. McGahey, c Wainwright, b Haigh	...	7	b Haigh	10
A. J. Turner, b Hirst	...	1	b Hirst	0
C. J. Kortright, c Hirst, b Rhodes		22	b Hirst	22
Rev. F. H. Gillingham, c Hunter, b Haigh	...	12	b Haigh	5
Young, c Tunnicliffe, b Rhodes		35	b Hirst	0
Mead, b Rhodes	...	0	b Hirst	0
Russel (E.), not out	...	5	b Haigh	0
Leg-byes	...	2	Byes	1
Total	...	96	Total	72

OXFORD UNIVERSITY vs. GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND.—Played at Oxford on 14th, 15th, and 16th May. Gentlemen won by 85 runs. This match was chiefly remarkable for the all-round play of B. J. T Bosanquet. He was in wonderful batting form, and being fortunate enough to get well bold of a new bowler who was not promptly taken off, he had a fine time. When Winterbotham came on, Bosanquet hit him for three 4's in the first over, and two 6's and a 4 in the second. The bowler was allowed four overs, from which 48 runs were made. Bosanquet scored his first 50 in thirty-five minutes, and his second in thirty minutes, his entire innings lasting seventy minutes. There was nothing remarkable about the rest of the England batting, but it should be mentioned that Key was out to a magnificent catch on the pavilion rails. Against the bowling of Cranfield and Bradley, Oxford did not do at all badly, and when stumps were drawn they had scored 112 for eight wickets, Carlisle having played the best innings. On the following day there was not much interest in the cricket. Dillon, Bosanquet and Bennett played well for the Gentlemen, and Evans bowled with great effect for Oxford. It did not seem very likely that Oxford would make the 199 runs required to win, but they made a fair commencement, which was discounted by some effective bowling by Bosanquet, who, going on after a shower, took three wickets in three overs. When the day's play ended at five o'clock, owing to rain, Oxford had lost six wickets for 61, and were easily beaten on the next morning.

GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND.

First innings.			Second innings.
E W Dillon, b Ernsthausen	...	19	b Evans	31
C H B Marsham, c Burn, b Martin	...	7	c Winterbotham, b Burn	4
L O S Poidevin, c Evans, b Burn		5	c Darling, b Winterbotham	19
B J T Bosanquet, c Worsley, b Martin	...	108	b Evans	30
J C Hartley, c Ernsthausen, b Burn	...	18	b Evans	0
G J V Weigall, c McIver, b Ernsthausen	...	1	b Evans	0
K J Key, c Carlisle b Burn	...	5	c Darling, b Amory	9
R A Bennett, c Findlay, b Martin	...	0	not out	23
Rev. J Burroughs, not out	...	22	b Evans	1
W M Bradley, c Carlisle, b Burn		5	c Winterbotham, b Martin	1
Cranfield, b Martin	...	2	b Evans	3
Wide	...	1	B 8, lb 1, w 1	7
Total	...	193	Total	128

OXFORD UNIVERSITY.

First innings.			Second innings.
R S Darling, b Cranfield	...	4	c Poidevin, b Bradley	6
W Findlay, lbw, b Cranfield	...	12	c Cranfield, b Bosanquet	12
C D McIver, c & b Hartley	...	0	b Bosanquet	22
W H B Evans, c Marsham b Cranfield	...	5	c Bosanquet, b Cranfield	5
K M Carlisle, c Burroughs, b Brandley	...	37	c Bennet, b Bosanquet	27
A E Worsley, b Cranfield		2	c Bennett, b Bosanquet	0
L Heathcote-Amory, b Bradley	...	13	st Bennett b Cranfield	4
E G Martin, not out	...	21	c Bennett, b Bosanquett	1
A C von Ernsthausen, b Bradley	...	7	b Bosanquett	12
J P Winterbotham, b Cranfield		9	not out	12
R C W Burn, c Cranfield, b Hartley	...	0	c Burroughs, b Bradley	3
B 12, lb 1	...	13	B 4, w 5	9
Total	...	123	Total	113

GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND.

	O.	M.	R.	W.	O.	M.	R.	W.
Martin	22	5	61	4	12	3	44	1
Burn	14	2	52	4	6	1	19	1
Ernsthausen	12	4	31	2
Winterbotham	4	0	48	0	3	0	13	1
Evans					14·2	4	31	6
Amory					7	3	14	1

Burn and Amory each bowled a wide.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY.

First innings.	O.	M.	R.	W.	Second innings.	O	M.	R.	W.
Cranfield	22	12	29	5		16	4	46	2
Hartley	13·5	1	30	2
Bosanquet	9	1	18	0		15	5	31	6
Bradley	11	2	33	3		12	4	27	2

Bradley bowled four wides and Cranfield one.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE vs. NOTTS.—Played Bristol on 14th, 15th and abandoned.

NOTTS.

First innings.			Second innings.
A O Jones, c Jessop, b Parish	...	19	b Spry	5
Iremonger, b Paish	...	7	c Wrathall, b Paish	64
Gunn, W run out	...	27	b Spry	16
Gunn, J, c Wrathall, b Paish	...	48	b Huggins	15
Gunn, G, c Paish, b Huggins	...	0	not out	6
Dexter, c Paish, b Huggins	...	9	cWrathall, b Paish	3
Anthony, c Rowlands, b Huggins	...	4	clessop, b Paish	12
Day, c Langdon, b Huggins	...	1	c Board, b Huggins	0
Oates, not out	...	13	not out	0
Hallam, st Board, b Paish	...	4
Wass, c Board, b Paish	...	6
Byes 5 n-b 5	...	10	l, b 1, w 1, n-b 3	5
Total	...	148	Total (7wkts)	126

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

T H Flower, c Jones, b Anthony	...	31	Rowlands, b J Gunn	3
Wrathall, lbw, b Anthony		52	Huggins, b J Gunn	1
Hale, st Oates, b J Gunn		45	Paish, c Jones, b Anthony	7
Langdon run out	...	12	Spray, b Hallam	2
G L Jessop, c Jones, b Hallam	...	77	Roberts not out	4
Board, c Jones, b Wass	...	8	Byes 2, l-b 1, w2 nb 3	8
			Total	250

SUSSEX vs. M. C. C. AND GROUND.—Played at Lord's on 14th and 15th May.—M.C.C. won by one wicket. From the beginning of this match it was as clear as possible that the bowlers would have the best of the situation, for the ground was in such a state that the ball would not travel, and there were very few batsmen indeed on either side who could be deemed capable of making runs against good bowling under such circumstances. The M.C.C. team included three amateurs, only one of whom was in the front rank, while Fry and Ranjitsinhji were not playing for Sussex. Thanks to very good cricket by C. L. A. Smith, who played the right game, and a sturdy resistance by Newham, Sussex did quite well at first as could reasonably have been expected, but when King was put on to bowl wickets fell rapidly. Newham nearly managed to carry his bat, after playing a first-class defensive innings for an hour. For the M.C.C. Llewellyn and Braund made a most useful stand for the second wicket: the former scoring his 33 in half an hour, but as no other men offered effective resistance to the bowling, the end of the innings was almost as sudden as that of Sussex, and the M.C.C. only had a lead of 21. But as Sussex lost five wickets before stumps were drawn half an hour before time on account of the bad light, and had only scored 30 runs, thus being 9 runs on, the game seemed practically over. On the next morning, however, Smith again played well, and Butt seized every opportunity of scoring which offered itself while Cox helped him so much that in three-quarters of an hour 51 runs were put on. Thus, after all, the M.C.C. with 116 to win, seemed likely to have their work cut out. But so finely did Llewellyn bat that when half the wickets were down, only 20 runs had to be made. Then wickets fell quickly, and with two wickets in hand the M.C.C. still required five runs to win. Of these two were obtained by Doll, who then saw his partner (Marrell) bowled by Bland. J. T. Hearne played the remaining four balls of Bland's over, and in the next over (from Tate) Doll made the winning hit—a chance stroke through the slips.

SUSSEX.

Vine, c Doll, b Llewellyn	...	4	b Llewellyn	18
Killick, c Braund, b Hearne	...	10	c Murrell, b King	1
Relf, c Coleman b Llewallyn	...	0	c and b Hearne	0
C L A Smith, c Llewellyn, b Braund	...	32	c Burnup, b King	30
W Newham, c Llewellyn King		8	run out	0
Marlow, c Thompson, b King	...	20	c Coleman, b Hearne	2
Bean (J), st Murrell, b Trott	...	0	c Braund, b Hearne	5
Butt, st Murrell, b King	...	1	not out	49
Cox c and b King	...	7	b Trott	19
Tate, c Trott, b King	...	0	lbw, b Trott	3
Bland, not out	...	2	st Murrell, b Llewellyn	2
B 5, lb 1, nb 1	...	7	B 1, lb 6	7
TOTAL	...	91	TOTAL	136

M.C.C. AND GROUND.

C J Burnup, c Cox, b Tate	...	0	c Smith, Tate	11
Braund, c Smith, b Tate	...	27	c and b Bland	8
Llewellyn, b Relf	...	33	b Tate	55
G S F Griffin, b Bland	...	10	b Tate	2
Thompson c Smith, b Tate	...	18	lbw, Bland	3
Trott (A E), b Tate	...	11	c Tate, b Bland	16
King (J. H.), b Tate	...	0	c Smith, b Tate	0
Coleman, b Bland	...	0	b Bland	3
Murrell, c Relf, b Tate	...	4	b Bland	0
C C T Doll b Bland	...	2	not out	5
Hearne (J T), not out	...	2	not out	0
B 4, lb 1	...	5	B 8 lb 5	13
TOTAL	...	112	TOTAL	116

SURREY vs. ESSEX.—Played at the Oval on 18th, 19th and 20th. Essex won by 260 runs. So heavy was the ground after the rain which fell on Saturday and Sunday that the start on the first day was delayed until after luncheon. Although the pitch never became difficult, the run-getting was very slow, only 161 being scored for the loss of six wickets during the three hours and a half that play lasted. The early downfall of so fine a forcing player as Sewell perhaps caused his comrades to play a safer game than they otherwise would have done, for the Surrey bowling, although it required watching, was never really difficult. The play was very wearying and everybody appeared relieved when stumps were drawn for the day on account of the bad light. On Tuesday Essex were seen to such advantage that by the end of the day they occupied a winning position. Their last four wickets added but 26 runs, it is true, but the bowling of Mead after the interval was of so remarkable a character that Surrey were disposed of for 107, after 93 runs had been on the board for the loss of but three wickets. Hayward had played a capital game for his side, considering the fine bowling of Mead and the state of wicket scoring 56 out of 94, his chief strokes being nine fours. Of the first 48 runs made by his side he claimed 39, made in half-an-hour. Brockwell was unfortunate in being disposed of by a magnificent catch at deep square-leg by Sewell—a catch which it is safe to say must rank as one of the best ever seen on a London ground. After luncheon Mead was irresistible, his analysis reading 33 balls, three maiden overs, for two runs and six wickets. Such effective bowling has seldom been seen in a great match on any ground, eclipsing Peate's analysis of eight for five for Yorkshire vs. Surrey at Holbeck in 1883, but falling short of W G.'s seven for none for Gloucestershire against Notts at Cheltenham in 1877. Mead's feat is the most remarkable piece of bowling accomplished in an Essex match since Reeves took five wickets for no runs against Derbyshire, at Leyton, in 1901. When Essex went in a second time, Sewell hit in splendid fashion, making 60 out of 89 in 55 minutes, his chief strokes being a five and four 4's Perrin and McGahey were both seen to advantage, and when stumps were drawn Essex were 290 ahead with six wickets to fall. Yesterday, although Essex gained an easy victory, as was generally anticipated, but few persons could have been prepared for the feeble resistance offered by Surrey to Mead and Young. The latter carried all before them dismissing the home eleven for 76, and winning the match for their side by 260 runs. Hayward again proved the highest scorer in the innings, but his runs were not made without luck. Surrey certainly suffered severely from the enforced absence of Abel, and possibly from the lack of a regular captain of experience, but it must be admitted that their display was quite unworthy of the side. Young finished off the innings in great form, his last three wickets being obtained in eight overs at a cost of eight runs.

ESSEX.

First innings.			Second innings.
F L Fane, lbw, b Jackson	...	13	c and b Hayward	25
Sewell, c and b Montgomery	...	15	st Stedman, b Jackson	60
P Perrin, c sub., Clode	...	43	st Stedman, b Hayes	44
C McGahey, c Wiltshire, b Clode		32	b Hayes	47
A J Turner, b Clode	...	36	st Stedman, b Clode	9
C J Kortright, c Hayward, b Jackson	...	4	run out	16
Buckenham, c Lockwood, b Clode		12	not out	25
Russel (T), b Brockwell	...	10	not out	12
Young, c Jackson, b Clode	...	0
Tremlin, c Hayes, b Clode	...	13
Mead, not out	...	3
B 3, lb 2, w 1	...	6	B 16, lb 1, nb 1	18
Total	...	187	*Total (6wkts)	256

*Innings declared closed.

SURREY.

First innings.			Second innings.
Hayward, c and b Tremlin	...	56	b Young	29
Holland c Kortright, b Tremlin	...	1	c Russell, b Young	5
Hayes, c McGahey, b Mead	...	8	c Russell, Mead b	1
Brockwell, c Sewell, b Tremlin	...	16	c and b Young	0
E Wiltshire, b Mead	...	19	b Mead	4
Lockwood, b Mead	...	3	b Mead	6
L Walker, b Mead	...	0	c Russell, b Young	1
Clode, b Mead	...	0	c Russell, b Young	4
Stedman, b Mead	...	0	b Mead	17
Montgomery, c Buckenham, b Mead		3	not out	2
Jackson, not out	...	0	b Mead	0
No-ball	...	1	B 6, nb 1	7
Total	...	107	Total	76

WARWICKSHIRE vs. LEICESTERSHIRE.—Played at Edgbaston on 18th and 19th May. Warwickshire won by an innings and 43 runs.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

First innings.			Second innings.
C J B Wood, c Lilley, b Hargreave	...	7	c Byrne, b Hargreave	6
Whitehead, b Hargreave	...	18	st Lilley b Hargreave	4
Knight, b Santall	...	1	b Santall	33
R T Crawford, lbw, b Hargreave	...	12	b Hargreave	2
King, c Fishwick b Hargreave	...	5	c & b Hargreave	3
V F S Crawford, c Fishwick, b Moorhouse		22	b Santall	39
Gill, c Quaife, b Hargreave	...	15	b Hargreave	2
C E de Trafford, Charlesworth, b Hargreave	...	0	b Santall	2
W W Odell, not out	...	1	c Whittle, b Moorhouse	11
Whiteside, b Moorhouse	...	2	c Moorhouse, b Hargreave	4
Marlow, b Moorhouse	...	0	not out	2
Byes	...	9	Byes 6 w 2	8
Total	...	92	Total	116

WARWICKSHIRE.

Devy, st Whiteside, b King		1	Charlesworth, b Whitehead	32
Kinneir, c Gill, b King	...	4	Moorhouse, b Whitehead	0
J F Byrne, c and b Marlow		28	Santall, b Whitehead	2
Quaife, b Odell	...	130	Whittle, not out	29
T S Fishwick, lbw, b Marlow	...	2	Hargreave, c Whiteside, b Odell	5
Lilley, c Knight, b Marlow		8	Byes 8, lb 2	10
Total	...		Total	251

GLOUCESTERSHIRE vs. YORKSHIRE.—Played at Bristol on 18th and 19th May. Yorkshire won by an innings and 142 runs.

After their capital display against Notts, Gloucestershire probably encountered Yorkshire with higher spirits than would have been the case ordinarily. Whatever hopes the side had, however, of making a creditable show against their powerful opponents were speedily shattered. At the drawing of stumps on the first day, Yorkshire were 45 runs ahead and had seven wickets in hand. Brown, who overnight was not out 73, increased his score on Tuesday to 125—a superb innings on a difficult wicket. The Yorkshire bowlers carried everything before them the early downfall of Jessop in each innings being a sad blow to Gloucestershire. Rhodes was in excellent all-round form, taking ten wickets and making the second highest score in the match. It was a very characteristic Yorkshire victory. On the second day Paish was no-balled by West, the square-leg umpire, for throwing.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

First innings.			Second innings.
T. H. Fowler, b Hirst	...	13	c and b Rhodes	14
Wrathall, lbw, b Rhodes	...	8	c Tunnicliffe, b Rhodes	26
G L Jessop, b Hirst	...	0	c Haigh, b Hirst	7
Hale, c Hunter, b Rhodes	...	4	c Wilkinson, b Hirst	0
Langdon, b Haigh	...	13	b Hirst	8
Board, b Rhodes	...	0	c Brown, sen., b Hirst	4
W H Rowlands, b Haigh	...	10	st Hunter, b Rhodes	1
Huggins, c Hunter, b Wainwright	...	26	b Hirst	1
Paish lbw, b Rhodes	...	5	not out	4
Spry, not out	...	1	b Hirst	0
Roberts, c Rhodes, b Wainwright	...	14	c Tunnicliffe, b Rhodes	3
B 4 lb 2, nb 1	...	7	Leg-byes	2
Total	...	101	Total	70

YORKSHIRE.

Tunnicliffe, c Jessop, b Roberts	...	22	Wainwright, lbw, b Roberts	31
Brown (J T, sen.), b Spry	...	125	Lord Hawke, not out	27
Denton, b Roberts	...	3	Brown (J T, jun.), c Rowlands, b Roberts	0
Wilkinson, run out	...	7	Hunter, c Spry, b Roberts	6
Hirst, c Jessop, b Roberts	...	38	B 2, lb 4, w 2, nb 4	12
Rhodes, b Spry	...	42
Haigh, st Board, b Spry	...	0	Total	313

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle
According to size. From
J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

FULL FLAVOURED.
MADE SOLELY FROM THE BEST INDIAN TOBACCO.
SPENCER & Co., Ld.,
MADRAS.

SIESTAS.

Made in three sizes.
Extras 6 ins. long, Rs. 20 per 1,000.
No. 1, 5 " " " 15 " 1,000.
" 2, 4 " " " 14 " 1,000.
FACTORY: DINDIGUL, S. INDIA.

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

	First innings. O.	M.	R.	W.	Second innings. O.	M.	R.	W.
Hirst	14	6	14	2	16·2	5	34	6
Rhodes	31	15	39	4	16	5	34	4
Haigh	15	6	27	2
Wainwright	7·4	2	14	2

Hirst delivered a no-ball.

YORKSHIRE.

	O.	M.	R.	W.		O.	M.	R.	W.
Paish	16	3	43	0	Huggins	19	8	35	0
Roberts	31·4	12	54	6	Jessop	18	3	61	0
Spry	27	3	108	3

Paish delivered two wides and two no-balls, and Roberts and Huggins each one no-ball.

DERBYSHIRE vs. LANCASHIRE.—Played at Derby on 18th and 19th May. Lancashire won by ten wickets. Those who anticipated an easy victory for Lancashire were correct in their forecast, as Derbyshire gave so feeble an exhibition against Barnes and Webb that the match was concluded on the second afternoon. The game was certainly played on a bowler's wicket, but the collapse of the Derbyshire team was due almost as much to bad batting as to fine bowling by Barnes. The latter was quite the hero of the match, his analyses of seven for 65 and seven for 34, or fourteen for 99, being quite out of the ordinary. Eccles' innings of 39 not out was a meritorious display, the manner in which he monopolised the bowling during his partnership with Webb being very noticeable.

DERBYSHIRE.

First innings.		Second innings.
L G Wright, c Eccles b Webb	12	b Webb	0
C A Ollivierre, b Barnes	1	c Littlewood, b Barnes	8
Storer, c and b Barnes	2	lbw, b Littlewood	16
E M Ashcroft, b Webb	5	b Webb	13
Ellis, c Haggas, b Barnes	0	c Eccles, b Barnes	0
A E Lawton, c Hollins, b Barnes	2	c Hollins, b Barnes	5
T Forester, b Barnes	5	b Barnes	1
Humphries, b Barnes	18	b Barnes	22
Warren b Barnes	14	b Barnes	9
Hulme, not out	1	b Barnes	0
Bestwick, b Webb	0	not out	0
B 2 lb 2, w 1	0	B 5 nb 1	6
Total	65	Total	71

LANCASHIRE.

A C Maclaren, b Bestwick	14	Barnes, lbw, b Forester	4
Ward, b Hulme	2	Haggas, b Hulme	4
R H Spooner, b Hulme	18	Littlewood, c Storer, b Hulme	0
Hollins, c Wright, b Hulme	1	Webb, c Storer, b Hulme	11
A H Hornby, lbw, b Hulme	18	B 1, lb 2	3
Sharpe, c Storer, b Hulme	6	Total	120
A Eccles, not out	39

Second innings: A. C. Maclaren, not out, 7; Ward, not out 2. Byes, 8.—Total (no wkt.) 17.

DERBYSHIRE.

	First innings. O.	M.	R.	W.	Second innings. O.	M.	R.	W.
Barnes	27	15	25	7	25	11	34	7
Webb	26·5	12	35	3	11·1	4	16	2
					Littlewood 13	6	15	1

Barnes bowled a wide and delivered a no-ball.

LANCASHIRE.

	First innings. O.	M.	R.	W.	Second innings. O.	M.	R.	W.
Warren	7	2	16	0	2·5	1	4	0
Hulme	27·2	8	52	8	3	1	5	0
Bestwick	14	1	38	1
Forester	8	4	11	1

SUSSEX vs. NOTTS.—Played at Brighton on 18th, 19th and 20th May and abandoned.

NOTTS.

A O Jones, run out	5	lbw, b Relf	24
Iremonger, c Cox, b Tate	21	st Butt, b Vine	3
Gunn (W), lbw, b Tate	81	c Fry, b Vine	2
Gunn (J), c Butt, b Bland	38	b Relf	95
Rev J Staunton, b Bland	0	c Butt, b Bland	48
Gunn (G), st Butt, b Tate	8	not out	14
Anthony, b Bland	4	c Tate, b Relf	4
Dexter, not out	15	not out	1
Oates, c Butt, b Relf	16
Hallam, c Marlow b Relf	3
Wass, c Butt b Relf	2
B 10, lb 3, nb 1	14	B 5, lb 3	8
Total	207	Total (6 wkts)	199

SUSSEX.

C B Fry b J Gunn	48	Butt, c Jones b Wass	13
Vine, lbw, b Hallam	3	Cox, not out	28
Killick, b Wass	35	Tate, c Staunton, b J Gunn	4
C L A Smith, b Wass	4	Bland, c G., b J. Gunn	22
K S Ranjitsinhji, c Staunton, b J Gunn	8	Lb 8, nb 4	12
Marlow, b Wass	8	Total	199
Relf b J. Gunn	14

OXFORD UNIVERSITY, vs. WORCESTERSHIRE.—Played at Oxford, 18th 19th and 20th May. Oxford won by 59 runs. Thanks to a capital, if somewhat lucky, display by W. Findlay, the University were able to hold the lead throughout, eventually winning by 59 runs. The country, for whom the Colonial player, Cuffe, made his first appearance, gave a very poor display, being dismissed by Evans and Martin for 98. The former, who is a nephew of the famous Mr. A. H. Evans, gives promise of developing into a good all-round player. Bird worried the Oxonians greatly in their second innings, obtaining seven wickets at a cost of 41, whilst Cuffe, who had failed as a bowler at his first attempt, took three for 25 at his second.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY.

First innings.		Second innings.
C D Melver, b Wilson	4	c Arnold, b Bird	11
W Findlay, c Bowley, b Bird	70	b Bird	14
H J Wyld, c Shaw, b Bird	13	b Bird	7
W H B Evans, b Bird	13	b Bird	0
K M Carlisle, run out	0	b Cuffe	18
F A Worsley, b Wilson	11	c Foster, b Bird	23
R S Darling, c Burnes, b Bird	23	b Bird	2
L Heathcott Amory, c Straw, b Wilson	3	c and b Cuffe	6
E G Martin, c Carmichael, b Bird	17	c Bowley, b Cuffe	6
A C von Ernsthausen, b Wilson	0	b Bird	2
R C W Burn, not out	9	not out	0
Byes 11, lb 3, w 1	15	Byes 15, lb 1	16
Total	178	Total	103

WORCESTERSHIRE.

First innings.		Second innings.
H K Foster, lbw, b Martin	23	c Evans, b Martin	10
Bowley, b Evans	12	b Evans	18
Arnold, c Findlay b Evans	14	c Amory, b Martin	9
W B Burnes, b Evans	3	c and b Burn	35
Cuffe, c Burn, b Evans	1	b Evans	27
E G M Carmichael, b Martin	5	run out	1
Pearson, c Burn, b Evans	4	c and b Amory	0
A W Isaac, c Burn, b Martin	15	c and b Burn	2
Bird, c Amory, b Martin	0	c Amory, b Martin	8
Wilson, c Ernsthausen b Martin	9	c Worsley, b Martin	3
Straw, not out	3	not out	3
B 6, lb 4, nb 1	11	Extras	8
Total	98	Total	124

GOLF.

THE AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP

The annual Amateur Golf Championship ran through a partial initial stage on the 18th instant at Muirfield, the green of the Honourable Company of Edinburgh Golfers, fourteen ties being drawn in a nominal first round intended to reduce the starters to 128, from which number the competitors run right through to the final, which is reached on Friday. The entry of 142 was a record one, and play on five days was necessitated for the first time in the history of the competition. The weather was a delightful contrast to that of the previous few days. The sun shone fitfully at first, but later in the day the weather was brilliant. As there was practically no wind to disturb the players the conditions were as nearly as possible perfect. The ties played were reduced to thirteen by a withdrawal, and none of the thirteen was of first importance. The most interesting tie was between Messrs. Blackwell and Everard and Graham vs. astle. The long driving of Mr. Blackwell advertised the former, but the Oxonion, who made a moderately good start and squared the match on the third green with a pretty putt fell away in his short game from the fourth hole on, and as he turned 5 down the end was surely forecasted, and came six greens later, Mr. Blackwell keeping steadily on his short game The Graham-Castle tie took the expected turn in favour of the better known player at a much later time, a good, all-round game giving Mr. Castle the lead at the third and again at the sixth greens. Mr. Blyth had a stiff fight to qualify, as had Messrs. Hambro and Doleman. The latter, the oldest man in the field, played a steady game, and his victory was a highly popular one.

The programe set down for decision at Muirfield on the 19th instant was the monster one of 96 ties, 64 in the second round and 32 in the third, and a record day's play was involved, the few withdrawals being without effect on the length of the day. A beginning was made at nine o'clock, at which time there was a considerable gathering on the course. An hour later a special train from Edinburgh added greatly to the numbers and throughout the day there were over a couple of thousand persons on the links. As it happened, no tie of apparent first importance was drawn, and the crowd, scattering in small sections, caused no inconvenience. Play took place under the most favourable auspices. Of the early ties, the meetings of Messrs. Gairdner and McKenzie and Hilton and J.W. Robb excited most interest. From the outset McKenzie was steadier on the green than his brother Internationalist, and his final 4 and 3 win was forecasted 6 holes out. It was only at this stage, on the other hand, that Hilton began to wear down Robb, whose long game was later too wild to enable him to cope with the steady play of the ex-champion. The veteran Alex. Stuart created a surprise by ousting Norman Macbeth, but the other ties ended in accord with expectations till Taylor (Richmond) brought Jas. Robb to the last green, Taylor putting the Scotsmen in from 4 up to all square two holes from home, four successive holes to Taylor being 2 4 3 4. Robb, however, qualified by winning the last hole. Less fortunate was J. L. Low, the runner-up of two years ago, and his defeat by S. A. Gillon was one of the surprises of the round Gillon's long game was exceptionally fine. Mure Fergusson lost to Ballingall, another outsider, who came away with a strong game on the outward journey. Coming in Fergusson squared the match, but Ballingall had a gift of the seventeenth hole, and dividing the home hole won the match. In order Jno. Ball, Hutchinson, and, at a later stage, Graham and Dick qualified, but S. H. Fry succumbed to a poor game on his own part and to the steady, short game of his opponent, W. E. Fairlie, one of the Prestwick family. Fry drove out of bounds off the first tee, and never settled to his game. He lost the first, second fourth, seventh, and eight, holes, turning 5 down. After three divided on the home journey Fry lost the thirteenth hole and the game by 6 and 5. He repeatedly hooked his ball into the rough, and was off his short game.

The surprises of the second round were emphasised in the evening, when two ex-champions, Messrs. Hilton and Laidlaw, were beaten, together with Robb, one of the strongest Scottish candidates, by men of comparatively little reputation. Hilton was a likely winner of his tie at the turn, but Beveridge played three grand holes coming in, and Hilton was in difficulties in front of the seventeenth green Beveridge squared the match here, the home hole was divided, and a pretty 3 at the first hole out gave Beveridge the match. Laidlaw was opposed by a young Edinburgh player, who never let the ex-champion get more than one hole away. He, too, squared the match a hole from home and as his opponent was weak on the home green. Johnston won the match by 1 up Robb played poorly in his tie with Craik, who was twice 3 up, and finally playing the last hole very prettyly ran out a winner by 2 holes. Another English International player in Darwin lost his place, a young Scottish player beating him by 2 and 1. Otherwise the ties were without incident.

The fourth round was entered upon on the 20th at Muirfield, and during the day 24 ties were played, the lists being reduced to eight. The occurrences of Tuesday, while robbing the competition of several of the leading exponents of the amateur game, directed attention to some rising players, who yesterday attracted a goodly crowd to the course. An unfavourable change had taken place in the weather in the morning, but as the day wore on the sky brightened, and save that the greens underwent a little change during the day the conditions were generally of a most favourable character. The forenoon's play was for the most part devoid of surprise results, though the second tie played found a golfing M. P. ousted by a young Scottish player with unexpected ease. For a time Balfour-Melville was hard pushed by Purdom, a young Border player, and the ex-champion only got rid of his opponent on the home green. Less fortunate was Alex. Stuart, the first winner of the Irish Open Championship, who started badly against Fred Mackenzie, and never had a real chance of recovery against his opponent's steady short game. The most attractive tie of the morning was provided by the meeting of Maxwell and Beveridge The Scottish favourite lost the first hole, but squared the match three greens later, and a fine approach game giving him the seventh and eighth, he turned 2 up, He lost one of his lead two greens later but was not again in trouble, and he won a capital round two holes from home. The only other ties of more than local interest were the last two, and while in one case Angus Hambro beat Blackwell by means of a steadier short game, an occasional brilliant hole enabled C. E. Dick to get rid of his more fancied clubmate, J. Graham.

The afternoon's play was comparatively featureless as regards the returns made, but provided two of the strongest exhibitions of the finest golf of the week. Against the remarkable game played by Balfour-Melville, Mackenzie, the St. Andrews International player, had little chance, and for the fourteen holes holed out the winner had the grand scoring register of 54. His approach play and short game were practically without a fault. So, too, was the game played by R. Maxwell, and in disposing of a good local player six holes from home the North Berwick player had an average of fours for twelve holes. Ball had again an easy win, but the last two ties of the day were among the most stautly contested. Dick and Hambro being square seven holes from home, while Fairlie made a good stand against the first holder of the title.

Six ties in the sixth and semi-final rounds at Muirfield on the Yesterday's 21st instant brought the competitors to the last stage. play took place under conditions that admirably suited the following of the game, but were not so much to the liking of the players, in whose case a high wind imposed altered conditions from that which prevailed earlier in the week. The play from morning till late in the afternoon was of a most interesting character. The first tie was between L. M. Balfour-Melville, an ex-holder of the title, and H. W. De Zoete, a comparative newcomer to the first-class game, and here the surprises of Tuesday were equalled. De Zoete, who drove one of the longest balls of any of the competitors, and was in fine form on the green, was one down from the second to the sixth greens, but he led by 1 at the turn. Melville was 1 up three holes from home where an old failing manifested itself, the ex-champion losing the sixteenth and seventeenth holes on the putting green and failing to save the game with a longish putts for the home hole. Maxwell always had the upper hand of Pease, whom he consistently outplayed through the green, and had he played for a half at the sixteenth green instead of going all out and failing to carry the bunker, the tie would probably have ended there. The third match was one of the major surprises of the week's play. Ball never touched his best game, but with wins at the first two holes in he seemed to hold a winning advantage. From this point his long game was unsteady and he was in difficulties again and again, losing the twelfth, thirteenth, and fifteenth holes on this account. McDonald, playing safe, halved the last three holes and won the match on the home green. The Dick-Hutchinson match was expected to yield the Scotsman a win, but the veteran's long game was sounder, and he was a winner all the way in. The semi-finalists being equally Scottish and English the International character of the morning's round was preserved in the afternoon, and as it happened Scottish interests were in the ascendancy in the first of the semi-finals, while English interests were safe in the second.

THE SEMI-FINAL ROUND.

The Maxwell-De Zoete tie produced a grand game, with a most exciting finish. At one period of the first half the Scot was 3 holes up, but he lost the eighth through playing his second out of bounds, and turned 2 up. Two grand holes by De Zoete in the first three squared the match, and twice again the Englishman pulled Maxwell down to level terms, this being the state of the game on the last green. An extra hole was necessitated, Maxwell winning on the putting green amid great excitement. The second tie was a more prosaic affair, Hutchinson coming away as in the morning with too strong a game for his opponent after the turn for home. Details :—

SIXTH ROUND.

H W De Zoete, St George's, beat L M Balfour-Melville, Honourable Company, by 1 up.

B Maxwell, Tantallon, beat J B Pease, Ainmouth, by 2 up and 1 to play.

A McDonald, Edinburgh Burgess, beat J Ball, Royal Liverpool, 1 up.

H G Hutchinson, Royal North Devon, beat C E Dick, Royal Liverpool, by 3 and 2.

SEMI-FINAL ROUND.

Maxwell beat De Zoete at the nineteenth hole.

Hutchinson beat McDonald by 4 and 2.

SCOTLAND vs. ENGLAND.

In the evening the International teams for to-morrow's match were chosen as followes :—

Scotland : R Maxwell, J E Laidlay, F McKenzie, J Graham, jun., L M Balfour-Melville, S Mure Fergusson, Jas Robb, Norman F Hunter, and C E Dick.

England : J. Ball, jun, H H Hilton, H G. Hutchison, H W De Zoete, J B Pease, S H Fry, H Castle, W H Fowler, and G S Smith.

The changes from last year's teams are—Scostand : Hunter in Blackwell and Gairdner out. England : De Zoete, Pease, Castle Fowler, Hutchings, Bremston, Ellis Scott, and Darwin out.

The last stage of the championship was reached to-day the final round of 36 holes being played by Messrs Hutchinson, the champion of 1886 and 1887, and Maxwell, the leading Scottish player, an international flavour being imparted. When a beginning was made at 10-30 the weather was dull but pleasant with a fresh westerly breeze. The match began with give and take play, Maxwell winning the first and third, and losing the second and fifth holes At the turn Maxwell had a lead of one hole. Weak play on the eleventh green put Hutchinson two down, but playing a beautiful iron game he drew level on the thirteenth green. Maxwell's, magnificent long game and Hutchinson's two bunkered shots had the effect of giving the next three holes running to Maxwell. The seventeenth hole was divided, and the home hole falling to Maxwell, the Scochman ended the round four holes up.

ATHLETICS.

HERNE HILL EVENING MEETING.—The members of this popular and flourishing pack have every reason to be proud of their association with the club, which from a modest beginning now takes its place in the ranks of the foremost organisations of its kind in the South of England. At the London County Grounds, Herne Hill, a race meeting was held, and proved an attraction to a goodly company. Four events figured on the programme, the distances being 150 Yards (boys), 100 Yards, 440 Yards, and Three Miles. The entries for each event were large no fewer than forty-eight engaging Mr. C. Otway's (the handicapper) attention in the sprint, while forty-seven entered for the quarter, and in the long distance race thirty-five names were on the programme. As will be seen from the subjoined details the majority turned out and some capital racing was witnessed, the feature being the running of Blundon, who won two first

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.
According to size. From
J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

QUILL SPECIAL REEDS.

Head Office : MADRAS.
Factory : Dindigul, Southern India.
Sole Wholesale Agents in Calcutta :
MESSRS. STANLEY OAKES & Co.

prizes. The most prominent officials were : Judges, Messrs. T. E. Knights, H. G. Brockman, H Feltham, and C. W. Garnham ; timekeeper Mr. W. S. Lane ; referee, Mr. W. Thompson ; hon. sec., Mr Chas. Otway ; starter, Mr E. Willet. Details :

100 YARDS HANDICAP.—Heat 1 : C. H. Childe, scratch 1 ; G. Burton, 5½ yards start, 2. Won by a foot. Time—10⅘secs Heat 2 : A J Yates, 6½ yards start, 1 ; T Hampson, 8½, 2. Won by inches. Time, 10 ⅘secs. Heat : 3 B. J. Blunden, 5½ yards start, 1 ; J. L. Malkin, 7½ 2 : Won by two yards. Time—10 ⅕secs Heat 4 ; J. M. Muere, 7 yards start, 1 ; A. Davies, 7½, 2. Won by inches. Time—10 ⅘secs. Heat 5 : B. Foulds, 8 yards start, 1 : A. J. Court, 4, 2. Won by a foot. Time.—10 ⅘secs. Heat 6; F. Barton, 7½ yards start, 1 ; J. Lumley, 9½, 2. Won by half a yard. Time.—10 ⅘secs. Heat 7 : J Joyces, 7 yards start, 1 ; D. E. Fern, 8½, 2. Fern stopped on the tape and Joyce won by a foot. Time—10 ⅘secs. Final heat : B. J. Plunden, 5½ yardys start, 1 ; F. Barton 7½, 2 ; J. M. Mueres, 7, 3 ; R. H. Foulds, 8, 4 Won by a yard ; others close up. Time 10 ⅕secs.

150 YARDS BOYS' HANDICAP.—W. Court, scratch, 1 ; F. Jones, 10 yards start, 2 ; J. Court 14, 3 ; E. Harrison, 3, 0 ; R. Barker 16, 0 ; T. S. Foulds, 16, 0 ; H F. Otway, 35, 0 ; W. E. Ashfold 78, 0. Won by two yards. Time, 19 sec.

440 YARDS HANDICAP.—Heat 1 : J. W. Harrison, 34 yards start, 1 ; J. H. Hewett, 20, 2; R. B. Cowley, scratch 3. Won by two yards. Time,—54⅕sec Heat 2 : C. McLachlan, 4 yards, start, 1 ; A. Davies 18, 2 ; F. W. Galner, 24, 3. Won by 6 yards. Time.—54sec. Heat 3 : T. Hampson, 22 yards start, 1 ; T. W. Davies, 30, 2 ; A. Ashfold, 32, 3. Won by three yards. Time.—53⅕secs. Heat 4 : B. J. Blundon, 10 yards start, 1 ; J. M. Muer. 20 2 ; F. Barton. 23, 3. Won easily up. Time,—52⅖sec. Final heat : B. J. Blunden, 10 yards start, 1 ; A. Davies, 18 2 ; C. McLachlan 4 3 ; J. W. Harrison, 34, 4. Won by six yards; two yards between second and third. Time.—51⅖secs.

THREE-MILE HANDICAP.—F W. Garner 150 yards start, 1 ; E. E. Stone, 280, 2 ; C. A. Brew 380 3 ; J H. Lane, 260, 4 ; A V. Ashley, 80, 5 ; J. G. Stock, 400, 6. Twenty-six started, the scratch man, F. James, standing down Garner ran with splendid judgment, and taking the lead half a mile from home, won comfortably by fifty yards ; ten yards between second and third Time,—15min 37⅖sec.

RACQUETS.

THE AMATEUR HANDICAP CUP.

Coming at a somewhat late period of the season, it was hardly to be wondered at that the interest in racquets is on the wane. More's the pity for Sir Wm. Hart-Dyke, Bart., M. P., President of the Prince's Club, has presented a beautiful silver cup for open competition amongst amateurs on the handicap principle. The event was commenced at the palatial club premises in Knightsbridge, but owing probably to the fact that the King was holding a levée at Buckingham Palace a large number of scratchings took place, particularly among the Army officers, who furnished eight out of the fourteen entrants. As a result only one match took place, in which Mr. H. C. B. Underdown defeated Mr. G. J. V Weigall, the well-known Kent cricketer, rather easily, the latter being obviously short of practice. The attendance was very moderate.

FIRST ROUND.

Hon. B Gordon Lennox, Grenadier Guards (rec. 4 aces), a bye.

Capt. Creed, Rifle Brigade (scratch), w.o.; Mr. Vane Pennell (owes 5), scratched.

Mr. H. C. B. Underwood (rec 6) beat Mr. G. J. V. Weigall (rec 1) by three games to love (15—3, 15—3, and 15—12).—At the outset Underwood was the better player, as the loser was palpably out of condition. In the first game he made a best run of six, and ran out with three. Continuing his hand, he added another four, making the run seven. In the third and last game Weigall's best run was five by which he made it "eleven all," but Underwood with small uns, proved successful by 15—12 in 25mins.

Mr. Arthur Young (rec 7), w.o ; Lieut. C. M. Grogan, 4th Dragoon Guards (rec 4), absent.

Lieut. Collingwood L. Wood 18th Hussars, w.o.; Lieut. K. J W. Leather, Durham, L.I., w.o.

Out of the four matches set for decision in this event at the Prince's Club, Knightsbridge, three were played out, and furnished in more than one instance play of an exceptionally high character, so that those interested in the various competitors who failed to put in an appearance missed some thoroughly enjoyable sport. There can be no doubt as to the earnestness of the men—it is quite on a par with the Stock Exchange walk—for the beautiful silver presented by Sir Wm. Hart Dyke, Bart., M.P., would do credit to even a king's sideboard It may be mentioned that the donor, in his time, was one of the finest amateur racquet players going, having, in the sixties beaten the famous professional, Frank Erwood, for the championship of England. Sir William is a thorough sportsman, and takes keen delight and interest in all kinds of pastimes. So far the attendance have been disappointing, which is rather surprising, as the entrants are all fine players. The month of May should be perfect for racquets. Certainly the present weather is cool enough to play any fast game in an open court. Probably some of those who scratched thought the atmosphere would be too warm but the experience of the past, ten years ago, should not have been forgotten As usual the excellent arrangements are in the capable hands of the popular secretary, Mr. J. H. Saunders. Yesterday's games were admirably marked by the young club professionals, Beck and Suter. Results :—

FIRST ROUND (Concluded).

Capt. S. H. Sheppard, D.S.O. (R E.) (owes 5), beat Mr. W. G. Hilton Price (owed 3) by three games to love (15—6, 15—4, and 13—5 to 13—0).

With a best run of four Sheppard soon established a lead, but hands were very numerous, and the work in the court on the part of both men was brilliant in the extreme. From 2—1 the Captain went to 14—4, and ultimately won at 15—6.

Going on with the second game Sheppard put himself out with two faults. Then a ding-dong struggle ensued for some time. Sheppard, however, warming to his work, served finely and with a splendid sequence of nine aces reached game at 15—4. Continuing, he only added a single before being put out with a grand back-handed smash. Subsequently hands were very small, seven, nine, ten, eleven, and thirteen all being called before the Captain, with two and three, won at 5—0. Time of match, 28mins.

Hon. F. Guest (1st Life Guards), (rec 6), w.o.; Mr H. C. Biron (rec 8) (absent).

Lieut. Robert Whitebread (Coldstream Guards) (rec.6), a bye.

SECOND ROUND.

Capt. Percy Creed (Rifle Brigade) (scratch) beat Hon. B. Gordon-Lennox (Grenadier Guards) (rec 4) by three games to love (15—5, 15 x 15 and 15—7.

Four all was soon called, and then from 6—5 the Captain went out with a grand sequence of nine aces mainly by service.

Continuing his hand in the second, he put on two more, thus bringing the run up to eleven. Gordon-Lennox was dead off colour, as he only managed to score an ace before his rival ran to game with a sequence of eight.

Adding half a dozen more in the third the result was fourteen consecutive aces, his service being exceptionally good. With three he won very easily. Time of match, 26 mins.

Mr. H C B. Underdown (rec 6) beat Mr Arthur Young (rec 7) by three games to one (15—11, 15—6, 13—0 to 13—3 and 15—10).

In the opening game Underdown, serving splendidly and playing grandly in the rallies, soon got to 12—3, with best runs of three and seven Nothing daunted, Young did finely with three and five, getting to 11—12, but twice afterwards he failed to score, and was defeated by 15—11.

One, two, three, and four "all" were called in at the second meeting, until Underdown went ahead with a chief run of four. Hands were small after this, the rallies being brilliantly contested, but Underdown again won, this time at 15—6.

He failed to add anything and then followed undoubtedly the most stubbornly contested game of the day. Seven hands each only yielded one face at a time, until Young took a strong lead with five by reaching 11—3. Underdown, however, retaliated with five and four, and the game was called 13—11 in his favour. Young, however, came out with two and caused the game to be set to three. These he scored and won at 3—0.

He was put out at the next stroke, while Underdown scored nice sequences of half a dozen (twice), getting to 12—5. Young, however, played up well by tacking on five and making it 10—13. Underdown, however, clinched matters by winning at 15—10. Time of match, 35mins.

Capt. S. H. Sheppard, D. S. O. (R. E.) (owes 5) beat Lieut. Collingwood L. Wood (18th Hussars) (rec 4), by three games to love (15—8, 15—8, and 15—8).

Winning the spin of the racquet, the Captain soon wiped off his handicap, and later, with a brilliant sequence of nine aces, mainly by service, reached 14—6. Wood only replied with two and was beaten at 15—8.

Opening the second game "four all" was soon called, and then, with useful runs of five and four, these being obtained after some wonderful rallies, the back-marker again proved successful at 15—8.

Meeting for the third time, Wood showed slight improvement at the start, but he was never dangerous against his formidable antagonist, who, with three and five (twice), ran out an easy winner by 15—8. Time of match, 22mins.

Hon. F. Guest (1st Life Guards) (rec 6) beat Lieut. Robert Whitbread (Coldstream Guards) (rec 6) by three games to two (0—15, 13—5, to 13—0, 15—9, 7—15 and 15—3).

Hands in the opening game were very small until Whitbread, serving well, put on half a dozen aces and reached 10—0, and he eventually won easily 15—0.

In the second game Guest was seen to far better advantage, as serving in very strong style, he quickly reached 7—1 with a run of half a dozen. After repeated "blank" hands Whitbread improved adding three and getting to 8—10. A grand struggle ensued, Whitbread putting on a capital sequence of five, but at "13 all" the game was "set to five," and this after two hands. Guest won at 18—13.

The first feat of note in the third game was a nice run of six by Guest who got to 10—1. Whitbread, however, nothing daunted played up pluckily, and with four (twice) made a fight of it, but after a ding-dong finish he was beaten by 15—9.

Meeting for the fourth time, "three all" was called, but then Whitbread with four, held an advantage which he maintained to the end as ultimately, with four, he ran out at 15—7.

In the fifth game he was put out before, he could add anything to his score and then Guest responded with a capital run of seven, in which were some brilliant rallies and service strokes. Whitbread retaliated with three, when he was put out with a tremendous back—handed smash, which, coming back at a most acute angle off the corner gave the Coldstream no chance. This was the latter's last opportunity, as Guest, still playing brilliantly, ran to game with a superb sequence of eight aces and, winning by 15—3, gained the rubber as stated. Time of match, 45mins.

It seems a pity that, with such an interesting competition in progress, the members of the Prince's Club, Knightsbridge, have not raillied round and brought a few friends in to witness the struggle for the possession of the beatiful silver cup given by the president of the establishment, Sir Wm. Hart Dyke, Bart., M.P.. So far the play had been thoroughly attractive and the two games in the semi-final round yesterday were full of exciting episodes. In the first match Mr. Underdown, who has represented Eton in the Public Schools Championship, with a start of six aces, cleverly defeated Capt. Creed, of the Rifle Brigade, who was on the scratch mark, after the whole of the five games had been contested. The representative of the Army afterwards fell off materially in his play and lost the next three games and the match. In the next encounter Capt. Sheppard of the Royal Engineers, winner of the recent Army Singles, played a marvellous game, as although owing five, whilst his rival, the Hon Mr. Guest of the 1st Life Guards, received six, he annexed the whole of the three games, and actually aggregated 60 aces to Mr. Guest's 12. The final should prove exciting. Yesterday Capt. Sheppard refereed the first match and Mr. E. Biedermann the second, whilst, as usual, the club professionals Beck and Suter, called the game in a most audible manner. Details :—

Mr. H. C. B. Underdown (rec 6) beat Capt. Percy Creed, Rifle Brigade) (scratch) by three games to two (9—15, 12—15, 17—15 15—6, and 15—0).

Capt. Creed, with half a dozen in the opening game, quickly caught up his rival and won easily, whilst he also captured the second game. In the remainder, however, he fell off a lot whilst, served by his youth, Underdown played well and won the third struggle after a "set to three." In the fourth he ran out with a sequence of seven, whilst in the fifth he won a love game. Time, 40mins.

Capt. S. H. Sheppard, D. S. O. (R. E.) (owes 5) beat Hon. F. Guest (1st Life Guards) (rec 6) by three games to love (15—12, 15—7 and 15—11).

Guest, with a chief run of five, quickly reached 12—0, but eventually Sheppard, playing magnificently, won, mainly through a fine sequence of eleven. Then he ran out with two. Continuing his hand, he added eleven more aces, bringing the sequence to thirteen, and, as Guest did very little, Sheppard went to game with seven. In the third he wiped off his penalty very quickly, and made best runs of six and eight, leaving him an easy winner. The loser only scored twelve aces to the victors' sixty. Time, 20mins.

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle,
According to size. From
J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

THE PROFESSIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

GILBERT BROWNE, PRINCE'S CLUB, vs. JAMSITJEE BOMBAY.—Peter Latham (late of the Queen's Club but now of Newmarket), having retired from the championship, the professional, Gilbert Browne, Prince's Club, Knightsbridge, and Jamsitjee, of the Bombay Club, have signed articles to play two matches each the best of seven games, for £100. The first will be played at the Queen's Club, West Kensington, on Saturday next, 13rd May and the second at the Prince's Club, Knightsbridge, on Thursday, 28th May both to start at half-past two. Mr. F. H. Browning will act as referee, and the umpires will be Messrs. E. M. Baerlein and E. F. Baerlein. The usual conditions prevail, the only thing special being that in the event of Jamsitjee winning he agrees and undertakes to play the next Championship match when challenged in England In the event of the winner being challenged and refusing to defend his title within six months from the date of the last challenge, except as provided by the present championship, he shall forfeit his title.

We hear on the best authority that Latham will come out of his shell and challenge the victor

THE WEASEL.

Hunting.

THE OOTACAMUND HOUNDS.

ON Monday, 1st June, hounds met at Brooklands at 6-45, where a particularly small field turned up. It was a fine morning, but the sun was too hot for comfort, scent was good, however, and we had a good run at the end of the morning. Hounds were taken to draw Brooklands Covert, where they found at once and the jack broke at the lower end and pursued the Demon Valley for some distance before turning uphill into Rocky. Hounds hunted him in covert for about ten minutes before he broke back to Brooklands. Here he was hustled up through covert and came out near Bingham's Covert and took refuge in a culvert on the road. He was bolted and came out at the other end and after running down the road for a short distance he again ran into Brooklands, where after some pretty woodland hunting he was killed and proved to be a well-grown cub. The open in the direction of Barber's shop was now drawn and hounds spoke to a line here, but scent was stale, so they were taken on to Dartmoor Vale, where they found at once. We now had a fast and trying gallop down the hill past Wapshare's Hare Shola, over the swamp at the bottom and the Pykara Bridle Path and then straight without a check to the edge of the Seegor Ghaut and into the Dunsandle Tea Estate, where hounds were stopped. Thursday, 4th June, will be a red-letter day in the annals of the Ootacamund Hunt and Captain Fife is to be congratulated on the way hounds hunted. The run which was over good country all the way was measured over nine miles on the Hunt map and lasted for one hour and ten minutes without a check. Jackal Shola was the covert that provided us with the stout-hearted jack. There were a brace here, but hounds settled to one and he was viewed at the bottom and broke towards Rallywood. He did not pause here, but ran through and then over the hill to Sheffield Corner. Nungenal Valley was now to our front, and the jack ran down and over the plough to Swami on Bluegums, but he turned down hill just short of them and skirted below Leeds before he turned up hill again. He did not long remain up and turning down for the last time he crossed by the Swami crossing and over to the Baikie side. There was a momentary check here, but hounds were soon on again and ran over Denmark Hill and into Baikie The jack did not pause here, but ran on through and into the open at the right of Dreadnaught. Once over one Tree Hill he made a bee line for Staircase over Brick Kiln, crossing Newmarket and Rawlins' Nullah. It was reasonable to expect the run was at an end, but no such thing, the jack was over the saddle and into the Yemakul Valley. Hounds hunted him parallel to the stream for some way, but below Chemund he turned up and took refuge in this wood, where Captain Fife stopped hounds. Not more than half a dozen were at the finish and of these only two, besides the Master, had ridden the whole run, Mrs. Agnew on a small bay Arab and Mrs. Giffard were the only ladies up, the former rode the whole run.

The bye day on Saturday, 30th May, resulted in a pleasant morning's sports, though it was late before we got the run. The meet was at the kennels. A jack was not found near Sandy Nullah and he was chopped in Rocky and proved to be a cub. Captain Fife then drew on to the 7th Milestone, Pykara Road, where he missed a brace of jacks. Hounds were laid on at the top of Gibbs. Hounds soon settled to the line of one of them and ran at a tremendous pace along Lawley's Course to the bottom of Staircase, where the jack turned right handed and crossed back to Gibbs. He ran through here and across the Pykara Road and finally went to ground where he was left.

PYKARA.

Polo.

BERESFORD TOURNAMENT.

OF the two games in the semi-finals in the Beresford Challenge Cup Polo Tournament, fixed to be played off on the afternoon of the 3rd instant, the one between Lord Kitchener's Staff and the Bengal Cavalry, which was looked forward to with great interest by the public, had to be put off owing to the illness of Major Maxwell of the former team.

There was a fairly large gathering at Annandale, including Lady Curzon, to witness the game between the Viceroy's team and Major Marker's team. The East Lancashire band was also present and played during the game. The sides were :—The Viceroy's Staff (Captain Wigram, Colonel the Hon. E. Baring, and Captain Keighly, back) and Major Marker's team (Major Poynter, Mr. Ogilby and Major Marker, back). Umpires—Colonel Kennard and Major Grimson. This game fell short of public expectations. The Staff played brilliantly, and it would be difficult to single out any for special mention. By splendid combination they held their adversaries to their half of the ground nearly all through the game. The organization and support of Major Marker's team, who had ostensibly not practised much together, was faulty. Mr. Ogilvy, 4th Dragoon Guards, however, played a very good game for his side. The Staff finally won by eight goals and six subsidiaries against one goal.

Another large gathering at Annandale on the 5th instant witnessed the postponed game in the semi-finals. Major Maxwell had recovered from his fever and played in his best style.

It was a splendid game all through. The Staff played quite above their form. Their combination was perfect, while the

SPENCER'S
MILD INDIAN CIGARS
OBTAINABLE
FROM ALL RESPECTABLE DEALERS.

MAYOS.

Head Office: Madras.
Factory: Dindigul, Southern India
SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS IN CALCUTTA :
Messrs. STANLEY OAKES & Co

Bengal Cavalry hardly showed out as well as on the previous occasion. Their lack of condition told, and Colonel Cookson's pony in the latter part evinced an objection to play.

In the first chukker play was very equal, and there was no score. In the second chukker the Staff not only made a brilliant defence, once stopping General Beatson's shot from passing in between the flags, but scored one gal. In the third chukker General Beatson made another unsuccessful attack on the Staff's goal, while the Staff contributed a subsidiary. In the fourth chukker play was fast and even, till about mid-time when Captain Brooke got on and had an easy run to the flags, scoring a goal, but as the opposite side claimed "off-side" the Cavalry practically had pulled up, and after a discussion by the umpires this goal was allowed.

A curious circumstance now happened. Play was started without changing sides, and practically both teams were playing off-side, but fortunately there was no score and complications were averted. In the fifth chukker General Beatson did great service. After two unsuccessful shots at the flags he crowned a fine run with a well-placed goal, and shortly Colonel Hamilton retaliated with a run and placing a final shot between the flags. There was no more scoring in the brief time left for play and the Staff won a well-played game by three goals and one subsidiary to one goal. The teams were:—Lord Kitchener's Staff, comprising Major Maxwell, Colonel Hamilton, and Captain Brooke, back; and the Bengal Cavalry, represented by Major Shea, General Beatson, and Colonel Cookson back. Umpires—Colonel Kennard and Major Grimston.

THE FINALS.

VICEROY'S STAFF vs. COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF'S STAFF.—Played on the 8th instant. A large and fashionable gathering being present in spite of the big society function at the Barnes Court. The game was not up to public expectations, the Commander-in-Chief's Staff not appearing in their best form. On the other hand the Viceroy's Staff played a splendid game, and when the game began they went away and soon established a lead of three goals and one subsidiary. The Snowdon team were unable to score and the game was kept in their territory. Their opponents continued the attack and playing with fine combination ran out victors by seven goals and eight subsidiaries to two subsidiaries. Lady Curzon presented the Cup to the winners at the end of the game. Lord Curzon made an appropriate speech and called for three cheers for the victors and the Snowdon team. Colonel Baring called for cheers for Lady Curzon.

Rowing.

REGATTA AT NAINI TAL.

Saturday, 30th May 1903.

THE Ranikhet week was brought to a conclusion to-day with the Regatta which proved a great success. Some of the events and preliminary heats had been rowed off on Thursday. Details:—

DEPOT RACE.—Gloster Regt beat Royal Irish Rifles by two lengths.

NOVICE SCULLS.—Won by A. B. Tillard by half a length.

FOURS.

Naini Tal.		Ranikhet
Mr G W Wood		Mr H D Macdonald
Capt Walpole		,, Green
Mr Gillan	beat	,, Twiss
,, F T Coode		,, Wilberforce
Mrs Wood cox		Miss Tate cox

Won by half a length.

P. AND O. PADDLING RACE.—1st Heat. Won by Miss Adams, Miss Britten, Hon. E. Napier, Capt Walpole, Major Thompson.

2nd Heat.—Won by Miss Meares, Miss G. Meares, Mr. Meadows, Mr. King, Mr. Naylor.

Final Heat.—Won by the latter crew.

MIXED DOUBLE SCULLS.—Won by Mrs. Porteous, and Mr. Jones, cox Miss Laurence by a length

SINGLE SCULLS—Final.—Mr. A. M. Rouse beat Mr. H. D. Macdonald by three lengths.

OPEN FOURS.—Cooper's Hill crew beat Civil Service crew by three-quarters of a length after a grand race.

CANOE RACE.—Won from eight starters by Mr. Naylor.

Cycling.

CYCLING IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Friday, 15th May 1903.

MANY cyclists indulge in the weed whilst cycling, although most experience a difficulty in enjoying a pipe or cigarette, when taking such exercise. The reason why one cannot—with pipe in mouth—indulge in a pastime which demands physical powers, is explained by the fact that nicotine has a powerful effect on the heart, depressing it and rendering it unfit to perform its functions. Hence it is that during the active employment of our muscles, it is as well to leave the weed severely alone. If, however, we must have a pipe, have it when gentlemen ambling along on the level and scarcely any perceptible effort is necessary to keep the machine running. After meals, when resting so as to allow our food to digest, a pipe may be beneficial by reason of the sedative qualities contained in tobacco, but during its employment, the physical powers should be in absolute repose.

The increase of motor traffic on the highways has proved an advantage to cyclists in a certain direction, since it has tended to distract the policeman's attention on matters of pace, from the wheelman. The motorist proves higher game, and although he may be more difficult to capture—a piece of string across the road will have no terrors for him, nor even the hooked stick dear to the rural bobby—he proves a more important haul when run to earth than the comparatively insignificant wheelman. Possibly the present time may afford a favourable opportunity for cyclists to make their peace with the force in disaffected districts, as with the exercise of a little circumspection, and a little bending to popular prejudices, or local prejudices is perhaps the better term, we may see a gradual dying out of the hostility to wheelmen that characterises some of the towns in the home counties. With regard to the so-called "persecution of cyclists" there is no doubt that those who suffer, suffer mainly for the faults of others who pay no regard to the safety of pedestrians.

There never were such glorious times in store for poor Old Ireland as are opened up by the Gordon-Bennett Fortnight in the early part of July. The Irish are going motor mad, and little else is heard than some item of interest anent the great race on 2nd July. In the midst of the excitement, however, the islanders are not overlooking the valuable harvest that the race will provide to those who have accommodation to let within reasonable distance of the course. The Irish have made up their minds to taste the Saxon visitors' money, and those who intend viewing the race must be prepared to pay out on a high Henley Regatta scale. According to the Irish Wheelman, six pounds is asked for a three-bedded room for one night only. The fee for pitching a cyclist's camp on a piece of waste ground is a modest £20, whilst for one of the cheapest houses near the line of route £80 is asked for the week. Twenty-five shillings for a bed and breakfast is being asked at even second-rate hotels in Dublin.

A very fine performance was achieved by G. A. Barnes, at the Canning Town cycle track, on 9th May, when from a standing start he covered 27 miles in 31min 55secs. against the previous record made by F. W. Chase, of 36mins. 27⅘secs. Barnes started with the intention of improving upon the hour mileage, but was obliged to relinquish the attempt owing to a thunder-storm breaking over the the track. There is little doubt that he would have been successful. He covered 25 miles 690 yards in the half-hour. On 13th May he made another attempt riding the first mile in 1min 23⅘secs., and 48 miles 1395 yards in the hour. It is interesting to note that in each ride Barnes rode a 2¾ h-p. flat motor bicycle, fitted with Dunlop tyres.

A cyclist—or out of respect to other members of the pastime, we would class as a cad on a bicycle—whilst riding in the East end of London, knocked over an old woman with such serious consequences as to result in the death of the poor old lady. He stayed, and gave a name and address, which subsequently proved to be fictitious ones. Such action as this is calculated to give a very bad name to the pastime, and the only regret is that the identity of the offender has not been discovered. Well might the coroner remark that all cycles should be numbered and registered, and many similar cases would no doubt, bring about this undesirable enactment. Fortunately there is a very small proportion of such despicable characters in the large body of wheelmen.

Although the free wheel appeals so strongly to the male cyclist, it should appeal still more strongly to ladies, and that such is evidently the case is borne out by the number of lady cyclists one sees riding machines so fitted. Some people object to the free wheel on account of the ungainly position of the rider's feet when free-wheeling, but we fail to see where the objection is on this score. Even should it exist with male riders, it does not in the case of lady riders, who when riding on a free-wheel machine are the acme of grace. Not only this, they are much freer from possible accident than with fixed cranks. The free wheel entirely does away with the danger of the skirts catching in the revolving pedals, should the lady coast down a hill on a fixed pedal machine. One almost shudders to think of the consequences should such an accident occur.

Another good amateur rider in Sid Holloway, the Midland crack, and holder of the National Cyclists' Union quarter-mile championship, is severing his connection with the race path, so far as racing is concerned. At the close of the 1902 racing season, he announced that it would close his racing career; but little credence was put on this announcement since it is customary for racing men to make such resolutions only to break them at the return of spring and the attraction of the path. But not so in this case. Holloway has kept to his word, and the race path is consequently the loser.

In the Polytechnic C. C. Gazette, reference is made to an outrageous attempt to disable a machine of one of the competitors at a race meeting held recently within a hundred miles of Huntingdon. The mean, despicable action, was no other than removing the bolt from the head of a machine. The act might have resulted in a most serious accident, not only to the unfortunate rider of the machine, but to other competitors in the race. It is a pity that the perpetrator was not discovered and made an example of. One would not expect such an action at an amateur meeting.

In connection with the forthcoming Gordon-Bennett motor race, the police from all over Ireland are already requisitioned for duty on that occasion. Two thousand officers and men of the Royal Irish Constabulary are required to take up duty along the course during the progress of the contest, and arrangements for their location and accommodation for the period are being made. The police will be under the command of Mr. Thomas F. Singleton, Inspector-General, who will superintend operations in his splendid motorcar

Cricket.

CRICKET AT OOTACAMUND.

OOTACAMUND vs. COIMBATORE.—A two-days' match between representatives of these stations ended on the 2nd June in a very easy victory for Ootacamund by 7 wickets and 52 runs. For the winners C.T. Studd made 69 and 52 not out, while Phillips Collyer, and Mullings batted well. For the visitors, Messrs. Lushington and Leggatt helped the score most; but in the second innings there was a general collapse and they were all dismissed for 57 runs. Score—

COIMBATORE.

1st Innings.			2nd Innings.
E H Gadsden, b Phillips	...	18	b Swaminathan	... 1
R H Lushington, c de Winton, b Morrison	...	31	b Swaminathan	... 1
P M Lushington, c Standen, b Swaminathan	...	11	1-b-w, b Morrison	... 0
S V Chetty, b Swaminathan	...	12	b Swaminathan	... 0
P Narayana Row, c Tait, b Collyer	...	12	b Morrison	... 14
B Leggatt, c Swaminathan, b Morrison	...	36	c Studd, b Morrison	... 1
A B Jackson, c Tait, b Morrison		2	b Morrison	... 1
F A Hamilton, b Swaminathan		1	c Standen, b Swaminathan	... 22
Capt Nethersole, not out	...	0	b Morrison	... 3
A Amirtham, b Swaminathan		3	b Swaminathan	... 2
W E Lonsdale, b Morrison	...	1	not out	... 9
Extras	...	11	Extras	... 3
Total	...	138	Total	... 57

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

	O.	R.	M.	W.	O.	R.	M.	W.
Morrison ...	15 3	46	1	4	12	26	7	5
Swaminathan ...	14	27	4	4	11	27	2	5
Phillips	7	30	0	1	—	—	—	—
Studd	6	19	1	0	—	—	—	—
Collyer	2	7	0	1	—	—	—	—

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS.
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant.
Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle,
According to size. From
J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

OOTACAMUND.

1st Innings.			2nd Innings.
W W Phillips, b Narayana Row		1	b S V Chetty	... 60
W M Standen, b Amirtham	...	2	b Narayana Row	... 0
H N Collyer, c Leggatt, b Amirtham	...	13	b S V Chetty	... 43
C T Studd, b Narayana Row	...	69	not out	... 52
C Morrison, c Lushington, b Narayana Row	...	9
J G Tait, l-b-w, b Narayana Row	...	6
W B de Winton, b Narayana Row	...	0
Captain Packard, b Jackson	...	6
D W Patrickson, b Jackson	...	6
C T Mullings, not out	...	35
Swaminathan, b Narayana Row	...	17
Extras	...	12	Extras	... 16
Total	...	176	Total (3 wkts)	... 171

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

	O.	R.	M.	W.	O.	R.	M.	W.
Narayana Row ...	23·3	65	2	6	20	61	2	1
Amirtham ...	12	39	2	2	15	50	3	0
S V Chetty ...	11	32	0	0	9	26	0	2
R H Lushington ...	3	15	0	0	—	—	—	—
P M Lushington ...	—	—	—	—	3	9	1	0
Jackson ...	3	11	0	2	1	9	0	0

CRICKET AT NAINI TAL

NAINI TAL vs. RANIKHET.—Played at Naini Tal during the Ranikhet week. The home team put up 171 in their first venture, of which Major Stainforth played a fine innings of 85. Their second innings produced 150. The visitors put up 186 and 136 for 8 wickets, thus winning by 3 wickets. Score:—

NAINI TAL.

1st Innings.			2nd Innings.
Major Stainforth, b Hurt	...	85	c Wilberforce, b Twiss	... 21
Mr Taylor, b Morphett	...	16	b Morphett	... 16
,, L J Le Fleming, b Hurt	...	3	b Twiss	... 31
,, O'Donnell, c Twiss, b Hurt		8	b Morphett	... 20
,, Brett b Hurt	...	0	not out	... 37
,, MacLeod b Hurt	...	0	c Twiss, b Hurt	... 3
Capt Wingate, c Daniell, b Hurt	...	0	b Twiss	... 0
Mr Richardson, c Anson, b Hurt	...	26	b Harenc	... 4
Mr Knowles, st Tailyour, b Hurt	...	5
Capt Robertson, b Twiss	...	1	b Twiss	... 0
Mr Ring, b Twiss	...	1	c Stuart, b Morphett	5
Mr Wallace, not out	...	9	c Anson, b Twiss	... 16
Extras	...	17	Extras	... 7
Total	...	171	Total	... 150

RANIKHET.

1st Innings.			2nd Innings.
Col Anson, l-b-w, b Ring	...	8	b Ring	... 3
Mr S F A Hurt, l-b-w, b Wallace	...	0	c Taylor, b Le Fleming	... 27
Mr E R M English, c Ring, b Le Fleming	...	53	c and b Le Fleming	17
Mr R Wilberforce, c Stainforth, b Le Fleming	...	10	b Le Fleming	... 7
Major Stuart, b Wallace	...	9	b Ring	... 9
Mr C G Morphett, run out	...	2	c Taylor, b Ring	... 1
Lieut-Col Goodwyn, b Le Fleming	...	10	not out	... 43
Mr R E Harenc, b Wallace	...	11	run out	... 4
,, C Anson, b Ring	...	6	not out	... 5
,, W R Daniell, c MacLeod, b Stainforth	...	31	did not bat	... 0
,, E K Twiss, b Stainforth	...	11	l-b-w, b Le Fleming	6
Capt Tailyour, not out	...	11
Extras	...	24	Extras	... 14
Total	...	186	Total	... 136

Football.

FOOTBALL IN CALCUTTA.

THE LEAGUE.

A. & S. HIGHLANDERS vs. BURN & CO.—Played on the Howrah ground last Saturday. The game was a very one-sided affair, the Highlanders having the best of it all through, and had it not been for the fine goal-keeping by Dodds they would certainly have won by a larger margin. Burn & Co. opened well but lost a couple of good chances and the visitors got to work. Hogg put on the first goal from a scrimmage which was all the score up to the interval. On changing ends the Highlanders took up the attack and a continuous onslaught enabled Quinn to put on three more goals for the visitors, thus leaving them victorious by four goals to nil. Teams:—

93RD HIGHLANDERS.—Coventry, goal; Wallace and Silcock, backs; McLean, McGowan and Mowatt, half-backs; Pollock, Lockhart, Quinn, Montgomery and Hogg, forwards.

BURN & CO.—Dodds, goal; Donnithorne and MacFadyen, backs; Wood, Kerr, and Cochrane, half-backs; Russell, Todd, Freeman, J. Bonner and W. Bonner, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. Henry, Y. M. C. A.

DALHOUSIE vs. HOWRAH UNITED.—These teams met on the Dalhousie ground on the 6th instant when rather an uninteresting game resulted in a win for the home team by two goals to nil. They were the first to attack and sent in several shots which were unsuccessful. Play ruled midfield for a space then a piece of good combination by the home forwards took the ball into the Howrah territory, where a good pass by Stewart enabled Rosser to put the ball through. The Dalhousie men continued to press, and Rosser getting away with a brilliant run scored a second time. After the interval the home team rushed the ball down and a constant attack was kept up against the Howrah goal. Erratic shooting by the Dalhousie men prevented any scoring and the game ended as stated. Teams:—

DALHOUSIE.—Peake, goal; Bushby and Margrett, backs; Phelps, Wallace, and Dalling, half-backs; Kehlin, Rosser, Watts, Stewart, and Simson, forwards.

HOWRAH UNITED.—A. Bennett, goal; F. Bennett and H. Bennett, backs; Morrow, Osborne, Jr. and Curtis, half-backs; J. Smith, Munden, W. Smith, Burn, and Jackson, forwards.

Referee—Mr. H. Remfry, C. F. C.

K.O.S.B.'s vs. RANGERS.—The Rangers' ground was the venue of this match played on the 6th instant. The Borderers kicked off and going down Cassidy put the ball through soon after the "TIME SAVED IS MONEY EARNED."

Here is an article that will save time.

The FOX ADJUSTABLE COPYHOLDER.

ADJUSTABLE TO ANY POSITION. EITHER ON SIDE OR BACK OF MACHINE

Rs. 10-0.

WE HAVE ATTACHMENTS FOR ALL TYPEWRITERS MENTION MAKE IN ORDERING.

Rs. 9. Cash or V.P.P.

POINTS TO CONSIDER.

It holds the copy directly in front of the eyes, thus bringing the keyboar and copy within the range of vision.
It permits an erectness of position, preventing strain on the back.
It enables a stenographer to do 40 per cent. more work with less fatigue.

HALF PRICE.

TRAILL'S 1903 DIARIES

COMPLETE LIST ON APPLICATION.

ODDMENTS OF STATIONERY

Made up of broken packets of Note Paper and Envelopes. All clean and good.
Re. 1-0 per seer.

TRAILL & Co., THE CHEAPEST HOUSE IN INDIA FOR STATIONERY AND PRINTING. CALCUTTA.

start, but was ruled off side. Cuthbert and Russell did some smart work for the home team but they could not break through, and shortly before half time Cassidy put the Borderers ahead by beating Whelan with a tricky shot. On crossing over the Borderers bombarded the Rangers' goal, but Whelan was all there and saved in fine style. At last, however, Byers found an opening and put the ball through. The home team then woke up and a combined run by Russell, Williams, and O'Laughlin resulted in the last-named finding the net. Nothing further was scored and the game ended in a win for the Dum-Dum team by two goals to one. Teams :—

K. O. S. B.'s.—O'Neil, goal; Allen and McDonald, backs; Campbell, Stewart, and Tait, halves; Byers, Bruce, Cassidy, Doggett, and Nielson, forwards.

Rangers.—Whelan, goal; Templeton and Anderson, backs; Brown, Lees, and O'Laughlin, halves; Swan, White, Williams, Cuthbert, and Russell, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. M Remfry, C. F. C.

Calcutta vs. 64th R. G. A.—Played on the Calcutta ground and ended in a pointless draw. Play ruled very even for the first few minutes; then Calcutta pressed and the Gunners' goal was threatened, the home team losing several chances through bad shooting. The visitors also lost some opportunities and half time arrived without scoring. After the interval the Calcutta forwards took the ball into the enemy's quarter, but could not pass their backs; up and down play followed and the home team were still pressing when the whistle went. Teams:—

Calcutta.—Buckley, goal, Gahan and Todd, backs; Maunder, Crawford and Walker, halves; Binning, Sherman, Fyffe, Cooper and Gillespie, forwards.

64th R. G. A.—Hutchinson, goal; Prince and Quinn, backs, Lockens, Donelly and Corby, halves; Wodds, Wratten, Lieut. Shaw, Nicoll, and Doods, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. G. W. H. Batho, Rangers' F. C.

Dalhousie vs. 64th R.F.A.—This match was played on the Dalhousie ground last Tuesday and resulted in a win for the home team by 3 goals to 1. Dalhousie got away first, but the Gunners brought the ball back and Peake had a lively time. Then the home team got going again and forced two corners, Echlin putting in some good work, but back came the visitors, and after some pressing Shaw netted the ball, up and down play followed till the home forwards rushed down and forced a corner; nothing resulted, but a little later Echlin sent in a fine centre which Watts headed into the net. Crossing over with the scores equal, the home team had the best of matters, and after some hard play in which Watts and Rosser were conspicuous, the ball was taken to the gunners' end, where Johnstone put on the second goal for Dalhousie and they continned the attack. Watts scored a third goal from a long shot, and the game ended as stated. Teams :—

64th R.F.A.—Hutchinson, goal; Prince and Quinn, backs; Lockens, Carley, and Donnelly, halves; Woods, Wratten, Shaw, Nicoll, and Dodds, forwards.

Dalhousie F. C.—Pete, goal; Margrett and Wade, backs; Dalling, Wallace and Phelps, halves; Echlin, Rosser, Watts Johnston and Williams, forwards, Referee.—Mr. Henry, Calcutta Rangers.

Burn and Co. vs. K. O. S. B's.—Played at Howrah on the 9th instant and ended in a crushing defeat for the Engineers by 7 goals to nil. The home team went away at the start, but were soon pulled up and an attack made on their goal where several shots were sent in by Cassidy and Byers. Freeman, however, was at last beaten by Nielson, who added a second goal almost immediately. The Borderers kept up the attack, and in spite of a good defence two more goals were put on, one by Cassidy and the other by Bruce. After the interval the Engineers kept the Borderers out for a time and going down Kerr and Bonner put in a couple of shots which the Borderers' custodian had no difficulty in saving. Then the visitors rushed down and a continual attack resulted in Cassidy scoring twice and Dogett once. No further scoring took place, the Borderers winning as stated by 7 goals to nil. Teams :—

K. O. S. B.'s.—O'Neil, goal; MacDonald and Allen, backs; Campbell, Stewart and Tait, half-backs; Byers, Bruce, Cassidy, Nielson, and Dogett, forwards.

Burn & Co.—Freeman, goal; MacFadyen and Donnithorne, backs; Russell, Kerr, and Cochrane, half-backs; Robertson, H. Bonner, Wood, J. Bonner, and Todd, forwards.

Referee.—Mr. R. Remfry.

Name of Club.	Matches played	Won.	Lost.	Drawn.	Points.	Goals For.	Goals Against.
93rd H'landers	7	6	0	1	13	20	3
Calcutta	7	4	1	2	10	9	3
Dalhousie	8	4	2	2	10	12	7
K O S B	7	4	3	0	8	19	9
Y M C A	7	4	3	0	8	9	7
64th R F A	7	2	4	1	5	7	10
Howrah	7	2	4	1	5	5	16
Rangers	8	2	5	1	5	7	15
Burn's A C	8	1	7	0	2	1	19

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Several complaints have recently reached us from players, especially wing forwards, regarding the obstruction to their game, and the risk of injury they incur, on account of the close proximity of spectators to the touch lines, which has now reached such lengths that it is often impossible to distinguish the touch lines by reason of the crowds that sit on and often swarm over them. The remedy for this state of affairs lies entirely with the executives of the various clubs, and if monetary considerations do not permit of the playing area being roped in, some other steps, such as the assistance of members for keeping back the spectators, should be resorted to.

There have been very few matches of particular interest during the past week, but perhaps the best contested and most exciting was the first meeting of the 93rd Highlanders and Dalhousie which took place on the ground of the Fort team before an enormous attendance. Both elevens were at full strength and the game was an exceptionally fast one from start to finish. Nothing was scored by either side in the first half, during which the visitors had undoutedly the best of the game, but shortly after the restart Stimson beat Coventry before the military custodian could recover from repulsing a shot from Watts, and thus placed the first goal to the credit of Dalhousie, who continued to hold the upper hand until towards the closing stages when the superior condition of the Fort men became most pronounced, and they literally bombarded the civilian goal, but Peake saved again and again in marvellous fashion, and it was only through an extremely lucky rebound off Quin's chest that the Highlanders drew level.

Both elevens played a fine game throughout, during which the Dalhousie men showed greater cleverness than their opponents, but their want of condition was most apparent during the closing stages of the match. Peake in goal was very fine as usual, and he was ably assisted by the sound defence of Margrett and Bushby. Watts, who kept going from start to finish, gave one of his best displays, and both Williams and Stimson were repeatedly dangerous. Echlin, however, was disappointing, and though possessed of great pace is far too impetuous. Wallace gave one of the best exhibitions of half-back play we have seen this season—his tackling was never at fault and the accuracy with which he placed the ball in the mouth of the goal time after time, was a treat to witness. Of the Fort team McGovan at half-back, and Montgomery and Lockhart of the forwards were most conspicuous.

The members of the Calcutta team have anything but pleasant recollections of their visit to Howrah to meet the United Club, whom they vanquished by 3 goals to love The game throughout was of a poor description, and was marked by a series of most deliberate fouls on the part of the home team, of which the elder Sherman appeared to be the principal victim, and for which the delinquents were promptly and rightly penalised. Calcutta took the field without Todd and Cooper for whom Gahan and the younger Sherman were substituted, and the latter fully justified his inclusion by playing a fine game throughout. Bennett, the Howrah custodian, made several clever saves, but the trans-Hooghly forwards showed little or no combination and their shooting was feeble in the extreme.

The departure of the Calcutta eleven from Howrah was accompanied by volleys of stones and other missiles which left their marks on several members of the team, and as this is not the first time that this has occurred and the police appear to be powerless to prevent it, we think it would be as well if future matches between the two teams took place on neutral ground.

The Rangers, who were strengthened by the inclusion of Templeton, met and defeated that erratic team the Y.M.C.A after an exciting game by 2 goals to 1; but they are indebted for their victory to a shocking decision on the part of the referee, which the Committee of the I. F. A, to whom the matter has been referred, cannot possibly allow to stand.

The Young Men were without Baldwin and Street, and although they did most of the pressing their repeated attacks were well met by Templeton and Lees, who were well supported by Whelan in goal. The only point in the first half was scored by Cooper for the Rangers, but the shot, although a hard one, should have been saved by Williams. Directly after the restart Apcar was badly fouled and Yackjee equalised from the subsequent penalty. The game continued to go in favour of the visitors, but Russell obtaining possession ran down and centreed beautifully to White, who headed through, and thus put the Rangers ahead, but the Y. M. C. A. scored again and the match should have been a draw, but in consequence of the referee's decision above referred to the last goal was disallowed and for the present the Rangers can claim a victory by 2 goals to 1.

It is to be hoped that the display of the Calcutta eleven against the Barrackpore R. A. will have the beneficial effect of opening the eyes of their captain and those responsible for the selection of the team to the disorganisation which they are causing by the constant shuffling and changing in which they are indulging, and which would be perfectly understandable had the team been unsuccessful, but as the reverse has been the case it is surely a mistaken policy to court defeat by trying experiments.

A wholesale reorganisation of the team took place on Saturday last. The elder Sherman was dropped and Stewart was unable to play owing to an injury, so this left two places to fill on the left wing. Cooper was transferred to inside left from his usual position which was filled by H. Sherman and Gillespie was brought from full back to outside left and Gahan played back. The result was a foregone conclusion—Cooper was almost useless in his new position, Gahan was a poor substitute for Gaillespie at back, and the latter was far to slow and hopelessly out of place as a forward. If it is the intention to drop V. Sherman from the team we feel convinced that a great mistake is being made, as, although he has played disappointingly so far this year he is still one of the most dangerous forwards on the side as he is a most accurate and deadly shot.

The Barrackpore R. A. were not expected to prove a stumbling block to Calcutta, although the latter were not at full strength but such was the case, as, after a game which was singularly devoid of good play, time was called without either side having scored The premier club had had undoubtedly the best of the game and but for some terribly bad shooting, principally on the part of Fyfe, they should have won by at least 3 goals. The Barackpore men pressed on one or two occasions but were easily repulsed although a mis-kick by Buckley soon after the start nearly went into the net. Lieutenant Shaw was indefatigable in his efforts to penetrate the opposing defence, while the R. A custodian, Hutchinson, maintained his previous good form. For Calcutta the younger Sherman and Binning combined well on the right wing, the latter especially centreing well and accurately on several occasions.

Howrah with a weak team were no match for Dalhousie on the ground of the latter club on Saturday last, as despite the fact that the home team were playing a very wild and erratic game, they managed to beat the visitors by 2 goals to 0. Both points were scored by Rosser one of which was from a very fine individual run by that player. In the second half Howrah pressed in most determined fashion for some time, but Margrett and Bushby defended well. Morrow for Howrah played well at half back

---

The score of 2 goals to 1 by which the K. O. S. B. beat the Rangers is no criterion of the immense superiority shown by the military team in this match on Saturday last, as but for the magnificent goal keeping of Wheelan the score would have assuredly been much heavier. The game does not permit of much description as the Dum-Dum team proved far too clever a combination for the home lot who were quite outclassed. O'Laughlin scored the solitary point for his side.

The Chiel.

MURREE FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT.

The Finals.

Queen's vs. King's Royal Rifles.—A large crowd assembled to witness the final match in the tournament and were rewarded with a fine display. The Queen's got away at once and a smart piece of combination took them to the Rifles' quarters, where they put the ball through within a couple of minutes of the start. They continued the attack and forced a corner, but without result. The Queen's goal was then attacked, but Keale saved and exchanges ruled very even, till the 60th got going once more and Stolworthy put on a second goal for his side. The Rifles were playing hard, but they put on an extra spurt and managed to net the ball just before half time. On changing ends the Rifles played all they knew to equalise, and on several occasions looked like scoring, but a couple of chances were not taken advantage and the Queen's once more took the ball to the other end, where, after forcing a corner, the ball was put through but ruled off side. Another goal by them was given off side and then the Rifles got away forcing a corner which proved abortive. No further scoring took place and the Queen's were declared winners by two goals to one. Teams:—

Queen's :—Keale, Keigher, Robinson, Clarke, Haines, White, Allen, Pennel, Stolworthy, Lawrence, and Waring.

King's Royal Rifles :—Hall, McQueen, Williams, Higney, Gradwell Mowatt, Bramwell, Connor, Clayton, Cowniff, and Whitehead.

It is hardly necessary to say that many people who start from London to go to Epsom by road on the Derby Day never reach the Downs at all, and that many more, having got there, see nothing whatever of the great race of the day. The following case is, however, a little out of the common.

A few years ago an American gentleman had come over to England on purpose to see the Derby. The luncheon provided in one of the boxes, however, so occupied his attention that the important event was decided without his knowing it, and he only rushed out in time to see the jockey brought back to scale.

"Great Scott!" he exclaimed, as the situation burst upon him; "I've come three thousand miles to eat cold beef and pickles!"

Golf.

GOLF IN BOMBAY.

BANKERS vs. THE WORLD.—This match, which was arranged with some difficulty, owing to the modesty of several players, ended in a win for The World by 18 holes, a result largely due to the play of Messrs. Coombs and Shaw, who were both six up. We understand a return match is being arranged. Details :—

BANKERS vs THE WORLD.

John Stiven	0	Osborne Marshall	1 up
F H Greig	0	P F Fischer	2 up
Jas Carnegie	all square	C J I Jones	all square
B A Don	0	L Stansfield	1 up
R H M Steven	0	T D Moore	2 up
D H Brand	1 up	H S Jacob	0
G C Scott	1 up	Major Rogers	0
J D Johnston	0	E F Coombs	6 up
R Kidd	3 up	C St Paul	0
Robt Fairnie	all square	P Branson	all square
J Greig	0	Lt-Commdr Gardiner, R I M	3 up
J Lapraik	1 up	Rev John Cameron	0
A A Legatt	0	H E Hart	3 up
W I K Hegarty	1 up	F C Bayly	0
S T Hutchison	0	W L Shaw	6 up
J J Esplin	0	C Thomson	1 up
	7 holes		25 holes

Lawn Tennis.

LAWN TENNIS IN BOMBAY.

BOMBAY GYMKHANA HANDICAP TOURNAMENT.—The finals in the singles were played off on the 1st instant when Messrs. W. Reid and H. Cheetham met and a fine exhibition of tennis was given. Reid secured the first set by 6 to 4; but in the second Cheetham, who was playing very strong, had all the best of it and won the set by six games to two. The concluding set was an exciting one. Cheetham won the opening game, then Reid took the next three and looked as if he would have an easy win, but Cheetham improved wonderfully, and five games all were called. The eleventh game went to Reid, who thus won the set and the Tournament. Appended are results of both the Singles and Doubles :—

SINGLES.

Fisher—15	beat	McCausland + ½	(15 6-5; 6-4)
Powel, Scr	beat	Moore + ½ 15	(6-0 ; 6-3)
Cheetham—15 ½	beat	Crichton + 15 ½
Caine—½ 15	beat	Bromley + ½ 15	(6-3 ; 6-4)
Westron + ½ 15	beat	Haines + ½ 15	(6-2 ; 6-2)
Kendall + ½ 15	beat	Binning—½ 15

The following drew byes :

Harrington – ½ 15, James Scr. Rumboll – 15, Thomas + ½ 15. R. Reid – ½ 15, Francis + ½ 15, W. Reid – 30, Worgan – ½ 15, Innes-Ker + ½ 15, Jacob ½ 15, Coombs + ½ 15.

SECOND ROUND.

Harrington – ½ 15	beat	James Scr	(6-2 ; 6-3)
Rumboll – 15	beat	Thomas + ½ 15	(6-1 ; 6-1)
Fischer – 15	beat	Powell Scr	(6-3 ; 6-2)
Cheetham – 15 ½	beat	R. Reid – ½ 15	scratched
Francis scratched.
Caine – ½ 15	beat	Westron + ½	(15 6-0 ; 6-1)
Reid – 30	beat	Kendall + ½ 15	(6-0 ; 6-1)
Worgan—½ 15	beat	Innes-Ker + ½ 15
Coombs + ½ 15	beat	Jacob – ½ 15

THIRD ROUND.

Rumboll – 15	beat	Harrington – ½ 15	(6-3 ; 6-1)
Cheetham – 15 ½	beat	Fischer – 15
Reid – 30	beat	Caine – ½ 15
Coombs + ½ 15	beat	Worgan – ½ 15

SEMI-FINAL.

Cheetham – 15 ½	beat	Rumboll – 15
Reid—30	beat	Coombs + ½ 15

FINALS.

Reid—30	beat	Cheetham—15 ½	(6-4; 2-6) 6-5

DOUBLES.

FIRST ROUND.

Jacob, Crichton	+15	beat	Fowell, Hart	+ ½ 15 (6-4; 3-6 ; 6-1)
Thomson, Cheetham	–30	beat	East, Coombs	+ ½ 15 (6-3 ; 3-6 ; 6-1)
Harrington, McCausland	scr	beat	R Reid, Innes-Ker	+ ½ 15 (6-0 ; 6-3)

The following drew byes :—

Francis and Caine + ½ 15. Bromley and J. Reid + 15 ½, Russ and W. Reid – 30, James and Moore + ½ 15, Rumboll and Thomas – 15.

SECOND ROUND.

Bromley, Reid	+ 15 ½	beat	Francis, Caine	+ ½ 15
Jacob, Crichton	+ 15	beat	Thomson, Cheetham	–30 (6-3 ; 6-2)
Russ, Reid	–30	beat	Harrington, McCausland	scr (6-4 ; 0-6 ; 6-3)
James, Moore	+ ½ 15	beat	Rumboll, Thomas	– 15

SEMI FINALS.

Jacob, Crichton	+15	beat	Bromley, Reid	+ 15 ½ (4-6 ; 6-2 ; 6-2)
Russ, Reid	–30	beat	James, Moore	+ ½ 15 (6-4 ; 6-4)

FINALS

Jacob, Crichton	+15	beat	Russ, Reid	–30 (6 2 ; 6-4)

PRODUCE OF THE KING-EMPEROR'S DOMINIONS
LUCE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE.
Durable and deliciously fragrant
Rs. 2-12 Re. 1-8 Re. 1-4 and As. 14 per bottle.
According to size. From
J. F. Madan, Calcutta and Darjeeling.

Bowls.

HOWRAH BOWLING CLUB.

THE Howrah Bowling Club held their annual distribution of Prizes and Bumble Puppy competition last Saturday, when there was a large attendance. MRS. McLAREN, wife of the President of the Club, gave away the prizes to the following winners:—

President's prize, R. Speirs

Vice-President's prize	T Maxwell ...	1
	A Daw ...	2
Doubles Handicap	R Speirs. R Russell.
Duffers' Handicap	J McMurray ...	1
	H Orford ...	2
American	W R Shanks ...	1
	M M King ...	2
	T Maxwell ...	3
	R Speirs ...	4
Tennis.
Doubles Handicap	Mrs W Crawford. C S Whiteman.
Singles Handicap	M M King ...	1
	C S Whiteman ...	2
American	W Crawford ...	1
	C S Whiteman ...	2

The Bumble Puppy resulted as follows:—

1 R. Speirs, 2 M. M. King, 3 J. Patrick, 4 G. D. Grey, 5 G. M. Dick, 6 W. R. Shanks, 7 H. Orford, 8 T. Maxwell, 9 L. McLaren, 10 J. W. Sowton. 11 J. M. Gilmour, 12 J. D. Ness, 13 J. McMurray 14 J. H. Hunter, 15 C. S. Whiteman, and 16 G. T. Lane.

Yachting.

YACHTING IN JAPAN.

THE Easter holidays in Yokohama consisted of Good Friday and Easter Monday, gazetted bank holidays, but the Saturday was generally conceded, giving a clear stretch from Thursday evening to Monday night. With the sailors' superstition about Good Friday, we intended to make a start on Thursday afternoon, as soon as we could get away from our offices, but it rained dismally all day, and there was no wind, so we decided to get on board after dinner, and hoped that it would clear up during the night. The Nina is a cutter yacht of 12 tons yacht measurement; 40 feet on deck, 28 feet 2 inches waterline, 9 feet 6 inches beam. She has four berths in the main cabin, and two forward for the crew. Our party consisted of the owner and two friends, and one Japanese as crew. We usually carry two Japanese, but the second sendo was recently dismissed, and his place not filled up. The rain ceased shortly after midnight, and we made an early start at 6 A.M. punctually, with a very light wind which carried us out of the harbour, and a few miles down the Bay, before it died out and left us drifting. It was a beautiful day, and we dawdled along, with the aid of occasional gentle zephyrs until noon, when we found ourselves becalmed close by a strongly fortified island, named Saru Shima, i.e. Monkey Island. By this time the tide had turned, and so we dropped anchor, and devoted our attention to tiffin. Saru Shima lies just off the big Japanese Naval Station and arsenal of Yokosuka, and before we had been there very long a steam launch came out with a party of submarine miners, who stopped close beside the yacht, and began diving operations in connection with one of the mines laid there. In answer to enquiries, the Japanese officer in charge assured us that there was no danger to our boat, as we did not fly the Russian flag. About 3 P.M. a nice breeze sprang up, which enabled us to set our course for Kannon Saki, at the entrance of the Gulf of Yedo, and rounding the point, we entered the harbour of Uraga and anchored there at 4-30. Just inside the harbour we saw a small steamer, with only her masts, funnel and bridge showing above water. On enquiry we learned that she had struck a rock outside, and they had only just got her inside the harbour in time to run her on to a soft spot before she sank. On the steep hillsides surrounding the harbour there was a very fine show of plum and cherry blossoms which looked very prretty, backed up by the deep shade of the cryptomerias covering the ridges. In the harbour we saw two small gunboats being built by the Japanese for America, for use in the Philippines. On Saturday morning we turned out early, and left harbour at 7 A.M. with a fair wind, and ran down the coast, passing inside the dangerous Plymouth Rocks, where many vessels have come to grief. A big steamer hit them a few months ago, and was quickly broken up. The rocks stand up with deep water all round them, and within half a cable's length there are 60 fathoms. Leaving them behind, we soon had Cape Sagami on our beam, and hauling on the wind, shaped our course to the passage between Joka Shima and the fishing village of Misaki. This passage is full of ugly reefs, but the wind was steady and the sea smooth, and we threaded our way through them with no difficulty. Once clear out in the open, we held a consultation as to what place we should make for. The morning so far had been dull and there was every promise of heavy rain coming, and probably a good deal of wind as well. We therefore decided to put into a very pretty little harbour, Aburatsubo, about which we had heard a great deal from other yachtsmen. None of us had been there before, and although it was yet early in the day to make port, we thought it best to get there before the rain came and made sailing disagreeable. So the large scale chart of that part of the coast was brought out, and we put the boat about and raced for the entrance, which is protected by projecting reefs on either side, which break the force of the sea in heavy weather. Aburatsubo is a very pretty little place, surrounded by well wooded hills. The harbour has an inner pocket, in which a yacht might lie with security through any typhoon. We dropped anchor in 3½ fathoms, and quickly made all snug, as the rain was coming up fast. It poured heavily all the afternoon, until close on sunset, when it cleared up, and turned to a beautifully clear evening. We sat on deck for some time, watching the changing hues in the western sky, with the great Fujiyama standing up to its height of 12,000 feet across the water. Fujiyama is indeed a beautiful mountain, and it is not surprising that the Japanese are so fond of it. The last rays of the sun tinged its snow-capped peak with red and gold, and the full moon when she rose changed it again into glittering silver.

Easter morning broke fine and clear, and we went ashore for a climb among the hills, taking our cameras to secure mementoes of our cruise. Up in the woods we found violets in great profusion, and above us larks filled the air with their songs of gladness. It was indeed a morning that made one feel that it was good to be alive. We lingered on until the want of breakfast began to make itself noticed; the keen cold air giving an edge to our appetites. So we returned to the yacht, and were glad to find that the sendo was busy with the wherewithal to appease our hunger.

After breakfast we took in a reef in the mainsail, and got all ready to leave. We could see that there was a fresh wind blowing from the north, but it was difficult to judge of its strength from the shelter of the harbour. However, it is easier to shake out a reef than to tie one in the open, and we thought we would be on the safe side. With the single reefed mainsail, stay-sail and No. 2 jib, we cleared out into the open, and then found that there was all the wind we wanted, as it was blowing fairly strong. With sheets free we raced along for about five miles due west, and then gybed, setting our course for Misaki. Once well clear of Joka Shima, we let her ramp along until we were off Cape Sagami once more, and then put the boat on the wind. On the east side of the peninsular we found the wind and sea much heavier, and the spray from our weather bow necessitated oilskins, or we would soon have been drenched. Presently we discovered that there was quite a lot of water under the cabin floorboards, which the skipper could not account for as the boat is tight and dry, and we knew we had not struck anything. However, a search revealed the cause of the mischief; the water butt had broken its lashings and having been refilled just before we left Aburatsubo, it had emptied itself into the bilge. We reached Uraga shortly after noon, and were once more on an even keel.

After tiffin the skipper went ashore to buy fresh beef, as we had nothing left but tinned provisions. We also took in a further stock of water, and were careful to see that the butt was properly lashed this time. We stayed in Uraga for the night, and on Monday left at 9 A.M. for the return up the Bay to Yokohama. The wind and sea had gone down, and we had a very peaceful journey back. In the Bay we ran across a big school of porpoises, heaving themselves out of the water in all directions, some of them quite close to the boat. We tried to secure some snapshots of them, but without much success, as they come up and disappear so quickly that by the time a camera can be brought to bear on the spot, they have gone under.

When close up to the harbour, the wind died away till the sails were all flapping, and we were surprised to see another yacht leave her moorings, and come bowling out to the entrance in the breakwater at a fine pace. But she brought a very nice breeze with her, and once inside the breakwater we began to churn up the water at a great rate. In fact, with three hours or so more daylight, it seemed a pity to go straight to our moorings, but we decided that we had done pretty well on our cruise, and so resisted the temptation.

A. R. C.

Swimming.

CALCUTTA SWIMMING CLUB.

A TWO lengths Hurdle Handicap was held on Friday last, the 5th June. Eleven competitors faced the starter and the results were as follows :—

FIRST HEAT.

		Start.	Nett Time.
1	F. T. Blockley ...	12 secs.	62½ secs.
2	A. R. C. Miller ...	Scratch.	51 ,,
3	D. V. Harvey ...	5 secs.	Disqualified.

G. Mead also swam, but did not finish.

SECOND HEAT.

		Start.	Nett Time.
1	G. Brown ...	4 secs.	49 secs.
2	H. G. Remfry ...	12 ,,	59½ ,,
3	K. M. Kennedy ...	4 ,,	53 ,,
4	A. E. B. Siddons ...	7 ,,	56½ ,,

THIRD HEAT.

		Start.	Nett Time.
1	A. L. Clarke ...	10 secs.	58 secs.
2	H. M. Sherman ...	Scratch.	48½ ,,
3	J. Knox-Ord ...	7 secs.	59½ ,,

FINAL HEAT.

		Start.	Nett Time.
1	G. Brown ...	4 secs.	49 secs.
2	F. T. Blockley ...	12 ,,	60 ,,
3	H. G. Remfry ...	12 ,,	64 ,,
4	A. L. Clarke ...	10 ,,	Not taken.

The next event will be a four lengths handicap on Friday, 19th June.

The only two things that seem "certs" in this world are death and quarter-day—especially the latter, coming as it does with a regularity that is, to say the least of it, monotonous, especially after one has had a few bad Mondays. In a well-regulated household, the lord and master whereof does not dash the last quarter's rent on a "cert" which, going the way of other "certs" lands him a cropper, it may not matter so much; but in the merry punter's domicile there is apt to be trouble when a disaster occurs similar to the one which we are about to relate.

At Stockbridge (some forty years ago) the late Mr. J. B. Starkey had two horses engaged—a magnificent mare named Viridis and a younger horse called Landtax. Both had been tried, and Landtax had done so well that the race was considered to be a good thing for him by those chiefly concerned in the matter. The merits of Viridis were well known to the public, but her stable-companion was a dark one. Landtax carried the confidence—and, what was more important, the money—of the Danebury patrons, while Viridis, who had been pretty heavily backed by the public, was ridden by an old Danebury jockey, Salter.

The owner, as usual, made himself very busy in all the preliminaries, which was the cause of him receiving a considerable amount of chaff afterwards. Viridis got well away at the start, closely followed by Landtax, and a terrific race ensued between the pair, Landtax being beaten by a head, Viridis in the hands of Salter, just getting her nose in first after a punishing finish.

This result was due to the fact that Starkey, in his excitement, had forgotten to make a declaration, and to tell Salter not to force the pace. The chagrin of the Duke of Beaufort, the Marquis of Hastings, and other of the heavy-betting Danebury patrons at this unlooked-for result can well be imagined.

SURPLUS BOOKS.

Many Thousand Surplus Copies of Books always on sale (second-hand).
Also Books specially bound in Half Pig-skin, selected from the works of popular Authors, suitable for Garrison Libraries.
High-class Selections of the newest Books made for Libraries and Officers' Book Clubs.
All the Leading Periodicals obtainable, new or second-hand.
Newspapers supplied on Subscription, payable in advance.
All Lists of Books and Magazines on Sale—sent Post Free on Application.

MUDIE'S LIBRARY,

30-34 New Oxford Street London.

The Horse.

THE SIMLA HORSE AND DOG SHOW.

BY SPECIAL TELEGRAM.

THERE was a great gathering at Annandale on Saturday, the 5th instant, on the occasion of the Horse and Dog Show. The entries for the former exceeded all expectations, while those for the latter were disappointingly small, and further the class left much to be desired. In the Horse Show there were not only numbers, but there was quality in abundance. The jumping competitions were very entertaining, very many of the horses and ponies performing admirably, and the judges must have had a hard job to make their awards. On the other hand there were some remarkably bad jumpers and some execrable exhibitions of riding, a feature inseparable from all shows of the kind. The arrangements were admirable and the proceedings terminated by the prizes being presented by H. E. Lady Curzon with that charm of manner that cannot fail to enhance the value of the presentations made by her.

HORSES.

CLASS I.—For chargers, including walers, C.-B.'s, Arabs.
General E. Elliot's Kronstadt 1
Major Maxwell's English Lord 2

CLASS II.—For ladies' hacks over 14 (to be ridden by ladies).
Miss Madden's Bronzewing and Miss Colvin's Tourist, owners up.

CLASS III.—For ladies' hacks 14-2 and under, to be ridden by ladies.
Lady Mary Tagart's Bismarck 1
Colonel Birdwood's Petel 2

CLASS IV.—For C.-B. ponies 14-2 and under.
Lieut.-Col. Morgan's Makquet 1
Vet. Major Walker's Silly Loo 2

CLASS V.—For Arab ponies 14-2 and under.
Kour Sahib's Brigand and Rock Sand.

CLASS VI.—For all horses over 14-2.
Major M. Cowper's Melbourne 1
Miss Madden's Bronzewing 2

CLASS VII.—For English, Australasian, and Cape ponies 14-2 and under.
Lieut-Col Morgan's Kia Ora 1
Capt Peacock's Australia 2

CLASS VIII.—For children's ponies—all breeds.

CLASS IX.—For Ordnance mules.
Nos. 20 and 102.

CLASS X.—For polo ponies that have been playing at Simla during season 1903.
Colonel Baring's Gus 1
Major Maxwell's Sheen 2

JUMPING COMPETITION FOR HORSES.
Mrs Buck's Herald, Owner 1
Kour Sahib of Patiala's Flying Dutchman 2
Lord Suffolk's Jericho, Owner 3

The Herald was the black charger ridden by Major Maxwell, the Herald at the Delhi Durbar.

PONIES' JUMPING COMPETITION.
Major Grimston's Greymist, Capt Holden 1

Major Merewether's Monday and Colonel Kennard's Baron Trek divided second prize.

General Sir E. Elliot's Kronstadt won the prize for the best horse in the show, and Major Grimston's Greymist was the best pony.

DOGS.

CLASS I.—Best bobbery pack dog.
Not awarded.

CLASS II.—Any other large variety, including St. Bernards, Mastiffs, Newfoundlands, Deerhounds, Bloodhounds, Great Danes, Wolfhounds, Greyhounds etc.
Major Marker's Australian Greyhound 1
Mrs. Buck's Great Dane Mona 2

CLASSES III and IV.—Terriers rough, other than fox-terriers for dogs and bitches only.
Mr. Hudson's Danny and Mr. F. Elles' Jock.

CLASSES V and VI.—For terriers, smooth, for dogs and bitches only.
Capt Wigram's Avon Monitor and Mr. Lampard's Pioneer Jess.

CLASS VII.—Wired-haired fox-terriers, for dogs only.
Not awarded.

CLASS VIII.—Wired-haired fox-terriers, for bitches only.
Captain Wigram's Moti.

Mr. Connelly's Vic.

CLASS IX.—Retrievers, pointers, setters, spaniels.
Mr Devenishe's Glove Jet.
Major Rundle's Mishur Ruby.

CLASS X.—Collies and sheep dogs.
Mrs Yeilding's Mickie 1
Colonel Birdwood's Chaman 2

CLASS XI.—Poodles.
Major Barrow's Zon Zon 1
Mr and Mrs Cowper's Raggles 2

CLASS XI.—Dashshounds.
Mr Schwaiger's Sir Roger 1
Mrs Jones' Warrior 2

CLASS XIV.—Soldiers' dogs—free
Sergt-Major Patterson's dog and Gunner Bryant, No. 5 Mountain Battery.

The prizes were given away by Lady Curzon.

The Naturalist.

THE INDIAN SNIPES.

BY F. FINN, B. A., F.Z.S.

IN the first place I must sincerely apologize to the editor and readers of the Indian Field for the long interval which has elapsed between this article and the last of the Wader series, which appeared in the issue of 9th October 1902, and dealt with the general characters of the snipes. My illness and journey home, and varied pre-occupations there, are my only excuse; but now I hope to get forward again.

In that article I mentioned that the Woodcock was distinguished from the other snipes by being more thickset and shorter on the leg, which is feathered right down to the hock, a very rare peculiarity among wading birds. Moreover the head is banded crosswise, instead of longitudinally, with black, and the size of the common Woodcock of Europe and India much exceeds that of any of our snipe, though the Brazilian giant snipe (gallinago gigantea) is bigger than any Woodcock. Only four species of Woodcocks are known, of which only one is found in the continental part of the Old World; the other three being the Moluccan, Javan, and American Woodcocks.

THE WOODCOCK.

Scolopax rusticola, Blanford, Faun. Brit. Ind. Birds, Vol. IV., Native names:—Simtitar, Tutitar, Hind.; Sim Kukra, in Kumaon; Chinjarole, in Chamba. The word "titar" (partridge) in these names strongly recalls the "cock" in the English title.

The Woodcock is, indeed, rather like a partridge in shape, except for the big head and long bill, but its wings are of course much larger; it shows none of the slenderness of form so common in waders; its plumage is also rather like that of a game bird, being a rich motting of various shades of black and brown above and buff with dark bars below; the quills are marked with chestnut on the edges, whereas those of our other true snipes are plain. The short tail is mostly black, tipped with dark grey above and silver-white below; it has twelve feathers. The beak is dark brown, becoming livid at the roof, and the feet greyish. The eyes are dark, and very large and full.

An old poet has the couplet—

"Fools are known by looking wise,
As men find Woodcocks by their eyes."

And by acting on this I was able to pick out the Woodcock (American) from a photo taken under natural conditions, which was a regular puzzle of the "find-the-policeman" type, owing to the protective colouration of the bird: I recommend this old tip to people out Woodcock shooting. The sexes of the Woodcock are alike as in all true snipes; the young are more boldly marked on the outer web of the first quill with chestnut, and also have more chestnut on the tail.

The bird is about fourteen inches long, with a wing of nearly eight inches, bill three, and shank only half of this length But Indian birds are smaller than European, and weigh about four ounces less—a fine European bird will weigh a pound.

The common Woodcock ranges all across Europe and Asia, migrating southwards in winter. It breeds all along the Himalayas above ten thousand feet, coming down to the valleys in winter, or even migrating as far as the hills of Southern India, Ceylon, and Burma; in fact, at this season it may be found in any part of the Empire, but not commonly except in the Nilgiris. I have only once in eight years got a specimen in the Calcutta Bazaar, and it appears not to have been recorded from the Andamans or Nicobars. It comes down in November and returns to its mountain haunts in March. As implied by its name the Woodcock is a bird addicted to frequenting cover, lying quiet during the day, and frequenting the margin of water, especially streams, in its nightly search for food. It is of solitary habits, and is a gross and greedy feeder, devouring quantities of earth worms, and also taking grubs, beetles, &c. Its borings in search of food furnish a means of discovering it, as also its habit of turning over the dead leaves for the same object. In the Himalayas it breeds in June, laying four eggs in a hollow on the ground among moss or dead leaves; these eggs measure rather over an inch and-a-half in length, and are marked with reddish brown and purple grey on a ground varying from buff to reddish drab.

At the breeding-season the Woodcock displays some very remarkable habits; the male in spring flies slowly about with puffed-out plumage, going backwards and forwards; this exercise known as "roading" is performed in the morning and evening, and the bird during it utters a peculiar note. Then the female, when the young are hatched, will carry them with her to escape danger, or to find a suitable feeding-ground; they are held between the thighs, and also supported by the bill and feet. In this way the bird is able to fly with one of her offspring even when they have grown as large as snipe. This shows the great wing power of the Woodcock, although its ordinary flight is heavy and flapping. It is, however, a notoriously deceptive flyer, having the power of darting off suddenly sideways, and also of alighting "all of a bloomin' sudden" as the sailor said. Woodcock in India, however, are far tamer and easier to shoot than in Europe: they furnish a well-known object of sport in the Nilgherries, and, as everyone knows, are remarkably good eating; in fact almost the best of all birds for the table.

Woodcock have been cited as among those desirable articles which cannot be increased in abundance by human agency. But this is hardly correct; effective game-preserving would undoubtedly increase their numbers, as it has done in England; the eggs of such a bird should of course be held sacred from collectors; and the detestable custom followed in Sweeden of shooting the "roading" male should be regarded as poaching just as much as the old one of catching the birds in nets or springs. Moreover it would be highly advantageous to introduce this valuable bird into Tasmania and New Zealand, and this would not be at all impossible, for the Woodcock will live well in confinement. One survived for some years in the London Zoological Gardens, being fed on chopped raw meat; it looked healthy and was very tame, and I often amused myself by feeding it with lob-worms from my fingers, for it would come right up to the front of the aviary for them. It has also been known to live in captivity on so simple a diet as bread and milk; and a gentleman with whom I once travelled home told me that in his home in the hills in India, a wild Woodcock used to come and feed on boiled rice with his fowls. Indian Woodcocks would, indeed, be the best for acclimatization purposes, since, as we have seen above, they are in many cases but slightly migratory. Now therefore that the New Zealand Acclimatization Societies have formed an association, I hope they will have a try of the Woodcock, and as the bird is rare in Ceylon, Anglo-Indian spostsmen might do worse than make an attempt to establish it in the hills of that Island.

MEETING OF THE LONDON ZOOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

SEVERAL interesting communications and exhibits were made at the Zoo Meeting on 12th May. Imprimis, it was gratifying to hear from the new Secretary that the menagerie had been enriched during April by, among other things, a young Bactrian camel born in the gardens; a specimen of the rare and handsome Bleshok Antelope (Damaliscus albifrons), and two Green Geckos (Phelsuma madagascariense). These last are most beautiful little reptiles, brilliant green with red markings, much like a species found in the Andaman Islands (P. Andamanense), which, however, is not so large judging from those I have seen. This Andaman Green Gecko has been exhibited in the Calcutta Zoo, and I hope more will be brought up. The veteran naturalist, Mr. W. B. Tegetmeier, exhibited a skin and illustration of a fine Pheasant (Phasianus kogenbecki), which had been obtained under rather peculiar circumstances The species has not been long described, and has now turned up in numbers in the shops of the poulterers in Leadenhall Market, having been imported frozen from some part of Asia under Russian control. The bird closely resembles the familiar ring-necked Pheasant of China (Phasianus torquatus), but is lighter and brighter in colour, with the white collar about twice as broad, and often a white spot below the eye; it is also a larger bird. Mr. Tegetmeier suggested that it would be a good bird for our coverts, in which opinion all who saw the specimen would, I am sure, agree. I had myself the honour of exhibiting some specimens exemplifying variation in wild mammals and birds, notably drawings by the careful Museum artist, A. C. Chowdhury, of a frontlet and pair of horns of the Kakur (Cervulus muntjac) which were procured by a friend of mine in the Indian Medical Service in the valley of the Rydak River not far from the Buxa cantonment. Their peculiarity consisted in the presence of two small single spikes or extra horns, springing quite independently from the outer sides of the long bony columns or pedicles which support the true antlers As the local shikaries told my friend that such four-horned Kakur were not uncommon, it would be of interest to investigate the matter I took occasion to mention some other varieties in deer which had come to my knowledge in India, notably two black specimens of the Kakur doe from the Himalayas, and two pecular fawns of the Sambhar, (Cervus unicolor), one as red as a Kakur, and the other slightly but distinctly spotted with white. All these I saw in Calcutta, alive in the hands of Mr. Rutledge or other dealers In Calcutta also I several times met with a bird, a variety of which I exhibited a skin on this occasion. This was a variety of the Ruff (Pavoncella pugnax) with the head and neck white even in winter plumage. The variability of the Ruff "when he has his show on" as the few men used to say, is well known, but in winter all Ruffs are usually as much alike as all proverbial cats in the dark. The variety alluded to seems to have become more common of late years; I certainly used not to meet with it in the Calcutta bazaar when I first came out here. Two specimens of it which were still living in the Calcutta Zoo when I went home at the end of last year, have shown that these birds also have the nuptial ruff and tipped white when they don these ornaments.

The Society's Prosector, Mr. F. E. Beddard, exhibited some brains of mammals in spirits, and Dr. J. F. Gemmill gave an exhibit of slides illustrating double-monster embryos in trout. These Siamese twin fishes, if they ever live to grow up, ought to be interesting to anglers. Communications on the metamorphoses of certain Decapod Crustacea, on Fishes from Rio Janeiro, and on new South Africa Chrysomelid beetles were brought forward, but, according to the wise rule in such cases, were mercifully taken as read, and will in due course be available for study at leisure in the published "Proceedings" of the Society.

F. FINN.

The Story Teller.

RUNNING REIN'S DERBY

AMONG the six score races or thereabouts which go to complete the momentous history of the Blue Riband of the Turf, no contest has caused so much excitement, or has been so frequently alluded to in song and story, as the memorable struggle of 1844 in which Running Rein came in first, only to be disqualified in favour of Orlando after the exposure of one of the biggest swindles ever perpetrated in the history of horse-racing. The whole thing was so beautifully worked, and so completely carried out, that a recital of the chief events can hardly prove uninteresting.

At the Newmarket Second October meeting of 1843 an animal called Running Rein beat a good field for a fifty-pound plate. He belonged to one Abraham Levi Goodman, proprietor of a London hell, called "The little Nick," and a well-known associate of swindlers of every denomination. An objection was lodged against this so-called Running Rein by the Duke of Rutland, the owner of Crinoline, who ran second, on the ground that he was a three instead of a two-year-old, as required by the conditions of the race. The matter was brought before the Stewards of the Jockey Club, but the evidence adduced by Goodman seemed to them satisfactory, and the objection was overruled.

Towards the end of the same year a Mr. Alexander Wood, a corn-merchant of Epsom, took over Running Rein from Goodman for a bad debt, and give him £200 into the bargain for the horse, with all his engagements. These liabilities included the Epsom Derby, in which Mr. Goodman had also nominated a bay filly by Venison out of Isabella.

It should here be mentioned that after winning the £50 plate Running Rein—although beaten the next day in the Clearwell by Colonel Peel's Zenobia—was quoted at 40 to 1 for the following year's Derby, and the Goodman division backed him at those odds to win something like £100,000. Though entered for the Two Thousand he did not compete in that race, nor did he run again, after the Clearwell, till the following year at Epsom. There is no question but what this animal that won the £50 plate and which passed the post first for the Derby of 1844 wers one and the same horse.

The week before the Derby a protest against Running Rein starting was handed to Baron de Tessier, one of the stewards of the meeting. It was signed by Lord George Bentinck, Mr. Bowes, and Mr. Scott. The Baron, after conferring with Sir G. Heathcote, called on Mr. Wood to produce either the servant of the breeder or such other evidence as might be deemed sufficient to establish the identity of Running Rein. On the Saturday before the race, having been furnished with what seemed, prima facie, sufficient evidence on this score, permission was given for the colt to compete. At the same time the parties were informed that they must be prepared, if necessary, for further examination afterwards, as their declarations might be required in a law court. The following report of the race is taken from Bell's Life of the 26th of May 1844:—

"At the third attempt the flag dropped, and the largest field of horses (twenty-nine in number) that has run for the Derby since Coronation's year were got off on fair terms. The running was at once taken up by Leander, followed for a few strides by Voltri, and then by Abkar, The Ugly Buck third, with Orlando behind on his right and Ratan on his left, Running Rein next, in The Ugly Buck's track, and in his rear Ionian and Bay Momus —the pace so severe that Dick Thornton, Beaumont, the Amulet colt, Cockamaroo, and two or three others could not live even with the second ruck.

"After running in this way for nearly half a mile, Running Rein made his way to the front and took his place at Leander's quarters on the whip hand; in this position he remained to the first turn, in making which he struck Leander's off hind-leg above the fetlock, and literally smashed the bone down to the pastern. Bell, although unaware of the extent of the injury his horse had received, immediately pulled him back, and the lead was taken by the cause of his mishap, Akbar and The Ugly Buck still retaining the positions they had taken at the commencement of the race, with exactly the same lot in waiting on them.

"Running Rein went on with a lead of upwards of two lengths to the turn, where a tremendous tail was visible; in the front rank, too, symptoms of distress were perceptible. There was little alteration to the distance, where Orlando got within a length of his leader. Half-way up it he made a final effort, and reached his quarters, and there without even making it necessary for Sam Mann to call upon his horse, he remained to the end, Running Rein winning with consummate ease by three-parts of a length.

"As near as we could guess, Orlando beat Ionian by about two lengths. The difference probably would have been less had George Edwards persevered to the last. Bay Momus finished at the latter's shoulder."

Mr. Clark, father of the better-known "J. F. C." acted as judge. William Boyce was originally retained for Running Rein, but at the last moment, Sam Mann was put up, much to the chagrin of the first-named, who is said to have wept bitterly on being transferred to the back of The Ashtead Pet.

Another episode in connection with this memorable race was the discovery that Sam Rogers, who rode Ratan, had made a book on the race and laid heavily against his own mount, as a result of which the Jockey Club condemned him to exile from Newmarket Heath, from which he was banished for many years afterwards.

A scene of the wildest excitement was presented in the weighing-room after the race as soon as it became known that Colonel Jonathan Peel, the owner of Orlando, had lodged an objection against the winner. The colonel betted himself but little, and the prime instigator through the chapter was Lord George Bentinck. Lord George, we believe, had a good round sum on Orlando. Mr. Cockburn said so at the trial, and doubtless ihis had something to do with the action he took in the matter, though he was so ardent a Turf reformer that the share he had in the affair scarcely requires explanation.

Meantime the settlement of all wagers and "sweeps" hung fire. Colonel Peel claimed the Derby stakes, and Messrs. Weatherby declined to hand them over until they were legally satisfied as to whom they should be paid. Thereupon Colonel Peel instituted proceedings against them in the Court of Exchequer. The defendant obtained an inter-pleader Rule, and the stakes were paid into court.

A fresh action then lay, Mr. Wood, the owner of Running Rein, being plaintiff for the stakes, against Colonel Peel, defendant. On the Thursday before the hearing of the case, which was fixed for the 1st of July, Baron Alderson granted an order, on the application of the defendants, to see the horse, whereupon Lord George Bentinck and a party of vets. and experts went down to Mr. Smith's, at Epsom, where he was trained, to inspect his mouth, etc. a proceeding which Mr. Goodman had stoutly and successfully opposed at Newmarket in the previous autumn.

Mr. Smith "didn't care for no judge's orders." He wasnt going to let them see the horse without the owner's leave, so the party repaired to Mr. Wood's house. Mr. Wood was not at home, so there was nothing for it but to return to town, after a fruitless mission.

The trial, which was expected to last a considerable time, took place before Baron Alderson, an impetuous but able judge, and a special jury, under the foremanship of Mr. Edmund Antrobus, of Piccadilly. The late eminent Lord Chief Justice—then Mr. Cockburn, Q C.—assisted by Mr. Edwin James and Mr. Lush (who was afterwards raised to the Bench), represented Mr. Wood, the plaintiff; while Colonel Peel's interests were entrusted to Sir F. Thesiger (Solicitor-General), assisted by Mr. Kelly, Mr. (afterwards Baron) Martin, and Mr Peacock.

It may be necessary to state that the contention of the defence was that the animal which won the Derby was not Running Rein at all, but a colt got by Gladiator out of a dam by Capsicum; that this colt was foaled in 1840 at Sir C. Ibbotson's breeding establishment; that he was bought by Goodman and one Higgins at Doncaster in 1841; that he was sent to Northampton, and entrusted to the care of a Mr. Worley, at Siwell, and remained at or near those quarters till 21st September 1842; that he was led to London viâ Woburn, St. Albans, and Barnet, and that it was this colt and not the true Running Rein that was lodged in Hynes' stables on the 24th of September 1842. Furthermore, that he had been successively called Spartacus, Maccabæus, and Zanoni; and that this was the four-year-old colt that had come in first for the Derby, he having been coloured on the card as Maccabæus in the Derby of '43, though a non-starter.

The case went on till seven o'clock on the first day, and was expected to last a considerable time; but the next morning supplied a tremendous sensation. Mr. Cockburn informed the Court that Mr. Wood regretted that it was quite out of his power to produce the horse, as he had no idea where he was to be found. The judge remarked that if these parties could be caught he would give them a lesson, if it fell to his lot to try them at the Old Bailey for horse-stealing. Mr. Cockburn said that his client was now convinced that a detestable fraud had been practised on him, and that he had resolved to withdraw from the case, hoping that the defendant and others would believe that he was no party to the ramp.

There was nothing further to do but for Baron Alderson to address the jury, which he did in the following scathing and memorable words:—

"Now, gentlemen, you have only to return a verdict for the defendant, the plaintiff declining to contest the question further; there is, therefore, an end of the case. But before we part I must be allowed to say that it has produced great regret and disgust in my mind. It has disclosed a wretched fraud, and has shown noblemen and gentlemen of rank associating and betting with men infinitely below them in society. In doing so they have found themselves cheated and made the dupes of the grossest frauds. They may depend upon it that it will always be so when gentlemen associate and bet with blackguards."

Thus ended the short but memorable trial, the issue of which was greatly simplified by Mr. Word's withdrawal, for, though there could be little doubt that it was the Gladiator and not The Saddler colt that was removed from Bean's to Haynes's and thence to Epsom, the fact would have been very hard to prove. The non-production of the horse virtually settled the case.

That Goodman made away with him there is little room to doubt. Mr. Wood met that worthy after the trial and demanded the restitution of his horse. Goodman made a characteristic reply, for he was known to be a man who would stick at nothing: "You'll never see the horse again, though you may have a quarter of him if you like."

A writer in Bell's Life at that time says, "We have but too much reason to believe that tht poor horse has been made the sacrifice of this abominable conspiracy, and has been actually destroyed. Indeed, we have been told, how truly we cannot say, that he has been killed, boiled, and his head burnt."

It only remains to be said in conclusion that Levi Goodman and his associates were warned off the Turf for life, Mr. Wood being exonerared from blame, as was Smith, the trainer of the horse, though it has always remained a subject for regret that the originators of the swindle were not made the objects of a criminal prosecution.

A match for the benefit John Lillywhite was played at Brighton in 1871. The old Hove ground was the spot chosen, and Gentlemen vs. Players the attraction. With the third ball J. C. Shaw bowled W. G. Grace, and consternation reigned amongst the famous youngster's supporters. Dreadfully downcast was the beneficiare, and W. G. could not help noticing this as he returned to the pavilion.

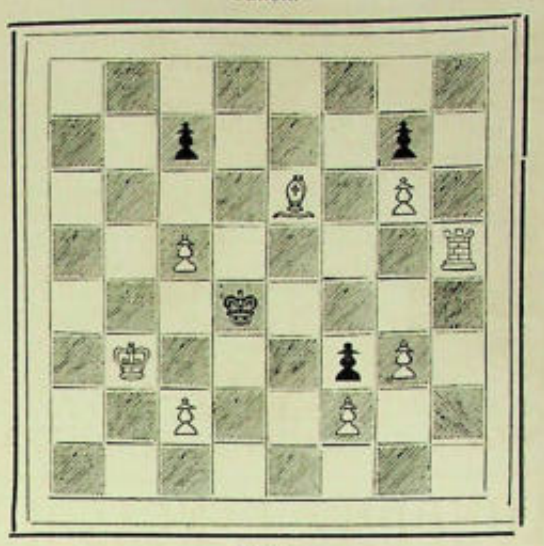
"I am terribly sorry, Lillywhite," he said; "I did want to do well for you."

"Better luck next time," responded the veteran, cheerfully.

For some reason, however, Grace felt anything but confident of his ultimate success, and told his friend so.

"You take these," Lillywhite told him, producing a couple of sovereigns from his pocket, "and pay me a sixpence back for every run you make in the second innings. I call that a fair bet."

Such confidence could not fail to have the desired effect, and when W. G. again took his place before the wicket it was with a determination to score the eighty runs necessary to repay the two pounds. Before long Grace was joined by his brother Fred, and in two hours and a half they had succeeded in knocking up 240. At the end of the day's play the score was 353 for three wickets, the juvenile player having made 200 runs, not out. Of course, he had a great reception, Lillywhite being particularly enthusiastic over his success.



"I'll trouble you for five pounds on account," he told the successful batsman.

"Certainly," laughingly replied Grace: "but," he added in a tragically serious tone, "I shall have to knock down my wicket the first thing to-morrow if you don't let me off the rest of my bet."

Chess.

PROBLEM NO. 20.

BLACK.

WHITE.

White to play and mate in four moves.

GAME NO. 21.

White.	Black.
1. P to K 4	1. P to K 4
2. P to K B 4	2. P takes P
3. Kt to K B 3	3. P to K Kt 4
4. P to K R 4	4. P to Kt 5
5. Kt to K 5	5. Kt to K B 3
6. B to Q B 4	6. P to Q 4
7. P takes P	7. B to Q 3
8. P to Q 4	8. Kt to R 4
9. Kt to Q B 3	9. Q to K 2
10. B to Kt 5 ch	10. P to Q B 3
11. P takes P	11. P takes B
12. Kt to Q 5	12. Q to Kt 2
13 B to R 4 (a)	13. B takes Kt
14. P takes B	14. Castles
15. Kt takes K B P	15. Kt takes Kt
16. B takes Kt	16. Q to Kt 5 ch
17. Q to Q 2	17. Q takes K B (b)
18. Castles K R	18. Q to K 5
19. B to R 6	19. R to R sq
20. Q R to K sq	20. Q to K Kt 3
21. R to B 6	21. Q to R 4
22. Q to Q B 3	22. B to K 3
23. B to Kt 5	23. P to Kt 6 (c)
24. Q takes Kt P	24. Q to Kt 5
25. Q to B 2	25. Kt to Q 2
26. R to B 3	26. K to R sq
27. R to K Kt 3	27. Q to B 4
28. Q to Q 4	28. R to K Kt sq
29. R to K b sq	29. Q takes Q B P
30. R takes K B P (d)	30. B takes R
31. P to K 6 dis ch	31. R to Kt 2
32. P takes Kt

Black resigns.

(a) Kt to Q B 4 looks tempting, but it is doubtful whether it is any better than the move in the text. (b) It would have been better for Black to exchange Queens. (c) The only move to save the Queen. (d) The coup juste. White plays the game throughout in a masterly manner.

Cards.

SOLUTION TO DOUBLE DUMMY PROBLEM NO. 10.

1. A leads Ace of Hearts.
2. A leads 4 of Hearts; B wins with King.
3. B leads a small Heart. It is evidently useless for Z to trump, and he discards a Diamond. A trumps.
4. A leads a Diamond, and B wins with the Ace, if X plays King. If X play the ten, B wins with Queen.
5. B leads the winning Diamond.
6. B leads Spade. Z wins with Ace.
7. Z must either lead a Spade or a trump; if he lead a Spade, A wins with King, and B discards Diamond.
8. A leads a Diamond. B trumps with the ten.
9. B leads Heart, and A trumps.
10. A leads Ace of trumps.
11. A leads Spades and, however X plays, B must make his Knave of trumps.

If at trick 7 Z lead trumps, A wins with Ace, and (8) A leads King of Spades; B discards Diamond. 9. A leads Diamond; B trumps with the ten. 10 B leads Heart, and A trumps 11. A leads ten of Spades and B must make his Knave of trumps.

If at trick 6 Z does not put on his Ace of Spades, A wins with the King, and (7) A leads a Spade; B trumps. 8. B leads Heart; A trumps. 9. A leads Spades; X trumps with the Queen, and B discards Diamond; and whether X lead Diamond or trump, A and B make two more tricks. If X, instead of trumping, discard his Diamond, B trumps, and A's Ace of trumps makes A and B four by cards.

"ANCHOR" LINE (HENDERSON BROS) Ld.

S. S. "MASSILIA."

SAILING FROM CALCUTTA TO LONDON

About 27th June, 1903.

This first-class new Steamer, 5091 tons, has superior accommodation in large and airy rooms on the Bridge Deck for about 60 Saloon Passengers.

Sergeon and Stewardess carried.

Fare to London, Rs. 550. Return from Liverpool, Rs. 850.

Concessions allowed to families, Railway employés, Missionaries, Tea Planters, and Hospital Nurses.

For further particulars—

Apply to—GRAHAM & Co.,

9, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Agents.

NEW "GEM" SAFETY RAZOR.

INDISPENSABLE TO TRAVELLERS.

CAN BE USED ON BOARDSHIP AND IN THE TRAIN.

None Better, None Safer, None Cheaper.

Complete in small tin box, artistically enamelled.
Sizes, 2½ inches high
by
„ 1 inch diameter.

Price	Rs. 6 0	each.
Spare Blades	„ 4 0	„
Strops	„ 2 8	„
Stropping Machines	„ 6 0	„

NOT A TOY.

A REAL USEFUL ARTICLE.

Walter Locke & Co., Ld., "Locke" Buildings, Calcutta.

NORTHERN ASSURANCE COMPANY.

ESTABLISHED 1836.

FIRE AND LIFE.

Capital	£3,000 000
Accumulated Funds	£5,698,300

OFFICES.

Head Office:—LONDON, 1, Moorgate Street.
Branch:—CALCUTTA, 101, Clive Street.

Fire and Life Insurance effected on the most favourable terms.

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & CO.,
(Secretaries.)
101, Clive Street, Calcutta.

LONDON & LANCASHIRE

LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

HEAD OFFICE:—
LONDON: 66 and 67, CORNHILL, E.C.

CALCUTTA BOARD OF DIRECTION:

T. Fraser, Esqr., Manager, Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China.
E. H. Elles, Esqr., Messrs. Pigott Chapman & Co.
Alex. Forsyth, Esqr., Messrs. Graham & Co.

NEW BUSINESS, 1901.

SUMS ASSURED, £727,196. NEW PREMIUMS, £30,088.

The Net Premium Income is now £264,182, and the amount of £101,760, as the result of the past year's working, has been added to the Funds, which now stand at £1,629,502.

New policy holders participate in the large proportion of 90 % of the entire profits of the Company.

Applications for Agency invited. Special Terms.

APPLY TO—
Messrs. GRAHAM & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.
9, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

BANK OF CALCUTTA,

LIMITED.

CAPITAL.

Subscribed	Rs. 15,00,000
Reserve Fund	„ 15,00,000
Uncalled Capital	„ 5,00,000

DIRECTORS:

Mr. D. YULE, Messrs. ANDREW, YULE & Co.
„ H. R. MCINNES, Messrs. J. THOMAS & Co.
„ NORMAN MCLEOD, Messrs. MCLEOD & Co.
„ D. KING.

CREDITS granted on approved Security, and every description of banking business transacted.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened and 2 per cent. per annum allowed on the daily balances.

FIXED DEPOSITS received at the following rates of interest:—

On Deposits fixed for 2 Years 5½ per cent. per annum.

„	„	„	„	1 Year 5	„ „
„	„	„	„	6 Months 4½	„ „
„	„	„	„	3 „ 4	„ „

The Bank offers special facilities and advice to Constituents as to the purchase and sale of all Indian Securities, particularly the Shares and Debenture Stocks of Jute, Cotton, Tea, and Miscellaneous Industrial Concerns.

The Bank is prepared to guarantee the principal and interest of Debentures on its approved list on terms which may be ascertained on application. Absentee shareholders' and investors' interests carefully watched.

Orders executed on the London Stock Exchange through London Branch.

For further information apply to—

CALCUTTA,
7th April, 1902.

D. KING, Agent.

LONDON BRANCH:—39, GREAT WINCHESTER STREET, E.C.

THE STANDARD

LIFE ASSCE. CO.

Revenue	£1,300,000
Bonus Declared ...	£7,000,000
Accumulated Funds ...	£10,300,000
Claims Paid ...	£21,000,000

For Forms, Prospectuses, etc., apply to

DOUGLAS STEWART, Secretary,
STANDARD BUILDINGS,
CALCUTTA.

GRINDLAY & CO., CALCUTTA.
GRINDLAY, GROOM & CO., BOMBAY.

BANKING.

CURRENT ACCOUNTS opened. | FIXED DEPOSITS received.
HOME AND FAMILY REMITTANCES made.

INVESTMENTS.

INFORMATION given regarding share market.
PURCHASES and SALES effected.
Grindlay's Monthly INDIAN INVESTORS' GUIDE supplied gratis.

PASSAGES.

HOMEWARD PASSAGES booked without charge.
PASSAGE CIRCULAR and complete list of sailings supplied gratis.

PACKAGES.

SHIPPED, cleared and forwarded.

THOS. COOK & SON

Bankers, Passenger & Forwarding Agents.

PASSAGES PROMPTLY ENGAGED by P. & O. Mail and all other Steamers, including non-Liners. Free of Charge or Commission.

Special Attention given to the selection of Berths and Social Grouping of Passengers.

Through Tickets issued available from any Railway Station in India to all parts of the Globe.
Continental Travelling Tickets issued, allowing breaks of journey at all places of interest.
Passengers with Cook's Tickets met and assisted at all Chief Ports and Cities.
Reduced Rates to Railway employés Planters, Family Parties, and Missionaries.
Outward Passages engaged and Tickets supplied from any part of the World to India.
Hotel Coupons available at over 2,000 Hotels.
Reduced Fares for Military Officers, Government Officials, and Missionaries to Europe and China and America.
Baggage received, shipped and cleared on arrival.
Packages received and forwarded at favourable cargo rates.
Life and Accident Insurance Policies issued, also baggage, &c., insured.
Drafts, Circular Notes and Letters of Credit issued for the use of Travellers in all parts of the World.
Sovereigns, Bank Notes, and Foreign Money bought and supplied.
Current Accounts kept, and Interest allowed when the Credit balance does not fall below Rs. 1,000.
Deposits received, Rate of Interest on application.
Interest, Pay, and Pensions collected and every description of Banking and Money Agency transacted.
Handbook of information sent free on application.

CALCUTTA, 9, Old Court House Street. | BOMBAY, 13, Esplanade Row.

RANGOON AND COLOMBO.

POLICIES ISSUED

BY THE

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE Co.

Combine Life Insurance and Investment.

A security for family or estate and a provision for old age.

WRITE FOR PARTICULARS AND FOR
15 or 20 year sample policy to
RESIDENT MANAGER,
8, Old Court House Street,
CALCUTTA.

COCKBURN & Co.

— OF —

LEITH AND LONDON.
(ESTABLISHED 1796.)
WELL MATURED
HIGHLAND WHISKIES,

Of the highest class and most delicate blending.

Star Label	Rs. 34	per dozen.
Imperial Crown Label ...	„ 28	„

GLADSTONE, WYLLIE & Co.,
SOLE AGENTS,
1, CLIVE STREET, CALCUTTA.

THE INDIAN FIELD.

S, Hare Street, Calcutta.

THURSDAY, 18th JUNE 1903.

BETTING AS A CRIME.

LORD DAVEY'S Bill for the harassing of betors duly came before the House of Lords on the 18th May last and duly received the quietus it deserved. We lay no claim to legal knowledge, but even "the man in the street" cannot read this amazing Bill without marvelling that an eminent jurist like Baron Davey should have lent himself to the support of a measure which he could not fail to know would prove hopelessly unworkable in practice. We need not go beyond the first clause to recognise this: the preamble asked the King and Parliament to enact that "The word resorting" in section one of the Betting Act, 1583, and this Act, shall include applying by the agency of another person or by letter, telegraph, telephone, or other means of correspondence; and the word resort in section seven of the said Act and in this Act shall have the same meaning." In other words Lord Davey proposed to make it an offence to write or telegraph or send a message to a bookmaker. Surely a more fantastic notion never entered the mind of a sane man? It implied the creation of a corps of post office police whose duties it would be to open letters to any address they might deem suspicious and to censor telegrams in the same way. How it was proposed to stop "resorting" to a bookmaker through the instrumentality of a third person we fail to conceive. We are strongly tempted to think that Lord Davey rode for a fall; he permitted the anti-gambling fraternity to make him their mouthpiece and put his name on the back of a Bill whose glaring absurdities told him could never pass into law.

We feel little disposition to go through this preposterous measure and point its amazing propositions. It desired to make advertising the continental agencies a punishable offence; to make betting by a bookmaker or agent "in any street or other public place" a misdemeanour; it proposed to make possession of a betting book or any card or paper connected with bets proof that the possessor was a rogue and a vagabond within the meaning of George IV.'s Act and liable to arrest and search! And we are expected to believe that an ex-Solicitor-General and Lord of Appeal brought this wonderful production into the Lords in a serious legislative spirit. It was the easiest of tasks which Lord Durham had to undertake to show in the clear light of common-sense the shortcomings of this "drastic, very offensive, and needless Bill" and he did it without mercy. He admitted that street betting was a nuisance for the same reason that street football was a nuisance, but there was nothing criminal about it. He claimed for the working classes that they should be allowed to spend their own money in their own way, and strongly deprecated an attempt to convert a natural human instinct into a crime: he referred to the monotony of the existence led by the classes aimed at by the Bill and urged the Lords to keep that before them while they considered this proposal to make one of their chief pleasures an offence. The Lord Chancellor took, if possible, a stronger line. He said plainly that the Bill said everything but what it really meant; its promoters wished to stop betting altogether, but they were afraid to say so. And in this and in this alone the promoters of the Bill were quite right. Their object is to stop betting altogether, but the most sanguine of the faddists, whom Lord Durham not inaptly described as "a cross between a fanatical pharisee and a lunatic" have not the courage of their opinions when they approach the arena of practical affairs. They will shriek loudly enough on the platform to a meeting of whose sympathies they are assured; but they shrink from emptying the curious organism given them in place of a mind, when brought to touch. They were fools indeed beyond the scale of even faddist folly who dared public opinion with a Bill that should frankly ask the Legislature to say that betting per se is a crime.

We are inclined to think that this precious Bill is something in the nature of a retreating howl by the faddist. The Report of the Betting Commission was tantamount to the admission that betting cannot be stopped, but so long as fools can be found to subscribe, it is not in the nature of the crank to be silent, and this Bill would probably be called by its promoters a final shot at the public conscience. The public conscience, however, is a somewhat sluggish organism and is hard to move: the harder when the public taste and far more generally is strongly in favour of a little mild speculation and cannot, small blame to it, discover that there is any moral obliquity in taking the odds. To use a phrase much valued by politicians, there is "no mandate" for a Bill against betting; nobody denies that now and again a sad case of ruin or worse becomes public property, the cause of which is traceable to betting beyond the victim's means: but because one lacks the stability to keep his speculations within his income, are ten thousand to be debarred from what in their case is a perfectly harmless amusement? Are we all to go on crutches because one has a wooden leg? We are tempted to repeat Lord Durham's incisive phrase and ask if the faddists consider themselves justified in mortifying other people's flesh in order to save their own souls?

To talk about "suppressing gambling" is to trifle with words. The working classes at whose reform this pitifully bad Bill aimed, do not, as we honestly believe, "gamble" to any greater extent than people who wear better hats and coats. Lord Durham, it is of interest to observe, recently made a sea voyage in the company of Lord Davey and the latter eminent man was, he said, not above joining the daily sweep on the day's run. Now there is some little inconsistency in Lord Davey's proceedings, in taking a ticket in the sweep and then in standing godfather to a Bill intended to put difficulties in the way of betting. He was able to put down his stake and lose it without a second thought. Did it never occur to him that the working man in 999 cases out of a thousand could put down his modest shilling or half crown with the risk of losing it with a heart equally free from qualms? There is to our mind something exceedingly offensive in the way the faddists arrogate to themselves the right to interfere with the doings of the humbler classes of society and regulate the fashion in which they shall spend their wages. That ridiculous person the Bishop of Hereford, who has earned not wholly enviable fame by the part he has taken in legislative efforts of this character, said that the Bill would have the support of the whole Bench of Bishops. It did not apparently occur to him that he was giving his fellow prelates and their great work as promoters of human welfare, a very poor testimonial: for in saying this, he said in effect that clerical influence for good had proved unavailing, that the church recognised its powerlessness to make headway against what it considered one of the gravest evils of the time, and, realising its helplessness, was obliged to call in the policeman. This proposition we are very sure the church as a body would resent; it has a sufficiently uphill task in its endeavour to elevate the mass of humanity congested in great English towns, but its wise and well-considered method we believe is to regenerate, as far as may be, by brightening the people's lives. Man is a thinking animal and he must have something to think about; his mental horizon in the back streets is a sadly narrow one, and he has few means of bringing the mental exciteiment, which most of us find essential to our well-being, into his life at all. Is it reasonable, is it even humane, to try and prevent him from obtaining such poor gratification as he can from putting his shilling on a horse and pondering duly over his chances of winning "a bit?" The worst of these friends of humanity is their deplorable short sightedness which makes them inhuman. Mr. Charles Booth in his extraordinary volumes on London people has remarked upon the difficulty of "getting at" the working classes. Religious services and popular scentific lectures, he observes, draw equally poor audiences: the much-debated, much-legislated for British workman has no taste for these things: "he only wants to be let alone" says Mr. Booth, and we have great sympathy with him

Special Telegrams.

THE DUCHESS OF YORK PLATE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

THE Duchess of York Plate of 1,300 sovs. (the winner to receive 1,000 sovs., the second 200 sovs., and the third 100 sovs). for then three-year olds; colts to carry 9st., fillies and geldings 8st. 11lbs.; maidens at starting allowed 5lbs.; any winner of a race of a mile or over to carry 5lbs, of two such races, or one such race value 450 sovs., 10lbs. extra; one mile and-a-half.—54 subs. Closed 17th September 1901. Saturday, 13th June 1903.

Mr J Musker's ch c WILLIAM RUFUS, by Melton—Simena. Madden 1
Ld Cadogan's br c BASSOON, by Trenton—Simoom, Maher 2
Sir E Vincent's s c DONATELLO, by Donovan—Arno, Lane 3
M L Brassey's br c SAN TERENZO, by St Serf—Literature 0
Ld Derby's br c CHAUCER, by St Simon—Canterbury, Pilgrim 0
Capt Laing's b c RONALDSHAY, by Bay Ronald—Proposition 0
Duke of Westminster's b c FAIRFIELD, by Orme—Rydal 0

Winner trained by Gilbert at Newmarket.

Betting: 5 to 2 agst William Rufus; 2 to 1 Chaucer.

Won by three lengths, a length between second and third.

Pedigree of the Winner.
WILLIAM RUFUS (1900).

Simena				Melton
Flying Footstep		St. Simon		Violet Melrose		Master Kildare
Atalanta	Doncaster	St. Angela	Galopin	Violet	Scottish Chief	Silk	Lord Ronald
Galopin Feronia	Stockwell Marigold	King Tom Adeline	Velocette Flying Duchess	Thormanby Woodbine	Lord of the Isles Miss Ann	Plum Pudding Judy Go	Stockwell Edith

THE GOLD VASE.

THE GOLD VASE.—Value 200 sovs. given by His Majesty with 200 sovs in specie for the winner, and 100 sovs. for the second, added to a sweepstakes of 20 sovs each. About two miles.

London, Tuesday, 16th June 1903.

Ld Howard de Waldens ch c ZINFANDEL, by Persimmon—Medora, 3yrs, Cannon ... 1
Mr C Russell's c f FLORINDA, by Florizel II—Wise Flower, 3yrs, Watts ... 2
Major J D Edwards's b h WAVELET'S PRIDE, by Fernandez—Wavelet, 6 yrs, Thursby 3
Mr. H E Beddington b c D'ORSAY, by Royal Hampton—Lady Frivoles, 3 yrs ... 0

(Winner trained by C. Beatty, Newmarket.)

Betting: 11 to 10 agst Zinfandel.

Won by four lengths: a neck between second and third.

Winners since 1889.

1889 Morglay 3y 7st 8lb (3)	1896 Pride 4y 9st (5)
1890 Tyrant 5y 9st 4lb (5)	1897 Count Schomberg 5y 9st(5)
1891 Mons Meg 3y 6st 12lb	1898 The Rush 6y 9st 4lb (4)
1892 Martagon 5y 9st 4lb (5)	1899 Did not fill
1893 Convent 3y 7st 5lb (w.o.)	1900 Solitaire 4y 8st 4lb (5)
1894 Quaesitum 4y 9st (8)	1901 Mackintosh 3y 7st 8lb (4)
1895 Florizel II 4y 9st 5lb (4)	1902 Ice Maiden 3y 7st 3lb (9)

THE PRINCE OF WALES'S STAKES.

THE PRINCE OF WALES'S STAKES—Of 50sovs. each, h. ft., with 1,000sovs. added, for three-year-olds: colts 8st 10lb, fillies 8st 5lb.; a winner of 500sovs to carry 3lb, of 1,000sovs 5lb, of 3,000sovs 9lb extra; maidens allowed 7lb: the second to receive 300sovs and the third 200sovs out of the stakes; New Course (about one mile and five furlongs).—48 subs.

London, Tuesday, 16th June 1903.

His Majesty's b c MEAD, by Persimmon—Meadow Chat, Jones 1
Prince Soltykoff's br c JASON, by Gold—Argonavis, Halsey 2
Mr Douglas Baird's b c MARTINET, by Martagon—Silene, Madden 3
Mr L Brassey's b c SALTPETRE, by St Simon—Billow 0
Mr George Faber's br c PLAY BILL, by Kendal—Lady Yardley 0
Lord Farquhar's b c ST EVREMONDE, by St Frusquin—Ejector 0
Mr J H Houldsworth's b c EOSCENE, by Enthusiast—Helioscene 0
Sir J Blundell Maple's b r c MERRY SAINT, by St Serf—Mereden 0
Lord Rosebery's b c LADURLAD, by Ladas—Treasure 0

(Winner trained by R. Marsh.)

Betting: 5 to 4 agst Mead.

Won by six lengths; a neck between second and third.

Pedigree of the Winner.
MEAD (1900).

Meadow Chat				Per-Immon
Stone Clink		Minting		Perdita II		St. Simon
Stone Chat	Speculum	Mint Sauce	Lord Lyon	Heroine	Hampton	St Angela	Galopin
Adventurer Furze Chat	Velette Doralice	Y Melbourne Spree	Stockwell Paradigm	La Belle Helene	Lady Langden	King Tom Adeline	Velocette Flying Duchess

Winners since 1889.

1889 Donovan 9st 5lb (8)	1896 Shaddock 8st 11b (6)
1890 Alloway 8st 3lb (5)	1897 Galtee More 9st 5lb (4)
1891 Melody 1st 9lb (8)	1898 Jeddah 9st 5lb (5)
1892 Watercress 8st 3lb (12)	1899 Manners 8st 5lb (7)
1893 Red Ensign 8st 3lb (6)	1900 Simon Dale 8st 13lb (5)
1894 Contract 8st 3lb (4)	1901 Veronese 8st 13lb (7)
1895 Matchmaker 8st 3lb (6)	1902†Ard Patrick 9st 5lb (8)

THE ASCOT STAKES.

THE ASCOT STAKES (handicap) of 20 sovs. each, 10 ft. and only 5 sovs. if declared by Tuesday, 9th June with 2,000 sovs. added; second to receive 500 sovs. and the third 200 sovs.; lowest weight not less than 6st.; winners of a handicap after the publication of the weights (4th June) 7lbs., of any two or one value 1,000 sovs. 10lbs. extra; the winner of the Grand Prix de Paris to carry a weight to be fixed on the publication of the handicap. Once round starting at the distance post (two miles). (41 subs.)—Closed 12th May.

London, Tuesday, 16th June 1903.

Mr H E Randall's b g GENIUS, by Sheen—Imogene, 5yrs, Wheatley 1
Mr W Goodchild's b f SCULLION, by St. Florian—Cinder, 5yrs, Halsey ... 2
Mr T Corne's ch c RIGHTFUL, by Rightaway—Repletion, 4yrs, Madden ... 3
Mr F Alexander's b c THROWAWAY, by Rightaway—Theale, 4yrs 0
Mr W B Purefoy's b g CAPPA WHITE, by Buckingham—Elivir, 4yrs... ... 0
Ld. Cadogan's b f ELBA, by Prisoner—Simoom, 4yrs 0
Mr R Croker's ch c RODRIGUE II, by Lutin—Rose of York, 4yrs 0
Mr F Oppenheim's b c SURPRENANT, by Bestman—Simoom, 4yrs 0
Mr H J King's br c PRINCE FLORIZEL, by Florizell II—Good Hope, 4yrs ... 0
Ld George Thursby's b h VICTOR DON, by Donovan—Capucin, aged 0
Ld Carnarvon's b c PREEN, by Sheen—Coquette, 4yrs 0
Prince Soltykoff's bl c COAL SACK, by Gold—Black Star, 4yrs 0
Mr J. F. Appleyard's b c LORD BRAND, by Autocrat—Miss Brand, 4yrs 0
Mr J. Reiss's ch c INTAGLIO, by Childwick—Cameo, 4yrs 0
Mr L Brassey's b c ALDERMAN, by Isinglass—Butterfly, 3yrs 0
M W. M. G. Singer's b c by TRENTON—Great Dame, 3yrs 0
Mr L de Rothschild's b c GOURGAUD, by Sir Visto—Gagoul, 3yrs 0
Mr E Courage's r g BLITHESOME, by Ravensbury—Carolside, 3yrs ... 0

(Winner trained by Sadler, jun.)

Betting: 20 to 1 agst Genius, 10 to 1 Scullion

Won by two lengths: four lengths between second and third.

Winners since 1893.

1893 Enniskillen 5y 8st 7lb(15)	1898 Herminius 4y 7st 11lb(15)
1894 Aborigine 4y 7st 12lb (11)	1899 Tom Cringle 4y 7st 9lb(11)
1895 Ravensbury 5y 9st 9lb(9)	1900 Baldur 4y 7st 2lb (11)
1896 Arlequin 3y 6st 5lb (8)	1901 Sinopi 5y 8st 2lb (16)
1897 Masque II 3y 7st 9lb (21)	1902 Scullion 4y 6st 12lb (15)

